TOURISM – VISITORS IN TRANSIT

Can Government say what was the figure for the number of visitors in transit shown in Table 5 of the Tourist Expenditure Survey Report for 2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The extensive factual and statistical information requested by the hon Member is set out in the written schedule that I hand to him.

Question 996 of 2004

SCHEDULE

Q. 979, 980, 982, 981

The method used to calculate tourist arrivals' expenditure at hotels and expenditure attributed to "other" visitors, as shown in table 5 of the Tourist Survey reports for 2002 and 2003, was made available to the Member opposite in response to Questions 207 and 209/2003.

Q. 991, 992

The expenditure by excursionists from Spain was as follows:

|                                 | 2002  | 2003  |
|---------------------------------|--------------|--------------|
| Excursionists arriving by coach | £ 11,992,000 | £ 11,535,000 |
| Other excursionists             | £132,534,000 | £155,884,000 |

The number of excursionists from Spain was as follows:

|                                 | 2002 | 2003 |
|---------------------------------|-------------|-------------|
| Excursionists arriving by coach | 411,664     | 381,186     |
| Other excursionists             | 6,390,279   | 6,503,285   |

Q 993, 994

Average visitor expenditure per day on accommodation in 2002 and 2003 was £60.00 per person per day, regardless of category of visitor.

The Average length of stay was:

| 2002 | 2003 |                                     |
|-------------|-------------|-------------------------------------|
| 3 days      | 3.1 days    | for arrivals from Morocco and Spain |
| 3.1 days    | 3 days      | for arrivals from UK                |

The number of persons in each category was:

|                       | 2002 | 2003 |
|-----------------------|-------------|-------------|
| Arrivals from UK      | 31,578      | 39,088      |
| Arrivals from Morocco | 2,421       | 1,539       |
| Arrivals from Spain   | 25,418      | 21,116      |

Q. 995, 996

The number of visitors in transit was:

|      |   |        |
|------|---|--------|
| 2002 | - | 48,594 |
| 2003 | - | 61,663 |

TOURISM – NUMBER OF CRUISE PASSENGERS

Can Government say what is the figure for arriving cruise passengers who actually disembarked from calling cruise ships on a monthly basis for each month of 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004 to date?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Gibraltar Tourist Board does not keep a record of figures of disembarking passengers.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 997 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The figures which are made available and which are published in relation to the cruise passengers calling at Gibraltar then are the actual cruise passengers on the ship, for the estimated capacity of the ship as opposed to the actual people who have disembarked. Is that the case?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, the figures that we have and we publish are the figures that are being carried by the vessel when they call at Gibraltar. In fact passenger tax is based on that figure, whether they disembark or not is irrelevant.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

So the ship will pay the tax on the number of passengers that it is carrying and not on the number of passengers that land?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is correct.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Does it follow then that the calculations in the Tourist Expenditure Report is also based on the survey of the people who land and then on the assumption that the people that have not landed would have spent as much if they had landed?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I believe it has always been done based on the number of passengers that are actually on the vessel on arrival, whether they disembark or not is irrelevant.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The point is that then there is no way of knowing from the Tourist Expenditure Survey whether there is any change in the pattern of people coming ashore or not? The figure will always reflect as expenditure the questions put to the people that have been ashore and then multiplied.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Unless, and this is speculation, they have some sort of factor that they allow for people not disembarking. It may be that they have obtained information roughly about a percentage of passengers that tend not to disembark and multiply by the percentage that do. I am not saying that there is such a system, it is an interesting question and I think we should all know the answer to it. It may be that they do that.

NO 1002 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

TOURISM – BARBARY APES

Have any apes been killed in 2004 to date and if so how many and when?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

As at 31st March 2004, there were 209 apes, divided into 5 packs as follows:-

|                     |         |
|---------------------|---------|
| Middle Hill         | 65 apes |
| Philip II Arch      | 52 apes |
| Anglian Way         | 36 apes |
| Apes Den            | 34 apes |
| Farringdon Barracks | 22 apes |

Two apes have been killed in 2004: both were run over by taxis on 18 March 2004 and 12 April 2004. None have been culled in 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1001 AND 1002 OF 2004

PARSON'S LODGE

Can Government say how many persons visited Parson's Lodge in 2003 and to date in 2004 on a monthly basis?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

This site is operated by the Gibraltar Heritage Trust and not by the Government. The information requested should be sought from the Trust.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1003 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Are Government not interested in keeping a record of how many visitors arrive at this site?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Obviously the Government are interested in keeping records of arrivals in our sites but this site, that is, Parson's Lodge, is operated by the Gibraltar Heritage Trust.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does the Trust not obtain a subsidy or some type of Government funding which allows them to assist them with the running of that particular site?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I do not think that there are any funds available to the Trust in respect of this.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, not in respect of this, there is no specific subsidy for this site but I think the Heritage Trust generally gets financial assistance from Government. I think they get a percentage of the museum takings. I think they get 5 per cent of the takings of the museum or some such quantity.

TOURISM – AIRLINES

With how many of the four airlines that the Government were in discussion with in January do discussions continue?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Active discussions continue with three of the airlines. Discussions are on the back burner with the fourth airline, but they may resume. In addition, I have entered discussions with two new airlines.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1004 AND 1005 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say whether any of the three airlines with which discussions continue, or the two new airlines which he started discussions with, will open a route to Morocco or to Heathrow?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

As has been the case in previous times when questions like this have been raised, we do not feel that it is worthwhile commenting while negotiations are on-going.

TOURISM – HOTEL ASSISTANCE SCHEME

Can Government say what amounts are due to Government in respect of loans under the Hotel Assistance Scheme, listing the hotels in question and the amounts repaid to date?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The amount owed by hotels in respect of historical arrears is £10,850, broken down as follows:

|                  |        |
|------------------|--------|
| Electricity      | £9,685 |
| Social Insurance | £1,165 |

The amount paid and remaining payable by hotels in respect of loans made under the Hotel Assistance Scheme per hotel is as follows:-

|                   |                        |
|-------------------|------------------------|
| Bell Hotel Ltd    | £ 125,000 paid         |
|                   | £ 875,000 outstanding  |
| G & JB Hotels Ltd | £ 72,500 paid          |
|                   | £1,377,500 outstanding |
| Rock Hotel        | £ 178,224 paid         |
|                   | £1,247,566 outstanding |

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

TOURISM – HOTELS – GRADING SCHEME

When was the last inspection of hotels carried out in respect of their star grading, by whom, and with what results in respect of each hotel?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The RAC carried out the last inspection of hotels under the grading scheme in June 2003, and the following grading was given to each hotel:-

|           |                                            |
|-----------|--------------------------------------------|
| 4 stars   | Caleta HotelEliott HotelRock Hotel |
| 1 star    | Continental Hotel                          |
| 1 diamond | Cannon Hotel                               |

The Bristol Hotel and the Queen's Hotel chose not to participate in the hotel grading scheme in 2003. Since writing the answer to this question, the Queen's Hotel has now opted to join the scheme and will then be subsequently inspected at the next round.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1010 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

This inspection was carried out by the RAC. They were not the firm that carried out the original inspection of hotels, is that right?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is correct.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

When was this changed and for what reason?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The change was carried out because previously this was done by a company called QAC, which ceased operation in the grading of hotels in the UK and Wales. The RAC was an internationally recognised assessor of hotel grades and we were extremely happy to have been able to get them to include Gibraltar in their grading system.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Who pays for the grading, the hotels or the Government?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, the Government paid for the grading.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the two hotels that chose not to participate, is it the Government's view that all hotels in Gibraltar should take part in this exercise or not?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes. However, the issue in respect of the Bristol and Queen's Hotel was that they do not have restaurant facility, so therefore under the RAC grading a hotel can only be graded with a star, be it whatever level of star it is, if it has restaurant facilities. So therefore they did not want to be classified under the diamond regime, which has happened to the Cannon Hotel for example. I believe the Queen's Hotel are now addressing this and therefore they want to join the scheme. It is obvious both from the Gibraltar Tourist Board and from the hotels themselves, that they wish to be part of the scheme because it is a selling and marketing tool for them to be able to sell their product internationally under a recognised band.

TOURISM – VISIT BY MOROCCAN TOURISM MINISTER

Can Government say if any date has been set for an official visit by the Moroccan Tourism Minister to Gibraltar, or by the Gibraltar Tourism Minister to Morocco?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No date has yet been set.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1011 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I think this issue first arose in FITUR, perhaps as much as a year ago, and since then I have been asking the question to see whether the meeting actually materialises. Is this something which is still on the cards and which may happen or have the Government of Morocco and the Government of Gibraltar decided not to pursue this avenue any more?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, there has been contact at official level between the Ministry of Tourism in Morocco and the Ministry of Tourism in Gibraltar. Tentative dates were actually agreed just before the Madrid bombing, and in the light of what had happened we decided that we would postpone the meeting until a later date.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Within what time scale is it envisaged that such a visit may now take place?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

We are currently waiting for the Ministry in Morocco to revert with some possible dates, but they have not done so.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 983 TO 990 AND 1012 TO 1014 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the cancellation of calls at Gibraltar by cruise ships this year, obviously since the answer to the question was prepared I assume the latest developments in relation to the three calls that have not taken place, in which one I understand was a booked call, can the confirm to the House the reasons for the cancellation of these last three calls that were due to take place, and confirm what action the Government are taking to pursue the matter? Certainly Opposition Members take a very serious view of developments in relation to reports that have appeared indicating that the Spanish Foreign Ministry have once again taken the view that calls from Gibraltar to a Spanish port is something that they want to target.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Government take an equally serious view and wish to avoid making statements that will exacerbate the matter at a time when we understand Spain is trying to work hard to remedy the matter, and we are just abiding time for a day or two, the priority has got to be to restore the status quo ante which is that this has always been Spain's position but that under the previous government it had waived it. In other words it was not implementing it. The underlying position is not new, it has always been Spain's position but the previous government chose not to implement it. We understand that in the interregnum in change of governments and a new minister has not yet taken possession, a new No. 2 has not yet taken possession, that there is an officer at that particular port who is unilaterally decided to implement the policy. Now, we understand that that situation is being resolved and that we hope that by the end of this week the situation will have been normalised. If it does not happen, it will be an extremely serious development which will bring in its wake, I think, great ramifications and consequences in other policy areas, but we believe that there has been no conscious decision by the Spanish Foreign Ministry to activate the implementation of their policy, and the truth is that it has not happened in other ports in Spain where there have been ships in the same period of time. For example, as nearby as Malaga ships have come. So we understand that there is an element of frolic of own of a person in the Barcelona port and that the Spanish administration is dealing with it. We think it is preferable to give them that opportunity to deal with it than to come out making inflammatory remarks that may make it harder for them to deal with it, but of course we cannot keep that position indefinitely or even for very long.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The last time it happened it was resolved as a result of the intervention of the UK Foreign Office or what?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The last time yes, there was some local contact and there was some UK contact and it was resolved. The position of the Partido Popular element is that this is not a policy which although they were not willing to abandon it on paper, that they were not implementing. It would be grossly ironical if the socialist government reversed that concessionary position, as they see it, and have an even tougher policy, so we tend to think that the information that we are getting that this is not a formal government decision, we see the logic. It would not be logical for the PSOE to be even more aggressive than the PP on this issue. That is why we have been persuaded to bite our tongue and to pursue a public profile on this which facilitates a resolution in the interests of Gibraltar rather than exacerbate it.

TOURISM – ST MICHAEL'S CAVE

How much did the company that installed the sound and light system at St Michael's Cave charge the Government for training members of the Electricity Authority to carry out the maintenance?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 1017 of 2004.

NO 1017 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

TOURISM – ST MICHAEL'S CAVE

Has an annual fee been agreed with the Electricity Authority for the maintenance of the sound and light system at St Michael's Cave and if so what is it?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

There was no charge for the training, but the £585 accommodation costs of the trainers was met. No annual maintenance fee has as yet been agreed with the Electricity Authority.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1016 AND 1017 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

So who is carrying out the maintenance at present?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The Electricity Authority.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

They are doing it on the basis of some agreement that might happen in the future which will result in them receiving any money?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is correct.

TOURISM – GDC EMPLOYEES

Can Government say how many employees of the Gibraltar Development Corporation are employed in tourism as at 31 March 2004, with a breakdown showing specific area of employment?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

A total of 73 Gibraltar Development Corporation employees are employed in tourism as at 31 March 2004 as follows:

|                                        |            |
|----------------------------------------|------------|

TOURISM – REVENUE RAISED

Can Government say how much revenue has been raised on a monthly basis from January 2004 inclusive:

- (a) by charging coaches that use the coach park;
- (b) in admission fees to the Upper Rock;
- (c) in entrance fees to the Gibraltar Museum;
- (d) in entrance fees to the Moorish Castle;
- (e) in entrance fees to St Michael's Cave;
- (f) in entrance fees to Parson's Lodge;
- (g) in entrance fees to the Siege Tunnels?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

There is no separate admission fee for the Moorish Castle, St Michael's Cave or the Upper Galleries. Parson's Lodge is not a Gibraltar Government tourist site. It is operated by the Gibraltar Heritage Trust, to whom the question of admission fees should be addressed.

The revenue from admission charges to the Museum per month, was as follows:

|               |        |
|---------------|--------|
| January 2004  | £1,343 |
| February 2004 | £2,129 |
| March 2004    | £2,711 |

The revenue from admission fees to the Upper Rock per month, was as follows:

|               |          |
|---------------|----------|
| January 2004  | £ 80,171 |
| February 2004 | £100,050 |
| March 2004    | £151,228 |

Coach Park fees per month were as follows:

TOURISM – PERSONS INTERVIEWED

Can Government say of the number of persons who have been interviewed since December 2003 inclusive, who said that they had not stayed at a hotel, how many were interviewed at the airport, how many were interviewed at the land frontier, and how many were interviewed elsewhere, and in each case what was the average length of stay in hotels?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The statistical information requested was given in reply to Question No. 1021. The questionnaire asks about the average length of stay in hotels. The answer is zero, given that the question refers to persons who did not stay in hotels.

TRADE – COUNTERFEIT GOODS

Can Government say whether they intend to legislate against the importation into and sale of counterfeit goods in Gibraltar, and if so when?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Yes, but Government are not in a position to say when. Legislation will be published when Government are ready to do so. This is not imminent. It is a complex issue that requires consultation. In the meantime, and as the hon Member should be aware, there is already some law on this issue, which has recently been used successfully in court.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1023 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say whether this process of consultation to which he refers, presumably with the Chamber of Commerce and the Federation of Small Businesses and any other interested party, has already commenced?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No.

TRADE – POWER CHIPS PLC

Has any more contact taken place between the Government and Power Chips PLC with a view to setting up a manufacturing facility in Gibraltar?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No Sir.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1024 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister tell the House then at what stage the original enquiry is, whether that is being pursued or not, or is simply static?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think there was, I hope that the hon Member will not seek to hold me too much to this answer, I think there was one or possibly two meetings with officials at a relatively junior level. I do not think it got beyond that.

TRADE – BUSINESS ADVISORY COUNCIL

Can Government list the issues that are of importance to small and medium size enterprises in Gibraltar, and to commerce in general, on which the advice of the Business Advisory Council will be of assistance to the Government?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The advice of the Business Advisory Council will be of assistance to the Government in all issues of importance to business in Gibraltar.

The Government will not list the topics discussed at the first or any meeting of the Council. The Council is an on-going advisory body to the Government.

I would expect the Council to explore all opportunities available to business to improve the business environment.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1028 TO 1029 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Government say whether this company was selected originally by the work that needed to be done being put out to tender?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I am afraid that I will be unable to confirm one way or the other what the hon Member is asking. However, I can tell him that this company has been doing work for the Government on an on-going computerisation programme now for a number of years, but if the hon Member wishes I will try and find the information out and inform him accordingly.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am aware that they have been doing this for a number of years because he has just given me a list of the amount they have been paid every year, which comes to a total of £650,000. So we are talking about big sums of money for writing programmes. In fact, is the company still contracted to do more work for the Government, because we have got 2004/2005 which we have not yet voted down?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I believe that this company does actually have some maintenance contracts with departments like the Income Tax and Department of Social Security. So therefore it does have an on-going maintenance commitment to the Government.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The maintenance of what, the hardware?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

This is the company involved in networking the Government's computer systems and developing the Government's computer programme, for which there is an annual vote, as the hon Member has just mentioned, in the Improvement and Development Fund Public Administration Head. This is one of the companies, I think it is the main company involved in the delivery of that. I think it is mainly software systems but it may also include hardware too.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The fact that payments are made to this company is not identified in the Estimates that we vote, but there is a sum of £2,000 intended to be voted presumably in the forthcoming Estimates of Expenditure for this year, because it says in the amounts paid 2004/2005 which has not happened yet, unless they have been paid £2,000 in April this year. Is that what it is?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is what that means but of course the vote, as he knows from the book that he has is higher than that on computers generally for the Government computer system development. I just do not want to give the hon Member the impression that that is the only amount that this company is going to be used for this financial year.

HON J J BOSSANO:

It just so happens that the Principal Auditor every year predicts that something is going to be happening as a result of the work done by this company, except that in the subsequent Audit Report it says the same thing. So whatever it is they have been promising to deliver does not seem to have happened yet and they have been at it now for a considerable number of years.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I think that there has been a delay due to technical reasons which I think is the issue the Principal Auditor refers to in relation to the wages and salaries programme. Now all this is run by the IT Department but I do know that there has been delay in part and failure, in the sense that part of the work done was not effective in that area of computerisation, of Government function.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In note 8 to the reply to the original question it says that the software was in-house and written in RPG 2. Is that just with regard to the Millennium compatibility or does the RPG 2 used as a computer language apply to the whole answer?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I would need notice of the question.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is RPG 2 a computer language in which the staff of the Computer Department is trained?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I would need notice of that question too.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 970, 971, 1038 TO 1041 AND 1043 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

If I recall correctly, this is in relation to the Seatrade in Miami. In the past there used to be three persons making up the Gibraltar delegation, this time there are four. Is there any specific reason as to why that is the case?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, apart from the fact that for example, Mr Albert Poggio goes not just representing Gibraltar but he actually does functions within Medcruise where there are several meetings and things. Tony Davies is the one that basically attends the conference that is held in Miami, where issues in relation to the industry are discussed and then two other people, Peter Canessa and Nicky Guerrero both man the stand from the early hours of the morning to late at night, during the duration of the conference.

TOURISM – CONFERENCES SPONSORED

Can Government list the conferences that they have assisted with, sponsored or co-sponsored since January 2004 inclusive, showing the dates of the conferences in question?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

There have been none.

NO 1045 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

TRADE – UNFAIR COMPETITION

What measures do Government intend to take to curb unfair competition against established local traders?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The question does not identify the unfair competition to which the hon Member believes local traders are subject to and from whom.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1045 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The annual reports and the public comments of both the Chamber and the Federation of Small Businesses refer to this unfair competition which they feel they are having from cross-frontier tradesmen, and that is obviously what I am referring to given that the issue has been topical and has been raised in the media.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I think that the hon Member should ask the Federation and the Chamber for details of this.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

No, the question refers to what action the Government intend to take, not the Chamber.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Government know that there are tradesmen coming through the border. It is not the Government's intention to do anything specific about them. The Government's policy for what we call unfair competition, this is why it depends on whose terminology one is borrowing, different parties use the phrase 'unfair competition' to describe different things. The Government's approach to unfair competition is not to allow Spanish businesses facilities in Gibraltar which Gibraltar businesses are not allowed in Spain. For example, in the port, there is a regime applicable for who can go to do work in a port in Spain, there is paperwork that one needs, we do not think that our port should therefore be more liberally run so that Spanish companies can do work in our port but our companies cannot reciprocate in the Algeciras port. That is what we mean by unfair competition. There are areas where the Government are working in relation to the haulage industry, where our system is so much more liberal than the neighbouring market system that our market is in effect open to them but theirs is not open to us. That is what the Government mean by unfair competition and in those areas, there is not a sort of one cure for all, the requirements of each area need to be separately looked at and sort of a tailor-made solution found. Amongst the areas that the Government are working on, as far as I am aware, is not included the fact that tradesmen come across the border to do their trades. That is very difficult to police. If the Chamber and the Federation of Small Businesses have specific proposals about abuses of that and how those might be addressed, I am not saying the Government would not look at them but this is not something that the Government themselves are working on as a matter of policy initiative.

NO 1046 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

UPPER ROCK – ROAD MAINTENANCE

Can Government state what is the position regarding road maintenance on the Upper Rock generally, including Signal Hill?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The roads on the Upper Rock are checked periodically and appropriate maintenance work is carried out whenever it is necessary on the main roads. Certain other roads such as Signal Hill Road are not in the ordinary course open to vehicular traffic. If there is a problem identified on such roads it receives a low priority in terms of repairs.

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

UPPER ROCK – CLEANING OF SLOPES

Has the contract award for the cleaning of the slopes of the Upper Rock now been extended beyond the original five months?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1047 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

So can the Minister say who is cleaning the Upper Rock slopes at present when they need to be cleaned?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The previous contractor terminated at the end of March and we were waiting to see the sort of budget that would be available for Upper Rock maintenance in order to decide what sort of contract we can enter and what its intensity can be.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Has the Minister now been able to review that position and establish what the nature of the contracts will be?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, but the Product Manager of the Gibraltar Tourist Board I know is now actively pursuing this and I believe I already have some proposals on my desk for me to consider.

NO 1048 OF 2004*THE HON L A RANDALL*UPPER ROCK – NATURE RESERVE

Can Government state what is the level of arrears due as at 31st December 2003 by concessionaires in respect of admission fees to the Upper Rock Nature Reserve?

ANSWER*THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The information sought in this question is too voluminous to be read out in this House, and therefore I hand the hon Member a table giving the information requested in the question.

SCHEDULE*ARREARS IN RESPECT OF UPPER ROCK ADMISSIONS AS AT 31ST DECEMBER 2003

| Total                           | £618,861.20 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1048 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

In his report for 2001/2002 the Auditor expressed concern that the two worse cases owed circa £300,000. It appears from the figures provided that there has been no improvement on this level of arrears. The arrears for the two worst is something in the region of £380,000 now.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

There is one particular operator which has not improved its situation. That is correct. However, the matter is being tackled and will hopefully be solved soon.

PORT – BUNKERING

Can Government say how many companies are currently licenced to carry out bunkering and are any of them exempt or qualifying companies?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 1050 of 2004.

NO 1050 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PORT – BUNKERING

Have any new applications for a bunkering licence been made during 2004 and have any new licences been issued?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answer to Question No. 1049 of 2004

Five Companies are licensed bunker operators. Of these, one is an exempt company.

Answer to Question No. 1050 of 2004

No new applications for bunkering licences have been made during 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1049 AND 1050 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I take it that the other four are not qualifying companies, is that correct?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is correct.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that the other four find it commercially viable to be on the normal tax regime, there would not appear to be a need as an incentive to give people exempt company status then.

PORT – BUNKERING

How many ships have called at Gibraltar this year to date on a monthly basis for bunkering and how many tonnes of bunker fuel were sold each month?

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PORT – SHIP ARRESTS

How much revenue did Government receive, with a breakdown, as a result of the arrest in Gibraltar earlier this year of a number of Festival cruise ships?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The amount collected was £36,058 as follows:-

|          |                  |         |
|----------|------------------|---------|
| Bolero   | Tonnage Dues     | £ 1,920 |
|          | Berthing Charges | £18,464 |
| Azur     | Tonnage Dues     | £ 1,640 |
|          | Berthing Charges | £13,464 |
| Flamenco | Tonnage Dues     | £ 570   |
|          | Berthing Charges | none    |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1052 OF 2004

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Can we just clarify to make sure that we are not at cross purposes with the question and the answer. I do not know if these ships were sold by the Admiralty Marshal like the other ones, he will have seen from the answer that it will not include the commission the Government's share of the port poundage. I do not know if they have been sold yet, they have been sold. I do not know if the Government have collected their share or not but in either case it is not included in the answer he has been given. So this has been answered as if it were port revenue rather than Government revenue.

PORT – DREDGING OF WESTERN ARM

How many tenderers bid for the dredging works at the Western Arm of the Port that will be needed in order to accommodate the Queen Mary II, listing the amount bid by each and showing which sum was bid by the successful tenderer?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 1054 of 2004.

NO 1054 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PORT – DREDGING OF WESTERN ARM

Can Government say whether the dredging at the Western Arm of the Port that will be needed to accommodate the Queen Mary II is now complete?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The dredging at the Western Arm is not complete. Indeed it has not begun. The Government do not publish information such as the question seeks in relation to tenders, until a tender has been awarded.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1053 TO 1054 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

If the dredging is not complete, where does that leave the call by the Queen Mary which I understand is due to take place fairly soon?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

We are in contact at the moment with Cunard looking at possible options that are open to us, which include the anchoring in the Bay and the tendering of passengers through the port, the actual berthing along the South Mole and actually the possibility of just a technical call into Gibraltar without any disembarking.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Given that the tender was advertised at the beginning of January and that we are now in May, can the Minister say why there has been such a delay in this?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it is not a question of delay, the costs of those works are substantially in excess of £1 million. The Queen Mary II has been built and acquired by its owners for trans-Atlantic trade. In its trans-Atlantic trade it will not be coming anywhere near Gibraltar.

It is coming to the Mediterranean once, as a one off thing in connection I believe with the Olympic Games or something. The number of visits scheduled to Gibraltar, I understand, are two or three and to boot half day visits. In future years, it is likely that she will not visit at all or if she did it will be once and the Government are considering whether the economic activity that would flow from that degree of use by the Queen Mary II of the Port of Gibraltar, justifies incurring an expenditure of I think nearly £1.3 million, is the cost of the works. A lot of technical issues involved and frankly, we have decided not to proceed with it. This would be a long-term developmental thing. The Queen Mary II can either not come, can come and not come alongside or can come in alongside at the South Mole where there is depth for her there we understand. Frankly, we do not think that it is worth spending in a rush, with the Government prioritising their capital investment programmes we do not think it is worth spending £1.3 million to facilitate two half-day visits by the Queen Mary II.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I assume that the reason why they do not want to use the South Mole is because there is no cruise liner terminal in that area. Were Cunard as the ship owners or the operators given the impression that the ship would be docking in Gibraltar, because I understand it has been included in all the relevant literature and is part of the cruise itinerary. If they were under that impression then where does this leave us with one of the major cruise operators? We are already having enough problems with Spain in order to shoot ourselves in the foot at the same time.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That decision by Cunard, or that publicity or that assumption by Cunard was not based on any Government promise to dredge or to dredge by time. It was based on their assumption that the existing facility could take them. Now, the existing facility cannot take them, it is up to them whether they wish to make use of such of Gibraltar's facilities as can take them, the South Mole, anchoring as they do for example when all these cruise ships go to Monaco. They do not come alongside, passengers get tendered ashore. That is their choice but frankly, our view is that there are more urgent things for Government to spend £1.3 million on than two half-day visits in the foreseeable future by the Queen Mary II. In an ideal world of course, it may be future port development may include this project but given that the demand for this is really just this one ship, which is not for the Mediterranean route anyway, it is not going to be a regular client of Gibraltar in its cruising itinerary, it is certainly not a priority for the Government.

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

TRANSFER OF BOATS TO COALING ISLAND

Can the Government now confirm when they can expect to transfer the boats at Western Beach to the area of Coaling Island, something they promised to do four years ago?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Government did not promise to transfer the boats four years ago. The Government promised four years ago to transfer the boats when it became possible to obtain the transfer of the site from MOD.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1057 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When do the Government expect the site to be transferred to the Government?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, as the hon Lady will have read in the newspapers, the excellent land transfer deal that we have recently signed with the MOD includes, by way of ratification in this respect, because that element of it had already been agreed in principle, the transfer of the Coaling Island Basin in exchange for a relocation of the yellow and black units, MSG units to Gun Wharf. That is at an advanced stage, the re-provision works have been designed and I think have either gone out or about to go out to tender, or are being costed by JBS, the work is about to begin.

NO 1058 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

PORT DEPARTMENT

Can Government state whether the outstanding grievances with the employees of the Port Department have now been resolved?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Government are not aware of the outstanding grievances to which the hon Member may be referring. Government are in discussions with Port Department staff about their possible transfer to a statutory Port Authority.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1058 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Those were the grievances I referred to.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is not a grievance. If the hon Member meant to ask how the negotiation is going for the Port Authority, it would be the same answer that the hon Lady got in respect of the Sports Authority except that these are more advanced. There have been meetings about this, it is just that the negotiations have not concluded.

HON L A RANDALL:

Perhaps one should ask the people working at the Port Department whether they consider them to be grievances or not.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member can ask whoever he likes and if he simply adopts the language of other people and adopts them as his own, then the problem is his not ours. It is not a grievance. These guys do not have a right to join a Port Authority just as we do not have a right to demand that they join an Authority. It is a negotiation, it is not a grievance. Nobody can have a grievance, it would be quite unusual for somebody to have a grievance about not being allowed to leave Government Service. That would be a turn out for the books, I suppose it is possible. So it is not a grievance, there are negotiations in which each side has aspirations and red lines and, as in all negotiations, there is a tension within the negotiation as to which side achieves, how many and to what extent. That is not a grievance, it is just a normal cut and thrust of a negotiating process.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister say whether the grievance that there was about the use of a security company has been resolved, because that was a grievance?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, it has been resolved in the sense that the Government's position has been accepted. It was never actually a grievance, this was not a service that the Government had ever provided in the Port. There was no privatisation of an existing service. The Government made it perfectly clear that they were never willing to entertain the provision of those services from directly employed labour and I am sure that the staff would have preferred it, one knows Unions always like staff to be directly engaged by the Government. I am sure they would have preferred it otherwise but it is no longer a live issue.

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

COMPUTER HACKING

Can Government say at what stage is the production of computer misuse legislation to outlaw hacking of computers in or from Gibraltar?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

I am not aware that such legislation is at any stage of production.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1062 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

During the debate on the Data Protection legislation that we had in this House, I remember the Chief Minister mentioning that this was something that was in the pipeline. This is why the question was tabled. Can the Minister then clarify that remark?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The fact that it is in the pipeline does not mean that it is at any stage of production.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Perhaps as my hon Colleague has said, it depends on the length of the pipeline, but surely we understand that this is something the Government intend to do. It is the something the Opposition take a very serious view of this. We think that it is part of the package of data protection, indeed it is a requirement of some of the directives that we have already implemented in this House in relation to electronic commerce and electronic signatures, that there should be anti-hacking computer misuse protection laws in place as well. So can the Government commit themselves to introduce this legislation, and can the Minister please find out at what stage this is?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I assume that this will be forthcoming. However, what I can assure the hon Gentleman is that the drafting of this legislation has not yet begun.

ORAL

NO 1063 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

INTERNET SERVICES

Can Government say how many internet connections there were in Gibraltar as at 31 March 2004, indicating how many were dial-up and how many ADSL?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 1064 of 2004.

NO 1064 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

INTERNET SERVICES

Have Government urged Gibtelecom to make its telephone services like ADSL and internet more competitive and if so on what date?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Figures provided by the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority show that the total number of internet connections as at 31 March 2004 was 6017 broken down as follows: 5028 were dial-up and 989 ADSL. The Government constantly encourages Gibtelecom to lower its charges as much as possible, consistent with its reasonable commercial interests. I do not know what the hon Member means by "more competitive". Gibtelecom ADSL and internet services are competitive in the local market.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1063 TO 1064 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I will clarify what I mean by being competitive. In relation to for example, an examination that I remember conducting of the price of the same service in similar territories the size of Gibraltar, I remember looking at the Channel Islands, the price of the same service there was much cheaper. So while they may be competitive in the local market in which they have a near monopolistic share, they are certainly not competitive compared to other parts of Europe. Does the Minister not agree?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does the Chairman of Gibtelecom, sitting a few chairs away, share that view?

HON F VINET:

As the hon Member will know it is not Government practice to comment on matters relating to Gibtelecom as a company. I can however say that the price structure of ADSL services has been reviewed and an announcement will be made very shortly.

NO 1065 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS SECTOR

Can Government state the date on which they now propose to transpose into Gibraltar law the new EU Regulatory framework for the electronic communications sector?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

As I said in reply to Question No. 291 of 2004, work on the transposition of the new regulatory package is at a very advanced stage and is expected to be completed in the first half of this year. There has been a slight delay in the finalisation of the drafts, but the Government still intend to implement the directives this year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1065 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

I take it that they will now be transposed by the end of June 2004.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I have already answered that question.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Has the Minister said that it is still expected to happen in the first half of the year? I thought he said it had been delayed.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

What I have said is that work on the transposition of the new regulatory package is at an advanced stage and expected to be completed in the first half of the year. Then I said that the Government still intend to implement the directive this year.

NO 1066 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

e-EUROPE 2005

Can Government state whether they have now filed with the European Commission their intentions regarding the switchover from analogue to digital TV as part of Action Plan eEurope 2005?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No Sir.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1066 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

When do Government plan to do this, seeing that the date for the filing was end of 2003?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The GRA will shortly be drawing up a paper for Ministers, on options for the change over from analogue to digital broadcasting. The GRA is responsible for the management of the radio frequency spectrum, so therefore this should happen shortly.

NO 1067 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

REFERENCE INTERCONNECT OFFER 'RIO'

Can Government state whether the reference interconnect offer ('RIO') was revised in January 2004, and if not, when do they expect RIO to be revised by?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Under the provisions of the Telecommunications (Interconnection) Regulations 2001, it is the duty of the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority to ensure that a Reference Interconnect Offer 'RIO' is provided by certain telecommunications operators and it is to the GRA that the operators are answerable. The information requested should be sought from the GRA.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1067 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it that the Government do not know what the answer is?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

As I have said in the answer, the information should be requested and sought from the GRA.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, I have asked in the supplementary is it that the Minister does not know or that he does not want to tell us? Which of the two?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, I do not know.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The Government are aware that the reason for the question is that they actually stated in their last report that it would be done by this date. That is why we are asking whether it has happened. In the last report from the Regulator, it said this would be revised in January 2004. We would like to know if it has happened?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know what any of this is all about, it is all technical, beyond me but, as can be seen in another question the Government are particularly keen not to be drawn one issue at a time into accounting in this House for the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority. If the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority as a concept is going to work, given the directives in which it is involved that require independence from the Government as a matter of legal requirement, it is vital that the GRA, which in fact is not an agency controlled by the Government, should not be seen to be because the Government accounts for its business in the House. Now, of course, if it is a matter of legislation that is another matter. I do not know if this requires legislation to introduce it or not but if it is a regulatory matter we would much prefer that the hon Members deal directly with the Regulator about it. That way signalling that the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority is not an arm of Government so to speak.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Certainly, we will pursue that avenue that has been suggested by the Government, but the only thing is, are the Government not conscious of the fact that this is not something that the Regulator has to do, this is something that Gibtel has to do and submit to the Regulator. So what the Regulator was saying was by January 2004 Gibtel has to produce a Reference Interconnect Offer. We can ask the Regulator whether he has received it but obviously we can also ask the Chairman of Gibtel whether he has actually sent it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If the question is formulated in that way I think the answer is that an extension has been given to the company to send. I mean, answering as the company not as the Regulator, an extension has been given I understand until September.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So the answer is, to the original question, that it was not revised and that the company requested an extension and obtained it. Is that the correct answer to the original question?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Following discussions with Gibtel the GRA accepted the accounting separation report which was based on historical costs, but instructed the company to prepare a new report based on current cost to reflect costs more accurately and therefore they have been given until September 2004 to re-submit that.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If I could just add to that, the hon Member may have noticed moves by neighbouring ports and Algeciras especially taking a very keen interest in volumes and number of ships movements, Government are very happy for the hon Member to know the information but we just do not see why we should publish it in a way which helps people who do not have Gibraltar's interests at heart.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1070 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Has the Tercentenary Committee met in 2004?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister explain why the Tercentenary Committee has not met on the year of the tercentenary?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well, the purpose and objective of the Tercentenary Committee when it was set up in January 2003 was to advise Government on the sort of activities that would be put into the programme during the year 2004. The purpose of this was to receive input from a number of sectors, be it in the area of culture, sports, et cetera and once the advice of this main committee had been obtained and a draft programme put in place, the purpose of the main Tercentenary Committee was no longer of need. There have been sub-committees that were set up as a result of this Tercentenary Committee, and these have continued to meet and have been on-going during all this time and in fact continue to meet to monitor the different areas and activities that are going to be held during the year.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Have the events or recommendations which were drawn up as a result of this Committee been changed since the Committee was dissolved?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

There have been changes in terms of detail but not in terms of substance.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does that mean that the calendar or the programme of events, for example today will be the same as at the beginning of the year?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, it will not have been the same because as I said, in the terms of the detail of it there have been changes and in fact there will continue to be changes as the programme evolves. The fact is that an event may be concluded as being something that we wish to proceed with but then there may have been changes in the actual detail or in terms of dates, and terms of events, venues et cetera. That is the whole purpose of having the website which is updated constantly, in order to have the members of the public fully informed as to what is the latest information on events as the programme progresses.

TERCENTENARY COMMITTEE

How many companies has the Tercentenary Committee written to requesting donations or sponsorship and with what result?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 1072 of 2004.

NO 1072 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

TERCENTENARY COMMITTEE

Can Government say for what purpose or specific events are the donations or sponsorship requested by the Tercentenary Committee required?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Tercentenary Committee has not written to anybody requesting sponsorship. This has been done verbally. The sponsorship is not being allocated to specific events. All sponsorship received will be used to complement the Government's investment in the year's celebration events.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1071 AND 1072 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

There are, I understand, letters that have been written requesting funding for the tercentenary. They may not have been written by the Committee because the Committee has been dissolved. Who were the letters written by and in what capacity were they signed?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, a sub-committee of the main committee was formed to look after sponsorship, and that comprised of some officials and two of the original main committee members. I know that they were tasked with the responsibility of trying to seek sponsorship from a number of firms and there may have been an element of information being sent as to what sort of events they could aspire to in terms of advertising and value for money in terms of advertising in return for their sponsorship money, but there was not any official letter that was sent out to companies seeking their support.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In terms of the results of those requests for funding, how was the business community that was targeted responding?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

We have had 15 positive replies for main sponsorship of the events.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In terms of actual amounts of money do we know what the sum is?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

These companies were asked for £25,000 to become a main sponsor and 14 of these agreed to that, because initially we started offering two levels of sponsorship, main sponsorship and minor sponsorship. We have had 14 main sponsors and one minor sponsor.

TERCENTENARY EVENTS

Can Government confirm the date time and venue of the Tercentenary Local Talent Variety Show?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No "super stars" have been booked for the December event as this is a local event for Gibraltarian sportsmen and women. It is not appropriate to publish information about Artistes' that have been considered. Negotiations are presently under way for a concert by a particular artiste, and that artiste will be made public when and if it materialises. As a decision has not yet been taken on the superstar artiste, the issue of not being able to perform in Gibraltar does not arise.

There is no definite projected cost of the Tercentenary Rock Concert or the Classical Concert as this will depend on the fees charged by the artiste chosen. The choice of date for the Tercentenary Rock Concert, the classical Concert and the local talent variety show have yet to be finally decided. The identity of the star attraction for the Rock Concert cannot be revealed until negotiations are complete, as this may prejudice the discussions.

The venue, date and time of the exhibition of Ecclesiastical Treasures is under discussion with representatives of the various religious denominations who have expressed an interest in participating in this event.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1074 TO 1082 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does the Minister not consider that given that we are already five months into the tercentenary year, many of these issues should have been sewn up much earlier, in relation to dates of exhibitions, artistes who are going to be performing, the budgets for classical concerts, the Rock Concert, the star who will be in the Rock Concert, practically the answer to every question has been that negotiations are under way or that no decision has been taken. Should this all have not been sewn up much earlier?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

An announcement will shortly be made in respect of all these.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I asked the question in relation to obviously the tourist aspect, if there are going to be charter flights or coaches or tour operators, we will need time to organise these things, hotels will need notice. Surely it makes sense to sort these things out with a considerable amount of time so that it can be properly marketed and advertised and attract more visitors to Gibraltar, which is the object of the exercise. Does the Minister not agree?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The purpose of these events are not for tourists. Our main interest in this is obviously the local community.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

If I recall correctly, was there not some type of a statement made that we were expecting so many visitors to Gibraltar in the tercentenary year that we may even have to bring in two cruise ships to cope with the numbers? While I accept that primarily this is an event for the people of Gibraltar to participate in and to enjoy, given what we are celebrating, surely it would make sense to have a tourism or a marketing aspect at the same time, whereby it would attract people to come here to stay in our hotels, eat in our restaurants and spend money in our shops. For that to happen people need to have dates, times, venues and plenty of notice of what is going to go on. That is certainly not the case at the moment. I looked at the website of the tercentenary and on many of these major events for example, like the Rock Concert or like the Variety Show, the Classical Concert, all it says is 'to be confirmed', the venue, the time to be confirmed and even the artiste to be confirmed. I think it is totally unacceptable that at this stage in the tercentenary year, we should still be waiting for these things to be announced. Do the Government not agree?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Not really. There are different sorts of events for different sorts of audiences. When the Government put that agenda on the website, it was made perfectly clear that it was an incremental agenda. In other words, as the agenda developed, information would be put on the website and the principal purpose of putting on the website was for local purposes. In other words, clubs and organisations that wanted to themselves organise events, would have some idea of what dates were available and what dates were vacant or taken so that people would have an idea of how the calendar was filling up during the year's worth of events of many different kinds. There is a great deal of interest that has been shown in visiting Gibraltar in relation to the principal military tercentenary event, which is the granting of the Freedom of the City to the Royal Navy. For the rest of events, certainly as far as the Government are concerned, the cultural events are for the benefit of the local community. Obviously people will come, they are very welcome but we are not staging a concert for the entertainment principally of visitors. We are staging cultural events to celebrate the tercentenary principally as a local community celebration. Now, it is true that the fact that it is Gibraltar Tercentenary Year, does provide a prop generally for the tourism flavour of the year so to speak in terms of tourism marketing, and that different types of potential visitor to Gibraltar have an interest in different types of events, and if they are interested in coming to Gibraltar because it is Tercentenary Year and their interest is prodded by that, then they will pick the time of the year when there are events of the sort that they want. The main one in terms of foreign visitors will be the military connection and retired people and all that, is the 4th August event and indeed that is that week, that 10 day period is the principal part of the year for us locally here as well, but the organisation of a major musical event is intended as a local thing, not as a tourist attraction. Principally, obviously if it has the effect of attracting visitors too, fine.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I understand what the Chief Minister has said but I certainly do think that the fact that these events for example, if there is a super star coming to have a rock concert in Gibraltar it is something which is capable of attracting a far wider audience than purely people in Gibraltar themselves, who are the primary beneficiaries of the events and on whose behalf the money will be spent, but I certainly think the marketing aspect of the Tercentenary, given what the Government have said, is totally inadequate. I know they have studied this, for example, if they want taxis et cetera, the new logo, the tercentenary logo, which indicates that there is some kind of intention to advertise the tercentenary for tourism marketing purposes, but at present I think it would be in everybody's interest that things are announced as quickly as possible so everybody knows, both locally and people who may be interested in coming from abroad, that they know what is going on, who will be coming and when they will be performing and the sooner that happens the best it will be from a marketing point of view.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think there is a difference of focus and approach here. Certainly from the Government's point of view the fact that it is Gibraltar's Tercentenary is something which is valuable that people abroad should know. It is not just an important event in our history in terms of chronology of time, it is also a very useful political prop in terms of our general political campaigning. It is another issue around which Gibraltar's supporters can focus, tercentenary year. Certainly there has been no shortage of publicity for the fact that it is Gibraltar's tercentenary year and that event has received plenty of publicity, as the hon Member has said, it is a focal point of the taxis et cetera and the books being issued and widely circulated, cufflinks and all sorts of things, simply to highlight the fact that it is the tercentenary year. Now, the hon Member appears to be extending that principle to the actual plethora of events that take place, everything from individual sporting associations organising special tercentenary events, all the way through some of the more political events, to the cultural events to the military events. The hon Member appears to be taking the view that each of those events is also for the purposes of attracting visitors to Gibraltar, and of course they may or may not attract people to Gibraltar but from the Government's point of view, the focus of events as opposed to the fact that it is the tercentenary year, is an internal commemoration of an important landmark in our history, the passage of 300 years of time in this community and their formation. Therefore it is principally for local enjoyment, for local celebration and for local consumption, which is not to say that to the extent that it is also capable of being used to attract visitors, then that is an additional benefit but the hon Member seems to be focusing the events directly as if they were a marketing tool. The events as such, all the various celebratory events, they themselves are not marketing tools. The marketing tool is the fact that it is Gibraltar's tercentenary but the events themselves, obviously except for the ones that we held in London, are very much for local celebration. That is why they are spread throughout the community at almost every level of activity. So, I hear what the hon Member says about what he thinks of the marketing job but I think his assessment may be based on the fact that he seems to be using these events for a slightly different purpose to the one that the Government are actually using them for. Having said all of that, there is an event, the Freedom of the City, that has attracted a lot of interest, obviously from retired people from the Navy and people that have served in Gibraltar in the past, and we are expecting quite a lot of visitors around that time.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just say that the Chief Minister rightly says that this is principally a celebration for the people of Gibraltar and it is right that that should be so, although I of course share my hon Friend's views that we can use this more effectively as an international marketing tool, but the fact that these events are seen by the Government principally as events for the people of Gibraltar does not exonerate the Government, surely, from planning these events properly and with time, and that decisions should already have been made about who the artistes are, when events are going to be held, so that Gibraltarians also can plan their own calendar of events and agenda around the events that are going to take place in Gibraltar. I think that the most important point to take, that is my first point, the second point is this. Sometimes we tell things in this House, both in the sessions in which I have been a Member of this House and in earlier sessions, which are either specifically giving us statements to one effect or designed to give us an impression in one particular direction, which then turn out to be completely different. In fact I was this morning greatly surprised to read in the Gibraltar Magazine for example, that the Hon Mr Holliday seems to have told a journalist that the dredging works in respect of the Queen Mary II had already began, and he is quoted as saying that. Whilst in this House we were yesterday told something completely different. So I think that there are two points to be made and I wonder whether the Chief Minister would care to comment on them. First, that even though these plans are for essentially a Gibraltarian audience and market, that does not exonerate the Government from effective and careful planning of those events. Secondly, that the Government should be circumspect about what they say in this House and ensure that they do not mislead the House or parties outside the House, of what the Government's plans are.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not intend to address the second part of the hon Member's question which I think is entirely inopportune. First of all the hon Member assumes that the journalist is correctly reported. Secondly he brings to this House journalistic reports as if they were facts, and on the basis of it actually uses the words misleading this House. Well, I do not intend to engage the hon Member in a debate on that issue. Suffice it to say that in my opinion it is important for both sides of the House to always be true to the facts when they are addressing this House. Frankly in my view, if we were to run a league table of who infringes that rule more frequently, I suggest quite strongly that the hon Members would top it with flying colours. As to the first part of his question, which is an entirely appropriate issue for the hon Member to press the Government on, of course he is right except that we do not agree with the underlying premise of his question, which is that we think that these things are being effectively and opportunely organised. The fact that the hon Members who of course, as they criticise each and everything that the Government do, whether it is the new buses, or whether it is the hospital, or whether it is the Theatre Royal, or as they criticise each and everything that the Government do, as far as the hon Members are concerned the Government do everything badly and wrong and absolutely nothing well. Of course it seems to be their political strategy to actually undermine and criticise everything that the Government do, never acknowledging that anything is done even half well. I take this remark in the same context. I take note of the fact that the hon Member thinks that the Government have not opportunely and effectively organised the events in relation to the tercentenary, and I assert the contrary. Therefore that is where the matters lie. The fact that the hon Members assert things does not make them facts or correct, in fact almost always they are not.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just rise in relation to those three issues that the Chief Minister has identified as evidence of the fact that we tend to criticise the Government at every turn hoping to see the Government fail. I think that that really is quite unfair. The Opposition are here to do a job and are doing it as best they can. I think we are doing an effective job but let me take those three examples. First of all the hospital. The Chief Minister promised the people of Gibraltar a new hospital by 2003. The people of Gibraltar did not have a new hospital by 2003. The Chief Minister promised the people of Gibraltar a bus service which Gibraltar deserved. Of course Gibraltar needed a new bus service and of course the Opposition will hope to see the bus service that has been provided flourish, despite the fact that we have to put that bus service under the microscope and ensure that Government expenditure has been incurred properly. That is what we are here for, that is why the Western parliamentary democracy has an Opposition for. In relation to the Theatre, the Chief Minister himself yesterday half admitted the mistake. Come on.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, if the hon Member wants a mini debate, a re-run of the last General Election campaign, I am game. I know of no practice of honest, western parliamentary democracy that in order to hold the Government to account, which is of course the Opposition's function, for example on the buses, that it is legitimate or even acceptable for the Opposition to invent facts, mis-state facts, fail to research facts, mis-read documents and mis-represent them on television, and then on the back of their factual, legal mis-statements, to launch a criticism of the buses. He may think that that is holding the Government to account, and he may think that that is doing a very good job, and he may think that that is the role of oppositions in western parliamentary democracies. I accept that it is the role of opposition in western parliamentary democracies to hold the Government factually to account on the basis of correct facts. Then on correct facts one can make whatever judgement one likes. That is a different matter. Once one deals with truths, one can then think it is a good thing, a bad thing, that the Government have done it well, that the Government have done it badly, that they could have done it better or that they should not have done it so badly. The question of assessment and judgement of the Government's performance is one thing. To base that assessment on fabricated facts by the hon Members for the purposes of them doing what they subsequently describe as being their democratic role, in my opinion is wholly legitimate, and that is what the hon

Members have done for example with the buses. They were too heavy, they were too long, they were too short, they were too thin, Government had not done any research, we had not done any research for the buses, we had not done any research for the Theatre Royal. Apparently we had not done any research for the new hospital because we had forgotten that patients had to be fed in hospital, and how can a Government design a new hospital without making allowance for people eating. This is the entire approach, everything is reduced to a simplistic analysis based on a foundation stone of fabricated facts and assessments which they first lay in order to then provide themselves with a prop with which to criticise the Government. This is systematically so, issue by issue. Look, it is entirely a matter of political judgement for them, he obviously thinks that they are doing a very good job and they are doing it effectively and of course, ultimately the electorate will tell. I do not know if they would regard it as pertinent for me to offer some advice but if I were doing the same thing, my fear would be that people would regard my criticisms as being so systematic, so unobjective and so politically self-serving that eventually my fear would be that I might lose credibility, and when I do criticise something rightly with justification because the Government genuinely have got it wrong, people are just not going to believe it. That would be my concern, but it is also part of western democratic principles that every political party conducts its fortunes and conducts its affairs as they think they are most likely to bring electoral success and so be it. As for the Theatre Royal, the Government have made no such admission of the sort that the hon Member has suggested that we got it wrong. We think the hon Members have got it entirely wrong. The fact that the Government are suggesting that it is re-assessing their priorities for capital expenditure projects, should not be misinterpreted by the hon Members as meaning that the Government have decided to abandon doing the Theatre Royal. It is simply that we are stopping, and it is not just in relation to leisure activities, it is a question of whether we want to do the Theatre Royal before we do for example the Leisure Centre, or whether we want to do the Theatre Royal before we do other projects that are also in Gibraltar's interests. It is a re-assessment of priorities of order of doing things, not necessarily the hon Members have rushed to assume something different. It is all very well for the hon Members to now pretend that the Government again did not do their homework. I was amused to catch part of what the Hon Mr Linares said. The only thing that was missing by way of prop was a builder's helmet. I notice that he positioned himself carefully outside the Theatre Royal. The hon Member may wish to lead public opinion again on a false premise to think that the Government have not done reports, that the Government have not done their homework, but the hon Member must surely know that amongst all the reports, as well as all the reports that the Government did, the Hon Mr Linares appears to be anxious that the words 'two' get into Hansard. I am therefore perfectly content so that I can move on, to ask Hansard to record that as I was speaking Mr Linares was anxious that the words 'two reports' should appear on the record, and I am delighted that that should be so. So if he is now satisfied that his views are properly recorded, I perhaps can move on.

It is all very well for the hon Members now to pretend that the Theatre Royal project has sort of crept out of the woodwork. It is almost as if something that the Government decided over breakfast, no planning, no homework, over breakfast, wrong place, no reports, bad this, everything bad, but the hon Member cannot overlook the facts as they occurred. I am assuming he is interested in adding to his factual knowledge and that he has some interest in what I am saying to him here today. The hon Member cannot surely have forgotten, and if he has forgotten then I think people are entitled to know the factual basis, or the non-factual basis upon which he makes the remarks. If he has not forgotten then I think people should know the basis upon which he makes the remark, namely, a misrepresenting basis. He must know that not only was there a long consultation process with members of the public and users and people involved, a long consultation process with almost every conceivable user group, before this decision was made, but that indeed before the decision was made the plans for the Theatre Royal and the project as it was envisaged, was exhibited to the public and it was publicised as being exhibited to the public in the John Mackintosh Hall for a week. I do not remember anybody else, but let alone him, saying at the time 'it is too big, too small, wrong place, right place, it should not be here, it should be there'. So first of all he pretends that there has been no preparation when there has been detailed, excruciating research and preparation. He forgets the fact that there has been a full public consultation period in which he chose not to participate, or he chose not to react to the information then put into the public domain, and then he thinks he can stand up in this House with any credibility in May 2004 and pretend that this is something that the Government have pulled out of their sleeves in the last 48 hours. It is just typical of the basis upon which the hon Members choose to make their political attacks. Well, we are now going to go to the trouble of putting in the public domain, so that they can understand, not just the facts about the Theatre Royal but so that they can understand the credibility of the hon Member's statement, we shall remind people of all these facts so that they can really do what he asked them to do yesterday on television, which is to make up their own minds. The Government are always happy for people to make up their own minds, and on the last three occasions when the people have been asked to make up their own minds, he knows what the result has been, but I insist that people make up their minds on the basis of fact. Events as they have happened, not events that I spin and distort in order to create a convenient political backdrop for my self-serving political interests that is the difference between him and me, and it is also going to become clear in relation to the Theatre Royal.

So, in concluding the debate that the Hon Mr Picardo invited us to have on these issues, the Government genuinely welcome being held to account by the hon Members. That is why we put at their disposal unprecedented amounts of information. Not just unprecedented by reference to Gibraltar's parliamentary history, but unprecedented amounts of detailed information as for example is contained in the answers to these nine hundred odd questions, unprecedented even in respect of western parliamentary conventions as he describes. There is no parliament in the world in which the information for example that is published by the Government annually or quarterly in an official way, we then give in addition, broken down, in the way the Opposition wants it in respect of the months and time periods that the Government want. There is no parliament in the world where that takes place. So we are very happy to give all the information that the Opposition wants, save on the rare occasion that we say that there is some good reason, which we also then try to explain to the hon Members what it is, precisely because we welcome being held to account by them. Of course there is a difference between being held to account in the parliamentary context and the political cut and thrust between two opposing political parties, where the difference between the former and the latter very often is that the actual fact and truth gets second stage because the principal objective is not information, the principal objective is to do down ones political opponent, and therefore the presentation of fact as a matter of objective takes a second plane.

HON F R PICARDO:

I just have to ask the Chief Minister exactly what part of that answer was designed to reply to my suggestion that members of his Government had to be very careful about what they said in this House, because it is a feature of western parliamentary democracies that there is great care taken by Ministers about what they say in the House of Parliament to which they may be elected. I have also, I think, to illustrate that by Mr Holliday's own behaviour yesterday when at one stage he was telling us that he did not know an answer, and when pressed slightly further he then went on to read us those magical notes that Ministers seem to have just below the written answers that we get, which in fact contained the complete answer to what he was being pressed on at the time. As to the number of questions that are asked in this House in relation to statistical issues, on which the Chief Minister has addressed us, I would ask him this: 'in what other western parliamentary democracy are statistics published so late by the Government? Sometimes three or four years later, that Oppositions have to rely on asking question in the House in order to elicit information that would otherwise be publicly available?' Finally, what I have to ask the Chief Minister is, 'what facts is it alleged to have been invented by the Opposition?'. All the Opposition did, and I am sure that the hon Gentleman who has responsibility for these matters gets to this in time in relation to these questions, was ask Government to explain the weight of the buses set out in the manual. We did not invent that weight, all we did was put that in the public domain and ask the Government to comment on whether or not these buses were too heavy. That was not an invention and to suggest the opposite is really just evidence of the way that the hon Gentleman conducts his political campaigns in and out of this House, which is simply to say when a fact is not convenient to me it is a fact which is invented, and I have in my gift from St Peter's chair what the real facts are. As for our criticism being so systematic and so self-serving, I would ask the Chief Minister this, 'does he not accept that in fact his political project is slowly falling apart systematically', and all we are doing is pointing that out. Far from being self-serving, it is bad for the whole of Gibraltar when Government's business goes wrong. We are only here to say 'be careful this might happen', but we do not rejoice when things go wrong for Government. It would be wrong for any Gibraltarian to rejoice when things go wrong for its own Government.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, another of the hon Member's devices is to say things and then when they are caught out, pretend that they did not say it and that it is the person pointing it out that has got it wrong. Look, if the hon Member really believes, with sincerity and integrity, that when his Colleague Mr Randall appeared on television to denigrate the buses on the basis that they were too heavy, he said 'oh look, here is a clause in the manual, I do not quite understand what it is. Please could the Government explain to me what this means. Does this mean that the buses are too heavy? Does it mean that the buses are not, because I do not really understand'. This is the impression he is now trying to give. He is now trying to suggest that in the Government's attack on the weight of the buses, that they did not misrepresent the fact that they were somehow innocently, as the sort of tame lambs that they think they like to misrepresent when they want to project themselves as the victims of this terribly ogre and aggressive Government, when they want to paint themselves as innocent lamb-like victims, they simply distort their own initial assault. The Hon Mr Randall appeared on television asserting as a fact that he had caught the Government. 'See these buses are too heavy. See, here I have obtained through my own sleuth work, a copy of the users manual and it says here, 18 tons, because these buses are too heavy and every time they cross the bridge, the bridge will fall down because they have got a 10 ton limit and here it says quite clearly that they are 18 tons'. It transpires that he was not looking at the weight of the buses at all, he was looking at the weight capacity of the axles of the bus. He still says it is not correct. He is still therefore asserting that he is correct, it is incredible. It is absolutely incredible. So far from the situation being what the Hon Mr Picardo says that they were just asking for clarification, talk about being inconsistent in the House and changing the story, not three minutes ago the Hon Mr Picardo has said that all that they were doing was not inventing facts on the buses, just seeking clarification. Three minutes later, from a sedentary position, the perpetrator of the invention and the fabrication, asserts, re-asserts the allegation that the buses are too heavy, so who is inventing the facts? It is not the Government that invent facts, the hon Members are constantly, as a matter of political system, inventing and distorting facts for the purposes of them launching a political campaign on the Government.

Now, I am sorry that the hon Member thinks that the Government take too long to publish statistics. I can tell him that they are published much more quickly, infinitely more quickly, nearly twice more quickly than the GSLP used to publish them when they were in office. So, however difficult he finds it to be an Opposition Member, let me tell him by his measure of tardiness or promptness of publishing statistics, his job is at least twice as easy as ours, because in the case of statistics that there was no obligation to publish, the Opposition Members did not even publish unemployment statistics. Where there was a statutory duty to publish statistics, it always used to take much, much longer. He may not be aware of this because of course, he only joined the House at the recent election, but the flow of publication of statistics is infinitely more timely than it used to be, and it is true that the Abstract of Statistics was not published for a couple of years whilst the Statistics Office was doing it, but the Abstract in respect of most of the statistics simply puts together information most of which is already otherwise published. If one takes the Tourist Survey, the Employment Survey, all the surveys that we lay in this House, the unemployment statistics which are now published quarterly, this is an infinite improvement on the situation that we inherited. Mr Holliday did not fail to give this House information that he had simply because he only gave it when he was pressed. Again, a distortion of the events as they happened by the hon Member. What the Minister said was that he was not aware what the RIO was. He never said that he did not know what the current position was about delays and that, this arose in a supplementary and when the issue arose in a supplementary he gave it. What we were saying to the hon Members, I certainly did not know what RIO is, that we are not accountable in this House for the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority, and it is important that we should not be held accountable in this House for the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority, because under Statute it needs to be independent of the Government. It will not work as a mechanism if by the way that we deal with its affairs and information and become accountable for it, other supervening authorities in the EU think that this is just an extension of Government. Then the hon Member re-formulated his question, the Leader of the Opposition, by asking us the question as if it were directed at the company, and that is when the information was given about the extension having been given until September and things like that. There was no revelations in supplementaries of facts which the hon Member had said he did not know about in the first place. It is true that facts were given in supplementary but they were not facts which had been withheld or asked for in the principal question, that is the position as that happened.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That is not correct, what he has just said. Will the Chief Minister not agree that the original question was about something which should have happened in January 2004? The answer was that we should ask the Regulator and then we said, 'Is the Chief Minister telling us to ask the Regulator because he does not want to tell us the information, or because he has not got the information?'. The answer was 'because we do not have the information'. Then I said 'how can you not have it, if the person that has to do the action is not the Regulator but the Government-owned company?' When I asked that we were then told, which could have been given in the original answer to the original question, which was 'the Regulator has not received that information because the company has asked for a delay and he has granted it'. So that was the information required in the original question and that was eventually given, but I mean it is not a big thing but that is factually what has taken place.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well if it is not a big thing we can move on, but we do not accept that that is factual. I understand that that is his assessment and analysis of how it happened factually, it is not the events as they actually happened. If the hon Member does not want to make it a big deal we can move on, but the question asked 'have they been revised and if not when do they expect the RIO to be revised by?'. The information that was given was that the Regulator has given an extension, but the facts had they been revised and if not when do they expect to be revised by, is not information that we know. We know when the extension has been given till but when the company intends to issue its revise, I do not know unless the Hon Mr Vinet might know as Chairman. As to not having addressed his point about Ministers having to be careful about what they say in this House, I did address that. I said that of course Ministers have to be careful and Ministers are careful, but that they have to be careful as well, and we think that we are much more careful than them. Does he not remember an answer to that effect?

Finally, as to the Government's political project "falling apart", he wishes, he wishes. The problem with Opposition Members is that they actually believe their own propaganda. The hon Members lose the third general election on the trot to a Government that is the first Government in history to win three general elections with all eight of its members in the first eight slots of the ballot, and with more than 50 per cent of the vote in each successive election, and within two months of that the hon Members are pretending that the Government's political projects are falling apart. The hon Members can delude, of course as Harold Wilson used to say, 'a week is a long time in politics' and between now and the next general election much can happen politically to both sides let me say, but the suggestion on almost the morning after the general election when they were saying 'well, never mind we have lost. We have not actually managed to increase our share of the vote, it is still languishing at the 40 per cent that we have had but never mind because now we have decided to inject enthusiasm into ourselves and to begin to look like a party in waiting'. It is such a tiresome inconvenience that the electorate should have just beaten us in the election. This is terrible that we should now be made to wait another four years when it was quite obvious that the logical thing is that we should have won this time round. They can hype themselves up and hyperventilate politically as much as they like. It is terribly dangerous of them to actually believe it. In four year's time this Government, as all previous Governments before it, will be judged on its record. We were elected on a manifesto, four years from now the electorate will look at our performance in Government, they will decide whether they like it or not, they will take a long hard look, at least I hope they take a long hard look, at the Opposition Members and their track record, and they will say now what is it going to be. Is it going to be a change of Government or not? That is how these things normally work in a democracy, but I have to say that I have never come across a situation where a party that loses the election is immediately, lands on its feet proclaiming almost victory, because the Government's margin of victory had crashed too 11 per cent. This is terrible, the Government's political project is falling apart because its margin of victory was only 11 per cent, when their share of the popular vote was 30 per cent. They had made no progress in 8 years of opposition. With eight years of political erosion, which is always suffered by parties in Government, the hon Members were not the political beneficiary of a single percentage vote, and their analysis of their political position nevertheless, based presumably on the fact that they saw off the Labour Party, that is the only element of good news as far as I can tell for them. Apparently their political panacea is measured in the fact that they prevented the Labour Party from winning a seat on the House. On the basis of that somewhat limited achievement, they base their statements that the Government's political project is falling apart, systematically. Well, the problem with the hon Member is that he is falling victim of what I have been trying to explain to them. They actually think that they have succeeded in establishing that the bus service is terrible. They think that the tactic is to throw enough mud. They throw mud at every issue. In the hope that enough of it has stuck, in the hope that enough of it sticks to tarnish everything that the Government do. Then they think that they succeed. They actually believe that the bus service, never mind that the Women Association have written to the Government praising, forget all those objective assessments, they actually persuade themselves that on the spurious basis of a factual misrepresentation of the fact that the Government have not done their homework, never mind the fact that a bus was bought last year to do the runs and the trials and to be tested on the roads and to establish what needed to be amended and what roads needed to be widened and whether the bus was suitable, they forget all that and assert the fact that the Government did not do their homework. On the basis of invented facts about the weight of the bus, they throw mud and they actually think they have succeeded because presumably the bus service is another one of the political projects which have fallen apart, presumably, since it is the only major policy initiative that has come on stream since the electorate returned us by a margin of 11 per cent, since that is the only major policy initiative that has come on stream since then, I can only assume that his statement that the Government's political project is falling apart, must be a reference to the bus service. They actually believe themselves when they think that they have succeeded in converting the bus project into something politically negative for the Government. The problem with the hon Members is that they do not distinguish between propaganda that they have themselves launched, and reality which they must not lose sight of. They are different things. One just has to look at this little pamphlet called The Key, that the Opposition Members publish, to see the lies and the diatribe and the inventions to which the people of Gibraltar are systematically fed by the hon Members' attempt to con the electorate into thinking that the Government are bad and they are good. They feed the people of Gibraltar an intense diet of lies, lies and more lies through the letterbox, because of course the reason why they feed it through the letterbox is that they fear that the lies that they have systematically been fed in the New People, that does not get far enough, because as it has lost all credibility, presumably nobody buys it any more. So now the same lies that were published in the New People are reduced into a little pamphlet and shoved into peoples houses. Well, they are still lies and this is the problem. I am perfectly happy if the hon Member's definition of political project systematically falling apart is what the Government are going to deliver to the people of Gibraltar during the next three and a half years, then let me say that the political falling apart, as he calls it, is not going to be any good to the Opposition Members political prospects.

MR SPEAKER:

Yes, that was the end but because there was an allegation against the Hon Mr Randall, that he invented a lie, I give him permission if he wishes, to make a statement. He tried to before.

HON L A RANDALL:

Thank you very much. What I asserted is what is in the document that I obtained, when I made my intervention. I can tell the Chief Minister that I have never been and am not, unlike others, in the habit of distorting the facts.

THE CLIFTONS

Can Government say how much has been received for the lease of the area of the Naval Hospital project (The Clifton's)?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The premium paid was as follows:-

|                     |            |
|---------------------|------------|
| Sunset Close        | £ 333,000  |
| Town Range Barracks | £ 381,000  |
| Admiral's Place     | £1,386,000 |
| The Cliftons        | none       |

In the case of The Cliftons, this development was an exchange for land at Gun Wharf which the developers already held as part of the Queensway Quay development.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1104 TO 1107 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is that the land which is being given back to the MOD?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, as part of the deal which was several months ago with the MOD to relocate the tugs to Gun Wharf so that the small boat owners could come into Coaling Island, there was a mismatch of numbers of metres of berthing, in other words the berthing provided by the Gun Wharf arm is much less than the berthing provided on the inside of the Coaling Island arm. Gun Wharf is shorter than Coaling Island and the deal was done on the basis that the MOD would get back the berth on the outside of Gun Wharf, which was owned by Queensway Quay or whoever had by then bought Queensway Quay, the current owner. They also had certain development rights over part of the island itself and those development rights and the Wharf were exchanged,

I think it was still with Taylor Woodrow, were exchanged for the plot of land where The Cliftons is now being built.

MARINA BAY – PROPOSED DEVELOPMENT

At what stage is consideration by Development and Planning Commission of the application by Marina Bay Complex Ltd to construct a multi-storey car park/commercial development?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The application from Marina Bay Complex Limited was received on 18 February 2004, and it is being processed. No Outline Planning permission has been given as yet for this project.

With regard to the project at the north end of Both Worlds, Outline Planning permission was granted on 31 March 2004.

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

CASEMATES DEVELOPMENT

How many units within the Casemates development have been sold by the original successful tenderer to a third party, and which units are they?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question Nos. 1116 and 1118 of 2004.

ORAL

NO 1118 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

CASEMATES DEVELOPMENT

How many units in the Casemates development, the arcade inside or the old Health Centre building were empty as at 31 March 2004 and for what reason?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

There are no empty units in the Casemates development, so they cannot be put out to tender.

No units have as yet been assigned by the original successful tenderer to a third party, although the following three units are in the process of being assigned:

Casemates Barracks
Watergate House

Units 6B and 6D
Unit 2/2

OCEAN VILLAGE

How many representations have been received following the application for planning permission by Ocean Village (Gibraltar) Ltd to construct a "premier international health spa with glass exterior restaurant" over water next to pier A?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The period for public consultation expired on 29 April 2004, and at the time that this reply was prepared no representations had been received.

SHEPPARD'S MARINA

On what date were Government made aware of the discovery of asbestos at the old Sheppard's Marina building in Glacis Road which is being demolished to make way for the Ocean Village project?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Two site visits were carried out on 4th February 2004 and 25th March 2004. The Inspectorate asked for a method statement for the proposed works, a risk assessment and a notification of the project on the correct forms. The Inspectorate pointed out on 4th February that the roof was made of asbestos and that it had to be removed by a competent asbestos removal contractor. The Inspectorate was aware that, in common with many other buildings of its age, the building in question contained corrugated asbestos sheets.

SHEPPARD'S MARINA

Can Government state whether there has been a change of use in respect of the land previously utilised to provide repairs to visiting yachts at the Sheppard's Marina, and if so, whether change of use was granted, to whom and when?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 1123 of 2004.

NO 1123 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

OCEAN VILLAGE

Can Government state whether any Government land was sold in connection with the development known as Ocean Village?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No Government land was sold in connection with the Ocean Village development.

A change of use was agreed in respect of the land in question in August 2003 with the developers of the Ocean Village.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1122 AND 1123 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In respect of the change of use, was the leaseholder required to make any payment to the Government for obtaining the change of use?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

A premium was negotiated in respect of the change of use and the extension of the lease from 99 to 150 years.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can Government say how much had to be paid for this?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The sum of £225,000.

NO 1124 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

OLD GUARD HOUSE

Can Government say whether restoration and refurbishment works at the Old Guard House in John Mackintosh Square have now commenced, and if not when are they programmed to start?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

It is evident to the naked eye that restoration and refurbishment works on the Old Guard House have not yet commenced. Government hope to commence those works this financial year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1124 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Will this be put out to tender in the normal way?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The decision has not yet been made but it is not the only model available. It could be added as an extension into the Piazza project, this is just a possibility I am not suggesting to him that it is the preferred possibility. Sometimes when JBS does work it is not put out to tender, JBS being the Government's own construction company. So if it were to be decided that they should do it, it then would not go out to tender, but if it were not through either of those models then it would go out to tender. In other words, it would not be given out to a new contractor without going out to tender.

PIAZZA PROJECT

Can Government give the cost to date of the Piazza project, showing the cost of the underground toilets?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 1126 of 2004.

NO 1126 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PIAZZA PROJECT

How much is payable by the contractor to the Government if the Piazza project overruns its target completion date?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The cost to date of the project is £1,500,209.

The cost to date of the toilet block is £131,992.

The amount payable in Liquidated Damages to the Government should the Contractor fail to complete by the Contract Completion Date is as follows:

|                         |                    |
|-------------------------|--------------------|
| Whole of the Works      | £5,000.00 per week |
| Piazza Grill South Unit | £2,000.00 per week |
| Piazza Grill North Unit | £2,000.00 per week |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1125 AND 1126 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister confirm that the project is behind schedule?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes it is behind schedule, I believe by a few weeks.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say whether the underground toilets contain access points for the disabled or for ladies with prams, or for the elderly or others who will have difficulty in going down steps?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, there is a separate toilet for the disabled, presumably made available to mothers with prams as well, above ground so the block that one now sees under construction in block stones, that contains a hut which is partly a street level toilet for the disabled but is also the housing for a staircase that goes down to the main toilet for those of us that can go up and down stairs.

NO 1127 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

LAND RECLAMATION WITHIN THE HARBOUR

What conclusions have been drawn by the report on land reclamation within the harbour which has been submitted to the Government?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The options with regard to land reclamation within the harbour are presently being studied by Government, and it would be premature to debate the issue until decisions are taken.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1127 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is it possible for the Minister to say what area of the harbour the report looks at?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The area in question is the area in front of the Royal Gibraltar Yacht Club and Calpe Rowing Club and Rooke, all that area in front.

HON J J BOSSANO:

When, in fact, have they received this report, how long have they had it?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The date of the report dates back to 22 April 2003.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is that still what is being looked at now or has anything been added subsequently because of any changes in the area?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, there have not been any changes because the report took into account the possibility of the release of MOD land et cetera so therefore that is why the different options that were reported in the report.

NO 1128 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

RELOCATION OF MOD FACILITIES

Can Government state when was the last financial year in which expenditure was incurred to relocate MOD facilities and how much was the expenditure and which were the facilities relocated?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No specific record of this is readily available. LPS, however, recollects that Navy Ground No 2 and the Special Boat Squadron facilities were re-provided by the Government in 1989/90 at Coaling Island. A recreational block was also re-provided by the Government at Chilton Court around the same time.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1128 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the intended move, in fact it did not really happen, because the plot of land there was retained by the Government, is that not the case? The answer that is given about the relocation of the football ground.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the Special Boat Squadron Headquarters on the reclamation next to the north of Coaling Island, that was a re-provision for the same facilities that there were on the site that became the West Side reclamation. They had it there near the Montagu Basin and that facility was re-provided by the Government to the Coaling Island site as part of the vacation of what was then known as USSC, and that facility is still there and is one of the things now offered to us if we re-provide them again into Gun Wharf. There was the finger jetty and the headquarters ashore, a two storey building with mess rooms and things of that sort.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Was that done by the Government or by the developers of West Side?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

My understanding is that it was done by his government at the time. In fact I distinctly remember the Hon Michael Feetham giving us an explanation of that in the House at the time.

NO 1129 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

CHANGE OF USE OF LEASE

Can Government state whether it is Government policy to charge a premium where change of use is required in respect of a lease in order to proceed with a development?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Yes, if it represents added value to the leaseholder.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1129 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the case of the development of the Servants Quarters in the grounds of the Rock Hotel, did that involve a change of use or was it not required because it already had a residential use?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, there is added value to the developer from changing it from the servants quarters to a residential, so therefore there is a premium involved.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is that something which has already been negotiated and agreed or is it still under?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes it has been negotiated, agreed and paid, the only thing is I am not quite sure of the actual sum involved but it has been agreed and settled.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In that case was there just the change of use or was there also a lengthening of the existing lease?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I would need notice of that particular question but am happy to make it available if required.

NO 1130 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

SALE OF LAND

Can Government state which was the most recent sale of land for development giving the financial year, location of the land, the price per square metre and total revenue obtained?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The most recent sale of land for development was the area known as Little Genoa.

The sale was completed on 25th October 2002 and the price paid was £438,950 representing a rate of £260 per square metre of land.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1130 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it the case then that the land in the recent housing development in the area of Safeways was going to have been sold prior to this date?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It depends whether the hon Member is talking to the southwest of Safeways or to the east of Safeways.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I mean the one that is going up now.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Euro Plaza. That site was actually sold by the hon Member and not by us. That site was part of the original lease of the original developers of Europort. It was Plot A as it was then called and they simply sold it. The Government have not been involved in that transaction.

DEVELOPMENT APPEALS TRIBUNAL

Has any decision been taken on the appeals before the Development Appeals Tribunal that were pending or awaiting comments in answer to Questions 296-298 of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1132 of 2004.

NO 1132 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

DEVELOPMENT APPEALS TRIBUNAL

Can Government say if any new appeals have been lodged before the Development Appeals Tribunal since September 2003, and, if so, list the appeals showing the date they were lodged and the issue at stake?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Since the answer to Question Nos. 296-298 of 2004, one new appeal has been received against refusal to grant permission for the construction of a water heater cabinet.

The Tribunal met on Thursday 25 March 2004 and again on 2 April 2004 to consider two of the appeals listed in answer to Question No. 298 of 2004. In one case the Tribunal accepted the appeal and in the other the Tribunal deferred its final decision pending receipt of further and better particulars from the parties.

NO 1133 OF 2004

THE HON C A BRUZON

SALE OF GOVERNMENT HOUSING

Can Government say what formula it intends to apply to determine affordability in respect of the sale of Government housing?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

It is difficult to give the hon Member a much fuller answer than to say that affordability is a subjective thing. It depends on the income and financial means of the purchaser. Government intend to sell the houses that they build at cost. They cannot be more "affordable than that", but of course, some people may still not be able to afford it. The Government have already given a public outline of their intended variant of the current 50/50 scheme.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1133 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

With all due respect to the Chief Minister, if he starts off by saying that what is affordable depends on how much money one has got, however reasonable it may be to sell something at no profit it may still not be affordable if the cost happens to be too high.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Of course that is the very essence of the answer.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see, but if the Government are promising affordable houses, they must have a notional figure in their heads of what they think is affordable in today's level of wages presumably.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, and the answer to that is in the last sentence of my answer. The Government have already given a public outline of their intended variant of the current 50/50 scheme, which as the hon Member will remember, is based on the need not to buy 50 per cent but to buy that share for which one can get a mortgage on at 3.5 times salary. In other words, whatever percentage that buys. People will buy the percentage that they can afford. That was the variant. I cannot afford the cost of the product and I cannot alter the cost of the product except to make no profit on it and not to charge financing costs and not to charge land value costs. I cannot alter the fact that different buyers have different levels of income but I can develop a 50/50 scheme which would no longer be 50/50. A home ownership scheme which unlike the previous one, allows affordability to people who cannot afford 50 per cent. Before one could either afford 50 per cent or one could not afford to take part in the scheme. Our variant of the home ownership scheme allows people to access the level of ownership that they can afford under the formula that the Government have already explained publicly. Therefore, it seems to me that the Government have done as much as they possibly can to make this as accessible to as many people, regardless of and taking into account the subjective element of affordability.

Can Government provide the indicative percentage increase in and the value of each estate in the 50/50 sale offer in respect of the offer made in 2002 and in respect of the offer made in 2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information the hon Member seeks is on the schedule attached.

The 2002 value of Government's share in these properties is based on Government's share in the properties as at 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1134 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The answer provides the increase on the original value in 2004. I take it that is the offer in 2003 which is what the question asks.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not sure that it does, nor am I sure that the question is that clear in asking that. I believe that the table that the hon Member has tells him what was the increase in 2002, in other words in calendar 2002 and then in calendar 2004.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, but the question does not ask anything about calendar 2002. It says, 'in respect of the offer made in 2002', and the offer made in 2002 was an offer to sell the houses at 4 per cent increase over the original value. Is that the information that is provided?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I do not think that that is how the person that has answered this question has understood it at all. I think that these are percentage increases in value, percentage and quantum increases in the value of the Government's real estate so to speak. I think that is how the question has been understood and answered.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So it has nothing to do with the offer?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not think it is a valuation of the offer. I think it is a valuation of the estate but I will find out. My reading of the information given is that his question has been understood as asking for a valuation of the Government's estate rather than a quantum valuation of the offer as such.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the value of the estate then in 2002 and 2004 based on the 7 per cent per annum?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not think so, it is probably based on market values but I am uncited on that. I will have to get clarification of the whole basis of this answer for him. I do not think his question has been answered. I think he has had a lot of information but not the one that he asked.

HON J J BOSSANO:

At least I would like to understand what the information that I have been given is. I would like to know how those percentages have been arrived at in respect of 2002, since I cannot relate it to the information that has been given previously. In respect of the information in the lower part of the table that has been provided, where there is a footnote saying the 2002 value of the Government shares in this property is based on the Government shares in the property as at 2004. I take it that means subsequent to the sale that took place as a result of the offer made in 2002, is that the correct interpretation?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is my interpretation of it.

-----

HON J J BOSSANO:

The percentages 2002/2004 are the same and the values 2002/2004 are the same, except that this one has got 22p more than this one.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

We will have to clear this up later but can the hon Member make clear why he believes that that is not the information that the question seeks?

HON J J BOSSANO:

It is not that I am asking whether this is the information the question seeks, it is just that the answer that this information supplies is not consistent with the information he has supplied.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, that is the next question, that is the one about the 50/50 scheme. What the hon Member has just said refers to the breakdown between 50 per cent of market value or 4 per cent of annual uplift.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of how many were sold under one and how many were sold under the other. That is the next one, but in respect of this one where I have asked him to give the indicative percentage increase and the value which they state in the offer made in 2002, and in the offer made in 2003, the percentage mark-up of market value in 2002 that he gave me in 2002 was based on the 7 per cent per annum. How come Montagu Gardens have gone up by 173 per cent and William Jackson Grove has gone up by 34 per cent? When he told me market value meant 7 per cent per annum..... [Interruption] yes, I am afraid that is what he said then, I have got the answer here. I asked him whether market value was the amount that was actually raised in transactions. What he answered was, I will quote. This is Question No. 655 of 2002 and I said 'have Government obtained valuation advice on transactions to arrive at the current market value?'. The reply that I got was that since the purchase would be restricted to 7 per cent per annum, and any money that they pay for fixtures and fittings is not taken into account, market value means 7 per cent per annum because that is what is legally permissible. He actually told me that the values he was giving me was 7 per cent multiplied by the number of years.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, but that is market value in a wholly different context. That is market value in relation to what people could sell their houses for. This is market value in the context of the offer made by the Government to sell their share, and it is not the same thing.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I accept that it is not the same thing but it was the same question and it is not the same answer, that is the whole point. The question that I was asking was, if the offer for sale that was made then is 50 per cent of market value, 50 per cent of the prices that are being paid for these houses in the market. The Chief Minister said no, it is not. Market value in the offer for sale means 50 per cent of nine years at 7 per cent per annum. That is what he said, it is in the Hansard of Answers to Questions answered by him in 2002.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member must be mis-reading or misquoting that because it is one or the other it cannot be both. If the offer is 50 per cent of market value or cost price plus a certain number of percentage uplift per annum, it is nonsensical to say that for the purposes of that equation, market value is the percentage that they can mark up, they would both be the same. The whole essence of the offer was.... The Government have never charged 7 per cent. Seven per cent is what they can charge when they sell to third parties. The Government have never offered to sell at 7 per cent. The Government have offered to sell on one year it was at 4 per cent and I think the other year it was more. Four and five per cent. The whole essence of the Government's offer was that it was being offered more "cheaply" than the Government were entitled under the lease. Government could have said 'well I will charge 7 per cent like everybody else does'. The Government's offer was that we were willing to sell for less than the 7 per cent per annum up rate.

HON J J BOSSANO:

When I asked in one of my supplementaries specifically, is the £80 million (which was the result that he had given me) of the market value, the result of the value in the books of the company that owned the property or the result of valuation advice. His reply was 'it is a result of what the hon Member asked for in his question which was market value'. The market value means, because of the conditions attached to the trust deed, the market value actually means cost plus 7 per cent per year. Therefore, how is it that market value which is cost plus 7 per cent per year, represents an increase of 116 per cent in Montagu Crescent and 34 per cent in William Jackson Grove?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member is comparing apples with pears. Not only is he comparing apples with pears but he is completely misapplying an answer to a completely different question.

HON J J BOSSANO:

No, it is exactly the same question.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is not exactly the same question. At the time, he was asking what the Government's shares in these estates were worth, and in saying what is the Government's share of all these flats were, he said are they being valued at 7 per cent up rates or at market value, and he got an answer for that purpose. Then along come the Government and say 'I am going to offer my shares for sale', on what basis? On the basis either of 50 per cent of the market value, meaning 50 per cent of what the properties are worth on the open market, or at the original cost up rated, ignoring market value, at the original cost up rated by 4 per cent in the first offer and 5 per cent in the subsequent offer, and people could choose. This question relates to the latter of the two exercises. In other words the Government's offer, not the question that he asked back then. In the context of the Government's offer it is nonsensical for the hon Member to think that the phrase 'market value' means a figure arrived at by reference to an annual percentage up rate because that is nonsensical. The whole basis of the offer is that there is a choice either open market value or original cost, increased per annum of ownership by 4 per cent. So the hon Member is comparing apples with pears and he is completely misquoting and misapplying my answer to a wholly different question, in a wholly different context to this question in this context which relies specifically to can the Government provide the indicative percentage increase in and the value of each estate in the 50/50 sale offer, in respect of the offer made. Not what is the Government's share of the flats worth. He is asking for the information in respect of the offer made, and in respect of the offer made it is either 50 per cent of market value, or, that is the offer made.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I think that when the Chief Minister becomes less excited, if he cares to go back and read the explanations he gave me, he will find that I am not misquoting him or misreading. I just happened to pick part of what was several pages of exchanges and throughout he keeps on saying that it is not based on open market values, it is based on the fact that the trust deed will not allow the houses to be sold for more than 7 per cent. If the houses were sold in that nine year period for more than 7 per cent, it is because of people asking for fixtures and fittings. So when the Government said it is either 50 per cent of the market value or 4 per cent instead of 7, as the following answer will clearly show, to the next question, what he was telling us then was that in fact 4 per cent would invariably be less than 50 per cent of the annual uplift of 7 per cent per annum. That is what he said then. He can get all worked up about it but look, I am not criticising him or anything. All I am doing is to try and make sense of the answer he has given me today and the answer he gave me the last time I asked about the sale of these houses.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No. It is not a question of excitement. It is not a question of comparing like with like. The hon Member is completely and utterly misinterpreting what he is reading there, and he is misquoting it and he is misapplying his own misquotations. The information in relation to 7 per cent can only apply to transactions between third parties. If he asks me at a given point in time what is the Government's share of the houses worth, and I said to him the share of the houses are worth what they can be sold for. At the moment that is a 7 per cent per annum uplift. Then along comes the Government later and makes an offer on a different basis. Now he comes and asks me questions not related to the basis of his first question in 2002, but related to the different basis upon which the Government made subsequently an offer. The information provided therefore relates to the offer and not to the general generic question of 2002 about how these things were valued and whether it was on a 7 per cent or on an open value basis. I do not need to re-read Hansard. I can tell the hon Member just from the bits that he has quoted from it. It is not a question of criticism, this is statistical information, it is not open to political criticism. The facts are what they are. I do not feel criticised by it, and even if he were criticising me for it, that is not the issue. The hon Member is perfectly free to criticise me, he has spent quite a lot of time doing it. The point is that he should not stand up in this House and assert that the Chief Minister is giving him answers inconsistent with answers given to him previously, relying on the fact that he happens to have the Hansard in front of him and I do not, and expect to get away with it. On this occasion he has not got away with it because just by the limited amount he has read from it, his error is clear. That is the reason why I am engaging him on this, not because there is any underlying criticism, but because he is just asserting that there is an inconsistency of an answer and the answer is that there is no inconsistency of an answer. What there is, is a comparison of apples and pears by him.

HON J J BOSSANO:

First of all I have not got the whole of the Hansard here, I have just got some bits that I brought in as background to this question, but I will return to this subject when I have got the information in order to put the record straight in the House on a point of clarification, when the time comes.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

What is the number?

HON J J BOSSANO:

There are several questions involved. Since the Chief Minister has the practice of saying 'I will answer this question with 20 others', all I have done is pick one out of the 20, but it affects 665, 647, 649, 650, 651, 652, 653, 654 of 2002. Now, in all that long list and in all the supplementaries, there were a number of exchanges when he gave me that explanation.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Next time he raises it with me in the House, I will be armed with Hansard too.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am not armed with all of it, this is what I am telling him. In any case, I know that when I am able to demonstrate to him that this is in fact what took place, he will not feel criticised because he will then blame whoever it was that prepared the answer for him.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Does the hon Member think that I prepare the answers to these questions?

HON J J BOSSANO:

No, but if the Chief Minister thinks that I have made a mistake then he gets very worked up about it and defends it very virulently. If he goes on the defensive because he thinks I may be right, then he says it must be the Civil Servant that got the figures wrong that I have just read.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No this is not about figures.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes it is, about whether the valuations has been based on 7 per cent or on an open market percentage.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No this difference is not about that distinction.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

See, he is still not understanding the explanations that he has had from me. This issue is not about whether it was produced on the basis of 7 per cent or open market value back then, the answer to 2002. The issue now is about whether the answers given in answer to that question, howsoever they were calculated, are comparable to the information being given now in answer to what is a different question here, in 1134, that is the issue between us. Therefore, I will not on this occasion, since he says I always have recourse to it, on this occasion it will not be open to me to have recourse to that device, if that is what he thinks it is, because that is not the issue on which I will seek to defend myself when we debate this issue on the next occasion. Debate it we will. Believe me, debate it we will.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can I just say that I predict that when we have this discussion again and I am able to demonstrate to the Chief Minister that I am not misinterpreting it, he will blame the Civil Servants.

NO 1135 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

HOUSING – 50/50 SALES

Can Government say in respect of 50/50 sales other than Westside 1 Phase 2, whether it was found necessary to apply the alternative method of charging the 50 per cent market value as lower than 4 per cent add on increase on the original cost and if so, can Government identify the estate and the number of housing units out of total sales in each estate?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Apart from 18 of the 57 flats sold in Montagu Gardens Phase 1, which were sold using the 4 per cent uplift per annum formula, all other properties were sold at 50 per cent of market value.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1135 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am astonished. That is in direct conflict with the answer I got the last time. Is that not the case?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I have to say that I was surprised by this answer. I have asked for it to be re-checked and the answer has been left in front of me the same. My understanding is that it had been the other way around. In other words, the 4 per cent had been the norm. I am just trying to work out from the information that I have been provided here for any possible supplementaries, whether I can just work out, I am told that sales using 4 per cent in Montagu Gardens Phase 1 was 18 units and that the alternative is 57 units. No it does not give me a clue as to whether this answer is erroneous or the previous one, but I agree with the hon Member because I had the same reaction when I read this and I asked for this to be checked, and I am assuming, perhaps wrongly, that because no one has come back to me saying 'yes Chief Minister, you were right, we made a mistake' it may be that they were not expecting me to have to answer this question this morning, given that the whole thing has been advanced and when I get back to the office at lunchtime all will be revealed. It might be that because I was not scheduled to start answering my questions until much later or possibly even on Thursday. So I will have to come back on that, I agree that at first sight the answers had the same effect on him that they had on me and I would just like to come back to him to see whether this piece of paper that I still have in front of me, represents the result of having been checked or of not yet having been checked.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In fact, do the Government recall that in the answer given to Westside 1 Phase 2, which is why I am excluding it from this, I think I was told, speaking from memory but we can check the Hansard, that only two out of 180 had been sold at 50 per cent and that is why my question excluded that particular group of units because that answer had already been given. So perhaps if that answer was wrong, could the Government correct it?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I give him this answer, I have not had an opportunity to review it myself, it has just been given to me, but it does seem to make more sense than the previous one. Under the 2002 50/50 discount scheme, the computations of 39 out of the 57 sales in Phase 1 were lower when computed on the market value basis. A total of 39 out of 57 in the case of the Montagu Gardens Phase 1. Under the 2004 50/50 discount scheme, the computations were all lower when computed on the uplift per annum basis. Presumably because the market values had risen in those two years and changed the equation for the rest of them. Which of the two methods of computation was lower, depended on whether original completions took place in 1992 or 1993, thereby explaining the marginal differences between both bases of computation. Of course not all the houses in the estate were completed in the same year originally, and as it is 4 per cent per annum, the multiplier is different as it alters the equation. In respect of Montagu Gardens Phase 2, under the 2002 scheme offer, the offer price on all but two sales, and this information is the one that he had carved out of the question because I think that he had it already, the offer price on all but two sales in the phase was lower on the uplift per annum basis. Under the 2004 50/50 offer, the computations were lower when computed on the uplift per annum basis in all cases. Now, in addition to that I hand the hon Member a schedule, of which unfortunately again a spare copy has not been made for me, so in case he has supplementaries I would not have it in front of me.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well, while I am waiting for that, in fact if the Chief Minister remembers, when I asked about the two systems originally when he brought the proposal to the House originally and we asked questions about it, I said to the hon Member that as I had understood it in all cases it was expected that the 4 per cent per annum would be the more effective formula for the tenant to buy. In fact, it was because he had already told me that the market value was limited to 7 per cent per annum. What I said to him then in relation to this particular question was that in fact, if the higher price is going to be the 7 per cent per annum, then it must follow that the 4 per cent per annum will be better for everybody in every case. His reply was, everything that the hon Member has said is correct, but that in the case of Westside 1 Phase 3, the provision for open market value and 50 per cent had been put because even applying the 4 per cent since they had started off from a higher base, the 4 per cent might be more than the open market value. That is what he told me, and he said that I had identified correctly that the provision of open market value had been there only for that purpose. I can go back and dig it all out if he wants. Therefore, he confirmed in supplementaries to Question No. 417 of 2003, put by the Hon Dr Valarino, that indeed it was only in the case of Westside 1 Phase 3 that the 50 per cent of open market value had been applied as he had predicted originally. In a subsequent answer he said that there had been two instances of Westside 1 Phase 2 which had in fact resulted in the 50 per cent of open market value out of 180. Since the formula was intended to apply universally and really the other one was an exception, as he explained it originally, because these houses had started at such a high price that the Government thought that even if they offered them a 4 per cent per annum uplift, it would not be such a bargain because they could not possibly have gone up by so much in the period of time. Then the questions that we were asking generally indicated that in most other cases, as predicted, it was the 4 per cent that was available. That is why I was surprised by the answer which seemed to be indicating the very opposite and particularly, the inconsistency in the values, because if we are talking about the answer that he has given me to the previous question, and we are saying well in Montagu Gardens 1 and 2 the price of the houses is 226 per cent of what they were when they were bought, and the Government are going to charge either 50 per cent of 226 or 4 per cent per annum, I would have thought that the more the increase in value the more the 4 per cent is likely to be the cheaper element. The very explanation that was given for the 50 per cent of the market value was because the 50 per cent of market value would prove to be below 4 per cent per annum, and that that was going to be in the place where the market value had gone up least, because it started off from being very high already.

MR SPEAKER:

What is the question, the supplementary?

HON J J BOSSANO:

The supplementary is, in the light of the explanation that he has just provided, and the figures he has provided, is it in fact the case that the answers that he gave previously, which was in the first answer that he gave us was that nobody had bought at 50 per cent of market value except the last phase, Phase 3, where the prices had started higher. Subsequently, in a subsequent answer they told us that there had been two out of 180 in Phase 2 that somehow, I did not quite understand why there should be two that were different from the other 178, but there were two where the market price was such that 50 per cent of the market price was less than 4 per cent per annum. Now we are being told that it is much higher than that, that it was 39 out of 57 in Phase 1.

MR SPEAKER:

I have got to insist, what was your specific question?

HON J J BOSSANO:

My question is in the light of the answer I have been given today, am I to take it then that the information provided about the prices which these houses were sold in the previous answer is not the correct information.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not willing to compare the information provided today with the information provided in answer to the other questions until I have had an opportunity to do a detailed comparative test myself. I am certainly not willing to do it on the basis of the hon Member's skimpy summary of what he says. So what I will do, is that I will take cognisance of his last supplementary and I will respond to him by other means. I will write to him to explain, but certainly it would appear, this much is true, that after that question was answered, more purchases had been completed on the market value basis than was anticipated at the time by either him or me. Now, there has got to be a reason for this. It could be the variable, the years passed from completion, I will get to the bottom of it. First of all I will do the comparison of the answers to see if there is an inconsistency and if there is an inconsistency, which he appears to be clear that there is and there may be, I will find out when I do the comparison myself, I will write to him to give him an explanation why the facts now look different. Can the hon Member just remind me what the questions are?

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, there were the original questions in 2002 which were 651, 652, 653, 654, 655, 649 and 647 and then there were supplementaries in answers to question 417 of 2003, and there may be others because this was raised on a number of occasions. I can tell him on the 2003 occasion, when I was asking precisely as to which units triggered off the 50 per cent of the market value, he cited the following example. In respect of Westside 1 Phase 3, all interested purchasers are under 50 per cent of market formula, just to give him an idea why. Using the 4 per cent per annum annual increase would give a price of 36 per cent over cost, and using 50 per cent of the market value formula gives a figure of 25.5 per cent over cost. Therefore, the market value figure has been used in Westside 1 Phase 3. The Chief Minister will recall that the reason for that was basically the explanation that he has given. He can see from the schedule that many of the sales in Westside 1 Phase 3 have all been under the 50 per cent formula. So everything that I have quoted there, it is not that I calculated something and it has turned out to be different, it is that I calculated it based on the explanation that he gave me which he has been confirming until today. The results of today would indicate that those explanations were not accurate and therefore, all I want is to be sure which of the two is accurate.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Or that the answer to this question is still not right.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I cannot judge, that is the honest truth.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well that is the clarification that I will write to him on, promptly.

HOUSING – 50/50 SALES

Can Government state what has been the response to the current offer for sales of Government 50 per cent share of the co-ownership homes with a 5 per cent uplift, giving the same breakdown as was given in answer to Question No 417 of 2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I set out the very detailed information that he seeks in the schedule which I hand to him.

HOUSING – 50/50 SALES

Can Government say whether any further sales of Government 50 per cent share of the co-ownership homes have taken place as a result of the late application for the 4 per cent uplift offer for sale since the answer to Question No 417 of 2003, and if so, provide the table of such transactions to date?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

A further three applications were processed after the answer to Question 417 of 2003 as follows:

NO 1144 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

RELOCATION OF MOD FACILITIES

Can Government state what the total relocation costs it expects to have to meet in connection with the transfer of properties from the MOD?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am sure hon Members will appreciate that some of the information they have requested has become public since the date of the answer to this question, but I do not know if they have had an opportunity to see it altogether but I hand to the hon Members a copy of my recent public statement giving details of the properties to be transferred, they may have seen this I think it was set out in full in one of the local newspapers, to be transferred under the MOD/GOG agreement recently signed. Room composition is not currently available to us and we hope to have this information shortly. I hope to be in a position to give it to him the next time he asks the question.

The flats being transferred to GOG at Chilton Court, which are 33 in number, two blocks overlooking Queensway will be as I said publicly for rental for people on the housing waiting lists.

We expect to meet this financial year relocation costs relating to MSG, that is the black and yellow tugs, move to Gun Wharf and some of the Four Corners flat conversions. Total relocation costs are not known at this stage. The costs that Government expect to pay will be in the order of £3.5 million. The other costs will (we intend) be borne by private developers that acquire land for development.

Statement by the
Chief Minister
Peter Caruana

in relation to details of the Lands Transfer Agreement between GOG & MOD
signed on 20th April 2004
by the Chief Minister and the Secretary of State for Defence, Geoff Hoon.

Thursday 22nd April 2004.

For many decades successive Gibraltar Governments have recognised that the transfer of surplus MOD lands and buildings is important to enable and facilitate the social, economic and infrastructural development of Gibraltar.

In more recent years progress in achieving substantial land transfers has been prevented by, mainly, two factors. The MOD's need to decide upon its estate requirements, and, the policy of successive Gibraltar Government's to refuse (given the economic effects of MOD cutbacks) to pay for lands transferred, even in circumstances where the current Lands Memoranda (which regulate MOD/GOG lands transfers generally) require such payments.

Accordingly, in order to break this impasse, whilst preserving GOG's position in relation to the Lands Memoranda, GOG invited MOD at the highest level to engage in a lands negotiation outside the scope of the Lands memoranda, and without prejudice to the position of the parties in that respect. The Agreement signed on Tuesday is the fruit of that negotiation.

During these negotiations the Government has been mindful of certain important issues, as follows: -

- (1) Not to accept lands, and relocate MOD facilities, in a way which confines MOD activities territorially within Gibraltar such that would make the Military Base "red line issue" significantly easier to overcome in the context of any future joint sovereignty initiative between UK & Spain;
- (2) Not to accept lands which resulted in justification for job cuts in the MOD directly employed labour force or in the WSM workforce.
- (3) Not to accept land which undermined the Trade Unions' and the Government's opposition to privatisation and contractorisation of MOD Activities and labour;

- (4) The need to ensure that the interests of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment were properly safeguarded, whilst, at the same time, obtaining important benefits for Gibraltar as a whole.

This Agreement achieves and safeguards all the above.

The following are details of the Agreement. Agreed transfer dates are given in brackets: -

1. Residential Accommodation: Individual houses.

- (1) Bruce's Farm (April 04).
- (2) Ince's Farm (July 04)
- (3) Humphrie's Huts (April 04)
- (4) Lind House (April 04)
- (5) New Aloes (April 04)
- (6) Rock Cottage (April 05)
- (7) St Bernard's House (June 05)
- (8) Beaulieu House (June 05)
- (9) 19 Scud Hill (Sept 06)
- (10) Rose Tree Cottage (Sept 06)
- (11) The Elms (Feb 06)
- (12) Lower Elms (Feb 06)
- (13) Loquat House (April 05)
- (14) St Stephen's House (Feb 06)
- (15) Mount Barbary (April 05)
- (16) Lancashire House (June 05)
- (17) John Snow House (Jan 06)
- (18) Suffolk House (Jan 06)
- (19) Surrey House (Jan 06)

These houses have a very substantial resale value and it is the Government's intention to sell them and to reinvest the proceeds in building more affordable homes for first time local home buyers.

2. Residential Accommodation: blocks/multi-dwellings.

|                          |            |         |
|--------------------------|------------|---------|
| (20) Rosia Court         | (32 units) | July 04 |
| (21) Sandpits House      | (12 units) | July 06 |
| (22) Carter House        | (12 units) | TBC     |
| (23) Tangier View        | (12 units) | Mar 08  |
| (24) South Pavillion OMQ | (9 units)  | Aug 05  |
| (25) Europa Pass Battery | (16 units) | TBC     |
| (26) F Block ONH         | (4 units)  | July 06 |

These units would have a lower market price than the individual houses. But in total have a substantial capital value. It is the Government's intention to sell these houses to local home buyers, and to reinvest the proceeds in building more affordable homes for local home buyers.

3. Chilton Court

(27) 2 Blocks (overlooking Queensway) comprising 32 flats. These flats will be added to the Government's housing stock for rental to people on the housing waiting list on the same terms as Edinburgh House.

4. Sites for Development

(28) Cormorant Wharf (April 04)

(29) Fleet Pavilion (April 04)

The transfer of this site will enable the Government to build a new first and middle school to accommodate demand in the Town and Westside areas

(30) The Coaling Island, basin and berthing strip.

This transfer enables the Government to proceed with the relocation of the small boat owners. (Pending reprovisioning)

- (31) No4 Dock. (Pending reprovisioning)
The transfer of this site enables major additional development opportunities to proceed, including a large new reclamation in front of Rooke and the RGYC, creating further development land and the construction of a new road linking Westside Reclamation and Queensway.
- (32) Land at Navy W/T Station (April 04)
- (33) Queensway Club Swimming Pool area. (April 04)
- (34) Site of Thompson's cottages/Naval Hospital Hill (April 04)
- (35) North Front Ariel Farm site/Eastern Beach (April 04)
- (36) Dutch Magazine site (except the part occupied by MOD laundry, unless relocated) (April 04)
- (37) MOD Medical Facility, Queensway (when MOD build new hospital)
- (38) RNH Europa Road (when MOD build new hospital)
- (39) Gibraltar Squadron facilities (subject to relocation at Gunwharf)
- (40) Navy W/T Station. (Aug 10)
- (41) Rosia Tanks (April 04)

In its recent election manifesto the Government committed itself to ensuring that some development sites would be made available to private developers on condition that they built low cost, affordable housing for first time local home buyers. This will result in still more such homes being built.

5. Industrial Assets

- (42) MOD ex Motor Transport Garage (Opposite Air Terminal).
Government intends to use this existing facility as the depot for the new bus service. (April 04)
- (43) The Shell hangar at the airfield. (Pending reprovisioning)
- (44) Large area of land to the North of the airfield. (April 04)
- (45) The old MOD Sullage Plant at North Mole. (April 04)
- (46) Williams Way OFD and Orillion Gap Tunnel. (April 04)

- (47) Coaling Island Cold Store. (April 04)
- (48) Eastside (disused) fuel depot (April 04)
- (49) Eastside Jetty and related instalations. (April 04)
- (50) WSM Stores, Waterport. (July 04)
- (51) Ex-Naafi Stores, Waterport. (Aug 07)
- (52) Commercial Port use, for account of GOG, of Southern (MOD) half of detached mole. (Immediate)

6. Other Sites

- (53) The freehold (subject to existing long lease) of La Rotunda, Winston Churchill Avenue; (April 04)
- (54) The freehold (subject to existing long lease) of Britannia House; (April 04)
- (55) The freehold (subject of 150 leases in favour of MOD & RGR) of the remaining blocks of Chilton Court. (80 flats) (April 05)
- (56) The MOD Eastside Water Catchments. (April 04)
- (57) Middle Hill, Upper Rock. (April 05)

7. Other Social Facilities/Assets

- (58) Ownership of the road leading to Western Beach. (April 04)
- (59) Command Education Centre, Queensway/Bowling Alley. (April 04)
- (60) Queensway Club. (April 04)
- (61) Central Hall. (April 04)
- (62) Navy No1 Ground (Sept 04)
- (63) Land for expansion of Cemetry. (April 04)
- (64) A sea-shore strip of land to link Camp Bay and Little Bay. (April 04)
- (65) Reduction in waters designated as Admiralty Waters. (Pending Re provisioning)

8. Other Issues

(1) Commercial Lettings

In the recent past MOD has been letting premises to commercial entities that competed in the local market. These companies operated in a lower cost environment and therefore competed unfairly with companies established in premises outside the MOD estate. In future such companies will pay rates to GOG and rent to MOD equivalent atleast to their Net Annual Values for rating purposes. Tenancies must be registered with The Rent Assessor, and all GOG authorities and inspectors will have full access. This will eliminate the commercial advantage over competitors.

(2) Pending documentation

This agreement allows the documentation of the transfer of Cumberland and Tower sites, Rosia Road, to proceed, making two further sites available for development.

9. In exchange for all the above, GOG has agreed the following in favour of MOD: -

(1) As is usual practice historically, facilities for which there is continuing need by MOD will be reprovided by GOG at its expense as follows: -

- (a) Weather Balloon Station, airfield.
- (b) 100 car parking spaces for MOD at Commonwealth Parade (until construction of proposed underground car park by GOG at Navy 1 Ground).
- (c) Gibraltar Boat Squadron to new finger jetty at Gunwharf.
- (d) MSG tugs & boats from Coaling Island to Gunwharf.
- (e) Water sports and other facilities from No4 dock to Gunwharf. Gunwharf site thus reverts to MOD.
- (f) Conversion and upgrading of five existing blocks at Four Corners estate into 15 flats.

- (2) £250,000 annual reduction in MOD payment to GOG in lieu of Rates (CILOR) (This corresponds roughly to the exemption of the airfield and the Bufadero training grounds to which GOG does not provide services).
- (3) Return to MOD of current airport car park, which GOG will reprovide next to Air Terminal.

10. Royal Gibraltar Regiment

During the last few days there has been a substantial amount of comment based on misconception and incorrect facts and speculation. Far from being about depriving the Royal Gibraltar Regiment of housing for present or future recruits, the Government's purpose in the negotiation has been to secure that housing for the Regiment indefinitely, thus providing the Regiment with permanent security, so that it can not be withdrawn by MOD in any future spending review.

The issue in the deal is not the question of whether MOD stops providing housing, but rather how financial value can be given to MOD without affecting the housing issue. To understand the logic of this it is necessary first to understand UK Treasury Accounting Rules.

Under UK Treasury Accounting rules which apply to MOD, the MOD is obliged to pay in cash out of its Gibraltar operating budget every year, a sum of money equivalent to several percent of the book value of its property. This reduces the cash budget available for spending on actual MOD operations. By transferring the freehold of the property to GOG the MOD local budget avoids this loss of spending power. It is in Gibraltar's economic interests that the local MOD spendable budget should be as high as possible.

But this does not mean that MOD will cease to provide the housing or that MOD ceases to be the landlord of its RG soldiers. This is because, as part of the deal, GOG will lease back the property for 150 years, free of rent. Therefore the transfer of property is technical only, because it is leased back to MOD for 150 years. A lease for 150 years is what private home owners in Gibraltar get.

In order to give the Gibraltar Regiment long term protection in respect of housing for its soldiers, GOG has opted (in close consultation with the Regiment) to give the 150 lease to the Regiment itself. The Regiment will then in turn give another 150 lease to the MOD. MOD, as 150 year lease holder of these Chilton Court blocks will then continue to let the flats to the Regiment's soldiers on existing terms. These arrangements therefore represent no adverse change whatsoever to the regiment's soldiers.

However, because the Government's lease will be to the Regiment (who then lease – on to MOD), if MOD ever seek to withdraw the housing from Regiment soldiers, the MOD's 150 year lease of the flats reverts to the Regiment, which can then keep the housing facility in place indefinitely.

Furthermore, an agreement has been reached in relation to the Repair and Maintenance of these flats.

The Royal Gibraltar Regiment considers, rightly, that these arrangements are very positive, because without adverse effect on soldiers (who remain MOD tenants) the Regiment keeps its housing entitlements with unprecedented security for the next 150 years. The Government is delighted to have been able to support the Regiment in this very substantial manner.

But this does not mean that MOD will cease to provide the housing or that MOD ceases to be the landlord of its RG soldiers. This is because, as part of the deal, GOG will lease back the property for 150 years, free of rent. Therefore the transfer of property is technical only, because it is leased back to MOD for 150 years. A lease for 150 years is what private home owners in Gibraltar get.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1139 TO 1144 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The £3.5 million is the answer to Question No. 1144, is it, which is the total?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it is the total. Basically, the re-provision that the Government expect to have to pay for access to the land, obviously there is expenditure on our land once we get it but that is a different matter that is not relocation, is an item which was already on the cards. In other words the cost of moving the MSG to Gun Wharf so that the small boat owners can go into Coaling Island, and four blocks, four or five, a number of blocks in Four Corners Camp that need to be upgraded, I think 25 flats have got to be converted into 15 of a higher grading in MOD jargon, but of course that is spread over a period of time so £3.5 million is our best estimate to date of the whole of that exercise and all of the boats. There are other things, for example, the relocation of the Gib Squadron to Gun Wharf and indeed the relocation of the No 4 Dock, I do not remember I always know it as the Army Watermanship Centre but it is not called that any more. That will involve expense but that will be borne by whoever acquires the development, the Government do not expect themselves to pay out for those relocations but they do arise out of the deal just as the Government do not expect to have to fund it themselves.

HON C A BRUZON:

Can Government state out of those 33 flats that would be available for rental for people on the housing waiting list, whether there are some on the ground floor that could suitably be used for elderly people who have been waiting quite a long time to be given ground floor flats?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Of course there are ground floor flats. In those two blocks there are two blocks' worth of ground floor flats. I do not know what the policy of the Housing Allocation Committee is. I hope obviously that they bear in mind the physical needs of different tenants when they come to allocate the ground floor flats and they do not put healthy people on the ground floor and then find that they have to put elderly people on the upper floors. I hope that they will take that into consideration. I say that many elderly people are rather looking forward to the elderly peoples housing being built but there will be some demand I suppose for these houses as well.

THE HON C A BRUZON

HOUSING – PRIVATE SECTOR

Can Government state what is the estimated number of private sector dwellings built between 1945 and 1959 fit for human habitation and currently rented?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I cannot explain why this question has been allocated to me and been slipped in here when all the rest relating to this issue were dealt with by the Minister for Housing. I think this has been an oversight. I suspect that all of this issue has been fully discussed when there was a similar batch of questions for the Minister. In any case the answer is that this information is not available to Government, which are the views that we exchanged when very similar questions were taken by the Hon Mr Netto.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1145 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably the information on the number of dwellings built between 1945 and 1959 is available to the Government? The Government have got to know when buildings are built.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is not the question. The question is houses built between 1945 and 1959 fit for human habitation and currently rented.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see. So what the Government are saying is that they do know how many were built but they do not know whether those that were built are fit for human habitation today and rented today, is that the answer?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not certain that even that is correct. I suppose somewhere there must be a record of when houses were built but I suspect that it is not as easy as the hon Member might think for the Government to get a list of houses that were built between 1945 and 1959, I cannot even assure him that that information is readily available. There is a property register, I suppose the planning authority must have but that is ownership rather than building of properties. There is presumably, I assume, the planning records go back to 1945. There will be a date when planning permission was granted, even perhaps a certificate of fitness, I do not know, which might suggest completion of construction. There might even be a record of when properties came onto the rating list for example, which might be evidence. So I suppose by those routes it might be possible to construct a picture of when properties were built, but in any case the answer to the question as formulated is that the information is not readily available. I do recall that we have had this exchange before. I mean, the Government cannot know whether properties are fit for human habitation, this is private sector dwellings, unless it were to inspect each and every property.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, I know that has been said generally about the previous questions that tried to establish the pool of houses that were available. That is why the concept of fit was there because if the house is derelict and standing it can hardly be considered to be part of the available housing stock, but of course is it that the Government in fact, having taken a policy decision on the capping of the 45 year rule, when they changed the Landlord and Tenants Ordinance, have done this without having the remotest idea as to how many properties had been affected by the 45 year rule, between 1945 and 1990?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

We have debated that very question at the last session of Question Time and I have given him the answer to that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The answer is what, that they have no idea because they are not able to give the answer?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The answer is that we have debated the very question of the basis upon which the Government moved to amend the Landlord and Tenant Ordinance the last time that we discussed this, and that is not the question being asked here. The answer to the question asked is that the information is not available to the Government.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see. So in fact the answer to Question No. 565 which was that the number of properties each year that became rent controlled since 1990 as a result of having been built 45 years previously, which was five properties, is completely unrelated to the information that they do not have in this question. In other words we are talking about the same 45 year period.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the hon Member can mistreat the words that I utter to him as much as he likes. The question asks 'Can Government state what is the estimated number of private sector dwellings built between 1945 and 1959, fit for human habitation and currently rented?', to which the answer is that Government do not have that information available.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see, and since the Government do not have the information that meet the three criteria, I am trying to establish whether the Government have got any notion at all of how many houses were built between 1945 and 1959. Do they have any notion? Were 1,000 houses built between 1945 and 1959 or one? No notion, is that the position? I find it very odd.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That specific question has been dealt with in the exchanges on previous questions between the Hon Mr Bruzon and the Minister for Housing in the last 48 hours.

HON C A BRUZON:

What the Minister and I discussed, I think, was the fact that they did not have enough resources or it would cost too much to ensure that inspectors went round all these places to establish whether or not they were empty and so forth.

HON J J NETTO:

In addition to what the hon Member does say, I have also additionally said that I have tried to get this information for the hon Members because they have asked this question and when they asked it about three months ago. What I have been informed is that in relation to the private sector, neither the Government Building Control Department has got the register which the Leader of the Opposition was mentioning before, partly due I am told because about five years ago when they were housed in the City Hall there was a lot of water penetration and it went into all the boxes where they had all the register and that meant that they did not have a complete picture of the situation. The Town Planner has not got the information, LPS have not got the information (this is what I have been told) and when I went to the extreme of trying to get the information from the actual source themselves, being the landlords in the private sector, they themselves also have not got the information. So we have tried to provide the information through all these various sources and we have not been able to provide the information, but this I have said in the House before.

HON J J BOSSANO:

My supplementary is, given that in answer to Question No. 565, which he must have a bit of paper there on it, he told us that there were five properties that became rent controlled in the period 1945 to 1959, having been built in that period, are those five properties then an indication that only five properties were built in all those years?

HON J J NETTO:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So then the Minister does know. Five.

HON J J NETTO:

This is the information that has been given to me by LPS.

LATHBURY BARRACKS RETREAT CENTRE

Can Government state what is the annual cost of the Retreat Centre at Lathbury Barracks?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question No. 1148

The cost of converting the derelict shell at Lathbury Barracks into a Retreat Centre was £1,084,941.37

Answer to Question No. 1149

Since its opening in November 2002, the Retreat Centre has been used by 14 different entities, namely: The Mission Group; Christian Charismatic Renewal; Secular Franciscan Order; Faith & Light; World Marriage Encounter; Catholic Youth Ministry; St Paul's Youth Prayer Group; Co-Worker of Mother Theresa; Cursillo Movement; St Anne's School; Royal Gibraltar Police; Marriage Care; Residents of Mount Alvernia; visiting journalists to cover the Referendum; and several persons whose homes were badly affected as a result of the fire at Horse Barrack Lane.

Answer to Question No. 1150

The home is run by a charitable trust, the Trustees of which employ a full-time manager to run the facility.

Answer to Question No. 1151

The approved estimate for 2003/2004 was £117,000 for the running costs of the home.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1148 TO 1151 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Just one question, the charitable trust, is there a specific charitable trust or is it various ones?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it is a specific trust. The Government used the same model as for Dr Giraldi originally, and for the New Hope Trust for the Rehabilitation Centre and indeed for the Citizens Advice Bureau. There is a trust set up with trustees. The trustees are representatives of various sectors of the community who run this, and it is a retreat centre for all walks and activities of life. Companies use it, Government Departments use it, Clubs and Associations use it and religious groups use it, of all denominations. So there is a trust, I am not sure that the trust has got a name, we call it the Retreat Centre Trust. There is a trustee even.

GARRISON LIBRARY

Can Government say when was the last time that there were any discussions for the transfer of the Garrison Library to the Government?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

We have agreed with the Senior Officers of the Garrison, which is the phrase that I use only because they are the people who own the library and not the MOD, there is apparently some sort of cohesive body called Senior Officers of the Garrison, they must all be very wealthy given that there are so few of them left and they own the Garrison Library, they are represented by a Senior Officer in the MOD and we have agreed to undertake discussions imminently on this issue. As to his actual question of when was the last time they met, I have not been able to obtain an exact day but it is certainly probably over a year ago. There has now been a resolution so to speak that we will get down to this and discuss it, the agreement was after Easter, well it is now after Easter and I can tell him it has not happened yet but it is on the cards.

GOVERNMENT LAND MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE

How often and on what dates have the Government Land Management Committee met in 2003 and 2004 to date?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government do not think it appropriate to provide this information. The Land Management Committee is an informal, internal Government administrative structure to consider and decide upon routine lands issues. It comprises both Ministers and officials, and I would not want the hon Member to get the impression that this is a formal structure. In other words, it is just a label given to the officials that get together with the Ministers that they get together with to decide these issues. I do not mind telling him that there are two Ministers and one of them is the Hon Mr Holliday and the other is the Hon Mr Vinet. They are the members, for the rest it is just relevant officials in the departments concerned with the issues under discussion. So it is not actually a sort of formal, official group it is just a label given to the people that get together to perform this particular administrative function. It is no more than that, it has no legal characteristic.

Total cost £12,331.12 broken down into Flights £5,924.38, Accommodation and subsistence £6,406.74.

The Minister for Trade Industry and Communications and Mr Peter Canessa accompanied the Chief Minister to the Tercentenary Events in London but were already there on other business.

Cont'd Answer to Question 1166

Answer to Question 1163

There were five people who were invited from Gibraltar to attend the Service of Thanksgiving and Celebration.

The following people attended the Service and Reception:

Mr Marcus Killick, Commissioner, Financial Services Commission,

A representative on behalf of Trevor Thomas of Taylor Woodrow.

Lt Col Mark Randall of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment attended the Service.

Finally Mr Greg Butcher, Managing Director, Ocean Village came with Lt Col Francis Brancato.

Answer to Question 1164

A total of six officials from the Government of Gibraltar were present at the Tercentenary events including the Service of Thanksgiving and the Parliamentary Dinner.

They were:

The Chief Minister

The Minister for Trade, Industry and Communications

The UK Representative

Chief Executive, Gibraltar Tourist Board

The Chief Minister's Press Secretary

The Chief Minister's Private Secretary

The Chief Minister stayed at The Savoy Hotel and the cost was £937.65.

The Minister for Trade, Industry and Communications stayed at the Gloucester Hotel but was in London already for other events therefore does not have a cost.

The same applies to the Chief Executive of the Gibraltar Tourist Board.

The Chief Minister's Press Secretary stayed at the Swissotel The Howard and the cost was £797.46.

The Chief Minister's Private Secretary stayed at the Swissotel The Howard and the cost was £616.

Answer to Question 1165

Total flight costs were £2,736.38, in respect of persons from Gibraltar who were invited by the Government.

Answer to Question 1166

The accommodation costs were £3,553.85 in respect of persons from Gibraltar who were invited by the Government.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1158 TO 1166 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The supplementary on Question No. 1166 which refers to the cost of the reception at the Savoy Hotel which was just over £35,000, the reference to consumables is broken down in terms of room hire and service charges, consumables £26,600 is obviously the food and drink, is that the case?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I promise that we did not provide cocaine or anything like that. Yes, food and drink.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

As a matter of interest, the parliamentary dinner which it says here cost £6,500, lists as one of the items in the breakdown staff gratuities at 12½ per cent £745, is that a sort of House of Commons practice where one has to give a certain amount?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I am told by the London Office that it is not actually voluntary, it is part of the terms of using the parliamentary dining facilities there.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The reference to the Tercentenary events in the USA was, if I recall correctly, on the website of the Tercentenary website the last time that I looked. Is the Minister able to clarify why that should have been there?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know, I am not aware. Coinciding with my UN visit there is sometimes a lunch that I host for the Gibraltar/American Council and it may be that this year it is going to be called a Tercentenary lunch, but I am not aware of any specific event.

TERCENTENARY EVENTS – SPANISH MAYORS

Have the Mayors of any Spanish town been invited to any Tercentenary event in Gibraltar this year, if so who and to what event, and will they be attending or not?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question No. 1167

For the first three groups of visiting veterans, the caterers at Mount Alvernia the cooks, who will at that stage have themselves moved into the Retreat centre kitchen whilst the Mount Alvernia kitchen is being refurbished, will provide the catering. The estimated cost for this is £12.00 per person per day. This will cover the expense of a full breakfast, light lunch and dinner. Once Mount Alvernia caterers vacate the Retreat, local companies will be asked to provide a quotation for the service.

Answer to Question No. 1168

Costs based on 10 groups of 50 people each. On that basis the overall cost is estimated at £210,000. Giving a breakdown will provide tenderers with sensitive commercial information given that the number of people is known as is the number of days and meals required.

Answer to Question No. 1169

Both schedule airlines serving Gibraltar were asked to tender, subsequently, Monarch Airlines has been chosen to provide the service for all the veterans.

Answer to Question No. 1171

No Spanish mayor has yet been invited to any of our events. I emphasize the word “yet” and in relation to whether we have been invited to any of their celebrations for what he calls in his question ‘celebration of the loss of Gibraltar’, I do not think that that is what they are celebrating. I think that certainly Los Barrios is not celebrating that. Los Barrios is celebrating the fact that it is also the 300th anniversary of the founding of Los Barrios. They regard the history of Gibraltar as having been instrumental in the fact that they exist. So this is positive for them not negative. They are not celebrating the loss of Gibraltar, it is true that the loss of Gibraltar resulted in the establishment of San Roque and less publicly known the establishment of Los Barrios as well, and that is what they are celebrating. They are celebrating 300 years of their history just as we are celebrating 300 years of our history, and we are not celebrating the 300th anniversary of a conquest and I do not think they are celebrating the 300th anniversary of any loss.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1167 TO 1171 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation first to the airlines, can the Chief Minister say whether the quote by Monarch was chosen because it was the lowest airline or because logistically it was from Luton airport?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

They were the lowest.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

When the mayors came here in January, there was public reference to collaboration between Gibraltar and the Campo towns as regards Tercentenary celebrations, can the Chief Minister say whether that collaboration has now been progressed and in fact anything is going to be done in that respect?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know what talk of collaboration he is referring to. I certainly recall saying that it was my hope to be able to extend invitations to mayors of the Campo in appropriate events that they felt they could take part in without feeling any degree of discomfiture as Spanish people and Spanish politicians. That was my position then and that remains my position. I sincerely hope that we shall be able to persuade them, or some of them, that this is not a celebration of a military loss or a military conquest but is celebration of 300 years, for good or for bad, for richer for poorer, in richness and in health, 300 years of history of Gibraltar which is worth celebrating and that they are a part of that history and that we should commemorate it together. There are some events which lend themselves to that, mainly the non military ones, the cultural ones, and there are some events which obviously do not lend themselves to that like the military ones. That is the Government's approach.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Chief Minister say how much, going back to the airlines, how much Monarch is charging for the flights for each of the veterans?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think it would be wrong to give that information out, which is of a commercial nature, in public but I will tell him privately in the ante room afterwards.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Am I correct in assuming the £210,000 in relation to Question No. 1168, when I asked for the projected cost of inviting them with a breakdown, the £210,000 figure that I was given does not include the flights, is that correct or not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It does include the flights.

ENVIRONMENTAL SAFETY GROUP

Can Government confirm whether or not they consulted the Environmental Safety Group (and if so when) prior to the purchase of the buses now operated by the Gibraltar Bus Company Limited in order to have the benefit of the ESG's views on the type of propulsion and fuel systems employed by the buses?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1173 of 2004.

NO 1173 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

BUS SERVICE

Can Government state why the buses now being used by Gibraltar Bus Company Limited met emission standard Euro 3 instead of standard Euro 4, given the impending implementation of the latter?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question No. 1172

The Environmental Safety Group was not formally consulted nor is there any reason why they should be, but they were provided with the environmental credentials of the new buses at their request. I did actually have a general meeting with the Environmental Safety Group dealing with matters generally, at which one of its members, a gentleman who as I recall lives in Estepona, was urging the Government I seem to recall, to buy buses that run on used cooking oil, which the Government took the view was not a practical or realistic solution. Nor did we have any feedback, as far as I am aware of, to the information that we provided them on the buses that we were intending to order.

Answer to Question No. 1173

The order for the new buses stipulated that they should fully comply with all the relevant emission standards in force at the time and which incidentally still apply today, namely Euro 3. Buses complying with the Euro 4 standard were not available at the time of placing the order, which as the hon Member knows was early last year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1172 AND 1173 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just seek clarification, in particular of one aspect of what the Chief Minister has said? He said that the Environmental Safety Group were provided with the technical specifications, more or less, of the buses, which he was intending to order. Can I assume from that, that the Government are representing to the House that the ESG were provided with the technical specifications of the buses before the order was placed?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, one cannot assume anything. The meeting with me was something quite different, it was a general agenda meeting and there was this gentleman there whose name I do not recall. I cannot say, what I am told is that they were provided with the environmental credentials, not the technical specifications let us be clear, and I cannot say to him whether they were given before or after the event nor I repeat, is the Environmental Safety Group. The Government have their own experts in these matters and the Government are advised, remember these buses were manufactured for Gibraltar they were not just bought. One will have seen the Minister photographed in front of the production line at some time. These buses were manufactured to the latest European environmental standards available. I suppose now it may be that buses are being made to a different standard, but the Euro 4 I am advised, will not affect buses that were in service before and these are the buses that are still being bought for use in the United Kingdom and elsewhere throughout Europe.

BUS SERVICE

Can Government state whether the rates of pay and conditions of service of the employee vacancies, as advertised in the edition of the Gibraltar Chronicle of the 6 March 2004, were arrived at by negotiation with any union or determined by the Gibraltar Bus Company and if the latter what analogues were used?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Directors are Andrew Perera, Brian Delaney and Richard Armstrong.

The buses have been acquired by the Gibraltar Bus Company Limited, a wholly owned Government company.

The financial performance of the Company will depend on the usage of it by citizens. It is not possible to assess what that will be at this early stage.

The agreement with Rock City Services was negotiated over a long period of time and completed on 5 April 2004. Government have purchased the licences for the sum of £875,000. Employees' terms were not negotiated nor was any analogue used.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1174 TO 1178 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can the Chief Minister confirm that the three Directors which are mentioned, I believe there are four not three, the other is the Accountant General, they were in place on 5th March 2004, which is the question asked?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I cannot, if he wants to be that specific. I notice that the question was asked at a specific date and the answer that I have been given is that one, which I am assuming is as at the date specified in the question but if he asks me personally to vouchsafe it and to confirm it, I would have to check it out. I assume that my officials have put in front of me the right factual answer.

HON L A RANDALL:

I would like the Chief Minister to confirm this because the information that I have is that they were not in place on 5th March. How was the purchase of the buses funded, by loan to the Gibraltar Bus Company from the Government, and if so was this included in the 2003/2004 estimates or the 2004/2005 estimates?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the bus company is part of the Government's group of companies and was funded from the cash balances held in the Government's company structure. It was not funded from Consolidated Fund sources. As to whether the money has actually been injected by way of loans or by way of share capital, I would need notice of that question because that has been dealt with by the Accountant General. I suspect at this stage it has been dealt with by loan capital which might at some stage be converted.

HON J J BOSSANO:

When the buses were originally purchased, were they purchased in the first instance by the Gibraltar Bus Company or by another Government company and subsequently transferred to the Gibraltar Bus Company?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am relying on memory now so I cannot be certain that what I am saying is exactly correct. I am almost certain it was not the Gibraltar Bus Company. Remember that at the time that the buses were ordered the Government were still in negotiation with Calypso on that issue. I am almost certain but I would need to check, I do not think the buses were ordered, in other words there is a purchase agreement or manufacture/purchase agreement with the suppliers of the buses. I do not think that contract was in the name of the Gibraltar Bus Company, I think it would have been in the name of some other Government entity, but I can check that out and let him have it when next we meet.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can I point out to the Government that Question No. 1175 says 'which Government wholly owned company purchased the buses?'. The reply was that 'they have been acquired by the Gibraltar Bus Company'. Well they have been acquired presumably from another company which had previously purchased them, is that correct?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It does not necessarily follow that way. It may be that by the time it came to actually obtain the title to the buses, that by that stage it was done directly. In other words, there may be a difference between the company that signed the order agreement and the company that eventually took delivery and paid for the buses. That is a possibility too but I would have to check the choreography of that and confirm it to the hon Member.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the Gibraltar Bus Company, given that when it was already inviting applications it was still a company with two £1 shares issued and registered with somebody else, presumably at that stage it did not own any buses?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I do not know about registered with somebody else, whilst the negotiations which ultimately did not come to successful conclusion were being conducted between the Government and Calypso Transport, the parties agreed that we would get on with forming the company that would ultimately deliver the service and that if a successful agreement was concluded, it would be owned in accordance with whatever was agreed in that negotiation, but if there was not a successful agreement it would become a wholly owned Government company. So during the negotiations the company was formed by the lawyer then in effect helping both parties and as the negotiations between those two parties were not successful, and as had been agreed, the Government took over the company at which stage and I think it stayed with that lawyer for a while and then eventually it was changed to wherever the Government companies lived and the registered address is now No. 6 Convent Place and this is why there are Civil Servants who are Directors. So there is a process during which the company is being set up during the negotiating process and then when the service starts taking shape, namely the acquisition of the buses, the acquisition of staff and all that, at that point the company becomes active, but it is not an unusual way of doing business.

HON J J BOSSANO:

It may not be unusual in other circumstances but on this particular occasion, in fact is it not the case that the bus company was already advertising and in fact the bus company was not yet wholly owned by the Government, it was still sort of a shelf company?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not think that is true. The Government were the owners of the company from the moment that we broke off negotiations with the other party and the agreement previously in place that on that happening the Government were to be regarded as the sole owners of the company, had been invoked. The fact that shares may not have been issued to the Government is neither here nor there, as the hon Member sitting on his right will advise him. The lawyer who set up the company owns the founding shares on behalf of whoever he regards as his client, which by then had become the Government, because the negotiations with Calypso, which was a negotiation leading to a possible joint venture, we just did not come to terms so the Government proceeded by themselves.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the company that originally placed the order for the buses, would this be one of the property companies which seems to be the company that has actual cash balances?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have already agreed that I will find out the name of the entity which signed the contract and let him know.

HON L A RANDALL:

In answer to Question No. 1176 the Chief Minister said that the loss or profit of the bus company would depend on the usage by citizens. Is the Chief Minister therefore saying that during the thorough planning stage which the Government went through, they did not construct a business plan so that they had a view as to what the return on investment would be on circa £2 million?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member must be living in cloud-cuckoo-land if he thinks that the Government have entered into this venture with a view to a return on investments. This is a municipal, publicly funded, publicly subsidised public service which has not the remotest chance of delivering a return, probably never even breaking even let alone delivering a return on investment, any more than the Government look for a financial return on investment when they are running a hospital or running schools or running anything else. This is a publicly funded social service to which users make a contribution. It is the Government's decision to proceed with a public transport service of this sort, is in no case linked to the business case that could be made for it. Obviously a lot of information was researched at the time that we were negotiating a joint venture partnership, because we had to understand as between the two joint ventures, who was bringing in more passengers given that they have passenger numbers and Rock City Service that we were going to buy had passenger numbers and obviously there are pro-forma profit and loss accounts. In other words, there is an operating cost analysis for a 12 month period, all that of course is in place, but what the loss would be in other words what the revenue over expenditure will be, or the expenditure over revenue more likely in this case, what the gap between the two will be depends on the amount of traffic that we succeed or passengers that we succeed in attracting to the bus services. Clearly, with the proper working conditions that the staff of the company enjoy, as has to be the case with a Government owned company and indeed should be the case whether they are owned by the Government or not, but certainly the Government are not willing to cut corners with the terms upon which they employ people in companies owned by it, if the traffic, if the volume of usage remains as it used to be when it was run by Rock City Services at a much lower operating cost, then there will certainly be a shortfall of revenue over expenditure. We could calculate what we think that might be, I suppose that now that they have got a few days of paying traffic, they can try and extrapolate that over a 12 month period and do calculations, but remember that it is quite recent that the tariffs have been set and that we have passenger usage numbers. So I suppose the company's management will now start working projections into what revenue they think they can actually raise during the year, bearing in mind that what they hope is going to be one of the principal sources of revenue for the Government have not yet been marketed, that is season tickets, I do not know if that is the right word. The sort of weekly, monthly, quarterly and annual cards, all of which will have a much reduced tariff attached to them, and that is a source of revenue which has not yet been put on the market. So it is very early days to have an idea. My personal view is that it will not even break even and we certainly will not make a profit but it will not break even and this is a publicly subsidised public service.

HON L A RANDALL:

I agree with the Chief Minister that the bus company will probably at best break even and I think it will make a loss and the basis of the question was for myself to determine what the level of that loss would be. A business case is based on assumptions and assumptions change with the passage of time but it would be very helpful if the Chief Minister could let me know what is the expected carriage of passengers in one year for the bus company.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member expects me to give him that information now? Well I am afraid.....

HON L A RANDALL:

Well an assumption, he said before that he had worked with private operators to come up with pro-forma profit and losses et cetera. Surely it must have based those pro-formas, profit and loss and cash flows must have been based on the number of passengers expected to be carried in one year and the average fare per paying passenger?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the Government's decision to invest in this public service is not based on a business case or a business model. Obviously we know what was the average per day passenger movements when it was being run under the present service, I do not have the figures on my fingertips from memory, I think it was something of the order of 4000 movements per day, there were days when it was more and there were days when it was less. We hope obviously to improve on those figures. Now, by how much we think we are going to improve well time will tell. We are hoping that the fact that the service is in better, more comfortable buses, that is in more attractive, comfortable buses, that it is more regular, that it is more reliable, we hope that all of these things will increase the number of people using buses. Therefore we hope to improve substantially on the daily movements carried by the operator whose activities we have taken over, but we are not sort of prognosticating and converting that prognostication into a sort of profit and loss account. We have obviously got a statement of our anticipated operating costs for the next 12 months. That obviously we have because the Government have got to make sure that the company has sufficient funding to operate on that basis, but it is far too early for the Government to be able to form our own view let alone one that is reliable enough to give to the hon Member as to what might be the performance on the revenue side.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the fact that there is a token figure in the draft estimates an indication that in fact the expectation is that the House will have to vote a sum of money to bridge the gap in the current financial year?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well I would put it differently. The fact that there is a token in a document to which he should not yet be making public reference, is .....

HON J J BOSSANO:

I think that I am not breaking the fact that it is a confidential document by saying there is a token figure without mentioning the figure.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is fine by me, I am not saying that I am agreeing with his comments he should be making no reference to the content but never mind, it does not matter. The fact that it is a token precisely is a recognition of the fact that we just do not know how much it is going to be. So because the token is there, the funds can be provided either from the Supplementary Funding vote or from virement or from somewhere else. Although the Financial and Development Secretary could create a head during the year, even though one is not provided, I think by the inclusion of the token we wanted to recognise as part of the budget debate that yes, here was a new source of Government expenditure because we are expecting it to be so. We cannot give the House an indication of how much it will be, well we could tell the House how much it would be if there was no revenue at all because we know what the cost is and we can say to the House 'well if we keep the 4000 average movements a day, we can calculate how much we think that is going to produce in terms of revenue', that sort of idea will be available by the time we meet in the budget.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the terms of Question No. 1178, where the company did not use any analogues, to what did it look to decide what was the going rate, or rather perhaps more than the going rate because as the Chief Minister has said the standards in the Government company are not going to be the ones that apply in current bus and coach companies, where quite often people are employed on a casual day basis and they only get paid if they work? They must have used some guidance to decide what a driver should get.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot say, this was a proposal put up by the intended management, the Directors, to the Government and the Government just approved it. I cannot explain to the hon Member what was the rationale. I suspect and I assume that it was a reasonable figure at which they thought they could attract staff of the right calibre. I can only assume that. I notice afterwards that it is not a million miles from what drivers in Government Service get, but of course it is not the same there is no analogue but maybe that might have been an influencing factor in the minds of whoever made this proposal in the first place.

HON F R PICARDO:

Just in relation to Question No. 1177, can the Government confirm exactly what it has paid £875,000 for? Seeing as I assume they are not intending to use the buses which that company was operating at the time.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well I think the intention is post modification and repainting and all that. I think there are some buses that will be used. I think the double-decker buses, at least two or three of them will be used on the frontier route. There is another bus, a 10 metre bus, which is very important for training because that is under EU directives one needs to pass ones test on such a bus. So some of the buses will be used, in terms of route service we envisage it only being the better standard double-decker, certainly none of the Toyotas will be used on the other routes. In effect what we were purchasing was the licence and the undertaking. In other words, the business as a going concern. The Government could have taken a different approach but we chose not to as a matter of policy. We could have simply de-regulated the public transport system and simply muscled in to the market. We took the view that that was not the basis upon which Government should do business and in effect dispossess an established operator, so even though we had the wherewithal to have done it by another way, we chose to do it on the basis of a purchase and sale of an on-going business. It is just that the assets that the business was using, the buses, were not of the right standard. So in effect what we were buying was "the goodwill, the licences and the established clientele of the route services", that is in effect what we were buying.

HON F R PICARDO:

Was it therefore a purchase of the shares of the company including its liabilities or not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No it was not the purchase of the company it was the purchase of the licences and the vehicles. We had actually acquired the vehicles just as a means of making sure they were taken off the roads so to speak. I should also say to the hon Member that it was not for cash. In other words, it is not that we have paid £875,000 of value and of course in strict financial terms it makes no difference, but it is £875,000 minus, in other words the amount actually paid out in a cheque written out is £875,000 minus the substantial amount which they then owned in Government arrears. I have given the figure of £875,000 because that is in effect the value. It does not cease to be value because it is set off, so in other words, the amount of value, the amount of cost to the taxpayer is £875,000. It is just that in terms of cash flow disbursement a substantial figure, I have here a note of £325,000, was owed to the Government by that company in respect of various things and therefore the figure that was paid was the net figure.

HON F R PICARDO:

In respect of any other liabilities that company may have had, not to Government, have the Government taken on those liabilities or simply hived down the assets they wanted to take?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think we agreed to make a token, included in the figure of £875,000 there is a token provision I think of £10,000, the Government's token contribution on a no responsibility it is your liability basis, for redundancy costs and redundancy entitlement and all that, but we did not take over those responsibilities, those exceed that amount but the figure of £875,000 as part of the build up has a small £10,000 contribution under that head.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I do not know how many employees the Rock City Services actually had at the time, but would they not have been affected by the transfer of undertakings provision if the service they were providing was now going to be provided by the Gibraltar Bus Company?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No because it was a private company. Some of the employees did apply for jobs in the new company and got them, I cannot remember the exact number there, but I am not an expert on TUPE but my understanding is that this was not a transfer of undertaking as defined in the legislation. I think these transfers of undertaking are mainly from public to private rather than from private to semi public, I believe, but if he knows better so be it, I do not profess to be an expert on employment law.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I accept that the normal thing is privatisation rather than nationalisation in today's world, but this is in the opposite direction. My recollection is that the requirement does not specify that the transfer of undertaking has to be only from the public to the private and not in the opposite direction.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

He may be right, I just do not know.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1179 TO 1197 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

I note that the number of minor road works required were well in excess of the one or two places which they spinned in the press release No. 49 of 2004.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I take the slap on the wrist as perhaps further evidence on behalf of the hon Member that the bus service is very bad for Gibraltar.

HON L A RANDALL:

I have not said that, he has. What I am saying is that I see my responsibility in this House, is to ensure that the investments the Government make are on a value for money basis, are within the laws of Gibraltar, not changed at the last moment and adhere to the highest standards of health and safety. Nothing would give me greater pleasure than for the bus service to be a successful bus service in Gibraltar, because believe it or not, the Chief Minister may not believe this, but my standing for election was driven by my desire to serve the people of Gibraltar.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I believe him but there are many who would not. Actually I think on the subject of the buses I do not accept for one moment that he has the interests of Gibraltar first at heart. I think that on the question of the buses he has more than amply demonstrated that he has only his own political party's self interest and opportunistic self interest at heart. That is my personal view with which he would no doubt disagree. I have heard nothing in the nature of the comments that he has made in relation to the buses or in his entire approach, I mean to lead me to believe that there is truth in what he has just said in this House, but that is my personal assessment. He is rightly concerned that the Government should stay within the law and that Government's investments should be value for money. Well, he referred to laws being changed at the last minute, certainly if he is referring to any issue of weight of the buses, he should understand that no laws have been changed, they do not need to be changed, just as they have not needed to be changed for all the previous buses, which also operated on the basis of exemptions under the Statutory law. There has been no change of law in relation to the weight of the buses, last minute or otherwise. There has been a change of the law in relation to the question of the regulations which did not exist, which were envisaged but did not exist in relation to the transferability of licences.

As to value for money, we think Gibraltar at long last has a public transport system of which it can be proud and which I think of which the vast majority of citizens, at least those that come to the issue with an objective mind and not with a desire to simply tarnish everything for political purposes, anybody that comes to the issue of the bus system with an objective mind believes that Gibraltar now has a public transport system of which we can be proud, which we deserve and which brings Gibraltar up into the 21st Century. Frankly, in terms of value for money, I think that £67,330.65 on infrastructure works to facilitate the provision of that service with buses of this size and quality, is excellent value for money, just as I think the buses are excellent value for money and I regard the loss of 37 parking spaces as minute, it does not even feature on any balance of decision, (a) because the improvement of public transport is more important than the loss of 37 parking spaces; and (b) because we have provided many more than this number of lost parking spaces in other new parking projects that we have created, both in Commonwealth Parade and in the Landport Ditch. So in fact there is a much bigger gain of parking than loss, but in any case even if there had not been any gain, even if we had just lost the 37 parking spaces, I would still think it is a price worth paying, so there has been no failure to comply with the law and in the Government's judgement, with which the hon Members may well disagree, there is also value for money in this logistical work.

HON L A RANDALL:

I just asked factual questions and I wished to thank the Chief Minister for answering them all. I did not make any comment as to the value for money of the cost of the logistical preparations. This is a further example of how he distorts things to please his.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

To everything that I have said about the hon Member so far he should add lack of memory. The very last thing he said in his last supplementary to which I was answering was that he regards it as his duty to press the Government on changes of legislation at the last minute and value for money. So when I assure him, presumably he was asking a question, this is question time not statement time by the Opposition, I assume that the essence of the supplementary was that he is raising issues about value for money on the basis of the question that he has asked, and I responded to him on the basis of value for money. He may have forgotten that he mentioned the phrase 'value for money' and having forgotten that he mentioned the phrase 'value for money' when I mention the phrase 'value for money' he then gets up and accuses me of yet another example of my distortion. I say to him, 'you see it is not another example of my distortion. It is another example of what I say they do, which is forget what they say and then make false accusations on the basis that they did not say what in fact they did say'. That is what it is another example of, not of any distortion on my part.

HON L A RANDALL:

I beg to differ with the Chief Minister, obviously, and when I said 'value for money' I said 'value for money' he should not make any assumptions, but I can tell him what I meant by value for money. A project as a whole, and the project as a whole includes what they paid for the licences, what they paid for the buses and the costs of the logistical preparations and the forfeiture of the parking spaces.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is exactly what I addressed through value for money answer. Why he thinks that when I answer that very issue that I am distorting anything is beyond my comprehension.

BUS SERVICE – UPPER TOWN

Can Government state whether the cost of the two smaller vehicles that will provide the bus service to the areas of Moorish Castle Estate and Willis' Road forms part of the £1.875 million stated by Government in answer to supplementaries to Question No 3 of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question Nos. 1198 and 1199

The life expectancy of the 18 Trans-Buses is between 15 to 20 years provided a regular service programme is maintained. I am sure the hon Member will understand that that life expectancy can be lengthened with good maintenance and shortened with bad maintenance, as with all mechanical equipment.

Answer to Question No. 1200

The local company that will be providing servicing arrangements is A M Capurro & Sons. This company was nominated and selected by the manufacturers themselves when they visited Gibraltar and checked the various local companies. Trans-Bus appointed A M Capurro & Sons as their after sales representative after considering experience and facilities available. In other words, it is the vendor that has the obligation for a maintenance period as part of the warranty, and therefore it is the vendor, the bus company, that has to make arrangements to provide servicing arrangements for the buses.

Answer to Question No. 1201

The two temporary vehicles for the Upper Town bus service were obtained from Bassadone Motors.

Answer to Question No. 1202

The cost of the two smaller vehicles is not included in the stated sum of £1.875 million.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1198 TO 1202 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can the Chief Minister confirm that I was wrong when I tabled my question saying two vehicles and that in fact there will be four vehicles as per the press release No. 49 of 2004, and can he inform the House the cost of providing those four additional vehicles?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I understand that there are only two vehicles in fact, and that the company is evaluating the service, evaluating their performance and may increase the size of the fleet, but the question is right as the facts are at present. At present only two vehicles have been purchased and the cost was £14,500 each.

The Transport Commission approved the transfer of an operator licence from Rock City Services to the Gibraltar Bus Company Limited on 6 April 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1203 and 1204 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Is that a time frame that any other operator wishing to transfer licences is to expect in respect of transfers?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, when it requires a transition from an old operator to a new operator, without any interruption in the service, and that the old operator has got to continue to be the holder of a licence until the last minute that he provides the service and the new operator has got to be in possession of a new licence as from the first moment that it provides the service. The answer is yes, provided those are the facts and circumstances.

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am advised that in respect of October 1996 and October 1997 the information is not available because of the way the Surveys were compiled at that time, but in respect of the subsequent years, the appropriate tables have been created for the hon Member showing the breakdown that he has requested. I should also perhaps point out to him that there is not a joint venture companies breakdown because he would first have to define what he understands by joint venture company, since it is not actually a categorisation used and it is not automatically evident from the Employment Survey records, but it may be possible to provide him with the information if he will give us an indication of what he regards by the phrase 'joint venture companies' of which actually there are not any. Except in the strict sense of the word the only jointventure companies are the Gibtelecom and Lyonnaise.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1205 TO 1211 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In fact the breakdown that the question seeks is the same breakdown that is asked in the distribution of tax payable on the PAYE, so effectively I would have expected, although I know it is different departments, but whatever classification the Tax Office uses would be the one that I would be seeking to see how the earnings compare with the tax yields that are provided by the Government in answer to the other question.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will ask the department to apply that definition and see if they can get that breakdown for him.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am grateful for the information provided.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I take it it may be possible to have it before we have the budget debate, will it?

Can Government confirm that Community Officers employed by Community Care Ltd are shown as part of the private sector in the Employment Survey Report and if so, can they state in which industrial sector they are included?

COMMUNITY CARE LTD

Can Government state in respect of which year's Employment Survey Report, Community Officers employed by Community Care Ltd, were first shown as being in part-time instead of full-time employment?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I can confirm that Gibraltar Community Care Limited is included for the purposes of the Employment Survey under the private sector and the "Real Estate and Other Business Activities" industry group.

Community Officers employed by the Gibraltar Community Care Limited were re-classified as part-time employees in the October 1998 Employment Survey Report. These officers had been included as part-time employees by the Statistics Office since the start of the Company, up to and including the April 1992 Employment Survey. During the period October 1992 to April 1998, when data input for the Surveys was carried out at the Income Tax Office from the PAYE returns submitted by employers, these officers were then shown as being in full-time employment.

With effect from October 1998 the Survey reverted to a questionnaire basis and has been prepared by the Statistics Office from the information received from all known employers. With effect from this Survey the employment status of Community Officers has been shown as part-time.

EMPLOYMENT SURVEY REPORT

Further to the answer to Question 285/2004, can Government confirm whether the Europa Incinerator Company Limited and the Regulatory Authority were included as private sector in the 2001 and 2002 Employment Survey Report, and if so, state the number of employees and the industry classification?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Gibraltar Regulatory Authority was included under the private sector and the Public Administration and Defence Industry in the 2001 and 2002 Employment Survey Reports. The number of employees as shown in the questionnaires completed by employers cannot be published under the provisions of the Statistics Ordinance. However, in the case of the Authority, this information is available on their website and as such, I can inform the House that their 2001 return included five employees, and their 2002 return included seven employees. The Europa Incinerator Company Limited did not exist, as such, at the time of these two Surveys. This was a company that the Government formed in order to provide transitory employment to people who were then in the employ of another company called Onyx Gibraltar Limited.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1216 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Should I then ask is Onyx included in the private sector?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

He can do. Well, I am very happy to prompt the hon Member's supplementary questions. Yes, that company was included in the private sector electricity and water supply. The company had 16 employees in 2001 and also in 2002.

CONSTRUCTIVE DISMISSAL

Will the Government , in the light of the statements made by the Chief Minister in respect of the Employment (Amendment) Ordinance 2004 (Bill No 3 of 2004), confirm what consultation it has undertaken in respect of the potential implementation in Gibraltar of the provisions on Constructive Dismissal?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1218 of 2004.

NO 1218 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

CONSTRUCTIVE DISMISSAL

Have Government now taken a decision on whether or not they will be presenting a Bill to this House for the implementation in Gibraltar of those provisions of United Kingdom legislation which provide for the principle of "constructive dismissal"?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

As I previously said would happen, a consultation paper was indeed drawn up and it was tabled to the Labour Advisory Board, which met on 22nd April. The Government are now considering the views expressed by the various parties represented on the Labour Advisory Board, and he will be presumably as surprised as I was that on both sides of the fence there were divisions, as between the players on each side of the fence. I should say, that the Government's instinct is to amend the legislation, we are just considering for example one of the Unions represented agreed in principle but said he would like further time in order to fully consider their views. So the Government's position is not that we will only act if there is consensus, a consultation process is a consultation process, it is not the determining factor. The Government's instinct is that there should be full rights of constructive dismissal as requested by the Transport and General Workers Union in their pre-election material, and as to when the legislation will come through I cannot tell him but I would certainly expect it to be this year if the Government decide to proceed.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1217 AND 1218 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

I am grateful for that answer and for the statement as to what the Government's instinct is, even if the consultation process does not produce an overwhelming suggestion from the Labour Advisory Board that that should be the case, but can I ask him to keep under very active consideration how soon this legislation comes into the House, because even though he has already told me that it is going to come this year, he will understand that there are people presently in employment who may be in a fix as to how they should act, whether they should resign themselves literally to the prospect of having been done out of a job by an employer who is not going to terminate them. Therefore, as it is almost exclusively in his gift to decide when the legislation is to come, that it should come sooner rather than later, but generally, I welcome the statement made by the Chief Minister.

GIBRALTAR CHRONICLE

What is the latest position in the negotiations between the Government and the Gibraltar Chronicle Limited?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

There have been no substantial developments in the negotiations since the matter was last raised by the hon Member in this House. A recently retired Government officer, the previous Commercial Director, when he retired from the Service, has been taken on in some consultancy capacity by the Chronicle to advise them, or to help them on their side of the investigative fence. It is entirely their matter, and I know that there is on my desk some papers but there has been no progress in the negotiations themselves. In other words, nothing has been agreed or consolidated, nor have there been any developments since the last time we discussed this matter.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1219 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I think the last time, which was some time ago, the indication was that the Government felt that the Chronicle side had not come back with a positive answer or accepting the criteria the Government want, but I think that is where it was last left which was quite some time ago. Has there been any move from that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think that that is precisely what this retired officer is helping them with. In other words, putting together a modus operandi and indeed an incomes plan, a salaries structure that would comply with the Government's criteria for sanitisation and working practices and that sort of thing.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Has any payment actually been made to the Chronicle in any of this period where the thing has been under discussion between the two sides?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I honestly do not recall, I do not think so. I remember that some time ago we gave them an advance in relation to some consultancy fees or professional fees of some sort. No, I am almost certain that the answer is, certainly not since we last discussed this in the House but if I am wrong I will come back to him.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I think in answer to a previous question the Government said that what they had actually paid for was the original study carried out by somebody that was brought in, and I think that the hon Member said that the person who actually did the study had been selected by the Chronicle but that the Government had actually given them a grant to pay for it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There may have been, I just say it in order to cover my back. There may have been, although I am not suggesting that there has been, there may have been a payment in relation to legal fees.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

ROYAL GIBRALTAR POLICE ASSOCIATION

Can Government state what are the terms of the settlement reached with the Royal Gibraltar Police Association in respect of their outstanding claims?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The outstanding claim from the Royal Gibraltar Police Association related to the application of the rules for overtime payments on rest days and public holidays, which gave rise to underpayments and this has been settled with retrospective effect to 1st September 1994. Outstanding payments to both serving and retired officers will be effected as follows:-

- Officers that are due less than £500 will be paid in full in July this year.
- Officers that are due between £500 and £1,000 will be paid in two equal instalments in July 2004 and July 2005.
- Officers that are due more than £1,000 will be paid in three equal instalments in July 2004, July 2005 and July 2006.
- I am assuming that the hon Member knows what the nature of the claim was and how it arose, but am happy to fill him in if he wants to.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1220 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Perhaps what the Chief Minister can confirm is, I would be grateful for the details because all I know is that it has something to do with whether the overtime was calculated properly in relation to the analogue in the UK or not, and the argument that I have heard is that it had been miscalculated and that therefore it was an underpayment because somebody had made a mistake in the Treasury.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it is not a question of mistake and miscalculation, it is a question of the parties signing pay settlement agreements in ignorance, both of them, of a particular feature in the UK pay award which had changed in 1994. The rule in question is that in 1994, I think it was September 1994, the rules changed in the UK so that officers were entitled to be paid overtime hours at a higher rate than usual, if they were not given a certain number of days notice of the requirement to work overtime, and no one had appreciated that that situation had changed in the UK. So, of course, our officers who are analogued to those conditions, had been doing overtime without the necessary notice and had the analogue been properly in place, they would have been entitled to overtime, which they were paid, but at a higher rate under this new agreement. Now the Government's position was that the Government do not normally agree to re-open signed pay agreements, but we agreed to do it in this case in recognition of the fact that uniquely amongst workers in Gibraltar, police officers are not entitled to belong to a Trade Union and therefore do not have full-time, professional Union officials to research these things for them. Had this been another Union the Government would not have agreed to re-open, a deal is a deal and parties are assumed to be advised as to what their rights are in a negotiation, but in recognition of the fact that these workers do not by law have the right to belong to a trade union, and therefore it is a do-it-yourself, it is one of them who does it in his spare time, the Government did not think that it was equitable to hold them to a deal that they had done in ignorance of facts, of which incidentally the Government were ignorant too.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the provision that we have to debate in the budget, did the agreement come too late for that to be reflected in those estimates?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I believe so, and I believe it is going to be dealt with through the supplementary pay review. I believe it is reflected in the emoluments head of the Police Department.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of on-going costs, from the nature of the explanation we have been given, obviously there is the option there of giving people enough notice in future.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, this was corrected as soon as we discovered it in 2001. So the settlement is between 1994 and 2001. It was corrected in 2001 but of course the hon Member's remarks still applies. They can manage their budget and pay at the lower rate by giving notice, which is possible when one has pre-planned events, ceremonial events but it is very difficult for the Police because a lot of the overtime is when people report ill and that sort of thing.

MOTOR VEHICLE LICENSING DEPARTMENT

Can Government state whether the industrial dispute with the Driver and Vehicle Examiners at the Motor Vehicle Licensing Department has now been resolved?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The staff to which he refers have submitted a claim which Government do not believe to be reasonable or justified and it has therefore not been met. Pursuant to that claim, the effective staff members are declining to carry out certain responsibilities that they have been carrying out in the past. The Government will shortly decide what action to take in this respect.

GIBTEL/NYNEX

Can Government state what is the latest position regarding the complaints, roaming and numbering, filed with the European Commission by Gibtel and GNC in 1996?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

There has been no change in the complaints and litigation process since the hon Member last raised this matter in the House. Gibtel have initiated proceedings in the roaming case, court proceedings.

THE HON L A RANDALL

FINES ON FOREIGN REGISTERED VEHICLES

Can Government state what they propose to do to improve on collection rate of the fines imposed on foreign registered vehicles?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Government have no plans at present in this respect. The only possible improvement is to introduce a system of fines payable on the spot which Government are not presently contemplating.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1224 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Do Government not agree that it is unfair to impose a fine of £100 for parking in a bus stop and allow 90 per cent of the fines imposed on foreign registered vehicles to go unpaid?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The situation that the hon Member describes in his supplementary applies and has always applied to fines regardless of the fine involved. It has always been the position.

HON L A RANDALL:

Is it not true that the fine has been raised to level 2, that it was less than £100 before?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is what I have said to him, it is true that the fine has been increased for certain offences related to bus stops to £100. That applies equally to residents and non-residents. The extent to which residents are less able to get away with not paying the fine than non-residents, is the case whether the fine is for £100 or £25, as has always been the case for all fixed penalty notices related to motoring offences. It does not arise because of this particular £100 situation that he describes.

HON L A RANDALL:

Will the Government therefore not consider introducing the same policy as they said yesterday for unfair trading, namely reciprocity?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, as I said in my answer, the Government are not presently contemplating this. There are issues of wider economic policy to take into consideration. Who are the foreign motorists that come to Gibraltar? What do they do when they come here? What do they come here for? Do we want to encourage or discourage? Do we want to be more or less aggressive with them than we are at the moment? These are wider issues than the simple management of traffic fines. It is a matter of judgement, but no Government in the past has ever thought it appropriate to impose an on-the-spot system of fining. It has always been the case in Spain that certain types of fines are payable on-the-spot, with very severe consequences if one does not. I understand that one gets ejected from ones car and things of the sort. It has never been the policy of successive Gibraltar Governments to replicate that very un-Anglo-Saxon principle of summary justice and the Government are not contemplating to do it now. We do not think that the principle has changed because one fine for one type of offence has risen from £25 to £100. The principles do not change and therefore we can debate the issue by reference to the principles, but it has nothing to do with the bus stops and the £100.

MERCOMED

Has Mercomed (Gibraltar and Los Barrios) SA now been incorporated in Spain?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The joint venture agreement has not yet been concluded. The Directors of Mercomed (Gibraltar and Los Barrios) Limited are myself and the Mayor of Los Barrios. Two other Directors and a Secretary have yet to be appointed.

The Directors of Mercomed (Gibraltar and Los Barrios) SA are myself, the Mayor of Los Barrios, the Deputy Mayor of Los Barrios, the Commercial Director of something called Iniciativas Los Barrios, which I understand is their equivalent of our Gibraltar Development Corporation and the Secretary has yet to be appointed.

The incorporation of Mercomed (Gibraltar and Los Barrios) SA has not been concluded.

In short, the position is very much as it was when he last asked the questions.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1225 TO 1227 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I think, I do not know, I am not sure whether we had yourself and the Mayor as Directors at that particular juncture, but is it the policy of the Government that there should be an equal number of directors and shareholders. That the shareholding should be equal between the two sides in both companies, and the number of directors should be equal in both companies?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

This has been covered in the draft agreement and I cannot quite remember what it was, but my understanding of it is that we would have more directors in the Gibraltar company, they would have more directors in the Spanish company and there would be an equal number of directors in the EEIG when the two companies come together to form a European interest grouping.

- (a) official travel;
- (b) invited guests;
- (c) political?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The breakdown of the sum in question is as follows:

|     |                                                   |            |

NO 1237 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

EUROPEAN ELECTIONS

How many persons had registered to vote for elections to the European Parliament as on 27 February 2004, giving a breakdown showing the numbers who are:

- (a) British/Gibraltarian;
- (b) EU Nationals;
- (c) Commonwealth Citizens (who are not British/Gibraltarian)?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

As is now known, the Register was published on Tuesday 27 April 2004. I should start perhaps by saying, that this is not a Government activity as such, any of this. The Government are not strictly accountable in this House but I am happy to provide the information that the local Returning Officer has made available to me for answering the question. The Register was published on Tuesday 27 April and a copy of the "Full Register" as provided for in section 48 of the European Parliamentary Elections Ordinance 2004, will be made available to the British Library and the John Mackintosh Hall Library. It may have already been done, I cannot say.

There is no provision in the Ordinance for an "Edited Register" to be made available.

As at 19 April 2004, no requests had been made by any entity or individual for a full copy of the European Register or the edited version of the European election register. The cost, as at 31 March 2004, of the European election office is as follows:

|                         | £     | £      |
|-------------------------|-------|--------|
| Staff Remuneration      |       | 9,725  |
| Advertisements          | 6,193 |        |
| Stationery              | 2,201 |        |
| Mailing Machine Service | 1,877 |        |
| Equipment               | 1,710 |        |
| Telephone               | 1,131 |        |
| Security                | 462   |        |
| Miscellaneous           | 438   |        |
|                         | <hr/> | <hr/>  |
|                         |       | 14,012 |
|                         |       | <hr/>  |
|                         |       | 23,737 |

The remainder of the information as to the number of persons added to the Register after 27 February, with a breakdown of nationality, the total number of persons on the European election register to date, with a breakdown by nationality. The number of persons that had registered to vote for elections to the European Parliament as on 27 February, itself with a breakdown by nationality, is not readily available and is unobtainable without considerable administrative effort and cost. The computer system was not programmed to provide the information on this basis, but I see that the Electoral Officer has now published the final figures of the breakdown, the total number of people on the Register and how many of them were British/Gibraltarian, EU Nationals and Commonwealth Citizens.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1231 TO 1237 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does the Chief Minister have those figures available for the purposes of Hansard? The final figures on the register which have now been published.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the information is a matter of public record and it is not Government information. It is Electoral Registration Officer information. It is not really for me to place it in Hansard.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Were any records kept as to how many people had registered by 27 February or not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot say, but it appears from the fact that the Registration Officer cannot give it, that there cannot have been. If it had been kept, he would not have told me that it cannot be made available.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I understand what the Chief Minister saying but If I recall correctly, there was a date on the registration form which was sent to all households in Gibraltar, that date was 27 February and it was subsequent to that, based on the returns that had been received that they decided to go round house to house and collect the information from those who had not returned the forms. So there must have been some kind of list, so they knew where to go and who had already returned it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I do not know whether that is how it was done, but in any case, the hon Member is perfectly free to contact the Registration Officer directly and put this information to him. The whole process of organising these Elections is not a Government function, it is an independent function.

PROVISION OF EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT (DISQUALIFICATION) (UK AND GIBRALTAR) ORDER

Can Government confirm whether consultations were held with the UK Government on the provisions of the European Parliament (Disqualification) (UK and Gibraltar) Order, and if so, when and with whom?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

There was no meaningful consultation as to the content of that particular piece of UK legislation.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1238 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Are the Government aware of the reply given by the Minister in the UK when the Disqualification Order was discussed and a Member of the House of Commons wanted to know to what degree Gibraltar had been consulted?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I am not. What I can tell him is what the position is from our point of view. I can tell him that whereas in respect of the other bits of legislation that we debated at length when we were taking the Order, well we did not debate at length but we referred to at length or frequently, when we were debating our local piece of legislation. This is one of the areas where they would not let us legislate on locally, but the substance, the text of this particular legislation I am told by the LSU came through as a fait accompli a couple of days before it was promulgated, with the somewhat disingenuous question, 'do you have any comments?', as if we were still in time to influence the content. This is why I have said in my answer that there has not been any meaningful consultation, because it was sent through with that question, at a time when it could not possibly have given us an opportunity to influence its content. Thitherto, this was one of the items that we wanted to include in our local legislation. So when we had that debate, this was on our list and they did not agree.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Particularly I think in the light of that final bit of information, I think the House in the UK was misled by the Minister who said that we were quite content here to go along with this, and it is quite obvious that it would have been the preference of this House to do it the way the Chief Minister says he tried to persuade the United Kingdom that we should be able to do it, and that is not the impression they have been given in the House of Commons when they were looking in Committee Stage at approving this Order, I can tell him. The impression was quite the contrary, that the parties consulted had gone happily along with it as it was being done.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The information that I have given to him in this House is the information provided to me by the Legislation Support Unit, that have been involved. It has not even come up to me, there was not even time to put it up to me in the timescale, unlike all the other legislation where I have been intimately involved in the toing and froing between Gibraltar and the UK as to content. This is in a different category.

DATA PROTECTION ORDINANCE

Can Government say as from what date are local businesses or affected parties expected to comply in full with the Data Protection Ordinance?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

As I informed the House during the debate on the Bill (as it then was), the transitional implementation provisions of this directive are set out in Article 32 of the Directive. Government intend to use the time available to give a reasonable and proper opportunity to data controllers affected by the Ordinance, to understand its provisions and prepare for compliance. This is quite an onerous burden. To achieve it Government are preparing an explanatory paper for businesses, especially small businesses, and will also consider the organisation of seminars. These are not yet ready. I cannot give the hon Member a date, although Government are also mindful of the desirability of extending the Ordinance's protection to data subjects.

What was the number of visas issued in British Consular offices in Morocco for non-EU nationals wishing to travel to Gibraltar, on a monthly basis, since January 2004 inclusive?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The total number of visas for Gibraltar issued in Morocco since 1 January 2004 up to and including 16 April 2004, on a monthly basis is as follows:-

|                                                |   |     |

POLICE AND CRIMINAL EVIDENCE ACT 1984

Will the Government, in the light of the answer given to question 424 of 2004, confirm what consultation it has undertaken in respect of the potential implementation of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984 in Gibraltar in whole or in part?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

At present the situation is that a working party, chaired by the Attorney General and with representation on it from the Bar, the Police and the Government, is doing its work. That working group is almost at the end of its task and is due very shortly to submit its recommendations to the Government. The consultation process would follow that.

EXTERNAL FRONTIERS REGULATION

Have Government now received a substantive reply to the letter sent to the Foreign and Commonwealth Office on 22 December 2003 seeking clarification from HMG regarding Spain's objection in November to Gibraltar's participation in a future External Frontiers Regulation?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Yes Sir. The Regulation to which the hon Member refers is a regulation establishing a European Borders Agency. The UK and Ireland have opted, or tried to opt perhaps is a better word, have opted to participate but the EU has decided that they are not entitled to do so while they remain outside the Schengen borders measures, since this Regulation builds on them. It is now proposed that the UK and Ireland do not form part of the Agency but simply sit in as observers. Spain objects to even that arrangement covering Gibraltar. We have made clear to HMG the importance, given that it is an external borders measure, we have made clear to HMG the importance of Gibraltar being included in whatever degree/manner the United Kingdom participates, whether it is as an observer or whatever. The matter is currently under discussion by the UK in the Justice and Home Affairs Council.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1242 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the implication of Spain's objection that the United Kingdom would not be able to take a seat as an observer if they continue to maintain this issue? Is it something that requires the unanimity of the rest?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, the latest text of the Regulation under discussion, contains an article which I think is 10 bis dealing with co-operation with Ireland and the UK, given that their attempt to actually subscribe to it lock, stock and barrel was turned down, and article 10 bis reads '(1) The Agency shall facilitate operational co-operation of the Member State with Ireland and the United Kingdom in matters covered by its activities and to the extent required for the fulfilment of its task set out in article 2(1). (2) Support to be provided by the Agency pursuant to article 2(1)(f) shall cover the organisation of joint return operations of Member States in which Ireland or the UK or both also participate.' So in other words, they do not participate, they cannot sign up to the Regulation because they have been turned down, they have observer status at the meetings of the Agency, but there is a clause in the Regulation itself permitting co-operation with Ireland and the UK who are not participants. If they were participants they would not need to meet this co-operation clause. Our position is that that clause has got to extend to Gibraltar because it is easy to see what will otherwise happen. This will be the equivalent of the second air liberalisation directive where if there is some sort of Gibraltar language, it will be a precedent, and it will be a precedent all the way up to the actual external.... so we have made it perfectly clear in writing to the United Kingdom what is the importance of Gibraltar not being excluded from any of these arrangements and what the policy consequences will be of that, and it has been clearly spelt out to them that, of course, the document itself does not contain anything which is Gibraltar excluding. I have read to him the clauses UK would normally be deemed to include Gibraltar, but of course the danger is, and I think that this is what Spain was proposing, is that Spain may enter reservations language in the minutes or somewhere to the effect that well, this will not apply as between Spain and Gibraltar, for example, because it is not language, Spain would not need to be excluding language. They would simply have to be excluding Gibraltar from the ambit of the co-operation clause. What we have said to the United Kingdom is that it is not enough for the UK to say we do not accept the language in the minute. In other words, enter a counter reservation, because of course if the UK goes along with this in practice, that is where the damage comes. The fact that they enter a counter reservation, well we do not agree with Spain's counter reservation, is simple words if in practice Gibraltar is excluded from the ambit of the co-operation clause. Of course, in due course if the United Kingdom subscribes to the Schengen Chapters on borders, the UK will then be signing this Regulation in full. Of course it can only join the Regulation as it then stands. Spain would then say 'ah, the regulation does not apply to Gibraltar because remember you conceded the ground to me back in May 2004, when you accepted the....'. The United Kingdom's position on the matter, the position as set out in letters to the Government, is that because this is a Schengen matter we are entitled for its application to us automatically. That is what they are saying to it. Well, automatically once the UK subscribes to it. In other words, that this is an area where there is no scope for exclusion, in other words one is entitled to participate as a matter of right, but that as now they are only observers and they do not have the vote, we have said look that does not stack up. I mean, either UK participates in it with Gibraltar's inclusion or UK participates in it with Gibraltar's exclusion, and that is where the latter would be terribly damaging and that is where the matter presently rests.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the text that the Chief Minister is quoting from, is that a draft at this stage which still has to go through some negotiation or approval, or is that the final thing?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, it is still in draft, it has not yet been approved but it is regarded as more or less settled draft. In other words, the issue for us is not the language of this, the issue for us is things that might be inserted in the minutes, or declaration or minute statements, things of that sort. There is nothing damaging to us in the language of the draft regulation.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it possible for the Government to provide a copy of that, or is it readily available on the internet or something?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will check. This copy has been sent to us by the Foreign Office. Obviously if it is available on the internet there is no reason why I should not give it to him, but I just need to check, that it has reached that stage of publicity.

EU – REGIONAL SELECTIVITY

Can Government explain what they and the UK Government have done so far to intervene in the case on Regional Selectivity before the European Court of Justice involving the Azores and Portugal?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am informed that at our request the United Kingdom Government have now intervened in that case. Yes, they have a period of time that they did it and they were pressed to do it and they agreed to do it. The Gibraltar Government's own application to the Court for leave for it to intervene, has been turned down by the Court on the grounds that we do not have sufficient interest as a party in the facts of that case. Of course this situation does not arise in the case of the United Kingdom, because under the rules of procedure of the European Court, Member States are always entitled to intervene in all cases as a matter of right, whereas other parties have to establish a sufficient interest. If I could just add, that is why we urged the UK to intervene at the outset, because we feared that this would happen, we were advised that there was a real possibility of this happening and we did not want our situation to be represented together before the Court.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1243 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that in fact the Chief Minister brought this to the attention of the House in last year's budget, can he say what it is that has actually happened in the last 12 months? I mean, as regards the progress of that case.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot remember where the matter stood at that time and therefore what it is that he already knows. I think that the Advocate General has now issued an opinion, I think but let me check with Michael Llamas on that and I will come back to that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can he say when in fact the Government were informed that their application had been turned down by the Court on the grounds that they did not have sufficient interest?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot tell him the date but it was more than several weeks ago, several weeks, two or three months, perhaps around Christmas, New Year, January. Let me just say I do not recollect what it is that we discussed at the budget time but the Government's desire to intervene in this case was to make sure that the Court had not, in an ill-informed way, had made any jurisprudence that would affect our case when our case subsequently came. In other words we wanted to make sure that the Court limited itself to the facts in Azores and not make any general law without us being there to argue that subsequently have impacted on us.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I believe that is in fact the explanation that was given last year at budget time, that it was for that purpose.

GIBRALTAR REGULATORY AUTHORITY

How many persons applied for the vacancy for Regulatory Officer in the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority which was advertised on 3 March?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Gibraltar Regulatory Authority is statutorily independent of the Government. Given its functions, particularly under EU directives that require such independence, the Government would not wish to answer in this House for the GRA in a way that might lead others to believe that such independence is less than it should be. The hon Member should seek that information directly from the GRA.

NO 1245 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

EU – AIRLINE OVERBOOKING COMPENSATION

On what date did the Government last make representations to the United Kingdom for the inclusion of Gibraltar in the EU airline overbooking compensation measures, what was the nature of the representations made and what was the reply from the United Kingdom?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

As I have previously stated in this House, on 20 March 2002 the Gibraltar Government were notified that the UK had reached an understanding with Spain on the application of EU aviation measures to Gibraltar. The understanding is that the UK will accept a suspension clause if the Commission, when asked by Spain and the UK jointly, indicates that the relevant EU measure places obligations on airports.

On 8 May 2002, the European Commission Aviation Working Group considered the proposal for a denied boarding compensation regulation. In accordance with the agreed formula, the suspension clause was requested by Spain and surprise, surprise, agreed by the UK.

As the Government have already stated publicly, they reject and condemn these arrangements as illegal and politically unacceptable.

Gibraltar is entitled, in our view, as of right, to participate in all aviation measures. The Government will consider taking legal action to contest these exclusions at the appropriate time, and at the appropriate time means if we can find a way around the procedural hurdles that the hon Members faced when they did the airport case.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1245 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Although no action has been commenced, has legal advice been taken on this subsequent issue?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Let me just tell the hon Member that the matter is under active management, in the terms of legal advice and seeking ways forward. The UK knows that this is an area in which we have every intention of litigating at the earliest opportunity.

NO 1246 OF 2004

THE HON S E LINARES

REPORTS

Can Government state what were the nature of each of the reports?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The question is nonsensical and incapable of being answered. It is clear from the plethora of repetitive questions before the House that hon Members value quantity over quality. That is a matter for them, but in stringing out a question into many separate questions in order to boost their total, hon Members should take care to ensure that each question stands by itself.

GOVERNMENT LOTTERY

Can Government state whether they propose to implement any changes to the structure of the lottery, and if so, what are the changes?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

Options with regard to the structure of the lottery are currently being considered by Government.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1247 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can the Minister give me a date by which the considerations will be concluded?

HON C BELTRAN:

No.

HON S E LINARES:

Did the Government not bring out a tender for the commissioning of the lottery which is going to last five years, to the company that is currently running it? Therefore, how can they change now the contract with the tender?

HON C BELTRAN:

The tender that the hon Member is referring to is to do with the administration of the lottery, but any changes that would become necessary would obviously be done in conjunction with the administrator.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is this the same study that has been going on for the last two or three years, or is it a new initiative?

HON C BELTRAN:

It is the same change with renewed vigour. The last change occurred in 1993 when the hon Member's party was in government and the lottery has had a volatility and problems since then. That is why this has become necessary.

HON J J BOSSANO:

It has been identified as something that has been necessary for a number of years. Mainly I think, because the fluctuations in whether the Government wins the lottery with the tickets it does not sell, dramatically alter the reliability of the estimates. I think that has been the main thing identified by the Auditor year after year. Is something being looked at in that context?

HON C BELTRAN:

That is one of the issues. Also the fact that since the change in 1993, to fortnightly draws and changing the price of the tickets, the number of returned tickets has dropped from 20 per cent to 32 per cent. That is unacceptable to the Government.

TRANSFER OF SENTENCED PERSONS

Can Government state which were the sections of the Schengen Acquis that Gibraltar had to comply with which required the Transfer of Sentenced Persons Ordinance 2002 to be brought to the House?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The 1983 Council of Europe Convention on the Transfer of Sentenced Persons was extended to Gibraltar on 1 May 1987. The Convention entered into force in respect of other Member States as follows:

|         |   |                 |             |   |                 |
|---------|---|-----------------|-------------|---|-----------------|
| Austria | - | 1 January 1987  | Italy       | - | 1 October 1989  |
| Belgium | - | 1 December 1990 | Luxembourg  | - | 1 February 1988 |
| Denmark | - | 1 May 1987      | Netherlands | - | 1 January 1988  |
| Finland | - | 1 May 1987      | Portugal    | - | 1 October 1993  |
| France  | - | 1 July 1985     | Spain       | - | 1 July 1985     |
| Germany | - | 1 February 1992 | Sweden      | - | 1 July 1985     |
| Greece  | - | 1 April 1988    | UK          | - | 1 August 1985   |
| Ireland | - | 1 November 1995 |             |   |                 |

The Convention was implemented in Gibraltar by the Transfer of Sentenced Persons Ordinance 2002, in accordance with our obligations under Article 67 to 69 of the Schengen implementing Convention.

Prior to 2002 we had no legislation covering the ground falling within the ambit of the 1983 Convention, even though it had been extended to us as long ago as May 1987.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1248 TO 1251 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the fact that it was extended to us something that created an obligation for us to have in place something to give effect to the terms of the Convention or not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, technically Gibraltar has extended to it in 1987 a Convention that requires it to be willing to do certain things. It should then have put into place local legislation authorising the courts and the Superintendent of Prisons to do those things. In fact it never happened. So we had an international obligation which Gibraltar had not legislated to comply with. It happens that under the Schengen implementing Convention this whole area of sentenced persons was included, and this is how it came to our attention that it had not been legislated for, because it was one of the things that we had to satisfy the EU we had done in order to gain access to the Schengen Convention. So the obligation arises primarily and initially from the extension of the Convention to us in 1987, and then it was repeated as an obligation as part of the Schengen implementing Convention accession provision.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact the answer to Question No. 1248 then is none, that there was nothing between 1987 and 2002.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Nothing whatsoever, no.

HON J J BOSSANO:

But in practice something was happening, was there not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No. We were able, even the receipt, this area is fraught with difficulty unless one has local legislation, because of course even if somebody offers to send one a prisoner, I remember there was a case of a Gibraltarian in prison in Portugal, even if we have that there has to be statutory authority for the incarceration of the person in Gibraltar. I mean the Superintendent of Prison cannot keep somebody locked up in the territory of Gibraltar just because they have been sentenced by a court in Portugal. Under the local law there has got to be a legitimisation of the withholding of liberty, whatever the phrase is, deprivation of liberty.

MOD – MANNING LEVELS

Can Government say whether MOD has any plans to reduce manpower levels below the figures provided for the 31 December 2003?

NO 1253 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

MOD – BUDGET FOR GIBRALTAR

Can Government say what is the approved MOD budget for Gibraltar for the current financial year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

No, the extent of the MOD's approved budget for Gibraltar for the current financial year is not a question that relates to the affairs of Government or to any issue for which the Government are accountable in this House. He should put his question to the MOD, which is what I would have to do. I would have to write to the MOD. In fact, last time he asked me this question there was some reluctance to give it to me and I had to sort of threaten to say that they were refusing to give it to me in the House. So I am reluctant to establish the practice whereby the Government has to go and beg for information in order to bring it to the House, when it is not Government business. He is as entitled to the information as I am directly from the MOD. The Government are not aware of any plans by MOD to reduce its manpower levels.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1252 AND 1253 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Would the Government expect to be informed by MOD of such plans if they existed?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Sometimes they bring things to our attention in advance and sometimes they do not. I would hope that they would, and I would most certainly expect if there was anything other than a minimal number of jobs involved, which might be the normal turnover staff, I would certainly hope and expect the MOD to give us maximum advance notice of any significant manning level reductions. I think in fairness to them, when they have been of that nature, they have in the past given us advance notice.

FINANCIAL SERVICES OMBUDSMAN

Will the Government, in the light of the answer given to question 446 of 2004, make a statement as to what progress if any they have made in respect of the establishment of a body with jurisdiction similar to that of the Financial Services Ombudsman in the UK (and elsewhere in the EU) to deal with complaints relating to licensees under the Financial Services Ordinance 1989 and 1998, and with the power to provide redress to complainants?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

When I read this question I had come to the conclusion that it was an opportunity for a statement by the hon Member rather than seeking information from the Government. To ask the Government the question it would have been enough to say 'what progress have the Government made in setting up a financial services ombudsman?'. The answer is, in any event, that there has been no substantial development since Question No. 446 of 2004 was answered. I understand, but I am not party to them myself, that there may have been discussion between the Financial Services Commissioner and the Finance Centre Director. So it is operating at that level at the moment. A specific legislative proposal has not come up to me as Minister.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1254 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

As I urged the Chief Minister in relation to PACE, it is in his gift to accelerate these things and I would ask him to consider doing so, given that there have been instances when, in the very recent past, in the past calendar year, the existence of such a body would have been of great assistance to investors, and we never know when again a large number of investors are going to require the assistance of a body such as a financial services ombudsman, or indeed a small number of investors would benefit from the existence in Gibraltar of such a body. I know it is something that the Chief Minister reacted if not warmly then positively to when I first put my question last time, so I would be very grateful if he could press the accelerator on this.

NO 1266 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

COMPANIES ORDINANCE

Will Government agree to review the provisions of the Companies Ordinance which relate to the companies trading whilst insolvent?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Under current legislation, if a company trades whilst insolvent, the directors are personally liable for the company's debts and obligations. The Government have not received any representations to the effect that this aspect of our legislation should be reviewed.

The Companies Ordinance has been undergoing a process of consolidation for very, very many months now as part of the general consolidation of laws process. This is now complete and the consolidated text is due to be published shortly.

Section 45A will be commenced in full also shortly.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1264 TO 1266 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

The Chief Minister will be aware that the provisions in the United Kingdom in relation to directors of companies trading whilst insolvent are much more onerous on those directors than they are in Gibraltar. That is why I raised the issue in this particular case, to protect others in the market who may find themselves dealing with such companies, but I am grateful for his indication that a consolidation of the Companies Ordinance is due soon. Can I ask him whether it is also to be issued to the general public in electronic form, and also how shortly he expects that section 45, which deals to get a little bit technical, with the whitewash procedures and which would be welcome, I think, across the board in the Finance Centre, is to be brought into effect? I note that it has been on the Statute book already for many years.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, actually it was amended, the reason why I said to the hon Member that it would be commenced in full, is that we currently have the somewhat curious situation whereby section 45 itself was never introduced, but the amendment of it, section 45 was first legislated in 1992 and for reasons we have never understood the previous administration never commenced it, and we spent some time trying to work out whether there was a reason for this or not. In fact, a new Ordinance was passed in 1999, amending that section 45A and the amending Ordinance was commenced but not the original section 45. So that is why I said in full. The amendments were commenced but not the Ordinance itself. I would expect this to happen in the next two or three weeks at the most. That is the sort of timescale. As to the electronic publication, in fact initially it will only be electronic because consolidated texts do not have the force of law until they have been fiatd by the Attorney General. That leaves a lot of these things stacked up, but of course there is nothing to stop the Government, which is what we are going to do, publishing it on the basis of Lexis. So long as people know that it is not a text that they can quote in court, because it has not yet got the force of law, it is still nevertheless very helpful, just like Lexis or one of these computer things. So initially, actually, it will only be published electronically and it will be published on paper when the consolidated version actually has the force of law.

HON F R PICARDO:

Both of those comments are very welcome.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1270 TO 1272 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just have clarification from the Chief Minister that the figures provided in relation to the answer to Question No. 1271 represent the cost in respect of the two officials from the Gibraltar Government travelling and not the third official who is with the Financial Services Commission?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am afraid I cannot. I do not know when they go on these Government trips, whether the Government pay for the FSC or whether they pay their own way. I suspect that the Government pays for them, but I do not know the answer to the question. As presented here, it is for the three persons and I have assumed that that meant that the Financial Services Commission Head of Insurance who is making a presentation, has his costs paid for him by the Government. I have assumed that when I read the answer.

HON F R PICARDO:

Not out of their budget.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Not out of their budget, no. They have no budget for marketing. Marketing is not in their statutory.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1288 TO 1293 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Government confirm that the source of the information is the number of open contracts registered with the ETB?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes it is.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of information that we have been given in the past, there is a tendency for the commencement to be registered straight away but sometimes a lack in the termination, although probably the insurance industry and the banking industry are better than other sectors of the private sector, but can he confirm that in fact if a termination comes in which refers to something that happened in a previous month, does the ETB register that in the month in which it receives the notice or in the month in which the termination actually took place, when it arrives late?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The de-registration can only be recorded on the date that the de-registration is notified, but I hope, I do not know the answer to the hon Member's question, but when it comes to the management of statistics in terms of how many people were employed in a given sector in a given month, I would hope that the information is on the first basis of his question. In other words, that the information is attributed to the period to which it relates rather than to the period in which it is notified.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So the figures come, in fact, updated on the basis of later information?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, and I think that we have had this in the past in the House when in answer to the same question, different answers are given, and the explanation has been that there has been in respect of that period a subsequent notification which caused the figure to be amended.

Can Government state whether it has received any further information from the Financial Services Commission, or any member thereof, in relation to the sale in Gibraltar of Traded Endowment Policies ("TEP's), which have occasioned serious loss to a large number of Gibraltarian investors, some of them having lost all their life's savings and only source of income by being induced to invest in a financial services product which was advertised as "guaranteeing" the capital invested?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

There has been no substantial change in so far as the Government are concerned, since the hon Member last raised the matter in the House.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1294 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

The last time that I raised the matter in the House, the Chief Minister told me that he was from time to time provided with information by the Financial Services Commission or by the Company involved itself. I asked him whether he would be able to share information with the investors and he told me that he could not commit himself to do that because that very much depended on the source of the information and whether that information was provided to him in confidence. In his answer is the Chief Minister telling me that he has received no further information or that the information that he has received he is unable to share with the investors?

The former.

Total: 1058

It has not been possible within the allocated time frame to provide the above information as at October 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001 and 2002.

However, statistics from late 2001 available to the Government states that there were "about 1,450 people directly employed by Qualifying Companies".

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1295 TO 1299 OF 2004

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member will see that the information has been provided in respect of March 2004 and there is a statement that it has not been possible, in the timescale available, to provide the information in respect of the earlier years.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Obviously the March 2004 has nothing to do with the returns made to compile the Employment Survey Reports, I take it. Or is it that we are talking that the March 2004 is the return for October 2003?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I do not think this is anything to do with the Employment Survey Reports, because the source is the Employment and Training Board.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see. Well, I think perhaps I can draw the attention of the Chief Minister that I am asking for October in each year, because what I assumed would be possible would be that knowing that there are 140 companies, the Statistics Office would be able to identify those companies and give me the figure for the 140 companies as reflected in the reports of the private sector of the Employment Surveys, that is why it says October in each year. I take it then that this is the information of the open contracts registered with the ETB?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Correct.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Does the Chief Minister have a figure as to the number of employers that are involved?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I do not.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Chief Minister say whether it would be possible, for example, to find out whether the Statistics Office could do such an exercise in respect of the Employment Survey that is currently being processed, the October 2003?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is physically possible, the Statistics Office can read out of the information as it comes in, of the returns as it comes in against a checklist of the 140 qualifying companies, identify the 140 that relates to the qualifying companies, tot them all up, it is mechanically possible but I do not think it is reasonable for the hon Member to expect that sort of administrative effort to be deployed. What I can do is ask the Statistics Office, because presumably they computerise much of this as it comes in, whether they can create a separate reporting category for qualifying companies, so that in future the information will just be available on the press of a button. I will ask them if that is viable in the context of the next Survey that they do, or at least of the Survey that they have not yet inputted, they have not yet input the current one and it is possible they might do that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Do the Government agree that in the light of the discontinuance of qualifying companies as a result of the last decision, it is important to know just how many jobs in the private sector are dependant on the existing qualifying companies?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, it is very important. Obviously we have an idea, I have an idea operationally on the ground which are the sensitive companies, the gaming companies, for example Bassadone, the one operating the four wheel drive vehicles, that sort of thing. This is one of the issues that we are very acutely aware of in the context of the transition to a new tax scheme. In other words, what is going to happen to these qualifying companies, and of course now that we have to abandon the qualifying company legislation, the Government are considering that, we will probably just grant them all exempt certificates and allow them to trade and alter that.

QUALIFYING COMPANIES

Can Government provide a list of the qualifying companies that have been added to or removed from the active company list previously provided as at 31 October 2001?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question No. 1300

There are currently around 84 Qualifying Companies trading according to the records of the Income Tax Department, out of a total of 122 active Qualifying Companies (according to our records). Qualifying Companies remain registered as active until such time as the company or its representative notifies us to the contrary. It is not possible for the Income Tax Department, within the limited time frame available, to provide the information requested in respect of the previous three years.

Answer to Question No. 1301

The last Qualifying Company was approved on 2nd April 2002. The total number of Qualifying Companies appearing on the register at that time was in the region of 146. This number included active and dormant companies, some of which were subsequently removed from the register.

Answer to Question No. 1302

I refer the hon Member to the answer given to Question No. 1300 of 2004.

Answer to Question No. 1303

The Qualifying Companies that have been added to or removed from the active list previously provided as at 31st October 2001 are as follows:

|                              |    |

| Qualifying Companies added   | 5  |
| Qualifying Companies removed | 29 |

HON J J BOSSANO:

The Government provided the list which I think had 147 names on it, on 31st October outside the House. Would they be able to provide us now with the added five and the removed 29, so that the list can be amended?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am surprised that the Government did that, there are provisions in the Income Tax Ordinance prohibiting it.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well, I do not think the Chief Minister is correct, because otherwise what he has just told us is incorrect. He said that the active list had nothing to do with the tax, because there are 84 people according to the tax and 122 according to the Government, and it is the active list and not the.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I suppose that we can give provisions from our own register of Qualifying Companies. There are, as he knows, provisions in the Income Tax Ordinance prohibiting the publication of tax affairs of individual tax payers. If the information was provided before, I do not suppose we can object to continuing to do so. I would not have agreed to do it.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I know, he was not in the House when it was agreed. We were lucky.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1310 TO 1320 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

The Chief Minister has rightly said that the Decision of the Commission does not relate to tax exempt certificates, because the Decision of the Commission relates to what we were to put in place of tax exempt certificates. He told the House in answer to Question No. 423 last time, that he had had some indication that he would not be pressed by the United Kingdom to stop the existing regime until the new regime had been put in place. Has he any further assurances in that respect, and is that what leads him to make a statement to the effect that we are able to continue issuing tax exempt certificates?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The subject matter touched on by the hon Member's last supplementary is at an extremely sensitive stage of management in relation to the Commission and the Government are not willing to make any statement publicly on the matter whatsoever.

HON F R PICARDO:

Will the Chief Minister brief the Opposition in respect of that, not publicly?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Not at this stage. I hope to be in a position to do so in the not too distant future but not right now.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Government confirm that the employment figures given are on the same basis as in the answer to the questions on the Qualifying Companies?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

What basis is the hon Member referring to?

HON J J BOSSANO:

The fact that they were open contracts with the ETB.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, Employment and Training Board source.

TAX REFORM PROPOSALS

Can Government state whether they are considering making an application to the European Court of Justice for interim measures in any proceedings the Government may issue in that Court in respect of the rejection by the EU Commission of the Governments tax reform proposals?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

For reasons which will be obvious to the hon Member, the Government will not reveal their tactics and strategy in the forthcoming litigation at this early stage in the process, but the Government hope to avoid the need for the measure that he has mentioned in his question.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1321 OF 2004

REFORM OF BUSINESS TAXATION

Have Government now received a reply from the United Kingdom Government on whether UK's submission to the European Commission in respect of the planned reform of business taxation in Gibraltar can be made available on a confidential basis to the Opposition?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

No, but I shall pursue it. This matter has fallen off my radar screen and I have just lost sight of it. I will pick up the thread and see where it is.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1322 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is it possible for the Government to supply us with a copy of their own submissions whilst we wait for them to make representations to the UK?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I would rather give them to him together if we are going to give them both, and only consider his latter request if the UK decline permission. All this area is beginning to enter very sensitive situations. I have no difficulty giving the Government's arguments to him confidentially, it would always have to be subject to that caveat, but I would prefer to give them both to him together and I would rather ask that he indulges me a bit longer on that, and I will come back to him as soon as possible in the next few days.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

INDEX OF RETAIL PRICES

Can Government state how rent levels from office and commercial premises are reflected in the Index of Retail Prices?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question No. 1325 of 2004

A complete review of the basis on which the Index of Retail Prices is calculated is only possible after the conduct of a Family Expenditure Survey. Such a survey is undertaken at times when it is believed that there have been significant changes to the pattern of consumers' expenditure. The present Index, which commenced in April 1998, is based on the weights obtained from the household expenditure patterns of 1995/1996.

Consideration is currently being given to carrying out a new Family Expenditure Survey. Notwithstanding this, the Statistics Office continues to up-date the range of goods and services that are priced as part of the Index of Retail Prices.

Answer to Question Nos. 1326 and 1327 of 2004

The Index of Retail Prices measures changes in the retail prices of goods and services available to households in Gibraltar. Increases in the rent levels of office and commercial premises therefore fall outside the parameters of the Index.

Residential rent levels form part of the "Rent" sub-group of the "Housing" group which itself is one of the eight main groups which comprise the Index. Rent levels are determined quarterly both from Government records and from information provided by Land Property Services Ltd. Any increases in rent levels are therefore reflected both in the Housing group and in the overall General Index of Retail Prices.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1325 TO 1327 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am of course aware that there is a survey undertaken of household expenditure and that it was done to construct the present base of the present Index, but perhaps the Chief Minister has forgotten that he said he was asking for a review to be carried out when he announced the 2 per cent minimum increase in Civil Service pensions, because he said he considered the Index was under-reflecting the rate of inflation. That is the review that I am talking about.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have not forgotten, that is why consideration is being given to carrying out a new Family Expenditure Survey.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see. So when the Chief Minister said a review is being carried out, what he meant was consideration is going to be given to carrying out a new Family Expenditure Survey and constructing a new Index, not that they were actually going to re-examine the existing one to see if there was any explanation as to why there appeared to be such a low level of increase over some of the months of the year.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Correct. The first line of the answer was a complete review of the basis on which the Index of Retail Prices was calculated is only possible, this according to the Statistics Office, after the contact. So I am advised that in order to even contemplate a possible re-structure of the Index, the starting point is a new Survey. That is where the matter lies.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact there will not be a review unless it is decided to have a new Survey. That is the answer, is it?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I would rather put it a different way. There will not be a review until there is an Expenditure Survey, rather than unless.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well, yes, obviously on the basis that at some time in the future there will be another one because there has always been one every sort of 10 or 20 years, but it is not that other than in the normal course of events something is being done because the Government had decided at the time they brought the legislation to make the pension increase 2 per cent minimum, that in fact there was a need to do this because the Index of Retail Prices was not adequately reflecting the level of inflation that was taking place. It is good that we have protected Civil Service pensions against inflation that may be higher than recorded, but surely it is not a good thing to continue to under-record it if the Government believe that is what is happening.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is why consideration is being given to a new Family Expenditure Survey, much sooner than would otherwise have come up for reconsideration.

Can Government state in respect of the companies referred to the Treasury for approval to commence legal proceedings to collect arrears of revenue, what was the amount owed by those companies for which approval for legal action was not granted giving a breakdown by financial year since 1996/1997?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

With the Unified Collection System, arrears are no longer passed to the Central Arrears Unit. The Central Arrears Unit has access to the departmental databases and monitors all arrears. Follow-up action is taken and repayment agreements are entered into as far as possible.

The number of repayment agreements managed by the Central Arrears Unit is currently 429, covering debts amounting to £10,014,699.74.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1333 AND 1335 TO 1337 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably the change that the Chief Minister is talking about has happened subsequent to the last audited published accounts of the Government, because at that stage the Auditor still talks about them being passed to the Central Arrears Unit, unless it is that the Auditor does not know of the new arrangements.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, one or other of those two must be right. Either the Principal Auditor is using inaccurate language, or it started after that Report.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see. Does he know which it is?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am just trying to remember when we introduced the unified collection system. It was on 1st January the year before.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The last accounts are the ones for the financial year 2001/2002, which were tabled in January this year. There it is still talking about passing it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think it is just after that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the Treasury granting or withholding approval, what is the answer to Question No. 1334? The criteria that the Treasury uses.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Sorry, this question has not been included in the batch that I am answering. Has it? I see, it has been read out but it was not supposed to have been included. It is 1335 and 1336 and 1337. This question was done for a separate answer. Question No. 1334 was down for a separate and individual answer.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well I have already asked it. Does the Chief Minister wish me to ask it again?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I am happy just to deal with it now. Except for final winding-up action, where Government approval is required in view of the wider economic considerations, follow-up action is taken by the Treasury as far as possible. In other words, they enter into the arrears agreement, they monitor and manage the arrears agreement, if there is a failure to honour the arrears agreement the next step is proceedings to wind-up the company, because there is a view, it sometimes works and sometimes does not, that when one publicly threatens a company with liquidation, that might act as a spur. Of course in some cases it does not and we find ourselves sort of on the court's steps so to speak. Then it comes to me actually so that I can see how many jobs are there and then at stake. If, as sometimes is the case, it reaches that stage in respect of a company that there are many jobs at stake, we make a further effort to explain the gravity of the situation. In other words, there is a further effort, not at political level in the sense of political with a capital 'p', but my office might get involved in making direct contact with the company to see if one final attempt cannot be made to save the company. Not to save the company but really to save the jobs. That is really the routine.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So, in fact, when the Principal Auditor talks about the Treasury withholding permission, it is not really the Treasury at all then.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the Treasury is not authorised to authorise the winding-up of companies when there are jobs at stake. That comes to No 6 Convent Place.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I understand that because he has just told me, but in fact the Principal Auditor in this year's Report and almost in every year's Report, constantly says that the effectiveness of the Central Arrears Unit is undermined because nobody takes them seriously, because when they try to take action against somebody that is not complying with what they have agreed to do in terms of payments, they request permission from the Treasury and the Treasury says no. Now, in fact what the Report says is in fact incorrect, the Treasury does not take the responsibility for deciding, it is referred to the Chief Minister's office and then depending on the impact on jobs, the answer is either yes or no.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I cannot say what happens before it gets to me, or what happens to cases that do not get to me. For example, I can tell the hon Member that recently in the last 10 days or so, I have seen a batch, all of which I have allowed through except one which involved a significant number of jobs, and that one has been subjected to the treatment that I have just described. So it is actually quite rare for them to come up to me and for the next step not to be allowed to go ahead. It has to be something with significant economic impact, five, six, seven, eight, ten jobs, that sort of thing. Most of them get approved, the bulk of them get approved, the vast majority of them get approved by my office when they come to us.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably by that stage most of them are either not doing very much or employing very little people.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is normally the case but from time to time, the odd one gets through where they resist, they resist, and they are still active, they are still trading and they are still employing, they are just not responding. Of course, it is a very careful balancing act that needs to be done, because whilst I am sure the hon Member would agree with me that it is worth going the extra mile to save the jobs, by the same token one has got to balance that with the need not to be unfair to competitors of that company who are paying their dues and who are competing with this company, paying their dues. So it is a tight-rope walk act and one does what one can but ultimately, if jobs have to go, jobs have to go because at the end of the day there is little point in retaining jobs in companies that are simply unviable. If they do not fail now they are going to fail at some further stage down the road. So really it is an attempt to see whether the company is salvageable, and if the company is salvageable then we exercise patience, if it is not then we might as well pull out the rug sooner rather than later.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I do not know whether we are in the process of answering Question No. 1335 or not, because I think that one was called out as well.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, Question No. 1335 has been covered.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I do not recall having been given the numbers referred in each year from 1st April to the Treasury for legal proceedings.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think that this is because there is no longer a referral. I think this is the point. The arrears are no longer passed, it all happens from within the Treasury. So the Treasury then makes the decision, or does not, to initiate proceedings. I think it is on that basis that the information has not been provided.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, but since I am asking from 1st April 1996 and the system has changed since the last Audited Accounts of 2002, then presumably the answer to the question should have been up to 2002, when the system stopped.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will try and find out that information and will provide him with as much information as can be provided. I do not have it here.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of some of the other questions, they are in fact the supplementaries that would follow if the questions had been answered. So perhaps whoever looks at this question can look at the ones as to what happened to those companies that actually were sent by the Central Arrears Unit to the Treasury, which in fact the Auditor mentions. I am trying to establish what has been the pattern until 2003, when obviously now that there is a new system in place, we will see if that shows up as something else happening from what was happening previously.

ORAL

NO 1338 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

CENTRAL ARREARS UNIT

Can Government state in respect of the companies referred to the Treasury for approval to commence legal proceedings to collect arrears of revenue, what was the amount owed by those companies for which approval for legal action was granted giving a breakdown by financial year since 1996/1997?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

No companies are referred to the Treasury for approval to commence legal proceedings. The Central Arrears Unit monitors all arrears due to Government, enters into repayment agreements where possible, issues reminders, statutory demands, summonses and initiates legal proceedings when this is deemed necessary. That is the basis upon which this question, whoever has drafted these answers has done it on the basis that there is not actually a referral process, but they have not then gone on to provide the information from within so to speak, regardless of referrals.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1338 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

All I can say is that I find it peculiar that there is no referral process. I think the Chief Minister originally was telling me that there is no longer one but that there was one before. I do not know whether, this answer seems to be drafted on the basis that there has never been one. Well, if there has never been one it is most peculiar that the Principal Auditor has audited the accounts all these years thinking there was one in place and nobody has disabused him of that idea, because he mentions it every year.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Not an illogical supplementary. I will try and get to the bottom of it for him.

NO 1339 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

CENTRAL ARREARS UNIT

Can Government explain why according to the Principal Auditor there is an apparent unwillingness on the part of the Treasury to take the final step and proceed to wind up companies with a poor payments record and very substantial debts to Government?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government do not agree that there is any such reluctance. However, before this decision is taken, Government engage such companies in dialogue to see what scope exists to obtain payments of arrears, keep up to date with current payments and thus save the jobs at stake.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1339 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact, what the Government are saying is that the Principal Auditor has perceived an apparent unwillingness on the part of the Treasury which (a) is non-existent, and (b) cannot exist because the Treasury have nothing to do with it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

In respect of the first part of the question that is the Treasury's view. In respect of the second part of the question, it is true that where there are jobs at stake, the final decision to press the button to take the final step to wind-up is not taken by the Treasury.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am not sure whether there is a distinction being made or not.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is not a distinction being made. I am just trying to put it in its correct form.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That is to say, I can understand that when there are jobs at stake that is something that is evaluated in terms of is it better to close it down, or is it better not to close it down. That I understand, but is it that the companies that get passed for approval to the Chief Minister's office are those where it is known that there are jobs at stake, and if it is known that there are no jobs at stake the Treasury can take the decision? Or is it that they all go and the Treasury decides on none of them? I am not very sure which of the two it is.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know the answer to that myself. I only see the ones that I see. Now, amongst the ones that I see, they come up to me in a standard form with information on it, name of company, amount due, period of time outstanding, how far down the process towards liquidation it is, whether there is an arrears agreement, are there arrears of that agreement, are they up to date with their current or not. One of the question is number of employees. Now sometimes I have seen some with none. So it is not that only the ones with employees come to me, but I cannot be sure that all of them are coming to me. I only become aware of the ones that come to me, but I can tell the hon Member that sometimes they come up to me with no employees revealed on the form.

NO 1340 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

CENTRAL ARREARS UNIT

Can Government state how many companies have been wound up in 2003 because of arrears of revenue owed to Government and can Government provide a breakdown of arrears in each case showing the amounts of PAYE, Social Insurance, general rates, company tax and other arrears?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Eleven companies were wound up during 2003. A full breakdown of arrears is not readily available. I can give the hon Member the arrears relating to corporation tax, Social Insurance and PAYE.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1340 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I note that quite a lot of them have got nil Social Insurance and PAYE, which is rather surprising. Is it that these companies would have been not trading for some time, because otherwise if they had been trading near the time of liquidation it is surprising that they should not have debts in that area?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

This is the information, how we interpret it is a matter for speculation. This is the amount of debt that was available at the time that the answer was drafted that could be put together. Yes, they are not necessarily trading companies although I recognise some that were. A company can have liability to corporation tax without having liability to PAYE. It may not have many employees.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I accept that, but given that presumably these people were on the list that he saw at some stage before this happened.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No this was before the event I think.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given the information he gave us earlier, that the trigger was that he saw this list, presumably he must have seen them on another list before they got to this list.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

What I am saying is, it would suggest that maybe they had actually stopped trading some time back and that the corporation tax could be quite old that they owed. Would that be?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, it suggests that amongst other possibilities. I just do not want to say 'yes what he is speculating is right', because I do not know, but it certainly suggests that as a possible explanation for this.

NO 1341 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

CENTRAL ARREARS UNIT

Can Government explain why by mid June 2002 no further action was being taken to collect arrears by the CAU from the company identified by the Principal Auditor which had failed to honour an arrears agreement signed on the 24 April 2001 and which by that date owed £139,176, excluding social insurance contributions?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I suspect the company is not the one which the hon Member suspects. It is not appropriate for Government to disclose the identity or other information in respect of individual companies. I am willing to give the name of the company to the hon Member privately. Publicly I am willing to tell him that it is a computer company.

The repayment agreement covered £141,000 and the first instalment that was paid was £1,500. Only £3,284 was recovered from the company.

Winding up action on the company was deferred by the Accountant General on receiving knowledge that the company had ceased trading and had no assets. Follow-up action commenced against the director personally for unpaid PAYE debts amounting to £66,000. £39,000 of Social Insurance contribution debt was included in the interim repayment agreement entered into with this company on 24th April 2001. The amount due by the company on June 2002 was £80,978, and on 11th April 2003, the date the company was wound up, it was £81,828. All contributions assessed amounting to £71,930 have been credited to the employees' Social Insurance records, except for the director of the company. The number of employees, all British, were as follows:

|                                                            |   |

The company ceased trading in early 2002. However, action did continue by the Central Arrears Unit and the company was finally wound up on 11th April 2003.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1328 TO 1332 AND 1341 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In not mentioning the name of the company, if the company has been wound up for failure to pay Government debts, does the name of the company not appear Gazetted in the winding-up?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, but the Government have not yet made a policy decision on any naming and shaming policy. It is one of the options under consideration and we think it would be unfair to subject this one to treatment to which we have not subjected other companies. Yes, he can go to the Gazette of April 2003 and see which was the company which was wound-up by the Accountant General. I am not asking him to do that, I am going to give him the name as soon as we step outside into the ante-room.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given the fact that the Principal Auditor actually mentions this company two years running in the Audited Accounts of the Government, can the Government explain how it is that the explanation that is given today was not provided to the Principal Auditor? Because reading the audited accounts, one gets the impression that the Principal Auditor is saying 'well look, nothing is being done to collect the money from this company and nothing is happening', and there is no indication in the 2002 Report that it was not still trading. It just says the Accountant General says do not do it, without any reason being given. I find it strange that the explanation which has been given here, which is obviously that there was no point in closing it down at that time because it was not trading anyway and had no assets anyway, was not provided to the Principal Auditor.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know whether it was or it was not, but in any case the flow of information and exchange of correspondence between the Accountant General and the Principal Auditor is a matter for them. We neither get to hear of the Principal Auditor's enquiries nor are we party to the formulation of any response. I cannot imagine that the Accountant General did not provide information which was available to him. It may be that the research was not done to provide him with the answer as it has been done to provide me with this answer. I would be surprised. I have not read, I cannot recollect the part of the Report to which he is replying, so I do not know whether the Principal Auditor uses language which makes clear that no explanation was given to him.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I can tell the Chief Minister that the language is the language that is reflected in the questions, which said that nothing was done, and nothing is still being done and the action that was being taken was stopped by the Accountant General. I appreciate that he is not directly involved in that because that is what I used to say to him when he used to ask me questions about what went on between the Principal Auditor and the Accountant General.

HON F R PICARDO:

Just for clarification, it may be that the Chief Minister does not have the information, but was it the same petition that was finally seen through to wind it up?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know, I assume so but I do not know.

CENTRAL ARREARS UNIT

Of the £4.2 million of arrears owed by companies where action was still pending by the CAU as at the 31 March 2002, can Government state the number of companies affected and in respect of how many of these action had been taken by 31 March 2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The £4.2 million of arrears referred to by the Principal Auditor is in respect of social insurance arrears as at 31 December 2002 and not 31 March 2002. Details of the number of companies is not readily available although follow-up action by the Central Arrears Unit in the form of the issue of reminders, statutory demands and summonses has been initiated on all amounts due. A breakdown in respect of the action taken by 31 March 2003 is not readily available. This more or less confirms what we had speculated might be the position earlier on. In other words, that they had been pursued but that they just cannot put together the information as to which action has been taken in respect of which company, in this sort of timescale.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1342 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The answer is that action has been taken in respect of all of them. Is that correct?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Some stage of the process has been initiated in respect of all the amounts due.

COMPANIES REGISTER

Can Government state how many of the 90 companies wound-up between May 1997 and March 2002 were trading when winding up proceedings were instituted and what was the total number of employees in these companies, giving a breakdown by nationality?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1344 of 2004.

NO 1344 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

COMPANIES REGISTER

Can Government list the 90 companies wound-up between May 1997 and March 2002 showing the amounts owed by each for PAYE and social insurance and in respect of each the number of employees such payments had been deducted from?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Frankly, as each of these have been wound-up and the fact of the winding-up has been Gazetted, presumably, I see no reason why the House should not have information in respect of them. Theoretically it ought to be possible for them to cobble this information together just by searching all the Gazettes. So, at least in so far as the name of the company, the winding-up date, the amount of PAYE and social insurance, which is the information that is on the schedule, that information has been passed to him. None of the 90 companies were trading at the time they were dissolved. It seems to me that there is a part of this question that is not being answered, and that is in respect of each, the number of employees such payments had been deducted. Unless the officials thought that the answer is nil because as none were trading they did not have any employees, but that is probably not what the hon Member is asking. He is asking in respect of the arrears how many employees were affected by the arrears. That actually would be a very difficult exercise. It would be possible but it would be a very difficult exercise going back. In any event, I understand the policy is to credit, except where the person is culpable I understand these things are credited.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1343 AND 1344 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In respect of the last point I imagine if they are credited it must be a provision that is in the Social Insurance Ordinance, or in the Regulations under the Ordinance, because there certainly does not appear a payment from the Government to the Insurance Fund in respect of insurance not collected. So it must be that the rights are preserved in some way.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I presume so, because there is no payment. That is certainly true.

NO 1345 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

CENTRAL ARREARS UNIT

Can Government state of the companies owing £4.2 million at the 31 March 2002 in respect of which action by the Central Arrears Unit was still pending how many were trading at the time and what was the number of employees in these companies, giving a breakdown by nationality?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am advised that this information is not readily available to the Central Arrears Unit.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1345 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

When action is pending by the Central Arrears Unit, which is what the Auditor's Report says, that is the people who have not got agreements, the people who are not paying and the people against whom action is not being taken, what exactly is it that is pending that is stopping anything being done?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

My interpretation of the answer is that there is an arrears situation and internally within the Treasury there is a system or a process by which they get tackled, but at that point and until they start tackling them and investigating them as part of that process, they do not have available to them information as to whether they are trading and the number of employees that they have, with breakdown by nationality. Obviously the Central Arrears Unit knows which are the companies and how much they owe, but that is not the essence of the question. The essence of the question is in respect of those companies, how many were trading and what were the number of employees of these companies, and the Central Arrears Unit is saying that they do not have that information, which I presume at some stage they must get, because by the time the paper reaches me, the paper which I described yesterday, it has that information on it. So that information must be compiled from various sources within the Government, as during the course of processing by the Central Arrears Unit. My interpretation of this answer is that whilst they are pending, in other words they have not been tackled yet, that information is not yet available to them. They start obtaining that information once they pick up the files so to speak, and start processing that particular company for its arrears.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that what I am quoting is the 2001/2002 Auditor's Report on the Government Accounts, is it that we are being told that of the companies that were pending on 31 March 2002, because I am not asking about the ones that are pending now, I am asking about the ones that were pending two years ago, that they are still pending and that nothing has happened in respect of these companies in the last two years?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot tell him the answer to that but it does not follow from the answer that I have given that that is the case, because of course if they have tackled some but not others, in order to answer the question they would have to go back to the £4.2 million as at March 2002, break it down into each constituent company and see which have been progressed and which have not been progressed. The fact that they are not in a position to give the information in relation to the companies that were pending at £4.2 million does not, as I read the situation, necessarily mean that none of them have been tackled, but I do not want him to misunderstand my answer. Nor am I in a position to tell him with the information that I have in front of me that any of them have been tackled. I just do not have that information here.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably, if some of them have been tackled it would not be all that difficult for the Treasury or the Central Arrears Unit to know which they have tackled. The impression given by the Auditor's Report, when he looks at the procedure that is being followed, and it may no longer be the procedure that exists because I think when he answered the previous questions he said something else was now happening. This is a reference to the situation that existed where there were cases where agreements had been entered, there were cases where action was being taken and there were cases, as it were, in the in-tray waiting to be tackled. I have quoted the case in the in-tray in March 2002. If any had been taken out of that tray and put in the other one, I would not have thought it difficult to know which one it is. Therefore it might be that they might not have been able to give me, for the reasons he has given in respect of all of them, but I would have thought it would have been possible to give an answer in respect of those which have now been moved from the pending list.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It must be possible to give the information in respect of those that have been processed, and some must have been processed because the Central Arrears Unit has remained active throughout these years. This is their working progress so to speak, it is not as if they had been disbanded or anything, so it is hugely improbable, though I dare not commit myself, it is hugely improbable that they have not processed any of these since then, but I cannot now give him a breakdown. Presumably, in respect of the ones that have been dealt with since then, the information is available, but it has not been provided because it is not available in respect of the whole of the £4.2 million which is what the question asked.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

GIBRALTAR INDUSTRIAL CLEANERS PENSION FUND

Can Government state what was the balance in the Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners Pension Fund on the 31 March 2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners Ltd does not have its own pension fund.

A total of 36 employees of Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners Ltd are members of the Gibraltar Provident Trust (No. 1) Pension Scheme. The value of the combined pension fund moneys in respect of these employees, as at 31 March 2003, stood at £1,256,843.11.

In addition, 34 members of Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners Ltd employees have pension rights values, in respect of their previous service with the Government, held in a Gibraltar Savings Bank account earning interest at 8 per cent per annum. The total value of these pensions funds, as at 31 March 2003, stood at £389,023.95.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1346 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the No. 1 Pension Fund providing a pension for employees of any other company or is this the only one?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot answer that question with any certainty without notice, but I believe there may be one or two other ex-GSL type people on special terms. They were not the only members of this Fund when it was set up. Whether there are still any left in it I cannot tell him, but it was not set up just for them.

NO 1347 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

GIBRALTAR INDUSTRIAL CLEANERS COMPANY LTD

Can Government say how many Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners Co Ltd employees have retired with a right to a pension, giving the year of retirement and what arrangements are in place for the payments of such pensions?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

A total of eight employees have retired with pension rights for their service in Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners Company Limited as follows:

|      |   |          |
|------|---|----------|
| 1997 | - | 1        |
| 1998 | - | 2        |
| 2000 | - | 1        |
| 2002 | - | 1        |
| 2003 | - | 3 |
|      |   | 8 |

Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners Company Limited employees are covered by the Gibraltar Provident Fund (No. 1) defined contribution pension scheme. Under this scheme, employees are entitled to receive up to 25 per cent of their accumulated fund as a tax-free gratuity, and to the purchase of an annuity with the remaining 75 per cent, or in certain cases (depending on the size of the accumulated fund) an employee may receive the full accumulated fund in cash. Interest on the accumulated fund attracts interest at 8 per cent per annum from the Gibraltar Savings Bank.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1347 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The arrangements that are in place for the payment of the annuity, has that actually been triggered in respect of any of these eight employees, beginning with the one that started in 1997?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Does the hon Member mean the new arrangements that we are about to make or the historical arrangements?

HON J J BOSSANO:

The ones that were in existence. Have any of these pensioners since 1997 been able to buy an annuity?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes. It has only become difficult, now I believe impossible, to buy an annuity in Gibraltar relatively recently in the last year or so, when the last of the UK insurance companies that used to sell annuities to people resident in Gibraltar pulled out on the basis that they were re-trenching to their domestic market in the UK only for annuities. That is why the Government have now arranged for the Gibraltar Savings Bank to become a pensions annuity provider. If the hon Member is intending to ask whether any of those eight employees purchased annuities with their retirement proceeds, the answer is yes. Three have purchased an annuity, one received the accumulated funds in cash and four are awaiting the purchase of an annuity when the Savings Bank publishes its rules, which is imminent.

GIBRALTAR INDUSTRIAL CLEANERS – PENSIONS

Can Government state what are the improvements in the pension entitlement of employees of Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners arising from the transfer of the pension scheme to the Gibraltar Provident Trust Fund No 2 Scheme Sub-fund?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Members of the Gibraltar Provident Fund (No. 1) Scheme (which include employees of Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners) who transfer to the Gibraltar Provident Trust Fund (No. 2) Scheme, are able to retain any conditions that are more favourable to them under the Gibraltar Provident Fund (No. 1) Scheme on a personal-to-holder basis.

In addition, they will be able to take advantage of some improved benefits under the Gibraltar Provident Trust Fund (No. 2) Scheme, for example:

- 1) The possibility of a pension draw down from their accumulated fund.
- 2) The possibility of making additional contributions to the scheme; and
- 3) Continued pension benefits payable to dependants.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1348 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Chief Minister explain exactly what a pension draw down means? I thought the pension was payable when they reach pensionable age and not before.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There are provisions in the No. 2 Scheme for pension draw down in certain circumstances.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Like illness?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, because remember these are personal funds. Unless and until one buys an annuity, externally, one of the advantages of the Government's new annuity scheme is that it actually protects the capital in the ownership of the pension and its dependents. The hon Member knows that when one buys an annuity in the market place, one gets 75 per cent of ones pension capital rights and one goes and buys an annuity. So in exchange for paying some company £200,000 or £300,000 or whatever it is, they pay one for life an annual sum, hence the word annuity, of x thousand pounds a year. But if one dies the next day, one loses the capital. The Government have devised a scheme whereby the sum of the annuity is the income from the sum, but the sum remains, so that any capital left on the death of the annuitant, so to speak, remains part of the estate of the deceased and is not forfeited to the pension company. In other words, there is no life and death lottery so to speak any more. That is one of the advantages of the new annuity scheme that the Government are going to make available through the Savings Bank. In the context of that, under an actuarial table that is being produced, one is allowed to draw down apart from the income of the fund, a certain percentage of the capital amount of the sum per annum, but this would be under the annuity rules. So for example, if somebody is very ill and still has their capital in tact, they might say 'well, look it is all very well to say my family is going to inherit it, but I would like a bit of extra whilst I am still alive and kicking', and there is a formula by which the older one gets, in other words the nearer death one gets the less capital one theoretically needs, and therefore a small number of percentage points of ones capital is drawn down in addition to the income every year. All this will become clear to the hon Member when the details of that are published, as they will be.

HON J J BOSSANO:

These are all related to the annuity scheme. That is to say, there is nothing to stop, given that the annuity scheme is going to be available to others, there is nothing to stop anybody else, without being in the No. 2 Pension Fund, accessing it. Is it?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

This is for the whole of Gibraltar, because our Income Tax legislation sensibly requires at least 75 per cent of ones pension fund to be spent on an annuity, and the reason for that is that it is to protect people from blowing their pension fund and then having nothing to live on in their retirement. The problem is that it is now not possible to buy an annuity in Gibraltar, so this is not just for this, this is for everybody in Gibraltar to buy themselves an annuity. That is everybody on a money purchase pension scheme. Obviously it does not apply to people on final salary pension schemes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I acknowledge that. The point that I am making is that this in fact is not something that people are gaining by virtue of moving from the No. 1 to the No. 2 Pension Scheme, because anybody in Gibraltar would be able to access it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Oh I see, that is his question, I thought I had answered that part of his question much earlier. There are some provisions in the No. 2 Scheme, I am advised, which are not present in the No. 1 Scheme, dealing with the possibility of draw down from the accumulated fund in certain circumstances. With notice of the question I could have found the provision and given him details of it but on my feet I suspect it is not going to jump out at me from the page. I will write to the hon Member and let him know which is that provision in the Pension No. 2 that does not exist in the Pension No. 1. I have got the document here in front of me but I cannot take the House's time just to scan through it. Yes, I can see there is a heading in the No. 2 Scheme benefits payment prior to retirement. I can see that there is a provision here about the transfer of the scheme fund to another permitted or approved scheme, which I think is new and is not there. I would rather give him the answer authoritatively.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can I just point out, that that is in fact what the original question was asking. That is, the benefits arising from the transfer to the No. 2 Scheme, not the benefits arising out of being able to purchase an annuity from the Savings Bank. I am grateful for that information but that is not what the original question asked.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have given him the three differences.

HON J J BOSSANO:

But the differences that he has given me are the differences that exist in the provision of the annuities by the Government.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No. My first answer is the answer to his question. In other words, the benefits of the No. 2 Scheme over the No. 1 Scheme is (1) the possibility of making a pension draw down from accumulated funds. The hon Member has just asked me for details and I have told him I will give him details of that first item. (2) The possibility of making additional contributions to the scheme; and (3) continued pension benefits payable to dependants. Those are three advantages of the No. 2 Scheme over the No. 1 Scheme. Nothing to do with the annuities issue.

HON J J BOSSANO:

But he has also said, and I am identifying that as advantage No. 1 and advantage No. 3, which is that the people who join the scheme from wherever they join it, will be able to draw down some of their accumulated fund. I do not know whether we are using the word 'draw down' in two different circumstances to mean two different things, but if the draw down that is in the No. 2 Scheme is the draw down that is in the annuity, then anybody that buys the annuity will have that advantage, without being in the No. 2 Scheme. If the other advantage is that the capital that survives the death of the annuitant goes to the survivor's estate, that advantage is also available to everybody that buys an annuity, even if they are not in the No. Pension Scheme.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, perhaps I should not have given him so many, or perhaps any details about the annuity scheme. It is a bit of a red herring. There is a Pension No. 1 Scheme and a No. 2 Scheme and the hon Member asked me 'how is one better off transferring from one to the other?'. The first thing I said to him, well any advantages in the No. 1 one keeps. In addition, there are three, and these are the advantages of transferring therefore, there are three. The possibility of making a pension draw down from accumulated funds, the possibility of making additional contributions to the scheme and the continued pension benefit payable to dependants. That is in relation to the No. 1 and the No. 2, nothing to do with the annuity scheme. If the hon Member says 'are those advantages available to anyone from wherever they come who joins the No. 2 Scheme?' the answer is yes, as a matter of No. 2 Scheme rules.

HON J J BOSSANO:

What I am saying is, for somebody who is not in the No. 2, wherever they come from, buys an annuity with the 75 per cent, is it not the case that buying an annuity produces the advantage of the draw down and the advantage of the survivor estate getting the accumulated fund, because that is what he told me would be available to everybody in the annuity.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, but that as part of the rules of the annuity scheme, not of the No. 2. Remember the Provident No. 2 Scheme, the principal issue of the rules is the rules whilst one is still at work, there are contribution rules and then there are benefit rules. Whereas the annuity scheme being set up by the Savings Bank, only applies once people have retired and have their pension entitlement in hand so to speak, and are walking around with a lump sum worth 75 per cent of their cashed in pension, saying 'who will sell me an annuity?'. At that stage the Savings Bank Scheme will come into force. At this stage they are still pensioners.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Of the three advantages that he has spoken, the one for example on the balance of the amount in accumulated capital going to the survivor, will not be when the man is working and it will not even be when he is going round saying 'here is my 75 per cent', it is happening when he has gone to North Front, that is when that comes into play. So that is advantage number three, the survivor getting the cash.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, that is part of the No. 2 Scheme rules, and No. 1 for that matter.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So that is not a difference between the two?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I have not.....

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, he has. He has told me that that is one of the advantages from moving from No. 1 to No. 2.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have indeed. Continued benefits payable, let me just. Well, the truth is that if the hon Member wants a detailed answer about the rules of the Schemes, he has got to give me notice of the questions. I mean, they are just listed here by the Treasury.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The notice of the question is that I would like to see what the advantages are in the No. 2 Scheme compared to No. 1. If it is something that is more complicated than in the answer that he has given me, and he puts it to me in writing, I would be grateful. On the basis of what he has told me, my interpretation of what he has said is that there are three advantages, two of which would be there from the purchase of the annuity from the Savings Bank even if they were not there in the rules, but I will read what he has to tell me and come back with another question in the future.

SAVINGS BANK

Can Government state what was the average rate of interest earned by the Savings Bank's deposits with the Gibraltar Banks in the financial year 2002/2003, the total amount of such deposits and the amount of interest received?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

In order to establish a meaningful average rate of interest earned on deposits held in Gibraltar banks by the Gibraltar Savings Bank, the return would have to be both money-weighted and time-weighted – ideally on a daily basis.

These statistics are not readily available by the Treasury.

However, I hand over a statement showing end-of-month Gibraltar Savings Bank deposits in Gibraltar Banks and the interest earned during each month for the financial years 2001/2002 and 2002/2003. Gross average can then be worked out by division by him.

GOVERNMENT DEBENTURES

As at the end of December 2003, what was the value of Monthly Income Debentures and Pensioners Monthly Income Debentures issued by the Gibraltar Savings Bank?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The value of the Monthly Income Debentures and the Pensioners Monthly Income Debentures as at 31 December 2003 is as follows:

|                                      |             |
|--------------------------------------|-------------|
| Monthly Income Debentures            | £23,241,700 |
| Pensioners Monthly Income Debentures | £53,503,200 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1351 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Does the Chief Minister have readily available the end of March figure, or is that not something that has been given to him?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, it is jotted down here under the heading 'Supplementary'. Monthly Income Debentures £24,612,000. Pensioners Monthly Income Debentures £57,737,100.

SECURITY GUARDS

Can Government state how many security guards were employed through the use of contracted services in the financial year 2002/2003 and 2003/2004 and the period of their employment?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Government employed a total of 22 security guards for the financial year 2002/2003 and 20 for the financial year 2003/2004 through the use of contracted services.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1352 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Does that imply that they were employed for the whole of the 12 months? The question of the period of their employment was in case that employment was intermittent in those financial years.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, my only doubt is about when the arrangements commenced. I mean some of them are permanent. For example, he knows that the arrangements for the security guards at No. 6 has been a contracted service for many years and that arrangement has been going on for years. There are other areas of Government where the contract is either for one year or for two years. Also they have different expiry dates. So they are not all.....

HON J J BOSSANO:

The reference in the original question to the period of employment, was in case there was a situation where the contract was people coming in for a few months to do a particular security job and then not carrying on. That is not the case?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

From time to time it has happened. For example, at one point security arrangements were put up at one of the Homes, and it is still in place, but that is not necessarily intended as a permanent arrangement. When it will cease to be the case I do not know, but all of these are by contracts for one or two years, which suggests it is not the sort of on and off temporary arrangements that he has described.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

RECURRENT REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE

Can Government state what was the recurrent Government revenue and expenditure as defined in the notes to the audited accounts for the financial year 2002/2003 and give a breakdown?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Either the answerer or the questioner has made a mistake here. The annual accounts for the year 2002/2003 are still being audited. On my feet now I have just thought that he might have meant 2001/2002.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1353 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

What I meant was that could the Government give the Government Recurrent Revenue and Expenditure as it is defined in the notes to the Audited Accounts. There is a definition of Government Revenue and Expenditure which goes beyond the Consolidated Fund.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Government publish annually, and have just in fact laid in this House, the Forecast Outturn Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2003/2004, and the actual figure for the year 2002/2003. That is the format in which the information is laid in this House. If the hon Member is saying that the classification is different in the Audited Accounts and can he have that?

HON J J BOSSANO:

What I am saying is, that Government Recurrent Revenue and Government Recurrent Expenditure, in notes 2 and 3 of the 2001/2002 Accounts and in preceding years, is defined differently from being limited to expenditure from the Consolidated Fund only. The final figures for that are not obviously in the Expenditure Estimates laid before the House because that is only Consolidated Fund, which is what we have to vote.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If the hon Member is asking me to give him an advance publication of accounts, which by statute have got to be produced by the Accountant General and then submitted to the Principal Auditor, and then laid before this House in accordance with the terms of legislation and the Constitution, I do not think it is appropriate for him to do that. The Government give as much information as they can but honestly, there comes a time when the hon Member is just, through the mechanism of question time, trying to bring forward by 12 months the production of the Government's Accounts. I do not think that is a reasonable expectation to have of the Government in terms of providing information. I have no difficulty giving him, there is a period of time between the Accountant General signing off the accounts and the Principal Auditor auditing them. I can consult the Principal Auditor and the Accountant General, if they cannot think of any reason why we should not, I do not mind giving him a confidential copy, without prejudice obviously, subject to audit, of the accounts at that stage. That is not asking me to advance the production. That is asking me just to give them to him as soon as they are available rather than waiting until they have been audited. That is a different matter.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The question is not in fact seeking, perhaps I should have been more specific in drafting the question, but it is not seeking an advance copy of the entire book. The final figures for 2002/2003, as the Chief Minister has correctly said, is already in the book that has been tabled in the House today and on a confidential basis in advance of the budget debate, but in notes 2 and 3 of the Audited Accounts what it does is, it produces a different definition of recurrent expenditure and recurrent revenue, which adjusts for movements between the Health Authority, the Savings Bank, the Development Corporation and the Consolidated Fund. All that is an additional three lines to the information that is already available. That information, of course, is not necessarily something that is produced for the Auditor, because the Auditor does not have to actually audit the Health Authority or the Development Corporation, although I think he audits the Savings Bank, but it is something that the Auditor includes in the report, in the same way let me say that the Government do when they produce the tables after we have approved the Estimates. This information is in fact included in the Approved Estimates of Expenditure but not in the Draft Estimates of Expenditure.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

As I say, I do not think that this is information which the hon Member is entitled in accordance with the Government's obligation to provide factual information to the House at Question Time, but I repeat, I have no difficulty, in fact I have here an advance copy of the Accountant General's report on the accounts for the year March 2003 which contains the notes that he is referring to. So the information now exists, if required to be produced in an accelerated fashion, simply to make it available for him sooner than the system normally produces it, the answer would have been no. I said to him before that if the information is available, and Treasury and the Principal Auditor cannot think of a good reason why we should not advance, in effect I am putting information in the public domain before the Auditor has had a chance to audit

it. Now, I cannot personally, I will not give it to him until after I have consulted the Principal Auditor and the Accountant General to see if there is any reason why that should not happen. If they confirm it, I will send it to him.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am grateful for that. It is just that I am pointing out is that what I am asking for is less than that. That is the whole point. All I am asking for is these two pages which do not include anything other than three lines compared to the Estimates he has already tabled. That is to say, of these two pages only the bit at the bottom is not included.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I understand what he is saying, but in the Estimates booklet it is described as Forecast Outturn. In the papers that he is asking me for, it no longer qualifies as being forecast outturn. It is now described as being the signed off figure. So in other words, there is no longer any possibility of coming back and saying 'well the figure has been revised or has been modified'. So before publishing figures that the Accountant General has in effect signed off, but before they have been audited by the Principal Auditor, I just want to check with them that there is no good reason why I should not give the information at this stage to the hon Member. If they confirm that there is no good reason I will send it to him. If they think that there is a good reason, I will explain that reason to him as well.

HON J J BOSSANO:

All I am doing is, in case they say there is a good reason, can I just say that I do not mind if what I get is the forecast outturn. It is just that at the moment in the Estimates as they are presented, we have got three quarters as forecast outturn and that after we have approved it, in fact, the Government then publish it with the missing quarter. That is the whole point. As forecast outturn.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I understand. All the less reason why they should have objections. In other words, if the hon Member is willing to accept the information still on the basis that it is not closed, that presumably would address any concerns, but I will come back to him.

ANSWER*THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government-owned Company balances shown as part of the end-of-year Government Reserves are based on the actual cash in hand at the end of the financial year. A breakdown of the cash balances held by companies is as follows:

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1354 TO 1358 OF 2004*HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of how the figure is arrived at in respect of each company, it is the end of the Government's financial year not the end of the company's year, is that correct?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Assuming that there is a difference between the two, yes. In other words, I just cannot remember what is the financial year end of these companies, whether it is March or December.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I think quite a lot of them were December.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, in that case, yes. What is the figure that the companies hold on the last day of the Government's financial year, it is at 31 March, which may or may not be the company's own financial year end as well.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That figure constitutes what the cash deposits that they have in this investment account in the Gibraltar Savings Bank, or would it be other cash holdings?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is all in cash, as a matter of Treasury management I do not know whether all of these companies have all of their cash balances in the Savings Bank, or whether they have them elsewhere, but it is all cash. If by other portfolios he meant other sorts of investments, the answer is no. If he meant cash deposits at an entity other than the Savings Bank, possibly, some of these may be held on deposit accounts through the Government, I do not know what the cash holding arrangements are.

GHA – EUROPORT BUILDING

Can Government state what effect, if any, do increases in base rates have on the £3 million annual payment to the Royal Bank of Scotland by the GHA, in respect of the Europort Building?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

None.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1359 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

If there are variations in the contract being conducted in building the conversion, is that something that is reflected in the agreement between the Government and the Bank?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Sorry, I do not follow the question.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I think when we originally told about the agreement, presumably it was based on the amount of money that the Bank was providing for the conversion that was taken on at the time. If there are or have been subsequent changes in the work that was required would that be reflected in that agreement or is the agreement for a fixed sum and that is it?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the hon Member will recall when we had a lengthy discussion on this issue at the time in the House, that I explained to him that we had fixed the rate of interest under a swap arrangement. So, the rate of interest is fixed for the whole period of the arrangement, twenty odd years, and in fact that swap contract is now quite valuable, because interest rates have risen. I think we are more than £1 million up on the capital value of that swap. Obviously it is not worth cashing it in because then one would have re-finance at higher rates of interest, but it does show the value of fixing under a swap, particularly when interest rates were low and really could only go in one direction long term. Now, the arrangement has been repeated in respect of the increased costs of the project.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably the repeated agreements will have reflected what the interest rate was at the time that that was done, it would not have been at the original one.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It was struck at a very slightly higher rate. I think the market had moved perhaps up to half a per cent.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the swap arrangement for the whole of the life of the financing period?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, not only is it for the whole of the life but of course, remember that I also explained to him that there were exit provisions.

NO 1360 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE

Can the Government now state what has been the estimated receipt of revenue in the current financial year to the 31st December 2003 by head of revenue?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Either we are misunderstanding the same terminology or there is an error here as well. The estimated revenue for the full year ended 31 March 2004 is contained in the Estimates book Tabled in the House at the start of this meeting. Government have not produced the figures for the nine months to 31st December.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1360 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In January I asked for the figure for December and the answer that I got in January was that I would be provided that figure at the time that the Estimates were produced. In previous years, when I have asked for the figures for nine months, I have been given the figure for nine months, which is an estimated figure of revenue and expenditure for a nine month period. Since I was told that I was going to be given it at this meeting, I am asking for it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not remember what he was told last time. He now has more than the estimated, of course he has the forecast outturn figure, which is better than an estimate. He now has the forecast outturn figure for the 12 months to March. It would not make sense to speak of the estimated figure to December. He could say the forecast outturn to December but the figure to December is no longer the subject of an estimate, it is now at worst a forecast outturn. I would have hoped by now more than that. By now the figure to December should be pretty certain. If the hon Member is particularly interested in having, I mean amending his question to read forecast outturn instead of estimated, I am sure they can be produced for him. The Treasury has these things on computer and they can, of course the Treasury figure is on a cash basis. In other words, any PV's that have not come through up to that date would not be included in the figure.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That is in fact why it would still be an estimate.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it would not be an estimate now.

HON J J BOSSANO:

When I asked for the original information in January, that is what I asked for and that is what I was told would be given to me at a later stage. I think the significance of the December cut off is that that tends to be what then determines the forecast.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Correct. We start preparing the Draft Estimates long before the end of March and therefore the forecast figure is struck on the basis of the December figure, otherwise we would have to wait until the end of March to start even preparing the Estimates booklet. It would not be an estimate by now, we are now in May. The figure for December might have been subject to fluctuation if one asks in January, because there are still things coming through, but by May the following year it cannot any longer be an estimate. The figure for March might be an estimate. In other words, things in respect of March might still be coming through in April but things in respect of November/December would not still be coming through the system in May. So whatever the figure is available that the machine produces, being the figure as at December, by now, by 7th May I would expect it to be more accurate. The hon Member now has the Estimates, is that not sufficient for his purposes?

HON J J BOSSANO:

I now have the Estimates and the forecast outturn. I am asking for it because I was told in January that I could have that information now.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If the hon Member continues to want it, I will get it for him. The question that I am asking him is, given that the time that has passed whether it is still of any value to him, because it takes some work to produce.

HON J J BOSSANO:

No, it is Okay.

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE

Can the Government now state what has been the estimated expenditure from the Consolidated Fund in the current financial year to the 31st December 2003 by head of expenditure?

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The estimated expenditure for the full year ended 31 March 2004 is contained in the Estimates book Tabled in the House at the start of this meeting.

NO 1362 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

JOHN MACKINTOSH HOMES

Can Government state what is the source of the receipt of the John Mackintosh Homes sub-fund of £1.5 million for the financial year 2001/2002?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The sum of £1.5 million held by the John Mackintosh Homes (their money) was made available to the Government by the Board of Governors as part of the agreement to transfer the homes (Mount Alvernia and the Jewish Home) to the Elderly Care Agency. The moneys have been used towards the cost of refurbishment works at Mount Alvernia.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1362 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

My question relates to the audited accounts of the Government which shows the receipt of this money in that financial year.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, that is the question that I think I have answered. In other words, where did the money come from? What was the source of the receipt? The money came from the governors of the John Mackintosh Trust.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So the agreement with the John Mackintosh Trust was done when? At the beginning of the 2001 financial year?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, around 2000 I think it was. It has been going for some time.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Exactly, that is why I am wondering why it is that this happened in 2001/2002.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Remember that this was money for capital works that did not start immediately, so they must have held on to the money and paid it later.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The money appeared originally as being available to the Elderly Care Agency for capital works, but in 2001/2002 a John Mackintosh Home sub-fund appears for the first time, with this receipt.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I am not quite sure what distinction he is trying to draw. We do an agreement with the Mackintosh Trustees, that the Elderly Care Agency is going to take over the building, and we say to the Trustees 'but the building needs revamping, we are relieving you of the running costs of the Home in effect, make that money available to us for the capital works'. The Trustees do that, I cannot tell him exactly the date upon which they paid the money over, but of course the money is ring-fenced for the purpose which the Government asked for it, namely the capital works. Well, the capital works started later. In the meantime the money appears to have been put in something called the John Mackintosh Home sub-fund. I am not understanding what the hon Member is asking about that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well I find it odd that the John Mackintosh Home sub-fund should have surfaced in the year 2001/2002 and since there is another question which has not yet been called but is relevant to this, which is Question No. 1364, the Government appear to have issued a special debenture for the money to be put in that debenture. Given that the money originally was provided at an earlier stage for the capital works, it seems to have been put in this fund as if it were going to be put aside for some time.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It was just invested, ring-fenced and invested. Initially in a sub-fund and then it was invested in a debenture, and then presumably now it has been cashed in because the works have proceeded.

JOHN MACKINTOSH HOMES

Can Government provide the details of the account for the year ended 31st March 2003 of the John Mackintosh Homes sub-fund?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The annual accounts for the year ended 31 March 2003 are not yet available as these are being audited. However, expenditure on refurbishment works funded from the Trust Fund during the year ended 31 March 2003 totalled £693,459 and this is reflected in appendix E of the Government Estimates for 2004/2005.

JOHN MACKINTOSH HOMES

Can Government say when the £1.5 million 7 per cent tax free debenture 2003 was sold by the Savings Bank to the John Mackintosh Homes sub-fund?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The £1.5 million Gibraltar Savings Bank debenture held by the trustees of the John Mackintosh Homes were transferred to the Government Trust Fund on 25 January 2002.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1364 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

So the answer is that it was issued to the Trustees prior to the creation of the sub-fund.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, prior to their alienation of the money to the sub-fund, yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact, the answer to Question No. 1362 is that the source of the receipt was that in January 2002 the Mackintosh Homes Trust handed over a £1.5 million debenture which they already had.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So it is not that the money was invested in that debenture for a particular purpose at that particular time. The debenture was previously held, that was how the Trust previously had their money invested.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Exactly so. The sub-fund is just a legal structure to hold the asset, whether it is cash or debentures, it was debentures.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Then presumably, is that a debenture that is redeemable at the request of the holder? Because if it is in a debenture and we have been told that £653,459 have been spent, that must have come out of the £1.5 million?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

At that point it becomes a matter of Treasury management. If the money was due to be spent before there was a draw down possible, before there was the redemption of the debenture was possible, somebody must have provided bridging liquidity. I do not know what the details of the debenture are, it may be that the debenture was on terms that was redeemable on giving a certain period of notice. I would need details of the actual debenture to see what might have happened.

EMPLOYMENT INJURIES FUND

Can Government explain why the contribution from the Employment Injuries Fund to the Gibraltar Health Authority increased in the financial year 1999/2000 from £45,000 to £100,000?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

In view of the increasing cost of providing health care, it was considered reasonable to review the contribution accordingly. This contribution had not been increased since 1992. In fact, it may appear from the information in the booklet, that the intention is to increase it further.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1368 AND 1369 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I was not aware of that. In fact, is he saying then that the Treasury did an exercise and came to the conclusion that in the year 2000 the average cost had gone up in a proportion of over 100 per cent?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not sure of the basis on which they do it. The hon Member knows why this transfer takes place in the first place and what it is supposed to cover, the people whose healthcare it is supposed to cover. I cannot tell him whether the increase from 1992 to 1999/2000, which was from 45 to 100, was proportionate to the increased percentage in health spending over those years and whether the increase from 100 to the figure proposed, which I have already mention in the 2003/2004 thing is also a proportion, the figure that I have in front of me seems higher than the percentage by which health spending has increased over the same period. This is the figure that he does not have, he only has the figure of £100,000 which is the figure to which it was raised in 1999/2000. It is intended to raise it again in respect of the year 2003/2004, has been raised. There does not seem to be, necessarily a mathematical thing, since there are more people deemed to be covered. There are two variables the amount and people.

HON J J BOSSANO:

This is really people who need hospitalisation or hospital treatment, or Health Centre treatment as a result of industrial injuries, because it comes from the Employment Injuries Fund. That is what that covers.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, it is in respect of the provision of health services to people in respect of injuries at work.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I agree that there are two variables. Either there are more people with injuries at work or it has become more expensive to treat them. I am not aware that there has been any significant increase in numbers.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not alleging that there is necessarily a mathematical, the last two or three exchanges between us have been on the assumption, which is not a fact necessarily, that there is some scientific formula being applied. It may just be a figure. The original figure was not scientific either.

SOCIAL ASSISTANCE FUND

Can Government explain the item of receipts being recovery of maternity allowance misallocated which was credited to the Social Assistance Fund in the financial year 2002/2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Maternity allowance was introduced as a new social security benefit in July 1999. Pending the enactment of the relevant legislation, payments to beneficiaries were advanced from the Social Assistance Fund. Initially, this was an interim arrangement until payments could be charged to the Short Term Benefit Fund once the Social Security (Insurance) Ordinance had been duly amended. Although the new legislation was enacted in October 1999, due to an oversight payments continued to be charged to the Social Assistance Fund until June 2002. Consequently, an adjustment was made in respect of this misallocation by crediting the Social Assistance Fund with the sum of £137,514.89 (that is, all payments made since July 1999) and debiting the Short Term Benefit Fund with the same amount.

Answer to Question 1382

The sums collected by the Gibraltar Development Corporation (Insolvency Fund) in each financial year since 1st April 1996 are as follows:

|           |          |                                                           |
|-----------|----------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| 1996/1997 | £175,388 |                                                           |
| 1997/1998 | £204,013 |                                                           |
| 1998/1999 | £151,245 |                                                           |

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

In order to establish a meaningful return on investments by the Gibraltar Provident Trust Fund, the return would have to be both money-weighted and time-weighted, ideally on a daily basis.

These statistics are not readily available to the Treasury. However, I hand over a statement showing end of month Gibraltar Provident Trust Fund investments and the interest earned for each year since its inception.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1385 AND 1386 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it the case that until now the Provident Trust has been investing its accumulated funds with the Gibraltar Savings Bank, or has it been handled by the Crown Agents and invested in the UK?

CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I believe they are handled by the Crown Agents as separate accounts, and the eligible investments opened to the Trustees, there are trustees in these Schemes, is explained in the Fund Rules. Actually each account holder gets I think it is an annual or perhaps an even more frequent statement, showing the accrual to his fund in respect of the year. So there is quite a sophisticated system up and running now.

ORAL

NO 1387 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

GIBRALTAR PROVIDENT TRUST FUND

Can Government state how many persons have retired with an entitlement to an annuity from the Gibraltar Provident Trust Fund giving a breakdown by year and how many are currently being paid a pension purchased by 75 per cent of the accrued sum?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information requested is provided in the statement that I hand to the hon Member.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1387 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The final column which shows the people who have received the full accumulated fund in cash, these are the people who have a sum that was too small at the time when annuities were available to get an annuity, is that the case?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, not so much because it was too small to get an annuity, but because there are rules that say if it is less than a certain amount one can have it in cash and is not bound by the 75 per cent/25 per cent split. A combined annuity for any ridiculously small amount of money is just not worth it. The reason, I suspect, why there are, if one looks at the No. 2 Scheme, no retired person is actually receiving a pension or purchased an annuity, are that when these Government owned companies were given pensionable terms, some people were approaching retirement age and by the time they retired there was not enough money.

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Let me first say that the Government would not provide this information in respect of a private company. In fact we are providing the information because there are none of those and the Government are happy to provide this information in respect of publicly funded agencies, Government-owned companies and things of that sort. Should any private company ever participate in this Scheme, we might give the numbers of the companies involved and the numbers of employees but we will not provide their names. As it happens, the information requested is provided on the schedule I hand to him, because in fact they are all in the category of things that should be disclosed in this House.

EUROPA INCINERATOR LIMITED

Can Government state which is the most recent year in respect of which the accounts of Europa Incinerator Limited have been audited?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Accounts from commencement have not been audited.

NO 1394 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

COMMUNITY CARE LIMITED

Can Government explain why they have come to the conclusion since 1999 that Tabling the accounts of Community Care Limited in the House may enable others to argue that the accounts are not private and non Government?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

No, the hon Member knows the answer to the question. I do not consider that it is in the public interest of Gibraltar to air this issue in public.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1394 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

No, I do not know the answer to the question. Given that I am not aware that anything in relation to Community Care post-1999 has altered, when in fact in 1999 the Government considered it was all right to table it and did table it. Given that in the last financial year, when the Government were proposing to transfer £5 million from the Consolidated Fund, I asked that it should be done through the transfer of Import Duty money to the Social Assistance Fund, and he said that things had now moved on and there was really no need for this mechanism any more, but since I insisted that I would feel more relaxed about it if it were done that way, he said if it made me feel better he would do it. So, in fact, the indications in last year's Budget were that there was not a problem now to the degree that there had been in the past and therefore that is why I cannot understand, if things have improved in terms of the latest pronouncements in relation to Community Care, confirming what we have always argued in this House, that it is a private charity, and we are able to vote in the Budget money for them out of the Consolidated Fund, we are not able to do what we were doing in 1999. I do not understand it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I cannot help the Leader of the Opposition publicly to improve his levels of understanding, except to tell him that the two things to which he has just referred to and has tried to link, has no linkage whatsoever. What I agreed to restore, if he felt happier with it, was simply to describe next to the grant, to put the source of the funds. That has got nothing to do with the subject matter of the question, which is whether the Government consider that it is appropriate to continue to Table the accounts of Community Care. Those two things are completely unrelated. The fact that the Government were happy to modify the practice on the first, is completely non germane to the second issue. All that I will say on the second issue and no more, however many times he gets up to ask supplementaries, is that the Government's modified position is a sensitive reaction to evolving arguments on the other side. I do not mean the other side of the House, I mean on the other side of those that seek to challenge the arrangements.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is he saying then that the Tabling of the accounts is an evolving argument to the other side? If that is the case then, of course, it is not an argument I have heard used by the other side but it may well be that he has got information that I have not.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have said all that I am going to say on this subject.

HON J J BOSSANO:

This was not something that the Government were concerned about in 1999, which was the last time they Tabled it. Can he confirm? It is something that has developed since 1999.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member presumably knows what the word 'evolving' means.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well, yes, I know that he thinks he is omniscient and that the rest of us ought to be put with a pink cap in the corner, but I do know what the word 'evolving' means, without needing to do what he did on National Day in 1996, which is to look in the Oxford Dictionary to find out whether we were a nation or not.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will accept that diatribe as a concession on the substance that we were discussing.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

NATIONAL INCOME ESTIMATES

When do Government now expect to publish the National Income Estimates for the years 2001/2002?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I expect to do so during my budget address to this House later during this meeting.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1395 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

It will be published what, in the middle of his address?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is simply a repetition of the same question. I do not intend to repeat the answer, it is already in Hansard.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see. I do not know whether in fact what the Chief Minister is telling us is that he intends to mention the figures in his speech, and therefore that is the equivalent of publishing them, or in fact a document is going to be circulated but not until he has actually read it out. Is it the case that he wants to make them public only during the budget speech, or that they are not ready until he actually stands up to talk?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The question asked was 'when do Government now expect to publish the National Income Estimates for the year 2001/2002?', to which the answer is 'I expect to do so during my budget address to this House later during this meeting.'

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes and given that the answer that I was given in January was that it was going to happen before then, I am trying to establish what has brought about the change in timetable.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is when the Government now want to do it.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

GDP – PAYMENTS TO PROFESSOR FLETCHER

Can Government state whether any further payments will be made to Professor Fletcher beyond the £46,635 already paid?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

For National Income purposes, Gross Trading Profits are calculated by the grossing up of the amount of corporation tax received in a given year to arrive at an estimate of taxable profits and the addition of an estimated amount in respect of profits that have not yet been assessed to tax. The profits of qualifying companies are not included in the gross trading profits shown in the GDP calculation.

The recommendations made in the Mansell Review were for the Statistics Office to:

1. Examine the coverage of the estimates for Government trading enterprises.
2. Examine the coverage of the estimates of Government final consumption.
3. Examine the coverage of the estimates of Gross Fixed Capital Formation.
4. Consider whether any further coverage adjustments need to be made to the figures of exports and imports of goods.
5. Consider whether any further activities need to be included in the figures of exports and imports of services.
6. Consider how the hidden economy is to be treated in the accounts.
7. Consider arrangements for compiling long-run series on an improved basis.
8. Examine how tax information can be used to derive estimates for income GDP, and possibly production GDP.
9. Consider certain issues related to the estimation of rent.
10. Assess the quality of the estimates from the Family Expenditure Survey and examine ways in which the benchmark estimates of consumers' expenditure might be projected forward.
11. Improve procedures for and quality of estimates of Gross Fixed Capital Formation.
12. Improve the quality of the estimates of tourist expenditure, for both exports and imports.
13. Improve the estimation methodology for the new components of exports and imports of services.
14. Review the need for a stock-building variable in the accounts.
15. Consider how estimates of net property income from abroad might best be made to estimate GDP.

16. Consider the needs for constant price figures and what new price data might be needed.
17. Consider the importance of the sector accounts in determining priorities for improving the national accounts.
18. Consider arrangements for dealing with the new system of national accounts.
19. Consider arrangements for increased liaison with users and suppliers of data.
20. Consider the need for a timetable for the publication of the national accounts estimates.
21. Consider the resources implications of improving the national accounts.

The effects on the estimated values of imports and exports of goods and services as a result of the adjustments recommended by the Mansell Review were as follows:

1. The gross value of imports of goods, for National Income purposes, fell by £78.5 million as a result of the adjustment in respect of the imports of notes, coins, stamps and gold. The adjustment does not apply to the export side.
2. The adjustment in respect of re-exports of cars increased the value of imports of goods by £4.59 million with no effect on the export side. As regards tobacco, the adjustment is only on the export side with re-exports estimated at £14.28 million.
3. The inclusion of financial and maritime services as export income increased the value of exports of services by £31.54 million and £3 million respectively.

The value of imputed rents contained within the rent element of the National Income Accounts for the period in question was as follows:

|         | £ million |
|---------|-----------|
| 1994/95 | 28.54     |
| 1995/96 | 28.79     |
| 1996/97 | 35.81     |
| 1997/98 | 37.87     |
| 1998/99 | 40.15     |
| 1999/00 | 42.37     |
| 2000/01 | 44.67     |

I can confirm that no fees have been charged by Professor Fletcher in respect of House of Assembly Questions so far, and that the Input/Output model will be updated but as yet no contractual agreement has been finalised.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1396 TO 1402 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is there a particular reason why in 1996/1997 the imputed rent value went up by £7 million, which was a 25 per cent increase, and then it seems to have sort of settled down to £2 million a year?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot offer the hon Member, without notice of the question, a reason for that. Presumably the reason must be indicated in the working papers that resulted that produced the figures.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the list of recommendations made in the Mansell Review, which appear from listening to be very extensive, is it that something has only been done that has affected the calculation in respect of the imports and exports, because that seems to be the only ones that he has identified as having had an effect?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Those are the ones that have been implemented that have had an effect. I do not suppose the hon Member was able to take down the full list of recommendations. Well, he can get it when he gets it after the meeting of the House, he can see the whole list in print, otherwise I would have handed him a copy now.

POBJOY MINT

On what date did the contact with Pobjoy Mint to produce Gibraltar coinage come to an end?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The contract with Pobjoy Mint expired on 31 October 2003.

NO 1404 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

MINTING OF GIBRALTAR COINS

When was the contract for the minting of Gibraltar coins put out to tender, how many parties expressed an interest and who were they?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The tender for the production of circulating coinage and for the production, marketing and distribution of commemorative coinage was put out to tender on 15 May 2002. All UK Mints were invited to tender.

Four bids were received from the following UK Mints:-

Birmingham Mint
The Royal Mint
Pobjoy Mint; and
Tower Mint

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1404 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Chief Minister say what the different bids were, or whether the contract was awarded to the, in this case, cheapest bidder?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is a bit more complex than that, because this is not just a question of price. The Government had grown dissatisfied with the Pobjoy Mint, who were otherwise efficient, but the deal just did not leave enough for the Government. In other words, the Government were getting very little out of those particular arrangements. This agreement that was negotiated with the new tenderer, the new successful tenderer, considerably increases the Gibraltar Government's share of the commercial value of the use of Gibraltar as a jurisdiction for coinage issue, particularly commemorative coinage, and is an altogether more attractive, commercial proposition for the Government, as well as being set up on a more transparent basis than the previous one. Our disagreement with Pobjoy was not as the result of any unhappiness as to their quality of production or anything of the sort, but it was just not, the hon Member just has to look at the figures in the revenue from these sources over the years to see. For example, now we have a minimum guaranteed revenue which is higher than it used to be all together under the previous arrangements.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

That package, that deal, the best package or deal was the one offered by Tower Mint compared to the Birmingham Mint and the Royal Mint?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, there are extraneous factors in the choice. Let me just say first of all that the Birmingham Mint actually went into liquidation shortly after this tender was issued, so really it was down to three, one of which was the incumbent Pobjoy. The other was Tower and the third was the Royal Mint. There were non financial reasons why the Tower Mint was a better offer for the Government, as well as being the one that was financially more attractive to the Government.

NO 1405 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

TOWER MINT

Can Government say how and when Tower Mint became known to the Government as having the capacity and interest to mint Gibraltar coinage?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Department of Trade and Industry, which was at that time responsible for coinage, in fact it has subsequently been transferred to the Treasury as a responsibility, but at that stage I think it was from the days the Opposition Members were in Government that it first became DTI, I do not know if it had been before that but it certainly was DTI in their days, I have now actually transferred that function to the Treasury where it more logically belongs, but in any case the Department of Trade and Industry at that time approached all the UK Mints and invited them to tender for the coinage contract. The Tower Mint is one of the four UK Mints.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1405 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I understand that but I think the Tower Mint was not involved in the production of coinage before even though it is called Tower Mint. Is that correct or not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it is not correct as the hon Member has stated it. Tower Mint is one of the leading Mints of commemorative coinage and in fact used the same distribution agency network as Pobjoy used to use for the marketing, but they did not have a history in circulating coinage. The difference is basically just security arrangements, the technology is the same, so before giving them the contract, consultants were engaged in the UK by the Treasury, to ensure that they had put in place the necessary security arrangements, and those were checked and audited before the contract was finally confirmed in their favour and production began. So it is in respect of circulating coinage that this is their first major contract, but they were perfectly experienced in commemorative coinage. By commemorative coinage I do not mean, as I read in one of the local newspapers, of chocolate coins. Commemorative coins of the sort that Gibraltar mainly produces, and all other jurisdictions, but of course the security implications are much greater. The need for security is much greater in the case of circulating coinage.

ORAL

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

TOWER MINT

Can Government give details of the contract with Tower Mint and explain how this differs from the contract which existed with Pobjoy Mint?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1407 of 2004.

NO 1407 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

TOWER MINT

Can Government give the reasons why they awarded the contract for the minting of Gibraltar coinage to Tower Mint?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Although the formal contract with Tower Mint has not yet been signed by both parties, the main differences in the contract with Pobjoy Mint and Tower Mint are as follows:

- 1) the cost of supply of circulating coins – Tower Mint prices are lower; and there we are just buying the coins.
- 2) the royalty payments on commemorative coins – the new contract with Tower Mint provides a more equitable share of profits with the Royalties being based on the sale price of coins rather than on the metal value as was the case with Pobjoy Mint. Hon Members should bear in mind that commemorative coins are still legal tender, and therefore the issuing jurisdiction has a technical redemption liability, and a form of contract that gives one as a jurisdiction, with the redeeming obligation a stake only based on the metal value of the metal, where the hon Members can see that that can be very disadvantageous when one has a very high denomination coin with a relatively low metal content value.
- 3) Open Book Accounting – Tower Mint will disclose all accounting details of their coinage operations including costs, sales et cetera. Only limited information was supplied by Pobjoy Mint under the terms of their contract, and to date no details have been forthcoming from them on the sales value of Gibraltar coins sold by them nor on the cost of such sales.
- 4) A proper distinction between commemorative coins and circulating coins are now made and of the royalties payable in each case.

The award of the contract was based on an evaluation of the tender submissions by the various mints. Apart from considerations regarding adequacy of infrastructure and security requirements, other factors taken into account in the selection of the successful tender included:

- 1) Cost of circulating coins to Government.
- 2) Level of Royalty Payments for Commemorative Coins.
- 3) High level of transparency in accounting.

TOWER MINT

On what date did the Government commence negotiations with Tower Mint for the production of Gibraltar coinage, and on what date was the agreement concluded?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The tender was awarded to Tower Mint on 23 September 2003.

Based on the tender submissions, which were agreed to by the Government, a formal contract has been drawn up and this is expected to be formally executed by both parties shortly. Nevertheless, work on the first designs, both circulating and commemorative coins, is already at an advanced stage and these will be minted shortly.

TOWER MINT

Can Government say whether there is a Gibraltar agent for Tower Mint and if so who is it?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

We do not believe that there is a Gibraltar agent but certainly the Government through the Treasury deals directly with Tower Mint in the United Kingdom and not through any local agent.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

INCOME TAX - £5,000 ALLOWANCE

Can Government state what steps they have taken to establish whether the introduction of £5,000 tax allowance in respect of income from investment has resulted in an increase in personal investment savings?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1412 of 2004.

NO 1412 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

INCOME TAX - £5,000 ALLOWANCE

Can Government state how many taxpayers claimed the £5,000 tax allowance in respect of investment income introduced in the Tax Year 2002/2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Given that there are many factors that influence the saving habits of individuals, Government cannot gauge with any degree of accuracy the effect of any one of these factors on the collective savings of the tax paying population. Neither can it be ascertained, with any degree of accuracy, if there has been an increase in personal investment and savings as a direct result of the Budget 2002 measures to increase from £600 to £5,000 the exemption from income tax that individuals enjoy on their investment income.

It is also not possible to provide the hon Member with a figure for the number of tax payers that have benefited from Government's decision to increase the exemption limit.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1411 AND 1412 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

When it was announced in the Budget, what the Government said was that in fact this was being done to encourage savings, I would have thought they would want to know whether that objective was being achieved or not.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Not everything in life that one would want is possible. This is not Christmas every day of the year for the Government. There is no means, there is no mechanism to.... How can Government measure whether there has been an increase in savings? Let alone what the reason for the increase in savings is, even if we could follow the savings patterns of locals, one could never say that it is attributable to the fact of the increase in the allowance. One might want to deduce it but there is no means. It is not that we are not interested, these things are done in the knowledge that it will have an effect, but one cannot necessarily measure what the quantum effect is. Nor, incidentally, does the existence of the allowance necessarily lead to more savings. It is a way of sort of rewarding people who choose to save. In other words, if one saves one can get a bit more income without paying tax on it. There is not necessarily the nexus between the two issues that the hon Member assumes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I only assumed it because that is how I understood the initiative when it was taken. To be an initiative of the Government with the purpose of encouraging more saving to take place. I think he actually said that at the time.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not recall if I said it or not, but I am not saying that I did or that I did not. Certainly, this was a tax measure and as a tax measure it is just a way of giving money back to certain categories of taxpayers. At the end of the day I suppose the nexus can be made. In other words, if people think 'if I save money and I invest it, the tax man is going to take 35 per cent of it'. I suppose they might be more encouraged to save if the tax man is not going to take 35 per cent of it. It is just another way of delivering tax cuts.

INCOME TAX – INVESTMENT INCOME

Can Government say whether persons living in Spain are taxed on investment income arising in Gibraltar, and if so, whether personal allowances are deductible from such income?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information sought by Question No. 1413 and Question No. 1414 is governed by law and is contained in the provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance and subsidiary legislation.

Rule 24 of the Income Tax (Allowances, Deductions and Exemptions) Rules provides that any non-resident individual, irrespective of nationality, who is in receipt of a pension accruing in, derived from, or received in Gibraltar is entitled to deductions, allowances and reliefs as if he was a resident in Gibraltar.

Rule 3(12) of the same Rules exempt from tax any interest received in respect of deposits in Gibraltar in any bank or building society by any non-resident individual.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1413 AND 1414 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In respect of the second one, the investment income, is that limited to deposits and investments? For example, would somebody having a business here and drawing income from that business be covered by that Rule?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No it is banked deposits.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in terms of investment income of that other nature, it would be taxable....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, taxed, if the hon Member will give me the opportunity just to modify my answer to make sure it is complete. The Rule also exempts from tax, interest received by any exempt company. So it is individuals or exempt companies.

HON J J BOSSANO:

But it still.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, it is still deposit income.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So an investor, for example, who is a resident in Spain but actually has a business here and gets a dividend, that is taxable.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Absolutely.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is that profit taxable? Can he claim personal allowances against that or not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, there was a time when I used to charge a fee for giving tax advice. My understanding is that with the exception of this regulation, many of the other normal tax allowances depend on residence. Some do and some do not. For example, the mortgage interest relief depends on the property being in Gibraltar. I think the insurance premium, life insurance, that is for residents, so the same rule does not necessarily apply to all the allowances.

In answer to the second part of Question 1429 of 2004 I can confirm that the tax paid by High Net Worth and Category 2 Individuals is reduced under 'Individuals' in the breakdown shown in paragraph 3.1.1 on page 20 of the Principal Auditor's Report for the financial year 2001/2002.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1426 TO 1432 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is there a mechanism whereby they lose the status if they do not pay? Is there a time limit?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is a good question. The certificate is issued and to be withdrawn it would have to be recovered. In other words, it would have to be cancelled. There is, to my knowledge, there would almost be no point if they are not paying, withdrawing the certificate would expose them. The ones that do not pay are not here. This is the problem, they have gone. So there would be, I suppose, some theoretical effect of exposure but no probability of recovery. So yes, we can recover the certificate, one can even cancel the status but it will not necessarily result in any further collections of tax.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

INCOME TAX – REFUNDS

Can Government state what is the position of employees whose assessments show that they are due a tax refund in cases where the employer has not paid their PAYE?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

There are a number of errors in terminology and concept in the hon Member's questions. The first is that this is not a matter of a refund, this is a matter of a tax credit. One can deduce, however, from his questions that he is referring to the Low Income Earner's Tax Credit, which are the only things to which the figure of £7,000 and £8,000 of income relate. So I am answering the question to the extent that it is possible to answer the questions, ignoring all references to refunds and assuming that they are references to entitlement to tax credit, it is not a refund as such.

The detailed administrative statistical data that the hon Member seeks is not available. However, I can appraise him on the legislation and the operational measures introduced to give effect to that Budget measure, information that hopefully will allow him to formulate substantive supplementary questions on the Tax Credit if he wishes to.

Before I do so, however, I need to point out that the information relates to taxable income that the hon Member seeks in eight of his questions, is irrelevant to issues regarding the tax credit given that the tax credit is based on the assessable income of tax payers and not on taxable income.

The tax credit is a mechanism by which tax payers, whose computed assessable income is equal to or less than £7,000 in the year of assessment 2001/2002, or equal to or less than £8,000 in the years of assessment 2002/2003 and 2003/2004, are entitled to a credit amounting to a deduction or a reduction of their liability of £100 in the first year and £130 in the year 2002/2003 and £230 in the case of year 2003/2004. Where an individual's tax liability does not exceed the amount of the entitlement, the tax credit is obviously limited to the amount of the liability. In other words, there is no net balance in favour of the tax payer. It is the amount of the liability or the tax credit, whichever is greater.

The Commissioner of Income Tax, in accordance with the legislation enacted when the tax credit was introduced, does not require tax payers to claim the deduction as is required for the normal allowances, for example, life insurance or mortgage interest relief. Entitlement to the deduction is established at assessment time when the necessary deduction is made from the total liability due. In other words, this is not something that is claimed by the tax payer. If somebody submits a return and the figure qualifies, it is simply factored in by the Income Tax Office.

The tax credit is therefore allowed at assessment time. There is, as I informed the hon Member in answer to previous questions, a backlog in the issue of assessments to those on the PAYE system. Consequently, the benefit has, in the main, not yet filtered through to those it targets. Every effort is being made to reduce the backlog and it is expected that the issue of 2001/2002 assessments, that is the year that the deduction kicks in, will commence before the end of the year.

In answer to Question No. 1444, I can inform the hon Member that assessments on those whose employer has not paid over the PAYE tax deducted are not raised until payment is made. The legislation, in circumstances where an employer has failed to pay over to Government any PAYE tax deducted, does not allow the Commissioner of Income Tax to set off that tax against the tax otherwise chargeable. Therefore unless the tax deducted is actually paid over there is no tax credit.

However, there is no loss to any individual as the legislation allows the tax not paid by the employer to be set off once the amount not paid over has been abandoned and written off. So in other words, there is a sort of deferment of value rather than a loss of value.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1433 TO 1444 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Let me say that when the Chief Minister announced the £8,000 and £130, which was of course before the Election, he actually said in his speech that he urged people to claim the £100 credit for the allowance. That is why I have used the word 'claim'.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That was before the legislation was done. This was the measure. When it came to doing the legislation it was decided to eliminate the need for the claim. People have to claim the Homeowners Allowance for example, but this was done in the form of tax credit. In other words, it is a credit, evident from the..... I am not sure I actually said that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I can produce Hansard for him, I read it before I wrote the question, but I accept the point. If the legislation subsequently did something different then I had not noticed that change in the legislation. This business of it not being a refund, surely if people have not been given the credit before the tax has been deducted, then will the credit not result in a refund when the assessment is made? If somebody has £7,000 in the year 2001/2002 and in the near future they are going to be identified as someone that should have had the credit, that will mean they will get £100 refunded, if they have paid £100, yes?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, that is why I said at the beginning that it was a matter of terminology. A refund, in the language of tax administration, is when one gets back tax that one has paid. This is not getting back tax that one has paid, this is the tax bill being reduced before one pays it, to reduce the amount that one pays. There is no refund as such, and even in the case that he has just explained of the people whose entitlement is in fact deferred, in the event that their employer has not paid their PAYE, it will still be a credit.

HON J J BOSSANO:

No, I am afraid I do not think that he has understood my question. I am saying, when this starts happening there are bound to be people who will have an assessment made which does not require them to pay more tax. It will result in a repayment of the tax that they have paid because of the £100 but that is not a refund.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it is not a refund. There is a difference between a refund, in terms of tax assessment there is a difference between a refund and a tax credit. Of course if the assessment is in arrears, and the effect of a credit is to reduce the amount of tax payable to the amount of tax that was actually deducted in PAYE and paid over, then that will result in money being due to the taxpayer, but it does not arise in the form of the way refunds normally arise. It is a tax credit. I do not want to make too much of that point, I just did not want the hon Member to think that the way this works is that the tax is calculated, a sum is declared payable, the taxpayer pays it and then he is returned money. The mechanism is that it is allowed above the line so to speak. In other words, the credit is credited before the amount of tax payable is calculated, but of course in cash flow terms, if a payment is due one gets a cheque in the post. If that is the hon Member's definition of refund, yes, to that extent.

HON J J BOSSANO:

It will always have to be delivered like that, because in fact, how can the Tax know.....?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is in the case of PAYE people not the self-employed.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well how is the Tax going to know that somebody is below £7,000 until after they have received the return by which time surely the tax has been paid?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Only in the case of PAYE payers. In the case of self-employed people, there is no payment in advance of assessment. That is the importance of distinguishing them. The mechanics, even though the result is a cheque in the post in the case of PAYE payers, the correct analysis is not of a refund because in respect of those taxpayers who are not on the PAYE system, self-employed, it is not a refund even as he is defining it, because it never comes to that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In practice, given that there are 500 self-employed and 26,000 PAYE, and that one assumes that there are not all that many people self-employed for £7,000, which is below the minimum wage, unless there is something very peculiar in their returns, there may be people who say they only make £7,000 self-employed but I cannot see why they are doing that instead of working as labourers on the minimum wage.

NO 1454 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

QUALIFYING COMPANIES

Can Government explain why only five qualifying companies were assessed for company tax for the tax year 2002/2003 by January 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am advised by the Commissioner of Income Tax that as at the end of December 2003, all Qualifying companies that required the issue of an assessment for any of the years of assessment 1998/1999, 1999/2000 and 2000/2001 had had an assessment raised.

As at the same date the issue of estimated 2001/2002 assessments was delayed and the issue of estimated 2002/2003 assessments was, following departmental practice, not yet due. Estimated assessments are issued in cases where financial accounts are not submitted to the Income Tax Office and the Commissioner is of the opinion that a company may be in receipt of taxable profits.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1450 TO 1454 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The figures that I have quoted are the figures from the answer provided to Question No. 552 of 2004, which is the equivalent of the information I have been given in this House, where the figures may have gone up, but at that time, if they had all been assessed on that date as we have just been told, then presumably there will be no difference in the numbers that I have been given today compared to the numbers that I was given in January. In answer to a previous question he said that the Tax Office considered there were 85 Qualifying Companies trading. Well, there are not 85 in any year either in the answer he gave me in January or in the answer he has given me today.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Indeed, if what the hon Member wants to do is try to reconcile the number of assessments raised with the number of companies with qualifying status, it is not an exercise that would be constructive for him to try. There are, as he says, approximately 100 I cannot remember the figure in the answer I gave him earlier in this meeting, companies with qualifying status. The Tax Office nevertheless raises assessments only on those companies that to the best of its knowledge have taxable profits.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see. So there must be a reason why they thought there were 47 of those in 2001 and only 13 in 2002.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The issue of estimated 2001/2002 assessments and 2002/2003 assessments on those qualifying companies that have not submitted accounts will be undertaken shortly.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I could understand it if in fact there was an indication here that if the ones that had submitted accounts is less, the ones who have been assessed for not submitting accounts was higher, but that is not the pattern in the answers he has given me. The pattern shows that, and if I may remind the Chief Minister, although we have had a figure of qualifying companies that were trading which was over 100, but what he said was that the ones that the Tax Office considered to be trading, and that actually means actually making money, was 85, that was the figure he gave me in answer to an earlier question. That the Tax Office treated 85 of them as actually trading and therefore, although I was relating I must say, the figures I have been given to the 147. Even when we relate it to the 85, in the information he has provided today for example, in 2001 we have 29 that made returns and 29 that did not make returns. There is another lot that either did not make it or made it. I would have thought they would have to fall into one or the other, they make it or they did not make it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes. Of the ones who make returns, of course there may not be an assessment because they may show no profit. Not all qualifying companies are profitable. I happen to know that quite a lot of resource goes into the administration of this area of tax, because they think there are companies that if there is something to be paid would pay quickly and it is not for me to defend the nitty gritty of the tax administration system, but it seems to me that companies fall into three categories. They could be those who submit returns showing a profit, which would then be assessed because there will be something payable. Those who submit a return, accounts rather, showing a loss, in which case there is nothing to assess. Or those that have a qualifying certificate but do not submit returns. Now, that last category may include two types of company. It may include companies that are active, either profitably or unprofitably, we do not know, and who simply default in submitting a return. The only reason why they have qualifying status is usually for some overseas tax planning purpose and it would be very unusual that such a company would prejudice that to save themselves tax, which in any case he has volunteered to pay. Otherwise he would have applied for exempt status. The third category could then include companies who do not submit accounts and are not trading and are defunct and the system has not yet recognised the fact that they are defunct, but it is highly unlikely that somebody liable to pay money into the coffers, does not do so. Remember these guys are doing this voluntarily, they could be on a certificate that requires them to pay nothing, namely an exempt certificate. There are a few exceptions to that obviously. There are a couple of local trading companies with qualifying status that do not fall into that generic description.

INCOME TAX – CORPORATION TAX

Can Government confirm that the answer given to Question No 555 of 2004 regarding the difference in the number of total companies and those liable to tax, also applies to the number of companies since 1988/1989 given in answer to Question Nos 552, 553 and 554 of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I can provide the hon Member the confirmation he requires on the assumption that the reference to 1988/1989 in the question is a typographical error, and that the correct year is 1998/1999.

HOUSING – HOMES FOR THE ELDERLY

Can Government state if it is their intention to begin constructing the second home for the elderly, similar to Bishop Canilla, in the current financial year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

Government expect the construction contract tender to be awarded this calendar year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1456 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

Could I ask the hon Minister for Housing if this contract refers specifically to Bishop Canilla House and not necessarily to the homes for the elderly that are being planned on The Sands near the Coach Park?

HON J J NETTO:

I notice a bit of confusion in the hon Member's question. This is a particular Bishop Canilla style for senior citizens adjacent to The Sands plot of land on the other side of the road.

HOUSING – ALLOCATION PROCEDURES

Can Government state if it is their view that there is a need to introduce changes to the housing allocation procedures that will improve the system?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

Yes, Government expect to make an announcement of major reforms during the remainder of this year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1457 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

I trust that these reforms will see the light of day. I know that it is not an easy issue but I do believe that during the course of the tenure of office of the GSD administration there have been many promises made, and many statements made about schemes and so forth, I do hope, for the benefit of many, many people on the housing waiting list, that these reports will materialise into actual solutions to the problem. Are the Government not aware of the problems we have had?

HON J J NETTO:

I do not quite clearly see the actual question itself. However, the fact of the matter is that in the last four years there already have been changes to the allocation rules, but as my main answer referred to, the Government propose to do major reforms in terms of the housing allocation rules and indeed of the Ordinance.

HOUSING – PRE-LIST

Can Government state how many applicants are on the pre-list for housing to date, giving a breakdown of their flat requirements?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

The number of applicants on the housing waiting list to date is 540, broken down by flat requirement as follows:

|      |   |     |
|------|---|-----|
| 1RKB | - | 279 |
| 2RKB | - | 55  |
| 3RKB | - | 128 |

In answer to Question No. 578 of 2004 this House was informed that, as at the end of March 2004, there were 275 applicants on the Pensioner Exchange List. Can Government state how many exchanges have now been completed for these applicants, giving details of room composition and date of completion?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

Five applicants on the Pensioner Exchange List have been allocated a flat as follows:

HOUSING – ASSET REGISTER

Can Government state if the Asset Register mentioned in answer to Questions 570 and 571 of 2004 concerning properties on the voids list, has now been completed?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

No.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1463 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

Does the Minister have any idea as to when it will be completed, because in answer to the questions that I put to him in the last House, information could not be provided to the Opposition because of the Asset Register not being ready?

HON J J NETTO:

I do not think that is quite accurate and probably if the hon Member looks to Hansard, he will probably find that I gave an exhaustive explanation as to what really is the function of the Asset Register. That said, I have to once again, I suppose, say that the database for the Asset Register is currently being established by carrying out internal and external surveys of Government properties. This will however be on an on-going process and will never really be completed as it will have to be reviewed on a continuous basis to keep it up to date through the passage of time. Ministry for Housing personnel carrying out duties which are then recorded in the survey for the Asset Register do not only perform this function. Such staff are also engaged in the production of Government tenders, monitoring of contracts, technical advice to Buildings and Works on an on-going basis.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister say how far they have gone in the Asset Register the first time round? Presumably, from the answer he has given, when they finish the lot they will go back again but, how have they gone in the first attempt?

HON J J NETTO:

Standing as I am in the House, I can recall some conversations which I have had with the person in charge of this particular unit, and I think a high level of external surveys, something to the tune of about 80 per cent of external surveys have been carried out, but the hon Opposition Member should not rush to conclusions very easily, in the sense that it does therefore follow that given the speed of doing the external surveys that the internal surveys will be as quick, because it all depends on the state of the property, what particular type of survey, and there are surveys which one can do for half an hour and then there are dilapidated surveys which I understand are very time consuming. So, the hon Member should not rush in that particular sense. I have always said in these kinds of debate, and I have said it a lot of times in this House, doing an Asset Register of Government properties, which we are talking about being the largest landlord in Gibraltar, is not something that one can do in five minutes, nor in three months, nor even a year. I think Hansard will show that I have said on many occasions that to do a proper Asset Register, as explained to me, will take a number of years actually, to take it to the level and the degree that it ought to be done. Hopefully, once it is done, it is not only important for the Government to be able to say this is the state of our property, but indeed some of the other things which we have seen year after year, after year in terms of when Principal Auditors have submitted their accounts here, like I think today has been the case, that historically speaking we have never been able to reconcile much of the problem that we have. That is another element of doing the Asset Register but not the only part.

HOUSING – PRE-WAR FLATS

Can Government state how many pre-war housing units have been allocated during the months of May, June, July, August and September of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

Since 1st March 2004 a total of 34 post-war flats have been allocated as follows:

|           |   |    |
|-----------|---|----|
| March     | - | 10 |
| April     | - | 4  |
| May       | - | 6  |
| June      | - | 6  |
| August    | - | 3  |
| September | - | 5  |

The room composition is as follows:

|      |   |    |
|------|---|----|
| 1RKB | - | 6  |
| 2RKB | - | 12 |
| 3RKB | - | 10 |
| 4RKB | - | 6  |

In relation to the answer to Question Nos. 1465 and 1466, since 1st March 2004 a total of 21 pre-war flats have been allocated as follows:

|           |   |   |
|-----------|---|---|
| March     | - | 9 |
| April     | - | 5 |
| May       | - | 3 |
| June      | - | 3 |
| September | - | 1 |

The room composition is as follows:

|      |   |    |
|------|---|----|
| 1RKB | - | 2  |
| 2RKB | - | 12 |
| 3RKB | - | 5  |
| 4RKB | - | 2  |

In relation to Question Nos. 1464 and 1465, the computerised updates change on a regular basis and, therefore, since previous addresses were not administratively kept at the time, it follows that without such information the dates and corresponding properties are unavailable.

BUILDINGS AND WORKS DEPARTMENT

Can Government state the result of the discussions with the Union regarding the move into a proposed Authority for the Buildings and Works Department?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

Such discussions are on-going.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1467 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Could the Minister provide a date by which he considers they could be finalised?

HON J J NETTO:

No, there is not such a date as to when they should be finalised. As I said, the discussions are on-going, I think for the time being they are going well, but for any person who has got experience in dealing with industrial relation matters through negotiations, they will know that just because negotiations are going well it does not mean that they will end well. All I am saying is that they are on-going and apparently, at the moment they are going well.

HON L A RANDALL:

How often are these discussions taking place? Are they taking place once a week, once a month, quarterly?

HON J J NETTO:

The negotiations are not going by way of weekly, quarterly or monthly. We have had a number of meetings and more meetings are envisaged in the future.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Have any proposals been put to the workforce for them to vote on?

HON J J NETTO:

Not yet.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think we should be clear about that. It depends whether for them to vote on is the purpose of the question. The Government have tabled proposals to the workforce. The Union has not yet invited the workforce to vote on them. If I could just de-segregate the two parts of the Question to make sure the answer is not misleading.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The proposals are in the hands of the Union but the membership have not yet been consulted on it, as far as Government are concerned.

HON J J NETTO:

HOUSING – SCAFFOLDING

Can Government explain why scaffolding erected to paint and carry out repairs to blocks in Humphries and Varyl Begg Estates were recently removed before the works were apparently completed?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

Scaffolding erected to carry out refurbishment works at Varyl Begg Estate was only removed on completion of the works. A similar situation applies in Alameda Estate.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1475 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can Government state whether they are aware that the expectations of the tenants of the flats the blocks at Varyl Begg Estate were not met. They had expectations of painting and repair works which were not carried out.

HON J J NETTO:

No such expectation has been manifested to the Ministry for Housing, neither to officials, neither to my knowledge and recollection by the Tenants Association. So I do not know what expectation the hon Member might individually have been brought to his notice.

HON L A RANDALL:

I refer to representations which were made to me at Party Headquarters to the effect.

HON C A BRUZON:

Could the Minister for Housing answer me this question? Are the people engaged in putting up the scaffolding and removing scaffolding the same people who go to attend to peoples needs when there is a leak in a roof, or whether there is a problem in a house? I have got reports from people who have come to me with problems, with regards to difficulties they have in their homes, and in March of this year there is a letter from the Ministry for Housing which says that there were 986 cases on the list marked 'urgent'. So obviously there must be something wrong with the system.

HON J J NETTO:

The hon Member is confusing two separate issues. In relation to the scaffolding and to the works being referred to in the Question, this is by way of a contract. We are not talking about the works that BUILDINGS AND WORKS does. The contract at the moment is being carried out by GJBS. So therefore, it has got nothing to do with the work that BUILDINGS AND WORKS does. This is done by way of contract.

No, Sir.

In answer to Question No. 1479:

The total amount spent to date on the Theatre Royal project is £3,161,895.97. No other expenditure, apart from the agreed rental to the landlord, is envisaged.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1477 TO 1482 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

In relation to Question No. 1478 the Minister just answered 'No, Sir'. No, Sir as to whether the money has to be returned, or whether the money has been lost. Can the Minister explain what he means as in 'No, Sir'?

HON C BELTRAN:

The money does not have to be returned.

HON S E LINARES:

Will Government be re-applying for more money, more funds, in order to complete the Theatre Royal?

HON C BELTRAN:

The Government will be applying for funds as and when it feels that it is necessary to do so in respect of this or any other project.

HON S E LINARES:

In relation to Question No. 1479, the Minister has just confirmed that to date we have spent £3.161 million. Can the Chief Minister then state whether he was either misleading the public or misleading this House when he announced in Viewpoint about two weeks ago that the Government had spent just over £2 million, when he knew when he answered the previous question that I posed here, that it was £3.63 million that was spent on the Theatre Royal?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot answer his question on a multiple choice basis if he is only going to give me the two choices that he has just described. In other words, to invite me to confirm whether I was misleading this House or the people of Gibraltar requires me to accept that I was misleading one or the other. The answer is that I was not doing either, and asked how much money has the Theatre Royal cost, my recollection is that I said over £2 million. Well, £3 million is over £2 million. If one imagines that these invoices come in from time to time, and I do not carry the actual project accounting on the back of my non-existent cigarette packet, the hon Member will realise that the fact that I give a figure which is actually accurate, an answer which is actually accurate, over £2 million, does not fall into either of the two categories that he has somewhat harshly offered me by way of choice.

HON S E LINARES:

Well, what was interesting at the time was that the question was not answered by the Minister for Culture, it was actually answered by the Chief Minister himself, who stated the actual amount that was spent. So he was quite misleading in the sense that he told this House that he had spent at the time, now it is over that, but at the time he had spent £3.063 million. That means £3,063,000. Then he goes on television saying just over £2 million. I am sure that either he lost his memory at the time or he was trying to mislead the public.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

At least he now offers me a third choice. A third, if he does not mind my saying, much more likely. Why he should think I would wish to misquote a figure, knowing that I am misquoting it having already put the correct figure in the public domain, if at least the hon Member could say that I knew privately what the right figure was and chose not to give it, then I suppose he could begin to spin his web of intrigue, but given as he quite rightly says I have already myself in this House publicly given the figure of just over £3 million, if several months later I get asked the question in a way for which I am unprepared and uncited and I give an answer which is correct in as far as it goes, then I think the hon Member might be willing, in one of his moments of greater generosity, to give me the benefit of the doubt as to the third option. In other words, it may be, if it is not more likely, that I simply did not recollect the right figure but that I knew the figure, rather than to suggest that I must have necessarily mislead one or the other or both. The answer is, one gets asked these things in a television programme, one does not have the information at ones fingertips and one gives the best answer one can, which was not inaccurate. Over £2 million includes the figure 'three'. Now, if I had remembered that it was £3,063,709.48, which is the figure I gave in the House, I would have given it. There is not a huge difference between the two amounts, for the purpose of the political point that the hon Member is making, which is as I understand it to be, that the Government have spent a considerable amount of money on the project which it has now placed in suspension. I accept and acknowledge and admit that, and the strength of his point, whatever it might be, does not turn on whether it is over £2 million or £3,023,000.40.

HON S E LINARES:

I just put it to him that I think he was trying to hide the real figure from the public when he was trying to announce it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The real figure was published in the Gibraltar press when I gave it openly in this House. How could I possibly be trying to conceal the figure? I had already given it publicly.

GOVERNMENT LOTTERY

Can Government state whether they have now decided on any changes to the structure of the lottery?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

The recommendations given to Government so far do not highlight the need for any particular major change to the structure of the Lottery. No major change is therefore envisaged at the moment. The on-going discussions with the Lottery Committee, the Treasury and the Lottery Agents have however, highlighted the desirability for changes to the marketing strategy that may improve sales. A number of such measures have been agreed and are being implemented.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1483 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Is the Minister willing to share these recommendations with this side of the House?

HON C BELTRAN:

Yes, by all means. We are talking about ideas such as initial changes to include a new logo to be displayed by all agents and sub-agents, in order to clearly identify sales outlets, or a sales drive to promote the reserving of particular numbers, is one idea that has been mooted, perhaps linked to the customer car registration numbers and advertising material to ensure that the public is aware of the sales of lottery draws, location of main agents and such like.

HON L A RANDALL:

I am obliged to the Minister.

VICTORIA STADIUM – HOCKEY PITCH

Can the Minister for Sport confirm that the unresolved issues for the recruitment of adequate permanent staff is affecting the upkeep and maintenance routines of the water-based hockey pitch?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

The question gives the false impression that there exist “issues” which remain unresolved. The new sports facilities will be run, serviced and maintained by employees of the Gibraltar Sports Authority. In any case, the upkeep and maintenance of the pitch are unaffected.

As regards the new Sports Hall, Government are aiming to open this facility as soon as possible.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1484 TO 1486 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Perhaps the Minister can be a little bit more specific when he says as soon as possible, because I recall and I have taken note of what he said during his Budget speech, when he said that the Sports Hall will be fully operational by this autumn. Can he confirm that? That is what he said in his Budget speech.

HON C BELTRAN:

Yes, I can confirm that but autumn is not over yet.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When he said 'this autumn' I mean this autumn, we were in autumn already. Can he confirm that this is about to open and be fully operational?

HON C BELTRAN:

I do not think I said by the beginning of autumn, I said by the autumn, the autumn is still on.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So when does the Minister consider the autumn to be finished?

HON C BELTRAN:

Well, I hate to give dates but I think that autumn is generally recognised as finished by 21st December I believe.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So what he is saying is that it will be fully operational by 21st December.

HON C BELTRAN:

No, that is what the hon Member is saying. I saying during the autumn, or before. I am not sure, works go on, there are minor works, one has to make sure that all these sports fittings are correctly fitted, not least for health and safety reasons, I am sure all agree, so this is on-going. We are aiming for that, but these are works and it is difficult to control some of these things. So I am saying in the autumn but the autumn is still here, it has not gone yet.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Except that I am only mentioning autumn because those were the precise words that the Minister used during his Budget speech. Therefore, I am making him accountable for what he said. Reference the other question which is related to the upkeep and the maintenance routine of the water-based pitch, could the Minister please confirm whether he is aware of public announcements that have been made to the effect that the new hockey pitch is being used regularly and unsolved issues such as the recruitment of adequate permanent staff are affecting the upkeep and maintenance routines. This has led to concern for some sportsmen and sportswomen. Does he agree with that statement?

HON C BELTRAN:

I heard, I suspect she was listening but she has not heard my answer. In any case the upkeep and maintenance of the pitch are unaffected.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

That is precisely why I have actually what has come out publicly, because he says they are unaffected, and what is being said publicly is that it is being affected. Can the Minister confirm when do the Government intend to recruit staff for facilities like for example, the water-based pitch and also the Sports Hall, which we hope will be open by 20th December, whether by then they will have recruited permanent staff for the running of these facilities?

HON C BELTRAN:

We expect to have staff in place by then. The Government are talking to the Unions about the conditions of employment and so on and this is the situation at the moment.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Yes, but does the Minister not understand that we are talking about facilities, especially the water-based pitch and also the Sports Hall for which the Government have had ample time to employ people within the Gibraltar Sports Authority, and in fact it was the Chief Minister who said the following : 'the Sports Authority exists. The Government will proceed with the new facilities as soon as they are all ready in the Sports Authority with the new staff and that is not something that will be negotiated with the existing staff or anybody else'. So therefore, what I am saying is, it appears that what the hon Member is saying is in conflict with what the Chief Minister said that the Government do not have to have the Authority, or the permission of the Government to employ people within the new facilities.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

As I have explained to the hon Lady on several occasions before, there are two exercises going on. One is the completion of the works in the new facilities, and they are still on-going, the administration block is still on-going, it has not been finished yet, part of them have been finished, the water-based pitch and the hall is more or less finished, although one end of it is a building site. All those facilities when they are ready will be run by the Gibraltar Sports Authority with new employees recruited directly by the Gibraltar Sports Authority. She is right in saying that that recruitment of staff has not yet commenced and I believe it is imminent. I think I recently saw papers that suggested that the job specifications and all that had now been agreed and the recruitment process for that is imminent. The second and separate issue which is where the negotiations with the Unions come in, is the question whether the existing staff and the existing facilities that they run are going to be injected into the Authority as well or not. Now, there is a slight connection between the two, even though I have just said that they are unconnected, and that is that if the staff decides to join, if the second issue is positive. In other words, if existing staff and respectively the existing facilities are to join the Authority, that gives the Union an opportunity to influence the terms and conditions of employment of the Authority for the new employees, because it will obviously affect their transferring members if I could call it that. If they do not decide to go down that road, then there is nothing to negotiate with the Union. It is a new employer recruiting new employees and that new employer will decide for itself what the terms and conditions of employment are. We have been holding back the recruitment for the Authority employees, because if the existing staff are to join, then we need to make sure that the terms and conditions that are coordinated. Now, it is true that we could have proceeded with the recruitment of the Authority employees some time ago. We have held back because whether or not the existing staff join or do not join affects the nature of the process of the terms and conditions that we offer the new employees. In other words, if they join they have got to be agreed with the Union and that will affect the new employees as well. If they are not going to join then there is no need to negotiate terms for new employees with the Union. That is why we have been holding up, to see which of the two ways we needed to go. I hope that clarifies the situation. The hon Lady is factually correct but it is not through idleness that the facts are as she describes them.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Just one more supplementary. Then that means that from now until the end of autumn the process will have to be accelerated.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

We cannot hold back any longer to see whether the others join. We think we can wrap up the negotiations quite quickly with the others, so that in fact it is not going to affect, but because the project is now really complete, we need to get on with recruiting staff and therefore, we will now proceed whether or not we agree with the Union. I reckon if in two weeks from now we have not agreed with the Unions we may have to proceed anyway. Let me say that the terms and conditions are not unfamiliar to the Unions. They are terms and conditions which the Union have seen in other Authorities, so it is not a new process, but yes I agree with the hon Lady, as does my Colleague, that we cannot hold back any longer the recruitment for the Authority, it cannot be held up any longer by considerations whether the existing staff want to join. We have taken it to the wire basically.

At all the clubs it is normal for sessions also to include facilities which are made use of as part of the above programmes, activities and functions, to provide for the educational but also fun elements of these. Generally these are demand led by the users themselves. On occasions, therefore, games sessions are programmed. These could be sporting or related to music, the internet et cetera; for which facilities are made available and trained staff supervision is provided.

YOUTH SERVICE

Will Government state how much money has gone missing within the Youth Service this year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

As a result of two burglaries a total of £5,584 were stolen from the Youth Service. The matter is under police investigation.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1494 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

When was it the Youth Workers realised that there was money missing, because you have stated that there was a break-in, and my subsequent question which I will put together was, I was going to say whether there had been a break-in and whether the premises had gone through substantial damage because of the break-in?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member I am sure will understand that both of those issues touch upon things that may arise in the police investigation, and it really would not be appropriate. I think the hon Member might be willing to exchange views with him on that issue privately to give whatever information he knows but I do not think it would be appropriate to answer those two questions, both of which may become relevant in an investigation.

HON S E LINARES:

I accept that answer.

NO. 1496 OF 2004

THE HON S E LINARES

MUSIC CENTRE

Can Government state who are the trustees of the Music Centre at Straits Vision House and when were they appointed?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

A total of £53,000 has been allocated towards renovation and refurbishment works for the Gibraltar Music Centre at the former BFBS Building.

The Gibraltar Music Centre is run by its Trustees. This Trust, which was set up in September 2002, is a charitable one (not one appointed by Government).

I hand the hon Member the current composition of the Trust.

The composition of the Trust is as follows:

Mrs Lynn Griffith – Chairperson
His Lordship the Bishop the Right Reverend Monsigneur Caruana
Mr Solomon Levy
Mr David Dumas
Mr Jason Bellilo
Mr Eric Ellul
Mr Oliver Reed
Mr Wayne Smith

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 476, 1495 AND 1496 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

I appreciate the answer from the Minister. He has stated the amount allocated, he has stated the fact that there are Trustees, he has given me the list of Trustees, but one question which I think has been omitted is the fact that who is currently running it. Is it the actual Trustees that run it or is it a person that the Trustees have contracted to manage?

HON C BELTRAN:

The Trustees.

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

WORLD HERITAGE STATUS

On what date was the Government advised of Spanish objections to Gibraltar's bid for World Heritage Status and what is the current position on this application?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

Government was informed of Spanish objections on 27 July 2000.

The current status of the bid is that the Gibraltar Government are continuing to develop their conservation programme and management plan for the long term protection of their important heritage assets. This is being done both as a requirement of the World Heritage Bid and also as a means of ensuring the long term protection of our Heritage. When the Gibraltar Government feel ready to proceed on this basis they will inform the United Kingdom Government accordingly and seek a slot for nomination. In the meantime, the Gibraltar Government will continue to liaise closely with the Gibraltar Heritage Trust in all matters of mutual interest.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1497 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does that mean the application then has been withdrawn and is not there at the moment?

HON C BELTRAN:

The application is still there. I think the hon Member refers to the in principle agreement that exists with the State Party, the United Kingdom in this case, to nominate Gibraltar. There is an in principle agreement but no date has been finalised. We are working on specifications of the property to be nominated and the site management plan. This is the situation at the moment.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister clarify then what exactly Spain object to?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is no application as such. It is just that this precedes the hon Member's responsibilities for these matters. The United Kingdom has a prospective list of sites, and under current rules is allowed to put up one site from its prospective list by way of formal application per year, one site per year. So the question is at what stage do they give Gibraltar the berth. We are on that prospective list, we are on the UK prospective list. The question is in which year do we allow or ask the UK to allow Gibraltar to occupy its slot from its list. That is the issue that we have not yet finally made a decision on. The United Kingdom is willing to use one of its slots for Gibraltar. This is not one of the cases where because of the Spanish concern the United Kingdom is resigning from its willingness. Actually, we have a slight concern that if we allow Gibraltar to be nominated as a whole, the whole of Gibraltar as opposed to individual sites in Gibraltar, I have a concern which I have asked for a satisfaction on, on whether this might affect future development, both commercial and housing developments. In other words, what burdens, what restrictions does designating the whole of Gibraltar as a heritage site place on future development projects as opposed to just designated. For example, the King's Bastion or Moorish Castle which may have restrictions in relation to developments affecting the character of that site. Well, it seems to me that there is a big difference between agreeing to curtail your development possibilities around a particular site than restricting the development potential about the whole of Gibraltar because if one cannot alter the character of a designated site, and the designated site is the whole of Gibraltar, then technically anything that one does is capable of being argued and the question then still is open whether we go ahead with Gibraltar as a whole site, or whether rather instead of that go to a system whereby several sites in Gibraltar are designated, rather than Gibraltar as a whole. We are very anxious, not for insufficient gain, to curtail the liberty and the freedom of future governments, indeed the future freedom of this Government and also the freedom of future governments, to ensure Gibraltar's economic development through infrastructure and physical developments.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I am grateful to the Chief Minister for the explanation that he has given, but my supplementary was what exactly did Spain object to then? Was it to our inclusion in the UK list?

HON C BELTRAN:

Yes, the Minister for Art at the time Alan Howarth, in a letter to Keith Azopardi in July 2000, stated and I quote "I can confirm that the Spanish Ambassador at UNESCO has expressed his Government's concerns at the inclusion of the Fortress of Gibraltar in the UK's tentative list of prospective sites for their British counterpart David Stanton".

NO. 1501 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

NATIONAL DAY

What was the cost, with a breakdown, of the Elton John concert held on National Day this year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

The total amount donated by private companies is £360,000.

The cost to Government of the Elton John Concert has been a contribution of $600,000 and £34,000 apart from that, for the covering of the Stadium pitch. These costs have been almost totally covered by the donations or sponsorship of private companies. Everything else was covered by the promoters.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1500 AND 1501 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the two questions, the £360,000 donated by private companies, is the Minister saying that that was for the Elton John event, that donation?

HON C BELTRAN:

No, not necessarily. It is a general account for events.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say whether the $600,000 were paid to the promoter, or were they paid to the artist?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Government insisted that its contribution had to be used to make a payment directly to the artist so that if the concert did not take place for any reason that was the fault of the promoter, the monies would not have been in jeopardy.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Therefore, how did the promoter make any money from this event? Was it from the sale of tickets?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I assume, given that the concert was such a success, that he did make money. If the hon Member is asking the question mechanically, in other words, how did he make money? He made money from the proceeds of sale of tickets. It cost much more than this to lay on that concert and the proceeds of the sale of tickets were for the promoter. This was a Government contribution over and above ticket sale revenues.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Was it the case then that there was only one promoter for this event, or one company that was interested in being a promoter?

HON C BELTRAN:

Yes, only one promoter.

HON F R PICARDO:

Just to clarify, only one promoter was interested in bringing Elton John, or only one promoter was interested in bidding for the Tercentenary concert to be held on National Day?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Tercentenary concert did not go out to tender, proposals were put by different promoters as to who they thought they could bring to Gibraltar, and the Government chose that the artist rather than the promoter. In other words, the Government, I cannot remember the names now by my children know all of these things, an Irish girls group the name of which I now do not recall, and there was another chap called Bryan Adams and Elton John, and the Government took the view that Elton John had the biggest chance of appealing to the widest cross section of age groups and therefore we chose the promoter that was offering Elton John, because the other promoters could not have delivered the other artists.

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

In answer to Question Nos. 1502 and 1503 no tender was allocated.

In answer to Question No. 1504, three parties submitted a tender. The amount bid by the successful tenderer, which was the lowest, was £44,250.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1502 TO 1504 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can I ask the Minister, given that there was no tender for promotional material, have the Government secured promotional material without going out to tender, or is it that there is no promotional material?

HON C BELTRAN:

No, there has been no promotional material.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I should say to the hon Members that the Government will publish an account of the Tercentenary expenditure showing all the items, once the last event has taken place, showing how much of it falls net to be borne by taxpayers.

SOCIAL SERVICES – DISABILITY ALLOWANCE

Can Government state how many persons were in receipt of a disability allowance under the social assistance arrangements for each month of the second quarter of 2004, giving a breakdown of their sex and age?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

Answer to Question No. 1506

As I have previously explained in reply to similar questions in this House, under the Social Assistance arrangements, a person is eligible to a disability allowance if that person has been permanently and severely disabled by a mental or physical disability from birth. However, the Director of Social Security has discretion to approve payment of this allowance, even if the applicant has not been severely and permanently disabled from birth. Each case is judged on its own merit.

MOUNT ALVERNIA

How many elderly citizens are awaiting a place at Mount Alvernia, and how many of these are occupying a bed at St Bernard's Hospital as at the end of September 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

There are 94 elderly citizens awaiting a place at Mount Alvernia. 33 are occupying a bed at St Bernard's Hospital.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1513 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

As I always go and look back at answers to questions, I have noticed that at the beginning of the year in answer to Question No. 56 of 2004, the Minister said and I quote "the breakdown of months, age and sex by the hon Member will be forwarded to her as soon as the information has been completed". I must be honest that I did not ask for that information but seeing that the Minister was so kind to say that she would provide it, is she still in a position to provide it as she said in answer to Question No. 56 of January 2004?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

As far as I am concerned and I can recall she did ask that specific question and it was provided. I am pretty sure it was but I will double check for her.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I have looked at the question is exactly the same as the one which I have just asked, and I did not ask any supplementaries because I have checked, we already have Hansard. Anyway, if she checks and goes back and sees that she has very kindly offered to provide it, will she provide it?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

Certainly, but I am sure we did.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

ELDERLY CARE AGENCY

Can Government explain whether the payment to ADA Company Limited by the Elderly Care Agency is for an hourly rate per carer provided and if so what was the hourly rate in 2003/2004 and what is it currently?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

Answer to Question No. 1514

Clause 3 of the contract with ADA Ltd states: "All care workers will be expected to have qualifications or recognised experience in care of the elderly". The qualifications required are: Certificate of achievement in geriatric nurse auxiliary or clinic nurse auxiliary.

Answer to Question No. 1515

Recognised experience means that a care worker must have worked in a Care Home, Hospice or Hospital and this must be confirmed by the previous employer together with a reference.

Answer to Question No. 1516

ADA first opened vacancies with the ETB in February 2002. More vacancies have been opened to date, the last one being on 7th October 2004. The answer to the latter part of this question has already been provided in Question No. 1514 of 2004.

Answer to Question No. 1517

ADA is not paid on an hourly rate basis. There is a contract sum to provide a certain number of hours a year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1514 TO 1517 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably the contract sum for a certain number of hours a year is on a rate per hour?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

No, not necessarily.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister then tell me how many hours they are required to pay for the £160,000 we have got in the estimates and then I will work it out myself?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I will certainly do that. The contract provides 44 hours of care per day plus seven and a half hours daily on weekdays, that is a total of 18,010 hours per annum. But the hon Member must bear in mind that hourly rates differ, for example, if the carers work during the weekends.

HON J J BOSSANO:

During the weekends it is seven and a half hours, is it?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

No, it is an extra seven and a half hours weekdays.

HON F R PICARDO:

In relation to the qualifications we have been told that the Certificate of achievement or geriatric care or nursing auxiliaries. Given that most of the people who obtained employment with ADA were from Spain, what is the equivalent recognised qualification from Spain, given that so many of the employees hail from that territory?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I do not know the exact name of the equivalent, but I am aware that it is not possessed by anybody, at least any Gibraltarian who has applied for the post within ADA.

HON F R PICARDO:

Do the Spanish employees of ADA who have managed to obtain employment have that equivalent Spanish qualification or do they only have equivalent experience?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

Actually the qualification is a Spanish qualification and for the purpose of the question we have translated it as best we can into English.

HON F R PICARDO:

What is the English qualification which the Gibraltarians do not have then?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

That is what I have just said, that I am not aware of the qualification is or, indeed, whether it exists in Gibraltar or not.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact what we are being told is that in giving out this contract the Government put as a condition that they had to employ people who could only be Spanish because Gibraltarians do not have the certificate that was being asked for. It sound like that.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

No, it was the ECA not the Government, who sub-contracted to a company, albeit a Spanish one which was the only one who applied who had the requirements, and it is they who stipulated in the contract that they had to have either relevant qualifications or recognised experience, which I must say some Gibraltarians do have.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I know it is the Elderly Care Agency which is a Statutory body of which the Minister is the Chairman, so it is not good giving the impression that we are talking about a third party which she has nothing to do with. What I am asking is if in fact it is either experience or a certificate and we are being told that nobody in Gibraltar can have that certificate because it is a certificate one obtains in Spain, and people with Gibraltarian qualifications or UK qualifications would not have it, and that it is for the benefit of the House that we have been given an English translation. In fact, when the vacancies were opened in February 2002, presumably none of the people who were registered unemployed could possibly apply for those vacancies other than they had some experience which presumably they were unlikely to have in Gibraltar if this was a new thing.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I have said that I am not aware if there is any sort of equivalent qualification in Gibraltar. It might be the case that there is. At this moment in time I am not aware, I can find out for the hon Member.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Does the Minister know whether when the vacancies were opened in February 2002, ADA followed what seems to be the practice of 90 per cent of the employers which open vacancies, which is that they already had the people to fill the vacancies at the same time?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I would not know the answer to that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that the purpose of the question is to see what opportunities for local employment have been created through this, would the Minister find out and let us know?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

What I can say is that when ADA first opened vacancies, as I say in the ETB in February 2002, they opened vacancies for carers for the company. It does not necessarily mean that those carers were used under the contract with ECA. ADA provides a service to the community at large, both privately and under contract with ECA. It might be that these particular vacancies were not for carers for the ECA.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see. So in fact, then some of the people that are working for the Elderly Care Agency could have been in the employment of ADA when ADA was given the contract. Is that what the Minister is saying? They did not take people on to fulfil the contract necessarily.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

No, maybe ADA already had carers who were already registered in the ETB and I assume that when these vacancies came up, I do not believe that ADA already had sort of sufficient carers on the sidelines waiting for someone to take them on. I assume that vacancies were opened at that precise time as well.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes but given that we were told in a previous answer to a question from my hon Colleague that all the employees are Spanish, and that they residents in Spain, the Spanish residents in Spain to my knowledge are not normally registered with the ETB as unemployed in Gibraltar. If they are registered anywhere they would be registered on the other side, so they would not be able to find out about the vacancies of ADA in the ETB, because that is not where they go looking for work. So my question is, in fact, if the vacancies were opened for the purpose of registering the workers, is it that in fact they had the workers already and then they registered the vacancy and registered the contract, which is something a lot of employers do?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I can find out, I do not know the answer.

HON F R PICARDO:

Just on the question of this qualification. Is the Minister telling us that the contract between ADA and the ECA states only that workers, who work under that contract for the ECA through ADA, must have a qualification or recognised experience but that the contract does not actually itself provide what that qualification is, and that subsequently therefore, by agreement I suppose between the company and ECA, the qualification sought is this certificate of achievement, whatever it is in Spanish that has been kindly translated? That is the position?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

Yes. The contract does not actually state what qualifications are required. It is ADA who stipulates the level of qualification that it requires for its employees.

HON F R PICARDO:

If the contract is with the ECA, what does the ECA want in respect of the people who are providing care to its clients so to speak?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

The proper qualifications or recognised experience.

HON F R PICARDO:

Given that the ECA is a Gibraltarian body, what qualification of the United Kingdom or of Gibraltar does the Minister wish to see those individuals who work for her having, in order to take care of her clients, if I may call them that?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

Whatever equivalent qualification exists in Gibraltar.

HON F R PICARDO:

Equivalent to what?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

Equivalent qualification to the standard that is provided by the employees of ADA, or required by them.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the standard being laid down by ADA or by the ECA?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

By ADA.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

Can I just clarify? The contract is between ADA and the ECA. Now the domiciliary care is run by a Domiciliary Care Committee, who double check and are on top of every single carer. In fact they have the right, and they do, to check every single vacancy that comes out and to see the people that have applied whether they are up to scratch. That is something that they do, they are on top of all the carers that are employed by ADA.

HON J J BOSSANO:

If we ask the Government what is the requirement laid down by the Elderly Care Agency?, and we are told that the requirement laid down by the Elderly Care Agency is that people must have the qualification laid down by ADA. Is that the answer?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The position is that the Government have a contract with this company to provide the service, and that contract says in Clause 3 that all care workers will be expected to have qualifications or recognised experience in care for the elderly. ADA has decided what qualifications it is going to ask from its employees in order to satisfy that Clause, the qualifications part of it anyway. If what the hon Member is saying, as I understood him but I think I have already answered him off microphone, if he is getting at 'has the Elderly Care Agency itself sat down to define what qualifications it wants to enforce against ADA under Clause 3', the answer is that I think it has not done that, but I think that it has just demanded qualifications and the contractor has in effect decided what the qualification is and the Elderly Care Agency appears to be content with that, but it is not their decision. One of the vacuums that there has historically been in Gibraltar is a failure to have specific qualifications in relation to social care of this sort. I suppose that will have to be looked at, but as far as we are aware, the Elderly Care Agency has not said to ADA, we require this, this or that qualification. The phrase 'or recognised experience' is precisely to allow, not to exclude Gibraltarians from access to ADA jobs, because Gibraltarians may have experience in care for the elderly even though they may not have qualifications.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Then the net result is that ADA might simply have come up with the qualification that their employees already happen to have, and said that is the standard that we want. So would it not be a good idea for the Elderly Care Agency itself to come to a view, as the customer, as to what it might want?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I think the position is that the Elderly Care Agency appears to be content with the standard of labour and qualifications, so I suppose it is just dedicating its management resources to other things, given that it is content with that, but that does not preclude them and I agree that with him should not preclude them, from exercising their own judgement as to what the correct qualifications are. These people may be over qualified or under qualified, I agree with him. I think the Chairman of the Elderly Care Agency, I am sure, will take our views into account.

HON F R PICARDO:

Will the Minister come back to this House at the next Question Time, or at any other time convenient perhaps write to us, to tell us what the determinations of the Elderly Care Agency are in that respect, to put our minds at rest?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Minister, the Chairman of the Elderly Care Agency, accounts to me not to the hon Opposition Member. If the hon Opposition Members wants to ask her a question in future to see whether the hon Lady has taken steps or has not taken steps, he is of course free to do that, but there is not question of the Minister committing herself to come back to report to this House. For a start there is no procedure of this House that enables her to do that. I suppose she could make a formal statement in the House but there is not really a Parliamentary procedure in response to this Question and Answer Session. I think that the hon Member should just remember to make a note at the next Question Time to ask as question that gets to the same point.

MINIMUM INCOME GUARANTEE

Can Government explain, if £500,000 had been spent on payment of the minimum income guarantee by December 2003, how is it that the cost for 12 months to March 2004 is £490,000?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

It appears that in a supplementary question arising from Question No. 93 of 2004, the hon Member was given the erroneous impression that the figure of £500,000 was the cost until the end of December 2003. The figure was actually the estimated expenditure until the end of the financial year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1518 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I was given the erroneous impression because I actually asked whether it was a projection or whether that was the money that was being spent, and I was told it was the money that had been spent. It was just that it was a mistake, is that it?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

Well, I will rephrase. The hon Member was given an incorrect answer.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1519 AND 1520 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it that they cannot provide it going back to the beginning of this system of schedules? Would they be able to provide it, say, for the last quarter in September or does the Minister not know?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

No, I believe that the program has to be modified in order to be able to provide that information from the outset.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it possible to do it for the most recent quarter? Or is it possible to do it, for example, from the current date on?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

No.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I suspect the problem is for persons entering insured employment in each such quarter. In other words, the reporting qualification is not programmed.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the old days, it was possible for the hon Members to provide the insurance card issued new in each quarter or in each month, which is effectively the people who were entering the labour market and entering insured employment. I am surprised that a more sophisticated system is not able to do something that could be done with bits of paper and stamps stuck on it.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

Well, it is possible to do it and as I say the DSS is looking at the possibility, the viability of having the program modified to be able to produce that information in the future.

SOCIAL INSURANCE – INSURED PERSONS

Can Government confirm that in the distribution of insured persons as at the end of each calendar year since 1996, the numbers include persons who may have only worked and been insured for only one week in each year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

I confirm that those persons who may have only worked and been insured for only one week are not included in the distribution of insured persons, unless they were in insurable employment during the last week of each calendar year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1523 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact, the count then is made up of the people who are at the end of December, and people who come in and out of the labour market during the year are not included in that total?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

That is correct.

DOMICILIARY CARE SERVICE

Can Government state how many of the 12 people that were waiting to be assessed for Domiciliary Care as at the end of March 2004, identified in answer to Question No. 927/2004, are now receiving Domiciliary Care?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

Answer to Question No. 1521

When a policy decision was reached to provide funds for Domiciliary Care, the ECA was provided with £160,000 for this purpose. When the ECA decided to put the service out to contract the expression of interest received was for a sum which fell short of £160,000. The ECA at that stage increased contract hours to an additional seven and a half hours of care on weekdays in order to maximise on the approved budget without overspending. In other words, without going over the £160,000 which had been approved. In addition, the full provision of the service was not given from the outset. This was phased in as and when referrals and assessments were made.

Answer to Question No. 1524

The 12 domiciliary care assessments were carried out after March 2004. None of these applicants have to date received domiciliary care.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1521 AND 1524 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

Can the Minister confirm whether or not the people who are not waiting to be assessed but actually on the list already assessed and considered to qualify for domiciliary care, are these people receiving domiciliary care? Obviously there is a list of people that have been assessed and considered to qualify.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

No, there is still a waiting list for domiciliary care, but what I can say is that since the last question on the subject, some more people have received domiciliary care but there is still a waiting list.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the fact that the amount spent fell short of £160,000, can I ask whether the £160,000 is the amount that is estimated in a full year would be required to obtain the 18,010 hours that the Minister gave me in answer to Question No. 1517 of 2004?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I assume so. Obviously not all that number of hours were covered, that is why the expenditure was less than £160,000 for reasons that I have just explained.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That was not my question. My question was, can the Minister confirm that in a full year the £160,000 would buy 18,010 hours?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister say, in fact, by how many hours short of 18,010 the service was provided in the financial year 2003/2004?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I would need notice of that question.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that that is the answer she has told me to the original question, which was to explain why the whole of the money was not spent, when she said that less hours were delivered than budgeted for because the matter was phased in, she does not know how much less it was?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

No, I know how much less it was in sort of cost but not in number of hours.

DR GIRALDI HOME

Can Government state if a decision on the future use of the respite unit at the Dr Giraldi Home has now been reached?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

Answer to Question No. 1525

No. There are now six flats being used for children in care.

Answer to Question No. 1526

No flats at Merlot House are currently being used for children in care. The five flats mentioned in answer to Question No. 930/2004 did not include any Merlot House flats.

Answer to Question No. 1527

One of the service users housed at a flat in Merlot House, Vineyards, will move by the 18th October 2004. The Agency is trying to acquire a suitable flat in another location for the other service user currently living in Merlot House.

Answer to Question No. 1528

The respite service will revert back to Dr Giraldi Home very shortly after modification works to the unit are completed.

GHA – HEALTH CARE RECIPROCAL AGREEMENT

Can the Minister now confirm what is the total amount of money which has been credited by the UK Department of Health to the Gibraltar Health Authority, as a result of the new arrangements for the Health Care Reciprocal Agreement giving a breakdown of the years the amounts relate to?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1529

As the hon Member may recall, the quota number was arrived at by dividing the total value to be credited to the Authority by the average cost to the UK of quota patients for the year of the account. The new system allows for the full cash value to be credited to the Authority without the application of any further formulae. This cash value is deposited by the UK Department of Health with Lambeth Primary Care Trust (PCT). This can be topped up as necessary from our own funds in the same way as we have been operating over the last few years. Lambeth PCT continue to act as our paymasters and pay the hospitals for the cost of the relevant treatment.

Answer to Question No. 1530

This year the UK Department of Health has credited us with £2.75 million. This allocation was based on agreed figures up to 2000/2001 and part payment on estimates and projections to March 2005. The breakdown in respect of the allocations for the period April 1993 to March 2001 is set out in the schedule that I now hand to her.

Answer to Question No. 1530 of 2004

| YEAR  | ,000 |
|--------------|-------------|
| 1993/94      | (£61)       |
| 1994/95      | (£8)        |
| 1995/96      | (£4)        |
| 1996/97      | £263        |
| 1997/98      | £3          |
| 1998/99      | £25         |
| 1999/00      | £328        |
| 2000/01      | £402        |
| TOTAL | £948 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1529 AND 1530 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When we are talking about a total of £948,000 we are going back to the year 1993/1994, am I correct? This is the schedule which the Minister has handed to me.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is what the schedule says.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Now, in that case, can the Minister confirm whether the monies that have been provided in the Estimates for the Gibraltar Health Authority as regards sponsored patients takes into account the total of the figures from 1993/1994 to the year 2002 and 2001? Can he confirm, therefore, is that the reason why the actual for sponsored patients was £4 million and now the estimate for this financial year is £2.3 million?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I am not sure I understand the hon Member's supplementary. The system has changed with effect from a certain date. The figure that I have provided is up to the period 2001. We have agreed a figure of £2.75 million. That figure will be updated as and when further figures are available. Whatever other figure the hon Member has in front of her from previous questions, she should now update with this information.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Yes but what I am asking the Minister is whether in fact, and I think this is what he answered in the last meeting of the House when we expressed our concerns during the Committee Stage of the Budget, if he looks at the Estimates for the Gibraltar Health Authority on sponsored patients there is a figure there for this financial year of £2.3 million, and the actual figure for the year 2002/2003 was £4.1 million. In that figure, the enormous difference, is he taking into account these figures that he has provided me with, which is related to the sponsored patients estimate for this financial year?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Of course we are. This information I gave to the hon Member at Budget time. I explained that the figure for sponsored patients this year was abnormally lower than that for previous years, and I explained to her then that this was due to the fact that this new arrangement provides a cash credit which allows us not to spend so much money out of our own pocket as it were in this current year. Of course it takes it into account and of course one balances with the other.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will it mean therefore, the next financial year the figure will also be lower than the £4.1 million?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, it means nothing of the kind. It means that for the next financial year I will give her an explanation on the figures that appear in the Estimates, as and when they are provided to me and as and when I know the answers to whatever questions she asks me then. I cannot speculate on what the figures are going to be then or what her questions are going to be.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

But the Minister can say that, for example, the figures that he has given me come up to the year 200 and 2001. When he receives the figure for 2002/2003, he will use that figure to actually decrease the estimate for the sponsored patients?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes of course we will. The principle will remain the same.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Are these arrangements in fact affected by the consortium arrangement that the Health Authority has made with Jersey and Guernsey? If so, how?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, it depends what the hon Member means by affected. They have come about as a result of the consortium arrangements and better cooperation with the other island territories and with Lambeth PCT. Essentially, nothing has changed except the calculation and the fact that financially we are marginally better off. In the past the system has been one where there has been a balancing of the books, UK has paid us for the patients we have treated in Gibraltar, we have paid UK for the patients we had treated there. Now the formula for calculating it can only have been worked out by an accountant with a view to saving the UK money, because if hon Members analyse what I said in the first paragraph of my answer, the system used to be one where the total value, in other words the total cost of dealing with our patients in the UK was divided by the average cost of quota patients. Now if one divides by the average cost of a patient, because some patients travel to the UK more than once, one is obviously dividing by a higher figure and the number that is then created is not a figure in pounds but a numerical figure and that is the number that we were entitled to patients for the following year. So in fact, we were getting a quota in numbers lower than it would have been if it would have been worked out in figures. The new arrangement is completely simpler.

The new arrangement is the amount that we are entitled to in pounds is the amount that we are paid without any fiddling. Fiddling implies malpractice, without any further mathematical adjustments. So I am satisfied that the new system is an improvement on the old system, it has been brought about because of the new consortium arrangements and we stand to get more money as the figures are adjusted. It takes them I do not know how many years to produce the figures, as the hon Member is well aware, and eventually the quota number will disappear completely and it will be just a straightforward balancing of figures in amounts of money.

HON J J BOSSANO:

But if in fact it is a question of an amount of money being credited, then is it not that the number of people that we send for that money dependant on how much we get charged by the hospitals or institutions that our patients get treated at? Is that independent of this formula and decided by the institution actually carrying out the treatment?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, I trust the hon Member is not confusing the way the system works. This amount of money is not a cap on the amount of patients we can send to the UK. This amount of money is the UK's contribution. If we need to send more people, then again as I have said in the answer, the amount gets topped up as necessary, the amount held by Lambeth PCT and which they pay to the hospitals. If Lambeth run out of money in any given year on our behalf, we top it up from our own funds and hence the lower number in the sponsorship vote for this year. The amount to which we are entitled to does not in any way cap our ability to send people to the UK.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I know, the ability to send people depends on the amount of money that we have and nothing else, but it does cut the amount that they pay for presumably. If the United Kingdom under the old system said, 'we will pay for the first 50', what I am saying now is the £2.7 million or whatever might turn out to be more than 50 or less than 50 depending on what we get charged by different institutions. Is that the case or not?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

If one did the whole exercise in the way it was done before and applied the mathematical figure, yes, it is bound to be different. Which way it would work out to be different I could not say.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I was under the impression from the answers given previously, that the Minister was telling the House that this was more beneficial and that we end up getting more patients treated for our money than under the previous system. That is why my supplementary says does that not depend on what the recipient institution that handles the patient charges us.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It depends on that if one applies the previous years figures on which the calculations were done, to this years lot of patients, but if one works out on an apples for apples basis last years figures with last years patients, then we are better off. The hon Member is right, if working on last years figures we are entitled to 50 patients for the coming year, and in the coming year the hospitals put up their charges by 50 per cent, then yes it would work against us. If we look at the year in which the calculation was made then it has to work out to a slightly advantageous system for us. On a pure mathematical basis.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact the arrangement does not do anything about what we can be charged, we get charged whatever is the market rate, is that correct?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is correct. Again, let me stress the market rate is the NHS rate in this particular case, and we have in this process, in this association with the consortium, we have come across cases in some leading hospitals where we were not being charged what the hon Member has called the market rate. We were being over charged and that is also now being corrected, but that goes back about a year or so.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister say, are these arrangements, I always understood that ours were as a result of the reciprocal arrangements that we had in order to give each other EU rights, going back to 1973, is it that Jersey and Guernsey had similar arrangements with the UK?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I do not know the answer to that question. Well, it depends what the question is. If the question is whether they have similar arrangements of sending sponsored patients to the UK, well yes, then the answer is yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In our case it started with our membership of the EU, that is the point that I am making. Since their arrangements in the EU are not quite like ours, I wondered if they had a similar historical background to this.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

They do not have an EU relationship with the UK for these purposes. The Channel Islands are only part of the EU for the purposes of the Single Market in goods.

HON F R PICARDO:

Just to clarify one of the things that the hon Gentleman has said in reply. He said when we run out of money in that pot we top it up ourselves. Rather, when the allocation of the amounts credited to us in the UK run out, we top that up ourselves. In the context of the new arrangements for Jersey/Guernsey and us, the 'we' in the hon Gentleman's reply relates only to Gibraltar or to the consortium?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, only to Gibraltar. The 'we' in consortium terms is purely to give us greater clout with the hospitals and the other institutions and bilaterally they are done by the consortium in certain cases on our behalf, but it is not a joint arrangement.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1533 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I have noticed that this is a very long list which I will have to study but I have just noticed that there are GPs with contracts for a year. Can the Minister explain why because I have always understood contracts to run for three years?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have not made any changes to the practice of the length of contracts or how there are signed in the time that I have been Minister for Health, so the hon Member has asked me how many practitioners are on contract and that is the list, and whatever the policy has been in the past remains the same. There has been a slight change to that, as I speak on my feet I am remembering something, in that a number of contracts were due to end at various periods during the current year and they have been grouped to end on the same or similar dates in January 2005, so that GHA can be better placed to make selection for continuation of services. In terms of the length of the period of contract, no change has been imposed by me since I have been Minister.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Then I am correct in saying that when I was Minister the contracts used to run for three years. Can the Minister confirm whether the General Practitioners that have a contract for a year, whether they form part of the actual complement of GPs?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes of course they do, the only medical practitioners we have are the General Practitioners and the more I think about it the more I think the answer to her question must be that they are still on three year contracts, but because some of these contracts were due to end during the course of this year, and because of all the changes that have taken place in the GHA, we have extended their contracts so that they end all more or less together so that GHA are in a better position to consider who should have their contracts renewed.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I do not think so because I do not like mentioning names but I can see that there is a doctor here, a General Practitioner who was not on contract. He was engaged as a Locum, and now I see that he has a contract for a year. This particular doctor I was told previously by the Government, that he was engaged as a Locum, he did not have a contract. I am referring to two of them which are here on the list.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The question was, 'how many practitioners are on contract specifying their speciality and the period of time of their contracts?'. That is the answer that has been supplied. If the hon Member wants other information then I suggest she ask me either during Question Time or writes to me.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Yes, because I am telling the Minister, there is a discrepancy here with the information I was given previously as regards two General Practitioners. Perhaps the Minister was not Minister for Health but there are two in particular that I was told in this House by the previous Minister for Health, that they did not have contracts, they were engaged as Locums, and therefore I will write to the Minister.....

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

But with respect to the hon Member, she does not seem to realise that time moves on. That answer may well have been correct when it was given and they may well have been Locums, and since then they may well have been.... If they are here on this list it is because they are now on contract. The situation has obviously changed.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Therefore, if they are here on the list as having a contract for a year, it seems peculiar that everybody else is not there for a year, that was my original supplementary. Why? Is it that they form part of the overall complement, or is it that the post that they are occupying is not part of the complement? Seeing that I am not getting a reply I will write to the Minister and will ask him for the information in writing if that is acceptable to him.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Of course it is acceptable, but for the sake of clarity I will repeat what I said. I am aware that we made certain decisions during the course of the year linked to the review, linked to changes in the Health Service and linked to the fact that something like five contracts were ending in the last three or four months of this year, and because of that some contracts were given for a shorter period, others were slightly extended and if she looks on the list she will find that many of them, in fact all except two, end at the end of January 2005. That is not a coincidence, that is a deliberate extension adjustment of dates so that at that date GHA is better placed to decide which contracts to renew and how to renew them and the terms of the contract.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So we are being told in fact, that in the case of doctors, the arguments that have been used in respect of other grades in the Health Service that there was our legal requirement under EU law to treat them as permanent employees once they had a series of short term renewable contracts does not apply?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The point is this. The hon Members will have noticed, perhaps they have not, that there are substantial changes afoot in the Health Authority. Included in those changes are the terms and conditions of employment of Consultants and General Practitioners. One cannot re-negotiate contracts easily if everybody has different termination dates, because otherwise there is not a date in which one can change everybody. That is why there has been a sort of tidying up exercise so that they all end up ending on one date. So from that date, the Government are able to all of them to say these are the new terms of the contract. That negotiation is at a very advanced stage with the Consultants. I am not sure whether it is advanced or just starting with the General Practitioners. There are indeed two General Practitioners, as the hon Lady says, Doctor M and Doctor T, who were given one year contracts, and they were given one year contracts and that one year contract has not yet expired. They are still in their one year contract, that is why they are different. They were given one year contracts at the time and they are still in that one year. That is why they are different, this is the answer to her, this is the point that she was going to write about. There is no need to her to write about it. Those two are engaged, following a difficult recruitment process, they were both given one year contracts if she will remember back to those circumstances.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just ask in relation to the party whose contract seems to have expired in March of this year, what is the position? Given that she would no longer appear to be on contract, has that contract also been extended to that date in the early part of next year?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I do not know the answer to that question, is the short answer. I do not want to say things where I might be wrong but I think there is a possibility that the person concerned might be on maternity leave, but I do not say that with any degree of certainty. I am not aware why that contract appears not to have been renewed.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I have looked at the list now in a little bit more detail and I have seen that there are two more General Practitioners whose contracts have already expired. We have one who is a Consultant Anaesthetist, whose contract expired on 26th May, and then we have another one who is a Consultant Gynaecologist whose contract here is shown as having expired on 1st July 2004.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

All those contracts are under negotiation with all the Consultants.

HON F R PICARDO:

So are they in that case, are they holding over until.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I suppose so, I suppose that the personnel people would not have wanted to renew the contract on terms that were being re-negotiated, but we are at a very advanced stage in those negotiations and all the Consultants would end up with the same form of contract, which is not the position they are in today.

NO. 1538 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – DIALYSIS UNIT

Can the Government confirm whether they have finalised the negotiations with the medical staff at the Dialysis Unit in La Linea for the provision of Medical Cover regarding the Dialysis facilities in the Europort Building?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1535

Professor Terry Feast thought very highly of the dialysis facilities at La Linea and recommended that we should continue using that facility. However, Government are committed to provide the treatment to our patients in a local facility and have not accepted the recommendations contained in the report.

Answer to Question Nos. 1534 and 1536

The Gibraltar Health Authority has reached agreement in principle with the dialysis unit in La Linea for the provision of these services locally. No agreements have yet been signed and the financial details are therefore considered confidential at this stage.

Answer to Question Nos. 1537 and 1538

However, I can confirm that the arrangements being entered into include the provision of training of local nurses, all nephrological medical cover, including out-patient clinics and ward visits as well as the dialysis itself.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1534 TO 1538 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister confirm whether the Gibraltar Health Authority is looking at a situation where at some stage our local personnel will be able to man the dialysis unit at the Europort Building?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

We are not in a position to say that. We are crossing one bridge when we come to it. At the moment the objective is that the existing service, which is provided physically in La Linea by the La Linea Clinic, will be in future provided physically in Gibraltar by the La Linea Clinic, on our machines, in our hospital. Now, whether that in future develops to the ability of the Gibraltar Health Authority directly employed staff to deliver the whole range of the service, depends on whether local medical people acquire the necessary skills or whether they do not. Some of the facilities may be able to be localised in that sense, others not. It is a desirable objective but whether it realistically will be achieved is something which is hypothetical and speculative at this stage. I suspect that it is going to be easier to sort of localise the nursing aspects rather than the medical aspects, where one could only re-do it by employing a Consultant nephrologist. That is really quite a way down the line, considering we have got just between twelve and twenty patients usually. So, as the Minister has said in his answer, it does include the provision of local training to nurses with a view to, as much as possible of the package, in future being provided in Gibraltar by Gibraltar staff rather.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well I mentioned it because I got an answer in the previous meeting of the House, where the Minister actually said 'with the option of provision of training for local nurses included in the package', that is why I asked the question.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

He has just said the same today.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

What I am saying is, that the Chief Minister is saying that it is hypothetical and it is this and the other, and all I am saying is that I put the question in because I got the reply from the Minister for Health in the last meeting of the House, when he actually said 'the dialysis unit in La Linea with the provision of nursing cover and we have the option of provision for training for local nurses included in the package'.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

What is hypothetical is not the question about the provision of local nurse training, she has now had the answer twice to tell her that there is local nurse training provided. What is hypothetical is her supplementary this afternoon in which she asked whether this was all done with a view to in future the whole package being provided locally, not nursing, the whole package she asked. 'Does this mean that in future the whole package is going to be provided locally?'

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I did not say the whole package. Can the Minister say whether the negotiations are at a stage where the Government hope that they will be in place when the new hospital opens?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Negotiations are at a very advanced stage and it is really the question of drafting legal papers that is holding us up.

NO. 1539 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – PRIMARY CARE CENTRE

Can the Minister for Health now confirm, since he stated during this year's budget session, that the treadmill machine donated last year to the Primary Care Centre would be updated to a stress machine for use at the Europort Hospital, who will be operating it?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Government can confirm that the treadmill donated last year will be upgraded and used at the new facility for stress testing if prior authorisation is given by those who donated the equipment. Such authorisation has been sought but has not yet been given. Staff in the Medical Investigation Unit at the New Hospital will be responsible for its operation.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1539 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Again I thank the Minister for changing his mind to when I first raised the issue, when he said that the Government were not prepared to buy the additional gadgets, but again, he has now changed his mind and I am thanking him.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, I am not sure how much the hon Member understands of this stress machine and the background to it, and how much she does not know about. What I said on the last occasion was that a treadmill had been donated, that it was not a stress machine which was the subject of her question, and that the Government were not prepared to buy the necessary software to convert it into a stress machine to be operated in the Primary Health Care Unit. If, given the right circumstances and following the medical advice we would be prepared to operate it in the right environment, and in those circumstances either the original donors can upgrade the equipment, or we will upgrade it and use it as a stress machine in its proper environment, which is the Hospital and not the Primary Care Unit.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

That means that when it is in the Hospital then we are talking that there will be two stress machines.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

If by that she means the one that is there now and the new one, then the answer is yes.

NO. 1540 OF 2004

GHA – DENTAL SERVICE

Can Government confirm whether Private Practice continues at the Dental Service of the Primary Care Centre?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Yes Sir.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1540 OF 2004

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Is the hon Member reading the question?

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Yes. Can Government confirm whether private practice will continue at the Dental Service of the Primary Care Centre?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, that is not the question of which we have had notice.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is not the question which I have in front of me. It is just continues.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

They are wholly different questions.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

This is how I phrased it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot see what she wrote, I can tell what has reached us. Can the Government confirm whether private practice continues..... The hon Member should just clarify which she means to us, that is all so that we know which question we are answering.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will continue.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Let me answer both her questions. To the question in front of me which was as it is written in my Order Paper, 'can Government confirm whether private practice continues at the Dental Service at the Primary Care Centre?' the answer would have been Yes, Sir, because it does continue at this moment in time. In answer to her re-phrased question as if it had come in a supplementary, the answer to whether it will continue, that is a completely different question and the answer to that is No Sir.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Just a point of clarification. We knew that it existed because I got an answer from the previous Minister for Health in answer to Question No. 302 of 2001 when he confirmed that there was private practice at the Dental Clinic at the Health Service, that is why. I just wanted to know whether it would continue. Thank you. So the answer is no it will not continue.

NO. 1541 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – DENTAL SERVICE

In view that the Minister for Health in answer to Question No. 829 of 2004 stated that the Healthcare Development Team had highlighted Dental Service staffing and waiting times for patients as being inadequate, whether it is still the GHA's intention to recruit additional staff?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The Gibraltar Health Authority is conducting a full review of Dental Services to determine the appropriate mix of staff and distribution of resources between the Primary Care Centre and the new hospital. Any bid for additional resources will be considered as part of the 2005/2006 Estimates. That is the end of my written answer but I have just noticed something that I missed when the answer was being drafted. That is the word 'inadequate' as part of the question which is attributed to me in answer to Question No. 829. I have my answer to Question No. 829 in front of me and nowhere in that answer do I use the word 'inadequate'.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1541 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No, I think it was the Healthcare Development Team that made reference to the situation at the Clinic. In any case, the answer that I got from the Minister in answer to Question No. 827 of 2004, he did say that several attempts were made in recent months to recruit additional staff in order to meet the increased demand that has arisen from the expansion and the development of the Dental Services, and it has proved unsuccessful. That is why I put the question in.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is correct. It had proved unsuccessful. If I remember rightly we were recruiting a Locum as well and that proved unsuccessful as well.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

But they will continue with their efforts.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have already given the answer, that we are looking at the situation and we will decide with a view to the next financial year.

GHA – E111 ARRANGEMENTS

Can the Government confirm whether they will be replacing the E111 arrangements for emergency treatment, in view of the new system which has been implemented in other EU Member States?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Yes Sir.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1542 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister give an indication of when this will occur?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Well, we are currently starting an interim period which has been granted to a number of countries including the UK, to proceed with what has been called an interim E111, which in effect is the same or very similar form and it will be a paper E111. The main exception is that we need to issue one per member of the family instead of using one per family group. This interim system is valid until the end of December next year and the interim system will come into being some time between now and then. In fact, we are to a certain extent soft-peddling because we have been asked by the UK, who are not ready to bring in the new card themselves, to delay the introduction of our new E111 to coincide with theirs, but I suspect all things being equal we will see it happening towards the end of next year.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I suppose that these arrangements will form part of the overall negotiations we are talking about between the UK and Gibraltar.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No it is beyond that. These are EU Directives which have now been formulated and the Commission has issued very specific instructions on the format of the card. It includes the cover of the fields, the shading effects, the font type to be used, the size of it, it is extremely detailed and we are now at the stage of actually having cards printed. We have equipment for it, it is moving on a common front across the EU.

GHA – A & E DEPARTMENT

In view of the statement made during this year's budget session by the Minister for Health, can he now confirm when there will be s Senior House Officer permanently based from 5.00 pm to 9.00 am at the Accident & Emergency Department at the Europort Hospital, a recommendation made by the Nursing Review Team in 1997?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The Government have commissioned reviews by the Gibraltar Healthcare Development Team of medical staff provision which includes appropriate staffing levels for Accident & Emergency services. Following receipt and consideration of these reports, Government will make decisions on future staffing levels for Accident & Emergency Services. Can I also add this to the end of my prepared text? But similar to my previous question, I again just noticed that I am attributed to have made a statement to the effect of changes in the question, and I have looked through my budget session statement and I find nothing there of my having made any statement to that effect.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1543 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No, I think that nobody has accused the Minister of changing the question.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, the hon Member misunderstands. The first line of this question, says 'in view of the statement made during this year's budget session by the Minister for Health'. I am saying that I have my budget statement here and I have looked through it seriously and I find no mention of Senior House Officers of A&E or of the Europort Hospital in that context.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I understand that and I know why, because when I was delivering my budget speech he intervened and he said 'yes, we will have it at the Europort Building'. That is why.

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Can Government confirm whether they accept that they should provide the necessary financial assistance to those of our patients who require transplants when these can be obtained in Spanish Medical Institutions?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1531

As the hon Member is by now well aware, all patients are given the choice to be treated in Spain as opposed to the UK at the time of referral when considered appropriate by the referring Consultant. 168 patients out of 622 have elected to go to Spain during the period 1 April 2004 to end of September 2004.

Answer to Question No. 1532

This administration has not made any changes to the arrangements for payment to Spanish Medical institutions. The arrangements have been in place for many years and conform to the provisions of EU Regulations 1407/71 and 574/73. That is to say, the relevant EU form, usually the E112, is issued to the receiving institution in the name of the patient concerned. The costs are then settled with the UK in the normal manner. For diagnostic investigations where the receiving institutions are private, the expenses are settled directly by the GHA.

Answer to Question No. 1544

Patients who are sponsored for organ transplants receive the same level of maintenance that apply to them under the policy. This is regardless of whether the patients are referred to the UK or to Spain.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1531, 1532 AND 1544 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When the Minister refers that these arrangements for payment are done in the normal manner, is he referring to the reciprocal agreements with the UK?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It is done on the basis of the EU form through the Spanish institution which finds its way to the UK and back to Gibraltar, yes.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Then what happens?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Payments are settled between the UK and us. Spain reclaim from the UK and the UK reclaims from us.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it not that the normal manner used to be that this was what financed these reciprocal arrangements for sponsored patients before? Does the Minister not know that in the agreement between the United Kingdom and Gibraltar, the offsetting element on the sponsored patients was in fact the use that we made of services in Spain, which was then shunted back through London as if we were tourists in the Costa Del Sol, and then the bill sent to us and offset against the patients we sent to the UK. So, if the system for sponsored patients in the UK has changed, how has that affected the arrangements for payment, which was previously offset against the sponsored patients?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I am not aware of what the hon Member is saying. The arrangements as he has described them have not changed. Using his words "shunted through Spain onto the UK and back to us". Those may indeed have been part of the reciprocal arrangements. If they were, they still are, I have stressed we have made no changes, but this is an area where the hon Member, I hope, will not press me too much but I would be happy to give him further information privately, I am quite happy to answer any of his questions but it is an area where it is not in our interests to discuss too much publicly.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am interested in the extent to which the new arrangements which were the subject matter of a previous question, with this pot of money being provided. Given that in the arrangements that have existed until now, until this new system was put in place, the quota was the result of the netting of the amount that we had to pay the UK which the UK had to pay to Spain, which then depended on the netting between UK visitors and Spain and Spanish visitors in the UK being ill. In that exercise there was a plus or a minus either in the direction of the UK or in the direction of Spain, and then a subsequent plus or minus as between us and the UK, in which if I remember correctly, we also included a figure for the number of visitors from Spain across the land frontier that were given treatment by us here, which would then be offset in the opposite direction. Now what I am asking is if all that was part of the formula for arriving at the quota of patients for which we did not have to pay, and there is no longer a quota of patients for which we do not have to pay, how does that fit with the pot of money that the Department of Health in the United Kingdom put at the disposal of the Government of Gibraltar having scrapped the formula?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, the arrangements that have existed as the hon Member has described, continue to exist and have not changed. In as much as they formed the basis of the mathematical formula for calculating the quota, which as the hon Member knows is a number of patients, that basis of financial information remains, that exercise of gathering information remains the same, that has not changed. The only thing that has changed is that instead of telling us 'next year you are entitled to 50 patients free of charge', as from now, as from last year they are telling us 'next year you are entitled to £x for the treatment of patients', as opposed to a number of patients. That is what has changed. The process of reaching either the quota or the amount of money has not changed and remains the same.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact what the Minister is saying is that the amount of money that is available each year is still the result of the exercise that used to be done to produce the quota which was number of patients as opposed to amount of pounds.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is correct.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I would just like to thank the Minister for a letter I received recently regarding a patient who requires a transplant, I honestly mean it, but I think that with a little push in the position wonders can also be achieved. I would like to congratulate the Minister for a letter I received recently, reference a patient in Gibraltar who requires a transplant in Spain, and he wrote to me about it and it is a matter that goes back to February when the patient came to see me. I am writing to the Minister and I am thanking him but I am also saying at the same time that with a little push from the Opposition, I think that wonders can be achieved as well.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is a lot of the injuries of life that the hon Member has to take, because when the Minister responds to a protest from the hon Member subsequently we are going to be exposed to the accusation that it is only through her intervention, then the temptation for the Minister not to put himself in that position again may become irresistible. I would just have left it at the thank you which would have conveyed all the necessary points.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1547 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister confirm whether the Government are expecting another deficit?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

What does the hon Member mean by another deficit?

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Are they going to go over the budget, are they expecting that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is another matter. The Health Authority necessarily function to a deficit. The question is do the Government expect the Government subvention to need to be higher? It would be unusual if it were not the case, although we try to curtail but a lot of the Health Authority expenditure is demand-led and cannot be controlled. For example, the amount consumed in prescriptions or the amount of demand on the Sponsored Patient Scheme, and therefore the Government cannot say with any certainty whether or not there is going to be a higher degree of subvention.

GHA – PAIN CLINIC

Can Government confirm whether the Pain Clinic of the Gibraltar Health Authority will be transferred to the Europort Building?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1548

As part of the on-going work of the Healthcare Development Team there have been reviews of the Clinical Services but not all of these have yet been presented to the Government. Government are therefore not currently in a position to confirm the exact staffing composition after transfer to the new hospital.

Answer to Question No. 1549

The Government are pleased to confirm that facilities have been made available in the new Europort Building to accommodate the Pain Clinic, which will transfer with other clinical services to the new hospital.

GHA – NUMBER OF PATIENTS

Can the Minister for health confirm whether he has now been able to find out why there are different statistics given for the same periods, in the Government Abstract of Statistics, the Healthcare Development Team Report of 2003 and in this House, something I pointed out to him during the meeting of 30th April 2004, when he requested me to write to him with the relevant information, to which I have not yet received a reply?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

I can confirm that the errors pointed out by the hon Member have been due to administrative errors. I can further confirm that an exhaustive recount of the data in question has provided the figures shown in the schedule which I hand to the hon Member. These figures, I am told, are now accurate.

Answer to Question No. 1550 of 2004

Question No. 782 of 2004 relates to GP attendances at the Primary Care Centre. The figures for 2000, 2001 and 2002 are 86619, 104951 and 91615 respectively.

Question No. 781 of 2004 relates to the total number of out-patient attendances at the Primary Care Centre. The figure for 2000 is 130810.

Question No. 818 of 2004 relates to the total number of in-patient admissions at St Bernard's Hospital. The figures for 2000, 2001 and 2002 are as follows –

2000

Question No. 820 of 2004 relates to the total number of out-patient attendances at St Bernard's Hospital. I can inform the hon Member that in this particular case, the Statistics Office omitted to include part of the figures in their reports as these are made up of Casualty Attendances and Out-Patient Clinic Attendances. I can confirm that the figures for 2000 are as follows –

Casualty Attendances

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1550 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I will need time to check them and then I will see whether they are correct.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Well, let me clarify to avoid.....

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I know what the Minister is saying, that whatever has been given before is wrong. This is correct, is that what he is saying?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Well, yes, but more than that. The hon Member drew a distinction and highlighted the differences between the figures provided by the Healthcare Development Team, by the Statistical Office of the Government and by information provided in answer to questions. I can only respond for the accuracy of information which is provided in answer to questions, and even that has been proved to be partly wrong in the exercise that we have now given. To save her the trouble, these figures we believe are now accurate. They will show some minor differences between what I am giving her now and the information I have given in the House previously, and they will also show differences with what has been given by the Healthcare Development Team and by the Statistics Office. I cannot answer for that but I am told that they have now looked at the data exhaustively and that this is the accurate figure. I wish I could stand here confidently and say that if the whole exercise was repeated the numbers would turn out to be exactly the same. I think one has to put that comment in context because I do not want it to sound flippant either, and that is that this information is invariably compiled in the short period available to get the answers ready in time for the House of Assembly. It is usually done by people who are not statisticians, who are diverted from doing other jobs which in many cases are professionally medical jobs in order to provide this information. Therefore, the hon Members should understand that although we try very hard to be accurate in the figures that we provide, that it is not beyond the limits possible for errors to be made.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Therefore the Minister was trying to suggest that we were not being accurate and what he has now said is completely the opposite. In fact, it took me about two weeks to seek the information, and when I informed the Minister he was trying to suggest in the letters and the debate that we had in the House, that we were not being accurate but he did not understand that he had to sort of compare apple with apple. In fact since he talks so much about apples with apples, I am now eating apples more than ever before. An apple a day keeps the doctor away.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, I remember making the clarification that when the hon Member pointed to three sets of figures, I said they were different, I said that we could not take that at face value and one had to look at the questions that were asked or the information that we had been provided in each of those sets of figures, to make sure that we were comparing one particular fruit with the same fruit, in order to see whether they were accurate or not accurate. I asked her to pinpoint exactly what the information was. She did. We have now looked into it and it is obvious that errors had been made and that has been admitted today.

GHA – LABORATORY SERVICES

Since the Government, in answer to Question No. 828 of 2004, confirmed that there has been an increase in demand for most Laboratory Services, whether they intend to increase resources in this department?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The Government have commissioned clinical reviews of all of their speciality services including Pathology. These reports are under consideration and Government will determine in due course whether additional staffing is needed.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1556 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When the Minister talks of commissioning a report, is he referring to the Clinical Governance Audit?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The same review that is being undertaken at the moment?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, within the overall review, clinical reviews of all specialities are being carried out.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Obviously the Minister is aware that the extra demand sought is actually highlighted by the Team itself.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes. It is also true that new equipment as it comes on line is able to provide more sophisticated tests, and in some cases more work can be done, greater output provided with fewer human resources. So increased demand for tests does not necessarily equate to increased human resources in each particular case.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Just out of curiosity, I remember that the previous Minister for Health, the Hon Dr Bernard Linares, said that tests were being sent to a clinic in Barcelona. Is that still being done today?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

If it was being done then and there was a need for it over and above somewhere else, presumably it is still being done now. I would not be able to answer that.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Except I remember the previous Minister saying that they were doing it as an interim arrangement and they were not sure how it would work, because the actual samples had to be transported by aeroplane and therefore, the GHA would be monitoring the situation and that is why I was interested in whether it was still being carried out or not, whether it had been found to be successful.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I remember that the GHA was concerned that some of these tests, because of the lapse of time, could actually lose the quality and therefore it was necessary to have a speedy testing of these samples. They had found that Barcelona could offer that but I cannot remember the details of what exactly the types of tests were. Certainly there was an element of testing in a laboratory in Barcelona. The hon Member is right.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is this further study that is being done of the service, being done by the same people that are in the Clinical Governance Team, or by somebody else?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The team have brought in their own consultants to look at each particular speciality. For example, representatives from the Royal College of Surgeons would have been looking after the surgical speciality, and so on across the specialities, but the overall umbrella is that of the Health Care Development Team.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the study on the Laboratory services still going on, or is it finished and they have made recommendations?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Recommendations have not been presented to the Government yet. I am not aware whether they have finished or it is still on-going.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the service now operating at the full manning level or are there staff shortages currently, as compared to the complement that existed already?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I need notice of a question like that. I do not micro manage the laboratory of the hospital.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think there is an issue amongst the staff there, that they feel that the volume of work has risen exponentially and that they feel that there is a case for additional staff. I have certainly seen papers to that effect. So, certainly if one asked the Consultant Pathologist and his staff members, they would undoubtedly argue that there is a need for more staff, and we are just having that view assessed by the Health Care Development Team before the Government form a view on that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I believe that indeed the Health Authority Report that puts the number of tests done by the Laboratory, does show a significant increase.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is no doubt about it. The volume of laboratory work has grown very considerably over the years and the staff has not grown with it. What needs to be established is whether the improved technology has absorbed the additional volume or whether there is need for additional staff as well as the new technology.

GHA – STUDY LEAVE

Can Government confirm what has been the expenditure for Study Leave, up to the end of August 2004, which is included in sub-head 30, School of Health Studies, and what amount was budgeted by the Gibraltar Health Authority for the full year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The expenditure for Study Leave to the end of August is £50,856.53. The amount budgeted for the year was £150,000.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1558 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Am I correct, if my memory serves me right, that the amount that has been budgeted is about double what was budgeted last year?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is what I said a moment ago. The amount budgeted for the year was £150,000.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Then I asked the Minister to confirm whether it was just about double of what had been budgeted for the previous year. It has trebled since, not doubled because I have found the answer to the question. Does that mean that more doctors are being sent this year, because less were sent last year? Does the Minister know what the reason is for the trebling of the amount?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The amount budgeted is in direct proportion to the amount of Study Leave available to doctors to take up, which they need to do to keep up their continuing professional development. So according to the number of doctors it equates to a number of days of Study Leave which then equates to a figure in pounds. I think also in this figure this year, there has been, I am almost certain they have included in there, there is a provision in the National Nursing Conference that was held last month. I am almost certain that is so but I cannot guarantee that, which makes plain the difference as well, because the budget was of the order of £50,000 for the Conference. As I say, the amount budgeted for Study Leave is in direct proportion to the number of doctors and the number of days that they are supposed to take up, but this is something that they have to take up but they do not always take up if work does not allow them to. That is why the account is not fully overspent at the moment. Not fully spent.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Am I correct in understanding what the Minister has just said, that they have included in this figure the £52,000, the International Nursing Conference?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, I said that the budgeted figure may include the Nursing Conference which was a study period in itself, but I am not sure.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I see. Could he confirm that then in writing? If we are talking about a sub-head which is traditionally taken by doctors and not by nurses, and the sub-head is included within the School of Health Studies, it may be that the Minister is referring to the figure of the School of Health Studies and not the figure for the doctors.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It could be.

There is no waiting time for emergencies. The Gibraltar Health Authority has been able to obtain private patients waiting time under the Private Practice Agreement whereby Consultants are committed to provide information on private patients when requested.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1551, 1552 AND 1559 TO 1562 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I note that in three specialities the waiting lists have gone up. In answer to Question No. 831 I was given ophthalmic as 55 and we have 89, orthopaedics has gone up to 418, gynaecology has come down, ENT has come down and general surgery has come up. So the situation has not improved that much. I beg your pardon if I delay the House, because I have something like eight questions that have been asked and I need to look at each one of them. I will be looking at the figures, as I always do, but I would like to take the opportunity of advising the Minister for Health that here again I have found another discrepancy as regards the answers that I have been receiving in this House in relation to the out-patient attendances at St Bernard's, and I put him on notice that I will be writing to him because I have done my homework and I realise that they do not coincide neither with the Abstract of Statistics, and neither with the Healthcare Development Team Report. Even though the Chief Minister says 'que soy pesa', I think that he should congratulate me on being able to identify the discrepancies that there are in the figures. When we talk about the non-entitled patients in the hospital, can the Government confirm whether non-entitled patients refer mainly to patients who come in ships and are moored here in Gibraltar, or can they say that non-entitled patients are also being seen to from the hinterland?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

A non-entitled patient is one who is not entitled to treatment in St Bernard's Hospital by virtue of being a contributor to the GPMS Scheme, whatever the source.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

But if he comes in with a form from the hinterland surely he is entitled?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

If he comes in with a form then he is not a non-entitled patient, he is entitled.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister confirm whether entitled patients are being seen in Gibraltar from the hinterland?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, let me correct what I said before. All the jargon about GPMS plus the entitled patients from the EU, and if they come in bearing a valid E111 or E112, or whatever the forms are, then the answer is yes.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

On the E111 I should clarify, a new E111 is not a passport to health tourism. In other words, one cannot come in to get treatment with an E111. One is only entitled to rely on an E111 if one is in Gibraltar and the need for the treatment arises whilst one is here. If one is a resident in Spain one cannot just come in for medical treatment saying 'here is my E111, give me a kidney transplant' or something like that.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will there be private patients being seen at the Europort Hospital when it is fully functional?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I think that question is the subject of another question on the order paper from the hon Member. The Government are looking at the whole question of private patients and I am not in a position yet to make a statement to that effect.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Government confirm, as they did in the last meeting of the House, that there will be private beds at Europort?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Lady has got to be in this area very careful to choose the right language in the right times. If she means private beds, private beds are different to private practice, see private beds could be occupied by non-entitled patients. The fact that they are non-entitled patients accessing a private bed does not necessarily mean in future that they will be regarded as private patients paying fees for the benefit of practitioners. See what I mean. Private practice is one thing and delivery of medical services to non-entitled patients is another thing. Now in the past non-entitled patients have often been seen as private patients by practitioners charging them private patients fees. That will end. In future, non-entitled patients who are charged fees will be charged fees by the Health Authority and there will be no private practice in that area.

Answer to Question No. 1566 of 2004

There are currently four local nurses presently in the UK undergoing specialist training.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1563 TO 1566 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I note that the figure of the Enrolled Nurses that have applied to train up to the level of Staff Nurse is still nine. Can the Minister give a reason why so few have taken up the offer? It just does not make sense to us that there are so many enrolled nurses and only nine have applied.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I asked the same question myself, both of enrolled nurses themselves and also of the people responsible for running the course, and the answer was from the people running the course that it could be because of the level of difficulty offered by the course, and from nurses themselves, the feedback that comes to me is that they do not seem to be interested in doing, from all accounts, a long and difficult course. The facts are as they are, only nine have wanted to apply. We are in the process of trawling again, not for this course but for a future course, but if people are not interested they are not interested.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Except that will the Minister take on board the feedback that we have, that enrolled nurses come to us and they tell us that they are dissuaded from taking up the training because they are put off pay and they are given a grant, therefore their earnings come down.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I am not aware of that but I shall certainly take on board what she has just said.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I will write to the Minister to remind him because these nurses come to us and they all seem to coincide that they lose money in the process.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I thank the hon Member. No one has brought that to my attention from within the GHA.

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – COMPLAINTS PROCEDURE

Since the Minister for Health stated in an interview with GBC on 16th August 2004 that there are many parts of the services on which he hears complaints on a continuing basis, can he also confirm whether he is aware that there are many patients who complain that the GHA cannot find their records?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Government are aware that there has been a historical problem with regards to the tracking of patient records which persists to this day.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1569 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The Minister has really not answered the question because I said is he aware that there are many patients who complain, and he has replied that this has been a historical problem. Well, we now have more patients than ever complaining that their records cannot be found. Can the Minister say why this is the case, and whether the Government intend to do anything about it?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

There are several assumptions in that supplementary which I do not accept. One, that there are ever increasing numbers, this is hypothetical as far as I am concerned so I cannot address a hypothetical situation which the hon Member is giving with no authority, other than what she thinks is the case. Secondly, neither do I accept that there are any more records being lost, or any less records being lost than when she was Minister for Health. As far as I am concerned the situation is of the same scale, of the same order because it is the same system, the same records are being run in the same way and there are no great differences to indicate that things are much worse or much better, but they will be better in the future.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, I was Minister for Health and I can assure the Minister that I had my office within the buildings of the Health Authority and very rarely did we have as many complaints as there are today. When the Minister says that the problem will not be as it is today, can he say what it is that the Government intend to do in order for the problem to be eliminated?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Before I do that, let me say that I am getting increasingly bored with hearing the hon Member plug the line 'in my day everything was tickety-boo and everything has gone wrong since the GSD came into power'. All she needs to do is ask outside in the public and she will be dissuaded from this point of view. People know that everything was not 100 per cent when she was there and I do not want to raise the past but please, can we stop boring us with this statement 'when I was there everything was okay'. What are we going to do for the future?, if the hon Member is interested, we are currently evaluating a new system, an electronic system for tracing records, which would replace the present system or non-system, which is one of manual tracking. In effect one tags the file and the system will tell where the file is, anywhere within the GHA premises, electronically, and will tell if the file leaves the premises and who was the last person to have possession of the file. Obviously it is more complex than that, but that is the overall picture.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I have taken note of everything the Minister has said, but when he says that he is tired of listening to me going back to the past, I would remind the Minister that it was he who started going to the past and not me.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just ask the Minister, that tagging system will I assume relate to a physical document file, is that right? We are still going to have paper files with patient records in them?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That tagging system to which I have referred is as applicable to physical paper files. Further down the line and do not expect me to put a date to it, but we are looking at electronic patient records as well but that is on the wish list at the moment rather than a likely development.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I take it from that and from his answers that despite the politicking in both his answers, that in fact the hon Gentleman shares our concerns that records should go missing? Whether they went missing before 1996 or not, and after 1996, because this can cause serious problems for the patients involved. I know for example, that some friends of mine recently had that problem, involving a very young child, where the child was tested on a number of occasions. When a decision was to be made as to treatment, the records of the tests had been lost and the child had to go through the tests again, which for a child is very uncomfortable. Does the Minister share our concerns that whoever's fault it is, however historical it may be, these things are happening and they have to be resolved?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Of course I share the concerns, I would prefer to be advised by management that no record has been lost in the last year or whatever, and that the situation should continue. Of course I share the concern like any sensible person would do. The politicking which he refers to aside, which starts with the question, if he cares to read the original question again, but let us leave that for the moment. As I have stated in my answer, of course we are aware that there is a problem and of course we are seeking to resolve it.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Is the Minister referring to the new electronic system just to St Bernard's or Europort, or will it also include the Primary Care Centre?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I think we are but hon Members must realise that we are looking at things that are being researched at the moment, not things that are being tested and about to be implemented. So I urge the hon Member not to ask me at the next Question Session in two months time 'and when is the Minister going to implement the electronic system that he said at Question Time two months ago he was about to implement?'. I am not saying that. I am saying we are evaluating the introduction of it. I know the hon Member too well, and I know that that is exactly what she will do at the next Question Time and she will phrase her question, 'in view of the statement made by the Minister at Question Time that a new patient system is about to be introduced, why is he taking so long to introduce it?'. So to answer her question, it is being evaluated in the context of the new hospital and with a view to extending it to Primary Care, but it will be tested in the new hospital.

When the prescription charges were amended, the Government made all medicines free for pensioners and additionally, after charging only for the first three items on the prescription, supplies all further medicines completely free of charge.

It is not possible to calculate the extra revenue raised within any degree of accuracy but it is estimated to be in the region of:

- a) £30,000 for periods 13 of ¾ and periods 1-4 of 04/05.
Periods 5 & 6 are incomplete.
- b) £14,000 for periods 11 & 12 of 03/04.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1570 TO 1581 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

All I can say is that I have something like sixteen questions here and it will be impossible for me to actually look at the figures at this moment in time, so I will be taking them with me and studying them more carefully. Can I just ask the Minister for some information as regards the dispensing fees on which I am still not 100 per cent sure? I remember that when the Hon Dr B Linares was Minister for Health, he did say that as regards the dispensing fee there was a maximum of £750,000 being paid to the pharmacists, and I think that the present Minister for Health has also confirmed that. Can he explain whether the £750,000 is shared equally with all the pharmacies, or are they given different fees, or is it shared equally? That is a question that I have always asked and I have not been given a reply.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I would need notice of that question. I can confirm that there is a cap of £750,000, how it is shared out I would need to research. Maybe my Colleague can give that information.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes, it is not a cake that is shared out in equal pieces. Obviously they are paid according to the number of dispensations, if I may call them that, each pharmacist has issued. Therefore some have dispensed many more items and prescriptions than others and therefore they will be paid accordingly. So it is not shared equally but then they all have to add up whatever they have received in dispensing fees and then it is where the capping of £750,000 comes into effect.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I am not sure I have understood the answer. Perhaps I will write to the Minister and then he will be able to provide me with the information if he has not got it with him, because it seems to me an unfair system that if say a pharmacy actually dispenses more medicines than another one, is the Minister saying that he could get less than the other pharmacy?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, what I understand my hon Colleague to have said is that the dispensing fee is in direct relation to the number of prescriptions dispensed. Therefore if one has a notional pharmacy that only dispenses ten prescriptions during the period, and another one that dispenses 100,000, then obviously the pharmacy that dispenses 100,000 will get 100,000 times the dispensing fee and the other one will only get ten times the dispensing fees. But overall, all the pharmacies, have a cap of £750,000.

GHA – ELDERLY CARE PATIENTS

Can Government state during the months of April, May, June, July, August and September of 2004, of the beds occupied by Elderly persons who have been formally discharged, how many fell into each of the three categories identified by the Government:

- 1) Elderly persons living alone;
- 2) Elderly persons needing support;
- 3) Others able to be looked after?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1582

There continues to be periodic difficulty in finding beds for newly admitted patients at St Bernard's Hospital. Much of the problem is caused by the occupation of a significant number of medical beds by patients who have been deemed fit for discharge.

Answer to Question No. 1546

As a consequence some elective operations have been cancelled. Four were cancelled in April, seven in June and four in September.

Answer to Question Nos. 1583 and 1584

The additional statistical information requested by the hon Member is set out in the schedules enclosed.

Answer to Question No. 1584 of 2004

ANSWER TO QUESTION NO. 1583

The number of long stay elderly patients are as follows:-

|           |    |
|-----------|----|
| April     | 60 |
| May       | 62 |
| June      | 59 |

All elderly patients require some sort of support be it physical, emotional or social.

All patients who have been officially discharged are able to be looked after.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1546 AND 1582 TO 1584 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The Minister said in a statement that I have actually got here with me, that he would stick his neck out that the problem of the shortages of beds would be solved, is his head still on the chopping block?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I find difficulty in identifying that supplementary in line with what has been asked in the main questions.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

It is relevant to the question of shortages of beds, on which he was interviewed, I have got it here with me, and he said 'I will stick my neck out and that the problem will be solved by the end of the year'.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will have an explanation. The difference between putting ones neck out and putting it on the block, they are different acts. The hon Lady asked whether the neck was still on the block not whether the neck was still out.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

We will wait until the end of the year.

HON C A BRUZON:

Would the problem not be eased substantially if Mount Alvernia were to be completed? There are two floors still at Mount Alvernia not being used. I know I think it is nearly ready, maybe the hon Lady will confirm this. She told me in the House a few months ago that it would be ready in September and I can confirm that substantial progress has been made but there are still two floors that are not being used, and logically, if the two floors were completed quickly then some of the elderly people in the Hospital could move to Mount Alvernia.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The problem would be temporarily eased by that. The hon Member knows that a very substantial investment has been made in Mount Alvernia to increase its capacity substantially, and that one of the things that the Government are planning to do, as the hon Lady gave in a previous answer, I think it was 33 elderly people occupying beds in Hospital are earmarked or are waiting to move to Mount Alvernia. That by itself would be a very temporary solution because the numbers would soon build up again, of elderly people in hospital. We might get rid of 33 or 40 but then elderly people would start going into hospital again and staying there. So by itself the extension of Mount Alvernia is not enough, it has to be accompanied by a variety of parallel action. One is the possibility of providing more residential care facilities, not just Mount Alvernia. The other is extending the provision of domiciliary care so that elderly people can stay in their homes for longer and not feel that they have to take refuge in hospital when they are actually not ill. A further plank of the Government's policy in that respect is to build more Bishop Canilla style housing, which has an element of shelter in the sense that there are wardens, resident wardens and all of that. All of these things, domiciliary care, further residential care, further sheltered accommodation, all these are ways of making it less likely that people have to be abandoned by their families in hospital, as a means of providing them with effectively, elderly residential care facilities which hospitals are not for. That does not mean the facility should be provided somewhere else. Unless we do all those things, which the hon Member knows are well in hand, simply providing an extra 50 beds in Mount Alvernia, which is about to happen, would accommodate the 30 or 40 that are presently blocking beds, if we could call them that, but they would soon be replaced by another 40 patients in St Bernard's Hospital if that is all that was done. That is why it is important to do much more than just that.

Have Government now decided which employees will be re-generating the meals on each of the floors at the Europort Hospital after they are transported from the old wine factory area?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answered together with Question No. 1586 of 2004.

NO. 1586 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – NEW HOSPITAL

Can Government now confirm whether they have finalised the arrangements that will come into place for meals to be provided to patients in the Europort Hospital when it becomes operational?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1586

The arrangements for the provision of meals to patients at the new hospital will be on the basis of a plated menu service.

Answer to Question No. 1585

There will be no re-generation of food required. Meals will be delivered straight from the kitchen to the wards and will be served on individualised trays.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1585 AND 1586 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When we talk about the meals that will be cooked in the old wine factory area, have the Government already made arrangements who will be providing it and who will be transporting it to the Europort building?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It depends what the hon Member means by having made the arrangements. The overall plan is there and is being implemented as and when things come on stream. If the hon Member is now going to ask me whether it is the existing staff in St Bernard's Hospital, the answer is yes as well.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The existing staff will remain as members of the Gibraltar Health Authority, with the same contracts and conditions they have now?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So when the meals are transported to the Europort Hospital it will be done by a private entity, am I correct?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No. It will be a GHA operation by GHA employees using GHA assets. May I correct that for the avoidance of doubt. For GHA read Government, because the facility may be expanded to provide food in other directions as well.

NO. 1587 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – NEW HOSPITAL

Can the Government confirm whether there will still be Private Ward facilities at the Europort Building?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Yes, the design of the new hospital makes provision for 10 beds in private ward facilities.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1587 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So I suppose these will be used for non-entitled patients?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, but not necessarily exclusively. There is a difference between the bed and the medical service delivered. An entitled patient may choose to rent a very expensive bed and pay for it. It will not entitle him to any quicker medical service but he might find the bed more comfortable.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Does that mean that the private bed, being so much more expensive means that it is more luxurious than the others?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

As I recall, beds in the private corridor never were more comfortable. Why people chose to lie in them as opposed to in a ward bed is a matter of very peculiar personal preference, but there are some people who attach importance to it and if they want it the facilities are there. That said, no decision has yet been made as to whether that will operate in that way or how it will operate. The answer is that the facility exists. If the Government want to operate a private ward facility it is there. No final decision has been made about whether it is going to be operational from the beginning, of course it has got to be staffed, and there are issues of that sort still for consideration but the facility is there in the design of the hospital.

NO. 1588 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – PRIMARY CARE CENTRE

Can Government confirm whether there have been any changes implemented to the appointments system which was introduced at the Primary Care Centre in the summer of 2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1588

At the beginning of August 2004, a new computerised appointment system was introduced. This software (Frontdesk) is specifically tailored for appointments in a Primary Care setting and was chosen amongst others by the Primary Care Co-ordinator, Administration and IT officer. This system allows the Gibraltar Health Authority to keep a record of statistics as well as strict control on advanced bookings.

Answer to Question Nos. 1553, 1554 and 1557

The statistical information requested by the hon Member in Question Nos. 1553, 1554 and 1557 are set out in the schedule attached.

GHA – HEALTHCARE DEVELOPMENT TEAM

Can the Government confirm, in view of the reply given by the Minister for Health in answer to Question No. 826 of 2004, that they do not agree with the comments made by the Healthcare Development Team in their report of September 2003, that District Community Services are under resourced and therefore are not well provided for?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The answer remains the same as given in answer to Question No. 826 of 2004. The Government do not have to agree or disagree with comments made by the Healthcare Development Team in their Diagnostic Report.

The Gibraltar Healthcare Development Team uses international comparisons when looking at service provision. This is not the same thing as making formal recommendations for change but simply adds to the debate on the most appropriate form of provision for Gibraltar.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1589 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So of course there will be instances where the Government agree with the recommendations and there will be instances where they do not agree with certain recommendations.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, I think we have been down this route before. The hon Member seems not to yet have grasped the purpose of the Diagnostic Report and the work streams that have flowed from it.

GHA – HUMAN RESOURCES DIRECTOR

Can the Government give details of the salary of the post of Director of Human Resources for the Gibraltar Health Authority?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The new Chief Executive of the Gibraltar Health Authority will be Dr David McCutcheon and he will be taking post on 20th October. The Director of Nursing Services and Patient Management will be Ms Karen Parsley and the Human Resources Director will be Mr Chris Wilson. They start work on 1st December. Three year contracts have been awarded with salaries of £106,000, £66,758 and £60,758 respectively. The post of Director of Nursing Services in GHA has been vacant for two years. The salary level of the post with its present duties and responsibilities is £40,595.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1568 AND 1595 TO 1597 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister confirm whether I heard him correctly, did he say £106,000 or £160,000?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

£106,000.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Apart from the salary, are there any additional perks?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

What is a perk?

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, accommodation, things like that.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, the usual conditions of contract officers. Accommodation in the same sort of accommodation and the usual conditions of a contract officer.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I suppose that the salary will be taxed locally.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, subject to local tax.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister confirm whether it will be Category 3?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I am glad that we have this information because in the interview the Minister said the details of the salaries, not something which is normally discussed for this area of employment. So I am glad that he has provided the information.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

At that stage we had not yet interviewed applicants. It would have been a little bit silly to advertise the level of salaries that we were or were not prepared to give, prior to those applications being received and the interviews taking place.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Government confirm whether that salary will now be the salary for future Chief Executives?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Clearly not. These are not established posts. The Gibraltar Health Authority will always have these posts but this is people that the Government bring in to move Gibraltar quantitatively and qualitatively forward in the context of health development. We are paying for the importation of skills and expertise and it should not be assumed that these are the established salaries of these posts if they are re-provided in a different way in the future. Certainly not.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Government confirm whether the salary that the Minister has just provided us with for the Director of Nursing Services, £66,000, can he say whether that salary is the same one that was there previously for that post?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, this is a new post. The old post was Director of Nursing Services. The post, as it has been advertised and filled, is for Director of Nursing Services and Patient Management, and it has a completely new job description to what the old post had.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will that salary remain for that post for the future, or will it be on the basis of the answer that I got for the Chief Executive?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The question is entirely hypothetical. The Government will pay what people doing the job is worth. This is the Gibraltar Health Authority, these people are being contracted to the Gibraltar Health Authority and the Government will make decisions, in the future, when these jobs need to be replaced, what needs to be paid to a future new recruit, perhaps we might have to pay more. We may be able to pay less, it is not a question of the Government now committing themselves to make this the salary. That would be absurd. The labour market place for people of these skills is competitive and it depends on how much demand there is for the services of people with these skills. Now, if she were to ask me 'do the Government hope that these posts can be re-localised at some stage in the not too distant future?'. The answer is that I sincerely hope that that is true and I hope that people make a career in Health Care management, go off and acquire skills and qualifications and come back so that the day is upon at some stage when we do not have to import this expertise. Certainly the position of the Government, and I know the Opposition Members have a different view to which they are entitled, but our view is that health care management is a discipline that has moved on a long time, it has moved beyond the stage where it could just be done as another form of clerical and administrative function, and until Gibraltar has the sort of expertise available to it to do these things in a way that ensures that people get the best possible health service that our money can buy, we think it is right to bring these facilities in from abroad. I cannot tell the hon Member how much would be paid to these post holders in the future when they come to be replaced. These are three year contracts with these incumbents. After three years, it may be more or less, it is unlikely to be less but certainly the Government are not saying that these are now the going rates for these posts.

HON L A RANDALL:

Will the post holders be entitled to an ex-gratia payment on termination of their contracts?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, the Minister said that it was on usual Crown contract terms, and that is one of them.

HON L A RANDALL:

Can Government state the level of the ex-gratia payment? Is it a percentage of salary, or is it just a negotiated sum?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think it is the usual Government contract rate, which I think is 25 per cent.

HON L A RANDALL:

Twenty five per cent of one year's salary or twenty five per cent of the value of the contract? That is three times £106,000.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is 25 per cent of annual salary, whether one pays annually or at the end of three years, it is 25 per cent of everything that one has earned.

HON F R PICARDO:

Twenty five per cent of everything that person will have earned will be 25 per cent of £318,000. Is it that or is it 25 per cent of one year's salary, £106,000?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

As the hon Members I am sure know, the standard terms for Crown contract officers is 25 per cent per annum of salary. So, basically, one adds up the total salary and in effect it is 25 per cent of the total one has earned. That is what all Government contract officers have always earned and in fact, it is quite good value compared to the cost of providing a pension for a permanent and pensionable officer, for which it is generally thought that the provision that would have to be made for a funded scheme, is more than 25 per cent per annum of salary, in order to provide a final salary scheme pension. Twenty five per cent is thought to be less than it would cost to provide an equivalent public sector type pension. Some public officers get it paid annually by concession but actually the contract stipulates that one gets it all on termination.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can the hon Gentleman confirm whether that amount is tax free?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

He is now stretching my memory. I have a suspicion that it is tax free because it is the equivalent of a pension. I believe that it is but I would have to re-check that. I think the standard terms are 25 per cent tax free but I would prefer that he did not rely on my memory. If he is interested I will confirm it to him. I think it is tax free.

HON F R PICARDO:

So in effect the total remuneration for the new Chief Executive at the end of the three years will be in the region of £400,000.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If he has done the sums I am impressed. Yes it is this increased by a factor of 25 per cent. If that adds up multiplied by three, if that is the figure that he has mentioned yes. The hon Members now begin to realise what is the hidden cost of public sector occupational pension schemes. It actually costs much more than that.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So really, we are talking about a situation that this gentleman will be the highest paid officer in the whole of the Government.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Probably not. I cannot remember what the salary package is of the Finance Centre Director but it cannot be far off this and has been in this order for many years already, I think. There or thereabouts.

HON F R PICARDO:

It is my recollection that the Finance Centre Director earns in the region of £80,000 or used to.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well that might have been, I believe that has not been his position for some time. Perhaps he can ask the question next time round about the Finance Centre Director's salary. In any case, that is not the point. The Government do not look at these things in terms of , there is a rate in the market for people with these skills and this expertise. In Gibraltar, either we want to carry on having our Health Service run the way it has historically been run over the last many years, or we want our Health Service run in accordance for a period of time, whilst it reforms itself, run in accordance with modern healthcare management techniques and we have made a policy decision that that is worth paying the market rate for those services. Frankly, in this day and age, it is not that huge a salary.

HON L A RANDALL:

Can Government confirm that Dr McCutcheon will be seconded from another health authority?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I do not see where the hon Member has had that impression from. There is nothing certainly that the Government have said, or the GHA have said that should give him that impression. The short answer to his question is no. He is on contract to the Government.

-----
HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Mr Speaker with your leave I would like to clarify some information I gave in answer to supplementaries earlier on in this Session. In answer to Question No. 1595 on the salary of the new Chief Executive of the Health Authority, in supplementaries we had some discussion on the percentage of the gratuity due to the Chief Executive at the end of the three year term. Although I qualified that I was not certain but we talked about a percentage of salary and whether it was total salary of the three years or whether it was per year. The correct information, I have checked the contract, the correct information is that we have agreed a lump sum of £35,000 payable at the end of the three years. It is a one-off payment and it is not tied to any percentage.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can I ask the Minister, does that apply to just one of the officers, the statement that he has just made?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That applies to the Chief Executive about whom we had the discussion.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The other contract officers then get what the 25 per cent of their three year salary?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

We did not discuss the other contracts, we discussed only that one. The information is on that particular one.

GHA – HEALTHCARE DEVELOPMENT TEAM

Can Government confirm what are the recommendations they have implemented from the Healthcare Development Team and which are those they have not accepted to date?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answered together with Question Nos. 1590 to 1594 and 1598, 1600 of 2004.

NO. 1600 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – HEALTHCARE DEVELOPMENT TEAM

In view of the Government's announcement that there will be a number of phases involved as to the recommendations made by the Healthcare Development Team, by which date do they expect all the recommendations to have been received?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1590

Members of the Gibraltar Healthcare Development Team are provided with the same accommodation as contract officers and locums employed by the Gibraltar Health Authority.

Answer to Question No. 1592

The Government have paid a total of £972,209.01 to date in respect of fees for the Healthcare Development Review.

Answer to Question No. 1594

Mr John Langan has been seconded to the GHA by the UK's Modernisation Agency as Joint Chief Executive and exercises the same powers and responsibilities as Mr Ernest Lima. This is a common arrangement in the UK for interim health service management.

Mr Frank McGurrin, who is not a member of the Gibraltar Healthcare Development Team, also exercises the same powers and responsibilities as Mr Joe Catania.

Answer to Question No. 1598

To date the Government have received nine reports from the Healthcare Development Team. A further six reports are scheduled to be delivered over the next three months.

Answer to Question No. 1593

Following acceptance by the Government of recommendations contained in a work stream report, the report itself is published amongst key GHA staff and union representatives for consultation. Following the consultation period the report is officially launched and information contained in the report is made public. Both the Complaints and the Scheduling reports have been subjected to this procedure, and a similar procedure will apply to the other reports.

Answer to Question No. 1591

Implementation of a work stream report is made up of a number of phases. The first phase is pre-implementation planning which involves a number of key tasks to ensure the successful launch of a new way of working. These tasks include the agreement of the new process, identification of new staff roles and communication with patients.

Answer to Question No. 1599

To date the Government, in consultation with the Healthcare Development Team, have accepted in principle all of the recommendations contained in the completed Phase II work stream reports which Government have received. The following work streams have been implemented:

1. Management Arrangements
2. Complaints

The following are in the pre-implementation phase:

1. Scheduling
2. Primary Care Appointments
3. Staff Appraisal and Training Needs Analysis
4. Redefinition of the Relationship with the Civil Service

The following works are undergoing further development work by the Healthcare Development Team:

1. Medical Staffing
2. Patient Re-Registration
3. Discharge

Answer to Question No. 1600

The Government expect to have received all of the recommendation reports from the Healthcare Development Team before the end of December 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1590 TO 1594 AND 1598 TO 1600 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister confirm how much Mr McGurrin is being paid and how much Mr Langan is being paid?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Both Mr Langan and Mr McGurrin are seconded by the Healthcare Development Team, by the Modernisation Agency and therefore are not on contract to the Government or being paid directly by the Government. They are part of the fees of the Healthcare Development Team.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

As I have so many questions being answered at the same time, I am not too sure whether the Minister mentioned anything in relation to scheduling surgery.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is there any special tax treatment in the case of these two gentlemen or are they paying normal tax as any other employee?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

They are not salaried employees.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well they are working in Gibraltar.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

But they are not salaried employees.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Somebody is paying them to work, no? Is that the advice the Government have, that the Tax Ordinance does not apply to them?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

As far as I am concerned they are seconded to me by the Healthcare Development Team.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it that the Government do not know whether they have got taxable emoluments in Gibraltar?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Government are paying a fee to an external agency to deliver health reform advice. Part of that advice includes implementation advice and support. My understanding is that they are not in a relationship of employment in Gibraltar and that they are probably not paying tax personally in Gibraltar. Be aware they are not employed, they are deployed in Gibraltar by an organisation that is being paid a fee for the delivery of services by that organisation in Gibraltar. Rather like visiting consultants, not medical consultants. Rather like visiting engineering consultants, or architectural consultants or things of that sort. What the correct treatment of such people is under the Income Tax Ordinance I do not know, but that is the structure of the way the service is being delivered. Whether they are subject to taxation is not a matter that I am personally aware of.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I would imagine that the tax treatment of the persons that are working here for the company that is selling its services to the Government, will have been factored into the fee the Government is charged. Presumably the other gentleman who is getting £106,000 was not given the category whatever, he would have demanded a higher salary gross. Therefore one assumes that whatever they are getting paid by the agency must take into account the tax treatment, but it seems to me that if they are in fact working alongside, sharing a post in the Health Service alongside somebody else, Mr Catania or Mr Lima, every day of the week, all the year round, well they are more like detached workers than some other category. Detached workers, my understanding is, are made to pay tax in Gibraltar.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I was returning to answer the first part of the question that the Hon Miss Mari Montegriffo asked me in terms of scheduling. Her question in Question No. 1591 was that scheduling surgery in gynaecology will commence as planned in October, is that right?

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Yes that is right.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I said that scheduling was in the pre-implementation stage and I defined for her the pre-implementation stage. The first phase is pre-implementation planning, which involves a number of key tasks to ensure the successful launch of a new way of working. These tasks include the agreement of new processes, identification of new staff roles and communication with patients. That is where scheduling in gynaecology is at the moment. It is being implemented and it is in the pre-planning stage.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Except that as I read the Press Release further, the Minister said the new scheduling service for surgery will commence in gynaecology in October. It will be introduced in other surgical specialities. So I took it that it was starting already within gynaecology. Except that when he goes on to mention the other surgical specialities, ophthalmology, general surgery, urology, orthopaedics and ENT, these will start in early 2005 after the backlogs have been eliminated, and that is the question that I am putting to the Minister. Now, is he saying, because the Minister in answer to Question No. 1561 a little while ago, gave me the list of the people who are waiting for elective surgery. Therefore, it appears to me that if there are 418 people waiting in orthopaedics, and then he says in his Press Release that the scheduling surgery will commence after the backlogs have been eliminated, is he saying that it will start once the 418 are off the list?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, the intention is to eliminate those long waiting lists and once we are down to manageable figures, then to introduce scheduling in the particular speciality. Scheduling will not cure the waiting lists.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I know that, but if I am correct then, this is an exercise that would take quite a few number of months, because if we had a situation in April and in May where the waiting lists were lower in most specialities that I have been given, then the backlog will surely take much longer than what the Minister is saying. Is he saying early 2005? That is what he said in his Press Release.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is scheduling and there is waiting lists elimination. They are linked but not the same thing. The process of elimination of backlog, elimination of waiting lists, relies on two factors in addition to the scheduling process. One is the arrival on stream once we move into the new hospital, of a much larger amount of operating theatre resources, so that there will be more operating theatre resources available and therefore each speciality will get access to more operating theatre time than they get at the moment. Secondly, it has to be read in conjunction with the proposals in relation to the increase in the number of consultants, which means that there will be more people to perform the operations and provide the service. So, there are some disciplines in which the scheduling system can start to work already, in their existing facilities at St Bernard's Hospital and I think gynaecology has probably already been providing a degree of scheduling service, probably now for one or two months, but the main hospital based scheduling service will not come in with a vengeance until we are in the new hospital and the rate at which operations can be carried out in each discipline, will hugely increase because of (a) the availability of more operating theatre resources, (b) the availability of more keyhole surgery techniques, and (c) the availability of more surgeons and consultants to carry out these services with part of the scheme, involves increasing from single-handed consultants to double-handed consultants et cetera. None of that can take place in St Bernard's because there are not the additional operating theatres available, nor additional staff recruited.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Are the Government saying that scheduling surgery is being offered to new patients or to the patients that I have been told are on the list?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is a different issue. Scheduling simply means that the patient has a say in choosing a date convenient to the patient for doing the operation. It has got to be by appointment. It is not just a question of being told to come on 15th October or 2nd January and one may be on ones holiday and if one misses the slot, that is what scheduling means. Scheduling does not in itself provide additional resources to deliver more medical care. It is just a way of delivering whatever the amount of resource one has in a way that is convenient to the client in terms of the choice of date and (b) obliges the Health Authority to make sure that all the required back-up services are in place for the delivery of a particular choice. So for example, if the hon Lady and the Health Authority management schedule an elective, obviously this does not apply to emergency surgery which is immediate, we are talking about elective surgery. If the hon Lady schedules an operation for her to be done on 3rd March and the Health Authority confirm the 3rd March to her, then the Health Authority will make sure that all the resources that she needs, both before the operation, during her stay, for example a bed, and post operation, for example therapy and all of that, that all of that is already lined up and teed up to be delivered to her consistent with the date for the operation which has been given to her. That sort of coordination, which is really internal coordination within the Health Authority, has actually never been available before, and that is what scheduling means. This is not just about her date, it is about lining up behind the scenes all the resources necessary to make sure that she will not be pushed around from pillar to post, from one department to the other, one is ready and the other is not. That by itself does not eliminate backlog. One can only eliminate backlog by having more surgeons and more operating theatre time, and that is how the backlog will be dealt with.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I posed the question because I was confused, because the Press Release says that it will be introduced after the backlogs have been eliminated. Therefore, I thought that the hon Members obviously were saying, well if the backlogs are to be eliminated we are talking about the backlogs of the people who are on the list for elective surgery. Secondly, in that same Press Release, it does say as the Minister's statement that he is excited about visible real improvements to the quality of our health care and so on and so forth, he says secondly by the elimination of all backlogs of waiting lists. That is why I posed the question.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, and that press statement remains correct in the sense that one cannot offer people the choice of dates whilst one has a waiting list still on ones plate. In other words, dates will simply not be available for her to choose as a new patient, if the system is still clogged up with people waiting. So, the scheduling system will not actually operate properly until the backlog is fully removed. Now, not to say that it will not operate at all but it will not operate as it is intended to work until there is no backlog. The whole basis of the reform is that waiting lists will disappear. They will become a thing of the past. Now, when the new hospital arrives and the new staff that has to be recruited is recruited, the advice that we have is that the backlog can be eliminated very quickly and that the fully fledged scheduling process will actually start to operate quite quickly in the full sense, without prejudice to the fact that in the meantime there will be a degree of scheduling available. She is right in that it will not operate in accordance with the basis that the model is intended to deliver in the longer term, until the backlogs have been eliminated and that is a matter of weeks and a few months, we are not talking about years to eliminate the backlog. The procedure for the elimination of backlog that has been worked out talks about weeks and a handful of months and no longer than that. So that is the situation and we think the system will work very well but that there will be launching issues and there will be transitional issues and that we do not expect the system to work from day one, as it will eventually work when the backlogs have been ironed out of the system.

NO. 1608 OF 2004*THE HON F R PICARDO*EMPLOYMENT – WAGE SUBSIDY

Can Government state what was the expenditure by the Employment Agency on wage subsidy in the months of April to September 2004 and the number of people and of employers involved?

ANSWER*THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The expenditure incurred by the Employment Service on wage subsidy in the months of April to September 2004 is as follows:

| Year 2004       | April | May | June | July | August | September |
|------------------------|--------------|------------|-------------|-------------|---------------|------------------|
| Expenditure (£) | 2,695        | 13,288     | 8,989       | 16,474      | 6,610         | 10,068           |

|---------------------------|--------------|------------|-------------|-------------|---------------|------------------|
| Total of Employers | 21           | 24         | 27          | 26          | 28            | 28               |
| Total of Employees | 24           | 29         | 34          | 34          | 29            | 29               |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1608 OF 2004*HON F R PICARDO:

Can the Minister indicate why the expenditure fluctuates, as it does, when the number of employers and employees sometimes is steady? For example, in the month of July, the expenditure is in one instance £16,000 when we are dealing with 26 employers and 34 employees, and in the previous month of June the expenditure was half that when we were dealing with only one more employer and exactly the same number of employees.

HON DR B A LINARES:

The expenditure is very deceptive really because some of the bills go back on a previous entry. Different employees engaged in the scheme finish at different times in the six months. Their year of wage subsidy given to the employer ends in July or June and therefore, I think it is much more indicative in terms of the progress of the scheme to look at the number of employers and employees rather than the expenditure, which fluctuates for the reason I have just given.

What was the number of employment contracts registered with the Employment Agency in respect of private employers excluding Government-owned and joint venture companies in the months of April to September 2004 giving a breakdown by nationality of employees?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The statistical information that is requested by the hon Member is set out in the schedule attached.

I am very pleased to be able to provide data from the Employment Service registers concerning frontier workers. This was discussed in the last meeting and I explained there were difficulties with the computer, the Profile 2000 Programme, I want to express my appreciation to the officers in the Department who have now somehow re-arranged the programme to give us at the touch of a button the data required.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1609 TO 1611 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I thank the Minister for having written to me at the beginning of September, giving me that explanation and most of the data already requested up to the end of August, although I did not receive this set until after my Question had been filed? Can I ask him to turn his mind to the total figure of frontier workers and ask him to see whether he can in some way explain why there is a constant rise, that that curve always is going up, and whether the service has any indication why even in its constituent parts, for example, the Gibraltarians in that group, the Other British in that group are consistently going up?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The reason is that these are cumulative figures. The totals are cumulative figures and also behind it all, there is that eternal problem that I have explained before, the failure of employers very often to notify terminations, and that is why there is that increase, not terribly dramatic but certainly because of the accumulation of these registrations.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can I ask the Minister to look into something which I imagine he cannot answer now? This is, if he looks at the figure which he has given us say for August, or for April in terms of frontier workers, and the table he provided in writing which gave us a breakdown by nationality, it shows for example that between April and August, comparing the frontier workers and the breakdown by nationality previously provided in writing, it shows that the number of Spanish nationals that are registered as foreign workers is something of the order of 300 to 400 less than the total number of Spanish nationals registered. That would suggest that there is in the order of 300 to 400 resident Spanish workers. That seems a high figure and I wonder if that could be looked at?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Resident in Gibraltar so they are no longer foreign workers.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The Minister has given us in the previous answer a breakdown which shows the total, and then he has given us the frontier element, I imagine, of that total which is around 2,400 in the written answer which coincides with the component of Spanish nationals in the figure that he has given in answer now to the male/female division. In the answer he has just given, he gives us the male/female division and previously to that in writing he provided a figure of Spanish frontier workers where for example, in August it was 2,529. What I am saying is that if he looks at the figures in different months, he finds that something around 350 would appear to be by deduction the resident Spanish workers.

That seems to be a high figure compared to what I remember seeing in the past and I wondered if that could be looked at.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I certainly will because I share the hon Member's view that it seems a rather high figure of Spanish residents in Gibraltar.

HON F R PICARDO:

Following from the answer that the Minister has given in relation to my first supplementary, are we therefore to expect that that curve is now going to flutter a bit. We have seen a 10 per cent increase in the first nine months of the year across the board of frontier workers. If that is because of registrations, are we going to see that figure now plateau?

HON DR B A LINARES:

It should even out after notices of terminations are demanded and eventually achieved and obtained by the Employment Service, it should be evened out, but there seems to be a pattern as I say, not just with the frontier workers but with every other cumulative totals that we have here in these tables, there is that increase. We simply, to some extent, an enlightened guess is that it is because of the terminations.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1612 TO 1614 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

In relation to Question No. 1612, can I just ask the Minister whether he has noted the quite dramatic increase in terms of females receiving unemployment benefit, where we have an almost 100 per cent increase, and females receiving social assistance where the increase is in the order of I think about 40 per cent or 50 per cent, whether he has analysed those figures in order to be able to understand how such sharp increases can be noted in a period of only six months?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I have not analysed these figures in detail because this information actually comes to us from the Social Services Department.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In answer to the question on the numbers of people added to the register, which is 100 in April, the number of Gibraltarians joining the register, it goes up to 195 in September, then if we compare that with the number of persons employed who were registered, how is it that the difference between these two figures is not actually reflected in an increase in the numbers still registered? What this indicates is presumably that people are stopping attending without having had a job, in almost as big numbers as those who stop attending because they have got a job. That would be the only deduction that I could make. If I may take as an example any particular month, for example, in the month of September this shows 195 people registered for the first time as unemployed and 60 people were removed because they found work, leaving 135 more than there were in August, in theory. Unless something else has happened to the 135, since in fact the unemployment figures that are published do not show such an increasing trend, it would imply that people in fact simply stop attending the ETB even without finding work.

HON DR B A LINARES:

This is what we call 'the lapsed', which means that they actually stop registering in the ETB as unemployed any more. That may explain it.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that in fact the figures are quite significant, because it would appear from the September example that I have quoted, if there is no significant change in the numbers out of work in September then we are talking about the lapse of numbering the employed by a ratio of 2 : 1. If the difference between the people that become unemployed and the people that get jobs is 135, which is the 195 minus 60, and most of them then disappear because they lapse, would the Minister consider the possibility perhaps for a period of time of keeping a record of the people that are lapsed to see if it is that they find work on their own, because they may actually be joining the workforce but not apparently coming from the unemployed, because they have actually been unemployed but they have not taken the job at the time that the ETB still had them on their books as being unemployed. It may be for example that people have lapsed according to the ETB in September when really they have taken a job and their contract has not been registered, that kind of thing. So it might be worth monitoring for a number of months what is happening with the lapsed to see if in fact they are not really disappearing but actually getting work. Would the Minister agree?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes we have of course records of the lapsed people who do not turn up any more, but what the hon Member is suggesting that we somehow investigate the outcome, the final destination of these lapsed, whether they have actually found jobs for themselves which have not gone into our employment registers, which they should have done.

HON J J BOSSANO:

At least I am suggesting, if the Minister will consider, perhaps asking the officers at the ETB to try out for several months something like that to see if anything shows up. Given that it is surprising that twice as many people should disappear through being lapsed than disappear through finding work in a given month.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I understand the point made by the hon Member perfectly and I will put it to the officers in the Employment Service to try and follow this one up to see if they can shed any further light on these discrepancies.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1615 TO 1618 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I direct the Minister's attention to the front page of the statistical information provided, which is headed 'Answer to Question No. 1618' but is in fact the answer to Question No. 1615, which deals with work permits and a breakdown of occupation, sex and nationality. Can I ask him to look at the table provided for May, which refers to eleven Polish workers having been granted work permits as skilled workers I suppose? Can I ask him that figure increases to 22 in June, because the Immigration Control Ordinance which will provide that nationals from countries from the new Accession States will require work permits, has not yet been transposed and is in fact in this House, on what basis was the Employment Service requiring Polish nationals to obtain work permits to work in Gibraltar in May and June after Poland had acceded to the European Community and this House had not passed legislation reliant on the derogations from the Treaty in that respect?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes, I can see the point. There was this nebulous area between the May accession of the Central Europeans and the actual transposition of the derogation powers, but the Employment Service felt that at that stage we should still be requiring work permits as up to then. We actually discussed this in the last meeting of the House and I made it clear that we are still demanding work permits until such derogation powers were sought through legislation.

HON F R PICARDO:

I am not disputing the reasoning behind that, but on what possible legal basis could the service, which is a Government service, demand, seek or grant a work permit to somebody who is not legally obliged to seek such a work permit or cannot be the recipient of such a permit, because his nationality does not allow that, until such time until this House passes the Immigration Control Ordinance (Amendment)?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I understand the point that the hon Member is making. The Employment Service was given legal advice on this. I am not a legal man, I do not know the intricacies of the legalisms involved in the mechanics of the thing, but certainly the Employment Service acted according to what was deemed to be by legal advisers to be perfectly in order. I can see the point.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is the Minister's position then that any national of one of the Accession States, who has sought employment between May and such time as this House passes the Immigration

Control (Amendment) Ordinance, will be required even now to have a work permit, and that he is not a person who is entitled to obtain employment in Gibraltar?

HON DR B A LINARES:

That has been the practice yes, the whole question of the legality of the thing, but that certainly has been the practice and the Employment Service has acted, after all their function is not one of legal analysis, on the advice that they were given.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I ask the Minister whether that advice was provided by the Chambers of the Attorney General?

HON DR B A LINARES:

We were in contact with the Legislation Support Unit throughout this period of time but I am not too sure whether the advice came from the Chambers of the Attorney General or from the Legislation Support Unit.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the advice then that if a work permit is rejected, because presumably if the advice is that it is legitimate to require a person to have a work permit then therefore the discretion must exist to either grant it or not grant it, and the rules that apply in respect of people that do need work permits is that it can be rejected on the basis that there is available labour with the necessary skills? The advice is then that even before we change the law in this House to require them to have work permits if this can be done then why is it that we are having to change the law?

HON DR B A LINARES:

We are not changing the law, we are actually now consolidating our legal position by taking advantage of the derogation powers which are afforded by the European Directives.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The moment people join the European Union on 1st May, they are required by virtue of regulation going back to 1968, the freedom to go to any Member State to seek employment and therefore to obtain employment as a result, and we have no right to stop them except that there is a derogation and a period of transition for the new entrants this year, which is a three year one, and we are making use of that transition to legislate and we have the legislation in front of this House. Now if in fact we are already doing what the transition period allows us to do without having exercised the derogation to so legislate, and that is perfectly okay, then why are we legislating?

HON DR B A LINARES:

It is a legal issue and I confess it is beyond me as a layman in that respect, but certainly I think from a layman's point of view it seems to me much more in order so we are not questioned as we have been questioned today how on earth did we demand that permit, seems to be much more formal and well established to now legislate as we are doing in this House to establish the need for work permits by these new accession countries, availing ourselves of the derogation powers. It seems now that it is legally established, above board so to speak.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That seems to be a bit of a theological argument not a parliamentary one. We support the continuation of the work permit because it gives us protection for our workforce which we think is a good thing, but from our position in this House, given the fact that the information we have been given in Question Time is that we are already demanding work permits, if we are able to do it, it does not seem to us to be so clear that what we are doing is within the law if the law that gives us the power to do it is not yet on the Statue Book. Simply to say that it is tidier that what we are doing without the backing of the law we should do with the backing of the law and that is why we are doing the legislation. It does not seem to be right. I think having raised it at this stage, perhaps the Minister will see whether this is something that can be dealt with when we come to that legislation, where there is in fact a clause on this business of the work permits and by then we can have a clear answer.

HON DR B A LINARES:

The legislation, the hon Member will know, is in connection with the Bill on Immigration Control. The actual issue of access to the labour market is being approved in terms of Regulations, and amendments to the Employment Ordinance through Regulations. Nevertheless, I suppose it may come in the general debate, the question of work permits and access to our labour market.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well the Minister perhaps may agree that there seems to be no other opportunity in which to do it. In fact in the Explanatory Memorandum, the Hon Mr Picardo has just pointed out to me, it says the Ordinance provides a transitional period will be applied until 30th April 2005, during which time the citizens of all these Eastern European countries will not have full European rights of free movement in Gibraltar. In particular, they will not have full European rights to work in Gibraltar, instead they will have to hold a work permit before being able to take up employment without the work permit. That is in the Explanatory Memorandum of the Bill that we have to discuss.

HON DR B A LINARES:

There is an opportunity then, as the hon Member suggests, to debate that issue of access to the labour market.

EMPLOYMENT – DETACHED WORKERS

Can Government state the number of workers that were registered with the Employment Agency as “Detached Workers” in the months of April to September 2004, giving a breakdown of their trade and nationality?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The statistical information that is requested by the hon Member is set out in the schedule attached.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1619 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Just as a matter of interest and in relation to this question in future and other questions which relate to employment, how can we account for nationals of the five Accession States in future? Will we count them as other EEC or other non-EEC for the purposes of tables of this sort?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I think we will somehow have to create a new category which will be either non-EEC or EC with all the full rights of accession to work and to residence et cetera. We will have to create for the benefit of the Statistics, a new category relating to the new Accession countries. I imagine so, that is the best way to go about it.

HON F R PICARDO:

So other EEC existing and other EEC accession, something like that.

EMPLOYMENT – JOB CLUB

Can government state how many persons have used the facilities provided at the Job Club in the months of April to September 2004, giving a breakdown by sex and age?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The statistical information that is requested by the hon Member is set out in the schedule attached.

Answer to Question No. 1620 of 2004

Number of persons who have used the facilities provided at the Job Club in the months of April to September 2004:

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1620 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

The Minister will have noted that the total number of individuals using the Club, in particular for the periods of August and September, is I would say in particular for September considerably higher. Last year there were 54 people in September and now a total of 90 people in September. Is there an extraneous reason for that, is that perhaps as it is the beginning of a new school term, the time when people start if they are not going back to school, into employment using the services of the Club?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes, it could be quite a number of different factors. One of them may be precisely that. September after the respite of the summer months, the young people especially become more serious about their job seeking efforts, but remember we are talking here about seeking the facilities of the Job Club, it is not really centrally related to the number of unemployed or anything of the sort, just simply the number of people who decide to seek the counselling and the advisory and the information facilities given by the Job Club.

EMPLOYMENT – NOTICES OF TERMINATION

Can Government state whether termination forms which are lodged late with the ETB are registered as termination on the date when the form was filed or when the employee ceased work?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Notices of Termination which are lodged late with the Employment Service are registered with the date that the employee ceased work.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1621 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Just for clarification, with the date stated on the form as the date when the employee ceased work, I imagine.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In that case then presumably we would need to come back periodically to get an update on the figures that are given, because they are given as at the time that the question was answered but it is quite likely that there will be terminations coming after a given date, which relate to previous figures that have been handed to us. Is that correct?

HON DR B A LINARES:

In terms of unemployment figures?

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of facts when we have asked in a given year, the number of questions on the Order Paper that gives us by month the contracts opened and terminations registered. The terminations registered that were being given in answer to those Questions by month include presumably the terminations that are being put currently but will not include the ones that have still not arrived. So presumably those figures will need updating, is that correct?

HON DR B A LINARES:

They need to be re-adjusted.

NO. 1622 OF 2004

WORKS ABOARD THE ROTTERDAM

What steps have Government taken to ensure that the works aboard the vessel Rotterdam are carried out in a manner that is safe and in keeping with the Factories Ordinance and the Asbestos at Work Regulations and that any asbestos removed from the vessel is disposed of or treated safely?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The Health and Safety Inspectorate is permanently in liaison with Cammell Laird in all aspects related to asbestos work on board the SS Rotterdam, as indeed it would be with any other employer in any similar circumstances. Meetings have been held with representatives from Cammell Laird and contracted parties, as well as the relevant authorities for example the City Fire Brigade and the Environmental Agency, in order to discuss aspects of the work. The due risk assessment and proper notification of work procedures have likewise been produced as required by the Health and Safety Inspectors. The Health and Safety Inspectors remain informed and aware of the works being undertaken and maintain monitoring procedures as deemed appropriate, including on-site inspections. It is consequently and permanently in a position that enables it to be satisfied that the works being conducted are within the bounds prescribed to ensure proper health and safety conditions all round.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1622 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

How many on-site inspections have taken place to date?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I have not got the specific information with me but obviously a number of inspections, a number of visits on-site have been made because it speaks in the plural here.

HON F R PICARDO:

How do the Health and Safety Inspectorate remain constantly and permanently in a position to ensure that everything is carried out according to the Health and Safety Regulations? From the answer it does not appear that they have got somebody attached to the works or anything like that.

HON DR B A LINARES:

That is not the normal way. When they speak of constantly, it is constant attention obviously linking up as the need arises on an on-going basis. I would say perhaps the best expression is on an on-going basis rather than a continuous, I would say the difference between continual and continuous. If he can see what I mean.

HON F R PICARDO:

Would the Minister agree to provide after this House the number of inspections that have occurred? If that is agreeable.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Of course.

GDC – TRAINING

Can Government provide a breakdown of the training and development courses provided by the Employment and Training division of the Gibraltar Development Corporation Ltd at a cost of £1,284,000 specifying the share of the cost of each course?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The figure quoted in the question was a forecast outturn as published in the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2004/2005. The actual expenditure as calculated by the Department is £1,299,096.76p and I now hand the statistical information requested by the hon Member.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1623 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

In the table that the Minister has kindly provided, there is a reference to the biggest item of expenditure being ITP. Could he tell us what ITP is?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I do apologise. When I first saw it I was stuck as well. It means Individual Training Programmes. Training Programmes which are provided for individual persons. It has nothing to do with ITC.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is the Minister in a position to tell us exactly what type of training the Civil Service has enjoyed for £277,000?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes, the training is in terms of business management, management certificates and diplomas which are provided by Durham University.

HON F R PICARDO:

In respect of children from abroad, is that training provided at the expense of the Gibraltar Government for children from abroad? Or training for locals in respect of the treatment of children from abroad?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I am not too sure, I have to confess that for the exact nature of these courses for children from abroad I would have to ask for information, if he wishes to know exactly what is being provided there.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the different amounts for different courses, is this the cost of the courses or are these payments by way of grant or maintenance to the individuals attending? Or is it a mixture of the both?

HON DR B A LINARES:

A bit of both really. In some cases it is payments. For instance, Durham University has to be paid for their courses, in terms of management courses. Hallam University has to be paid for their consideration, have to be paid a consideration for their courses to teachers in educational management, but in some cases for instance, the Cammell Laird training, it is allowances paid to the trainees, it is a bit of everything.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The item 'Salaries £133,000' that is whose salaries? It is not the salaries obviously of the people in the Gibraltar Development Corporation because that is shown in the Personal Emoluments.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I understood it to be the salaries given but I can see the point that that is shown in the Personal Emoluments. I will have to seek information on that one too.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Does this cover for example anybody that is sent to the United Kingdom to study that is not employed by the Government, and I would have expected would actually be getting a grant as a student, or not?

HON DR B A LINARES:

This does not cover grants given to students to study abroad. That comes under the Scholarship Awards.

HON S E LINARES:

When he mentioned the teaching management of education courses that teachers are doing, is it included in that list in the Civil Service list where the £277,000 odd is in the list, because there is another special needs but it is not a special needs course, that would be completely different, but would it be included in the Civil Service one?

HON DR B A LINARES:

It may be because it is not included in the Durham University courses on management, this is more specifically for educational management run by a different University, Sheffield Hallam and it is not listed there. So unless it comes from another vote within the Education Department's budget.

HON F R PICARDO:

What exactly is the amount spent in terms of Chamber of Commerce £2,000? Is that a grant to the Chamber of Commerce for it to fund its own training?

HON DR B A LINARES:

This is a course that is run in liaison with the Chamber of Commerce in terms of secretarial work and there is a grant given by the Government, I think in terms of allowances to the persons taking part in the course.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the fact that the total which is nearly £1.3 million, shows an expenditure of £400,000 over the original estimate and also a similar amount over the actual in the preceding year, and now is down £400,000 for the current year and that indeed the uncovered deficit in the GDC was £400,000, it all seems to be the result of this 50 per cent increase in the provision of these courses in this particular year, compared to the previous year which now seems down again. The ITP seems to be the one that comes closest to the total, but is there identifiable something that was done this year that is not being done currently and was not being done the previous year?

HON DR B A LINARES:

That exactly is the explanation. Some courses reach saturation point if I may put it that way and they come to an end that is not the same needed. In many cases this is demand-led and therefore some courses will not be restarted this coming financial year and some courses have been started during this financial year. Hence the differences in the budgeting of these courses.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Perhaps I have not explained myself properly. My question is this, if the Government in 2002/2003 spent £900,000 in the provision of these training and development courses, and in the last financial year 2003/2004 planned to spend the same amount, and in the current year is indeed spending even less than they did two years ago which is £870,000, what is the explanation for the 50 per cent increase that actually took place which was not planned, which is not currently taking place and which did not take place in 2002/2003? Is it something that is spread in the sense that for example the Civil Service spent a bit more and the counselling skills spent a bit more, or is it that there were specific things that are in this year that have not been in previous years and are not in the current year which in fact are big enough to account for the bulk of that £400,000, because it so happens that when we looked at the budget in the area where overspending had taken place, the amount that was overspending and covered in the GDC was exactly this, £400,000?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I think again it is a bit of everything. In some cases it is overspending because as the course developed there was need to finance and fund more generously than was forecast at the beginning. Also I think there may have been new courses, new initiatives, new projects which were started throughout this year because of demand, because it was seen to be necessary at that particular moment and that again would have led to an over-expenditure over the budget established. So it could be quite a number of factors which have led to this discrepancy between the total actual expenditure and the amount that was initially budgeted.

HON J J BOSSANO:

One of the things that I drew attention to in the Estimates when we debated this, was the fact that the contribution from the European Social Fund which had originally been estimated at £550,000 actually was forecast to have only reached £141,000, which is £400,000 less of income. I noted that the training and development courses which were identified as being EU projects was down from £360,000 to £211,000. Are the Government in a position to confirm whether in fact any of this it had originally been hoped it would be possible to finance as EU projects and then had to be shifted to local spending because that was not the case? Does the Minister know whether this has happened?

HON DR B A LINARES:

No, I do not quite know the process or mechanics of what actually happened in that situation. I suspect it is very much along the lines that the hon Member has just pointed out but I would have to check and verify that.

HON F R PICARDO:

Just to round off, can the Minister agree to provide in writing at some stage after this meeting, that clarification of what the Head of Expenditure 'Children from Abroad' is? I would be grateful for that.

EMPLOYMENT – WAGE SUBSIDY

Can Government state whether in the months of April to September 2004 there has been any increase in the number of employers participating in the wage subsidy pilot scheme that was approved under ESF for persons who have completed a Drug Rehabilitation Programme and others who meet the categories stated in answer to Question No. 730 of 2002 now in operation?

NO. 1625 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

EMPLOYMENT – WAGE SUBSIDY

Can Government state whether in the months of April to September 2004 there has been any increase in the number of persons that have been placed in employment, giving a breakdown by age and sex, in the wage subsidy pilot scheme that was approved under ESF for persons who have completed a Drug Rehabilitation Programme and others who meet the categories stated in answer to Question No. 730 of 2002 now in operation?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

In Question No. 80 of 2004 my hon Friend the Minister for Social Services, Mrs Del Agua in answer to that question stated that there were 10 employees and five employers as up to March 2004. If I may refer the hon Member to my answer to Question No. 1608 answered earlier on in this meeting, he will note a significant increase from those figures in March to those of April et cetera, April, May, June. The average over the April to September in terms of employers was 25 as opposed to five in March, and employees 29.4 as opposed to 10. So certainly an increase at that stage and after that, as can be seen from the table, the figures have remained pretty constant.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1624 AND 1625 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

The Minister is not giving me a separate answer in relation to participants in the ESF. The answer refers me back to his answer to Question No. 1608 which is on wage subsidy generally, and the ESF is part of that or is exclusively that?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The ESF is an element in that.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can he tell me as I have asked, the number of employers and employees participating in ESF? So for example when he has told me that in April there were 21 employers I think, and 24 employees, how many of those were ESF? That is the answer I have traditionally been provided by the Minister for Social Services in relation to this particular question.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I think the hon Member is referring to the Venia scheme which is how he has sort of labelled it in previous questions. Maybe the confusion lies there that ESF is a general wage subsidy scheme.

HON F R PICARDO:

I have asked this question twice now in the two previous Question Times I have been present in this House and I have got a separate answer from the Minister for Employment in relation to wage subsidy schemes generally, and a separate answer from the Minister for Social Services and Civil Affairs in relation to ESF. My question is phrased in exactly the same way as it was for the first meeting of this House. As Hansard shows, I got a distinct answer in relation to ESF at that time and I think also at the second meeting for Questions this year. So I would be grateful if I could be provided with an answer specific to ESF so that I can continue to draw my trend lines.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Well the answers I have given is the way the Employment Service have understood the thrust of the enquiries. If there is something more to the information in respect of ESF specifically, certainly I will require the information from them.

HON F R PICARDO:

With respect to the Minister, this is surprising because whenever I have asked my question before it has not been interpreted in that way. It has been interpreted as distinct. I am quite happy if I can be provided the information within the next 10 days. I think it is information that is obviously available because it has been provided on two occasions before and I must say that it was provided when Mr Corby was Minister and when Mr Baldachino asked the same question. I think that this is information that has been provided now, at the very least since 2002, which is the genesis of the scheme.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I will try to provide the information.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister confirm whether the scheme still requires that anybody that is placed with an employer, whether it is Government or a private employer, has to take them on in full-time employment at the end of 12 months? Is that still a condition of the ESF funding?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I do not think it is. I think it is a one year subsidy to the employer who wishes to participate in this scheme, and as we explained earlier, the payment is made at the end of the year, obviously for an incentive to keep the employee but certainly I do not think there is any commitment to taking on the subsidised worker into full-time an independent type of employment.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I was under the impression that in fact the incentive was because it would lead to people entering into employment as it were, at the employer's expense instead of being subsidised employment. The subsidised employment was to encourage that to happen.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Initially for a year.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, but I seem to remember that at one stage we were told that the system had been changed so that at the end of six months, they got paid extra for the second six months on the understanding that at the end of the year people would be given employment. If in fact, people work the full year, normally in an employer at the end of the full year they have got protection against dismissal. What happens then with the ESF people who have done the full year, they just become unemployed again or what?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I would not like to commit myself in giving a definite answer to that. Again, it is something that I need to investigate further. I apologise.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1626 TO 1628 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the public sector entities in the private sector I note that the Regulatory Authority is not included. I think when I asked this question the last time it was not included and then I asked a subsequent question at the subsequent meeting where it was confirmed that it was indeed included as the private sector. Will the Minister not agree that if we are including the Ombudsman then it is logical that the Regulatory Authority, that is also funded by money provided from the Estimates, should be seen as a public sector entity in the private sector?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I do agree indeed. It should have been included and it must have been a slip not to have it included if it was agreed already at previous discussions that it was very definitely to be defined as a public sector entity in the private sector, which is very much the way the Regulatory Authority operates.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can I just clarify for the Minister. It was not included in the original answer I got the last time when I asked this about 2002, but at a subsequent meeting I raised it and it was agreed, but I think it must be referring to the original answer of 2002.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes, probably had a standard shopping list of these entities.....

HON J J BOSSANO:

Would the Minister accept that in fact I think the problem of asking for one single one is that when there are a number included in an industry, it does not identify the individuals which is the problem with the Statistics Ordinance, that is why I have grouped them. So perhaps I can at some stage be given the figures to be added to the ones that I have been given today.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes indeed.

EMPLOYMENT SURVEY REPORT

Can Government state in which area of the official sector the eight Gibraltarian frontier workers shown in Table 5 of the October 2003 Employment Survey Report are employed?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The eight Gibraltarian frontier workers shown in Table 5 of the October 2003 Employment Survey Report were all employed within the MOD.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1631 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that the Employment Survey Report is the result of the filling of the questionnaires by employers, presumably the fact that the report shows that no Gibraltarian frontier workers were employed by the Government means that the Government in returning the Survey say that there are none. Is that a logical deduction?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Absolutely. The returns from the Government Departments show that there were no Gibraltarian frontier workers under their employment. There is of course that element of doubt in respect of addresses which are given by employees very often in terms of local addresses, but I would not like to delve too much into that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact the Government have got nobody in their entire workforce that have got their residence registered with the employer as being on the other side of the border. That is the position?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Gibraltarians we were talking about. Yes indeed.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

EMPLOYMENT SURVEY REPORT

Do Government consider the figure in the October 2003 Employment Survey Report of 164 Gibraltarian frontier workers residing in Spain to be accurate?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

As the hon Member is aware, the Employment Survey is carried out on the basis of questionnaires completed and returned by all employers as required under the provisions of the Statistics Ordinance. As such, the accuracy of the statistics depends on the quality of the returns submitted by the employers themselves.

In overall terms, the Government are satisfied that the published figures are reasonable estimates of the number of persons in employment and their earnings as at October each year. The question requiring information in respect of frontier workers, particularly when it comes to Gibraltarians, has traditionally been one that presents employers with some difficulty since, as I explained before, many such employees also make use of local addresses.

The figure of 164 Gibraltarian employees recorded as frontier workers in the October 2003 Employment Survey Report is likely to be as accurate or otherwise as the equivalent figure of 138 published in the April 1996 Report and in other previous reports and subsequently as well.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1633 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

So effectively the Government do not have a clue whether it is accurate or not. Is that a correct summary of the position?

HON DR B A LINARES:

No I do not think it is fair to say the Government do not have a clue. We have given an explanation of the difficulties in establishing an exact figure. A difficulty which must have been encountered as well during the time that the hon Member was there. I think I am saying something that he was familiar with.

The statistical information that is requested by the hon Member is set out in the schedule attached.

Answer to Question No. 1637

A total of 307 employers were sent questionnaires in October 2003 that were not included in the Employment Survey in 2002.

No employer has been sent a questionnaire for the October 2004 Employment Survey Report.

A total of 304 of the 1290 employers referred to.

A total of 146 employers submitted a nil return in response to the October 2002 Employment Survey questionnaire and 64 of those were included in the 238 employers who registered a nil return in the October 2003 Employment Survey.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1634 TO 1637 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can I just say, in answer to Question No. 1635, the Minister says that no one has yet been sent the October Questionnaire. Do these things not normally go out in September so that people can fill them up in October?

HON DR B A LINARES:

No, I believe the normal practice is to send in November actually.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In November about the preceding month.

HON DR B A LINARES:

About the preceding month. It gives the employers time to give the exact figure, or as exact as possible, for the end of October of that year.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the 307 who were sent the questionnaire, it is welcome that the coverage should be so good for the October 2003 since it provides more accurate information, but is it that in fact the Statistics Office in previous years left these employers out or that they sort of became aware in 2003?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The explanation is that they have been more successful for the report of October 2003 than in previous years.

NO. 1638 OF 2004*THE HON F R PICARDO*EMPLOYMENT – CASUAL WORKERS

Can Government give a monthly breakdown of vacancies for casual workers opened with the Employment Agency by Cammell Laird or alternatively in the shipping industry for the months of April to September 2004 giving a breakdown of how many of these have been filled by Gibraltarians?

ANSWER*THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The number of vacancies for casual workers opened in the shipping industry for the months of April to September 2004 broken down by how many of these have been filled by Gibraltarians is as follows:

|              | April | May | June | July | August | September |
|--------------|--------------|------------|-------------|-------------|---------------|------------------|

| Gib   | 9            | 3          | 7           | 9           | 4             | 3                |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1638 OF 2004*HON F R PICARDO:

Does the Minister note that the proportion of Gibraltarians obtaining employment is very low? In fact, in June it is 50 per cent but in most instances it is well below 20 per cent.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, well it is not unusual. It depends on many factors, as the hon Member should be aware. It depends on the nature of the jobs being created. There is not a huge supply of Gibraltarian labour in many of the areas, where the economy from time to time generates demand. Shopkeepers, the construction trade, these are areas where the take-up of work in the private sector is predominantly taken up by non-resident labour, on any month where the jobs have been created. It is not unsurprising that the percentage of taking up jobs will be non Gibraltarian and indeed as the economy continues to grow, given that the population is static and our unemployment rates are pretty static, as the economy continues to grow and the number of jobs in the economy continues to grow, it is a mathematical certainty that the percentage of the jobs occupied by Gibraltarians will fall, because our size, our contribution to the statistics is static and therefore the growth in employment is in effect being satisfied by labour from abroad, either from Spain or in the gaming industry from further a field than Spain. That is a reality and the Gibraltarians take a share of those jobs in accordance with the jobs that are suitable for the Gibraltarians that are available seeking jobs. So the simple situation that the hon Member describes is not itself the concern. I agree that the situation would be a concern if the jobs that were coming out into the market were jobs that Gibraltarian people could and should be doing, and that for some reason others were being preferred to Gibraltarians. That would be a worrying situation in which the Government are not free to take completely effective remedial action but which the Government would be interested in doing whatever it could lawfully do to redress that situation, but one cannot deduce that situation from a simple reference to the figures for which there might be a perfectly simple explanation.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I do not know whether it is because the Chief Minister has just arrived, but he has not cottoned on to the question, because that is hardly likely to reduce the time we spend in this House. He has given us a wide picture of the performance of the economy and the question is about casual workers in the Dockyard. So the Chief Minister thinks that the nature of the market of casual workers in the Shipyard is exactly the same principle as the gaming, the shop assistants, the construction industry and so on. Well, presumably does he not know that in fact the performance, I hope in fact that he is wrong. Will he not recognise that if indeed the whole of the rest of the private sector were to operate as the Shipyard we would have a situation where there are no permanent jobs, since 75 per cent of the workers are casuals in the Shipyard, and they get taken off, and they get laid off and they get taken back. So it is not different jobs. It is the same job on and off. In that area there is no reason why Gibraltarians who are on the register as unemployed should not be able to go in and work a few weeks as tank cleaners and that kind of thing, unless it is that they do not apply for the jobs. It is a different criteria but I think we are talking specifically of a peculiar sector which does not have the same characteristics as the remainder of the private sector.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, the characteristics may be different but the principle is the same. Each sector of the economy, be it the casual sector in the Shipyard, which I accept has, but look the gaming industry has a part-time culture, not a casual, a part-time culture and there are other sectors of the economy that have a requirement for skills that are not readily available in Gibraltar. So every different sector of the economy has its own labour requirement peculiarities, some of which make it more rather than less likely, others less rather than more likely, but Gibraltarians are either able or willing to participate in employment, either because it is not the sort of job one wants to do, or because it is casual and thankfully most people in Gibraltar have full time jobs or part-time. Same reason, people are not attracted to this. The sort of people that can do part-time jobs in this industry are the sort of people who need full time employment. If one is a housewife willing to work occasionally, one cannot aspire to a job in Cammell Laird cleaning up a tank, it is a mismatch. Most people who can do this sort of work are the sort of people who are bread winners in their family and need full time employment. So the principle is the same. There are many economic activities in Gibraltar, and I think this used to be true before, which access to those jobs is always open to Gibraltarians but for a variety of reasons Gibraltarians choose not to or do not qualify for the employment. I appreciate that the question relates to Cammell Laird and to casual workers but the principle is the same. If the hon Member looks at the statistics that we publish in respect of the filling of vacancies generally in the economy, in the more general employment questions, he will see, I think from memory it hovers around the 50 per cent as well. There are months when it is more than 50 per cent and months where it is less. I am speaking from memory. I do not know if we have passed these questions already or whether they are still to come on the Order Paper but he will see that there is a very high proportion of vacancies generally in the employment market filled by non residents.

HON F R PICARDO:

Yes, but my original supplementary was to ask the Minister to note that it was answered by the Chief Minister. Perhaps I could ask him to factor into what he has told us the following. Looking at just one particular month, the month of September, 97 male Gibraltarians were added to the unemployment register. Of those 28 found employment. Cammell Laird opened 25 vacancies, only three were filled by Gibraltarians. Those are adult males, none of them are the type of individual who the hon Gentleman has suggested would not be looking for full time employment, even if it were casual. Looking at the statistics of employment at Cammell Laird over a period of a year and a half since January 2003, it is really quite surprising how low a proportion of Gibraltarians are actually able to obtain employment with that company. Given all that and given that we were provided with a statistic in answer to Question No. 1623 of spending on training which showed that £141,000 had been spent on training with Cammell Laird, is it not surprising that there is such a low proportion of Gibraltarians being able to access the vacancies of Cammell Laird? I certainly think it is.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member reveals by his last phrase the point that he is wanting to make but which is not sustained by the facts. It is not that Gibraltarians are prohibited from accessing, as he says, the jobs. The Gibraltarians are as free to access the jobs as anybody else, there is not any obstacle to their accessing the jobs. Nor do the statistics that he chooses to quote have the other effects that he is describing. Look, the fact that there were 97 people joining the unemployment register in September, of which he says 28 found employment, presumably from the figures that he has been presented which I do not have in front of me, one would have to analyse who those 97 were. Were they students, were they graduates looking for university? So one cannot extrapolate that figure to the 25 Cammell Laird vacancies which may have been for specialities that were not available in Gibraltar, may have been for part-time work as opposed to full time work, casual work, one cannot just from a simple extrapolation of the figures draw any conclusions like the hon Member is drawing. It may be possible to draw those conclusions from other factors in addition to the statistics. For example, if there was any evidence that Cammell Laird was discriminating against local residents in their employment prospects, then that is something that the Government would be very concerned about. All I am saying is that one cannot draw those conclusions just from the statistics. I am not arguing the underlying principle that if it were the case that Cammell Laird were discriminating against locals, that would be a very worrying situation and one which the Government would wish to try and do all that they could. So it is not the principle that we are in disagreement on it is the question of whether that state of affairs can be deduced just from the statistics that the hon Member is managing. That is the only point that I am making. I am not challenging that if the position were as the hon Member is describing it would be serious. I think it would be if it were the case.

HON F R PICARDO:

I appreciate that there is therefore a measure of agreement across the floor but should the figures not at least put us on enquiry and should we not do something to monitor that. For example, would the Minister for Employment undertake to monitor the number of applications for vacancies for jobs opened by Cammell Laird, see how many are applied for by Gibraltarians and see how many Gibraltarians are rejected, so that we can get to the bottom of whether or not Gibraltarians are being discriminated against for something as simple as the fact that their labour is more expensive than those from abroad?

HON DR B A LINARES:

That monitoring process is carried out by the Employment Service. Notices of vacancies are given to us and there is no evidence of any blatant discrimination in that respect. Certainly not in terms of the level of wages.

EMPLOYMENT REGULATIONS (OFFENCES) ORDINANCE

Of the 81 cases filed between July and September 2003 in respect of offences under the Employment Regulations (Offences) Ordinance referred to in the answer to Question No. 269 of 2004, how many have resulted in acquittals, how many have resulted in conviction (and what penalties have been imposed in respect of each) and how many are still pending?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Answered together with Question Nos. 1641 and 1643 of 2004.

NO. 1643 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

EMPLOYMENT REGULATIONS (OFFENCES) ORDINANCE

Can Her Majesty's Attorney General state, in relation to the answer to Question No. 268 of 2004, how long the seven pending cases with him in relation to alleged offences under the Employment Regulations (Offences) Ordinance have been pending with his Chambers and whether a decision has been taken on whether to proceed or not?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Answer to Question No. 1641

No prosecutions have commenced under the Employment Regulations (Offences) Ordinance in the months of April to September 2004, given that all Fixed Penalty Notices issued have been paid, except for two which are pending payment.

Answer to Question No. 1642

The 81 cases filed between July and September 2003 were never proceeded with by the Attorney General.

Answer to Question No. 1643

Five of the seven cases referred to were withdrawn by the Attorney General during the course of 2003 and the remaining two were not proceeded with.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1641 TO 1643 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I wonder if the Minister would mind explaining a bit further for my benefit. Is it that when the Labour Inspectors pass this to the Attorney General it is because the employer is contesting whether in fact he has acted in breach, is it or is it not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Not necessarily. It could be that or it could just be a simple failure to pay the Fixed Penalty Notice. One gets a Fixed Penalty Notice which says if it is paid the matter is left there and not proceeded with. If one does not pay, the papers go forward but the fact that it has not been paid does not mean necessarily that one is challenging the case. It simply means perhaps that one has just failed to pay and some people then pay when they are reminded and pressed. In other words, it is only holding out payment but it could mean that they are challenging it and wish to be prosecuted.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Because they believe they are right obviously.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well because they believe they are right.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That means they can defend themselves.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes absolutely.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In any of these cases that did not go forward, one of those in fact, we can understand if the employer paid rather than go to court even when it got to the final stage, that is fine, that is the logic of that situation but are there any cases where we did not proceed to the prosecution when the individual employer was challenging?

HON DR B A LINARES:

These are all cases where the payment of the penalty has not been made within a certain time, flexibility and reminders et cetera. Then of course, as the Chief Minister said, the matter has to be referred to the Chambers of the Attorney General for possible prosecution. This is the legal process involved.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If I correctly understand the hon Member's supplementary, he is meaning to ask whether as a matter of policy a decision has been taken not to proceed to prosecution with any person that has failed to pay the fine. Well, of course, once the Government pass the papers to the Attorney General, the decision of whether to prosecute is his so at that point it ceases to be a matter of policy decision, but I am not aware that the Attorney General has sought to frustrate the good administration of the Ordinance by declining to prosecute anybody who is in breach. There was once an issue here of whether people should or should not have their rights read to them, in the language of American movies, but that is a separate issue.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is it safe then to assume that of the 81 cases filed none were proceeded with because all were paid?

HON DR B A LINARES:

No, none were paid and they followed the process that has been explained of referring, addressing the matter to the Attorney General.

HON F R PICARDO:

We have also been told that those were not proceeded with so unless the Attorney General is trying to frustrate the good administration of the Ordinance, there must be a good reason for that. Is it that they were fined or cases filed which were improperly fined?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I cannot speak for the Attorney General.

HON F R PICARDO:

I appreciate that but there must be an explanation why these 81 cases have never been proceeded with. I mean, we are told in relation to the seven cases referred to in Question No. 1643, that five were withdrawn and two were not proceeded with, but for 81 cases not to be proceeded with at all, something must have happened. It is a fairly wholesale number.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have given as much of an indication as I am willing to give of an issue that is outstanding.

HON F R PICARDO:

Perhaps then we are just misunderstanding each other. Those 81 cases are outstanding not proceeded with, they have not yet been proceeded with?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Exactly.

HON F R PICARDO:

Right, I appreciate that. We were told they were never proceeded with. If we are being told they have not yet been proceeded with, then that is a different matter.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I do not know whether they are not proceeded with, I am not sure what the limitation periods are in terms of prosecution, or whether there are any or whether we are in danger of it. There may come a time when if they are not proceeded with, they may not ever be able to be proceeded with, but that is the issue. An issue by the way in which the Government have a different view to the one being expressed in some quarters within the Attorney General's Chambers but the matter is still outstanding. The view expressed to the Government is that when one is issued a Fixed Penalty Notice one has got to be read ones rights. We cannot understand why that should be the case with Fixed Penalty Notices in employment but not with Fixed Penalty Notices in traffic offences. So the fixed penalty notice is not a prosecution. It is saying to somebody 'we think you have done this offence', not that one has done it, we think one has done it. There is no adjudication. If one agrees that one has done it and want to pay, this is the fine that one can pay. If one does not think that one has done it, do not worry. In due course one may receive a summons and we do not see why one should have to be cautioned in those circumstances, but that is the view somebody has formed and that is the sort of way that we are grappling it at the moment.

HON F R PICARDO:

In fact, it is the summons that contains the statement of rights of the individual who may or may not be summoned, contains.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Attorney General is constitutionally responsible for the pursuit of prosecution and there is a limit to the extent which the Government can administratively or politically interfere. We can clarify the law if there is allegedly any doubt about what the law is but other than that it is persuasion.

| 2002/2003 | 38 |
| 2003/2004 | 23 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1644 AND 1645 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

One thing strikes me initially just by looking at the figures, that there is a big discrepancy between Bayside and Westside. There seems to be more females leaving school than there are males. Is this due to the opportunities that there might be in one school that there is not in the other?

HON DR B A LINARES:

There could be many factors involved. One of them may be opportunities. The fact is that many of the school leavers at 15 choose to go into training and this, by tradition historically, has not been particularly attractive to girls (I am speculating), who seek immediate employment in one of the traditional areas for girls at 15. As I say we could spend the day speculating even about psychological aspects of the whole thing but I would not like to sort of be categorical about the motivations.

HON S E LINARES:

Yes but when we talk about training we are assuming that the pupil has left the school to go into training, so therefore I do not think that would be the case in the sense that if one has more males going into training they will have to leave school at the age of 15. Whilst what I am saying is, for example, in 2003/2004 we had five boys or young adults to 23 girls or young adults leaving the school at the age of 15. It has nothing to do with whether the boys go on to the training and the girls do not but they leave school. I am saying whether it is to do with the opportunity that is actually being offered within the school not the training outside.

HON DR B A LINARES:

There are many factors but I would not say it is the opportunities offered within the school. I think it is also a question of motivation and incentive. I think again I am speculating that boys traditionally want to pursue further their schooling in many areas offered, in the one year course that is being offered to Year 10s in Bayside School, is very attractive. It is a very much hands on type of course with part-time training in the Construction Training Centre, that is particularly attractive to the boys and an incentive to stay on in school to benefit from that facility. Whereas the girls do not seem to be motivated in that line. As I say I am speculating into motivations which is a dicey area to speculate on.

HON S E LINARES:

Is there a one year course in Westside which would be, I would not say adequate because I would be being rather sexist then, that would be suitable for the girls in Westside as there is in Bayside? The Minister has just said that in Bayside they go to the Training Centre and we are assuming here that the girls do not want to go to the Training Centre whilst boys do. Is there an equivalent of the one year course in Westside which would be suitable or adequate for the girls?

HON DR B A LINARES:

There is some equivalent, but as I say it is not as attractive it seems for the girls as it is for the boys.

EDUCATION – POST 16 EDUCATION COMMITTEE

Can Government state how many times the Post 16 Education Committee have met in 2003 and 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

As explained to the hon Member in answers to Question No. 595 of 2004 and No. 247 of 2004, it was agreed with Mrs Sue Rogers of the NASUWT in UK at a meeting held locally about a year ago, that in the context of the Tomlinson Report on 14-19 Education in UK it was wise that we should all both Union and Government, await developments to consolidate in UK before we took any practical measures forward locally.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1650 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

So until the Tomlinson Report is published nothing happens. Are not the terms of reference of this Committee to see into what has been leaked from the Tomlinson Report, because the Tomlinson Report is not published yet?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Of course it is published.

HON S E LINARES:

What I am saying is that if it has been published, why has the Committee not met in order to discuss the Report?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The Tomlinson Report is now being submitted to Ministers in the UK. Decisions will have to be taken by Ministers in the UK and those are the developments, real developments in changing the structure and processes of the 14-19 education that we are awaiting. To be frank the ball is very much in the court of the Union at the moment, because it was Mrs Sue Rogers that asked us not to take any steps locally until we can evaluate what is happening in the UK, which is really what we have always done as the hon Member may know.

Can Government state how many toilets are currently available for usage for pupils in Bishop Fitzgerald School?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Answer to Question No. 1651

The Government intend that the school will revert to the four-form entry that was originally envisaged, once the new school is built at the Fleet Pavilion site. This will eliminate the overcrowding which has existed lately when we have had to take in five-form entry intakes.

Answer to Question No. 1652

There are currently 13 toilets available for use by pupils and a further 12 new toilets are to be built very shortly.

EDUCATION – PURCHASE OF STATIONERY

Can Government state what are the current procedures in relation to procuring stationery, equipment and other materials for schools?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Tenders are invited from both local and UK suppliers. After closing date, tenders are looked into by a Committee involving representatives from the three levels of schools and a Departmental officer.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1658 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Is this a departure from last year or the previous years in which we had first of all direct buying, then we had tendering, and now we seem to have a mixture of both?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Now we have tendering. The only departure is that now we tender and invite tenders from local and UK suppliers.

HON S E LINARES:

Yes, but as the Minister well knows, before the tendering system it was a direct buying, schools and departments used to do direct buying. Then it was all tendering local buying and then it was tender.....

HON DR B A LINARES:

Tendering locally and in the UK.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1659 TO 1661 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Can the Minister state what criteria is being used to give supply work since we have a great number of qualified teachers either unemployed or awaiting employment by the Department of Education? Is there any specific criteria used?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The criteria used for the provision of supply work depends very much on the needs of the school that can make a case over and above their complement because of particular circumstances that require that additional support.

HON S E LINARES:

So therefore I presume that the Head teacher is the one that has a lot of say in determining the sort of teacher that needs to come in for supply work.

HON DR B A LINARES:

The Head teacher will make a bid but the decision is not taken by the Head teacher, it is assessed by the Department, advisers et cetera.

HON S E LINARES:

That is why I am saying that the Head teacher has a lot of say but obviously the ultimate decision comes from the Department of Education who employs the supply teacher. What I am saying is that there have been certain representations made to me that certain teachers are going in for example in Bayside to teach French and the teacher is a primary school teacher who has not got a clue of French, and is being employed on a supply basis when these pupils need at least somebody fluent in French.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I have no evidence of that type of anomaly and I am very surprised that it should happen at all. I think head teachers and Departmental officers are sensible enough not to commit that type of anomalous situation.

HON S E LINARES:

When applications come out for the teaching profession, that is every academic year there is a pool of supply, is there any preference to pick the teachers that are on a full-time supply basis? Do they have preference to get the job at permanent and pensionable or everybody goes into the pool regardless?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The fact that a teacher has already been on supply for a year or two years is a factor that is taken into consideration, but not the only factor, also the needs of the school, the needs specially in subject areas and the subject qualification of teachers offering themselves for employment is also another very important factor.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1662 AND 1663 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

In relation to the classroom aides, they are all noted here as full time and part-time, are there not any supplies, or full time supplies or is it permanent and pensionable status? There does not seem to be any supplies, whilst the argument last time was that one cannot have full time permanent and pensionable classroom aides, because one year one might have 20 in the inclusion programme whilst the next year one might have 10 and therefore one does not need the same amount of classroom aides one year as opposed to the other.

HON DR B A LINARES:

The hon Member is confusing the term full time with permanence and continuity. Full time means the classroom aide works the full day not just half day. That is a full time job. There are supplies currently employed on a permanent basis for the reasons we have explained before and which the hon Member has repeated just now, that they are there for a particular purpose that may end at any particular moment of time, the need may not be there at a particular moment of time.

HON S E LINARES:

Has the Minister got with him whether they are on permanent and pensionable on supply terms? I agree with the Minister in the sense that I have not posed the question in asking how many are on supply, permanent and pensionable status, I understand that, but I am just asking now whether that information he has got available here, and if he has not is it possible to get it?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes the information there is not a distinction between permanent and pensionable and supply classroom aides was not asked for. I will by all means afford the information.

EDUCATION – CONSTRUCTION AND TRAINING CENTRE

Can Government state why trainees at the Construction and Training Centre were sent home for two weeks at the beginning of this academic year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Upon return from the August Bank Holiday weekend, that is on Tuesday 31st August 2004, the Gibraltar Construction Training Centre was found to be flooded due to a burst water pipe. It was therefore found necessary to release all trainees from training within the Centre in order to carry out emergency repairs.

The repairs which had to be carried out resulted in the replacement of the broken water pipe, drying out of waterlogged floors, drying and checking electrical installations, replacement of a collapsed ceiling covering an area of approximately 40 square metres which included the trainees' toilets.

These works were carried out in a satisfactory manner by staff from JBS and the Gibraltar Electricity Authority. However, due to the Centre operating summer hours during this period, their working time was reduced to practically only half days. May I say also in appreciation of the efforts of the instructors and the management that the students, the trainees were offered on the basis of their theoretical work, on their portfolios and the academic side of their training, to be in daily touch with the instructors in order to be able to carry on monitoring and guiding them in that aspect of their work which was not the hands on with machines and all that which would have been extremely dangerous.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1664 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

I was going to ask what other alternatives were found, because I understand it that the students actually went to the Centre and were sent home without any sort of alternatives to be found. I am glad that the Minister says that some alternatives were found. Not according to the students but then again it could well be that the students misunderstood the alternative, but that is the actual information that I get from the students. They went there, it was flooded, there were lots of problems and they were just told 'look, I am sorry, I cannot deal with you just go home and then come back tomorrow and see how the situation is', and they did that for two weeks.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I am sure that there were some students who took advantage of the situation to take a bit of a respite of their work, and may have been in the first few days because of the confusion but certainly it is unfair, very unfair, not to express appreciation of the work done by the instructors and management in insisting on offering homework so to speak to the students, and coming back to them to check that they had followed and completed tasks of a written nature.

HON S E LINARES:

I would also like to put on record that I do appreciate the fact that the management of the Training Centre did as the Minister said, if they did have alternatives they did well, that is without question. What I am saying is the feedback that I am getting from the students and therefore I qualified it by saying maybe the students either misunderstood that they had alternatives to do or they did not want to do it anyway. That is what I am saying. Thank you.

EDUCATION – CONSTRUCTION AND TRAINING CENTRE

Can Government state how many students attended or are currently attending the Construction and Training Centre after leaving school at the age of 15 in the academic years of 2000/2001, 2001/2002, 2002/2003, 2003/2004 and 2004/2005 respectively?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The number of students aged 15 who joined the Vocational Training Scheme, in 2000/2001 – 13; in 2001/2002 – 14; in 2002/2003 - 8; in 2003/2004 – 10; in 2004/2005 – 1.

Nine students attended the College at the age of 15 in the year 2000. Four did so in 2001, seven in 2002, 24 in 2003 and seven this current year, 2004.

EDUCATION – BLEAK HOUSE TRAINING CENTRE

Can Government state how many students attended Bleak House Training Centre after leaving school at the age of 15 in the academic years of 2000/2001, 2001/2002, 2002/2003, 2003/2004 and 2004/2005 respectively?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Bleak House Training Centre does not organise courses as such of any nature. Bleak House Institute is a facilitator of courses to a whole variety of entities, offering facilities and equipment and is used by training providers, not by the Bleak House Training Centre. For example, the Royal Bank of Scotland and the Gibraltar Society of Chartered and Certified Accountants, their training unit is housed in Bleak House and the training unit does provide basic courses in literacy and numeracy and ICT to the vocational trainees, those BTS trainees who are placed in employment but nevertheless do come for courses in literacy and numeracy and ICT at the Bleak House Training Centre. It is just a question of not understanding that fifteen year olds go to Bleak House as such for a particular full-time course, it is only there for certain courses and that is it. In that sense Bleak House is more of a training institute than a training centre.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1672 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

So what the Minister is saying is that there is not any records of the training unit which he has just mentioned, whether the pupils of that training unit are pupils that have just left school at the age of fifteen. There is no record of that?

HON DR B A LINARES:

What does the hon Member want to know, the number of vocational trainees?

HON S E LINARES:

That is what I have asked in the Question.

HON DR B A LINARES:

No, what the hon Member asked in the question was how many leaving fifteen go to Bleak House.

HON S E LINARES:

Yes and one of the things that they do in Bleak House is a training unit.

HON DR B A LINARES:

No the training unit actually helps them in the placements that they have with different employers, practical experience with training employers. The training unit actually also sponsors courses in literacy, numeracy and ICT to cushion and to support and give a bit of academic background to these trainees. If the hon Member wants to know how many of these students, I would say there are the number of trainees who are in the BTS scheme but I do not have the figure with me here and now.

HON S E LINARES:

Is it possible to have that figure?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes of course it is possible. We know exactly how many are in placement.

The statistical information requested is set out in the schedule attached.

Answer to Question 1674 of 2004

Answer to Question 1671

The statistical information requested is set out in the schedule that I now hand to the hon Member.

Answer to Question 1672

The number of students aged 15 who joined the Vocational Training Scheme are:

|           |    |
|-----------|----|
| 2000/2001 | 13 |
| 2001/2002 | 14 |
| 2002/2003 | 8  |
| 2003/2004 | 10 |
| 2004/2005 | 1  |

Answer to Question 1673

9 students attended the College at the age of 15 in the year 2000; 4 did so in 2001; 7 in 2002; 24 in 2003 and 7 this current year 2004.

Answer to Question 1674

The College does not operate as a school, that is, whole cohorts of students do not necessarily progress through a particular course over an academic year. It is quite possible for a student to be in Year 3 of a particular course but yet only have joined the College that year. I am assuming that by accreditation you mean qualification – but just in case – I am providing the hon Member opposite with the Awarding Bodies as well.

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Answer to Question No. 1675

The statistical information requested is set out in the schedule attached.

Answer to Question No. 1676

As explained repeatedly in answer to Question No. 228 of 2004, and even No. 574 of 2002 the model that has been adopted for this purpose in Gibraltar is referred to as the Behaviour Education Support Team (BEST). The team consists of three experienced teachers and a classroom aide. Between them they provide peripatetic support in all the Government schools. Children are supported in sessional basis either in small groups, one to one or in class support working with a group within the class, and it is difficult to give exact figures as requested by the hon Member concerning the number of pupils who attended, for a number of reasons. The allocation of support to schools is reviewed on an on-going basis, on a termly basis and can change. Therefore the numbers can fluctuate from one term to another and children can also receive support for different lengths of time, but total numbers for schools have not changed dramatically over the years but what has changed is the length of time of support that they are now receiving since the team, BEST team as we call it, Behaviour Educational Support Team, has increased for individuals and groups of children as the level of peripatetic support has also increased.

The principal Educational Psychologist does not run a referral system as such. He has an agreed protocol with schools which he visits two or six times per term, depending on pupil numbers on roll and also on the pupils registered as having special educational needs. Requests for advice on new pupils come in at a rate of about 150 per year but not all of them will warrant full assessment. Thus a medium sized school for instance will raise an average of 10 new pupils in the year and these will join another 30 pupils who are on record or being reviewed.

In answer to the Question about the challenging behaviour. The hon Member should know that the term challenging behaviour is used only for the most extreme forms of conduct disorder and characterises really only about 2 per cent of the population. If there are 15 to 16 new cases of behaviour difficulties raised in one year, maybe there is only one which may warrant the classification of challenging behaviour. The great majority of cases are classified into other categories. (1) Behaviour and conduct difficulties; (2) learning difficulties; (3) social emotional problems. Apart from sensory and other disabilities which overlap with all three categories, 30 to 40 per cent of cases undertaken will have as a core issue the behaviour difficulties of the child.

In Gibraltar we do not adhere to the UK statutory Statementing of Special Educational Needs as these are, we find, laboriously bureaucratic, costly in administrative resources and above all unnecessarily prescriptive and over-formal. However, we do acknowledge formally when a child's needs are over and above what the school can normally provide from within its resources. There is a panel of assessors of each child that shows signs of difficulties that I have defined above. The breakdown required is provided in the schedule attached.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1675 TO 1679 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

In relation to Question No. 1676 the Minister has said that there is an increase in peripatetic teachers. The last time I asked there were three. It has increased to what?

DR B A LINARES:

In May 1996 when this initiative was started there was only one teacher supporting all schools. She supported 60 to 70 pupils four days a week. In 2001 there was a second teacher who was engaged four days a week, primarily for the First School pupils and in 2002 a third teacher was engaged for three days a week. Last year, 2003, we added the support of a classroom aide.

HON S E LINARES:

So we have four now.

DR B A LINARES:

Four persons, three teachers, highly qualified teachers and one classroom aide who has shown experience in the field of special educational needs.

HON S E LINARES:

In relation to the statementing, it is surprising that the information cannot be given now and it is surprising in a way that the Minister says that we do not follow what is the code of practice as in the special needs, because I have asked this question before and I have had an answer. I have had a schedule actually stating the level exactly at which pupils are, even giving me a breakdown by school and by year. I have asked that question previously and I have had the whole schedule. It seems as if probably it has ceased now but I would urge the Minister to see in previous questions that he has answered this question and why he should not do so now.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I do not doubt the word of the hon Member but I have before me here all his past questions on the question of special educational needs and I do not find here any tables as described by him in detail of that type of situation, but certainly I do not doubt his word and I will look back to see if that type of specific and very detailed information, particularly also sensitive because we are dealing with individual children who could be easily identified in a small community like ours.

HON S E LINARES:

Yes, but last time the Minister gave me the list, it did not have any names, it did not have any specifics. One can say that in Westside there is one child at level 1, I am not going to go now and investigate who is the child who is at level 1. What I am saying is that this has been answered before, but I will also investigate and look in Hansard and show the Minister that it has been given before. I will do that.

NO. 1680 OF 2004

THE HON S E LINARES

EDUCATION – NUMBER OF PUPILS

Can Government state how many children are currently in years R, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 giving a breakdown by school, how many are entitled pupils and what are the sums payable by those not entitled?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The statistical information requested is set out in the schedule attached.

All these are entitled to free education. There are 17 attending secondary schools and 12 attending first and middle schools who are not entitled to free education. The current fees are £864.23p per term for secondary schools and £648.17p per term for first and middle schools.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1680 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Out of the 17 that are in the secondary, would the Minister say that most of them are MOD personnel or do the MOD personnel pay for their students?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Almost certainly. Most of them will be MOD children and they certainly pay the same rates as other non-entitled children.

EDUCATION – NURSERIES

Can Government state how many children attend full-time Nursery Education this academic year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The total number of children attending Government nurseries this year is 248. Children attend either morning or afternoon sessions at the nurseries. There were 323 places available for nursery education this academic year 2004/2005.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1681 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Out of the 248 are those split between those who go in mornings or afternoons, or is the Minister saying that there are 248 that attend morning.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Either morning or afternoon.

HON S E LINARES:

So basically the figure of 248 is split between some that do mornings and some that do afternoons. Correct? The figure of 323 that I have been given is the places that they have which would mean the morning and the afternoon sessions, correct?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The hon Member speaks of full-time nursery education but as he knows traditionally full-time nursery education has been a morning or an afternoon which is reasonable because small children at that age cannot sustain really whole days.

HON S E LINARES:

That is a matter of argument and opinion because most children of parents who are working all day attend nursery all day. They attend the Government nursery in the morning and then they are transported to another nursery, private usually, in the afternoon. So there is an element of opinion here.

HON DR B A LINARES:

It is up to the parents. We should not be a party to practices which are not seen to be educationally viable.

EDUCATION – BISHOP FITZGERALD SCHOOL

Can Government state whether the temporary classrooms at Bishop Fitzgerald School are still in place and when they envisage the construction of permanent facilities in the said school?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Answer to Question No. 1684

The playground at St Martin's School is not yet complete but the Department have been reliably informed that it will be by the end of this month.

Answer to Question No. 1685

The new Hall, together with five classrooms and the new nursery unit, are now complete in St Paul's School and have been in use since the start of this term.

Answer to Question No. 1686

The temporary classrooms at Bishop Fitzgerald School are still in place in the playground and the children continue to use the tennis courts adjacent to the school as one of their playgrounds. The Government do not envisage constructing extra teaching areas for the reason given in Question No. 1651 that we hope in the near future to alleviate the problem of overcrowding in Bishop Fitzgerald School. At present the two temporary facilities are used as a classroom and as a Library.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1684 TO 1686 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

In relation to Bishop Fitzgerald School where the Minister has said that they are using the tennis courts. Is it envisaged that these tennis courts will become permanently part of Bishop Fitzgerald School in the near future or will the school, once a new school is built somewhere else, and the temporary container or whatever classrooms are removed that Bishop Fitzgerald will revert back to its original surface area or area or that the tennis courts will be added to it?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The decision is not yet made and really depends on the extent to which the new school, how much additional capacity the new school, the new first and middle school which is planned for nearby, which is not intended to replace but to be an additional school, how much capacity that provides. In other words, Bishop Fitzgerald and Governors Meadow relieved of some of the pressure that they are presently under by some of the additional capacity of the new school may or may not need all the add-on facilities that they have had or it may be re-developed in some other way by allowing more playground space. It is one of the factors that will be decided when the design and capacity of the new school have been fixed and that in turn is considered next to the demographic projections for the next decade or so along those schools in Gibraltar. So both are possible. Either that Bishop Fitzgerald, how those two schools will then have the assets shared between them and whether it will be the same as now or a different permutation to now is one of the issues that remain to be decided.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1688 TO 1695 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Can the Minister explain why there has been a decrease, a great decrease, in discretionary grants this year? Last year, when I asked a question, there were 64. This year we have 15.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I can tell the hon Member that these awards are assessed by the Scholarship Awards Committee on intrinsic merits and there were 25 applications for discretionary awards in second degrees, masters and doctorates and 15 of the 25 were found to be meritorious intrinsically and were awarded. I have to add there a note that the 17 PGCEs which have also added to the figure in previous years, this year have not been awarded for the simple reason that the Department for Education and Skills in the UK are now funding all PGCE courses, tuition fees and really with a very generous maintenance grant of £6,000 so it was something that is a saving on the taxpayer locally and we thought it was not either fair or reasonable to fund the PGCEs which we have traditionally funded. That is another reason why the figure is lower this year.

HON S E LINARES:

So the Minister then is confirming that from the 17 who applied for PGCEs the 17 are actually going?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Actually being paid by the British Government.

HON S E LINARES:

Can the Government also explain why the numbers of distance learning grants have also been decreased? We had 32 awarded in the year 2000 and yet in the year 2004 we had 14. Can the Minister explain why again a decrease on this one?

HON DR B A LINARES:

There were 34 applications for new distance learning courses this year, 34 applications only and in fact we find that for distance learning 34 were granted.

HON S E LINARES:

How many applied in 2000?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The number of applicants for distance learning subsidies were this year 34 and 14 were awarded.

HON S E LINARES:

Whilst in the year 2000 the Minister said there were 40 applicants and 32 got it with the figure of £34,000 spent.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it not the case then, that in the case of discretionary grants more people have been turned down this year than previously? Forgetting for a moment the PGCE who are really not being turned down because they are doing it paid for by somebody else. Of those that are paid from local funds, have more people been rejected who applied for discretionary grants or just a normal average?

HON DR B A LINARES:

It is a normal average. I gave the figures. There were 25 applications and 15 were awarded so that is more than 50 per cent.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In answer to Question No. 237 of 2004, the Minister said that 35 people had applied for discretionary post-graduate grants and 33 applications had been successful and two unsuccessful. That is almost 100 per cent yes. That does not seem to be the same this year. Is it that the quality of the candidates is less and their qualifications are not so good or what?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The Government leave that judgement entirely to the professional assessment board, the Scholarship Awards Committee. I can tell the hon Member that all recommendations, all the applicants who were recommended by the Scholarship Awards Committee this year have been granted awards.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So it is not that the Awards Committee had a smaller pot of money from which to make awards? It is not that the Awards Committee had a smaller pot of money in this budget.

HON DR B A LINARES:

The Scholarship Awards Committee does not look at any pot of money, they look at students, applicants, and judge them through interviews and track record and past degrees and assess them accordingly.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If I could add. I would not want the hon Member to create a sort of jurisprudence on this issue. The Government do not take the view that funds for non-mandatory scholarships are unlimited. In other words, it is not the policy of the Government that everybody that applies for a discretionary scholarship that the Board considers appropriate should be sent, because that in effect is subject to the Board's adjudication. That is a second tier of mandatory scholarships subject to being approved by the Board. There is a financial figure written in to this area and certainly, it may not have arisen yet, but certainly for those of us that have to make the Government's budget balance at least or have surpluses at best, the idea that there is an unlimited pot of money for non-mandatory scholarships is certainly not the view that I take of things. It has not arisen yet and long may that continue to be the case. I think the House should also be aware of the context to which I make this point. That is that we are committed to continuing to pay the tuition fees for all Gibraltar university students even when they are increased substantially as they are to be, I think it will be with effect from the next academic year, which could result, different universities will increase their fees by different amounts, but it could be up to three times more in tuition fees than we are paying at the moment. That of course is for mandatory, discretionary and everybody else. So this is not the discretionary scholarships. The mandatory scholarships do operate in a non financially restrained environment. That is a pure demand-led expenditure on the mandatory but on the discretionary side they do not operate in a no financial restraints environment.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I suppose then one needs to qualify the previous answer which was in fact that the discretionary academic committee gets 50 applications and then decides whether they recommend all 50 or 20 or 10.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it does not require to qualify the previous answer because apparently the Minister has told the House that the amount of money available enables them to fund all the ones that they wanted to recommend. This is what he has told the House. I therefore, relying on that, said that it has not arisen yet and I was just saying it because I did not want the hon Member to misinterpret the Minister's answer as meaning that that would necessarily always be the case. In other words, it has not operated yet and I said I hope it continues to be the case for many years but that this is not, the discretionary pot is not a bottomless pit of money.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well, would the Government not agree that it is most peculiar that the discretionary committee has made recommendations which fall within the amount that is in the pot? That in reaching that decision they have been guided purely by academic considerations without any knowledge of what is in the pot, because they are not put, that is what he also told us. That they do not take into account the amount of money available, that is the statement that has been made, and that somehow (Interruption). It is not on their minds because they do not decide to give less because there is less money, that is what we have been told.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I easily envisage the situation in which it might have to be on their minds. In other words, there is a figure which Government write in to how much is available. That may operate on their minds, I do not know if it operates on their minds or not.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well the Chief Minister does not know whether it operates on their minds and the other Minister does know that it does not operate in their minds, otherwise he has not been telling us the truth. He has told us quite specifically to a specific question, 'does this Committee take a decision as to how many discretionary grants they make depending on how much money they have got?' The answer was 'no, they make their recommendation purely on academic grounds, we do not intervene and I do not know why they have recommended so many this year'. That was the answer, the original answer given. Now, all I am telling the Minister, is would the Government not agree that if the academic committee decided this year to give less scholarships, not because there was less money, that they might arrive in future but it has not yet arrived. So without taking into account the amount of money that was available they decide to give less, but by some peculiar use of a crystal ball at the beginning of the year the Government reduced the available money from £120,000 to £47,000. Well that is what happened in this year's Budget. In last year's Budget they provided £120,000 in order to give new scholarships in September 2003, in the year 2003/2004 and this year they applied £47,000 for 2004/2005. Now is this the fact that less money is being spent, is this something that is driven by a decision that it is not an unlimited pot which we understand that can be a policy decision of the Government in terms of deciding, unlike the mandatory, we accept the mandatory by definition, if it is mandatory it has to be met. The discretionary is something that at any given point in time the Government can decide, 'well look we can afford so many or we cannot afford so many'. Now it seems that since the two are coinciding, that is are not coincidence, the decision to reduce the money taken independently from the decision to make the recommendation, both happen to be pointing in the same direction.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Perhaps I can convince the Leader of the Opposition if I tell him that all the applicants who were recommended by the Scholarship Awards Committee have been before me and that all of them have been given awards, scholarship awards. Perhaps I can convince him if I say that the cost of that went well over the pot. In fact there was more money needed to cover all these recommendations of the Awards Committee and fortunately, in our budgetary arrangements, we have been able to fund over and above the £47,000 that the hon Member referred to in our original budget, in order to accommodate, in order to be able to provide awards for all those who were unrecommended by the Scholarship Awards Committee, but there is one point I would like to make a note of. The hon Member said 'is it the lowering of numbers this year? Is it that the quality of the applicants?' Well I would not like that to go on record. I am not in any way indicting the quality of the applicants because there are many factors that are taken into consideration by the Board. For instance, the relevance of their course with the needs of Gibraltar. That has nothing to do with the quality of the applicant, at least not the academic quality but certainly the needs of Gibraltar is one of the main considerations, one of the main criteria taken by the Board and some are rejected precisely because of esoteric types of courses that they choose, a degree in Beckham proficiency and that sort of thing.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I note, in fact, that the last statement from the Minister does not seem to coincide with the previous statement by the Chief Minister, who said we had not yet reached the stage of having to take a policy decision because the pot had been exceeded. This year the pot has been exceeded then.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I said that we had not yet had to take a policy decision of curtailing the number of grants available that had been approved by the Board, because the Government were unwilling to provide the funding. In other words, one could find oneself in a situation where the Government, just as we have allowed them subject to virement or a funding source which may end up coming back to this House as supplementary, I do not know how it is going to be done, just as we have allowed them to exceed this year the amount of voted funds in order to allow them to fund all the ones that they have been willing to recommend, there is no obligation on the part of Government to do that. We have done it this year and therefore the need has not arisen but it is possible that at some future date and at some future year, they may wish to recommend 50 and the Government may only be willing to fund 49, or 40 or 30. That possibility exists, it has not happened yet.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that in the scholarships budget last year there was quite a substantial under-funding for reasons which are not very clear, would in fact the position not have been attained that instead of the money being vired as we have seen, there was something in the order of £780,000 vired out of mandatory scholarships Head in July this year in the reallocations that have been tabled at this meeting of the House. If the House originally was asked to provide this money and it did, and for reasons that are not very clear to us because there was no indication last year of any cutback, the money was not all spent, is that not something to bear in mind if it has been reallocated into other uses instead of being kept in the Scholarship Fund because it could easily. Given that we have got a Scholarship Fund, we could easily carry the money forward from one year to the other. It went into other expenses in the Education Department because it was reallocation within Head 1 from Sub-Head 7A and 7B to other Sub-Heads but can the Government say whether in fact the actual expenditure which is going to be higher than the £47,000, how that compares with the amount in the preceding year or do they not have that kind of information at hand?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I have not got the specific information with me.

HON S E LINARES:

Just as a point of clarification as well. It says in the Statement of Reallocation No. 6 2003/2004, which the hon Colleague is referring to. It is for Head 1A Education and Culture, that is no longer education and culture. Well, it is last year's – it would be right.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is there a process for appeal from the Board should an applicant be dissatisfied? Is there a process of appeal from the Board?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

As the hon Member knows well, there is a de facto appeal to the Minister, that people complain when their discretionary grant is not given to them because there is a growing tendency to regard discretionary grants as a matter of right. Hon Members should be aware, I am sure they are aware, that it is now much easier to get mandatory grants. Let me put it another way, it is now much easier to get into university than it used to be many years ago, and universities are doing many different types of courses and things like that. The accessibility to the mandatory grants through the normal university degree mainstream course is much more open now than it was say 10 years ago because they know the commercial imperatives that have been imposed on UK universities now. So there is not a formal, statutory procedure but I know that the Minister is approached by almost every unsuccessful applicant. That is not an appeals procedure but it does result in political pressure which is no doubt why the hon Members are asking these questions.

HON F R PICARDO:

The Minister in his first reply referred to the Board as a professional body, which of course it is not. It is a body made up of professionals but it is not a professional body and there could be a difference of opinion, could there not?, between the Minister and the political Government's view of what is relevant for the needs of Gibraltar and that body's view of what is relevant for the needs of Gibraltar. Therefore, has there been any instance in the past three or four years of the Minister disagreeing with a decision of the Board and granting it himself so to speak?

HON DR B A LINARES:

There may be instances when the Minister, the Minister by the way is not a Member of the Board, when I say professional it is totally independent of the political body but the Minister may not agree sometimes in his own mind after all I have been an educator myself so I can actually assess these things also from an academic point of view. Certainly, I do not overrule the decisions of the Board and I make it very clear in my replies to all those letters, that I am not prepared to overrule the decisions of the Board except in extreme cases, which have never occurred, where there is transgression of the rules or a manifest injustice which in the area of discretionary awards is very difficult to exist. In any case, this has never been the case. What I have to confess I have often done, is actually some letter which seems to me to carry some sort of argument, pass it on to the Board to see if they can reconsider but certainly that is not the same as the Minister overruling the decision of the Board. By all means I am not prepared to do that.

HON F R PICARDO:

Has that sort of reference back to the Board resulted in the Board recommending individuals contrary to their initial recommendation?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Certainly not this year. I cannot remember, there may have been odd cases in the past but certainly not this year. As I say, they did recommend awards beyond the allotted sums.

HON F R PICARDO:

If the Board do not know the size of the pot, which is what apparently is the position, well they know the size of the pot but they sometimes recommend beyond that, are they told 'we will take a maximum of fifteen', for example? Are they told the number if not a monetary amount?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

They cannot be told a number because all these courses cost different amounts of money, but they are aware of the size of the pot and of course it remains Government policy that people should stick to their voted funds, but if they come back making a strong case and the Government can find the money from somewhere else, we would rather find the money from somewhere else than leave their recommendations unfunded.

HON F R PICARDO:

So if there is money, say there is £100,000 and 15 are recommended, are the 15 that are recommended simply stamped 'recommended' or are they categorised 'first recommendee', 'second recommendee' so that if we run out of money.....

HON DR B A LINARES:

They do actually in their assessment have a system of points, a pointage system related to different criteria and in that context they do have a rank order but at a certain stage they say this is it, they draw the line and from this point down they do not think there should be awards.

HON F R PICARDO:

The 10 who have not got it are from that line down this year?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Right.

EDUCATION – SCHOOL LUNCHES

Can Government say how the Department of Education monitors the situation in relation to children staying for lunch during the lunch break?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Answer to Question No. 1687

The Department has made enquiries from Headteachers concerning their views and those of their staff and parents in relation to providing meals for children in schools. No external consultation has taken place so far.

Answer to Question No. 1696

The Department of Education and Training monitors the situation during the lunch break through the Headteachers who have responsibility for the children's welfare during this time in teamship with the Deputy Headteachers. Feedback is provided to the Headteacher by the lunchtime supervisors and the Deputy Headteachers. Representations, if felt necessary, are passed on to the Director for appropriate action.

The Department at all times attends to the views of individual parents, individually or collectively, whenever these are put to the Department directly.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1687 AND 1696

HON S E LINARES:

In relation to the providing of meals, the Minister stated that it is an internal enquiry which is being made and so far have not gone out to private individuals or companies to provide meals.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is not the answer that the Minister has given. The Minister has said that no external consultation has taken place so far, but the hon Member assumes that there is going to be a provision of school meals and that parents want it long before the Government come to consider how the service might be delivered, if the Government decide to deliver it, the first stage before all of that is to decide the extent of support that exists among parents for the service to be delivered. So this would be preceded by a consultation with parents, as we did when changing the school hours, there will be a consultation with parents about the possibility of the service. That is the external consultation which the Minister said had not taken place so far and not as the hon Member appears to have understood it, an external consultation with possible service providers.

HON S E LINARES:

I am glad the Chief Minister has answered the question because my question actually said "any enquiry" and therefore any enquiry, he has now just enforced that, that it could be any as in already doing the first part which is the internal one. The second part would be consultation with parents I presume, and the third part will be with providers.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is not for me to speculate what may be happening in the hon Member's mind but the question was 'have Government conducted any enquiries in relation to the possibility of producing the meals for children at school?'. That question does not suggest that the enquiries relate to the tender process of who is going to provide the service. Any enquiries in relation to the possibility of producing meals for schools, well the tender process is not about the possibility of producing meals for schools, it is to produce meals for schools not the possibility of producing meals. The enquiries that are germane to the possibility of producing meals for schools are enquiries leading to the policy decision of whether or not to provide meals at school. That is why the answer was drafted in the way that it has been drafted. The question does not suggest that it is directed toward the mechanical process of procuring a service after the policy decision has been made to provide the service. We are a long way from that stage and indeed the Government have not made the policy decision to provide the service. No such policy decision would be made without it being preceded by a consultation process and if the hon Member reads his party's last election manifesto he will see that it is couched on terms compatible with what I am now saying to him.

GTB – HOTEL GRADINGS

Have Gibraltar's hotels been inspected in 2004 in respect of their star grading, by whom at what cost and with what results?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The hotels were inspected by the RAC in 2004 at a cost of £3,050 and graded as follows:

|               |   |                             |
|---------------|---|-----------------------------|
| Elliott Hotel | - | 4 stars                     |
| Caleta Hotel  | - | 4 stars                     |
| Rock Hotel    | - | 4 stars and 2 dining awards |
| Cannon Hotel  | - | 1 diamond                   |

The Continental Hotel did not receive a grading. The Bristol and Queen's Hotel do not participate in the grading scheme.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1703 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is it the case that these inspections take place on an annual basis?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, these inspections take place annually and they are not announced. Obviously these inspections are done on an ad-hoc basis and then the gradings are assessed after the visit.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Are the Government aware whether the two hotels that are now not participating in the scheme, will participate at some point in the future?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

When we changed from the previous assessors to the RAC, there were certain criteria that has to be met and in the case of the Bristol and the Queens, they were both concerned that they would not meet certain criteria in order to meet their grading. They wanted a bit more time for that to happen and I think that hopefully next year all hotels will come on board, but they felt that they may lose their status within the hotel grading if the RAC enforced all criteria. Something like in order to have a three star there has to be a restaurant for example. In the case of the Bristol they do not have a restaurant, so they did not want to lose their three star rating as a result of that, but they are now looking into that possibility.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

There is no legal requirement for hotels to submit themselves to this grading scheme.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No there is not a legal requirement but let me say that my view and those of my Department is that all hotels should be graded. In fact, in our literature we will be specifying hotels that are actually graded by the RAC, which is an international grading system, and those that are not. I feel that those that are not graded actually stand to lose because the public will not feel that they are being in any way guaranteeing a certain level of service and quality of product.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to who carried out the inspections, can the Minister explain why they moved from the previous company to the RAC?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The previous company that did the assessment ceased trading.

GTB – ST MICHAEL’S CAVE

Are Government now in a position to say what fee the Electricity Authority will charge for the maintenance of the sound and light system at St Michael’s Cave?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Electricity Authority have notified the Gibraltar Tourist Board that they are unable to maintain the sound and light system at St Michael’s Cave. They will not therefore charge a fee for this.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1704 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister confirm whether the system is actually being maintained by anybody at present?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, the system will be maintained by in actual fact the original suppliers of the equipment, Electro Sonic Systems Limited in the UK, and we are in the process of signing a service agreement which will cover these requirements.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Since the warranty expired on the system, presumably the system has required to be maintained on several occasions. Is it the case that it has not been maintained by anybody and will be maintained by Electro Sonic in the future when the agreement is signed?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Up until now the actual sound and light system has been serviced by the Electricity Authority, to the best of our ability with input from Electro Sonic Systems Limited, but it became evident as time went by that the Electricity Department was unable to maintain the system adequately. So, we entered negotiations with the original supplier, which was not our preferred choice. Our preferred choice would have been to have had the Electricity Authority in Gibraltar doing it in-house, but we have had to go down this route and as I say we are in the process of finalising the details of an annual maintenance programme.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Our understanding is that, I remember coming out with this issue several times, there was a problem with the lighting, at the end of the steps, and I think at one point Thomson pulled out of sending tours up to the Cave because they thought it was not safe and tourists were falling over and they had these types of problems. Is it the case that these problems continue and will continue until the maintenance agreement comes into place?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, there were some issues, the hon Member is right in saying, in respect of lighting at some of the steps et cetera. Those have been addressed and Thomson are back on board. In fact, before we actually undertook the exercise we actually got and sat down with the tour operators themselves to make sure that there was no misunderstanding in what we were addressing, and in fact they were quite happy with the rectifications and improvements that we have done. As I say, they now continue to offer tours including St Michael's Cave.

HON S E LINARES:

As a matter of interest I went to St Michael's Cave a week ago I think, with my daughter, there was absolute mayhem outside. I am aware there was a liner in the Port and therefore there must have been a lot of tourists being bussed up or taxied up, but there was mayhem outside the St Michael's Cave, which is worrying. I understand there are two security guards there who are supposed to be putting some order and control there, but they were neither doing so nor capable of doing so because of the amount of people and buses and taxis that are up there. Is there any way, or any long-term or medium-term plan in order to alleviate that problem as in traffic flow, which is what I would be thinking of? As one well knows, in the entrance of St Michael's Cave, the present entrance because the entrance used to be at the top and now it is at the bottom, there is like a hill going down which goes to the entrance of Lower St Michael's, there might be somewhere where the Government could look in the future to make a road down that way, where the buses or taxis can come up and then go down the other way. It is just a question that I was quite shocked at the amount. Quite frankly, I just parked my car to one side because the security guard was telling me to go up to Spur Battery and I said 'look, it is impossible, I cannot move', so does the Minister not agree then that there is a case for actually alleviating the problem?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, if the problem could be alleviated tomorrow I would definitely do something about it. It is a very complex issue, but at the same time we are victims of our own success in our tourism policy. I am glad that the hon Dr Garcia agrees that we do have a lot of people in the Upper Rock. Joking apart, when we do have a cruise liner in Port it actually becomes a nightmare up there and as the hon Member clearly pointed out, the security guards find themselves with lots of difficulty. We are now looking at the possibility of restricting access to the Upper Rock in certain areas, and we are also looking at possibilities of addressing the actual pricing of tickets et cetera, and I will shortly be entering some form of consultation with the industry to see how best we can sort that out. The last thing we want is to cause any financial damage to any particular sector of either the transport industry or tourism industry, but yes, it is coming to the fact that numbers are just increasing and therefore we need to address that.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Taking up the Minister on his last answer, the figures which he supplies me with for people who go to the Upper Rock have actually been going down and not going up. So, I know the hon Member has been there, he was there last week and saw the problem for himself but as there are less people going up, why is the problem more acute now? Secondly, if I can revert to the original question, the Minister said that Electro Sonic Systems Limited will be carrying out the maintenance. I forgot to ask the Minister earlier, what will that cost?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well, on the first part of the question about numbers on the Upper Rock, I suggest the hon Member wait until we get the figures for the end of September because September was an extremely good month, well beyond the normality, so there he will find that we are xxxxx up with the figures. To be honest the point on the actual fees, we are currently in negotiations with the company, we have not finalised that, but let me say that we are talking of a maintenance fee of about £1,500 to £1,700 per annum for the maintenance. However, we have not yet concluded that because we are still discussing how certain maintenance and certain response to any fault to the system is going to be solved, and the level of promptness that we want that response to be because obviously that will have a cost. So we are trying to finalise that but we are talking roughly of about £100 and £150 a month.

AIRLINES

Further to the answer to Question No. 1005 of 2004, with how many of the five airlines that the Government were in discussion with, do those discussions continue?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Government would wish to see a resumption of the air service with Morocco. However, it is for commercial operators to put in place scheduled air links.

Government are not in discussion with any airline wishing to operate between Gibraltar and London Heathrow airport. The possibility of air links with an airport in the south-west of England continues under discussion.

Discussions still continue with five airlines, as I said in answer to Question No. 1005 of 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1705 to 1708 of 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Are they the same five airlines now as at that time?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes they are the same ones.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Has any progress been made in those discussions or are they still the same?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I must say that discussions are slow and there has not really been any major progress since the last Question Time in the House.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The last time that we discussed the question of air links, I remember the name of Flybe was mentioned as the name of the airline that was interested in flying to the south-west, it was one of the possibilities. So do Flybe remain as one of the five?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, I have said they are exactly the same ones as they were last time and that included Flybe.

GTB – SECURITY GUARDS

How many tenders were submitted in respect of the provision of a security guard service at various tourist sites, who was the successful tenderer and in what amount?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The successful tenderer was Admiral Security (Gibraltar) Limited in the sum of £9,384.83p per month. Three tenders were received in all.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1718 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say what amounts were bid by the other tenderers, or can he say at least whether this was the lowest tender?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, I can tell him that this was the lowest tender but I do not think it is Government policy to actually publish the offers made by those who do not succeed.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say what tourist sites are covered by the provision of these security guards?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, they cover basically various points on the Upper Rock, like St Michael's Cave, Jews Gate, the entrance by the Moorish Castle, some areas up in Great Siege Tunnels.

How many persons made up the GTB delegation to the SITU tourist fair in Barcelona in April?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The extensive factual and statistical information requested by the hon Member is set out in the written schedule that I hand to him.

SCHEDULE TO QUESTION 1725 OF 2004

Two persons made up the GTB delegation to SITC.

The cost of the GTB participation at SITC was:-

|                                        |             |
|----------------------------------------|-------------|
| Cost of stand                          | Euros 710   |
| Transportation of literature et cetera | Euros 448   |
| On stand catering                      | Euros 195   |
| Air tickets (2 persons)                | Euros 387   |
| Hotel (2 rooms)                        | Euros 1,067 |

The 22 journalists who attended the SITC reception for the travel press and the titles for which they work are:-

Lunas de Miel: Asela Olea

In addition, Nora Wasserman of Global attended the event.

Already a number of travel articles have appeared in the Spanish media, as listed below. However, the importance of events such as the travel press reception goes much further. They serve to forge links with important travel press publications, and their continued support of Gibraltar tourism in the long term is of key importance. Articles do not necessarily appear immediately after a media event : they continue to filter through over time. The list that follows is therefore expected to grow over the next few months:

|                                          |                     |
|------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| Air Classe                               | July/August edition |
| Banca 15                                 | June edition        |
| Guia Espanola del Transporte – Issue 161 |                     |
| IH                                       | June edition        |
| RNE                                      | 4 reports           |
| TAT                                      | May/June edition    |

The above articles and features are those of which the GTB is aware, as all titles are not monitored by the Madrid Office staff.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1721 TO 1725 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Minister has listed the 22 journalists who attended from the different media in his answer, and he has also listed six media where articles or reports appeared, but it also mentions that this is something which is not monitored by the office in Madrid. How do the Government then monitor the effectiveness of this kind of marketing strategy?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

What I was trying to say there was that there may have been some other reports in the press as a result of that in the meantime, but that they had not been brought to our attention and we have not picked them up. Sometimes, normally it is normal practice that when the reporter appears in a feature in one of these magazines, complimentary copies are obviously sent to the Tourist Board but that does not always follow. Therefore, what I am saying is that all those that are listed there may not be the only reports that we have had. Obviously we do like to monitor. If we do have a reception we invite 22 journalist we do like to follow up but let me say that reports or features of this nature do not actually take, reporters do not come to an event and then the next day run off and write a report. Sometimes they can take as much as a year before something appears, or may not appear at all. So therefore that has to be borne in mind when assessing and analysing the information.

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

There were six applications for beach concessions. Five of them were successful as follows:

- |     |               |   |               |   |             |
|-----|---------------|---|---------------|---|-------------|
| (1) | Camp Bay      | - | Mr W Parody   | - | Kiosk       |
| (2) | Little Bay    | - | Mr A de Bono  | - | Kiosk       |
| (3) | Eastern Beach | - | Mr G Parker   | - | Kiosk       |
|     |               |   | Mr P J Parody | - | Kiosk       |
|     |               |   | Mr C Bond     | - | Beach Rides |
| (4) | Catalan Bay   | - | Mr C Bond     | - | Beach Rides |

The fees in respect of each of these concessions was £325.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1726 AND 1727 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can I just clarify in relation to the answer given? When the Minister mentions people who have kiosks, is it that they have a separate concession to the kiosk or is the kiosk the actual concession in which he is answering the question?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The kiosk is a concession.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

So in respect of people who have canoes and that kind of thing, is that not?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is a beach ride which I have just mentioned.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Just to clarify further, is the £325 what a kiosk pays for all the summer in rent?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes I think that is the case. It seems very competitive to me and good value for money in this case.

GTB – ADVERTISING

Can Government say what steps they are taking to monitor the success or otherwise of their objective to position Gibraltar as a new product within the long-weekend or “puentes” market in Spain?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No further direct representations have been made to Gibraltar hotels by me since April 2004. The hotels are all well aware of the Government’s interest in making Gibraltar an attractive tourist destination for the Spanish weekend and “puentes” market. No further approaches have therefore been necessary.

The Gibraltar Tourist Board’s task is to promote Gibraltar as an attractive place to visit. Hotels can add value to a visitor’s time in Gibraltar if that person chooses to overnight in Gibraltar. The basis on which they can be successful is that of value for money. This is something which I have discussed with hotels, and they are in complete agreement. Naturally, when a hotel receives awards, for example for its cuisine, from a respected hotel grading association, this helps to convey the message to potential visitors.

All travel press initiatives in the Spanish market which the GTB designs are aimed specifically at the weekend and “puentes” market. It is extremely difficult to gauge the success of particular initiatives because the GTB does not sell any tourist products, so therefore we cannot look to see how many bookings are achieved from a particular advertisement or from a specific article in the travel press.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1724 AND 1728 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In identifying the need to compete on value for money as a challenge, was that because the Government consider that hotels in Gibraltar at the moment are not competitive and are not providing value for money?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, hotels in Gibraltar are totally conversant and aware of the fact that they do not represent value for money when comparing themselves with hotels on the other side of the border. However, they do offer a good product, now more than ever, and the results of the hotels in recent times actually vouch for the fact that occupancy figures are higher and therefore success is there, which must mean value for money for those that come and visit us.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think we ought to understand each other. The difference between the phrase 'value for money' and 'competitive'. I think it is probably more accurate to say that they are not competitive, I think they are value for money compared with other places, but to be competitive it is a question of price compared to their similar product in a neighbouring market place but they are value for money in the sense that what it costs one to stay here and what it costs one to stay in a hotel in London with the same facilities, it is cheaper here than in London. Competitiveness brings into hook the price that the competitor can offer in equivalence. I think hotels in Gibraltar in that sense are not competitive.

What was the cost, with a breakdown, of the GTB exhibition and showcase on Gibraltar held at Manchester Town Hall in June, how many persons made up the delegation and what posts do they hold?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The extensive factual and statistical information requested by the hon Member is set out in the written schedule that I hand to him.

SCHEDULE TO QUESTION 1731 OF 2004

Seventy persons attended the trade presentation given by the Gibraltar Tourist Board in Manchester.

The large turnout from the general public at the GTB exhibition and showcase at the Manchester Town Hall consisted of about 600 persons.

The persons who made up the Gibraltar delegation at the Manchester events were:-

|                  |   |                                                 |
|------------------|---|-------------------------------------------------|
| Hon J J Holliday | - | Minister for Tourism                            |
| Mr P Canessa     | - | Chief Executive/GTB                             |
| Mr A Poggio      | - | Director, Gibraltar Government Office in London |
| Mr M Sanguinetti | - | Sales Manager/GTB                               |

They were assisted by the following staff from the London Office:-

|                  |   |                                      |
|------------------|---|--------------------------------------|
| Mr I Leyde       | - | GTB Sales Manager (UK)               |
| Mr O Yeats       | - | Information Officer                  |
| Ms A Montegriffo | - | Placement Student, GTB London Office |

The costs of the event were:-

|                                                             |         |
|-------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| Cost of stand, including installation and dismantling costs | £ 9,450 |
| Catering : canapés and finger buffet                        | £ 5,385 |
| Hire of Musicians                                           | £ 615   |
| Invitations, including postage                              | £ 1,140 |
| Crystal paperweights, including freight charges             | £ 744   |
| Balloons and decorations                                    | £ 194   |
| Hotel accommodation and travel                              | £ 1,646 |
|                                                             | <hr/>   |
|                                                             | £19,174 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1729 TO 1731 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

According to the information supplied by the Minister, the cost of this event in Manchester was £19,174. Of that the catering was £5,300 which is about a quarter of the sum. It is described here as canapés and finger buffet. Can the Minister explain why that particular cost is so high compared to the overall cost of the event?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I cannot really explain apart from the fact that that was the cost of entertaining the 70 people from the trade who came for the presentation and then the dinner which followed after that. It included an element of canapés and it was a finger buffet actually more than a dinner although there were tables where people could sit down as well.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I am tempted also, given that we have been talking about competitiveness and value for money, to ask after the £615 it cost to hire musicians. Was this for the dinner, was it for the stand or for what?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, the hiring of the musicians was some form of small little orchestra that kept going throughout the exhibition while the general public were visiting et cetera.

GTB – ADVERTISING

On what dates and in what media did Government spend £4,854.40p advertising “Portugal and Morocco (GIB)”, showing a breakdown of the sum?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The extensive factual and statistical information requested by the hon Member is set out in the written schedule that I hand to him.

SCHEDULE TO QUESTION 1732 OF 2004

When negotiating with publications over their advertising rates, it is usually possible to obtain significant discounts which can be negotiated by regular advertisers. The Government do not therefore wish to make public the exact amount which is spent on any particular insertion in a newspaper or magazine. Such information is considered to be commercially sensitive.

Answer to Question 1697 of 2004

As at 31 August 2004, £441,055 had been spent out of the marketing budget of £980,000 as follows:

Advertisements were placed in Portugal in The News, an Algarve English-language newspaper.

There were no advertisements for Morocco.

More than one insertion was placed in certain publications.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1697 TO 1700 AND 1732 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 1732 which referred to advertising and special features, the Minister has replied, I am not sure if it is an answer to that question. Can the Minister clarify the opening paragraph to the schedule he has given me, what question does that refer to?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I think the opening paragraph is just the opening statement because there are questions on rates and we felt that it was commercially sensitive to actually give rates over the floor of the House in respect of particular contracts that are established. One never accepts the contract rate that is offered by any publication for advertising. These are negotiated depending on the frequency, on the timing, and therefore the published rates are not rates that are normally accepted or even agreed with those concerned. That was a general opening paragraph which actually applies to a number of these questions. In respect of Question No. 1732 which is specifically requesting in respect of advertising under the heading 'Portugal and Morocco', it refers to advertising in Portugal in an English language newspaper called 'The News'. Whilst in Morocco there had not been any advertising but we do have a heading called 'Portugal and Morocco' as a heading but not specifically because there has been advertising in that respect.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Would the Minister be willing to supply that information to the Opposition on a confidential basis in writing?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Does the hon Member actually mean spell out the advertising and the rates? Yes, it would be a laborious exercise but it can be made available. It is available.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 1697, one of the items in the breakdown is £4,300 spent on website maintenance. Is that the website of the Tourist Board here or the UK Office?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

This is the maintenance of the website in the UK, which is a specifically tourism website.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1733 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the answer given to Question No. 1733, the cost of the Press on the Rock visit is £5,994. Of that I note that £4,571 of that amount refers to the Ed Lacy Award expenses. Is it that an award is given to somebody and this is a monetary award?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I am afraid that I actually spotted that myself only a few minutes ago. Really it should not have been the Ed Lacy Award. When we actually do Press on the Rock we contract a company in the UK who does public relations to actually pick the various medias. They accompany them here, they look after them, although the Tourist Board obviously look after them as well, but they are here for the duration of the Press on the Rock and then they go back with them even though they are accompanied by a member of our own staff. That is actually £4,275 so that is basically public relations. They actually do quite a lot of work in preparation for the visit in order to make sure that those that are coming are people that are going to give us the sort of result that we want when they go back. They actually then have the obligation to follow up in order that we do get, although they are not under strict obligations to deliver a report, they are actually able to monitor because they tend to have the right connections within the industry to ensure that we get as much positive press as possible.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Given the cost of that public relations company, could this work not be done by the Gibraltar Office in London?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No not really because one really needs to be in this specific area. We are talking of a company called Doug Goodman Public Relations, Doug Goodman is a well established public relations company who is well connected in the travel and press industry and they have been doing this for us now for a number of years and it has always paid well to have their involvement in the exercise. One must realise that the total sum of this exercise is £5,594, so the hotels join forces because they feel that they can benefit from this exercise. The airlines participate by giving us free tickets coming out. Local restaurants actually feed the contingent while they are out here on a sort of public relations exercise, so we all, both public sector and private sector, join forces to try and make this as value for money as possible, but on the other hand making sure that we get the right results when these people go back. At the end of the day we could have all of them coming out on a jolly and then going back and producing nothing, but this actually puts a stop to that to the best of our ability and so far when we have had them involved, and that goes back possibly four or five years now, we have noticed that they actually work. Actually Doug Goodman, the managing director of the company was a personal friend of Ed Lacy who was a very strong supporter of Gibraltar. So therefore he has a certain amount of personal commitment to the project because Ed Lacy actually started coming out to Gibraltar when we first initially started to do this initiative. So there is a bit of personal commitment to the whole exercise as well. The reality is that £4,000 have people out here for four days and they bring out a party of at least two or three, is not really money in the UK for carrying out such an exercise.

GTB – ADVERTISING

Can Government say how and when Gibraltar's marketing strategies were evaluated and its advertising initiatives refreshed following the UKGTA meeting in Gibraltar in June?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 1735 of 2004.

NO. 1735 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

GTB – ADVERTISING

How many initiatives is the UKGTA currently progressing work on and what are they?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Gibraltar Tourist Board is continually evaluating its marketing strategies. Following the UKGTA meeting in Gibraltar in June 2004, the structure and components of the marketing strategy were closely examined. This included examining the value and relevance of every item of marketing expenditure from the cost of exhibiting at different travel exhibitions, dedicated Gibraltar roadshows, the form of the UKGTA brochure, the media selected for advertising, the form of advertisements used, the advertising slogan for this year's campaign and so on. In examining the marketing expenditure, the advice of the Gibraltar Tourist Board advertising consultants and PR consultants was sought.

In addition, marketing trends in the UK were closely scrutinised and the confidential feedback and advice of the UK members of the UKGTA were closely considered.

The initiatives which the UKGTA are currently progressing, under the leadership of the GTB, are as follows:

1. preparation of a 2005 UKGTA brochure;
2. deciding at which regional travel trade shows and exhibitions Gibraltar should have a presence;
3. considering the 2004/2005 advertising campaign;
4. formulating an on-line advertising campaign;
5. UK tour operators are considering how best to support GTB initiatives, including travel trade press trips and familiarisation trips for travel agency staff;
6. Supporting educational strategies within UK for UK tour operators and travel agency staff to enhance Gibraltar's tourist product knowledge.

GTB – CRUISE SHIPS

Are Government aware of the response of the Spanish Government to the representations made by MedCruise and the European Cruise Council following the news of a six months moratorium on cruise ships calling at a Spanish port after calling at Gibraltar?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No Sir.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1736 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Are Government in a position to find out what the response has been?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

As far as I am aware, and I think I am correct in saying that the MedCruise part of the question has definitely not received any response. However, in respect of the European Cruise Council that is a different matter but we have had no feedback that there has been any reply either.

PORT – NUMBER OF COLLISIONS

Can Government say how many collisions have taken place in the Bay of Gibraltar in the last twelve months, giving the date when the collision took place and the names and type of vessels involved?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

There were two collisions. On 20th May 2004, two bulk carriers collided. They were the MV SUN and the MV DAPENGHAI.

On 26th September 2004, the cruise liner VAN GOGH and the oil tanker SPETSES were involved in a collision.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1741 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Has this information normally compiled by the Port Department, regardless of whether the collision takes place on our side of the Bay as it were or on the Spanish side of the Bay, and where did these two take place?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Absolutely, if it takes place within the Bay of Gibraltar in our side or whatever, it is recorded of course.

Answered together with Question Nos. 1742 and 1744 of 2004.

NO. 1744 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PORT AUTHORITY – CONFERENCES

What officials from the Gibraltar Port Authority or the Gibraltar Government attended the “21st Century Ports; Terminals; Bunkers; Logistics Conference” which took place in April?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Initially, an invitation was extended to the Chief Executive of the Ministry with responsibility for shipping to present a paper at the Conference. This invitation was subsequently withdrawn and the Port of Gibraltar were offered several free tickets for delegates to the Conference by the organiser.

The Bunkering Superintendent attended the Conference as a delegate.

There was no cost to Government of his attendance at this event.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1742 TO 1744 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister tell the House why the invitation was withdrawn?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The organisers informed the Chief Executive at the Ministry that there had been a change in the programme, so therefore the issue that was going to be addressed by the Chief Executive was no longer on the order paper. I feel that they were fairly embarrassed about the whole thing and that there was definitely pressure to have them withdrawn.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

When the Minister says 'pressure' does he mean political pressure exercised by the Spanish Government in Madrid, is that it?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

We are speculating, I mean nobody gave us that as an excuse. The excuse was that there had been a change in the order paper and the topics being addressed so therefore the topic that the Chief Executive was going to address from a Gibraltar perspective was no longer a topic to be discussed, so therefore his presence was no longer required.

PORT – DREDGING

Can Government say whether they have now taken a decision to proceed with the dredging of the Western Arm of the Port?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The position has not changed since the hon Member last raised this matter in the House.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1748 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does that mean that it has not gone up in the Government's scale of priorities which is what I recall was the answer last time?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

It means exactly what I said the last time the matter was raised, and that was precisely the case.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does that mean that the other calls which are scheduled by the Queen Mary will also take place with them anchoring in the Bay and using tenders?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is correct.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The calls will be going ahead, they have not been cancelled?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The call is going ahead and the same logistics as was undertaken in September when the Queen Mary arrived will be repeated again.

Question 1749

No new application for bunkering licences have been made since April 2004.

NO. 1751 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

JOHN MACKINTOSH SQUARE

What works were carried out by the contractor to the Piazza development after the official opening by the Princess Royal?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

After the official opening of the John Mackintosh Square development by the Princess Royal, the contractor undertook the following works:

- (i) paving of the floor of the Lobby of the House of Assembly;
- (ii) erected the handrails on the small steps leading to the House of Assembly, by the western façade;
- (iii) erected the bollards to the House of Assembly forecourt area;
- (iv) constructed the bases for the telephone booths;
- (v) repaved an area of footway that had been damaged by vehicles being driven on it;
- (vi) undertook snagging works such as grinding of identification marks on manhole covers and compaction and levelling of paving that were not up to the required standard;
- (vii) the specified light fittings for the public toilets have also been fixed and final kitting out of the janitor's room was also completed.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1751 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Was there any additional cost involved for those works?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The only item that I have mentioned which was not part of the main contract was the paving of the floor of the Lobby of the House of Assembly, the rest were all included in the original contract. The only additional cost was in respect of that item.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is the Minister in a position to tell the House what the cost of that paving was?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

This item was always scheduled to be done. However, it was not part of the original contract. I have not got that information with me but I can make that information available to the hon Member if he wishes.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Can I just add something just to make sure my hon Colleague does not inadvertently. I think his answer is correct but I am not sure the final certification for that contract has yet been done. Although I am not suggesting that it is the case, it may be the case that additional overtime costs were incurred in order to finish certain tasks in time for the inauguration by the Princess Royal. So I am not saying that there was or that I think there was, or that I am aware of any such issue, I am not but I know that there was a last minute rush and that there was weekend working and working late into the evening. I do not know whether that entitles or does not entitle the contractor to make an additional claim for overtime in respect of this labour. So with that caveat, which I will confirm to the hon Member, the Minister's answer stands.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Yes, I would be grateful if the hon Members could confirm that situation to me. Has the development been handed over by the contractor to the Government already or not?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I believe that the contract has not yet been handed over completely. However, it is almost there.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the additional costs which we were discussing, I seem to recall when we debated this issue earlier that the project had been delayed and that there was a kind of penalty clause whereby the contractor would have to pay the Government so much money depending on the length of the delay. Can the Minister say if he has this information available whether the contractor will end up paying more to the Government than the Government to the contractor for the additional work that took place?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I think we will not be able to confirm one way or the other until the contract is actually terminated and the final analysis is done of the work by the architect et cetera.

NO. 1752 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

GTB – WESTERN BEACH

Can Government say whether and if so when the kiosk at Western Beach was put out to tender?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

There is no kiosk at Western Beach.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1752 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is there a facility at the beach whereby food and drink is sold to the people who go to the beach?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

There are not any facilities on Western Beach.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is there a facility near the beach to which users of the beach avail themselves of?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

There are indeed facilities near the beach but not on Western Beach.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is the facility which is near the beach and not on the beach, was that put out to tender and if so when?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, I will explain the situation. A certain gentleman approached the Gibraltar Tourist Board with the idea of obtaining a concession as a beach concession, like a lot of others during the bathing season. In fact, this concession was offered to him after his application but the gentleman concerned decided not to take the offer. He subsequently built up some form of kiosk in the adjacent land, which is not under the jurisdiction of the Gibraltar Tourist Board as such for beach concessions. When questioned by the Port Department he claimed he had a concession by the Gibraltar Tourist Board. For a while the thing was left in limbo in that the Port thought that the Tourist Board had done it, the Tourist Board thought that the Port had done it. It then subsequently came to light and by the time the thing had been brought to a head, the season was almost over. So that is how the matter developed but let me say that people on the beach and those that use the small boat owners facilities were actually quite keen with the facility because it provided a much needed facility to the area. So obviously this will not happen next year because everybody will be on alert but unfortunately that situation arose.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

So is it the case then that for next year this will be included in the general tender for beach concessions that we discussed earlier in this meeting?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, the situation is one where the facilities were offered as a beach concession but was not taken up. He subsequently built up a facility in the adjacent area which does not come under the Gibraltar Tourist Board. So the facilities will be available again next year and applicants will be able to apply. Obviously the Port Department will keep an eye that a repetition does not re-occur.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Just as a point of clarification, the land in question comes under the Port Department not under the GTB but it is not MOD land, is that the case?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, not at all. It is part of the jurisdiction of the Port.

NO. 1753 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

CATALAN BAY

Has the tender for Phase 2 and Phase 3 for the beautification of Catalan Bay now been awarded, and if so to whom and for how much, showing the amounts bid by the unsuccessful tenderers?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Government decided not to proceed with the tender for Phase 2 and Phase 3 of the beautification of Catalan Bay. A new tender, for revised specifications, was advertised on 14th July 2004. It was awarded to AMCO (Gibraltar) Limited in the sum of £346,899.16p.

It is not Government policy to state the amounts bid by unsuccessful tenderers.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1753 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Government say whether the tender by AMCO was the lowest tender?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I am afraid I cannot confirm this. I believe it was but I will have to check this and maybe confirm the matter to him by writing to him. I believe it was but I would not say that I am absolutely sure that that was the case.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I would welcome confirmation by writing.

ALLOCATION OF VACANT UNITS

Have the tenders in respect of the vacant units at the following sites now been allocated, and if so to whom and for what purpose:

- (a) Lathbury Barracks units 1, 5, 10, 17, 18, 19, 23, 24, 26, 27 and 28;
- (b) Europa Business Centre unit F10A;
- (c) Governor's Cottage Camp unit 12;
- (d) Harbour's Walk, New Harbours units 73, 74, 90, 91, 98 and 102;
- (e) Harbour's Deck, New Harbours units 44b and 61?

ANSWER

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1754 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Because there are five different areas, in relation first to the Lathbury Barracks Industrial park, is it possible for the Minister to say whether the people who were awarded tenders were in fact the highest, the ones who would pay more, or were these fixed amounts they had to pay?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The criteria that was used by the Government in the allocation of these premises did not only take into consideration the possible premium that was being asked, because in some cases there was no premium offered at all, so therefore the criteria used by the Government in order to select the successful tenderers were based on the nature of the business, the employment generating that these facilities would facilitate, the vacating of existing premises, whether the business was a new or an existing business and these criteria were all used in order to be able to select that. There was an element of obviously taking the premium into account but it was not the only criteria.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In terms of creating employment, of the 10 at Lathbury Barracks that were allocated, eight were allocated as a store. Is that because they had a storekeeper or a warehouse manager or something and they created employment in that respect?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

They could have done. Obviously if additional storage meant possibly additional distribution facilities and therefore additional people being employed. As I said, employment was not the only criteria either.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the Lathbury Barracks, there was unit 28 which was not allocated. The unit at Europa Business Centre was not allocated. The one at Governor's Cottage was not allocated and there are three units at Harbours Walk that were not allocated and one at Harbour's Deck. Is that because nobody was interested in the units and if that was the case would the Government put this out to tender once again?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well, the tender invited interested parties to apply for a specific unit and then put an order of preference. In some cases there was no interest actually expressed for a specific unit so what we have done is that we have instructed LPS to write to all those that were not successful and offering them the empty units that are left, with the hope that some of these will be taken up. However, for example, in the case of Harbour's Deck, New Harbours, which is unit 61 that has not been allocated because the Government may be requiring this for its own use to relocate a particular organisation into that unit, so therefore it is pending that decision.

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

EUROPA POINT

When do Government expect to commence and complete the improvements to Europa Point that were announced in the Budget of 2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No date has as yet been set for commencing the improvements to Europa Point.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1755 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is it the intention of the Government to commence the project in this financial year?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

There is a programme in place which we are now trying to put together which will meet the requirements that the Government want to see up in Europa Point. There may be some aspects of that that may actually commence this financial year but the project that we are looking at is very much an overall scheme for the whole area and therefore this will need to be phased in over a period of time.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

At the Budget of 2003 the Minister mentioned the provision of extensive car parking, the replacement or perhaps demolition of the existing structure which was there, which is a shop or something, and replacing that and improvements to the actual mound as well. Has the nature of the project changed or are the Government seeing it in the same way as it was in 2003?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The nature of the project is similar to what has been described but I would not want to commit the Government to any particular details of the scheme because it is still on the discussion and drawing board for possible changes.

NO. 1756 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

UPPER ROCK

Following the last Question Time in this House, can Government say on what date were the slopes of the Upper Rock last cleaned, by whom and at what cost?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The slopes on the Upper Rock are cleaned by Master Service (Gibraltar) Limited every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at a cost of £4,422.50p per month.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1756 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In the answer the Minister has given, the use of the word 'slopes' obviously does not mean the road or the hill, it means the actual slopes where there are trees and bushes and all that, is that what the Minister is referring to?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is correct.

CONFERENCE ASSISTANCE

Can Government list the conferences that they have assisted with, sponsored or co-sponsored since April 2004 inclusive, showing the dates of the conferences in question?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The extensive factual information requested by the hon Member is set out in the schedule attached.

Answer to Question 1757 of 2004

CONFERENCES WHICH THE GOVERNMENT HAVE ASSISTED WITH, SPONSORED OR CO-SPONSORED SINCE APRIL 2004 INCLUSIVE

RIMS (Risk and Insurance Management Society) annual conference and exhibition, San Diego, USA, 18-21 April 2004.

Lloyds TSB Gibraltar Insurance Seminar, Caleta Hotel, 20 May 2004.

Luxembourg Rendezvous Viennial Risk Management and Risk Financing Conference and Exhibition, Luxembourg/Kirchberg, 12-13 May 2004.

AIRMIC (Association of Insurance and Risk Managers), Manchester International Convention Centre, Manchester, UK, 14-16 June 2004.

VCIA (Vermont Captive Insurance Association) annual conference and exhibition, Burlington, Vermont, USA, 10-12 August 2004.

Swiss independent portfolio manager's seminar, Finance Centre conference room, Europort, 9 September 2004.

Gibraltar Bankers' Association annual conference, Caleta Hotel, 29 September 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1757 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Minister has given me a list which has seven conferences on it. Of the seven, three were in Gibraltar. I think that is the first time that conferences have been included in the list which are not in Gibraltar. Is this because the Government have attended the conferences themselves or they have assisted the organisers to actually hold the conference?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I raised the same issue yesterday myself when I saw this answer because it was prepared in my absence when I was unwell, but I think the interpretation that had been given to this by the Finance Centre Director was that if, for example, they were participating in an insurance conference and seminar and they had a stand and possibly participants from the Gibraltar Finance Centre participated as speakers or at a round table discussion or whatever, they felt that they had assisted in the conference. I do not think it implies any financial sponsorship as such. So therefore the answer may or may not be correct depending on ones interpretation of what one is trying to seek. There have not been any financial contributions in any of those.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The information I was trying to seek is the same, this question is normally one which comes up at every meeting of the House. Is it that the question has been handed to the Finance Centre Director to answer this time and before was answered by somebody else?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Not at all. I really do not understand his interpretation of this, the answer that I would have given for this was that there had not been any assistance in terms of financial assistance in any of these conferences. However, his interpretation on this occasion has been such, I did not want to change the answer because I was not sure but I did check yesterday and that was the answer that I was given, that their assistance had been in terms of participation in terms of stands or discussions, or speakers or whatever at that conference.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Minister amongst other points will see that the question makes no reference to the Finance Centre or to Finance Centre issues firstly. For example I know that the Calpe Conference which I think is organised by the Government and which took place within since April, the question says since April 2004, that conference is not on the list which the Minister has supplied me with.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well if I may suggest to the hon Member that I write to him with the information that he is seeking, which has always been traditionally what has always been replied and not the way it has been replied on this occasion. Let me say that when the question asked 'can Government', obviously that includes the Finance Centre as well.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I would be grateful if the Minister could write to me and clarify those points, and yes of course the Government includes the Finance Centre but obviously the other departments as well that may be involved in organising conferences.

NO. 1768 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

GRAND PARADE

On what date did the construction of an underground car park at Grand Parade go out to tender?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No concession has as yet been granted to any entity to own and operate an underground car park at Grand Parade. A particular company, Grand Developments Limited first made a proposal to Government in February 1999. They made an application for assistance under the Gibraltar Enterprise Scheme to carry out a geological survey and a topographical survey and to prepare a design for the project. A grant in the sum of £44,800 was given broken down as follows:-

|    |                      |         |
|----|----------------------|---------|
| 1. | Geological Survey    | £ 3,000 |
| 2. | Topographical Survey | £ 360   |
| 3. | Scheme Design        | £41,440 |

It is for the company to appoint its consultants, and their reports are for the use of the company and not for submission to Government.

The issue of potential revenue to Government from an underground car park at Grand Parade, or the costs – if any – to the Government do not as yet arise. The project has yet to be finalised, so it is premature to enquire about tenders for its construction.

The land at Grand Parade is owned by the Government.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1758 TO 1768 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

There are a number of questions which the Minister has answered together so I will go through them with any supplementaries that may arise. The first one is the application for planning permission to construct a multi-storey underground car park appeared at the beginning of August, I certainly do not recall having seen an application for planning permission from a company to construct something on land which is not theirs. Is this the first time that this has happened? Can the Minister say whether this is the case this time?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No this is not the case. An outline application can be submitted by any individual or company for a project which may be constructed on land that does not belong to it at the time of submitting the application. So there is nothing irregular about the application which the hon Member describes was submitted in August.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If one is a potential investor with a potential development scheme of some sort, the Government can enter into an agreement as landlord, as owner of the land, to sell the land or even to authorise the scheme or even to say that they will support the scheme in the DPC, but the Government are not the DPC and therefore cannot guarantee or agree to issue a planning permission. So it is not infrequent that people test whether a planning permit is likely to issue before they commit themselves legally and financially to pursue a project. It is not just the financial costs of the acquisition of the land, developing these projects to the stage of planning permission often takes quite a lot of expenditure in terms of fees and investigation, and developers like to know that at least so far as outline planning is concerned, because that is where issues of principle would need to be raised by DPC, so it is not unusual and it is certainly not unique to this case. It is inevitable.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Do we understand from that that there is already an agreement for the sale of the land?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is not an agreement yet, there is a proposal. They are still at the feasibility stage, the Government have indicated in principle that provided subject to surveys and subject to future operational methods, in other words, how are they going to operate the car park in the future, and subject to construction implementation approval. In other words, what degree of disruption is going to take place, for how long, to existing facilities whilst the project takes place. Subject to being satisfied on all of those things, which have not yet happened, the Government have indicated that in principle they would be willing to see an underground car park built in Grand Parade. Negotiations have started but they have certainly not been completed or I do not think anywhere near being completed.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I mentioned earlier that I had not seen this formula or this procedure before, because the normal practice, certainly since I have been shadowing this department, is that something comes out to tender, an area in the sea front or a plot of land, then companies submit a tender with proposals as to what they are going to build on it, then the Government select one of the tenderers. In this particular case, from what the Chief Minister is saying, this project will not go out to tender. If it proceeds it will be done by the company that submitted the proposal in 1999. Is that the case?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is the correct. The Government's policy, as the hon Member knows, is that disposal of Crown lands is normally done by tender but from the very beginning we have made it clear, back from 1996, that an exception would be made to projects which were substantial and in the economic or social interests of Gibraltar. If somebody comes with a project to spend many, many millions of pounds in building a multi-storey car park, one cannot turn round and say 'hang on, it is a jolly good idea, let me put it out to tender to see if we offer the idea to somebody else instead'. So if the project is large enough and unique enough and the idea of the developer rather than something that the Government want to achieve on that land, then an exception is made. In fact since 1996 there have been very few exceptions to that and I cannot presently think of one but I think there has been one in the past even though I cannot recall now what it is.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

One of the issues which arises from this, from an examination of the plans which were made public, is that under Grand Parade there are a series of World War II tunnels or tunnels of some kind which the Minister may have wanted to open to the public at some point as a tourism project of some heritage value, where would a project which involves the construction of an underground car park leave the tunnels and the facilities which are already there?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

My understanding is that the project does not actually impinge on any of these tunnels with the exception of Ragged Staff Tunnel which may be part of the actual underground car parking facility. However, this was sort of mentioned at the last meeting I had with the developers and they have not come back to me with a firm commitment as to whether they would or not be pursuing that option.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Minister mentioned that proposals were first put forward in February 1999 to the Government. Can the Minister explain what happened to them in the last six years, have they been on the shelf and the Government have finally decided that it is a good idea to have this project going ahead?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, during this time the company has been given clear decisions from the Government but obviously they have been looking at the feasibility of the project, the financing of the project, the actual structural requirements, the concerns expressed in respect of the tunnels, a number of issues that they have had to address during this time and that is the time that they have taken to come forward. They are now in the near completion stages of taking a decision and that is where we are.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

On the point of ownership, one of the questions related to who will own and operate the car park, I cannot recall the Minister's answer on that particular point. Is it that that has not been agreed between the Government and the company at this stage?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The principle of the matter is that the underground car park will be operated by the developer. However, the terms under which they will operate and for the purpose which they will operate it is still under final discussion, because one of the issues that obviously the Government are keen to address is facilitating parking facilities for those that live in the area, on an on-going basis and not find itself to have an underground car park where it is only for day visitors for example, who wish to use the car park. It is looking after the social interests of the area as well.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Just to establish the point, the land will be sold by the Government to the developer. That is to say, they will have to pay for it. It is not in exchange for building the car park and operating it and providing a facility that they will get the land for free.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, the Government are negotiating a premium for the lease of the land for a period of time, under normal practice.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I move on now to the questions on the survey of the land. The size of the area of the actual car park, is that the size of the whole area of Grand Parade as it is today?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well it depends what is meant by Grand Parade. If what is meant is the actual square, yes, it covers underground all areas with the exception of the area around the Cable Car where there are obviously foundations and things which have to be kept clear, and I think the Barbary Ape Kiosk in the corner which is not affected by the scheme.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does the Minister have with him, and if not if he could supply the information, the actual surface area which is involved of land? Both at ground level and then the levels that go beneath. In square metres or feet, what is the surface area of the land?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I have not got that information with me but I can tell him that the surface area which exists today will remain as is. In other words, what we see today will remain. Possibly with some alterations in some levels but the area as such will remain the same, and then there will be three levels underneath that, providing approximately 1,200 car parking spaces.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Would the Minister be willing to write to me and let me know what the actual surface area of the land is going to be?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Government have no difficulty providing him with geographical information about Gibraltar, namely the square metres of the existing Grand Parade area, which I understand is what he is asking. My Colleague is in some doubt as to whether he is asking for the square metres of each floor of the proposed development, which I do not understand him to be asking. If he is, it is premature to give him that because it is still only a proposal but he can have that in due course as soon as it is fixed. In the meantime what we will give him is the superficial dimensions of the existing Grand Parade.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

What we are after really is the plot of land which is going to be given to the developer to be able to build the car park, that surface area.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, it will be a plot of land on the surface. The surface has not been given to them, we will have to make the surface available to them to remove temporarily so that they can build underneath it, but the surface will remain a public piece of land, free car park. In other words, of course there will be disruption on our surface but we are not alienating the surface. So, the area that will be the subject matter of the agreement would be the area underneath our surface.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In square metres, presumably because they need to remove the surface in order to build the levels that go underneath it. That would be the square metre area that we are interested in having. The surface area of the project which would be the ceiling or the roof of the car park I suppose.

HON S E LINARES:

As a matter of interest, would this affect Tiny Tots Nursery?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON S E LINARES:

When the Chief Minister says yes, that means that they will be given another allocation in order to use that surface area as well.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The question was not whether they will have to be permanently relocated. The question was whether they would be affected. The answer is that they will be affected, at least during the construction phase.

HON S E LINARES:

So the next subsequent question is are they going to be moved, reallocated?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I think there is need for a temporary relocation which the developers would have to undertake to do at their expense but the present proposal does not envisage any need for a permanent relocation.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Reverting to the original questions on the geological survey and the topographical survey. One of the questions asked whether the Government would be willing to make the conclusions of those surveys public?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

These surveys belong to the company, they do not belong to the Government. Therefore they have not even been made available to us. Obviously our own technical people would need to assess those surveys if they are meant to be part of the construction material and obviously those will be analysed in due course, but there is no need for them to submit any surveys to us at this stage.

DEVELOPMENT PLAN

Do Government now have a target date for the publication of the draft Development Plan?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The target date is early 2005.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1772 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say at what stage of preparations the project actually is at this moment in time?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well, the draft has already been completed. I have actually read the draft as Chairman of the Development and Planning Commission, there have been some adjustments and alterations that are being made, there will be a draft that will be submitted to all members of the Development and Planning Commission in order to have their input and in fact other Government Departments as well. We intend to carry out a full environmental impact assessment study on the development plan to ensure that any areas which may be suggested or earmarked in any particular way in the plan, will be pointed out to us ahead of publication and then there will be public consultation before the document becomes valid and in place.

MARINA BAY

Can Government say whether outline planning permission has now been granted in respect of the application from Marina Bay Complex Limited to construct a multi-storey car park/commercial development and if so when?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Outline planning permission has not yet been granted.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1774 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say whether the Development and Planning Commission are actually looking at the project for some particular reason which has caused this delay in granting planning permission, or is it just a normal procedure?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The Government are not willing to give this sort of information in respect of the administrative stage of any particular application.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is the Minister in a position to say whether the fact that outline planning permission has not yet been granted is perhaps linked to any representations which have been made?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Can I just clarify this because this is a matter of Government policy? The position is that the Government are not technically answerable in this House for the Development and Planning Commission, but nevertheless because the Minister is the Chairman, the Government's policy is to be as accountable as is proper in this House for the affairs of the DPC, even though we are not actually accountable at all as a Government. The DPC is not the Government, it is a separate statutory body, independent of the Government. As I say, as the Minister is the Chairman and our policy is for Elected Members of the Government to be accountable for everything that they do and participate in, we answer questions but going as far as it is proper to go, without offending the rights of individual citizens to confidentiality in the conduct of their affairs. So, for example, the hon Member has seen that in respect of DPC we answer questions about whether planning permission has been given or not, and we answer questions about the public participation in the process, about whether there had been any responses for example to the public consultation process, whether any member of the public has objected, and about whether the Town Planner has or has not ordered an environmental impact assessment. When it comes to the particular administration handling of a particular application, with a name and a project that can be identified, we think people are entitled to have their business with the Government administratively handled other than in the public gaze. The hon Member is entitled to the results of the process and to the Government's input into the process, but I think citizens are also entitled to confidentiality in their conduct of their affairs with the Government. So we draw the line and hon Members will see that there is a cluster of questions just coming up on the Order Paper, which have been clustered together because they fall on the wrong side of the line, where we think the hon Member is asking for details about where exactly a particular application now lies, and we think that that strays onto the wrong side of the line of where we think it is proper for us to account on this matter.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Then I will ask the two questions which the Chief Minister has said the Government are willing to answer in relation to these projects. That is, in relation to this particular one, whether any representations were made, which the Minister normally answers and the other question which he mentioned, whether any objections had been raised by anyone?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I do not have the information that the hon Member is seeking on this particular project and I cannot recall as I stand here the answer to these. I am happy to let him have the information but I will have to do so by writing to him.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

If the Minister could write to us with that information I would be grateful.

DEVELOPMENT AND PLANNING COMMISSION

At what stage is the Development and Planning Commission's consideration of the application by 21st Century Rock Limited to provide a funicular installation from Casemates to Rock Gun?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

As the Chief Minister has already said, the Government do not think that it is appropriate to provide in this House such details relating to the administrative handling of individual cases.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1776 TO 1782 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The asking of this particular question, at what stage the application is, is something that I have been doing when for example, previous Ministers used to answer these questions and if I recall their answer used to be that for example the development licence had been granted or that outline planning permission had been granted, at what stage the application was. Is this a new policy?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is a new policy because of the extent to which the hon Member is taking, in effect he is asking for a report here on a quarterly basis of the conduct of the DPC's administrative business in every case in front of it. We do not think that is an appropriate exercise. There are elements of his questions which could have been answered, well in some of his questions there are elements that could have been answered but we do not have the information here and we will give to him. For example, in one or two of his questions I just heard read, he has asked whether representations have been received or not. That information is okay because that involves public participation in the process, and that information will be provided to him at the end of the day whether planning permission has been granted or not. The Government are certainly willing to consider a system of gazetting planning permissions when they have been granted so that there is a public record of whether an application has been granted or not. That sort of system might be an improvement but I do not think we can deal with it on a case by case basis in this House. I do not think it is appropriate really for this House to be debating the affairs of individual commercial entities, as opposed to examining the system. The hon Member is free to ask us, given what our policy is about accounting for the DPC, whether we think the DPC works efficiently or whether we think that systems within the DPC can be improved. Questioning in all that area is fine. Seeking a case report on individual peoples applications I think is straying too far in the areas of Parliamentary scrutiny. The hon Member has said that initially that was not, when he was only asking about the major projects, and when this line of questioning started it was limited to the major commercial type projects and had not strayed into somebody wanting to build a balcony in George's Lane or whatever it is the question about George's Lane. If that is to be the extent of his interest then the Government have got to draw a line to make sure that individuals are given some measure of protection for the confidentiality of their affairs.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Chief Minister is correct, my Colleague has obtained for me the last copy of Hansard which is from January this year and there were questions asking at what stage, for example, was the consideration of the construction of two houses at the northern end of Both Worlds for instance, the question which was answered. There were other questions relating to different projects. Little Genoa at Catalan Bay for example.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The two houses at Catalan Bay raised major issues of Government policy. There are issues about development at the foot of that particular Rock face which raised substantial issues of Government policies and I think that would be legitimate. That raises issues not about that particular application but generally about the development of that area.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I have also realised that the question which relates to the funicular installation which is the cable car project from Casemates to Rock Gun, which has been tabled this time, was actually tabled in exactly the same way last time in January and an answer to the question was given. Perhaps if the Government make that distinction between private individuals wanting to put up a balcony and large projects, could they not answer those that relate to large projects and not the ones that relate to private individuals?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I think having been forced into a policy decision by the extent of the hon Member's detailed interest, it would be very difficult for the Government to alter the application of the policy on a case by case basis, because there would be grey areas. I think there are cases of development applications where it is perfectly legitimate for the hon Member to express an interest. For example, the funicular just to use the latest one that he has mentioned as an example, that is a matter worth debating in this House whether it is a good or a bad idea regardless of the planning process. The hon Member might wish to formulate his questions more generally in relation to what is Government policy or are the Government aware whether any planning issues arise from this project, which we could try and answer in terms of Government policy but without standing in the shoes of the DPC and without dealing with the question as a question on somebody's planning application in detail. So it is perfectly legitimate for the hon Member because these are projects that ultimately have got to be approved not just by the DPC but indeed by the Government themselves something like the funicular railway. That is a perfectly legitimate area for the hon Member to put questions to the Government about and I am sure he will be able, quite easily, to formulate the questions which get more or less the same information as he is seeking about them, without focusing the questions about being questions about at what stage is this in the DPC's consideration. As formulated the question actually asks us to give a snapshot of where the DPC's internal deliberations is on a particular issue. Not even just asking for a stage report. At what stage is the Development and Planning Commission's consideration? A proper answer to that question for example, might include 'well they are split, four of them think it is a good idea, three of them think it is not a bad idea. They have agreed to meet next week to see if they can thrash out their differences'. It is not the sort of area that we think it is appropriate to get in, but I am sure the hon Member in respect of the major economic type projects, these are some of the larger residential projects, I am sure can re-formulate his questions in a different language which will not incur on the Government's new policy. I accept it is a new policy.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the questions that have been tabled in this House for example, there are a number of them relating to Monaco Ocean Village, there is one relating to the funicular project which we have already mentioned, there is a total of five at least that relate to these large projects. There is in fact one or two questions where I actually bundled together the smaller projects which are essentially residential. The second point I want to make, when I have asked this type of question of the Development Appeals Tribunal, originally this was dealt with by the Hon Mr Britto, now it is the Hon Mr Vinet who deals with it, the answers that we were given in relation to the Development Appeals Tribunal was that a case was still under consideration, it was pending or it was waiting for information from the applicant or from the Government, simple short answers like that. I take the point the Chief Minister has made in relation to.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is still under consideration is not a particularly informative answer to the hon Member.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

No, but it included at what stage the consideration was, whether it was waiting for information from the Government or from the applicant. I understand that this is a new policy and the Chief Minister has explained the situation well but given that there are a number of questions that relate to larger projects and not to smaller personal projects as it were, would the Government be willing to supply the answers to those questions in writing?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I think having made the policy I do not think we should draw a distinction between writing or not writing. The hon Member raises the question of the microwave link and people living near it wanting to know about it. Well, that is taken care of by the fact that the Government have introduced a public consultation process. Whoever submitted this application has had to advertise it, and the neighbours as he call it, I would be very interested if I were a neighbour in this planning application, they have had their opportunity to, assuming that the advertising requirements are extensive enough, most people will have heard of it and will have expressed their views if they want to. I remit the hon Member to the last answer that I gave him to his previous supplementary which is that the Government do not want the burden of having to judge on each case, whether it is a large or a small project, whether it is a private individual that deserves protecting or a commercial operator that does not, in terms of confidentiality both are entitled to confidentiality. What we are trying to do is to strike the right balance between the proper level of accountability in this House and the protection of individuals. If the hon Member wants questions answered about specific projects, I think the best way for him to proceed would be either to strike the question in the context of has this been granted or not granted yet. Basic stage information like that is not too difficult. Has it been granted or has it not yet been granted? He will have noticed that those questions have been answered this morning a few moments ago. As to whether a particular application has been granted or not granted, that is all right, that does not reveal any sort of information, but if he wants a sort of an account of the issues in the internal discussion by the DPC, that is where we have a problem. I can see him nodding and shaking at different stages of my point. If that means that he can live with that distinction and that he can accommodate it by altering the wording of his questions, then there would not be a difficulty between us.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Certainly the questions will be altered but it is not that we are requesting an internal account of what is going on inside the DPC. It is simply that when this question was asked in the past the answer used to be the development licence has been granted, or the outline planning permission has been granted, there used to be a series of answers I used to get from the two Ministers that were responsible.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Now he has asked specific questions about a specific licence. If in another question he asks has this licence been granted and then in respect of another development he asks at what stage is the consideration, we have got to assume that there is an intended difference between the two questions. If he was just interested in respect of 21st Century Rock whether the licence has been granted, he would have formulated in the same language as he did the previous questions. There is an assumption therefore that there is a difference of language. I do not know if that distinction used to take place originally, I do not recall it.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can I then move on to some of the other issues that arise from the questions?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am delighted to say to the hon Member, we are willing to answer him in writing, these questions in relation to the ground rules that we are informally establishing now. So I think the Minister can write to him saying whether these applications that we have given him this answer to, have been granted yet or not granted yet.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 1777, which is the one for a conversion to a hotel, could I make a general enquiry as to the process? That is to say, if somebody wants to set up or open a hotel, is planning permission all they need, or do they need anything extra from the Tourist Board?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I think there are two aspects in this. One is obviously the planning, which will mean that they would have to be subjected to an application through the Development and Planning Commission. Then the other would be a possible change of use, which they would have to seek from Government as landlords.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Tourist Board itself would not need to have an input in this decision making, is that the case?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No they would not but it may be the case that for example, Land Property Services if they have a situation where an application is made for a change of use, it would come to Land Management which I chair myself, so therefore I would have an input in the matter.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1783 TO 1787 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The answer says there are nine applications for Development Aid and he has listed the nine of them. Then he also says that none of the applicants have used the Development Aid Certificates to import goods or materials into Gibraltar free of import duty. Does that also apply to building materials that they import?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is correct.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 1787, the Minister has supplied a table showing the projects that are currently receiving Development Aid. The last column on that table refers to the amount and it says 40 per cent on some, 60 per cent on others, 20 per cent on others, does that percentage relate to the cost of building the project?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That percentage refers to the actual amount of development aid that is being granted to the applicant in respect of the project.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, the amount of the capital investment subject to development aid. That is the percentage of, yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the comment to the answer to Question No. 1787, it says companies cannot have development aid that is not used up as aid is granted on a tax relief basis on completion of the project, but not used up can also mean that they have not exhausted the amount of aid granted. That is to say, that since finishing the project their level of profits, which I think is what they are allowed to have free of tax. If a project costs say £1 million and they have 40 per cent, am I right in thinking that they do not get taxed until the profits have exceeded £400,000, is that correct? Then the Development Aid surely is used up when they have exhausted the £400,000 tax free element. It is difficult to understand why.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is the interpretation of the words 'used up', I do not know how else it is interpreted. That would have been my interpretation had I seen the question, yes, that is true. In other words, this is carried forward, this tax relief if we can call it that is carried forward and eventually it is all used up, to use the language of the question, and I suppose it is possible by looking at the files and the tax payers behind each of these companies, but it would have to be done on a one file at a time basis to see whether they had used any of theirs up yet and how many they still had left. It is possible, we would have to think about it whether that would be proper information to give away or whether it is the sort of information about a tax payer's tax affairs which the Income Tax Ordinance prohibits the publication of. It is something we will have to think carefully about before we give that information, but I understand what the information is that he is seeking and I suppose it is technically collatable.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Would the Government not agree that of course it is relevant in terms of the Government's revenue, to what extent developers that are tax payers are going to start paying full tax or not paying full tax at some date in the future?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, if one were interested in a simple cash flow exercise, in other words, when will all this come back on stream? Yes, but I think in practice none of these companies ever pay any tax because these are companies that are in effect most of these are development they are not let out on future rental scheme. Most of these schemes are sold and the sale proceeds either exhaust or do not exhaust. In other words, the profit upon which tax might be payable either exhausts or does not exhaust the development aid relief. It is only when one has a company that is building for long-term rental that eventually there might be an income stream which is no longer sheltered by development aid. Actually, from the point of view of Government revenue and development aid, and income coming back on stream much more relevant than shelter from income tax, it is shelter from rates, because that does kick in later on as an income stream that is alienated. Rates income and all these new properties. Eventually that does come back on stream and that is a much more relevant future income stream issue than corporate taxation on profits by the developing company.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1793 AND 1794 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 1794 which relates to EU funding, the first ERDF project shown on the list relates to an application that was approved involving the purchase of equipment, import duty. Is it that the Government refund the import duty or the EU refund the duty? How does that work?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, what would happen in this case would be that they would pay the import duty and we would reimburse that import duty but in the form of a loan or a grant or whatever has been approved under the scheme. So there would be no exemptions being issued at all, it would have to be paid and then reimbursed.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

It would be reimbursed from EU money not from Gibraltar Government funds?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well in the case of this particular application it is EU funds, yes.

HEAD 104 – SUBHEAD 1

Can Government provide a breakdown of the £185,000 forecast outturn for 2003/2004 in respect of Head 104 Sub-Head 1 for Airlines, Ferry and Hotel Assistance Schemes?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Ferry Assistance Scheme consisted of providing a rebate for the ferry operator in respect of passenger tax paid by ferry passengers on the Gibraltar-Tangier route at a time when the route appeared to be precarious and the Government wanted to ensure a continuity of service. The rebate was necessary until the Government decided to amend the legislation that provided for the payment of passenger tax by ferry passengers by abolishing this tax for the time being.

The only company to benefit from this scheme was Turner's, the operator of the Gibraltar-Tangier ferry. The totality of the rebate paid to Turner was £87,921 in November 2003. No further payments have been made since then and none are envisaged.

The breakdown of £185,000 is as follows:

|                            |          |
|----------------------------|----------|
| Airline Assistance         | £ 3,153  |
| Ferry Passenger tax rebate | £ 87,921 |
| Ferry Terminal works       | £ 26,594 |

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

All the data for the Frontier Statistics Table supplied to Opposition Members is collected at the frontier and is gathered and compiled by Security and Immigration Limited.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1798 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister confirm that that data includes the cars, coaches and pedestrians coming into Gibraltar?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is correct. That includes everything that is included in the table that I supply the hon Member on a monthly basis.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister then explain why I was told at Budget time that coaches were counted at the coach park and not at the frontier?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

There is a count of coaches at the coach park which is done by the Gibraltar Tourist Board in order to account for revenue and ticketing admissions that have to be paid by coaches on entering the coach park. There could be coaches coming in through the frontier that do not actually go into the coach park and therefore there may be a slight variation in numbers, but both are accountable differently. The figures that are supplied to him come from Security and Immigration which have the total figure.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I am grateful for this information because it confirms the position with what I thought was the position in June or July when we discussed this during the Budget. I remember the explanation I was given at Budget time was that there were less coaches coming in to Gibraltar because the counting was being done at the coach park rather than at the frontier. We had a situation where the coaches were coming in to Gibraltar, dropping off tourists, driving around Gibraltar, picking up tourists and going back without being counted, but as I understand it now the position as he has explained it today and not as what was explained to me in June, which is that they are also counted at the frontier by Security and Immigration Limited.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is correct.

GDC – EU PROJECTS

Can Government state how much of the £1,461,833 spent on EU projects by the GDC in 2002/2003 was met from EU funds?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The answer in each case is 45 per cent, as this is the percentage grant rate given to the GDC in respect of EU projects.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1799 TO 1802 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister then explain why the revenue shown in the Accounts of the Gibraltar Development Corporation does not reflect that 45 per cent ratio?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I am afraid I do not have a copy of the Estimate Book in front of me to be able to verify what the hon Gentleman is saying.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well then, would the Minister agree that if he had a copy in front of him and he looked at page 121, he would see that in respect of 2002/2003 which is the subject of Question No. 1802, where the expenditure came to £1,461,833 the amount collected was £419,000, that the estimate for 2003/2004 was £550,000 when the total amount estimated came to £1.469 million and the forecast which actually was just below the estimate at £1.448 million actually shows that the contribution from the ESF was only £141,000? So there is no correlation to the 45 per cent that the Minister has said should be applying in the four figures quoted in the four questions.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I take the point that the hon Member is making. My understanding is that although 45 per cent is the contribution made by the European Union in respect of these EU projects, what actually may happen is that the receipt of these are not actually correlated to the expenditure on any particular year, in that claims that are submitted to the European Union will be done after the project has been finished. So therefore the actual receipt of the funds may come later. I can tell the hon Gentleman that there is a substantial amount of money owed to the Government in respect of EU funding in terms of the ESF projects because in the year set projects our applications actually go through the United Kingdom and not directly to Brussels. So therefore we are subjected to the timing and timetable of the Department of Trade and Industry in the UK, so therefore the funding when reimbursed to us as a receipt, which I assume is what appears in the Estimates, are well behind the expected time scale of the initial expenditure in the first place.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The Minister is aware that the projects that we are talking about are training schemes by the Employment and Training Unit in the GDC. I am aware that in the Improvement and Development Fund it says one has to complete the project in order to be able to claim because if the project does not get completed one can not claim, but if there is a situation where the Construction Training Centre is spending £71,000 on EU projects then are they getting 45 per cent of £71,000 or are they not? Is the Minister conscious of the fact that I have actually raised this a number of years and been given the same kind of answer that it is delays and that it is sort of carried forward but I do not know how far into the future this is being carried but we always seem to have shortfalls every year.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I can tell the hon Member that that is exactly the situation and it was only recently that I asked that those within the EU Unit would bring exactly the accounting of all this because I cannot accept that certain claims that have been made quite some time ago should be delayed to the extent that they have. In fact, I have had correspondence with the Department of Trade and Industry in the UK who have assured me that it is nothing to do with our application, it is part of their own logistics in getting in because we just form part of a much bigger project within the UK. So therefore in order to compile all the information coming in from all different areas, we just have to wait. Although we are complying with the timetabling not everybody is so therefore we need to wait for this. I can tell the hon Member that the figure owed to us is in excess of £1 million as we speak today, and it is obviously something that was of concern to me having come into office into the Trade and Industry for the first time and finding this figure still outstanding, and actually looking into some of these going back to 1999, 1998 and I thought what is going on here? Is it something that we are not doing correct? Is it something that we are not submitting our application in proper order and we are not being informed? So we tackled the whole thing head on and this is the reply that we have had. Everything is in order but it is just a matter of, I understand that recently we have had correspondence from them saying that the matter now is being cleared because we are now reaching a point where certain schemes have to be brought up. So the last 20 per cent apparently of the funds that are available in respect of a particular objective project need to be finalised fairly soon, so hopefully we will get this backlog up and running fairly soon.

HON J J BOSSANO:

This sort of figure of about £1 million, would that be up to the end of the last financial year or would it be up to an earlier date than that? Does the Minister know?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The figure basically goes back I think to 1998/1999 and it goes up to last March.

KONVER PROJECTS

Can Government list the Konver projects, with the cost of each in respect of which it expects to receive £900,000 from the EU in the current financial year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

The Konver II Programme terminated on 31st December 2001, as the submission of claims in respect of eligible expenditure is concerned. There has, consequently, been no expenditure on Konver projects since then.

Up to 31st March 2003, Government spent £5,919,492 on Konver projects, and of this £2,502,188 was met or is being met by EU funds.

The Government expect to receive £500,000 from the EU and not £900,000 as incorrectly stated in the Estimates for 2004/2005 this financial year. This amount refers to the Konver II Programme as a whole and not to any specific projects. It consists of the final 20 per cent payment from the EU in respect of the programme. The payment is still pending because the UK's final programme report has not yet been ratified by the EU Commission.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1803 TO 1805 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

What the Minister says is the final 20 per cent payment, what he is saying is that we already received in the I&D Fund 80 per cent of the share of the £5.9 million, is that correct?

INTERREG PROJECTS

Can Government state of the balance to complete of £1,800,000 on Interreg projects by the I&D Fund what is the allocation in respect of programmes (IIIA) Gibraltar/Morocco, (IIIB) Western Mediterranean, (IIIB) South West Europe and (IIIC) South?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

Of the £12,920 spent on Interreg projects to 31st March 2003, 50 per cent was met by EU funds.

Of the £1.8 million allowed for Interreg projects in the Improvement and Development Fund, the allocation in respect of each programme is as follows:

|                                             |          |
|---------------------------------------------|----------|
| Interreg IIIA Gibraltar/Morocco             | £567,568 |
| Interreg IIIB Western Mediterranean (MEDOC) | £565,364 |
| Interreg IIIB South West Europe (SUDOE)     | £565,364 |
| Interreg IIIC South                         | £101,558 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1806 AND 1807 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Are these sums the sums that the projects will have budgeted inclusive of the Government of Gibraltar's contribution?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the EU share of this then 50 per cent of each of those sums?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

It is.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Are these projects that were in the Estimates this year then on-going already, have any of them started so far? Has any start been made in spending any of those sums?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes. The Gibraltar/Morocco and the Western Mediterranean and South West Europe are all on-going projects which have already initiated. The South (IIIC) has yet not commenced.

TQS

Can Government state what were the “technical problems” referred to in answer to supplementary questions to Question No. 1029 of 2004 which have prevented TQS from completing the computerisation works it has undertaken on behalf of the Government?

NO. 1809 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

TQS

Can Government state when it is expected that TQS will be able to finalise the computerisation works it has undertaken on behalf of the Government?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

It is difficult to state with precision exactly when TQS will finalise the computerisation works it is undertaking for the Government.

Five systems have already been developed and they are live. A further five are at different stages of development, and will come on stream as and when they are ready later this year and in 2005.

The Hansard for the session of this House at which Question No. 1029 of 2004 was answered is not yet available, so it is not possible to see precisely what exchanges were made in response to supplementary questions.

What I can say is that TQS have not yet prepared a system specification for one of the systems that they need to develop and until such time as this is ready, it will not be possible to progress this particular system.

The lack of a system specification for this programme may well have been described as a "technical problem" in answer to Question No. 1029 of 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1808 AND 1809 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister say which is the system that is still without a system specification?#

COMPUTER HACKING

Can Government say when they intend to specifically outlaw computer hacking in or from Gibraltar?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

No Sir.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1810 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say whether this is something that the Government would like to do?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the Government can say that it is something that they are considering the need to do and how it is best dealt with. It exists as a proposal but it is not yet decided how it will emerge or still less when it will emerge which is the purpose of the answer given to his specific question. I suspect it will emerge at some stage.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Chief Minister says that it exists as a proposal, does this mean that draft legislation is being considered or has it not got to that stage yet?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

A specific legislative proposal has not yet been put up to Ministers for policy consideration.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Do the Government consider that this is a matter which should be dealt with with some priority given that computer hacking is something that affected Government's own computers at one stage?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Lots of things are important and priorities, it does not mean that the Government rush in to do them immediately. Nor are the Government so naïve as to think that simply passing laws eliminates the problems which the hon Member imagines to exist. The Government have no evidence that there is computer hacking taking place from Gibraltar and therefore it is not urgent in the sense that there is no known ill known to be happening. I agree that if it were happening it would be an ill but it is not known to be happening and therefore it is not urgent in that sense. I suspect that if it were happening from Gibraltar then probably some of Gibraltar's existing laws may be sufficient to deal with the problem, although I accept in a much more clumsy way than specific legislation would enable the law enforcement agencies to do. So we are not arguing that there is not a need for it, or rather, we are not arguing that in the technological age in which we live introducing legislation would not be a worthwhile thing to do, we think it would be. Is it a priority in the sense that the Government think that there is a big problem in this area which legislation would snuff out and which needs to be snuffed out? The answer is that we have no such evidence. The hon Member is aware that it is going on and perhaps he would just like to bring it to our attention. So it will emerge in the ordinary course of the Government's legislative programme and I cannot honestly say that it will emerge in the sense of priority that the hon Member appears to think that it deserves.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the question of priority it is simply because one of the essential requirements for example, in relation to I remember the Electronic Commerce Directive and the Electronic Signatures Directive, was the question of computer security, that it was essential to have that framework first. In fact, implementing those two directives assumed that we had the framework for computer security already in place and we did not. I think it was in 2001 we implemented the Electronic Directives. Secondly on the question of whether it is happening, there was an occasion where the Government's own computers were open to hacking through Trojan viruses that were planted in them and I remember the Hon Mr Britto at the time issued a press statement on the subject. In relation to the third point, whether the existing law would cover it or not, I also recall asking the Hon Mr Britto that question specifically and the answer was that at the moment computer hacking in Gibraltar was not illegal. It is in that context that the question of priority arises. Do the Government not accept that at least in relation to the EU Framework of legislation which already exists, it is something that should be put into place?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am aware that the hon Member has these concerns. All the legislation in the world will not physically prevent the hacking of computers through the injection of viruses. The suggestion that even enforcement of legislation let alone the mere existence of legislation would protect anybody or add any layer of security against viruses which are inevitably done by people from outside Gibraltar which we could not reach anyway, I think is a non sequitur of logic. As to whether computer hacking is legal or not, that is I do not remember that my hon Colleague that he has mentioned having said so, but certainly it is not a legal opinion that I would rush to. It depends what one does. Whether computer hacking involves criminal damage to somebody else's property I would have thought is certainly arguable. Whether it is as part of the hacking one lifts somebody else's intellectual or just simple data information and whether that does not amount to theft of the information is also arguable. I would not concede, without proper research, that computer hacking in Gibraltar is not illegal. Whether it is appropriate for us to have a legal seminar on the point across the floor, but certainly I would not rush to that concession if indeed it has been made. Legislation making computer hacking in Gibraltar more explicitly illegal, if I could just put it that way, I do not think it is legal now, probably, but even if we accept that more specific legislation is desirable, that is not part of the security framework. In other words, the security frameworks required in relation to data protection is something which the onus is on the processor of the data. Yes, I got the impression perhaps I misunderstood the hon Member when he was suggesting that legislation to outlaw computer hacking was part of the framework of the security that it was assumed would be in place.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I will just clarify. The context in which I made those remarks, for example, in the United Kingdom they have the Misuse of Computers Act which makes it illegal for people to access computers to hack them, to change the data that is already contained in those computers. That is the context in which I made the question.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is the sort of legislation that would emerge when we get around to doing what he calls 'making hacking illegal legislation' in Gibraltar. That is the sort of legislation that would emerge.

EU – ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS

Can Government state whether they still intend to implement this calendar year the EU regulatory directives for the electronic communications sector?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY AND COMMUNICATIONS

As I said in reply to Question Nos. 291 and 1066 of 2004, work on the transposition of the new regulatory package is at a very advanced stage and is expected to be completed soon. The Government intend to implement these directives this year.

The Government have not filed with the European Commission their intentions regarding the switchover from analogue to digital TV. There has been no change in this regard since the reply given to Question No. 1066 of 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1813 AND 1814 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

SMITH DORRIEN BRIDGE

Can Government state when was the last time that tests were carried out on Smith Dorrien Bridge to determine the condition of the bridge and the maximum load it could support and what were the results of the test?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

All highway structures are routinely inspected, the frequency of such inspections being dependant on the type, size, configuration and exposure of the structure. Smith Dorrien Bridge is one such structure. The last routine inspection of this structure was undertaken in January.

This showed that the bridge remains in a good structural condition. Maintenance work is periodically carried out and of course this will continue to be the case.

DUDLEY WARD TUNNEL

Can Government state whether there has been any progress with regard to their assessment of the full viability of their preferred option for the remedial works that will enable the re-opening of Dudley Ward Tunnel for vehicular traffic?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Following the Government's selection of their preferred option from the various alternatives submitted by the consultants, a programme of ground investigation works was initiated. Progress continues to be made in the undertaking of such work, the results of which will confirm or otherwise the viability and constructability of the preferred option. Such exploratory works additionally provide the necessary data for use in the design that will follow. Until such time as all the required data is obtained, we will not be in a position to confirm the full viability of the proposed works.

CEMETERY

Can Government state whether they have now arrived at a decision regarding a programme of on-going embellishment, up-keep and maintenance of the cemetery?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

As in my answer to Question No. 690 of 2004 I reiterate that there is no specific embellishment scheme but that as part of the on-going up-keep and maintenance of the cemetery Government continue to look at various options that may enhance the state of the cemetery. In this context and as I stated in my contribution to the Budget Session in the House earlier this year, specific consideration is currently being given to the repaving of all pathways using pavia blocks. Design works is now at an advance stage and outline proposals will shortly be available for Ministerial consideration.

SEWAGE TREATMENT PLANT

Can Government state whether the feasibility study on what is required to comply with EU requirements on sewage treatment has been completed and whether they propose to make the result of the study public?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Despite our best efforts, it has not been possible to secure EU funding for the proposed sewage treatment works. Funding was however obtained for the three studies undertaken to generate the necessary data required for the preparation of the tender, namely the Flow and Load Survey, the Sea Outfall Study and the main Sewer Study. The Main Sewer and Flow and Load Studies have now been concluded. The Sea Outfall Study was completed some time ago all but for a very small element which could not be undertaken without some essential data resulting from the Flow and Load Survey, this latter study having only very recently been completed.

Government have no intention at present to make public the results of any of these studies.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1821 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

In view that in answer to Question No. 693 the Minister said that there were no plans, could he then let me know what is the criteria that is used to resurface certain areas when there are no plans to do that, who takes the decision to do that?

HON F VINET:

That is a decision taken by the Highways Engineer.

HON L A RANDALL:

Can the Minister confirm then that there are no forward plans, no plans are agreed to resurface Gibraltar's public highways, they are just done at the whim of whoever is responsible?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think the hon Member's supplementary raises the next question on the Order Paper.

HON L A RANDALL:

In answer to Question No. 693 which covered the period forward looking for the quarter ended 30 September 2004, I was told that there were no plans to resurface any part or any area of Gibraltar's public highway. Now we learn today that the area of Transport Lane has been resurfaced. What I am asking is, are these decisions taken by the person responsible, without any consultation? Surely there must be forward plans to determine what areas are going to be resurfaced, well in advance of them taking place.

HON F VINET:

The fact that there may be no plans to resurface a particular part of the highway in relation to a particular quarter does not mean that the decision will be taken within that quarter to do so. In fact, in answer to the following questions, the hon Member will see that there are some forward planning issues.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think it may be that my hon Friend has not understood the point that the hon Member was seeking. As I understand it was this. I think the hon Member is expressing surprise in the form of a question that there is not some planned, phased programme, almost a routine basis for this. The answer is that that does not exist. What does exist is a series of projects that the Highways Engineer would like to do and then the Government provide a sum of money, which we vote in the Improvement and Development Fund every year, and he has got to do what he can with the amount of money provided. If one goes and asks the Highways Engineers 'do you have road resurfacing projects that are ready and you would like to do and that you think need doing?' I am sure he will say yes and give a very long list of them, but he has got to stick to the funding that is provided to him. Within that, he, I suspect in consultation with others not just he, they decide what prioritisation to give the projects within the funding available in a year. From time to time things arise as a matter of urgency which have to be done and jump the queue, but there is not a long programme with dates attached. There is a list of work that needs to be done and it gets done in accordance with the funding provision and the funding availability the Government make available each year from the Improvement and Development Fund. I think that is a more accurate description of how the system works than to suggest that there is no programme at all or to suggest that there is a particularly sophisticated one.

HON L A RANDALL:

What is the criteria that is used to resurface the area? Is there not a plan of the areas that are in greater need of resurfacing than others and those take priority?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, the criteria is a mixture of aesthetics and safety. Some resurfacing works are safety driven and need to be done because the surface may have become unsafe.

Some resurfacing takes place because other works have been done in the area and has damaged, sewage works or something, other works to the highway. Some of it is done in connection with beautification schemes, but it is usually either safety or beautification. Obviously safety takes priority so if the Highways Engineer identifies a road the surface of which he thinks is unsafe, that would take priority over an expenditure motivated purely by a desire to beautify or to smarten up.

HON F R PICARDO:

I would hate to pre-empt Question No. 1850, but I think it is important in the context of what has just been said and with that fresh in our minds, that I ask the Government how does all this fit in with the much vaunted programme for the resurfacing and maintenance of our roads, which once completed will lead the Government to amend our law so that people can sue the Government when they suffer accidents on our roads, to which the Chief Minister very recently referred in his Viewpoint interview and to which he has referred before?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, as the hon Member says he should not pre-empt the answer to Question No. 1850. I would have thought even he could be patient enough for another 40 minutes. If I answer him now it will almost certainly take us into the ground which I know he will want to cover in answer to Question No. 1850. So we can either deal with it now and withdraw that question or wait until that question comes up. In other words, we are just going to repeat ourselves.

HON F R PICARDO:

I would much rather deal with it now because I would like us all to have fresh in our memories what the Chief Minister has just said about the absence of a programme for the refurbishment of the highways. I am sure in 40 minutes time all we will have is an argument about what he said 40 minutes ago.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well let us have the argument now, because it has not taken 40 minutes for him to forget what I have just said 40 seconds ago. I have not said that there was not a programme for the maintenance of the highway, I have said that there is a programme, there is a list of projects that the Highways Engineer wants to do and thinks needs doing, but he has to marry that with the annual amount of funding provided in the Improvement and Development Fund each year. That is what I have said. I specifically stood up to dispel the notion that there is not a programme rather than to deny or admit the lack of one. There is a programme but it is not a programme which is fully funded with dates on a progressive basis. The Government, which every year have to decide how to allocate capital resources to all the various demands on the Improvement and Development Fund, decide how much capital to allocate to the road resurfacing programme. That commitment, that quantity of resources that we allocate every year, is not driven by the desire to put us as quickly as possible into a position where we shall be willing to change the law of Gibraltar to give citizens that slip on the highway the right to sue the Government for damages, which is the subject matter of Question No. 1850, and certainly I have no difficulty in admitting to the hon Member that when we say we will change the law when we think that the state of the highways is brought up to standard, that he should not read into that and we are working, busting a gut to do that as quickly as possible. In other words, we have not accelerated the amount of resources and the quantity of resources that we provide but nor will we wait until each last highway is done before changing the law when we come round to changing the law. In other words, at some given point we will take a view and we will say 'on the whole, even though there are still areas where the highway is not up to scratch, on the whole there has now been sufficient progress in highway investment to safely enable the law to be changed'. If we were to do it before then we would open the floodgates to a plethora of legal claims from which we admit we are presently taking shelter. If one believes that citizens should be free to sue the Government on every occasion that one suffers an accident on the highway, then it is fair to conclude that we are sheltering from that situation by not changing the law. We have not introduced the law ourselves, it has been the law for many years, for many decades, but certainly we are in no hurry to change the law so as not to remove that protection from the Government. We make no secret of that fact that at the end of the day it is not our money, it is the taxpayers money. I think before the protection is removed from the taxpayer, I think the Government have an obligation to ensure that the highways are in a state, more or less, where an accident will be a normal accident and not a result of decades of under-investment in our roads. That is the Government's position and it will remain the position. The hon Member can ask me periodically, I am sure he will, are the Government satisfied that we are now ready to change the law, and I will tell him what the Government's view is on each occasion. We are not there yet.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is it fair then to say that road refurbishment so to speak is dealt with on the basis of safety and aesthetic need on the one hand, and alternatively, on the basis of a wish list which the Highways Engineer has of what he would want dealt with, with greater alacrity.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is not an unfair way of putting it. It is not necessarily 100 per cent accurate but yes, it is the gist of the situation. The hon Member should not underestimate the amount of progress that is made. He must not think of progress in that direction to be limited to when one sees roads being resurfaced. Every time a piece of Main Street is pedestrianised and resurfaced, Casemates, Mackintosh Square, these all contribute to renewal of parts of the public highway to which the laws that he refers apply. So it is not that it is limited to the resurfacing works done under the resurfacing sub-head. Much of the other urban regeneration, many of the sub-heads the Minister for Trade and Industry and the Minister for the Environment, some of their Heads in the Improvement and Development Fund for street beautification also deliver highway works.

ROAD WORKS

Can Government state the areas of Gibraltar's public highways that they intend to resurface during the quarter ending 31 March 2005?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Beautification and resurfacing works will shortly commence at Catalan Bay Village, from the junction with Sir Herbert Miles Road to the existing paved area. Beautification and repaving works will also shortly commence at Irish Town, from John Mackintosh Square to the junction with Market Lane and as part of the works Cloister Ramp will also be resurfaced. Both projects will be completed during the first quarter of 2005.

PARKING BAYS

Can Government now provide the reason why parking on some of the bays reserved for disabled drivers are restricted to 12 hours a day?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The restriction of 12 hours has been imposed on those disabled bays that have been requested by users specifically for work related purposes. Such users do not reside within the said areas and will therefore not be making use of such bays outside working hours. This arrangements maximises the availability of parking in such areas.

Can Government state the number of paying passengers that were transported by the Gibraltar Bus Company in September 2004 and what was the amount paid in fares by these passengers?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The extensive factual and statistical information requested by the hon Member is set out in the schedule attached.

Answer to Question No 1833 of 2004

The total number of passengers transported by the Gibraltar Bus Company in each month, from April to September, together with the corresponding revenue for each month is as follows:

| MONTH | NO OF PASSENGERS | REVENUE |
|--------------|-------------------------|----------------|
| April        | 36,269                  | £16,963        |
| May          | 104,414                 | £64,543        |
| June         | 117,884                 | £70,720        |
| July         | 128,478                 | £78,536        |
| August       | 140,699                 | £87,998        |
| September    | 118,841                 | £73,998        |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1828 TO 1833 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can the Minister confirm that the revenue is on a cash basis and not on an accrual basis?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The revenue is on a cash basis. The company only collects the money as people pay their fares as they board the bus.

HON L A RANDALL:

I say this because as an example in September they carried 119,000 passengers and the revenue was £74,000 which is more than 60p per passenger. If somebody pays for a ticket for the whole year, that is shown as revenue in the month that they paid them?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That distinction is not drawn by the accrual or cash issue. I do not think the company have started selling season tickets yet. I do not think there is any revenue in relation to season tickets. If £73,998 divided by 118,841 is more than 60p per ticket, unless there is a revenue from another source.

HON L A RANDALL:

As long as the Minister can confirm that that is what the passengers paid for during that month that is all I need. Thank you.

NO. 1836 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

BUS SERVICE

Can Government state the frequency of the buses that service bus route No. 4 outside school opening and closing hours?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Bus route No. 4 operates the following schedule in the mornings to assist school children on their way to school. Travelling from Both Worlds towards town, buses leave at 08.05 am, 08.25 am and 08.45 am. These being regular scheduled times.

Travelling from Rosia towards town buses leave at 8.05, 8.20, 8.25 and 8.45. The 8.05, 8.25 and 8.45 as I have said, are regular scheduled times, whereas the 8.20 is an extra bus added to cater for the demand.

On the return trip buses leave at 15.25, 15.45, 16.05 and 16.25 arriving at Referendum House bus stop around 10 minutes later. At 15.48 an additional bus allocated to this route arrives at the Referendum House bus stop. The Company also deploys an additional bus at 15.45 to Orange Bastion to pick up its first passengers.

At all other times the bus operates at 20 minute intervals.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1834 TO 1836 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can Government confirm that they are satisfied that the frequency described is sufficient to meet demand at those times?

HON F VINET:

The frequency, as well as all other elements of the bus service, is continually monitored and improvements will be made as and where they culminate, but at present the company, I am informed, is satisfied with present arrangements.

HON L A RANDALL:

I ask these questions because I have received a number of complaints as to the fact that the frequency is not sufficient, and there are times, there are only instances not general but instances, where it has been reported that people have had to wait in excess of an hour to get a bus on their way into town from the area of Bayside. I am not saying that this is general but more than one person has come to me to report this fact. Could the Minister ask the Gibraltar Bus Company to look into the matter?

HON F VINET:

I have had no knowledge of those instances referred to but I will certainly enquire from the Bus Company as to the reason.

Can Government state whether the dispute involving Examiners at the Motor Vehicle Licensing Department has been resolved?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The driving and vehicle examiners have submitted a claim which Government continue to consider not to be reasonable or justified and it has therefore not been met. As a result, Examiners continue to decline to carry out certain of their responsibilities, this being despite the fact that these have been carried out in the past. ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

NO. 1841 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

GIBRALTAR INDUSTRIAL CLEANERS

Can Government state whether persons that have provided supply cover for vacant posts at Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners will have priority in being considered for the permanent filling of the vacant posts?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

There are presently five vacancies for refuse collectors which the company intends to fill. In January 2004 the company agreed that the complement of Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners should be 35 in number. Prior to January 2004 there had not been an established complement.

Cover work has traditionally been undertaken by a combination of employees of Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners and supply workers, this continues to be the practice today.

The supply cover workers will not have a categorical priority when being considered for filling the vacancies but there is no doubt that their experience due to having been given the chance to cover will afford them an advantage when facing the selection board.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1837 AND 1839 TO 1841 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Has a date been set by which time the five vacancies will be filled?

HON F VINET:

No.

HON L A RANDALL:

Is this likely to be soon, within six months? Can the Minister give an indication?

HON F VINET:

I cannot give an indication as to the precise dates. What I can say is that the Company does intend to fill them and I would assume it is sooner rather than later, but I cannot give a precise date.

HON J J BOSSANO:

When the Minister says that the complement of the company is now 35 and there was not one before. Was there not throughout a manning level per lorry? The Refuse collection vehicles.

HON F VINET:

From my recollection there was a manning level per lorry. I cannot recall what the exact number was.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In fact, is it not the case that when the refuse collection lorries are under-manned is when they need to bring in somebody to maintain that manning level?

HON F VINET:

There is a manning level for lorries and when there is a shortage supply workers are brought in.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact, the Minister is confirming that the supply workers are not in relation to this complement of 35 but in relation to the manning level that the lorry requires to operate. For example, if it were to be five and somebody is missing for sickness or any other reason, then somebody is brought in so that the lorry goes out with five people. That is the case, is it?

HON F VINET:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

When the Government say they have used the company's old employees as well as supply workers, is it that they bring people who are off duty in or that if a lorry goes out under-manned people are paid extra to cover the work of the missing bodies?

HON F VINET:

I believe it is a combination of the two.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So what is it, if nobody is available then the short-handed vehicle gets paid extra because they are doing the work of the people who are missing? Is that correct?

HON F VINET:

That is correct.

NO. 1842 OF 2004

OESCO

Can Government confirm whether the number of units of electricity projected to be purchased in the current financial year from OESCO is the same as in the last financial year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

No.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1842 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can the Minister reveal whether it is more or less and the number of units that is projected to be purchased?

HON F VINET:

There is a 5.9 per cent reduction compared with the same period last year.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact, is it then that the Government estimate on page 125 in Appendix D, is that a reflection that they expect to pay the same amount for less electricity? In Appendix D the amount paid last year was £6.379 million and the budget for this year is £6.4 million. So if that includes an estimate which involves buying less electricity, it must follow that they are expecting to be paying more per unit.

HON F VINET:

It is not a question of the Government expecting to pay less or more per unit. Perhaps if I can give some background information to this it might be useful to the Opposition Member. During the financial year 2003/2004 the units purchased from OESCO totalled £73,283,410. During the first six months of 2003/2004, April to September both inclusive, the units purchased amounted to £37,770,890. During the current financial year, 2004/2005, during the same first six months the units purchased have been £35,551,390, which as I said represents a 5.9 per cent reduction for the same period last year. The availability of generators at each power station, and of course the electricity demand from consumers, dictates the production by each station.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am grateful for that information. Does it then mean in fact, that the figure that they put in the budget did not assume a reduction? It was just a figure put there based on what had been spent before?

HON F VINET:

In a way there is no scientific way of knowing what the final outcome will be because it depends on consumers, and how much demand there is or there is not from consumers.

HON F R PICARDO:

That figure provided is of units purchased from OESCO, not necessarily of units of electricity used in Gibraltar generally, just purchased. So in effect Gibraltar may be using more electricity this year than last year but were purchasing less.

HON F VINET:

Yes.

SALE OF ELECTRICITY

Can Government state what was the amount of revenue collected from the sale of electricity in the current financial year to August and the amount billed in the same period?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The amount of revenue collected during the current financial year up to 31st August 2004 was £4,525,933.78p.

The amount billed during the same period was £4,865,124.85p.

NO. 1844 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

ELECTRICITY AUTHORITY

Can Government state what was the share of the electricity supplied to customers in the last financial year, which was purchased from OESCO, and the amount charged by the Gibraltar Electricity Authority to customers for supplying this electricity?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The share of the electricity supplied to customers in the last financial year 2003/2004 by OESCO was 56.7 per cent.

Customers are charged according to the tariff applicable to them. The tariff rates charged to customers is the same irrespective of the source of production.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1844 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

On the basis of that answer it would be a reasonable calculation to say that 56 per cent of the £11.3 million of sale of electricity to consumers would be the income obtained by the Authority from re-selling that electricity. Is that accurate?

HON F VINET:

Yes, it would be correct to assume that 56.7 per cent of all the revenue might be attributed to units purchased from OESCO.

HON F R PICARDO:

How does the fact that we are purchasing less electricity from OESCO impact upon the fact that OESCO have been given permission to start a new engine, a third engine at its power station down at the Europa Business Park? With all the environmental effects that that will have.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member may know that OESCO had a historical contractual right to establish a new engine, which was postponed at Government request for many years. When the contract came up for renewal, it was done on the basis of the additional contract because the increase in supply has been such that they were having problems programming the maintenance of their machines. The fact that they have got six or seven machines does not mean that they can all be running at the same time. There needs to be outages for maintenance of machines, outages for breakages of machines, and there is an end given time we have a certain percentage of generating capacity on line. So it is not just a question of whether they had generating deficiencies in terms of capacity, but rather the level that they were operating at. In other words, the percentage of their capacity that was constantly in use in order to supply demand simply did not allow them enough stand down time with their other machines, to maintain them and repair them et cetera. So that explains the need to give them a contract for an additional machine. Gibraltar as a whole, including our own machines, was approaching the level of safety, not safety in terms of safety, un-safety but rather of security I suppose would be a better word, of demand and supply. In other words, the less spare capacity one has the more exposed one is to power cuts and insufficiency of generation if something catastrophic happens to one of the machines. In other words, there is a margin, a buffer that has to be provided and the increase of consumption, the demand for electricity in Gibraltar rises every year by three or four per cent or something of that order, and that has absorbed most of the cushion that we had before, most of that buffer. So the creation of an additional machine with OESCO plus whether that restored part of the buffer and of course that is why we are now looking at the investment in an additional new generator capacity. Not only to renew equipment, which is reaching its end of life date, but indeed also to provide additional generating capacity which is now needed.

HON F R PICARDO:

Am I able to read into that that OESCO will be operating only two machines at once, or will it in effect be operating all three at the same time but at different levels?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it really is not possible.....

HON F R PICARDO:

I accept of course that the Chief Minister cannot answer for OESCO but in its relationship with the Government.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it is not quite as simple. It is not just a question of the capacity, the number of machines and the capacity per machine. That is not how the industry works. In addition to the information I have already given about necessary spare capacity and downed capacity because of repairs and maintenance, there is also the question that these machines have an optimum operating level. In other words, they might be able to generate at such and such rate but I think from memory that they are at their most efficient in terms of fuel consumption and emissions if they operate at seventy odd per cent of capacity. So it is not just a question of multiplying the machines by the capacity of each machine, each machine has an optimum operating point which is lower than its maximum. So OESCO, concerned to save costs obviously, want to operate its machines as closely as possible to that optimum. There is a huge number of factors that combine to determine the number of machines, the size of the machines that Gibraltar needs to have in order to satisfy a demand, which I think is running at about 21 or 22 megawatts at peak times.

ELECTRICITY AUTHORITY

Can Government state how many units of electricity were purchased from the MOD for £95,000 in the last financial year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The number of units that could have been purchased from the MOD for £95,000 in the last financial year would have been approximately 1,047,670.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1845 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Why did the Minister say 'could have been purchased' rather than were purchased?

HON F VINET:

The reason is that we have had to extrapolate the number of units that could have been purchased for £95,000 simply because this amount does not reflect any actual payment. The actual payments to the MOD during the last financial year was £99,400.13.

ELECTRICITY AUTHORITY

Can Government explain why the cost of the electricity purchased from MOD is estimated to increase threefold to £300,000 in the current financial year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The estimated cost of purchasing electricity from the MOD is in the order of £300,000 per annum. The forecast outturn for the last financial year shows the actual payments made during that financial year. The reason for this is that payments are close to £254,000 was not made until after the end of that financial year.

ELECTRICITY AUTHORITY

Can Government state what is the unit cost of the electricity provided by (a) MOD (b) OESCO and (c) produced by the Gibraltar Electricity Authority?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Based on the overall amounts paid in recent times, the following are the approximate average costs per unit (kWh) of electricity provided by the following entities:-

|     |       |                     |
|-----|-------|---------------------|
| (a) | MOD   | 9.07 pence per unit |
| (b) | OESCO | 9.37 pence per unit |
| (c) | GEA   | 9.99 pence per unit |

EUROPA INCINERATOR COMPANY LIMITED

Can Government state what new activities Europa Incinerator Company Limited proposes to undertake in respect of which it applied for a disposal of waste licence in July 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

With the recent conversion of the Los Barrios tip from a purely landfill site to a recycling/landfill facility, our waste has now had to be separated before it can be transferred. Europa Incinerator Company Limited has now assumed some such responsibility and now receives and handles that waste that cannot now be mixed in with the domestic refuse. The Licence applied for and obtained allows them to handle such waste which includes bulky items of furniture and large plastic items.

WASTE DISPOSAL – COLLECTION POINTS

Given the answers provided to Question No. 682 of 2004 and the photographs (taken on two separate dates in the area of Calpe and Willis' Road) and sent to the Minister for the Environment, will the Government now act to take action to avoid the unsightly accumulation of rubbish at open refuse collection points which, as can be seen, attract rodents, cats, apes and other animals, by redesigning these collection points in a manner that will allow for rubbish to be deposited in collection points which cannot be easily accessed by animals?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The position remains as explained in answer to Question No. 682 of 2004 and there are no immediate plans to change the system designed and introduced by the GSLP when it was in Government. Nevertheless, the matter remains under constant review.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1849 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

I am grateful to the Minister for indicating that the matter remains under constant review. As I pointed out last time, there was a manifesto commitment on the part of not him in 1996 but certainly his party colleagues, and I know that they are not answerable for their past manifesto commitments because they have been re-elected subsequently whether or not they complied with them. To deal with these unsightlinesses, and this is something that we all agree with, it is something that we all want resolved, what I am asking the Minister to do and I am urging him to do is to act to contain these rubbish areas, such that stray cats, monkeys and the like do not have access to them. I realise that many of these refuse collection points in town are in areas where we have vehicle thoroughfares. Those are actually not the ones most affected by animals ripping open their contents. It is in the areas at the base of the Upper Town and higher parts of the Upper Town where the apes are actually attacking these refuse points, strewing the rubbish everywhere, there are photographs that are attached to the question to prove that. Can I persuade the Minister to somehow go back to his Department and ask them to look at a potential way of resolving this? I have already proposed what I think is the way of resolving it, which is to encase these rubbish collection points into small huts. They are already surrounded by walls, all they need is a small roof-like structure and a door. Can I persuade him to do that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

We had a lengthy discussion about this and we do agree that there is a problem here. The answer is not intended to give the impression that we do not, and indeed to one side the novel technique of attaching photographs to Parliamentary questions, the mind boggles to where that might lead. Anyway, leaving that question to one side, indeed there was a better photograph I saw recently in the Chronicle or one of the other newspapers. There was a photograph actually of apes doing precisely what the question suggests that they do. So it is not that we do not acknowledge that there is a problem but identifying the problem is easier than finding a solution that does not make the systems unusable to use or harder to use for the users, harder to use for the refuse collectors, more of a health hazard in terms of confined spaces. The answer to his question is yes, the Minister will do as he suggests which is to ensure that his officials continue to try and find a viable, workable course of action that if not eliminates at least diminishes to the greatest possible extent the spectacle of having wild animals rummaging through household refuse and scattering it about. They have not come up with an answer yet, at least if they have they have not put it up to the Minister or to Ministers generally to make a policy decision on it, but it remains under review. It means what I interpret by the answer, remains under constant review, means that they are seeking a solution and might one day soon come up with one and we will hasten to share it with him when they do.

HON F R PICARDO:

I am grateful for the Chief Minister's interpretation because of course, the answer I was given was the position remains as explained in Question No. 682, the matter remains under constant review. In Question No. 682 it started with there are no plans to change that system and then reminded us all that it was a GSLP system.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The system set up for collection points is different to what we subsequently went on to discuss in supplementaries to that question, which is much what we are discussing now. We discussed the lids and covers and all of that sort of thing which does not go to the system of central collection points.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just remind the Minister that this is not just an issue of unsightliness, although in some areas, in particular where there is access to an egress from the Upper Rock, our tourists are also seeing this, but there is a serious issue here as to hygiene. Children play in the area in which I have taken photographs and I admit it is the area very close to my house when I saw that accumulation, children play just there. The plastic bags are ripped open in that area, apes are in that area and they are very wild animals and they have been known not yet to bite any child but certainly to chase them and attack them, and to keep this matter more than just under constant review but to try and do something positive about dealing with this issue as soon as possible.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have not interpreted the hon Member's intervention on this subject, either on this occasion or on the last occasion, as politically opportunistic. That is not the basis with which I have dealt with his interventions. Let me say that dealing with the problem is not just a question of dealing with the rubbish, it is also a question of dealing with the animals themselves and can something be done about preventing the apes from wandering down. We are told that they do that because there are too many of them, which requires them to be culled, but every time we propose culling the apes the Leader of the Opposition accuses me of murder. Let me also say that there is a refuse collection point which relates to my house in Irish Town or round the corner in Fish Market Road, into which apes do not stray, which very often does not look dissimilar to that. So it actually does not require apes and rodents to have a central collection point looking something like that. Although I have to say that these are particularly bad and obviously it suggests that bags have been consciously ripped open by presumably apes. I have not assumed that the hon Member ripped the bags up himself in order to facilitate the photographs so that he could then bring them. That thought had not crossed my mind, I hasten to add.

PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

When (giving a specific date if possible) do Government expect that they will be satisfied with the state of the highways such that they will be ready to amend the law in order to ensure that Gibraltar law is in keeping with UK law on the Government's public liability for defects on the highway, given that the Chief Minister has stated that this is only "a small way away"?

ANSWER

I refer the hon Member to the reply given by the Chief Minister in reply to Question No. 1821.

NO. 1851 OF 2004

ENVIRONMENTAL AGENCY – AIR QUALITY

Can Government now state where they have determined they will site the equipment to enable the Environmental Agency to monitor continually and properly air quality in Gibraltar and when any monitoring station or stations for this purpose will commence operations?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

A preliminary assessment of air quality within Gibraltar commissioned by Government in 2003, concluded that in order to fulfil our obligations under the Public Health (Air Quality Limit Values) Rules and the Public Health (Air Quality) (Ozone) Rules, which transpose the EU Air Quality Framework Directive and subsequent three Daughter Directives, two monitoring stations would be required.

The first of these should monitor nitrous oxide, sulphur dioxide, particulates (PM<sub>10</sub> and PM<sub>25</sub>) lead, carbon monoxide and benzene and be located “at a roadside location on a major road and close to key power generation point sources”. The second should monitor ozone and nitrous oxides and be located at a “suburban/rural background location”.

Government have accepted these recommendations and the two monitoring stations have now been ordered. It is planned to site the first of these stations at Rosia Road, possibly within the Gibraltar Electricity Authority compound at the north end of Rosia Road. A number of technical matters are still being considered before a final decision is made. This location, or an alternate one in the vicinity, would fulfil the above-mentioned criteria in that it would be at a major road (Rosia Road) and close to power generation point sources (MOD and OESCO Generating Stations). The second monitoring station will be located at Bleak House car park as a “suburban background location”.

These sites have been selected in consultation with the Environmental Agency, representatives of the consultants who carried out the preliminary assessment of air quality and the suppliers of the monitoring stations as being the best available locations.

As previously stated, the monitoring stations have now been ordered and we are aiming to start monitoring by the beginning of the year. This, I am told, is a very tight deadline since the equipment cannot be bought off the shelf, but must be manufactured to our precise specification, it also has to be fully commissioned in UK and then transported, installed and again commissioned here in Gibraltar before monitoring can begin. However we are working hard to try and meet our target.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1851 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Will the Government, once they have set up these stations, be publishing the information collected from them?

HON F VINET:

Yes, as I have indicated on a number of occasions in this House, the results of the air quality monitoring will be published in a specified website.

HON F R PICARDO:

Given that the report to which the Government referred, has already indicated that based on the situation in the UK and other European countries, it is likely that with the new methodology for monitoring particulate matter, that PM<sub>10</sub> which is a carcinogen will be exceeded in Gibraltar, what action do the Government intend to take if those are the results of their first monitoring process?

HON F VINET:

If that were the case, we would have to seek the advice of the Environmental Agency.

HON F R PICARDO:

That is the advice. In a report prepared by the Ombudsman in Case CS-57, the Ombudsman was given sight of the very Environmental Agency Air Quality Report dated December 1998, and it is that report that indicates that the PM<sub>10</sub> is likely to be exceeded. So surely, given that six years have passed since the Government have been told that when it simply changes the methodology for measuring air quality, and bring it up to date, the PM<sub>10</sub> is likely to be exceeded, surely the Government will have in place a programme of what to do. Or do they not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

When it has been established that it will be exceeded, by that time the Government will most certainly have a plan in place, yes.

HON F R PICARDO:

The Ombudsman has already found that the complainant's grievance in that case, relating to the measuring and monitoring of pollutants in Gibraltar, was sustained. To an extent the Ombudsman has already found that there are serious issues to concern the Government, even before the air quality monitoring station is put in place. In paragraph 22 of his report, which has been laid in this House already, the Ombudsman says that the complainant's concerns that the Agency was deliberately misleading him were also valid when comparing the advice given to him and the advice given to the Ministry for the Environment. Those are very serious findings of the Ombudsman, which is a body that I know the Chief Minister respects. Given those findings are already there, and they have been there for some time, have the Government not already taken a decision on what they will do when the PM<sub>10</sub> is found to be exceeded?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the hon Member is confusing the subject matter of the complaint. The maladministration found in that case was, in effect failure to monitor in accordance with the directive which already requires the monitoring to take place. That was the subject matter of the Ombudsman's Report. In other words, that a directive by which Gibraltar is bound, required Gibraltar to have started monitoring some time ago, and indeed we are still not in compliance with that because we still have not started monitoring. This is one of the things that we are late on the scene about. That was the subject matter of the Ombudsman's complaint. That was a sustained case, the sustained case by the Ombudsman, and the Government are dealing with it. We have accelerated, as the Minister has explained to extraordinary lengths in his answer, the Government are dealing with that. We cannot comply with it any faster than we can get the equipment here. He can ask if he likes why we did not start sooner, but now that we have started this is the quickest that we can do it. By the end of the year and we are not certain that even that is viable. The issue of whether there is in fact in Gibraltar exceeded any of the European Union Directive parameters for various substances in the atmosphere, is a wholly different issue, where the Ombudsman has not said anything of the nature that the hon Member has said, and the Environmental Agency Report to which he is referring, speculates and prognosticates that it will be likely to exceed. That is a hypothesis that has yet to be established. If it turns out to be a correct hypothesis and when measured that is in excess of the European Union Directive parameters, which may or may not be the case, then the European Directive says what has to be done about it. This is not a matter of Government domestic policy or choice or whether we want to be a good or a bad Government, or whether we respect or do not respect the Ombudsman or whether we monitor. The hon Member should not assume however, it is a legal obligation, exactly, but to obey what?

HON F R PICARDO:

To abate.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No. That is what the hon Member has got to be a bit more careful with, because the hon Member should not assume that the regime established by the directive is that each and every moment of exceeding by each and every scheduled substance requires acts to be taken. In respect of some of them I recall the regime is to monitor and to see whether it is a passing event or whether it is a sustained, and depending on the seriousness of the substance I think there are different degrees of strictness of the way one can react. So it is not just an absolute issue of whether the reading is exceeded on each of them one has to immediately eliminate the source, the source may not be eliminatable. The hon Member says what are the plans, but very often the source cannot be eliminated overnight. So I think it is important that the administration of the directive, which at the moment I admit is completely deficient in the sense that we are not monitoring, the absence of monitoring does not lead to deficient administration if in fact there is no exceeding, but we do not know whether there is exceeding of the substance. We think that there is not because at the end of the day the hon Member will remember that the European Union Directive only requires one of these monitoring stations every 25 square kilometres of territory. If we were in England, or in Spain, or in Germany, we would not have our own station because there is one in La Linea which is not 25 kilometres away. So if we were part of Spain, or if both we and La Linea were part of the United Kingdom, there would be a monitoring station in La Linea and we would certainly not have one. Now, the La Linea monitoring station, which is the one that covers Gibraltar but for the fact that we are in a different Member State and want to have our own, does not indicate readings in breach of the territory. It would be most unusual for La Linea's atmospheric temperature to be less polluted than ours, given that they suffer in the direct path of prevailing wind, downstream in a westerly from the Refinery. I am sure the hon Member has often driven round the Bay and seen how it all blows over La Linea except in a north-easterly wind, which thankfully are rare, they do not blow in our direction. So it would be most unusual, I do not say impossible, I suppose one could have a locality in Gibraltar which is particular, but if it would be most surprising if the La Linea monitoring station were not already picking up a situation in La Linea which ours were going to pick up in relation to Gibraltar, given that the requirement of the directive is one for every 25 square kilometres. It is not impossible but we would be very surprised if our micro environment here were more polluted than the one in La Linea, but we will wait to see, we may be wrong.

EAST SIDE DEVELOPMENT

Can Government confirm that building debris continues to be dumped at the East Side reclamation area?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Yes. The rubble tip located in the eastern reclamation area continues to accept builders' rubble.

NO. 1853 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

EAST SIDE DEVELOPMENT

Have Government identified an alternative site to be used for the dumping of builders' debris when the East Side Reclamation area is no longer available?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Several sites remain under consideration. No final decision has yet been made.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1853 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of these possible alternative sites, is it something that would need preparatory work? What I am trying to establish is whether one needs a decision a certain time ahead of when one needs to be using it?

HON F VINET:

I can answer that supplementary by explaining that we are looking for sites where the reclamation will be able to be put to some useful purpose for development. The areas being considered by the Government are as follows. I believe I may have given this answer in a previous meeting of the House. The area of the decommissioned MOD water storage tanks north of Dudley Ward Tunnel, the area to the northwest of the runway, the area between jetties and other areas within the Port.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, my Colleague made a slip of the tongue which I think prevented the Leader of the Opposition from understanding the first part of his answer in which he meant to say that the Government were finding a way of making the rubble useful by applying it to reclamation rather than making the reclamation useful, which I think is what he said. In other words, the finding of a site that is a reclamation site, that rubble builds something rather than is dumped.

HON J J BOSSANO:

If they identify such a site, would it not make sense therefore to move there as soon as that is available, given that presumably they are not getting any advantage any more out of the existing site? The existing site is not getting any bigger by virtue of the building rubble that is being put there, is it?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is getting taller. It is getting quite frightening to drive round there. This is not a question of seeking advantage. Let me say to the hon Members that this is one of our more intractable problems, because even the three sites that my Colleague has mentioned, would not be solutions for very long. The filling-in of any one of those three sites, even the filling-in of all three of those sites, would probably provide for not more than a year's worth of rubble tipping. Now that we are more environmentally conscious than we used to be, all of us, for example the whole area of coastline on this side of the Rock from say Rosia Bay all the way round Europa Point up to Shirley's Cove near the Caleta Palace, all on the other side, all that is untouchable in terms of reclamation, it is the last remaining virgin rock coastline of Gibraltar. It really is a big, big problem which I know the Technical Services Department has been struggling for three or four years now looking for a viable long-term, something that is rather going to be like the East Side, something that will provide several years rather than just for several months, and we have not come up with a solution yet.

INTEGRATED POLLUTION PREVENTION AND CONTROL DIRECTIVE

Will the Government confirm that in complying with the requirements of the Integrated Pollution Prevention and Control Directive the best available technology required in respect of any new electricity generating engine to be used in Gibraltar?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The formulation of the question is somewhat confusing.

I can confirm that any new generating plant installed for the Government of Gibraltar will conform to the relevant regulations and directives appertaining to the type of plant to be installed.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1854 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

The Leader of the House remembers that we have had this debate before. I am pleased that he does because he will recall that the last time that we had this debate his position was that he did not like the phrase 'best available technology' because that implied, to use his words, that I suppose we would have to go to NASA or something, but we will be going for the sort of technology that communities of our size are using in Western Europe for the generation of their electricity. What I was keen to get the Government to confirm, is that the Integrated Pollution Prevention and Control Directive does actually require best available technology and this is the phraseology used within the directive. In fact in answer to Question No. 13 of 2004 the Chief Minister told me that I was asking about the types of standard which were not yet implemented in Gibraltar, but he will recall that two days later when dealing with another issue, in fact it was confirmed that that directive had been transposed in Gibraltar. So can I just ask the Minister to confirm that in his view now the definition of 'best available technology' does not mean the costliest most advanced technology but a necessary balance between what is available with regard to the cost, and what is the best pollution prevention option open to the operator, not necessarily the Government.

HON F VINET:

As I have already said, whenever a new generating plant will conform to the relevant regulations and directives.

HON F R PICARDO:

Does that include any new engine to be started by OESCO, given that its third engine scheduled to commence operations in this calendar year, has not yet been started?

HON F VINET:

If that is covered by the directive the answer is yes.

THE HON F R PICARDO

CEPSA REFINERY

What measures did the Government take to ensure that the emissions of the recent fire at the CEPSA refinery were monitored and were not toxic to the general public in Gibraltar?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The fire incident at the refinery was monitored. Given the direction of the fire and the distance no measures were taken.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1855 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

What emissions were detected coming from the fire in Gibraltar, if any?

HON F VINET:

None were detected.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is that because we have not got the equipment to monitor air quality in Gibraltar, even in these circumstances?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The answer to the question is that no measures were taken. Therefore if no measures were taken, when he asks again were any detected, I suppose he must only be referring did we smell anything. I mean, it was not monitored, no equipment was deployed, it was not thought to be necessary. It is not that we have readings, if we had I would give him the results, but there were not any readings taken. I do not know what he means, perhaps I am misunderstanding his supplementary. We have admitted that no readings were taken and therefore we could not have detected anything.

HON F R PICARDO:

I think that the obvious issue is this. There was a fire in the refinery. It appears from the answer provided that somebody looked up and said 'oh the smoke seems to be going in the other direction, no need to take any action'. Now, as I understand it although I wish things were as simple as that, there could have been emissions resulting from that fire which are not visible to the naked eye, and which despite the plethora of the dark smoke going in another direction might have been toxic to the general public in Gibraltar. Did we monitor that or did we not monitor that, and is that because we have not got the equipment and it is coming and we will be able to answer the next one?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know whether the scenario that he has described is physically possible. In other words, whether it is possible for smoke to blow in one direction and toxic fumes to blow in the opposite direction, I do not know. A more credible way of describing the risk might be to say, what if the wind had suddenly changed and then we would have had both the smoke and the toxic. That is a more credible threat that he could articulate his point around. It is by the grace of God that the wind is blowing in the other direction. Even then it could suddenly change I suppose. The refinery is in Spain. Whatever we may think of Spain politically it is not a third world backward country. It is a Member of the European Community, responsible to comply with exactly the same directives as we comply with and to measure air monitoring in the same way as we do with the same responsibilities to their local populations as we have to ours. If there had been any toxicity of the sort that the hon Member is describing, the Spanish would have identified it for themselves and had there been any danger to surrounding populations, I do not suppose they dislike us so much that they would not have given us advance warning. I do not think it is part of their plan to exterminate us and therefore I assume, we are not living on an island, this is not in Mars, if there had been the sort of danger that the hon Member is formulating his questions around the hypothesis of, then we would have been informed by the responsible party which is Spain. This community has neither the size nor the resources, financial or technical, to measure the atmosphere for everything in it that might conceivably be a risk to us at any time from whatever source. At the end of the day that is not the way, there have been fires in the refinery before. What went up in the refinery was a petrol bowser. In the days of the hon Members in Government, I remember that a whole tanker exploded in the refinery and there was a huge fire. I do not suppose any measurements were taken then, or any measures taken then. That was a hugely larger fire. By the way I do not know if our monitoring station measures for the sort of things that he fears might be found in fires. There is a list of substances, as he knows, in the directive for which the monitoring station will monitor in the future. It is not everything but that is not the position. At the moment we have no standing atmospheric measurement facility. I understand that the Environmental Agency have hand-held equipment for some of the more basic rudimentary things, but it is not a hugely deployable resource in the circumstances which the hon Member is describing.

So the political answer to his question is no, that it was not felt necessary to take particular precautions in that situation, and to a certain extent we do rely on the responsibility of the neighbour to pass information, because at the end of the day what we need to know is also what they need to tell their own public in the immediate vicinity.

HON F R PICARDO:

I am grateful for that, I think that deals really with the issue of whether there was any monitoring taking place or not quite exhaustively. Can I just take the Chief Minister up on this issue of the level of monitoring and the standard of monitoring across the way. He will recall that in the not too recent past, when there was an emission which was not a smokey emission that was visible from Acerinox, it was only reported when the German monitoring station picked it up. Although those in the area of Acerinox et cetera and all the professionals there knew, no statements had been made to the general public in that respect. He may also be aware, as I am, that the Bucket Brigade has not yet made its results public but that those results of its monitoring in the area apparently are very worrying and not gratifying. So it is in that context, that I am trying to seek this information and I trust that in future we will be in a position to monitor this type of event, if only with our then standing air quality monitoring stations which will monitor, as I understand it the Minister can correct me if I am wrong, all the types of emissions that would be dangerous to health and which are identified.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Minister said nothing of the sort. The hon Member is going to be very disappointed if he thinks that that is what the air monitoring station will do. Look, towns of 28,000 people on the planet do not each have their radioactivity monitoring facilities, and as he knows from the long answer that the Minister gave him in answer to Question No. 1851, my understanding of it is that radioactivity is not one of the issues that is monitored.

HON F R PICARDO:

I did not mean that we would be monitoring for radioactivity. For the type of explosion that occurred at the oil refinery, the type of emission that would come from that would be monitored by air quality stations because that would monitor for benzene et cetera, et cetera.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, those are the things that it would monitor but I misunderstood the hon Member. I thought he was suggesting that had we had our monitoring station at the time of the Acerinox, we rather than the Swiss would have caught the Spaniards out. That is not the point that he was making. Well, we all look forward to our monitoring station, I agree. It will be a useful addition to our facilities.

EU GREENHOUSE GAS EMISSIONS TRADING SYSTEM

When do Government expect to publish legislation to transpose into law in Gibraltar the directive establishing the EU Greenhouse Gas Emissions Trading System?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The Government expect to publish legislation to transpose into law in Gibraltar the directive establishing a scheme for Greenhouse Gas Emissions Allowance Trading within the Community by the end of the year.

NO. 1857 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

WATER FRAMEWORK DIRECTIVE

When do Government expect to publish legislation to transpose into law in Gibraltar the Water Framework Directive?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The Regulation transposing the Water Framework Directive (2000/60/EC) was published on 7th October 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1857 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

The hon Gentleman will know that this question was posed before that and I have not yet actually seen the Gazette. He will excuse me if I am about to in my supplementary in any way raise an issue which has already been dealt with in legislation, but it is true and fair to say that both of these directives are now well outside their transitional period. Is there a particular reason why it has taken Government time to transpose these pieces of legislation? Do they involve a large measure of expense on the part of the Government?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not think it is that long overdue frankly, I think the United Kingdom themselves have only put it in recently. I do not know, if he has got the directive there he might be able to point out what the due date is. I do not think it is particularly long overdue. There has been an issue in the past, these things come past No. 6 where we filter them for political issues as opposed to issues to do with the subject matter of the directive which are dealt with in the Department, and there was an issue about something, I cannot remember the name of it now, the water table administration or something. The directive creates a river basin authority, in other words, they were river basin based rather than national territory based and we were concerned that that should not, in our case, lead to Spain exercising any pretext of the Water Directive and the water basin which was regional, to take responsibility as to the water basin, and we were able to save that and we have got our own river basin, it is called the river basin but it is not limited to rivers, confusing. That was the only political issue that I was aware of and I do not think that that delayed transposition in itself because this arose pretty early on. So I do not think we are particularly late.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just take it from that, that when I see the published Regulation, I will see that Gibraltar will have its own River Basin Authority?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I think the Regulation is drafted on that basis, which has been accepted by the UK who I think, I am not sure whether there is a notification requirement, but in any case the United Kingdom Environmental Department, whatever it is called, has accepted that we are our own River Basin Authority and will notify accordingly. Absolutely.

HON F R PICARDO:

Which rivers come within the ambit of the Authority?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I did say misnomer, river basin does not mean just rivers. Gibraltar has got its own water table and surface water, and underground water, all of which are included in the definition of River Basin Authority. We have got the aquifers in the politically sensitive so called disputed ground and all that. There are important political issues in this directive.

RGP – CM'S PROTECTION

What has the cost of members of the RGP accompanying the Chief Minister when he has travelled abroad on each occasion in the past eighteen months that the Chief Minister has been accompanied by members of the RGP outside Gibraltar, whether on official business or personal?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

It is not appropriate to give the information in respect of each occasion and would probably in any case be too difficult to get the information together. The overall cost for the past 18 months has been £28,306.60.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1858 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Obviously that cost to the taxpayer sometimes occurs when the Chief Minister is travelling outside Gibraltar on personal business. Does he consider that to be an appropriate way to spend taxpayers money?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am sorry that the hon Member does not think that the safety of the Chief Minister of Gibraltar is worth £28,306.60 over an 18 month period, but that to one side, the Chief Minister does not cease to be the Chief Minister by virtue of the nature of the business that he is conducting. I have never heard the proposition put by anybody that is subject to personal protection policies that their personal protection is lifted depending on whether he is going privately, socially or on official business. It is a distinction that anybody involved in the field of security and protection provision would regard as wholly irrelevant. What I can tell the hon Member are two things. First of all that there has been no change in the policy of the circumstances in which the Chief Minister is provided with personal protection when travelling abroad, since I have come into office there has been no change. In other words, the principle that is applied to me is the principle that has been applied to the previous Chief Ministers. Secondly, that these decisions and judgements are not made by me. I do not ask the RGP to provide me with personal protection, there is a long standing policy and they make the decision. I think that their decisions frankly, and their judgements are very well made and I think it would be wholly inappropriate for the Chief Minister of Gibraltar to be wandering around in Spain without any measure of personal protection, which in Spain is afforded even to local mayors.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is the Chief Minister then telling this House in the course of his intervention that he feels that he needs that protection in Gibraltar and outside Gibraltar?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

What the Chief Minister has said to the House is exactly what he has said to the House. I do not think I have used any words which are too long for anybody to understand and there is no need for the hon Member to re-interpret, still less to ask me to repeat what it is that I have said. What I have said is what I have said. If he chooses to misinterpret it or misrepresent it or misquote it, that is a problem for him and not a problem for me. What I can tell him is that there has been no change in the policy. If the hon Member is trying to insinuate that there has been a change in the policy, he is mistaken. Now, he may not approve of the Chief Minister of Gibraltar going to Spain for personal purposes. If that is the point then I do not agree with him. I think it is entirely appropriate for the Chief Minister, yes, because the hon Member may say if he did not go to Spain on personal jaunts then there would be no need to provide him with personal protection. Of course that would be a view.....

HON F R PICARDO:

Point of order. I have not said that I do not believe that the Chief Minister should not go to Spain on personal jaunts. I have not said that. The point of order is that the Chief Minister has said that I said that. I have not said that.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Chief Minister has not said that he has said that. The Chief Minister has said that that is what he might think. So, points of order are not a procedure whereby the hon Member has a right to interrupt me. I think the correct procedure is that he should identify what the point of order is so that the Chair can decide whether or not his intervention raises a point of order, but of course if he splurges it out before explaining the point of order, then his purpose is served. That is not in accordance with the Rules of the House.

So I really have nothing to add. I think that this is entirely appropriate, it is entirely correct, I am delighted with the level of personal protection that I receive. Whether or not I need personal protection is not a judgement for me, just as it has not been a judgement for previous Chief Ministers but the hon Member should be aware that the purpose of personal protection is not just, perhaps not even, to protect the Chief Minister from assassination or things of that sort. The purpose of personal protection is also to protect the subject of the personal protection from embarrassing situations that are embarrassing because of the nature of the office that he holds. It is not just about personal security. It is about protecting the office holder from embarrassing situations that might not be embarrassing for any normal citizen but could be embarrassing if it happens to somebody who holds this office. So the answer to the hon Member is that.

HON F R PICARDO:

I would not want the Chief Minister for one moment to think that simply because of the holder of the post, I do not think the Chief Minister of Gibraltar is deserving of protection if his physical integrity is in any way going to be under attack, but can I just ask him to confirm that in fact although he insisted the policy has not changed since 1996 when he took office, that in fact the Chief Minister of Gibraltar from 1988 to 1996 did not have a bodyguard. So in fact in 1996 things did change. Does he accept that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No I do not, I think it is wholly untrue, and before the hon Member is prompted by things whispered in his ear, he should be careful. When the previous Chief Minister visited Morocco, he was accompanied by a full deployment of personal bodyguards, and when the previous Chief Minister, now the Leader of the Opposition sitting next to him, went for a holiday to the Marbella Club in Marbella, he was accompanied there by personal protection officers. So what the hon Member says is wholly untrue. Now it may be that the previous Chief Minister of Gibraltar did not enjoy going to Spain for personal reasons as much as I enjoy it, and therefore the need for him to have personal protection officers in Spain may have been less in quantum, but that is a product of the frequency with which we have each chosen to go to Spain and not a variation of the principle.

HON F R PICARDO:

From 1988 to 1996 the Chief Minister did not have with him every day a bodyguard in Gibraltar all the time. Whilst this Chief Minister has a policy to have a bodyguard with him in Gibraltar all the time. That is a change in policy, is it not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the previous Chief Minister may have chosen not to have had a personal protection officer in Gibraltar, which itself was a departure from the then established position which is that Chief Ministers before that had had it. I simply chose to follow the established precedent and not the practice of my immediate predecessor. Look, there are many things that this Chief Minister and this Government do differently from the previous Members opposite and we do not necessarily regard the conduct and precedents set by the previous Members opposite as being worth following. Much is done differently. Amongst that I think that the office of the Chief Minister deserves that sort of consideration, as happens with the Mayor of La Linea, the Mayor of Los Barrios. I am not saying that I do it just because they do it, but this is not science made in Gibraltar. This is generally the practice and I do not see why we should seek to downgrade the status of the office of Chief Minister in that way. Having said that let me tell the hon Member, I do not know if the previous Chief Minister used to walk the streets as frequently as I do, but let me tell him that there are often situations where the Chief Minister could be put in an embarrassing situation when he does that. Let me tell him that in the case of Gibraltar, I choose to dispense with the personal protection officer when I am off duty. I do not feel threatened, there is no area of Gibraltar where I do not feel free to go by myself at any time of the day or night, and therefore this is a question of the office and not of me. So that when I am deposited at home, at whatever time I get home, if I then go out in the evening or at the weekends I go out on Saturday mornings onto Main Street with my wife, I have no personal protection officer for that. That is a matter of choice, I would be entitled to have it if I wanted to, I choose not to do it.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can we take it from what the Chief Minister has said that our newly appointed Mayor will soon also be enjoying a PPO to ensure that he is also at the same level of the mayors of the Campo?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I assume the question is a joke.

HON F R PICARDO:

Like the answers.

PROSPECT UNION'S TORQUAY CONFERENCE

Can the Government give the cost, with a breakdown, of attendance by the Chief Minister at the Prospect Union's Torquay conference in May 2004 giving the offices of those who might have attended as part of the Government delegation?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question No. 1859

The information requested is in the schedule attached.

Answer to Question No. 1860

In respect of the Torquay conference the Chief Minister was accompanied by his Press & Media Director and one of his Private Secretaries. The total costs were:

|               |                 |
|---------------|-----------------|
| Air Fares     | £2,651.30       |
| Accommodation | £ 969.22        |
| Other         | £ 373.60 |
|               | £3,994.12       |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1859 AND 1860 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can the Chief Minister tell us how many people travelled with him to the Conservative Party Conference last year? Is it the same body that travelled with him to the Committee of 24?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot remember who came to the Conservative Party Conference with me last year, but usually because it coincides with the trip to New York, it is the same people. That is the usual practice but I cannot remember who came with me last year. Usually it is the Chief Secretary because he is the one who comes with me to New York, and normally we go from one to the other.

HON F R PICARDO:

That is the column who tells me who it was, the central column tells me, is that right?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON F R PICARDO:

MD is Media Director?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON F R PICARDO:

The bracket after PS, how should I interpret that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is the Private Secretary for Legal Affairs, Mr John Reyes.

HON F R PICARDO:

And the P?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There are several Ps on the page. The P by the word is Private Secretary, the P in brackets after PS is the Private Secretary for Policy and Projects, Mr Figueras.

HON F R PICARDO:

What is the CS?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Chief Secretary.

INCOME TAX – PAYE

Can Government confirm whether in the information provided regarding PAYE tax payable by private sector employers, those employees who have short term contracts with different employers in a given tax year are treated as different individuals in arriving at the total number of employees involved?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1862 of 2004.

NO. 1862 OF 2004*THE HON J J BOSSANO*INCOME TAX – PAYE

Can Government state whether the figure of 2,600 employees in respect of whom PAYE was deducted for the year 2001/2002 by MOD, persons in receipt of an MOD pension are included, and if so, can they state the breakdown between pensioners and persons still in employment and the relevant amount deducted for PAYE from each group?

ANSWER*THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER*Answer to Question No. 1861

I can confirm that for the purposes of the statistical information provided in this House regarding the Income Tax Office database, total number of employees is the total number of PAYE deduction cards received.

Answer to Question No. 1862

I can also confirm that MOD pensioners are included. The analysis requested is as follows:

|                   | Approximate No. | Approximate Tax Deducted |
|-------------------|------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Pensioners | 1500                   | £0.3 million                    |
| Employees  | 1100                   | £4.0 million                    |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1861 AND 1862 OF 2004*HON J J BOSSANO:

In respect of the answer confirming the information in Question No. 1861, the result of that means of course that the changes in the numbers that are given as employees in respect of whom the tax has been collected by the private sector does not necessarily show that there are more employees from one year to the next. It could be movement between employers. If an employee spends the whole year with the same employer as opposed to having more than one job in a year, the apparent numbers of employees go up, is that the case?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, this is why the Government do not use the PAYE statistics as being the principal source of statistics for numbers of jobs, absolutely. If an employee, never mind about moving from one job to the other, if an employee is doing three jobs at the same time it would appear three times, because there would be a different card sent in by each of his three employers and that will appear as three job appearances. This is why the hon Member may notice that when this information is given in answers, I think the recent practice has been to refer to the phrase 'employee/deduction cards', to signal the fact.

NO. 1868 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

INCOME TAX – LOW INCOME EARNERS

Will Government be able to assess the effect of the tax reduction once the low income earners tax credit has been applied to all eligible tax payers for the tax year 2001/2002?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Four hundred individuals in respect of each of the years of assessment 2001/2002 and 2002/2003 have now, through the Tax Credit allowed on their assessments, benefited from the Low Income Earner's Tax Credit announced in the Government's 2001 Budget.

Since April 2004 when the hon Member last sought information on the Tax Credit there has been acceleration in the issue of PAYE assessments. It is therefore expected that substantially more individuals will obtain the benefit of the Tax Credit in the coming months.

Assessable income, for all the purposes of the Income Tax Ordinance and subsidiary legislation, includes earned and unearned income.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1866 TO 1868 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am aware that assessable income means both. The reason for the question is that the Chief Minister described it as low income earners and therefore I wondered whether the fact that it was earners as opposed to recipients for example, meant that it was limited to income earned by working and not investment income.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It does not mean that, otherwise one could have a situation where somebody could have a huge unearned income, a low earned income, and he would get this and may be a millionaire.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That was not the point that I was making. The point I was making is not whether the investment income would be discounted but whether the investment income would be eligible. That is to say, if somebody has no earned income and it is all investment income, do they still get the low income earners?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I completely misunderstood as I think the drafter of the answer has. I think the answer is not but I would have to check that. In other words, if one has no earned income but unearned income only and it is below the threshold, can one get the tax credit. I am not sure what the answer to that is, I think not but I would have to check.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well in fact the original question, Question No. 1867, was in fact asking precisely that because the title of the credit is Low Income Earners Credit and therefore I wondered, it was not very clear at Budget time but in April it seemed to raise a point. In terms of the 400 that have been able to obtain the credit for 2001/2002 and 2002/2003, I assume that these are in fact more or less the same people and that their assessments have been done for the two years. Is that the likely answer?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I believe that that is the case. They have been done for two years at a time.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Question No. 1868 I do not think has been answered, which was to say when the exercise was completed would the Government be in a position to give an answer on the total cost of this?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, if by the effect of the tax reduction he means will the Government be able to compute the cost to the Government of the give-away, the answer is I suppose so, yes. I will have to check whether the computer is set up but as it is a tax credit, in other words it comes off the tax bill, one literally multiplies by the number of people. Except I suppose there may be a number of people who get part credits.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Will the Government note that I am just signalling it so that if it something that needs to be done, if the Government have got no objection to doing it, then it should be done so that we do not find that when I ask retrospectively for the information that it is not possible to do because it was not envisaged? So that is the point of the question.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1869 TO 1872 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I note that the 1995/1996 figures show no change for the tax payable although some change to the tax paid which shows that even now it is still possible to collect from as far back as that. There are changes in the tax payable from 1996/1997 on. Is there any way of getting an indication of how far back they go in identifying that there are people who are liable? I can understand that the thing may not be paid on time and may be paid late but I would have thought, knowing how many people are in the category, it would immediately tell the numbers that would be liable to pay.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not intimately familiar with the mechanics of how this is administered but of course, we can have a tally of the number of certificates issued so we know how many certificates are in issue and that number I suppose can be given. In fact I think it is sought in another question, but not everybody sort of remains live so to speak, some people go away and do not pay any more. So there is the number who pay, albeit late, who regardless of when they pay is not necessarily 100 per cent of the number of certificates in issue. In other words, people may just disappear from the scene without handing in their certificates.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I understand that but if I may give the Chief Minister an example. In the answer he gave me to Question No. 1432 for example, there were 21 shown for 1996/1997 who were liable to pay £430,000 and they had paid £110,000 in April this year for the year 1996/1997 which is going back quite a long way. I would not be surprised to see changes in the last couple of years but we are going back to 1996/1997. On this occasion the numbers liable are down from 21 to 19, the amount that is payable is down from £430,000 to £390,000 and the amount collected is up from £110,000 to £170,000. Now I can understand that since my last question six months ago £60,000 has been collected which is good that it should be possible to collect £60,000 going back to 1996/1997 but what I cannot understand are the other changes.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am afraid I cannot help him with that except by speculating that if the number of people have gone down it may be that during the interim period the Commissioner has been able to establish that some outstanding certificates are not here at all or may even have been surrendered. I know that there is a clean-up exercise going on right now to try and get down to the real and try to eliminate redundant certificates still in issue.

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Although I am going to give a full answer, I am sending a copy of it to the hon Member so that he does not have to make a note of all the information I am going to read out.

Answer to Question No. 1873

As at 30 September 2004, 305 employers had not yet returned their 2002/2003 Employer's Declaration and PAYE Certificate. The estimated number of employees deduction cards affected is 511.

Answer to Question No. 1874

As at 30 September 2004, 555 employers had not yet returned their 2003/2004 Employer's Declaration and PAYE Certificate. The estimated number of employees deduction cards affected is approximately 6700.

Answer to Question No. 1875

Based on the 2002/2003 annual PAYE Employer's Return received at the Income Tax Office by the 30 September 2004, 170 such employers owed PAYE totalling £1.7 million.

Answer to Question No. 1876

Based on the 2003/2004 Annual PAYE Employer's Return received at the Income Tax Office by the 30 September 2004, 296 such employers owed PAYE tax totalling £4.1 million.

Answer to Question No. 1877

A total of 1527 returns for the year 2003/2004 had been received at the Income Tax Office by the 6 October 2004. The total PAYE tax deducted and payable was £41.4 million. The PAYE Deduction Cards are presently being inputted into the database and it is not possible to provide a figure of the cards received to date.

Answer to Question No. 1878

Following reconciliation of the Income Tax Office records and Treasury Books I can confirm that the figures as provided by Question No. 1418 of 2004 are final and conclusive.

Answer to Question No. 1880

Given that 555 Employers' PAYE Declaration and Certificates for the tax year 2003/2004 have not yet been returned, any figures produced of PAYE payable would not be accurate enough to give meaningful information of the breakdown of PAYE payable by the different sectors which the question seeks. I would therefore invite the hon Member to seek this information at a later Question Time.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1873 TO 1880 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I know that in fact the 555 seems to be higher than has been the case now for a number of years in terms of the returns normally by October which is when we have the Question Time. In fact I think the Principal Auditor in the Accounts that have been tabled today commented in respect of last year's figures that they were up on the preceding year. Do Government have any idea why this should be happening?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No I do not have any idea why it is happening and I have not yet had a report to me that the situation is getting worse, I have not actually read the Auditor's Report myself yet but accepting the hon Member's analysis without checking it, accepting it as being correct, it seems as if employers are taking longer to send in their returns. Certainly, if that were the case, then the Government would wish something to be done about it because ultimately it affects cash flow. It does not ultimately necessarily affect revenue but certainly cash flow and with it the possibility of having to draw down on facilities unnecessarily and things of that sort.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I also note in fact, from comparison with similar questions put in other years that also in respect of the 2002/2003 returns which in the answer that I was given in March this year there were 310 employers who had not returned, and the figure now is 305 which means they only had five in the last six months. That again, I think the Government should note seems to be a slower rate of return than has been the case when I have asked in respect of previous years and the improvement after six months.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Is that six months or twelve months?

HON J J BOSSANO:

Six months. We are talking about the previous financial year and when I asked in March this year, Question No. 1423, the answer was 310 had not yet returned. So only five have done it in the last six months. At that rate we will be in the next election.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am grateful to the hon Member for his analysis. I will certainly take it up.

NO. 1881 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

HARBOUR VIEWS

Can Government state whether they still expect to commence this calendar year the remedial works to the podium at Harbour Views?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

It is unlikely that the works will physically commence this calendar year. The Government remain in discussions with the new management committee of Harbour Views as to the nature of the works to be undertaken. The works then have to be specified and put out to tender. Indeed, since this answer was printed, I can tell the hon Member that I actually met with the Harbour Views, I was not aware that there was a meeting in my diary for yesterday lunch time, and they have now agreed with the previous Committee's choice of the options for works available, so that is now firm and in the bag. So the Government are now in a position, as of lunch time yesterday, to start the process of specification and tendering. It is now just a question of how long that takes rather than any discussion. In other words, the discussion part of the answer has been overtaken by events.

NO. 1882 OF 2004

THE HON C A BRUZON

HOUSING – CHILTON COURT

Can Government state when they intend to start allocating the housing units in Chilton Court?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Housing units at Chilton Court have not yet been transferred by MOD to the Government. This is not scheduled to occur until April 2005.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1882 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

When I asked a previous question in the House a few months ago concerning Chilton Court, I asked the Chief Minister if Government would consider allocating some of the ground floor flats in Chilton Court for the elderly in Gibraltar, his answer was that they would consider that but that his preferred choice would be that the houses for the elderly would be allocated from the new second home for the elderly built in the same or similar style as Bishop Canilla. What worries me, and I will ask the Government now, do they share my concern that homes for the elderly are taking far too long? If Chilton Court allocation is going to take that long and the Chief Minister suggested that he would consider allocating some of the ground floor flats for the elderly, it is a concern.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not share the hon Member's somewhat ungenerous assessment that housing for the elderly is taking too long. Indeed we were the only party with a manifesto commitment to build Bishop Canilla when we built it. So to say to the only party that has ever built specialist housing of this sort that it is taking too long to build its second batch, coming from the benches of a party that never did it in the eight years that they were in office, I think is unduly harsh a judgement on our performance but the Government obviously share his analysis that these are a good thing and that more are required and that is evident by the fact that we have moved on to build the second batch, which in fact is a much greater number than Bishop Canilla. I think Bishop Canilla was 86 or 90 and here we are talking of 140. So it is a very large second dose of specialist and sheltered, specially designed, wardened housing for the elderly. Now, all that is a different issue to the one that I think is at the root of the hon Member's question which is, I think what he has said is capable of being interpreted as meaning regardless of the new specialist housing, which I note to boot he thinks is taking too long, should the Government not use ground floor accommodation in all its housing stock for the elderly. Given that every time a flat stays empty on a ground floor, it is a useful opportunity to put an elderly person there who may not get one of the new houses, there are only 140 of them, there may be more than 140 demand. I see the virtue of that, I do. If the Government are going to allocate these houses I think it would be sensible to pencil in so to speak, the ground floor ones for any elderly person that may anyway in any case be destined or scheduled to get a house, even if it means advancing their entitlement by a few months. I agree with that analysis and having said that I agree with that analysis of his I should also add that the Government have not yet made a decision as to how and to whom and for what purpose the Chilton Court flats will be allocated. There are several possibilities. One possibility is to just use it for people on the waiting list. Another possibility is to use it to decant people from pre-War housing in the Upper Town so that that can then be sold off to this scheme that the hon Member knows that the Government have of selling off old stock housing cheaply to low income home earners which they can then fix themselves. There are some blocks of Government houses in the Upper Town that are substantially vacant but may have one or two tenants left in it. One possibility, and I only lay it before the House as a possibility and not as something that has been decided, is that these flats at Chilton Court offer the possibility of re-housing those one or two tenants so that the whole pre-War house can then be sold off to buyers, to home owners. The main message is that a decision has not yet been taken.

HON C A BRUZON:

Of course I would remind Government that Chilton Court will only have, if my memory serves me right, 33 apartments. This seems to be a small number of available apartments to solve what I consider to be a very big housing problem. My point being that it is taking far too long.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If the hon Member just wants the last word I am very happy to concede it to him. There is not a question there, I will not suggest to answer. Look, in my opinion the size of the housing problem is not measured by the number of people on the housing waiting list, because even if there was only one person on the housing waiting list, to that person the problem of homelessness is the same as it is to the 300 others that he might be accompanied by. Therefore, when he says that the housing problem is too big, the Government's policy is to provide housing on acceptable terms to as many people as possible. We do not say 150 to 200 waiting list is acceptable, 300 is too big, as if there were something magical about the 200 figure. In other words, 199 can be made to suffer but 203 people are too many. That is not the Government's view. That is not how we measure the size of the housing problem in Gibraltar. We just take the view that there is a continuing demand for housing that needs to be satisfied and the Government cannot let up until the demand has been satisfied and that is our approach to it. As to whether he thinks we are taking too long, that is another issue. I have heard that argument before in respect of new building but I have not heard it used before in respect of Government rental stock, where we are the only Government really to have significantly contributed to the available stock through the building of new flats. Fine, I accept that it was a general comment in relation to housing generally and not specifically.

NO. 1883 OF 2004

THE HON C A BRUZON

HOUSING – LOW COST UNITS

Have Government proposed to any developer to date that as a condition of obtaining a development site they have to build low cost housing units, what does this cost amount to in the case of a 3RKB and 4RKB unit and what is the respective floor areas of such units?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government have begun to deploy this policy. It has featured, for example, in the Eastside Project negotiations. It is too early to give the other details which he seeks.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1883 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

I get the impression, and I will try after my supplementary comment to put it into a question so that I adhere to Standing Orders, I get the impression that the Government come up with a lot of schemes and make comments to the effect that they are very advanced, that they have reached a very advanced stage. What I would like to ask the Chief Minister, is it not a reasonable question to ask what is the likely cost of these units, if the impression given to me in the past is that these things are in a very, very advanced stage? Surely he ought to know that.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not recognise in the hon Member's statement, whether he converts it into a question or not, the reality is that the Government have not made many statements about the subject matter of this question which is getting developers as part of their grant, to build low cost housing. That is a statement in our manifesto and in the Budget speech that it would be done. It is being done but he has to understand that the leading process for these developments is a long time and that no projects have been announced since those statements were made. The one major housing project which is under negotiation includes this element, so I know he thinks that we announce lots of things and do not do enough. It is not a judgement let me say which I share but I know that he is of that view, but I do not think that this is an example of it. This is not an example of it. He cannot yet point to a development that has proceeded since we adopted this policy and which has not included a requirement to provide affordable housing. Now, entirely hypothetically, which we should not be incurring in Question Time as he knows from Standing Orders, but whilst we are permitted by the Chair to engage in hypotheses in Question Time, let me tell him that what the Government mean by this is not that the developer should have to subsidise the housing but rather that they have to sell it at cost. In other words, that they are not allowed to make a profit on it so that there is affordable low cost housing meaning that there is housing which does not have a land cost element to it, which does not have a developer's profit cost built into it and therefore can be sold at the cheapest possible price which can be no less than the cost of construction. That is what it means and that is how it will emerge when the first example of that emerges. So that is the answer to his hypothetical question of what does low cost mean. If the Government then want to make it more accessible to people than selling it to them at the cost of construction with no land element included, that is a matter for the Government. We can then offer the 50/50 scheme or some other such scheme to make it cheaper for the buyer but we cannot expect a developer to sell for less than the cost of construction. Enough that we require him to make an investment with no possibility of a return. That is the sense in which the private sector can be made to contribute to the affordable housing scheme policy.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it not a fact that although the Chief Minister has today used affordable and low cost as if they were interchangeable.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I have not used affordable, they used it. Well, I may have done this afternoon.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Now, that is what I mean, in the last five seconds. I was going to remind the Chief Minister, perhaps he will agree with me, that in fact in a previous question when we were asking about low cost and affordable, what he told us was that the affordable element was on the basis that different people would be able to afford different shares in a house. That is what affordable meant. When the Government said they would be providing affordable housing and I asked them what affordable means, they said that that depends on how much money one has got, different people can afford different things. That is what the question was and the record of Hansard that is already published will show them that was the answer at the time. So therefore, putting the concept of affordable now that it has been defined on one side, would it not be reasonable to expect that if the Government say to a developer 'I want you to build as part of the deal x number of low cost housing', the Government presumably would have a specification. It would not just be that they are sold at what it costs because.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Of course the Government have a specification.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Right. Therefore that specification has an order of cost attached to it. Otherwise if one just says to the developer 'build what you like and as long as you do not charge a profit', well selling at cost price and producing low cost houses are not the same thing. Would the Chief Minister not agree?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Absolutely I agree and that is exactly the situation so that is not the nature of the question. When the Government engage in negotiations with developers, for example in the context of the Eastside development, the requirement would be that they build and sell at cost housing to specifications dictated by the Government and to a category of purchasers specified by the Government. The hon Member is entirely right in the first part of his question too, that the Government have said that affordable is not, affordability is subjective, one can afford what one can afford. The Government cannot affect the cost of construction in Gibraltar. What we can do is find other means of allowing access to home ownership by people who cannot even afford the cost price. The way that we have done it is that we have modified their 50/50 scheme to have a formula of so many times household income and allowing the buyer to buy whatever share that provides even if it is less than 50 per cent. In other words, one will always be able to buy some share, it may not be 50 per cent if one can not afford it, but one will be able to access home ownership by purchasing a smaller percentage, in other words a percentage that one can afford. That is our way of closing the gap between affordability and cost. Obviously it will not close it for everybody but it will certainly allow access to many people who would not have access if it were a strict 50/50 albeit at cost. The previous examples of home ownership have been 50/50 on the basis of a developer's profit. That was the Westside experience for which they are responsible and which was a very significant contribution to the concept of home ownership. What has happened since to alter the ground rules which made that a viable scheme at that time, is that the costs of construction have risen much faster than earnings. In other words the gap of affordability is getting wider. So therefore we have to deal with it in a way that is relevant to closing that gap. The only way we have come up with is instead of being a 50/50 it is a variable percentage home ownership scheme. That is the way that we plan to do it. None of which is intended to disagree, I think the hon Member's analysis is entirely correct.

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

LEISURE CENTRE – KINGS BASTION

Can the Minister for Sport now confirm whether there are any new developments as to the long-standing promised conversion of Kings Bastion to a Leisure Centre, since a Leisure Centre was promised in their Manifesto of 1996?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I notice the glee and the frequency with which the hon Lady likes to remind us all that we have been in breach of this particular manifesto commitment since 1996, despite which the electorate nonetheless re-elect us. I shudder to think what their electoral fate will be when we go to the electorate with all our manifesto commitments honoured, if they re-elect us notwithstanding the fact that we do not provide something.

The position remains as explained to the hon Lady when she last asked this question in this House. Government fully expect to implement this manifesto commitment during this term of office.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1884 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Chief Minister say, because in answer to Question No. 46 of 2004 he said that if the negotiations with the MOD, which are referred to in the question, can be brought about to an end quickly, the answer to the question is yes. If on the other hand the negotiations have not come to a favourable conclusion quickly, then the answer is that we will peel that aspect of the project away from it and proceed around those negotiations. Can the Chief Minister say whether he will peel away the part which belongs to the MOD or not? He did say that if that occurred it would change the nature of the project.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The answer is that the hon Lady has the answer to her question already then. I said that one thing would happen if we successfully concluded the MOD negotiation and that another thing would happen if we did not successfully negotiate through the MOD negotiations. She knows that since we said that we have successfully concluded the MOD negotiation on the lands deal. Yes, she does know the answer because the lands deal includes the football ground which was an essential part of the question that she was alluding to last time. In other words, yes, she obviously does not remember the use that she is making of references to earlier questions. The possibilities were this. The Kings Bastion is already in Government hands. There are development proposals for the area of Navy 1, the one nearest the generating station. Had we not done a deal with the MOD which included transferring the Navy 1 to us, we would have had to carry on and do the leisure centre in isolation, which we could do because it is ours already, but if we did have the Navy 1 we could include it in the context of a wider negotiation in the context of the development of the surrounding in Navy 1 area. The MOD lands deal has now been done, and as she will have noticed it includes the transfer of the Navy 1. So one of the two options that she herself described has occurred. Therefore the answer is that there is no need to peel off.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Have the Government already come to a preferred option of whether the leisure centre will be run by the Government or run by the private sector?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well I cannot answer the question if she uses the word 'run', but if she means operated for the account of, then the answer is it will be operated for the account of the Government. In other words, we may not run it ourselves but it will not be a private venture. Either the Government run it or contract somebody to run it for the Government, but it will not be a private sector venture once it is up and running.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1885 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

There is a grant of £5,000 to an individual, can the Chief Minister say what that was for?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It says Mr Serruya there in brackets, I think that is a gentleman who wrote a book about the Royal Gibraltar Regiment's uniforms or Gibraltar Defence Force or something like that.

EUROPORT – PARKING FACILITIES

Can Government state how much they have paid the developers of Europlaza for the provision of car parking spaces to be used for the Hospital at the Europort Building?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question Nos. 1886 and 1888 of 2004.

NO. 1888 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

EUROPORT – PARKING FACILITIES

Can Government confirm how many car parking spaces will be available at the Europort Hospital, and who will have access to them?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The hon Lady has perfected the technique of asking and answering her own questions. In one question she says can the Government confirm how many car parking spaces they have bought from the developers of Europlaza which will be used for persons accessing the Europort Hospital? In the very next question she asks what category of persons will be allowed to use the car parks? The answer, as she rightly identifies herself, are persons accessing the Europort Hospital.

The number of parking spaces that Government have agreed to purchase is 85. They are intended for use as public car parking for visitors to the hospital. No decision has yet been taken about how that will work.

The value applicable to this transaction is £650,000.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1886 TO 1888 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

How is the value made up?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not sure I understand the question. It is the agreed value of the asset that the Government are purchasing. I think it is based on cost. It is the cost to the developer of producing that floor which they are just going to hand to the Government.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will that consideration be paid by the Government in cash to the developer?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, that is why the words 'the value applicable to this transaction' have been used rather than just the cost. There is a possibility that this consideration will be paid in the form of a discount from a premium due on another project. So it is a cost to the Government whether it is actually paid in cash or deducted from a sum that is otherwise payable to the Government, is just a book keeping issue. Suffice it to say that the cost to the Government, whether through payment or through failure to collect, is £650,000.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Has that premium already been agreed?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The quid pro quo with the developer, can the Chief Minister say what exactly is the other deal that they have come with the developer?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It hardly arises as a supplementary to this question. No I cannot. I can but I will not, it is not appropriate.

NO. 1889 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – NEW HOSPITAL

Can the Government state what plans they have, if any, for the buildings of St Bernard's Hospital once it is transferred to the Europort Building?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The matter is currently under consideration.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1889 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When the Chief Minister says 'under consideration' does that mean that they are talking to private developers?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No it does not. It means that the Government now have a unique opportunity to regenerate a large area of the Upper Town, which is the area of St Bernard's Hospital and the area of the adjoining vacant Police Barracks buildings. These sites together represent a large percentage by area of the Upper Town. It is therefore a once in a lifetime opportunity to use that as an opportunity to regenerate the Upper Town and repopulate it, and that the Government wish to consider how that is best done as an internal policy matter, not in negotiation with anybody else. There are many competing interests. I think I have revealed in this House before today that one of the uses that is a front runner for part of the St Bernard's Hospital building is as further homes for the elderly, not as in Bishop Canilla but as in residential home, but there are other areas. One of the things that need to be decided is which building should be demolished. Obviously the historic Colonial Hospital should not be demolished and I have never heard anybody suggest that the Mackintosh Wing should be demolished, but there is a whole lot of outline ramshackle buildings that have been attached over the years and therefore the question is which if any of those should be demolished and do what with the space. There is a unique opportunity now because of the two sites being side by side, to take a holistic approach to the regeneration of that whole part of the Upper Town. I think that needs to be carefully considered. Indeed not only carefully considered by the Government but the Government envisage a public consultation process with interested groups to seek their input into that decision.

HON F R PICARDO:

Assuming that the Chief Minister uses the word 'holistic' starting with a 'w' and not an 'h' he will recall that parts of the Police Barracks area are still tenanted. Is there any advance plan as to what will happen to the tenants who still remain there?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not consider myself to be a master of the English tongue, but I do not think there is any version of the word 'holistic' which starts with a 'w'. I think even when it means in whole it is still spelt with an 'h' at the front and not with a 'w'. Assuming that we mean that, I am not sure I have understood the hon Member's question. Holistic means taking into account the whole of the area available and what is the best use of the space, what mix of uses to put in. Housing – should housing be private or public, should it be developed by the Government or developed by the private sector? In addition to housing should there be other uses? I have already mentioned one, the possibility of the school St Bernard's School. There are those who advocate that.....

HON F R PICARDO:

My question was not what the project would entail. That is for a consultation process later. What is going to happen to the people who are still tenants of the Police Barracks area because there are still a lot of families in the block closest to the hospital?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is not at the moment in my definition of the site that is available for holistic. It may become available. The Government may try to seek to persuade those families to relocate, voluntarily if they want to. If they do not want to they could stay and then we would be talking about, I think the hon Member is describing the Inspectors Block as it is called. Yes, the one in which there are tenants. In other words the most northerly blocks, those are called the Inspectors Block. The ones that are vacant I think are called just the Police Barracks. Fine, either we have St Bernard's Hospital site and the Old Police Barracks plus or minus the two blocks which are presently occupied, depending on whether the tenants are interested or are not interested in being re-housed. That would be their choice, certainly the Government would not force them to be re-housed if they would prefer to stay there.

HON C A BRUZON:

I assume we are still on Question No. 1889. If we are I would like to ask a supplementary question which I hope I will be allowed to introduce at this point. As reference is made to the question of transferral of the whole, both the patients, the staff, the equipment from St Bernard's Hospital to the new hospital at Europort, how long do Government expect this operation to take? I think the question is important, because if we are being told that the hospital will be operational as from 1st February, and if it is going to take three months then they should be starting now.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not clear. Is that a supplementary question to how long it is going to take to migrate one medical facility to another, or is it a question about the fact that we should start now deciding what the future use is for St Bernard's Hospital site?

HON C A BRUZON:

It is simply a question that I am attempting to be allowed to ask as a supplementary, because reference is made to the question of once it is transferred to the Europort Building. As we have been allowed to talk about things that are not directly connected, I think my colleague has introduced an important issue concerning the Old Police Barracks, I am now trying to ask a question which I think is important. It somehow may be indirectly connected with Question No. 1889. That is, what was said in the first part of the Chief Minister's comment, I want to know how long will the move take from St Bernard's to the new hospital?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is a health service question rather than a property management question, all right I understand now. Well, it is certainly a very wide supplementary but still. The position is that the migration process is gradual, so he can ask me how long it will take to complete, because one of the issues that arises when migrating a hospital from one site to another is that one cannot discontinue the provision of facilities. One cannot say no one can have an X-ray because for the next three days we are dismantling the X-ray from St Bernard's and carrying it down to the new hospital. That is why migration of hospital facilities from one site to another is such a complex thing. One can never be without any of the facilities so one ends up for a period of time with having facilities in two places not in one. That said, I hope he has understood that it is a gradual phased thing this migration transfer, I think the actual migration process takes I think somewhere between four and six weeks.

HON C A BRUZON:

When the Hon Mr Britto said, I think, correct me if I am wrong, that the hospital would be fully operational in February, what does that mean then? That the two hospitals will be working together but that the new hospital will not be fully operational.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It means that the new hospital will be fully operational by 1st February. That is the current target date, well I would call it more than a target date, that is the current expectation.

HON F R PICARDO:

So the migration is finished then in February or would the migration have started then?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

We can express the same view in fifteen different ways until the hon Members are satisfied that we are not being clever with language. The new hospital will not be fully operational if all that had happened by 1st February was that the migration process had just started. It might be partly operational but it would not be fully operational.

HON F R PICARDO:

No, because the migration process should not really start until the new hospital is fully operational , I imagine?

MR SPEAKER:

I think we have gone a far distance from what the question started off with, next question.

NO. 1890 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – NEW HOSPITAL

Can the Government state how much they can expect the hospital within the Europort Building to cost them once they have concluded the financial deal with the Royal Bank of Scotland (Gibraltar) Ltd?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1891 of 2004.

NO. 1891 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

GHA – NEW HOSPITAL

Has any additional work been carried out during the current year on the Europort Building conversion for the hospital, and if so, what is the additional cost?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

It is not yet possible to provide the information requested since the final cost of construction has not yet been certified under the Construction Contract. I think there have been additional works however. That is the sort of non financial part which I can answer. For example, I think it has been this calendar year, not this financial year but interpreting his question as meaning calendar year I am aware, for example, that the location of the mortuary (I think we have discussed this in the House before) has moved from the basement to the ground floor. I know that there was a cost attached to that but I cannot tell him what that cost was yet.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1890 AND 1891 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The question really is in the context of the cost figure that was given at the time of the Estimates. So I would not know whether that element was already reflected in that cost figure.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

What I am really trying to find out is if that figure has changed, if the figure that was given at the Estimates has changed?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not think that it will have changed by virtue of additional works but it may not be cast in stone because remember that the administration of a building contract is in the hands of the architect who has to certify. He goes certifying on a monthly basis during the course of the construction but then he has to do a final certification and until he does that one does not know what the cost of the construction contract is. Even in respect of works that had already been certified and covered under monthly certificates before. The Government have a ball park figure, which I would prefer not to publicised at this stage, of what we think the current level is but it would not be any figure on which he could rely. He could at best only regard it as our current ball park estimation.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that the Chief Minister is reluctant to give that figure, does that mean that it is not the figure that he quoted before which was something like £54 million? When I asked about the rent shown in the Estimates the Chief Minister will recall that I was told that this was in relation to a cost of the project of £54 million.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is confusion here in the hon Member's mind. His question relates to the costs of conversion of the hospital. The other figure, the figure that he has mentioned which I do not from memory recognise but if that is the figure that I mentioned, that must have included things that are not cost of conversion. For example, the cost of acquisition of the building originally might take the figure up to that order, but without now having in front of me a note of how that figure that I mentioned is constituted, I hate to commit myself to whether that particular figure has risen or fallen. Let me put it this way, I have not been advised since the Budget Session that the nature of the financial exposure to this project has altered substantially.

NO. 1892 OF 2004

THE HON S E LINARES

TRANS-BORDER INSTITUTE

Can Government state what is the current state of affairs in relation to the Trans-border Institute after the sacking of Mr Oda and whether Government had any say in the matter?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The status of the Trans-border Institute remains as it has always been. Mr Oda is the representative of the Spanish side. We are no more entitled to a say in their choice of their representative than they are in the choice of ours – who is Mr Clive Finlayson.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1892 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

The Government give up £20,000 to Knightsfield Holdings for the Trans-border Institute and the sacking of Mr Oda was one which he was an employee, because I do not reckon that there is another employee other than Mr Oda who is organising every function to do with the Trans-border Institute. Knightsfield Holdings get £20,000 give it to the Trans-border Institute and surely either Mr Finlayson who is the one in charge of Knightsfield Holding or Government actually who give in £20,000 have a say as to not a representative but an employee, because he was employed by the Trans-border Institute.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

First of all let me say that I am delighted that the hon Member has finally subscribed to the principle of cross-border Institute and is now interested in its affairs. Secondly, the Government's voted funds do not go towards his salary. It goes towards the organisation of events. Mr Oda is not the Government's employee, he is the Spanish designated representative. We have Mr Clive Finlayson of Knightsfield Holdings. If, in the unlikely event that the Government of Gibraltar should want to sack Mr Finlayson, if indeed that is what has happened to Mr Oda, but in the unlikely event that the Government should wish to sack Mr Finlayson I would not expect the hon Member to be arguing that the Mayor of Tarifa should have a say in that. Now, I have a personal view about what has happened to Mr Oda and if I am correctly discerning from his question what the hon Member's view on the matter is, and I think we probably coincide as to the view, but it is not an issue in which the Government of Gibraltar have been consulted. Were it a matter in which we felt that we had a say as equal partners, which is what we are in the Trans-border Institute, we would not have allowed it to happen.

HON S E LINARES:

As a matter of record, is the fact that I ask about the Trans-border Institute does not mean that I am in favour or against the Trans-border Institute. I have not indicated either way. It is just that it is £20,000 that comes from the Estimates of Expenditure which I am interested and which I think the whole of the Opposition is interested to know exactly.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is not for his salary.

HON S E LINARES:

No but it is to do with the Government putting into the Trans-border Institute, whether it is for salaries or for functions, for conferences, for whatever, the Government do give in £20,000 to this Institute and this is my interest. Where does the money go and how is it spent? That is why I am asking the question.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member is fully entitled to question the Government about how public funds are spent, but I do not accept that for the purposes of this issue it makes no difference whether Gibraltar public funds go towards paying Mr Oda's salary or not. If Gibraltar public funds went to entertain Mr Oda's salary, then I think the Gibraltar Government would be entitled to a say about how anybody employed with those funds is treated as a matter of decency and propriety, but if the Gibraltar public funds are not used for salaries but used to sponsor Trans-border Institute events in Gibraltar, and Mr Oda is not an employee of the Government of Gibraltar or the Gibraltar Government's designated person in the Trans-border Institute, in other words, Mr Oda is the Mancomunidad's equivalent of our Mr Finlayson in the Institute. Therefore in those circumstances we do not think it raises an issue for it. Let me say that as I recognised when I spoke in the Sociedad Marisol or whatever they are called, some dinner that I went to a few months ago in the Casino Calpe where I noticed that Mr Oda was present, I took the opportunity to comment on this issue and to thank him for his hard work and to recognise the huge role that he has played in the creation of the Trans-border Institute and its works. So we are certainly no supporters of any maltreatment of Mr Oda, which is not to say that we are in a position to prevent it. The answer to the hon Member's question in any event is that we were not consulted. Either because we were not entitled or out of courtesy or for any other reason, we were not consulted. Indeed, we read about it in the newspapers like him.

COMPANIES REGISTER

Of the companies wound up by the Court further to the petitions advertised on Tuesday 6th July 2004, how many were trading at the time that the petitions were filed and of those, how many employees did each of them have registered at the ETB at the time?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

According to the records at the Employment Service, two were still active (trading) at the time, although none had any employees. The director of one of these companies was still under contract.

TERCENTENARY EVENTS

Can Government say whether there are any more Tercentenary events planned for outside Gibraltar and if so what are they?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

There are no more Tercentenary events as such, but the Gibraltar Day this year, which is an annual event, will have a Tercentenary theme to it, however there would have been a Gibraltar Day whether it would have been the Tercentenary or not, that is why I say it is not really a Tercentenary event. This Tercentenary year Gibraltar will participate for the first time in The Lord Mayors Show in the City of London and also the Philatelic Exhibition at the invitation of the Royal Philatelic Society on 21st October 2004. I do not know whether that makes them Tercentenary events but they are two things that might not be happening were it not for the Tercentenary.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1896 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Chief Minister tell the House which of those events, if we can classify them as Tercentenary events, is the one that the Foreign Secretary may attend?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, as far as I am aware he has not offered to sit on the Gibraltar float in the Lord Mayors Show and unless without my knowledge he has done so, I am aware that he has been invited and the event which I think in his mind is the one that he would accept attending is the Gibraltar Day, which is the Gibraltar Tercentenary Day in London this year. So it is a Tercentenary event but I just did not want the hon Members to come back to me saying 'ah, well that is not a Tercentenary event because it happens every year'. It would happen every year but not in this Tercentenary format. So for example, the changes are this year that there is no dinner but a larger reception.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Will there be separate receptions for the Finance Centre and for the Tourism industry as well?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No.

TERCENTENARY EVENTS

How many persons attended the Tercentenary Gibraltar-American Council event at the Lotos Club, New York, in June this year and who were they?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The total cost was $4,034.92. Eighty-two persons attended. Mrs Franklin D Roosevelt Jnr, chairperson of the Gibraltar-American Council, presided. Members of the Council attended as did several ambassadors, one former member of Congress. The former United States Commissioner of Internal Revenues, the President of the American Foreign Policy council, historian Arthur Schlesinger Jnr., and editor of the Wall Street Journal and Mrs Anne Eisenhower-Flotti, granddaughter of President Eisenhower, amongst those eighty-two. Also attending were two United Nations ambassadors and three high-ranking officials of the United Nations Secretariat, and of course yours truly the Chief Minister.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1897 AND 1898 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can I thank the Chief Minister because that is a comprehensive list. I do not think he has given me the eighty-two people in that summary but can he say who the ambassadors were, what country they were from?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

One of them was the Chairman of the Committee of 24. The other I cannot remember but certainly the Chairman of the Committee of 24 was one of them, who is from I cannot remember either. I think it was St Lucia but I may be wrong.

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question Nos. 1899 to 1902

The Government do not think it appropriate to give all this information. It is simply too voluminous. The hon Member is, in effect, asking Government to publish a Nominal Ledger of all the transactions processed during a financial year which the Government are not willing to do. However, if he wants a subtotal in respect of any particular item of expenditure I will endeavour to obtain that information for him.

Answer to Question Nos. 1903 to 1906

This is more possible in respect of Question Nos. 1903 to 1906 in respect of which I now give him a schedule setting out the breakdowns in respect of those questions which do not amount to a Nominal Ledger type request. Several pages there of breakdown of those Heads which are in effect single item Heads, like legal fees and things like that, he has got a list there of the cases, but where he asks for a breakdown of a Sub-head, which includes many different things, it is in effect a Nominal Ledger and the only way one could in effect do it is to give him copies of the Government's books in that respect.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1899 TO 1906 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 1902 for example, which is £27,000 and relates to official travel by the Ship Registry, how is that particular entry different to official travel by Ministers or by the Chief Minister or similar questions which have been asked and answered?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I suspect only because the way that information is kept. I appreciate it relates to the same subject matter – travel, but there is obviously not a separate Sub-head. I do not know, it must be mixed up with other things. The information has not been provided to me even in supplementary information form. What question number was that specific one?

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Question No. 1902. The way I would imagine this happened is when figures are put in the Estimates there is a breakdown of that figure somewhere.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I shall ask, I will find out whether that particular item is one that might have been provided and it has just been lumped in with the ones that could not be provided.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 1903, there is an item of expenditure there for £5,200.50p in respect of the revision of General Orders. Can the Chief Minister tell the House who is carrying out that revision and who the sum was paid to?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am speaking from background information because this is a project that the Chief Secretary is engaged in and not me, but I think it is being done on a consultancy basis by a retired Senior Civil Servant. I do not mind telling him privately who it is, I do not think it is appropriate to name him across the floor of the House.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of this revision of General Orders is it that there is a Government policy as to what they want to see changed in General Orders and that is why it is being revised?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Not Government at a political level certainly. This is an exercise that the Chief Secretary is running with, I am not myself personally aware, policy decisions will have to be obtained but we certainly do not have any Ministerial input into that. I do not know what the proposed changes are and indeed whether the Government will agree with them or not. In any event I suppose they will have to be negotiated or discussed with the Trade Unions involved. So this is something that is, I suppose, at an internal proposal stage.

HEAD 8-A, SUBHEADS 4(d), 4(e) AND 8(e)

Can Government provide a breakdown of the following forecast outturn figures for the financial year 2003/2004:

- (a) £17,000 Head 8 – A 4(d) Official entertainment;
- (b) £15,000 Head 8 – A 4(e) Visiting delegations and Government receptions;
- (c) £8,000 Head 8 – A 8(e) Publications?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I apologise for dealing with these questions separately because frankly they could have been tagged on to the last batch because the answer given is the same one. I cannot tell him why they have been separately bundled. Again these are items which require simply too minute and voluminous detail which the Government could only really give by publishing its Nominal Ledgers of all items charged to the general subheads. That would not be appropriate, but I repeat the offer that if the hon Member wants to know how much money has been spent on any particular item, then I will endeavour to have that information obtained for him. For example, I think he understands what I am offering, if there is one item of buildings or works or one item of furniture in the sense how much has been spent on No. 6, that pulling information out can be done.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1907 TO 1909 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to certainly the others, certainly in relation to Question No. 1908, the breakdown of the forecast outturn in relation for National Day. It is a question I have asked three times in successive years and they were answered once by the hon Lady and the other times I am not sure by who, but that breakdown has certainly been provided to the Opposition several times in the past.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, that particular item has been provided in very general form, not as a breakdown of a forecast outturn. There are dozens and dozens, not to say hundreds of small items go up to make that and it may be that in the past somebody has just lumped these together and converted it into five or six heads and said so much on catering, so much on this and so much on that. The hon Member should understand, as I am sure he does, that the Civil Service has five days to get answers together for these questions and that in effect what all these questions call for is for a compilation of a Government accounting book keeping process on dates chosen by the hon Members in the formulation of their questions. The Government system is geared up to provide information in the way that we do it in the House at Budget time and in the Accounts. To provide breakdowns requires either giving the Nominal Ledgers over to the hon Members or alternatively, for somebody to sit down and analyse those Nominal Ledgers, condense the information into in effect new generic subheads and on this occasion he has asked this in respect of more than a dozen heads and subheads. I think in the past when the question has been answered it has been the only item that he has asked for a breakdown of, National Day. If he is particularly interested in the National Day one, I will try and get that pulled out for him and then see if there is some form of condensed version that can be provided to him. The only other thing that the Government could do is print out the computer Nominal Ledgers and just pass them over, but that is literally giving him copies of the Government's accounting books. That is what the Government's accounting books are.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the course of that answer the Chief Minister said that we were asking for this information on a particular day, as if the Government were being asked what is the expenditure as at September this year or anything else. This is the forecast outturn presented with the Estimates and therefore if the Government have spent £285,000 on computers in the last financial year, what is the difficulty in saying what was bought for that £285,000?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I can repeat everything that I have just said if he would like me to, but I know that he has understood it. The Government can press a button and produce this information but what emerges from the printer is the Nominal Ledger for this item which could run into dozens and dozens of pages. That is tantamount, in the days of non-computerisation, to saying to the hon Members 'here are the books of account of the Government'. Not the Government's accounts audited by the Principal Auditor, not the Estimates, not the Forecast Outturn broken down as the law requires into the subheads that it is broken down, but in effect here are the Government's ledgers and we do not think it is appropriate to do that. I think no Government in the world is required to publish its books. What Governments are required to publish is the audited accounts of the Government of Gibraltar and the Estimates in the form required by law. The hon Members through their questions in effect require the publication of the Government's books of account and we just do not think it is appropriate or reasonable.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well, I do not know about that but in time we will find that it is not unusual that when we were debating the Estimates for any one of those items where there are rows of Civil Servants behind them with masses of papers, to be given a breakdown of what it was that the House was voting the money for. In fact, what we had is a question about the result of last year where there are a number of items that exceeded the original estimates. If one is spending £1.25 million on Government buildings it should not be too difficult to identify. Not down to the last screw and say two pence for putting a screw in this door, three pennies for putting a washer on a tap.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is how the information exists.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, but presumably in asking for a breakdown, if it is the word 'breakdown' that is causing a problem then perhaps we will find a different word to use instead of breakdown there. I would have thought that to go from one extreme of having to identify every nut and washer that has been used out of the £1.25 million to be able to say 'well look, £500,000 was spent on painting Varyl Begg blocks'. One can say that without having to say of which so much was for paint, so much was for scaffolding, so much was for labour.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Then they should ask the questions in a different form.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Will the Chief Minister not consider looking back at previous questions and he will find that breakdowns have not caused the same sort of breakdown of the Civil Service on previous occasions.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

These answers are not new and the Hon Dr Garcia will recognise that I have given him these answers before and that there are some Heads for which I have not given him a breakdown and there are some Heads for which I have given him a breakdown, exactly as I have done today. This is not the first time that the hon Members hear the answer that this is too voluminous and in effect requires the publication of the Government's Nominal Ledgers, and that I offer to give subtotals. This is a standard response that he has had over several Question Times now, going back I do not know how long but several times ago. That aspect of it is not new. Now, I accept, which is why we make the offer that I make in the second half of my question, that there are some Heads that lend themselves more than others to the condensation of the information. For example, it may be that the Government buildings is one of them. If all the hon Member wants to know is on which buildings did the Government spend and how much was it on each building, well that question can be answered. It requires a little bit of administrative effort but it is certainly capable of being answered, I would have thought within five days. If he asks for a breakdown without specifying what breakdown he wants, then we have to assume that he wants whatever breakdown the Government have. Whatever breakdown the Government have is the Nominal Ledger. In other words, in his terminology every last screw and every last nail.

Given the answer to Question Nos. 446 of 2004 and 1254 of 2004, what progress has been made by the Government in relation to the possibility of establishing a Financial Services Ombudsman?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government are not currently engaged in this possible policy initiative. The question of progress does not therefore currently arise.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1913 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

The Chief Minister will no doubt be aware, because I made a cross reference to the earlier questions, that in this question he did tell me in January that this was a matter which was being considered. Am I to take his answer now as a determination of the issue in that it is no longer being considered or simply that this is not an issue that is being driven as a priority?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know if there is anybody beavering away at a proposal. I am not and no proposals have been put up to me. If there is somebody working on this somewhere on the lower echelons of Government I cannot tell him, but it is not something that the Government at a more senior or Ministerial level is actively engaged in. I know that lots of people would like to see it and I also know that lots of people do not want to see it if they have got to pay for it. I suspect it is something that will happen at some stage but it would be wrong of me to give him the impression that the show is on the road so to speak because that is not the situation at the moment. It might change.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1915 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I ask the Chief Minister to just repeat in relation to the first read-out, the total. I have a note that he said £5,000 but I did not get the rest of it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I am not prepared to read it out again but I am happy to give him a copy of the answer so that he can do his arithmetic in his own time.

HON F R PICARDO:

Even better. I see that this question has solicited a response which provides information as to travel which was not provided in answer to Question No. 1859 which was an all-encompassing question which did not discriminate between his travel in respect of financial services or otherwise. Am I correct to say that in order to have the correct answer to Question No. 1859 I am to read both of these schedules together and those will show me all the travel in the past twelve months, including in relation to financial services from April to September 2004?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, what it shows is that the hon Member has got to understand the nature of the questions that he asks. Question No. 1859 asked for the Chief Minister's travel to the United Kingdom, which this question does not.

HON F R PICARDO:

I do appreciate it even though I have asked that question, because as the Chief Minister himself has indicated the first item of expenditure in this Head relates to a trip to the United Kingdom, which is not provided for in the answer provided to Question No. 1859. So in those circumstances am I right to assume that I need to consider that particular trip as part of what should have been the answer to Question No. 1859 if this House is not to be misled?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, he does not have to assume that.

HON F R PICARDO:

In that case, how should I interpret the reference in this answer to a trip obviously to the United Kingdom as the Chief Minister himself has indicated, which is not referred to in the schedule that I was given in answer to Question No. 1859?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well I do not know without consulting my diary whether in fact my trip on 14th June was to the United Kingdom or was to Brussels. I am thrown by the reference to Beating of the Retreat in the explanations, but I certainly recall going to Brussels in June because that is when we did the deal with the DG competition. So it may be that all those four trips were to Brussels and not any of them to London.

HON F R PICARDO:

In that case, seeing that this question relates to financial services, has the Chief Minister only travelled to Brussels in relation to financial services in the past months since April?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

According to those of my officials who put this information together, apparently so.

ORAL

NO. 1926 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

QUALIFYING COMPANIES

Can the Government confirm whether the companies which were 'Qualifying Companies' are to be treated for the purposes of taxation as 'Exempt Companies' or whether they are to be required to 'submit to the normal corporation tax regime'?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1927 of 2004.

NO. 1927 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

QUALIFYING COMPANIES

How many qualifying companies were sent the memorandum from the Finance Centre Director asking whether they were prepared to 'submit to the normal corporation tax regime' and of these:

- (a) how many replied;
- (b) of those who replied (i) how many replied that they were prepared to pay the 20 per cent to 35 per cent tax; and (ii) how many replied that they were not; and
- (c) did the replies indicate that all companies in a particular industry had the same approach to the request to pay tax at the rate of 20 per cent to 35 per cent?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government are currently engaged in relation to this matter with holders of Qualifying Status Certificates. It would not be appropriate to comment further at this stage. No one has yet been required to 'submit to the normal corporate tax regime'.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1926 AND 1927 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I ask the Chief Minister what has changed since he announced in this House that it was likely that the Exempt regime would be applied to all Qualifying Companies?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have no recollection of having ever announced that. I remember saying that the letter to which he refers and which was leaked by a now identified recipient, had not been sent to all the Qualifying Certificate holders but to those who by virtue of the low amount of tax that they had been paying over the years might be content to go to a normal corporate status. The letter from which the hon Member quotes and which he cites, asked them the recipients, who were not all the Qualifying Certificates, this letter did not go to the ones who clearly would have difficulty by the size of the company, the size of the employment and the amount of their profits, the ones who did receive it who were the ones who from the amount of tax they have been paying over the years seemed to be insubstantial and therefore might not mind going to the normal tax regime, they were asked to reply stating whether or not that would cause them difficulty or not. That was the question that they were asked.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is this the group that the Chief Minister is in discussion with, that he does not want to give information because he is talking to some group or companies?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, Qualifying Status Companies are being dealt with almost on an individual basis, because they all have different circumstances, different needs, different tax structures, different ownership structures subject to different international tax considerations, and therefore the Government are doing it almost, certainly in the case of the larger ones, certainly on a case by case basis. In respect of the ones that the Government had not intended to deal with in one to one meetings, this letter was sent. The letter invited two replies. One, yes I have no difficulty with going on a normal tax basis, here is my Qualifying Certificate; or yes, it does cause me problems and I would like to meet you – which is what the letter asked for. It said ‘please let us know if it causes you any difficulty so that we can discuss this with you’. That is the position. Now of the people that received the letter there have been some replies and the replies have been of all types. Now they are being worked through one at a time and dealt with accordingly.

HON J J BOSSANO:

What is the difficulty, for example, in answering the bit that says how many replied? How is that going to affect the negotiation?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

How many replied, no, when I was last told five or six had replied. It was not all companies, he also asked how many people got that letter and he has not complained that he has not had that answer. I think from memory the letter went to about 30, but that is from memory. It is of that order but it may be slightly more or slightly less, but it did not go to any company with substantial economic activity or track record of employment, or high tax bill and therefore high profitability.

NO. 1928 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

QUALIFYING COMPANIES

Can Government now state how many qualifying companies were trading in the tax year 1998/1999, 1999/2000, 2000/2001, 2001/2002 and 2002/2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1929 of 2004.

ORAL

NO. 1929 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

QUALIFYING COMPANIES

Can Government state whether there has been any reduction in the number of (a) trading; and (b) active qualifying companies since the answer to Question No. 1300 of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information requested is in the attached schedule. I should say to him that for the purposes of the records of the Finance Centre Director, Qualifying Companies remain registered as active until such time as the company or its representative notifies him to the contrary. For the purposes of the Income Tax Office companies remain classified as trading until such time as the Commissioner is satisfied that the company no longer trades. The schedule that he has got is drawn up on the basis of the Commissioner of Income Tax definition of trading. In other words, until such time as the Commissioner is satisfied that the company no longer trades.

ANSWER TO QUESTION 1929

ANSWER TO QUESTION 1928

| TAX YEAR | No. of Qualifying Companies trading |
|-----------------|--------------------------------------------|
| 1998/1999       | 65                                         |
| 1999/2000       | 74                                         |

ANSWER TO QUESTION 1929

|                                    | Active | Trading |
|------------------------------------|--------|---------|
| April 2004 (Question 1300 of 2004) | 122    | 84      |
| October 2004                       | 102    | 65      |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1928 AND 1929 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably, since the consultation process is almost on a one to one, it ought to be able to establish who is active and who is trading on the basis of having to meet up with them.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, all that will come out in the wash of this process which is very time-consuming because there is not a one size fits all. Bear in mind that if the Government just give everybody tax exempt status there is a pretty substantial loss of revenue. On the other hand there are some companies who cannot live with exempt status and that is the need for a little bit of tailor making.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In fact, substantial revenue in the light of the answers we have been getting on the breakdowns, in fact the revenue does not seem to be more than a couple of million pounds. They are insubstantial in the context of £200 million, we are talking about one per cent of Government revenue, yes?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is not insubstantial. Next time they ask me how much the cocktail party for Mr Morris retiring costs at £900, I will remind him that if £2 million is not substantial then he should not be questioning me about things that only cost £900. I think £2 million is substantial and worth saving if we can. I am not saying that it would be fatal to Government finance if we lost them.

ORAL

NO. 1930 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

EXEMPT COMPANIES

Can Government now state what was the total number of persons employed by Exempt Companies in October 1998, 1999, 2000,2001, 2002 and 2003 giving a breakdown by industry and nationality?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information required by the hon Member is set out in the attached schedule. Sorry, it has not been provided to him, it has been provided to him only as at September 2004 and I have a note here to the effect that it has not been possible in the time available to provide the information requested as at October in each of the years that he has asked, by which I suppose they mean that they are working at it and will produce it in due course.

Answer to Question 1930

According to the Employment and Training Board the total of persons employed by Exempt Companies as at September 2004 was 680.

A breakdown by industry is as follows:

|                    |     |
|--------------------|-----|
| Financial Services | 293 |
| Gaming             | 376 |
| Bunkering          | 6   |
| Other              | 5   |
|                    | ——— |
| TOTAL:             | 680 |

A breakdown by nationality is as follows:

|               |     |
|---------------|-----|
| Gibraltarian  | 218 |
| Other British | 277 |
| Irish         | 15  |
| Spanish       | 42  |
| Swiss         | 11  |
| Portuguese    | 6   |
| Danish        | 2   |
| Australian    | 3   |
| German        | 13  |
| French        | 11  |

Answer to Question 1930

|               |     |
|---------------|-----|
| Italian       | 7   |
| Malaysian     | 2   |
| USA           | 5   |
| Norwegian     | 1   |
| Greek         | 1   |
| Belgian       | 2   |
| Moroccan      | 2   |
| Swedish       | 1   |
| South African | 1   |
| Israeli       | 17  |
| Dutch         | 7   |
| Antiguan      | 11  |
| Austrian      | 4   |
| Brazilian     | 2   |
| Chinese       | 1   |
| Finnish       | 1   |

| Russian       | 1   |
| Czech         | 1   |
|               | —   |
| TOTAL:        | 680 |

It has not been possible within the allocated time frame to provide the above information as at October 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1930 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I hope that the Chief Minister's interpretation that that is what it means is what it means, because that is the answer that I got in March in answer to Question No. 1320 and then it was that they had obviously not had time in the five days' notice of the question to produce the answer. I interpret it to mean that they were working on it, as he is doing now, and therefore I have assumed that they have now been working on it for six months and five days.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Obviously not.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Government confirm that when they said the last time 'it is not possible within the allocated time frame' and I took that to mean that it would eventually materialise and that has not happened, can I put a different interpretation to the same phrase this time or am I likely to see it happening this time?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know. The Government's position is, as he well knows by the reams of information provided to him, that if it can reasonably be provided without a disproportionate administrative effort, which is what the conventions of this House provide, then it should and will be provided. I had interpreted the answer in the same way as him but I hesitate to give him a formal assurance that it will be provided until I can find out, which I will do, how much effort is required to actually put it together. I will have somebody communicate that to him. If it requires a huge, huge trawl through we may rely on the rule that then entitles us not to produce the information. If, on the other hand, it is just a question of a couple of hours work by somebody, then I see no reason why it should not be done and provided. So, although my interpretation is the same as his, since he is now asking me for a formal commitment in effect a formal commitment that it will be produced, I would rather hold that until somebody can tell me what actually is involved in putting this together. I do not know where these records are held.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I would assume that this is the Employment and Training Board from the format in which it is, because in answer to Question No. 1320 in the last meeting of the House, the information was provided by the ETB and this says according to the Employment and Training Board, that is the answer that I have been given. So I have naturally assumed that these are the records in the computer of contracts of employment still live.

Therefore, presumably the computer is capable of dishing out, particularly the sophisticated computer which is Profile 2001.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Let me say, looking at I would expect the numbers to be showing in growth because as at September 2004, 376 of them were in the gaming industry. So I suspect that he will find if these numbers are provided to him, that there has been movement. It is not just a question of my saying to him 'well there has not been much change'. I think there will have been change but I will let him know in the next day or two whether he can expect to receive this information, and if so, how long we think it will take to give it to him.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the context of the numbers that the Chief Minister has mentioned, I am assuming of course that since the question is about exempt companies for example in the gaming industry not everybody is an exempt company presumably. So in fact this figure is not the whole of the gaming industry.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Only the exempt gaming industry.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Only the exempt gaming industry that is why I have not been surprised by this figure.

THE HON F R PICARDO

FINANCIAL SERVICES COMMISSION

Are Government aware of any further Memoranda of Understanding to be entered into by the Financial Services Commission with the financial services regulatory authorities of any other states or territories?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question Nos. 1931, 1932, 1934 and 1935 of 2004.

ORAL

NO. 1934 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

FINANCIAL SERVICES COMMISSION

How do Government believe that the Memorandum of Understanding entered into between the Financial Services Commission and the UK's Financial Services Authority will assist the investors in TEP plans given that many of those who have such plans and who have approached the FSA in relation to the UK parties involved in such plans have, to date, been told that the FSA cannot assist them in any way and have actually been referred to the Gibraltar Ombudsman?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question Nos. 1931to 1933 and 1935 of 2004.

ORAL

NO. 1935 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

FINANCIAL SERVICES COMMISSION

Can Government say under the Memorandum of Understanding signed by the FSC in August, what additional information will have to be provided by the FSC to the UK Financial Services Authority?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Financial Services Commission is wholly independent of the Government. The Government are not accountable for its actions or for it. However, I can tell the hon Member that the FSC does not seek Government's approval either as to the entering of MOUs with overseas regulators or their contents. The Government are considering whether this is an appropriate state of affairs.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1931 TO 1935 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Are the Government telling the House that they are not aware of what the terms of the Memoranda of Understanding with Malta and the FSA are?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am telling the hon Member now that I am not aware of the contents, but that even if I were, I would not be willing to account to the hon Member in this House for it because it is not Government business. The hon Member would have to ask the Financial Services Commission directly. I am not willing to explain, justify, inform about or still less defend the actions of a body that is entirely outside of my control and influence.

The last part of my answer, because the Government accept that the Regulator is independent of the Government in regulation but when it comes to entering into agreement with authorities in a foreign country, we think that there are political aspects there about which I think the Government should be consulted regardless of the independence of the authority. So that is why I say we are considering the appropriateness of this state of affairs.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I take it from that answer also that the Government are not aware of any other Memoranda of Understanding that may be pending signature on completion by the FSC, or whether any other Memoranda of Understanding which may not have been publicly announced actually exists and signed by the FSC?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Correct, and I say that both as Chief Minister and as Minister with responsibility for the Finance Centre.

PROTECTED CELL COMPANIES

Can Government state how many Protected Cell Companies are registered in Gibraltar in the months of April to September 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government are not aware of any applications to form a Protected Cell Company which remain pending consideration or which have been rejected between the months of April to September 2004.

In the months of April to September 2004, one Protected Cell Company appears as registered. No new Protected Cell Companies have been registered in this period.

TAX EXEMPT COMPANIES

Can Government state how many tax exempt company certificates were issued in the months of April to September 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information the hon Member has requested is on the attached schedule.

Answer to Question 1939 of 2004

Answer to Question 1938

In the months of April to September the following number of companies terminated their certificate.

|           |     |
|-----------|-----|
| April     | 135 |
| May       | 99  |
| June      | 33  |
| July      | 11  |
| August    | 33  |
| September | 36  |

“Terminated their tax exemption” is interpreted by the Finance Centre as companies which have returned their certificate and no longer require their tax exempt status.

The higher numbers in April and May reflect a seasonal trend following the end of the financial year.

Answer to Question 1939

During the months of April to September 2004 the following exempt company certificates were issued:-

|           |     |
|-----------|-----|
| April     | 60  |
| May       | 86  |
| June      | 123 |
| July      | 71  |
| August    | 137 |
| September | 143 |

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question Nos. 1940, 1941 and 1943 of 2004.

ORAL

NO. 1943 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

COMPANIES REGISTER

Can Government state how many companies have been redomiciled out of Gibraltar in each month from January 2004 to the end of September 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

With the caveat that I made the last time he asked Question No. 1941, and although he accepted at the time, he has not corrected the terminology of the question. When he asks 'can the Government list the companies formed in Gibraltar in the months of April to September?', I presume that he is asking for the number of companies and not the list of companies by name. On that basis the information that he has requested is set out in the attached schedule.

Answer to Question 1940

The following Companies were removed from the Companies Register in the months of April to September 2004:

|           |     |
|-----------|-----|
| April     | 197 |
| May       | 186 |
| June      | 337 |
| July      | 310 |
| August    | 203 |
| September | 321 |

Answer to Question 1941

The following Companies were formed in the months of April to September 2004:

|           |     |
|-----------|-----|
| April     | 241 |
| May       | 175 |
| June      | 686 |
| July      | 272 |
| August    | 314 |
| September | 221 |

CONT. ANSWER TO QUESTION 1943

Answer to Question 1942

The Registrar has issued notices in the Gazette that the following numbers of companies have applied to him for consent to redomicile to another State.
The Registrar gives consent 30 days after the notice is issued, and consent is given almost without exception.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1940 TO 1943 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

There seems to be, in relation to Question No. 1941, an inordinately high number of companies formed in June. Are the Government aware of any reason for this?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, yes, the Government are aware that in June an inordinately high number of companies were formed.

HON F R PICARDO:

My supplementary actually said are the Government aware of any reason for this? That is not the question that has been answered.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, the Government are aware of why that figure is inordinately high and do not consider it appropriate to comment about it.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can the Chief Minister inform the House of the reason why he does not consider it proper to comment further?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I could not do that without telling the reasons.

HON J J BOSSANO:

It is not that June is a high month for company registrations?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No.

BANKING LICENCES

Can Government state whether any new applications for banking licences have been received in the months of April to September 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Most of the information requested by the hon Member is given to him in the schedules printed. I see that the person who has put this material together has correctly thought that it is inappropriate to give the information broken down by name of company. So whereas the numbers and the nationality are given, the breakdown by company name is not. The answer to Question No. 1946 which is textual and not statistical, has been added to the schedule.

In answer to Question No. 1946, applications for banking licences are made to the Commissioner of Banking appointed under the Banking Ordinance 1992, the Commissioner is also the Commissioner appointed under the Financial Services Commission Ordinance 1989. The Commissioner does not, as a matter of policy, disclose the existence of applications currently under consideration, as to do so may make it possible for the applicants to be identified by some third parties. As such the Government have neither sought nor obtained from the Commissioner such information.

The Financial Services Commission, however, publishes both through its own website as well as through the Gazette all authorisations granted and revoked. From that information it is clear that no authorisation has been granted during the period in question.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1944 TO 1946 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

This question has been asked in this House on a considerable number of occasions and the Chief Minister himself has answered me twice in my period in this House, this is now a new formulation of an answer. I would be grateful if the Chief Minister could indicate why there is now a change in policy in terms of answering this question?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is no change of policy by us, although he is right in identifying that there has been a change in policy. There has been a change in policy by the Financial Services Commission. I have to say that I do not share the views of the Financial Services Commission on this matter and it is an issue which we are going to raise with him. I think that the Government of Gibraltar are entitled to know what licence applications there are, if only for economic management purposes. I will not make any partisan provocative statements but suffice it to say that I think it is time that we all aspired to regaining a greater measure of control over our financial services industry.

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information that the hon Member has requested is set out in the attached schedule.

ANSWER TO QUESTION 1949

Answer to Question 1947

During the months of April to July 2004 the following numbers were registered as Category 2 individuals.

|            |   |
|------------|---|
| April 2004 | 6 |
| May 2004   | 3 |
| June 2004  | 6 |
| July 2004  | 6 |

The new Qualifying (Category 2) Individuals Rules 2004 were published on the 29th July 2004 but take effect from the 1st July 2004.

As from the 1st July 2004 to date we have received 15 applications for Category 2 status, 12 of which have been registered.

Answer to Question 1948

The Qualifying (Category 3) Individuals Rules were introduced in June 1998. They replaced the Relocated Executives Possessing Special Skills legislation.

During the years from 1998 to 2003, the following numbers of individuals were granted Category 3 status.

|      |    |
|------|----|
| 1998 | 5  |
| 1999 | 5  |
| 2000 | 14 |
| 2001 | 23 |
| 2002 | 26 |
| 2003 | 46 |

During the months of April to September 2004 the following numbers of individuals were registered.

|           |     |
|-----------|-----|
| April     | Nil |
| May       | 3   |
| June      | 6   |
| July      | 2   |
| August    | Nil |
| September | 8   |

NO. 1964 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

GDP FIGURE

Can Government state in respect of each year's GDP calculation 1995/1996 to 2001/2002, of the amount attributed to Gross Trading Profits how much was obtained by grossing up the corporation tax received in a given year and how much was in respect of the addition of an estimated amount in respect of profits not yet assessed to tax?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information requested by the hon Member is set out in the schedule attached.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1964 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I notice that the 1995/1996 line is blank, is there a reason for that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not aware what the reason is but I can only speculate that that year was not covered by the exercise that we did which I think started in 1996/1997 if I recall. That is the only reason that I can speculate.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I accept that the exercise did not cover that year but in the explanation that I was given as to how it was calculated there was no indication that the method of calculating Gross Trading Profits had changed in 1996/1997. I would understand it if in fact the formula of grossing up plus estimating profit started in 1996/1997, if that is not the case then of course there is a logic to starting then, but if the same formula was being used in 1995/1996 then I cannot see why it is not there. Perhaps the Chief Minister can establish whether it is the case that the formula was different before.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will try and find that out.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I imagine the Chief Minister does not know but if I ask him the question then he can probably find out, or he may know. In grossing up the trading profits do I take it that this is based on the tax yields at 35 per cent and then this figure is the 100 per cent of that figure? This is following up the question that I asked how this was calculated at the last meeting of the House which is when I was told that it was a combination of these two things, grossing up the company profits shown that I have got from answers to other questions and therefore I am interpreting that to mean that if a figure is £35 million then the grossed up profit is £100 million, on the basis that the tax is 35 per cent. Can he confirm whether that is right?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think that is. The only distorting factor is capital allowances would interrupt the straight line extrapolation of, in other words, the tax yield is 35 per cent of a figure and it is that figure that the hon Member wants. So what figure is that amount of tax (35 per cent) would be the gross trading figure. What I do not know is how they accommodate capital allowances, which of course distort that mathematical calculation, because of course if one has capital allowances one is paying less tax but still making the profit. So subject to that, I think the hon Member is right. That is what I do not know, whether they make an allowance for allowances. In other words, whether they write back into profits what is not paid in tax by virtue of the operation of capital allowances and things of that sort.

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question Nos. 1966 and 1967

The figure of 42 per cent in respect of public expenditure as a proportion of GDP for the UK is taken from an article written by the Guardian's political editor, Michael White, on May 27th 2004. This rate is quoted to be that as at that date. I am just looking through the article to see whether it cites his source, but it appears to be correct because it is the number that is bandied around in the House of Commons, in debates between the Shadow Chancellor and the Chancellor. So I suppose if it were not right the House of Commons equivalent of the Opposition Members would have spotted the error by now.

Answer to Question Nos. 1965 and 1968

The share of GDP taken up by public expenditure for the period 1997/1998 to 2001/2002 is shown in the table attached.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1965 TO 1968 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I take it from this paper that what I am being told is that the figures that are being provided today have been calculated by using the figure of Government final consumption in the expenditure method calculation of the GDP, am I right?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes and of course Government final consumption as he probably knows is limited to the recurrent expenditure and not to the capital expenditure, in order to make it comparable to the 42 per cent figure.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I do know that, but in fact that was not how the figure was calculated in his statement in the budget because the figures here are not the same as the ones he gave in the budget. My question which says can Government explain how the share of the GDP was calculated to arrive at 29 per cent in 1997/1998 and here we have got that by using Government final consumption we get 27.6 per cent of a GDP of £364.51 million. In his budget statement which was prepared beforehand, so it was not something that he calculated on the spot, he quoted 29 per cent in 1997/1998. That is why I wondered if it was a different method of calculation. Obviously I would have been able to work this out from the figures that have been published.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is not a different method of calculation, it is applying the same calculation to a slightly different based figures. The percentage figures calculated cited at budget time do differ slightly from the finalised National Income account figures because the percentages used at budget time were taken from the expenditure figures in the Estimates, whereas the percentages now shown use the National Accounts definition for Government expenditure. So for example, at budget I quoted 28.8 per cent for 1997/1998, in fact the figure quoted now is 27.6 per cent and so on and so forth. So the figures being quoted now are in every case, except 2001/2002, very slightly lower by usually 1 percentage point or less but in the case of 2001/2002 the figure being quoted now is one and a half per cent higher. The reason apparently is that the figures given to me for the budget are taken from the Estimates of Expenditure.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The figure that is taken from the Estimates which was used in the budget is the annually recurrent expenditure out of the Consolidated Fund?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Does the Chief Minister know whether that is comparable to what has been used in the United Kingdom to arrive at the 42 per cent?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Technically speaking the figure which is most purely comparable to our figure of 32.4 per cent for 2001/2002 would in the UK produce a comparable figure for 2003 of 38.2 per cent. The figure in the UK of 42 per cent is the figure as a percentage of public spending which includes net capital expenditure. In other words, net investment, net capital expenditure not gross capital expenditure. So it is somewhere in between my position and his but slightly nearer his in terms of the inclusion of an element of capital expenditure. In other words, the 42 per cent figure is recurrent plus net investment not gross investment.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Let me say I have not expressed any preference for any particular method so I am not sure, all I am trying to do is establish the comparability of the figures. I am not saying that 42 per cent is too low or too high or any other figure.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not mind giving the hon Member a copy of the page out of the UK blue book, which I have used to identify which is the most precise comparable figure so that he can do the exercise that I have just done on my feet.

- (a) MOD;
- (b) Gibraltar Government; and
- (c) Private Sector employers?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question No. 1969

Point 2(a) of the Survey Summary in respect of the October 2003 Employment Survey should read:

“Average annual earnings in respect of all employee jobs increased by +3.9 per cent, from £16,802.96p to £17,460.44p in October 2003.”

This average annual earnings figure for 2002 is consistent with the figure published in the October 2002 Employment Survey Report and with the figure shown in Table 17 of the October 2003 Employment Survey Report.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1969 AND 1970 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Then I take it that the answer to Question No. 1969, which is why it has that other figure, is because it was put in there by mistake.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

RGP – VACANCIES

How many applications were received in respect of the Official Notice advertising vacancies for the posts of Police Constable in the Royal Gibraltar Police Force which appeared on Friday 21st May 2004 and how many were employed in respect of the said posts?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Forty-one applications were received and for some reason they do not want me to say how many were employed. I can say that three did not meet the requirements of the advert, 20 failed the entrance exam, one withdrew the application and 17 candidates were interviewed but it does not go on to tell me how many were actually employed. I will try and get that information for him and pass it on to him.

SALE OF S/Y PERKEO

What have been the proceeds of the sale of the S/Y "Perkeo" sold by auction on 14th July 2004 and have any such proceeds been earmarked or ring fenced exclusively for investment in respect of law enforcement?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The S/Y "Perkeo" was not sold by auction as the reserved price was not met. It was subsequently sold by private sale for £81,579, the full proceeds of which are expected to be received by the end of October 2004. Government have not made a decision as to the use of the funds. Other than Special Fund Rules, there is no provision for hypothecated Revenue in our system of public finances.

RGP – REMUNERATION

Are Government committed to parity in respect of the pay of serving and retired officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 1974 of 2004.

NO. 1974 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

RGP – REMUNERATION

Have Government taken a decision on whether to rely on the Limitation Ordinance in respect of the claims or potential claims of retired and serving officers of the Royal Gibraltar Police in relation to the incorrect application of parity arising more than six years ago?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government are committed to the principle of parity, as applied to Gibraltar under the local parity agreement in respect of all pay reviews for serving officers for which they are responsible. In respect of claims of failure to honour parity by previous administrations, the Government consider each case on its merits and fairness to both sides. In the Government's view the current issues raised by retired officers do not raise issues of parity.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1973 AND 1974 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I ask the Chief Minister whether he is going to answer specifically the issue of the Limitation Ordinance in Question No. 1974 or is that an issue that is also considered not wholesale but in relation to the merits of each of the claims made?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Government are certainly not going to commit themselves here in this House as to what legal defences they will keep open in the event that they are faced with a legal claim which they consider to be unmeritorious.

HON F R PICARDO:

I am not asking for that, if my question suggested that I apologise. I am asking whether the Government have made a decision to say that any application to them for relief in terms, I am not talking by way of legal suit but in terms of representation, will simply be met by a statement that they will only make themselves responsible in respect of liabilities no more than six years old, or whether they will take a different attitude to claims, not in terms of legal suit.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

If anybody other than a lawyer were asking me that question I could attribute it to ignorance, but since it is a lawyer asking me that question I cannot distinguish it from the answer that I have just given. The statute of limitation necessarily only applies by way of legal defence to a claim. For the hon Member to try and separate the question of the Limitations Ordinance from the question of legal claim is nonsensical.

HON F R PICARDO:

What I am asking the Chief Minister, in fact as he is a Silk I think it is appropriate for me to call him the Honourable and Learned Gentleman when we are being noble to each other, but in this instance of course as a result of his answer I will limit myself to calling him the hon Gentleman, is whether he will deal with claims made to him by retired officers simply by turning them away if those claims relate to periods longer than six years ago. That is what I am asking him.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The temptation to say to the hon Member that I have already answered his questions is almost irresistible but I will go the extra mile in trying to resist it. It seems self-evident, even to those Government Members who are not lawyers, that if the Government choose to entertain a claim ignoring the question of the party's legal rights, then necessarily the question of the Limitation Ordinance does not arise given that the Limitation Ordinance is about legal defences to otherwise valid claims in law. I assume the hon Member knows what the Limitation Ordinance is. Therefore I cannot make sense of the distinction he is trying to draw and that is the last answer that I will give him on the matter. As to whether he should call me honourable and learned colleague or Member because I am a Silk, I think he will find that the epithet learned applies to all lawyers, one does not have to be a Silk, which means that even I have to call him learned.

HON F R PICARDO:

Given that I am not going to be given any other answer in relation to the substantive issues, I will just get on my feet to say that the Parliamentary rules say that honourable and learned attaches in Parliament only to somebody who is Silk. So he does not yet have to afford me that distinction.

ENVIRONMENTAL EMERGENCIES

Will the Government be publishing and circulating information on what procedures citizens should follow in the event of an environmental emergency?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

It is not clear what the hon Member means by an environmental emergency. Many civil contingencies have potential impact on the environment. As I have already said publicly the Government intend to publish a guidance leaflet to citizens relating to accidents and other emergencies. It is not focused on environmental issues.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1975 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can the Government give an indication of when they expect that publication to be made available to the public?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I am not in a position to give a meaningful indication now. I think I am on record as saying that we hope to do it before the end of the year.

NO. 1976 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

EUROPEAN BORDERS AGENCY

Have the Government now taken legal advice on the feasibility of challenging the planned exclusion of Gibraltar from the workings of the European Borders Agency?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Not yet.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1976 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does it follow from that answer that the Government will be taking legal advice on this question?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In the statement that the Government issued, they referred to mounting a legal challenge in the UK courts, does that suggest they will take the action against the British Government and not against the European Commission or the Council or whoever it may be?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is what he should read from any decision to commence actions in the UK courts. We could only take action in the UK courts against the UK Government.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Chief Minister say when they intend to commission somebody to actually produce that legal advice and who they have in mind perhaps?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes well, the deed is done now. Course of action is already on the way so it is not urgent in that sense. It is important but not urgent. The Government's resources for the consideration, conception, management and mounting of legal actions are presently fully occupied with the tax reform case and the Regional Selectivity case, and as soon as that case has got over, the heavy pleading stage which is basically the filing of the application and the defence and the reply to the defence, then we can start devoting or rather Michael Llamas can start devoting his attention to this matter. It is not just a question of taking legal advice, one has got to put together a brief to counsel, which is necessarily a long and complex document given that if we do take action against the British Government it will be based on considerations of whether they are discharging their legal obligations under the Constitution to discharge our foreign affairs.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Government statement which was issued on 30th July also mentions the fact that the EU took the view that because the Agency was a Schengen external borders measure, and UK had opted out of Schengen, therefore the UK could not participate in it as of right. The Government statement said that the UK rejected that decision, both in respect of itself and of Gibraltar and that it would challenge that decision in the ECJ. Are the Government in a position to say whether the UK itself is now going ahead with that challenge?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well it has not challenged it yet and I think the hon Member, I do not know if I said it at the time, I think I did but I was sceptical about whether they would in the event do it or not. If I did not say it in the House I think I said it in an interview. That is what the UK Government's position is, I doubt or rather I have a doubt about whether they will in fact initiate that legal action as opposed to settling for their cooperating status from which of course we are excluded. It suits us that they should take action because if they take action it could result in our inclusion if they win.

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

SINGLE EUROPEAN SKY

Have Government now received legal advice on the feasibility of challenging the exclusion of Gibraltar airport from the Single European Sky?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The position remains as I think I have told him in the past, although I have not checked this out that the Government have received preliminary advice. I think I told him that last time. We have not yet firmed up that advice in terms of final advice.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1977 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is the Chief Minister in a position to say who the advice was received from and perhaps give the House an indication of whether it will allow the Government to proceed with the action that they politically intended to take?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is some time since I looked at this but I think that the advice was that the Government did have a course of action that they could pursue. I do not recall at what level it expressed the prospects of success and of course having a course of action open to one is very different to whether one will win it or not. In a sense one is procedural and the other is substantive. These are both areas where we are determined to embark on a course of litigation in the exclusion of Gibraltar from aviation measures, and the exclusion of Gibraltar if the Borders Agency Regulation is as a first precedent, are not areas that Gibraltar can afford to leave unchallenged if it possibly can mount a challenge.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the Single Sky, the action would presumably also be against the United Kingdom up against the Commission or the Council and will that be in UK courts or would it be in the European Court of Justice?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There we have the option to do both. The reason why we do not think we have an option to take action against the Council in the Borders Agency Regulation is that of course that is a measure that does not in European law extend to UK or Gibraltar because it is a Schengen measure. So there our complaint is that the UK has agreed to cooperate with it notwithstanding that we are excluded from it. That is a complaint that we can level at the UK. It may not be a complaint that we can level at the European Council who have in effect excluded us from a Regulation that they say does not apply to us any way. So in that sense the textual exclusion of Gibraltar is superfluous. Their position is that it does not apply to the UK or Gibraltar anyway because it is a Schengen measure and we are outside the Schengen Borders Chapters.

UNFAIR DISMISSAL

What were the legal costs of defending the case of unfair dismissal brought by John Gomez?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question No. 1978

The Government did not incur any costs in the defence of the Gold Coin case because the defence was conducted on the Government's behalf by the Attorney General who does not levy fees against the Government.

Answer to Question No. 1979

The information as to the cost of defending the unfair dismissal case brought by John Gomez against the company, I think it was called Gib Procurement Limited, is not yet known.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1978 AND 1979 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

In light of that I will want to put the question again even within the next six months just to keep tab on that.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I should add that the Government consider that the ruling in the John Gomez case is completely erroneous but given the size of the damages awarded, we have thought it inappropriate to invest further tax payers money in trying to seek a reversal of it, since we do not think that we would recover the full amount of the additional costs even if we won an appeal. So the Government have decided to take it on the chin even though we think that the case and the decision is eminently appellable.

With whom did the Chief Minister meet in the EU Commission in respect of the EU Tax reform legal case in Brussels on Tuesday 7th September 2004, what was the outcome of the meeting, who attended with the Chief Minister and what was the cost of the trip?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Chief Minister does not meet with EU officials in relation to the EU Tax Reform legal case. Meetings in relation to that case in Brussels would be with the Government's own legal team and in London would be with the Government's own legal team and UK Government officials and lawyers in relation to the coordination of each Government's separate cases in relation to the Tax Reform case.

Meetings with EU officials would relate to the Exempt Status dossier rather than the Tax Reform dossier. As to the costs I think they have all emerged in answer to previous questions. Have they not?

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 1980 TO 1983 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

No, in fact the meetings referred to in Question Nos. 1980 and 1981 which are obviously Financial Services related meetings, are not reflected in the answers to Question No. 1915 which was the question on the Chief Minister's travel in relation to financial services. I think that they are in the answer to Question No. 1860 but they are not in the answer to financial services. The question also asked what the outcome of the meetings was, I wonder whether the Chief Minister will deal with that issue.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, to tell him that it is not appropriate to give him a meeting by meeting, blow by blow account of what transpires in meetings in which I take part. It is just wholly inappropriate. These are meetings in the context of to consider, plan and make decisions as to lines to take in the conduct of these two issues. It is wholly inappropriate for the hon Member to expect me to give him, if he wants to come to meetings with me he should ask, I did not agree of course but that would be the way to find out what transpired at the meetings.

HON F R PICARDO:

Statements are made to the media that the Chief Minister is going to make these trips, the Chief Minister gives press interviews on his return from these trips saying a little but not much of what has transpired, it is for that reason that in this House I am asking him what was the outcome of those trips. I certainly do not think it is not appropriate. This is an issue that concerns the financial services industry in Gibraltar. The Chief Minister is spending a lot of time, as can be seen from the record of the trips he has done on these issues, and I would ask him to reconsider giving the House at least the flavour of what it is that the outcome of these meetings was. Was it positive, negative? I would ask him to consider that.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Chief Minister goes away on trips and when he comes back he says in public all that it is appropriate to say in public. It is not any more appropriate to say things in public in the media than it is to say them public here. Both are public and the Chief Minister does not withhold information because he does not want to say it. He withholds information from publication when he considers that it is not in the interests of Gibraltar to put it in the public domain. The judgement is the same whether it is published in the media or published in this House. So we shall have to agree to disagree about what is appropriate and what is not. We are the ones elected to make decisions about what is in the public interests of Gibraltar and he is just going to have to accept our judgements.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can I ask the Chief Minister whether following his latest excursion to Brussels is he still in a position to say we are going to continue issuing Tax Exempt Certificates for the time being. That has not changed?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well Tax Exempt Certificates continue to be issued.

ANSWER

The Government have filed their claim and the Commission has filed its defence. We now have I think until some date in November to reply to the defence.

NO. 1985 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

TAX REFORMS

When will the Government provide the Opposition with the details of their tax reform proposals?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I have made a full statement in this House about the Government's proposed Tax Reform Proposals. Therefore I do not accept the implication of the hon Member's question which is to the effect that it has not yet been given. It may be that the hon Member meant to ask "When will the Government provide to the Opposition copies of the detailed legislation that would be required to implement the Tax Reform Proposals?". In that respect the position remains as previously explained in the House, namely, that the Government do not consider it appropriate to do so until and if the Government are free to implement that policy – which as the hon Member is aware is not presently the case. In other words, there is a statement in the House explaining the outline and the principles of the Government's tax reform proposals but not the full nitty gritty detail but the principal contents of the proposal. It is also true that the Government have had to draw up, prematurely really, very detailed legislation and therefore having to make very detailed decisions for the purposes of legislation that would be required to implement that policy proposal. We had to do that because it is a requirement of the notification procedure to the European Union. In other words, when one notifies a tax scheme one cannot just notify an outline, one has actually send them copies in draft of the legislation so that they can see every nook and cranny of it, so to speak. That is what the Government have done. The Government may not proceed with that legislation, may not be allowed to proceed with that legislation depending on the outcome, and in those circumstances we think it is premature and unnecessary to publish that legislation to unleash a debate about the detail of proposals and legislation which may be wholly academic. We will have plenty of opportunity to debate it if it is going to become legislation. In other words, it has to be published as legislation and it has to go through the legislative process, some of it is subsidiary legislation but most of it is not, and therefore it will go to the legislative process which will include giving copies to the Opposition and debate just like anything else. To publish it now is in the Government's view completely unproductive.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1985 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

We have already found ourselves in this House this year in a position where the Government have cleared with an external body the terms of the legislation they are going to bring to this House, and then when that legislation comes to this House, although it is published and the Opposition have an opportunity of scrutinising it in technically the normal way, we are not able to influence it in the normal way because the Government have already agreed the letter of it with somebody else. That happened in relation to the European Parliamentary Elections Ordinance which had been cleared with the UK. We are going to be in pretty much the same situation if the Government clear their primary legislation at least with an external body, in this case the European Commission, and when it comes to this House we are not able to influence in any way however positively the Government might receive any suggestions that we make. It is for that reason that I would ask whether the Government are in a position to reconsider their answer, given that that detailed proposal has already been published to the Commission, to the United Kingdom and to all the Member States of the European Union who have representation in the Commission and have a copy of that legislation, but the Opposition do not. Can the Chief Minister at least address that point?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes I will address it only to repeat the Government's position which I will just do by reference and not actually repeat it that that is not the position which the Opposition will find themselves. In other words, it is not the case that once the Commission approves, if it approves which of course it is refusing to do, but should it approve the legislation, so this is sort of hypothesis on hypothesis, should it approve the legislation it is not the case that the House is then just a rubber stamp and in effect the European Commission has become the legislature. The House of Assembly will be perfectly free to modify that legislation provided it does not modify it in a way which would infringe State Aid Regulations. The legislation is not sent for approval in the sense that once they have approved that we are not free to modify it. That is not the position. The position the hon Member has described is not the case. Therefore the legislature's legislative role remains in tact, including its ability to modify the draft legislation the Government publish in Bill form. Of course the Government are not going to agree to any amendment and would use our majority to prevent any amendment moved by the hon Members that would prejudice the Commission's approval by incurring in a breach of the State Aid Regulations. So the Government do not approve. Giving the legislation to the Opposition is not the same as giving the legislation to a multi-lateral national organisation, international organisation like the EU where we are obliged to give it as part of an established legal procedure. This is not publication, this is a Government going through an EU administrative process. It is not open for debate, nobody can publish it, nobody can adopt public statements based on the position that they have read and that would not be the case if we gave it to the Opposition. What I remember saying, I think it was in answer to the Hon Dr Garcia but I do not recall if it was him or somebody else, he may recall whether it was to him, was that when it was appropriate to publish the legislation, namely if the Government had been freed to proceed with that policy if they wanted to, and if they were allowed to, but the Government in recognition of the complexity would not give five days or would not publish it the minimal seven days notice, but we would give as much notice as possible of publication. That commitment remains that we will as soon as it becomes the policy of the Government to proceed with that legislation, and as soon as the Government are legally free to implement that legislation if they choose to, the Government will then give the draft legislation because it will then not be a hypothetical exercise. It will then just be a question of time before this House has to consider it. At the moment this House may never have to consider that legislation and therefore in that context we think it would be premature and unnecessary to publish the legislation.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I then at least persuade the Chief Minister to commit himself to a date on which he will give the Opposition that which he has already committed himself to give the Opposition, namely, the submissions of his Government and of the UK Government in support of those proposals. He will recall that he has told us that he was going to give us that. He told us in fact that he was quite happy to give us the submissions of his Government. He then told us that he was seeking confirmation from the United Kingdom Government that he could let us have their submissions and that he would not let us have his submissions until the UK Government had agreed that we could have their because he thought that it was more reasonable and given that obviously that second filter is not proving as easily persuadable as he has so that we should see the submissions. Can I first of all ask him whether he is now in a position to tell us that those submissions of the UK are to be given to us? Second, if they are not, can we at least have his which he has agreed to give so that we have an element of greater understanding of what the issues are? Especially given that we are now at the stage where the proposals in respect of which those submissions were made have actually been rejected.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well I do not know what I have lost sight of the position of the UK's attitude to the making available. I do not think that has come through. I am not sure it is being pursued with any great urgency but certainly I do not think it has come through. Whether the Government should then give the hon Members the Government's own submission, we will have to consider. I will reconsider the matter because there is a fair amount of cross reference to the submissions of each Government. We will consider that and we will consider whether subsequent events, in other words the fact that the Commission has made the decision and the fact that that decision is now the subject matter of a legal challenge, raises additional issues or not. If it does not then the Government remain free to give their submissions.

HON F R PICARDO:

I am not asking the Chief Minister to publish it. What the agreement was, was that those submissions would be provided in confidence. Can I at least persuade him, if he has to, to black line those parts of his submission which make reference to the UK submissions. We are quite happy to accept it unless we are going to get whole pages of black, we are quite happy to accept that so that we could at least try and find our feet in relation to those submissions. Can I persuade him of that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member has persuaded me to give it active consideration.

TAX REFORMS

What are the “interim arrangements” which the Government have asked the EU Commission to agree (and announced to have been agreed between the Government and the EU Commission DG Competition in June 2004) pending the outcome of the legal proceedings commenced by the Government against the EU Commission in respect of the latter’s rejection of the Government’s tax reforms proposals, and will the said “interim arrangements” last until the outcome of the said legal proceedings or until 2010, whichever is the earlier?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

This matter remains under negotiation with the EU Commission and until those negotiations conclude it is neither appropriate nor in Gibraltar’s interest to comment as requested by the hon Member, except to say that the objective is to ensure the continuation of Exempt Status on agreed terms until our legal right to replace it with something else is adjudicated upon by the European Courts.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1986 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I persuade the Chief Minister to give us the details or an indication of what those interim arrangements are, in confidence, given that that would not affect the interests of Gibraltar?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, he cannot persuade me.

HON F R PICARDO:

On what possible basis? Does he believe that sharing information of that sort confidentially with the Opposition would not be in the interests of Gibraltar?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have given him an answer. He has asked me whether I am willing to share with him information and the answer is that I am not.

Answer to Question 1990 of 2004

Following the advertisement placed by the Income Tax Office in the local press on the 6th July 2004 the Supreme Court ordered the winding-up of the following companies.

| Name of company          | Date of Winding-up Order |
|---------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Best Bread Limited              | 15 July 2004                    |
| Central Cold Stores Limited     | 15 July 2004                    |
| Dataline (Gibraltar) Limited    | 15 July 2004                    |
| Japcol Imports Limited          | 15 July 2004                    |
| P & M Recording Studios Limited | 15 July 2004                    |
| Rentokil (Gibraltar) Limited    | 15 July 2004                    |
| Tetouan Limited                 | 15 July 2004                    |
| Jab Limited                     | 28 September 2004               |
| Manse Limited                   | 28 September 2004               |

Although the Official Receiver has as yet not appointed a Provisional Liquidator for any of the stated companies, it is expected that appointments will shortly be made in respect of all the companies.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1990 OF 2004

LAND PROPERTY SERVICES

Can Government state whether they have now concluded a new contract with Land Property Services, and if so, on what terms?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

A new contract has not yet been concluded but one is now imminent and I should add that the terms are on a cost plus basis.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 1995 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Are the terms more favourable than those? I believe that that was the aim of the negotiations, to arrive at a contract which was more favourable to Government.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Obviously we think it is more favourable to us, because what we have done is that we have not renewed the contract on the old basis, which was a sum of money in which they were getting additional revenue and therefore making additional profit, regardless of extra work on their part, regardless of performance targets met in a way in which there was therefore no link between value for money for the taxpayer on the one hand and their revenue on the other. That has been replaced with a system where the Government agree their cost base, allow them a margin over cost but with us controlling the level of costs, they then have a set of performance indicators that they have to meet, if they meet they get certain bonuses or certain additional remuneration. So now we have a situation whereby there is a direct linkage between their benefits under the contract on the one hand, and the benefits to the Government from their performance on the other. So we think it is a much better deal for the taxpayer because this contains verifiable value for money and verifiable risk benefit to both sides. We actually think it is fairer to the Government and we think it is actually still fair to Land Property Services and its employees, shareholders and directors.

GIBRALTAR COINAGE

Are Government now in a position to explain the apparent increase in the cost of coins in 2002/2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question No. 1997

Tower Mint have indeed begun to mint Gibraltar coinage. The first consignment of circulating coins was received on 22nd September 2004 and were put into circulation on the same day.

Answer to Question No. 1998

The formal contract between the Government of Gibraltar and Tower Mint for the production and distribution of Gibraltar coins has not yet been signed, but this is to be concluded very shortly.

Answer to Question No. 1999

It turns out that there was in fact no increase in the cost of coins in the year 2002/2003. The increased expenditure during the year reflects increased orders in the number of coins for circulation.

HOUSING – SALE OF RESIDENTIAL PROPERTIES

Can Government state what was the total number and total value of residential property sold, in respect of which stamp duty was collected in the financial year 2003/2004 and what was the amount of stamp duty paid?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I regret I cannot give the hon Member this information because it appears that Land Property Services Ltd, the Government's agents, do not maintain analysed records of transactions in respect of which stamp duty is paid.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2004 AND 2005 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well do the Government know how much stamp duty has been paid in each of those years which relate to the residential property sales, or they do not even know that? I mean they may not know the property and the numbers of properties but do they know how much money they have got?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well we both know because it is contained in the Estimates and the Accounts, how much was collected in stamp duty. What we do not know is how it is distributed between residential and non-residential property. Still less, what was the value of the underlying property transactions represented by those, one can take a rough calculation and assume on a straight line basis one knows what the rate of duty is, one knows the amount of duty, one could put a value on it, what one cannot do apparently is break it down into residential and non-residential.

HON F R PICARDO:

Or shares, if the Chief Minister will give way, because stamp duty is also payable on transfer of shares and it is in the same pot.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It might be possible, they have not said whether that is possible or not. I do not have a note as to whether it is possible to distinguish between stamp duty on property transactions and stamp duty on other dutiable transactions. That I can ask.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably Land Property Services only deal with stamp duty on property transactions.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, they are Commissioners for Stamp Duty. They deal with stamp duties on everything. There are not that many other things actually.

NO. 2006 OF 2004*THE HON J J BOSSANO*HOUSING – SALE OF RESIDENTIAL PROPERTIES

Can Government state which Government owned companies received income from the sale of property in 2003/2004 financial year, listing the companies, the amount received, the number of properties and any amounts still due in respect of such sales?

ANSWER*THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government-owned companies that received income from the sale of property in the year 2003/2004 are as follows:

| Company                         | Income Receivedfrom Sales£ | Number ofProperties |
|----------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| Brympton Co-Ownership Company Limited  | 395,868                                    | 14                              |
| Gibraltar Co-Ownership Company Limited | 2,327,079                                  | 107                             |
| G R P Investment Company Limited       | 1,341,678                                  | 55                              |
| Westside Two Co-Ownership Company Ltd  | 1,112,706                                  | 74                              |
|                                        | 5,177,331                           |                                 |

The total responses received from 119 prospective buyers including a desire to purchase their share of the property under the current offer for sale amount to £2.75 million. Of these, the total amount actually received is £1.35 million and the remainder, if indeed they proceed with the purchase, is made up as follows:

|                                        |                  |
|----------------------------------------|------------------|
| Brympton Co-Ownership Company Limited  | £ 28,800         |
| Gibraltar Co-Ownership Company Limited | 846,218          |
| G R P Investment Company Limited       | 173,877          |
| Westside Two Co-Ownership Company Ltd  | 344,915          |
|                                        | 1,393,810 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2006 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The answer that has been provided seems to suggest that the balance due may not become due if the persons that have indicated an interest in buying do not proceed. Is the correct interpretation then that the balance is not really the balance of people who have already said 'yes we are buying' and paid part of the price? The people who have said they are going to buy have already paid the full lot, is that the correct interpretation?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes there is £2.75 million worth. The total responses received from 119 prospective purchases, including a desire to purchase that property or a share of the property under the current offer, in other words, not the historical this is the current information, under the current offer for sale amounted to £2.75 million. Of these the total amount actually received is £1.35 million and the remainder relates to people who have not paid anything. These things are not paid by instalments. If one buys, one buys and pays the lot so there is no possibility of balance to pay.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Let me say the way the answer is phrased does not make it very clear because it does not then tell me how many properties are involved in the £1.4 million that there is printed on the page. I assume the properties at the top have nothing to do with 119 prospective because there are more than 119 properties up there. So there is nothing to say how many of the 119 have paid the £1.39 million given that the Chief Minister has just said that they do not pay in instalments.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is correct.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The amount actually received is £1.35 million.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know whether that information is contained in the schedule that I gave the Hon Mr Bruzon earlier. I would have to check that. Earlier I gave the Hon Mr Bruzon a schedule with the latest position on sales.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes but I think that particular schedule actually included the 119 prospective buyers and the value of the properties that those 119 prospective buyers would buy if they completed, but there was nothing there to say at what stage in the process they were. Given that the question is the amount of sales that have taken place in the financial year 2003/2004, the answer previously given gave the impression that they were subsequent.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

My interpretation of this is that really the bottom half is in a sense not information asked for, in that I think it relates to transactions which have closed since the end of the financial year. That was my reading of this and the hon Member may now be putting me in doubt. I think that the top half is the answer to Question No. 2006. That is what happened in the financial year 2003/2004. Then they have gone on to explain that there are still 119 prospective purchasers who were still left after March 2004, of which £1.35 million had since completed since 1st April. That is how I have understood this. If the hon Member thinks it is open to some other interpretation.....

HON J J BOSSANO:

The only thing is that the Chief Minister must understand that since the 1st April does not appear anywhere.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well only by reference to his question.

HON J J BOSSANO:

My question ends on 31st March. So the money that has been received, the total amount actually received, is that in the current financial year then? As opposed to the financial year 2003/2004.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

My interpretation of this answer, but of course I will have this clarified and I will confirm it to him by letter, is that the £5,177,331 was received in the financial year 2003/2004. The £1,393,810 was actually being received in the next financial year to which his question does not relate. That is my interpretation of the answer I have just given him, but since there is, I agree, some ambiguity I shall clear that up for him. I agree that the language of that second paragraph beginning "The total responses", is not at all clear.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact the actual amount received is not the amount that was quoted of £1.393 million but £1.35 million. So perhaps he can also obtain the information as to how many of the 119, the £1.35 million accounts for.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the £1.35 million has been received; the £1,393,810 is the not yet completed. If one adds £1.35 million and £1,393,810 I suppose one gets to £2.75 million, I have not checked.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The only thing is, two seconds ago the Chief Minister was saying that the amount received in the current year is the £1.39 million figure and I am now asking him if when he gets confirmation that this is the amount received from some of the 119 persons, I would be grateful if he tells me what is the distribution in terms of the four companies, the same as was done for the financial year where the numbers are given in the first half of the answer.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will do that.

Can Government give the breakdown of the source of estimated receipts of £900,000 under Revenue Head 5(6) – Other Reimbursements – for the financial year 2004/2005?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Revenue Head – Other Reimbursements – is used for receipts that do not fall under the revenue classifications provided for in the rest of the Revenue budget. The revenue is collected from numerous Government departments.

Annual estimates of receipts under this Revenue Subhead are calculated on the basis of actual overall collections.

I hand the hon Member a breakdown of receipts collected under the Revenue Subhead – Other Reimbursements – for the years 2001/2002, 2002/2003 and 2003/2004.

Let me say, to help him interpret the lists that he gets that the headings do not correspond, these are just generic classifications. There are hundreds and hundreds of different entries for small amounts of money and this is just packing them up into recognisable Heads of Revenue.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2007 TO 2013 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it correct that this lists the recipient department?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, yes depends how he is using the word 'recipient'.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The receiver of the revenue.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, it lists the department that is the source of the revenue.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The source of the revenue in my question was intended to establish who was making the reimbursement to the Government. Does this give me who was making the reimbursement to the Government, or which department received the reimbursement?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

This is which department received the reimbursement. The question as he was asking, if he means who is the payer in to the Government from the outside world, then he is asking for sheets of paper with hundreds and hundreds of entries, some for miniscule amounts of money.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well then perhaps if I can limit myself to the amounts that are not so miniscule, is there an explanation why the reimbursements was originally estimated at £500,000 and the forecast outturn is £1.25million which is £750,000 more than the estimate?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

For which year?

HON J J BOSSANO:

For 2003/2004, the one that has just finished, in this year's Estimate Book, because if the £750,000 is made up of miniscule amounts then the whole of the 30,000 of us must be paying something to produce £750,000.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think the explanation is likely to be the last item on his list, given the item is large enough to have an impact but I am just trying to find out if I can give him an explanation for that figure. There are a series of extraordinary items and any one of these could be the explanation. There are three items apparently that Treasury has charged a 5 per cent administration charge in respect of the sale of Government shares and co-owned properties, because they are administering the scheme for the companies, and they amounted to (this is in the year 2003/2004) £62,000 in February, £242,000 odd later on in February, another £127,000 in February, I am ignoring the smaller amounts, £330,000 also in February, that explains it. I think that is the extraordinary item that presumably had not been estimated at the beginning of the year and which I suspect accounts for the lion's share of that difference. I have not checked the additions, does it account for the lion's share or more?

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, it almost comes to £750,000. Can I ask then, £750,000 that the Treasury charged in February, for the sale of shares owned by the Government?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, this is something that I am discovering myself now, but it is the sale of, the Treasury administers the 50/50 scheme sale of Government share in 50/50 properties that we have been discussing earlier. They deal with the buyers, they deal with all, and I think the Government through the Treasury have basically charged the owner of the property, namely the Government company, a commission into the Consolidated Fund to reflect the fact that the Consolidated Fund is bearing the labour costs of administering the scheme. That is what appears. We are discovering it together.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well it is interesting of course because if we look at page 13 of the Estimates, had they not thought of that in February, in March the figure for the forecast deficit would have been £2 million instead of £1.3 million.

GOVERNMENT LOAN STOCK

Do Government intend to issue a replacement loan stock to the Gibraltar Savings Bank in replacement of the existing loan stock they hold which matures in May 2005?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

A total of £3.562 million of loan stock, by nominal value, is held by investors other than Community Care Trust and the Gibraltar Savings Bank. No final decision has yet been taken as to the precise manner in which the loan stock will be repaid, although it will be by some method of refinancing. It is unlikely that there will be any net reduction in public debt at that time. In other words, that we are not expecting to pay anything down in cash.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2015 TO 2018 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably, the holders in the market.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Oh yes, they have to be paid in cash, but no net reduction in debt means that we hope to refinance that too. Not then, but we will borrow the money in order to pay them in cash.

HON J J BOSSANO:

When I was talking about repaying the existing holders in cash, whether it is the Savings Bank or Community Care or the market, obviously that did not necessarily mean that the cash could not be obtained by issuing loans to somebody else other than those three parties. So at the moment is the position then that the only party that will get the cash, even if the cash happens to be the proceeds of another loan, is the market and that the other two are undecided, is that the case?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well it is undecided. The Government have been, in effect, moving cash to Community Care over the years through purchasing of loan stock of Community Care, as a means of reducing the capital erosion of the value of their stock which of course approximates to 100 the closer one gets to redemption, as a means of minimising that erosion we had over the years bought from them whilst the capital value was higher. Of course we now have to decide whether to place cash or a loan note with a rate of interest to be decided in Community Care, we have to see which suits them better because frankly it makes little difference to us whether the loan is from Community Care or whether the loan is from somebody else, it is going to make no difference to Government, it would be a way of massaging the interest coupon in favour of Community Care.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the case of the £10 million which is held by the Savings Bank, which in fact is what was bought from Community Care in I think it was in three stages, their costs is a decision for the Government, have the Government taken a decision on that, on whether they want to carry on holding £10 million of Government stock in the Savings Bank?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well we are hoping that effectively the decision will be ours in both cases, since we are hoping that the trustees of Community Care will be guided by Government's advice. We have not taken a decision in either case but these decisions will be made in the next month or two. So it may be that by the time we come to the next Question Time, which I suppose will be some time before Christmas, it may be that these decisions will have been made.

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question Nos. 2019 and 202

A statement showing a breakdown by Government-owned companies of the total cash holdings held as at 31st March 2003 and 31st March 2004 is attached.

Answer to Question No. 2021

The end-of-year (of this current year) estimated cash holdings of the Government-owned companies are not expected to be materially different from current balances, which is a statement that I would take with a pinch of salt because there may be, depends how far we get with the new housing projects maybe financed out of these balances, so there are projects in the air which may eat into some of these cash balances before the end of the financial year. So I would not put too much stock but that is the answer to Question No. 2021.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2019 TO 2021 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am not sure about the comment that the Chief Minister has made about not being very different in 2005, is not on the bit of paper that I have got. It must be on his, but in fact on page 14 of the Approved Estimates of Expenditure the expected figure for 2005 is £3.7 million less.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Oh I see what he means, he has not actually asked that question. Yes he has, Question No. 2021 asks for the estimated for 2005.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, and if the answer is it is not likely to be materially different from the £19.6 million that it is at the end of four, all I can say is that in the Estimates presented in the House at budget time it was supposed to be £3.7 million less. Given that before £2 million was thought not to merit the adjective 'substantial' I do not see how £3.7 million is materially not different.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, these are based on revenue and expenditure and this is not like the Estimates whether we can give an indication of what the position is. It depends on how many people take up sales, how many people choose to buy their 50/50 shares and then it depends on whether the Government use the money for projects and for financing, but I agree. What he is saying is that there has already been a material difference.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Of £3.7 million.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes. Higher than what was estimated.

HON J J BOSSANO:

No, the point that I am making is that in my question I asked for the breakdown by companies on the 31st, the figure projected for the 31st March 2005. That is I was asking for a breakdown of how they arrived at the £16 million. If I am now told that the expectation at the end of this financial year is that it is not likely to be materially different from the £19.7 million that there was on 1st April 2004, then in fact that is materially different from what has been published because it is £3.7 million more than the figure that I have been working on, which is £16 million. If we have been told that they expect to have £16 million I would have thought that to get to the £16 million they would have had to make assumptions about the companies in the breakdown, and that is the breakdown I have asked for in that question.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Financial Secretary tells me that the reason why it is higher than estimated is that they have made a provision for expenditure on the new housing scheme which has not yet taken place. In other words, that they are assuming about £3 million worth of expenditure from these funds on the new housing schemes, which I was not aware actually that they had made an allowance for in the Estimates.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact the answer then is that the breakdown for 2004 is the one we should assume is the breakdown for 2005, is that the correct interpretation?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The breakdown of 2004 is an actual situation, that was the cash balance actually in hand. Now the estimate for the year ending March 2005 is materially different from the current balances so why does the hon Member say he is working on £16 million?

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well Question No. 2021 asked for.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I now follow what the hon Member is saying. The reason is, yes he is right, I see, the language is not entirely accurate. The current balance is £19.6 million yet in the accounts in the Estimates at the start of the year, we estimated that they would end at £16 million, which is indeed materially different from current balances contrary to what it says in the answer. I accept that that is so and the explanation, although it does not explain the error of language, the explanation why it is estimated to be £16 million at the end of March 2005 even though it is currently much higher at £19 million is because of this, it allowed for an expenditure of over £3 million on the new housing schemes which may or may not materialise frankly now before the end of March.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Since my original Question No. 2021 was to give a breakdown by companies of the estimated cash at the 31st March that is referring to the £16 million.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Do not do it like that.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well presumably when they pencilled in that the bottom figure would go down by £3 million, they must also have had in their minds whether it was going to be from the Gibraltar Information Bureau or Gibraltar Land Holdings, or from Westside Two. One of these companies must have been debited the £3.7 million in the Estimate? Or do they not even know which company is going to finance this? Well, when the Estimates were presented to the House, if I may ask the Chief Minister a question, if the House is being given on page 14 information that the total cash holdings of the Government companies are anticipated to come down by £3.7 million in the current financial year and it is obviously because those companies are expected to invest in housing a sum of one order, they must know, I know that this has not happened because it has been delayed or whatever, but they must have known which company was going to be doing the investing when they put that figure there. I do not see how else they could have made the estimate in the Treasury without knowing, or is it that the Government have not yet even taken a decision as to whether the company that is going to finance the investment is going to be the one that has most money for example, which happens to be Westside Two Co-Ownership or some other company?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well that is the question that I thought he had asked. I do not accept the censure implicit in the remark 'or is it that the Government have not even', there is no reason why the Government should not make that decision yet. As far as Treasury cash flow reserve planning is concerned, and future funding resources availability is concerned, this is just one pot and it may be that all of these balances will be required, not by the end of the financial year but by the end of the scheme as the housing scheme progresses, depending on how we decide to fund it. It may be that we may well end up using all that money. Certainly the first money to be used of course will be in the housing related companies, logically speaking. Westside Two Co-Ownership, Gibraltar Co-Ownership Company Limited and GRP Investment Company Limited, those are the companies but this is really one pot of money. It is true that once it gets spent it has to be debited to one or other because it has to be properly accounted for within the accounts of the company from which the money is withdrawn. So it is very important to the book keepers and then to the auditors of the company in question, but at Government level this is just a pot of money which is demonstrated by the fact that we account for it as if it were public reserves in the Government's Estimates. We just put Government-owned companies without bothering to distinguish monies parked in 100 per cent Government owned companies and which are available to the Government. How it is channelled in and out is a matter for book keepers and accountants, but it is to be drawn at will by the Government which is why, given that they are in effect reserves of the Government albeit put in the company, that is how we deal with them in the Estimates. There is no reason why strictly speaking in the estimates when we are talking about reserves and public debts that is Consolidated Fund Reserves. We could theoretically exclude the Government balances from that figure but consistently with how we regard it as public reserves, we then show it here as if they were public reserves even if though strictly speaking they are not.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am well aware of that because that was a policy that was introduced a few years ago when that extra page was added, which is strictly speaking an informative sheet which does not form part of the Approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure or of the Reserves of the Consolidated Fund. I am well aware of all that, but if the Chief Minister is surprised that I should ask how is it that at this stage they still do not know, well if we are now six months into the financial year in which the decision had already been taken to spend £3.7 million in the year, which means that halfway through the year they might have been already past spending £1 million, I would have thought that they would have already earmarked at the beginning of the year how this was going to happen. So is it in fact the case that from the last remarks that the Chief Minister has made, that it may well be that the vehicle that is used for the investment is not any one of these companies and that simply the money is passed from one of these companies to that vehicle?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Absolutely. That is exactly what I meant because I should also add for his information that we are looking to further rationalise these companies and we are seeking to reduce them to the fewest number of Government property owning companies, which means that we will merge them and things of that sort. We would have done it already if it were not because these three co-ownership companies each are parties to trust deeds and I think they are party to mortgages, and we were looking for a way of dealing with this without having to sign all those documents, or one supplemental deed. What we want to do in effect is to end up with one holding company, one residential property owning company and one commercial property owning company, and further simplify the structure beyond this which is already itself a simplification. That is all in the sense of the corporate structuring. In terms of the money in the corporate structure, the Government regard and account in this House as if they were all sitting as part of the public reserve and that is the treatment that we give. In other words, we do not take advantage of the fact that they are in companies and that we could sort of beaver away in secret and not account. Yes, if we were not disclosing these balances and we were taking the view that these were company balances, theoretically the hon Members would not know what the money was being spent on until the accounts of these companies were eventually Tabled in this House, but long after the event. So the Government are being entirely consistent in that the money is in a company structure but we treat the money as if it were all in the hands of the Government, accountable through the Consolidated Fund, which is why it appears here. So, yes, the hon Member was right. In the Government's mind this is one pot currently £19 million and it is not segregated into different company names, because it is all moveable about. That need to move it all about between one company and another will be further reduced when we shrink the companies from five or six into two or three.

CONSOLIDATED FUND

Can Government state whether the forecast Consolidated Fund balance as at 1st April 2004 is still £26.985 million or has this figure now been revised?

CONSOLIDATED FUND

Can Government state what were the receipts of revenue giving a breakdown by Head, of the Consolidated Fund to 30th September 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The actual balance of the Consolidated Fund as at 1st April 2004 was £26.875 million

The figures for revenue receipts to the 30th September 2004 have not yet been compiled by the Treasury. Tentative figures are in the order of £74 million.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2022 AND 2023 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can Government say the difference of £200,000 between the forecast estimate and the new revised figure, how does that change the total for revenue and expenditure that were previously shown in the printed Approved Estimates? That is to say, the £163,000 and the £165,000 income and expenditure. Is it that the revenue is higher or that the expenditure is lower than the figure quoted there?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It could be almost as many permutations of factors as the hon Member could care to speculate about. It could be higher revenue and lower expenditure, it could be higher expenditure but higher revenue by an even greater amount, the net effect is just over £100,000 to the good.

HON J J BOSSANO:

My question is quite simple, is the revenue figure now still £163.867 million and the expenditure £165.201 million or are there two different figures there? If they have the figures they have them if they do not they do not. I am asking for a breakdown of the £165 million.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot tell him whether both or which of those figures have changed to produce the extra £110,000. We can get it.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2024 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

I believe I am right without having checked the previous answer for the preceding year, I think Government contracts seems to be a new addition. Who is the employer there?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think that it is an employee of the company that runs the Alameda Gardens, Wildlife Gibraltar. It might be because I remember them asking whether they could participate and I assume that this is them but it may not be.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I think that the last time the information was provided which was for the previous year, every single one were sort of Government-owned companies. This one of course is not, it is a Government contractor but it is privately owned, so would this be the first or the only one that has actually joined?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, be careful, a lot of these things are public sector but not Government. GBC for example is there he will have noticed, Government contracts, Land Property Services is also a Government contractor.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I do not think that one was there either.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There are there examples of moving into the next tier which is Government contractors. The scheme is open to private sector companies and indeed it is a bit disappointing that more have not taken it up because this is a very cheap and cost-effective way for private sector companies to provide pensions to mobile low-paid workers. By mobile I mean the sort of worker that suffers a high churn in terms of job employer mobility, but there has not been a huge take up.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of GBC, given that GBC has its own pensions system, are these because they are new entrants who do not go into the historical pension scheme, is that the position?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Correct. The GBC Pension Scheme is substantially under-funded as most final salary schemes are under-funded in Plc's and in the BBC for reasons the hon Member knows from reading the press. I think the Board of GBC is sensibly taking the view that new staff members in GBC should go onto the Provident Scheme and not onto the existing scheme, and indeed that is something that the Government welcome particularly if they are going to look to the Government to shore up the under-funding.

I & D FUND

Can Government state whether they have drawn any part of the £5 million loan facility so far in the current financial year, intended to finance expenditure by the I & D Fund?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

No, it has not been drawn upon so far.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2025 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that it is now halfway through the financial year, do the Government think they will need as much as £5 million in the second half?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, as things stand right now I think there is an intention to draw upon it quite soon. That might be avoided because of course proceeds of sale of Government properties may be higher, all these MOD properties coming up and all that thing so it is really a cash flow issue, whether the proceeds from the sale of the properties come in quickly enough to avoid having to draw down because this really is a balancing figure. There is a contribution from the Consolidated Fund which will be drawn on first, then there are sale of Government properties which is the other Head of Revenue and this really is the balancing figure that sort of mops up the residual situation. There are a lot of Government sales coming up in the next few months, I do not know how quickly they will be completed, whether they will be completed and the money will come in before the end in time for the Treasury cash management programme.

HEAD 102, SUBHEAD 1

Can Government state how much revenue has been received to date under Head 102 – Land and Building Sales and Leases – and give a breakdown?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

A total of £1.7 million has been received by Government under the Improvement and Development Fund, Head 102 Subhead 1 – Land and Building Sales and Leases as at 30th September 2004.

The sum of £187,302 relates to Commercial land sales and £1,543,129.77p relates to Residential land sales. In fact I can tell the hon Member that those figures are now higher. I am aware that there have been one or two substantial receipts under the first heading, Commercial Land Sales since that date.

HEAD 102, SUBHEAD 1

Can Government state whether they still expect to receive £6,000,000 under Head 102 from sale of Government properties in the current financial year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

It is still too early to predict the extent of proceeds from land sales planned by the Government, £6 million is still the latest amount estimated to be recovered in the current financial year and I regard that still as an eminently achievable target, given the amount of transactions in the pipeline

GARRISON LIBRARY

Have discussions for the transfer of the Garrison Library to the Government now commenced?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

No, not yet.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2028 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

What time frame do the Government envisage those discussions commencing?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is really so much going on at the moment that really in the context of the Lands deal that was really shunted to one side. This actually is an issue in which I dedicate a fair amount of blood pressure if not time. I feel very strongly about this issue, I am a passionate believer in the fact that the Garrison Library should be transferred to Government, so I really do look forward to getting stuck into that in due course. As I think we have discussed here tentatively before it is a potential alternative venue for this House with much more supporting offices available because there is the potential of Government allocating buildings in that area for support offices for the staff, for the House, for the Speaker, indeed for Members, which are not available here.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Given what the Chief Minister has last said, will he pursue this energetically and vigorously.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will pursue it energetically from the moment that I get round to starting to pursue it. Yes I think it is one of the issues that perhaps the new Minister for Culture will take over just as soon as I can brief him, I will hand the file over to him.

Do Government have an order of cost for relocating the commercial activities currently located adjacent to the East Side Reclamation area, if required?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

NO. 2034 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

EAST SIDE DEVELOPMENT

Would the cost of relocating the commercial activities currently located adjacent to the East Side Reclamation area be met by the developer of the area, the Government or a Government owned company?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The area in square metres occupied by the existing commercial activities is 11,700 square metres. Under the development proposal currently under negotiation all these activities would have to be relocated. The Government have tentatively identified relocation sites for each of them. The order of costs is still unquantified with any meaningful degree of accuracy but Government have a ball park figure in mind. The issue of who bears the costs is an element of the commercial agreement under negotiation. It would therefore be inappropriate to comment at this stage.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2030 TO 2034 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Would the Government think it inappropriate to reveal what the ball park figure is?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well yes, because we do not wish to put ideas in the minds of the people with whom we have to negotiate the relocation, and if they think that there is a pot they will all aim for a share of it and obviously the Government want it to cost as little as possible if it is going to affect the premium that we get for the rest of it.

EAST SIDE DEVELOPMENT

Can Government state what is the area of the east side reclamation that is being made available for redevelopment?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 2036 of 2004.

NO. 2036 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

EAST SIDE DEVELOPMENT

Is the area that is being offered for redevelopment in the east side reclamation the whole of the area at present reclaimed or does it involve additional reclamation taking place?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

This is straying into sensitive commercial areas under negotiation, the issue is negotiable and under negotiation. In other words, the developer puts up proposals and we consider whether we are willing to allow them to extend the site as required. Of course we are clear that there must be no encroachment either into the public beach at Eastern Beach, to the north, or to the Catalan Bay site to the south, so the scope for growth so to speak is necessarily outwards. So it is really just a question of to what extent, to what distance we are willing to allow them to reclaim.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2035 AND 2036 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Chief Minister say what is the present area that is there now, which is Question No. 2035?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not think whoever put this answer together has interpreted this as asking for a figure in square metres. I think it has been interpreted to mean what is the description of the area, how far does it extend, made available for redevelopment meaning what are the areas under negotiation. If the question is asking for what is the superficial area in square metres of the existing reclamation zone then that information is available. In fact it is in my file but I am afraid I have not got it here.

HON J J BOSSANO:

But there is no problem of that being sensitive?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, whatever is there. What is commercially sensitive is the extent to which we may be willing to allow them to enlarge to do more.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the answer then that subject to whether they will do more or not do more, the negotiating position is that all that there is there plus the 11,700 square metres would be the minimum as it were?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, subject to including therein, in a way which is under negotiation too, a free public car park to service Eastern Beach at one end and to service Catalan Bay at the other. In other words, the whole area is available but they have got to provide a minimum number of parking spaces for the beaches, separate access not in the development as such. Subject to that the whole area is available.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Would the Chief Minister be able to provide me then with the measurement of the whole area?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

MOD

Can Government say what was the amount that the MOD had to pay in cash on the book value of its property under UK accounting rules which resulted in a reduction in its spendable budget in Gibraltar in 2002/2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 2038 of 2004.

NO. 2038 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

MOD

Can Government say what was the MOD's spendable budget in 2002/2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Neither of these questions relate to matters for which the Government are responsible and the Government are not therefore accountable in this House, but I can tell the hon Member that the figure produced by the application of UK Treasury accounting rules to MOD Gibraltar's spendable budget is not known to the Government. I can try and explain to him what the Treasury rule is but I do not know how to apply this to the spendable budget. The hon Member should seek this information from the MOD directly. Last time I tried to find out on his behalf what the current side of the budget was, we had to write more than one letter.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2037 AND 2038 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well, the reason why I am asking the Chief Minister is because in the statement that he provided in the House in answer to Question No. 1144 he mentioned this in his statement and therefore, I accept he is not responsible for the MOD but I think it has been the practice that when something is mentioned in the House then one can ask questions on the statement.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think I mentioned it in the context of giving it as one of the reasons why it suited the MOD to unload the properties from its books. In other words, I can explain to the hon Member in a nutshell what the system is. The Treasury makes the MOD account, this is not just the MOD by the way all Government Departments, as a means of preventing or discouraging departments from sitting on un-needed real estate which they then have to spend money maintaining, the Treasury attaches a value to real estate property and makes them deduct a percentage of that value from their annual budget. So, for example, if the figure is 5 per cent per year and the Treasury has £5 million worth of real estate, then 5 per cent of £5 million is £250,000 would have to be deducted from their spendable budget and sent in cash to the Treasury. That is the system. Now what I cannot tell him is what the mathematical calculation is and what figure it produces because I do not know at what values the MOD's real estate in Gibraltar is valued by Treasury for those purposes. Nor actually do I know, though it was once mentioned to me in the heat of a negotiating meeting, but as it was not relevant I did not note it, what was the percentage that they have to rebate, but that is the system but I cannot tell him by how much. This is the reason why it suited the MOD to suddenly abandon this pay me for assets principle because it was actually costing them money now to sit on it.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Apart from the fact that it has encouraged them to pass property over to the people of Gibraltar which is a good thing, presumably it will also mean that their spendable budget in Gibraltar will be higher than it would otherwise have been if they do not have to reduce it. Does that follow or not? My question is, would the Government not agree that in fact the implications of that presumably are that the MOD spendable budget will benefit in Gibraltar and that therefore it is good for the Gibraltar economy at the same time?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, correct. In other words, there is now a smaller sum of money that they have to pack off and not spend on things in Gibraltar. In other words, they have more money to spend in Gibraltar.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The Government of Gibraltar have not been able to obtain from the MOD what that might amount to?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the truth is that we have not really asked. There are other benefits to the MOD budget from the lands deal. For example, there is I think it was £250,000 reduction in SILAU so there are other areas in which the lands deal delivers budgetary benefits on-going to the MOD.

NO. 2039 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

MOD

Can Government state what is the relocation costs they expect to meet in the current financial year in respect of the MOD land release and whether this expenditure is already provided for in the approved expenditure of the I & D Fund?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The exact relocation costs, we have got to be careful with the use of the word 'relocation' in this context, for all envisaged relocations which might need to be undertaken as part of the recent lands deal is not yet known.

As the lands deal was signed after the start of this current financial year there is no specific I & D Fund provision for this. I suppose I could add that there is one element of the lands deal which is in the lands deal but had already been agreed and that was the relocation of Coaling Island, the boats and that is already under way and I think there is provision for that in the I & D Fund. The only other project which is in fact already under way, which involves expenditure by the Government as a result to unlock the MOD land deal benefit but is not really a relocation as such, is that in order to obtain the release of some of the valuable villas we are reconverting some of the blocks in Four Corners into higher grade accommodation. In other words, the blocks in Four Corners were of a certain grade, the villas were for tenants of a higher grade in MOD grading terms and therefore we have got to convert the blocks in Four Corners to those higher grades. There are several million pounds of expenditure in total in that, phased over a number of years and JBS who was doing this work started on the blocks, the hon Member will see the scaffolding up as he drives past the taxi stand there in Winston Churchill Avenue. That is not a relocation cost as such but it is a cost of release of land.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2039 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

This work which is being done by JBS, presumably JBS will not have to pay for it itself. Is that being charged to the I & D Fund?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, the Government will pay but whether it will be the Government through the I & D Fund or whether it will be one of the companies, we will have to make that decision. Needless to say, the resale value of the properties that that expenditure releases is hugely greater than the cost of the works to secure their release.

MOD

Can Government state what is the estimated yield of the rates that become payable by commercial entities holding MOD tenancies, in the current financial year?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Nine commercial entities were renting premises from the MOD in 2003/2004 and they are all registered with the Rent Assessor.

The estimated yield assuming the benefit of the 20 per cent discount has been obtained through timely payments of the rates that become payable by such commercial entities in the current financial year amounts to £71,824. Let me say that although it is not a huge sum of money, the reason why we included this issue in the lands deal was not so much for the sum of money but rather that the companies who were competing with these companies in the private sector felt that they were on an unlevel playing field, that these people were saving rents, saving rates and therefore were able to compete in the market place. So the purpose of securing this was to eliminate that commercial disadvantage for their competitors.

The amount payable by the MOD in lieu of rates in respect of the financial year 2003/2004 was £2,478,779.58p.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2042 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Given that the lands memorandum comes in at the end of the last financial year, I take it that this figure does not reflect any reduction as a result of any release of property. That will be seen in the current financial year, is that correct?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, it does not yet reflect any of those issues.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So any change would be reflected in the current financial year, that is the question?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes. I am told that it is about £1.99 million.

NO. 2045 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

GHA

Based on the expenditure incurred up to September, do Government anticipate any changes to the estimated expenditure for the current financial year by the Gibraltar Health Authority?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

It is too early in the financial year to say whether or not there will be changes to the estimated expenditure by any of the entities mentioned by the hon Member. The Government expect spending departments, authorities and agencies to stick to approved levels of expenditure except where this is outside of their control. We are fast approaching the time in the financial year when we take a closer look at these things and either make new money available or start pressing the departments to find savings in their expenditure for the rest of the year, to make up for any over-expenditure in the previous year but that exercise has not yet taken place.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2043 TO 2045 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

So the implication now is that in all three areas the expenditure in the first six months is in line with the estimates.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, not necessarily, we do not know. I have personally not yet looked at that although I will start looking at that now in the next month or so. If there is over-expenditure we will have to analyse what the cause of that over-expenditure is, whether it is caused by things that deserve to be funded by supplementary funding or whether it is over-expenditure of the sort for which they should be penalised in the sense of making them find savings in respect of the rest of the financial year in order to minimise the over-expenditure. Usually savings that we force on them towards the end of the financial year do not normally cover the full amount of the over-expenditure, and the net residue usually emerge in the House as supplementary funding.

HOUSING – GLACIS ESTATE

Can Government state which is the procedure the tenants have to follow to have defective lighting in the landing of Glacis Estate blocks attended to?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

Master Service (Gibraltar) Ltd is responsible for the cleaning and maintenance of Glacis Estate.

The rubbish chutes at both Referendum House and Constitution House are cleaned on a regular basis.

Government are aware of their extensive and successful programme of cleanliness. However, there might be, from time to time, some occasions whereby limited areas are targeted by indiscriminate users.

There is a maintenance contract with 'OTIS' for the repair of all lifts at Glacis Estate, including of course, Brother O'Brien House.

There have been a total of 228 breakdowns in the current financial year, amongst the four lifts installed in Referendum House and Constitution House.

There have been a total of 16 breakdowns in the current financial year amongst the five lifts in Glacis Estate.

Tenants should report any defective 'landing' lighting directly to the Reporting Office at the City Hall.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2046 TO 2052 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

Who oversees Master Service in connection with the work that is to be carried out in Glacis Estate?

HON J J NETTO:

The Ministry for Housing have a Senior Manager who is in charge in overseeing and monitoring the state of cleanliness of Master Service.

HON C A BRUZON:

I have visited Glacis Estate regularly and I would like to ask the Minister for Housing maybe to visit the area himself. I am afraid that the state of Glacis Estate in terms of hygiene and cleanliness leaves much to be desired.

HON J J NETTO:

No, I do not agree at all. The fact of the matter is that we are continuously congratulated by the Tenants Association of the job well done by Master Service Ltd. They live there, they know what is going on there and they have a better inkling than the hon Member.

HON C A BRUZON:

Do Government have any plans to tackle the problem, which I admit is difficult, in the area surrounding the lifts and the chutes in Glacis Estate, where there are pigeons and nests and droppings which cause problems vis a vis hygiene?

HON J J NETTO:

Yes, this is an area which we will look into as well.

HON C A BRUZON:

Finally, could Government explain this OTIS firm that is responsible for repairing the lifts, is this company a Spanish company?

HON J J NETTO:

Yes.

HON C A BRUZON:

Is the Minister aware that there are sometimes difficulties in getting this company to attend to a problem quickly?

HON J J NETTO:

No, I do not agree, I think the hon Member is trying to suggest that because we had a problem with Brother O'Brien House in relation to one of the lifts that was faulty there but that is not the case. OTIS does provide a good service and they do attend, with the exception of one case which was in Brother O'Brien House, which they did attend to the wrong block and the wrong lift. Having said that, they went back on the following day and what happened there was that in attending the fault in Brother O'Brien House, they had realised that acts of vandalism had been committed to some of the sensory electrical equipment there because some people had put in superglue in the connectors and they had to go back and order specific equipment for that particular lift, which took an extra couple of days. But if one takes away that particular incident alone the service is quite good.

HOUSING – MINOR WORKS

Can Government state how many Government tenants are currently listed as requiring work to be done in their homes by the Housing Department as landlords, and give a breakdown of the numbers in pre-war and post-war housing?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

Current tenants awaiting minor works (response maintenance) is 1,756 as a whole. With regard to this category of works, our system does not differentiate between pre-war and post-war housing.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2054 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

When the Minister refers to these as minor works I understand that there is a list that refers to urgent works to be done. Are these urgent jobs also included in the 1,756?

Can Government state if they are now in a position to make an announcement of the major reforms concerning housing allocation procedures that they referred to in answer to Question No. 1457 of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

No. Government will make their policy announcement when they are ready to do so. The target date is the first quarter of next year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2055 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

The reason for asking the question is because we were told last time that they would be in a position to make an announcement before the end of this year, that is my understanding.

HON J J NETTO:

Yes, that would have been our desire but things have slipped a bit and we are, as I said in my answer, hoping to do this in the first quarter of this coming year.

HOUSING – RENT RELIEF

Can Government state what is the final figure of households applying for rent relief in the financial year 2003/2004, the final number approved and the comparable figures for the current financial year to date?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

A total of 154 tenants were on full rent relief in 2003/2004, and to date, under this financial year 2004/2005, a total of 120 tenants are on full rent relief.

A total of 244 tenants had the level of rent relief reduced in 2003/2004 and to date, under this financial year 2004/2005, a total of 222 tenants have had their level of rent relief reduced.

A total of 214 households had their rent relief terminated in 2003/2004, and a total of 114 households have had their rent relief terminated to date, under this financial year 2004/2005.

A total of 792 households were receiving rent relief in 2003/2004, and to date, under this financial year 2004/2005, 737 households are receiving rent relief.

125 applications for rent relief were received in 2003/2004 out of which 98 were approved and 27 rejected. To date, under this financial year 2004/2005, 69 applications have been received out of which 60 have been approved and nine rejected.

THE HON C A BRUZON

HOUSING – ARREARS OF RENT

Can Government say how many tenants have been sent summonses for the payment of arrears of rent plus an annual interest charge of 8 per cent?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

A total of 125 agreements have been entered into with tenants for the recovery of rent arrears.

The total amount of rent covered by these agreements is £693,737.

Tenants entering into these agreements have not got to pay the 8 per cent interest charge.

The total cumulative amount of rent arrears as at 14th December 2004 was £2,886,198.

A total of 11 tenants have been sent legal claims in respect of the non-payment of rent. The 8 per cent interest charge is not included and does not form part of the above figure as this charge is only raised by the Treasury Department at the time that a legal claim for the recovery of rent is sent.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2067 TO 2069 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the event that they enter into an agreement, does the 8 per cent still apply?

HON J J NETTO:

No it does not apply.

BUILDINGS & WORKS DEPARTMENT

Can Government provide an update on the on-going discussions with the Union regarding the move into a proposed Authority of the Buildings and Works Department?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HOUSING

As stated in answer to previous questions, negotiations are on-going.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2070 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can the Government provide the number of times that they have met with the Buildings & Works Department since the answer to Question No. 1467 of 2004 which the Minister has referred to?

HON J J NETTO:

The Government are not in a position to give details of the negotiating process with the Union.

HON L A RANDALL:

Surely I have not asked for details. All I have asked is to be provided with the number of meetings that have been held to discuss this subject, not the subject matter.

HON J J NETTO:

We do not think that is a relevant question at all.

HON F R PICARDO:

With respect, the relevance of questions is determined by the Speaker not by the person purporting to answer the question.

MR SPEAKER:

I agree, the relevance is the Speaker's ruling. The Minister may answer any terms other than reference to relevance.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Minister has answered originally and that is that he does not think it appropriate. The hon Member interprets the word 'details' as meaning details of the subject matter and I do not think that is what the Minister meant by the word 'details'. I think by the word 'details' he meant details of the mechanical process of the negotiations as opposed to just the details of the substance of the negotiations he interpreted.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Would the Minister not agree that if he describes the process as on-going, one would expect that that means between the last question and this answer there would have been a number of meetings. If nothing has happened then it is difficult to see what on-going means. Is something regularly taking place or have things sort of come to an impasse?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member's supplementary is predicated on a false premise. That is that negotiations only take place through meetings. Negotiations also take place through exchange of papers, through exchange of documents, through exchange of drafts which may not have been formed in a meeting but nevertheless is an on-going process of negotiation. Particularly when what one is doing is negotiating the terms and conditions of new terms of employment, where it is very much documented stuff.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The answer then is that it is going on all the time.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

SOCIETY FOR THE VISUALLY IMPAIRED

Can Government state if they have taken a policy decision, having discussed the matter with the Society for the Prevention of Blindness, to provide:

- (a) A Centre for the Blind;
- (b) A Mobility Officer?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

In a meeting between the Society for the Visually Impaired and myself, a request was made for the provision of bigger and more suitable premises for the Society. In principle, I agreed to assist them in identifying and acquiring such premises, and asked the Society to also look around for themselves and come back to me. Unfortunately, no suitable premises have been found to date which will cater for their needs.

Government have never committed themselves to providing a Mobility Officer for the Society. During the said meeting, the society mooted the possibility of bringing over from the UK a Mobility Officer, as and when required, to instruct their members in the use of mobility aids. However, this would only be possible once the premises had been acquired, and it was implicitly agreed that the Society, whose funds are thankfully healthy, would meet this cost.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2072 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

Could I ask the Minister if Government consider that there is a need for a Mobility Officer for the blind? I think the Minister has said that when premises are found, the two ideas have been connected, the actual premises with the Mobility Officer. Is there a need for a Mobility Officer? I think there is.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I do not think it is up to the Government to decide what the needs of charitable organisations are. As I said, if the Society feels there is a need, we did discuss the matter and they themselves did not even feel the need arose to ask Government for a Mobility Officer. They feel one is required and they have the funds to pay for one.

Can Government state what transfers have been made from the Open Long-Term Benefits Fund to the Closed Long-Term Benefits Fund giving the amounts for each month of the third quarter of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

Twenty persons have already taken advantage of this further opportunity to pay arrears of social insurance contributions. However, it is not possible to determine if there are others who are eligible unless they enquire or apply. The department could still receive such enquiries until the closing date which is 22nd January 2005, but we do not envisage that there will be many more.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2082 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

At one stage the original rules were that it was for the single pensioner households or pensioner households for a married couple, and I think at a later stage the Government said they were going to reconsider that criteria to allow for people who were not necessarily a married couple but who were both on social assistance. Has that actually happened, is this reflected in the figures?

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

What I can recall saying and which has been implemented is adding other categories to that list, another category that we included was for example if a married couple, or a single person for that matter, lived with somebody else who was either a pensioner or somebody on social assistance or long term unemployed, they would not be taken into account as living with the person and they would still be entitled.

MOUNT ALVERNIA

Can Government state if there has been any increase in the number of emergency exits at Mount Alvernia or has there been any improvement in connection with the emergency exits as part of the major refurbishment works that are being carried out there?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

A new lift is being installed. The lift will be fitted and commissioned by January 2005.

Government are satisfied that the ECA have put in place a system of emergency exits that has been recommended by the Supervising/Health & Safety Officer in conjunction with the Emergency Services.

There has been no increase in the number of emergency exits. However, following refurbishment, improvements have been made by compartmentalising different areas of the building with fire doors, which will avoid having to effect a mass evacuation in the case of a fire.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2083 TO 2085 OF 2004

ELDERLY CARE AGENCY

Given the answers to Question Nos. 1514 and 1515 of 2004 and supplementaries thereto are Government now in a position to state what UK or Gibraltar qualifications they will require of employees of ADA Limited providing services under the contract between that company and the Elderly Care Agency?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR SOCIAL AND CIVIC AFFAIRS

In answers to Question Nos. 1514 and 1515 of 2004 and supplementaries thereto, the issue of whether the ECA stipulated what standard it required of ADA employees was not fully determined and was left very much in the air.

Having sought further information, I can confirm that the ECA does in effect do this. The requirements are that any employee of ADA Ltd who provides care for an ECA recipient, must have a minimum of 180 hours of certificated training for care assistants and must have worked in a recognised hospital or care home for a minimum of three months. Alternatively, a care worker must have had a minimum of nine months experience working in a registered hospital or care home where the person in post will have been overseen by a qualified Sister or Staff Nurse. In the UK, these requirements currently translate, qualification-wise, into an NVQ level 2 in care, although the UK is now looking to achieve NVQ level 3 for all care workers by 2006. These are the standards used in the UK as set out by the Joint Advisory Group of Domiciliary Care Association in Surrey, of which the ECA is a member.

The Spanish equivalent of this qualification, which meets the requirements set out by the ECA, is the one which was loosely translated into English at the last House.

The ECA has been liaising with the School of Health Studies to look at the possibility of introducing NVQ certificated training in care in Gibraltar. If this comes to fruition, anyone who successfully completes the course will be able to compete for any domiciliary care worker posts that arise in the future.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2088 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In Question No. 2088 where the information was passed across, the column does not seem to add up to the figures there. Could the Minister look at that and see if there is an inaccuracy in the answer provided in writing? In the November figure for the Employment Injuries Insurance Fund, that shows that the receipts are £41,000 and the payments £38,000 for that month, but in fact if £38,000 is subtracted from £51,220 the answer cannot be £5,060,818. There seems to be an arithmetical error there. I wonder if that could be looked into and corrected if it is wrong.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I will certainly ask Treasury who prepares these answers to look into it.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The receipts are in excess of the expenditure and the balance goes down, which is not the usual result.

NO. 2089 OF 2004

THE HON S E LINARES

TRAFFIC FLOW

Can Government state whether there has been an improvement in the traffic flow generally after the change of school hours and how this is monitored?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The change in school hours has resulted in a marked improvement in the traffic flow at midday due to the reduced numbers of school children that are now going home for lunch. There has not, however, been any appreciable increase in volumes at 3.30 pm resulting from the earlier closing times of schools and neither has there been any significant difference in traffic volumes during the period between 4.00 pm and 6.00 pm. In the mornings the situation remains as normal as far as the effects of the school hours is concerned, although the introduction of the free travel for school children offered by the Gibraltar Bus Company has also had a very noticeable and positive impact on overall traffic flow at school opening and closing times.

The Royal Gibraltar Police handle day to day traffic issues and they are aware of any changes in traffic circulation patterns that may result, be they as consequence of any changes that may be introduced or otherwise.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2089 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Can the Minister explain what scientific way this is monitored by the Police Force?

HON F VINET:

No, I cannot explain what scientific way, if any, is utilised by the RGP. What I can tell the hon Member is that the RGP does conduct surveys, tests, I am not aware whether these are scientific or otherwise, and they in turn provide the information to the Department of Transport.

HON S E LINARES:

I would like to ask the Minister that apart from the RGP what other systems are in place by the Ministry of Transport to monitor the traffic flow after the change of school hours?

HON F VINET:

There is no separate system. We are given the information by the RGP.

SMITH DORRIEN BRIDGE

Can Government state whether the report has now been concluded regarding recommendations on the maintenance work that needs to be undertaken on Smith Dorrien Bridge, and if so, provide the Opposition with a copy of the report?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The report does not relate only to Smith Dorrien Bridge. It relates also to Orange Bastion Bridge and is part of the Government's on-going routine and periodic inspection of load bearing structures. This includes bridges with a view to their monitoring and the identification of required maintenance works. The report is now complete and the Technical Services Department is currently considering it. Government do not ordinarily make such reports available outside the Government.

DUDLEY WARD TUNNEL

Can Government state whether they have now obtained all the data that they require to confirm the full viability of a proposal for the remedial works that will enable the re-opening of Dudley Ward Tunnel for vehicular traffic?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

No.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2091 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Have the Government got at least a target date by which this data and the report will be ready?

HON F VINET:

The process is on-going.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Perhaps I should add for the sake of the completeness of the hon Member's understanding of this, the technical process of designing a scheme is on-going. The decision whether or not to invest the necessary amount of capital to implement it is a matter that will be taken in accordance with the Government's prioritisation of projects in due course. So I would not want him to get the wrong impression. In other words, it is not that the project will go ahead necessarily as soon as the technical works are finished. It is true that it cannot go ahead because the technical works have not finished, but the reverse is not necessarily the case either.

HON L A RANDALL:

That was my understanding and is my understanding, I just wanted to know when the report would be ready.

SEWAGE TREATMENT PLANT

Can Government provide an update of the status for the tender of the Sewage Treatment Plant?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The various studies that were undertaken to generate the necessary data for inclusion in the tender documents have now been completed and we are presently at the stage of appointing a Technical Advisor for the project who will be assisting Government in the preparation of the tender documentation and subsequent negotiations that are to ensue.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2093 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Can the Minister state at what site the Sewage Treatment Plant will be located?

HON F VINET:

As I seem to recall I revealed in a previous answer to a question, on the site of the Brewery Crusher.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

As I can see, the hon Members are having difficulty locating the site of the Brewery Crusher, it is below the parapet wall along the road as one approaches the lighthouse. Opposite the Mosque, the other side of that road.

MOT TESTS

Can Government state how many days they estimate elapse at this point in time between the day one applies for an MOT test and the day the test is carried out?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

At present there is no delay. Tests can be carried out on the day following the application for an appointment.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2094 OF 2004

The Driving and Vehicle Examiners have submitted a claim which Government continue to consider not to be reasonable or justified and it has therefore not been met.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2095 AND 2096 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Has there not been any movement or progress since the answer to Question No. 1838 of 2004, in which I was told that the Government would shortly be deciding on what action to take?

NO. 2099 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

OESCO

Can Government state the number of new engines that OESCO is obliged to install and operate by the termination date of the recently renewed contract?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Subject to availability of generating plant at Waterport Power Station it is estimated that approximately 61,200,000 units of electricity will be purchased from OESCO in the current financial year.

The extension to the contract with OESCO was renewed on 3rd August 2003 and has a duration of 8 years and 4 months from 9th June 2004, therefore the termination date would be 9th October 2012.

The new engine that is currently in the process of installation will represent the last one required from OESCO under the renewed contract.

SALE OF ELECTRICITY

Can Government state the amount of revenue collected from the sale of electricity in the current financial year to the end of November and the amount billed in the same period?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The amount of revenue collected during the current financial year up to the 30th November 2004 was £7,416, 673.49p.

The amount billed during the same period was £10,194,181.00.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2101 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can the Minister confirm that the consumption rate between the months of September and November has increased substantially? I say this because when I asked Question No. 1834 of 2004, I was given a figure of £4.9 million for the period ending in August. So for the additional three months the increase seems to be in the region of £5.3 million, more than for the first five months. Will the Minister just check the number and let me know. I suspect that it may not be correct.

NO. 2102 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

WATERPORT POWER STATION

Can Government state whether they propose to replace any of the three engines at the Waterport Power Station, and if so, by when?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

There are currently no plans to install replacement engines at Waterport Power Station.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2102 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

I am just somewhat concerned, with all these new developments there will be I assume an increase in consumption, so where is the present consumption going to be met by? Is it by one engine that is going to come on line at OESCO?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, obviously the hon Member has asked a different question to the one he may have intended to ask. The hon Member asked whether it was intended to replace any engines, by which we understood him to mean have any of the existing engines exhausted their shelf life and are they in need of replacing. The hon Member's supplementary, in contrast, relates to additional generating capacity to meet additional demand. The answer that he has had relates to the question as asked, namely the replacement of existing machines. The answer to the latter to his supplementary is that it is expected that additional demand, which is materialising even from the existing consumers let alone from the very substantial developments that are in the pipeline, will be met either from additional generating capacity at Waterport, as opposed to replacement, additional generating capacity at Waterport or, depending on how the negotiations for the East Side development goes, new generating capacity at a brand new power station. So the hon Member is right in supposing that there is a need for more generating capacity than exists at the moment.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just press the Chief Minister and ask him to clarify whether that potential new generating plant would be to cater only for the East Side of Gibraltar, as expanded or extended, or to cater for the whole of the town and replace Waterport.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, subject to a successful conclusion of negotiations, we envisage being able to close down the Waterport Power Station altogether and having a single power station with greater generating capacity than we have at the moment, all located in a new power station at a new site. Obviously to service the whole of Gibraltar, it goes without saying.

HON F R PICARDO:

Has that site already been identified or is it one of the things still subject to negotiation?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, the location of the site is not for negotiating with the developer, it is a matter for the Government to designate.

HON F R PICARDO:

Have the Government designated the site?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Government have a shortlist of two, which is rapidly becoming a shortlist of one in terms of preference but I would rather not be pressed right now on that location because the negotiations are at a critical level.

THE HON L A RANDALL

GIBTELECOM

Can Government state whether they have any intention of disposing of their equity stake in Gibtelecom by the end of 2005?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

As is well know, Verizon wishes to sell its shareholding in Gibtelecom. Various potential purchasers have shown an interest. It would not be appropriate for the Government to identify these parties publicly at this stage. The Government are not seeking to dispose of their shareholding in Gibtelecom.

Can Government confirm that none of the Directors of AquaGib received a fee and/or allowance for the services that they rendered to the company for the last financial year for which accounts have been audited?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

I am advised that the Board of Directors of AquaGib, Gibtelecom and its subsidiaries do not receive any emoluments from the respective companies for their services as Directors. This information is set out in the notes to the latest audited accounts of the companies, which are filed at Companies House.

NO. 2108 OF 2004

GIBRALTAR BUS COMPANY LIMITED

Can Government state whether, in the interest of competition on the basis of a level playing field, they propose to offer to the competitors of the Gibraltar Bus Company Limited (GBCL) a site similar to the one that GBCL now occupies and on terms and conditions not dissimilar to those that GBCL enjoys?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The Government have no such intention. Nor is there any issue of level playing field or competition since the two companies do not compete on any route.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2108 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Will the Minister confirm that a commitment was made to the company to provide them with such premises way back in 1997?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, no such commitment was made to Calypso. Calypso was however told, as far as I am aware, that like any other commercial entity in Gibraltar in need of premises, if they identified Government premises they wished, they should put in a bid and Government would consider it. However, Government do not have a responsibility to provide them with premises just as we do not have such a responsibility to provide those that we do give premises to with premises. Regardless of whether the Government have a responsibility or not, the Government try to accommodate the needs of business in Gibraltar but it is up to business to identify particular sites and then ask the Government rather than expect the Government to find a site and offer it.

HON L A RANDALL:

With regard to competition, am I not correct in saying that both companies terminate a route at the frontier?

HON F VINET:

The fact that routes might terminate at a same location does not mean that they are the same routes.

HON L A RANDALL:

Actually, Gibraltar only has one route across the runway to the frontier, so if both are covering the same route there must be some form of competition for the passengers.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It depends what view one takes of competition. In this industry competition means competing for the same passenger. One cannot compete for the same passenger unless one is seeking to persuade them to board one's bus at or at substantially along the same route. The passengers that board a bus with destination the frontier at the English Steps are not the same passengers who board a bus with the destination for the frontier at Market Place. Therefore the two routes are not in competition, but I should say in case the hon Member thinks that the answer requires or is based exclusively on the point of competition, the Government would not feel the compulsion that the question suggests that it should feel even if they were in competition. One is a Government-owned company which is receiving publicly owned garage space and the other is not. No one has suggested that there would be some requirement on the Government to treat all its competitors in the same way, but if another bus company wants the Government's assistance in having a bus depot, the Government want to support the other bus company as well, which provides a service to the public as well. It is not that the Government refuse to provide it with premises it is just that it is up to the bus company to identify, perhaps to bid for Government property on rent or purchase and then the Government will consider it.

Can Government state what was the monthly level of consumption and cost of the fuel used by the Gibraltar Bus Company Limited in the months of April to December 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The information requested by the hon Member in Question Nos. 2109 and 2110 is set out in the written schedule that I hand to him.

The Gibraltar Bus Company presently has 42 employees.

Other than for the two Directors, there are presently nine different grades within the Company. Neither of the two directors of the Gibraltar Bus Company receive any remuneration over and above their basic salary, details of which have been provided in reply to Question No. 2110.

The Gibraltar Bus Company contributes 10 per cent of an employee's salary towards the Gibraltar Provident Fund in respect of those employees that have chosen to participate in the scheme. For their part, the employee contributes an additional 5 per cent or 10 per cent of their basic salary.

The Gibraltar Bus Company does not make any such contributions in respect of either of the two Directors of the Company. It is not in the commercial interest of the company to disclose the level of its insurance premiums since this will prejudice its ability to obtain the best rates available in the market. I am advised by the Directors of the Gibraltar Bus Company that up to the end of November 2004 the cost of fuel is £56,115.88p.

Can Government state the name of the entity that presently carries out the tests to determine that the quality of the water supplied by AquaGib is fit for human consumption and the name of the undertaking that previously carried out these tests?

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Answered together with Question Nos. 2116 and 2118 of 2004.

NO. 2118 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

AQUAGIB

Can Government state whether fresh water supplied by AquaGib from its desalination plants will be extended to ex MoD properties in the area of Europa Point, and if so, by when?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The Ministry of Defence is responsible for the supply of potable water to ex MoD Estates in the area of Europa Point.

Historically this part of Gibraltar was an area used for military and ancillary purposes and premises located therein have always been supplied by the MoD. When these areas were handed over for civilian use the MoD continued to supply these areas as agreed with the Government.

I am advised that the civilian water infrastructure is distant from the area, with the nearest suitable point currently being by the Casino at Europa Road.

Tests on the quality of water supplied by AquaGib Ltd are undertaken by AquaGib in compliance with EU Council Directive 98/83/EC concerning the quality of water intended for human consumption, as contained in the Public Health Ordinance.

Analysis under Schedule 2 – Check Monitoring, of the directive is undertaken at the AquaGib laboratory located at the Waterworks.

Analysis under Schedule 2 – Audit Monitoring, of the directive is undertaken at laboratories in the United Kingdom at Analytical and Environmental Services Ltd in Essex (previously known as Essex and Suffolk Water Central Laboratory). This company is part of the group of companies owned by Northumbrian Water Limited.

The Waterworks Laboratory and the Analytical and Environmental Services Ltd Laboratory (previously named Essex and Suffolk Water Central Laboratory) have carried out tests in respect of chemical parameters since the licence agreement with Lyonnaise Des Eaux Gibraltar Ltd came into effect.

Tests in respect to bacteriological parameters were undertaken up to 2002 in the St Bernard's Hospital Pathology Department, following which they have been undertaken at a new specially built Bacteriological laboratory at the Waterworks Analytical laboratory.

The Environmental Agency undertakes independent tests to those undertaken by AquaGib to ensure compliance with the Directive. The Chief Environmental Health Officer, as the competent national authority for the purposes of part III of the Public Health Ordinance (Water Supply) and the Public Health (Potable Water) Rules 1994, carries out a sampling programme. This programme is carried out to ensure the water meets the fitness and quality standards set out in the above mentioned EU Directive. During 2003, 86 samples were taken in compliance of these requirements. The Chief Environmental Health Officer also issues instructions to AquaGib to take such samples and analyses as he considers necessary and in accordance with the requirements of the above mentioned Rules and Directive. There have been no recent changes to these arrangements. Such tests are undertaken at the Gibraltar Health Authority's laboratories of Clinical Pathology and Public Health.

Recent developments, by AquaGib, of the civilian potable and seawater infrastructure has placed it in a position where it is now reasonably feasible for properties currently supplied by the MoD in the Naval Hospital area at Europa Road to be supplied by AquaGib.

Extensive works are required to supply these areas. These include the installation of new potable water pumping and potable and sea water distribution mains and the construction of a new potable water service reservoir within the ex Lathbury Barracks area. These works are currently on-going, funded by the Company and by appropriate contributions from the developers of the Cliftons development.

It is AquaGib's objective to continue to extend these potable and sea water mains to Europa Point to provide supply to ex MoD properties in the area. AquaGib do not at present have a projected completion date for this section of the work.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2116 TO 2118 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Is the Minister satisfied that the quality of the water that is provided by the MoD is the same as the one provided by AquaGib?

HON F VINET:

The fact is that water supplied by the MoD has to meet the same standards as that provided by AquaGib, so the answer would be yes.

HON S E LINARES:

No, the answer is not whether they have to satisfy a requirement. What I am saying is the Minister satisfied that the quality is the same as the one provided by AquaGib currently?

HON F VINET:

It follows logically that if the water supplied by the MoD has to meet the same standards as that supplied by AquaGib, then we are confident that they both conform to the same standard.

HON S E LINARES:

Well what I am trying to ascertain is that AquaGib boasts that they have a better quality than the standards that are required. Therefore if AquaGib is saying that the water is better than the standard required, I am asking whether the standard that AquaGib is actually supplying now the rest of Gibraltar is the same, not that the requirement is the same as the one that they provide for the rest of their customers.

HON F VINET:

AquaGib is certainly confident that the water supplied by the MoD meets the requisite standards. I think there is always room for improvement and that is why AquaGib is keen to take over the supply of water from the MoD in order to improve the quality of that water even further.

HON S E LINARES:

Is the Minister aware that there was an occasion two or three weeks ago in which the water supply was all cut at Europa Point due to the fact that an excess of E-Coli was found in the water supply and therefore people are worried now whether the standard quality water that is supplied to them is not exactly the same?

HON F VINET:

Yes I am aware of the situation and the fact that one of the MoD tanks contained water that was not of the quality that it should be. Steps were taken to remedy the situation immediately. This was done successfully and with no, at least with only minor inconvenience to the customers affected.

HON L A RANDALL:

I wish to thank the Minister for his detailed reply to the three questions. However, it is not very easy to follow so perhaps he could confirm for me that the MoD is responsible for the supply of fresh water to ex MoD Estates in the area of Europa Point, and seeing that the bill for the consumption is received from AquaGib, is there some form of arrangement between the MoD and AquaGib whereby AquaGib bills for and then gives the collections back to the MoD for the consumption?

HON F VINET:

There are no actual monetary payments, it is done by exchange of water between AquaGib and then the MoD.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is paid for in water, in other words, as opposed to money.

WASTE DISPOSAL

Have Government made any decisions on how to deal with the problem of rubbish being littered onto streets as a result of animals, including apes, cats and rodents, being able to access bins?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The position remains as stated in answer to Question No. 1849 of 2004 of the previous House, namely that there are no immediate plans to change the system designed and introduced by the GSLP when it was in Government. Nevertheless, the matter remains under constant review and should it be considered necessary to undertake any works, the relevant department will be submitting proposals for Government's consideration.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2119 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

It is that final limb of the answer that I come to, as I did last time. I was told that the matter remained as it was but that it was under constant review. I think that there was agreement across the floor of the House that the situation was getting out of hand. What is that review producing in terms of action in order to try and rein in the problem?

AIR QUALITY MONITORING STATIONS

When do the Government expect that their air quality monitoring stations will commence operations?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

Answer to Question No. 2120

The information requested has already been provided and so for the questioner to ask whether Government have “now made a final decision” is misleading to say the least. The hon Member already knows the air quality monitoring stations will be located as follows:-

One will be installed at the north end of Rosia Road within the perimeter wall of the Electricity Authority Consumer Division compound. This station will monitor oxides of nitrogen, sulphur dioxide, particulates (PM<sub>10</sub> and PM<sub>25</sub>), lead, carbon monoxide and benzene and fulfils the criteria recommended by consultants that it should be sited at a “roadside location on a major road and close to key generation point sources”.

The second will be located at the northern end of the Bleak House car park and will monitor ozone and oxides for nitrogen. Again, the siting of this station will comply with the consultants recommendations for it to be sited at a “suburban/rural background location”.

Work in preparation of these sites has already started with the laying of the concrete foundations and provision of electrical and telephone services.

Answer to Question No. 2121

It is expected that the air quality monitoring stations will arrive in Gibraltar in mid January 2005 and that the first readings will become available a week later. The equipment is presently being commissioned and tested in the UK.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2120 AND 2121 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

I am grateful. I would not have asked that question again unless I had been left with the impression last time that it was expected that those would be the sites but that no final decision had been made. I am very pleased to see that a final decision has now been made. The hon Gentleman knows my views about those sites. I do not think there is anything further to ask.

HON F VINET:

Perhaps I can clarify that at the last Session of the House what I said was that the air quality monitoring station would be expected to start operation in January but the sites had already been identified.

EU EMISSIONS TRADING DIRECTIVE

Why have the Government only allowed seven days (between 6th and 13th December 2004) for the public to comment in relation to their Consultation document on the EU Emissions Trading Scheme?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

The EU Emissions Trading Directive (2003/78/EC) requires National Allocation Plans to be made available to the public for comments. The directive is silent on how long this consultation process should be, even though Commission guidance describes this as "a reasonable time frame".

There are commitments for our Plan to be submitted to the Commission before the end of the year. However, it has not been possible to finalise the Plan until early December 2004. It could therefore not be put out for public consultation until this date. It follows that neither has it been possible to provide for a longer consultation period if comments are to be considered and the final Plan forwarded to the Commission by the agreed date. In any case, Government are of the opinion that the seven day consultation period is adequate, reasonable and fully compliant with the terms of the directive.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2122 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Can the Minister give an indication of how many parties have been able to respond in that period?

HON F VINET:

There has just been one response, namely from the Environmental Safety Group.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I ask the Minister why it has not been possible to finalise the scheme until the beginning of December?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will try to give the answer to the hon Member in cryptic language because it is not something that I would wish to put in the public domain more clearly. It relates to the basis upon which the UK thought that Gibraltar's quota needed to be calculated in relation to the UK's, and the damaging effect that we thought that that would have on the regional selectivity arguments in the tax case.

HON F R PICARDO:

I will not press any further.

HON F VINET:

For the sake of completeness can I just add first of all that, for example, the seven days consultation period equals the same period utilised by Malta for example. Also the fact that we consulted DEFRA in the UK and DEFRA were of the opinion that seven days was perfectly reasonable and would meet the requirements of the directive.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is also worth the hon Members bearing in mind that this is not a consultation process on the legislation. This is a consultation process on the National Allocation Plan for emissions and there is not a huge amount. Basically it is the totality of the current emissions, it is not a huge issue upon which there is scope for a massive debate. It would have been different if we would have been talking about consultation on a whole piece of legislation.

Can Government explain the nature of the pension contribution by AquaGib for the financial years 2001/2002, 2002/2003 and 2003/2004 in the sums of £86,633, £82,765 and £88,124 respectively, shown under Revenue Subhead – Other Reimbursements?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT, ROADS AND UTILITIES

At the time of the privatisation of the Water Supply Services employees had the choice to retain their status as Government employees and be seconded to the Company or to resign from Government Service and be employed directly by the Company on its terms and conditions of employment.

Clearly the Company pays the salaries of seconded personnel as well as Social Insurance contributions. They also pay the Government a percentage of basic salary in respect of each seconded employee to cover the pensionable entitlement accrued by seconded personnel in respect of the time they are seconded to the Company.

MOORISH CASTLE

Further to the answer to Question No. 1885 of 2004 can Government say which company was paid £3,750.00 in respect of 'Moorish Castle – Consultancy', what did the consultancy entail and what were its conclusions?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

The answer to Question No. 2124 is Yes.

In answer to Question No. 2125, the amount in question was paid to Prince Research Consultants Ltd.

The consultancy consisted of proposals in respect of a conservation policy plan and future development of the Moorish Castle site. The proposals are being considered.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2124 AND 2125 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can I ask the Minister then in what time frame they envisage this taking place?

HON C BELTRAN:

It is difficult to put a time frame to it. The Moorish Castle question is connected to the move of the Prison, it is the whole of the area so it is not just a time frame that is exclusive of the development of the Moorish Castle site itself.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 2125, can the Minister state if the actual report entailed or was to do with the moving of the Prison out of the Moorish Castle, or only with the heritage aspects of what to do with the Prison after the Prison had been moved out, is that the case?

HON C BELTRAN:

That is correct.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is the Minister in a position to tell the House what it is that would happen in the Castle once the Prison had been moved out?

HON C BELTRAN:

The consultancy was about a possible conservation policy plan. Ideas in relation to this. It is a purely conservational plan. How to develop that area from a conservation point of view, albeit taking into account obviously the fact that it is a living site. It is a historic site but there is also an estate next to it within the walls and so on.

HON C A BRUZON:

The Minister will be aware, no doubt, that apart from the heritage problem there is also the social aspects to the question of the Prison as it is today. I would suggest, if I may, that something be done to put right some of the social aspects vis a vis the Prison in its present situation. I remember that the Minister for Social Affairs in a Budget speech a couple of years ago explained to the House that plans were very advanced and that I believe even funds were being put aside. Money was being put aside vis a vis the move of the Prison.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

With the greatest of respect to the hon Member, much as I take at face value his expression of concerns, based as I am sure they are in his case on sincere concern, the Prison has been in its present dismal state, if that is what he thinks it is, for many, many decades. At last Gibraltar has a Government willing to invest substantial sums of money which other Governments before it have not been willing to do, on the relocation of a facility in which there are not too many votes at stake and now we are being pressed whether we are taking three weeks or three months longer or shorter than we had indicated. It is not really, in our view, criticism that lies comfortably on the lips of a political party that obviously did not think there was very much wrong with the Prison, because if they had they would have themselves built a new Prison when they were in office. We believe, as they believe I am sure they believed at the time, that the Prison needed replacement. All these things are a matter of prioritisation of cash resources and the fact that they did not do it, I am sure does not mean that they did not think that Gibraltar needed a new Prison but there were other things that they wanted to do with the capital in priority to that in the eight years that they were in office. This is exactly our position except that we found a slot for it. Now it has taken longer to design, it has taken longer to conceive, it has taken longer to find a site, to approve the site, all these things take time. Now the project is nearly ready it is a question of when the Government decide to actually make the money available and get on with it in terms of the various projects that we have in the pipeline. We hope to be able to start as the answer has said but if we took longer than this, I do not think the hon Member's plea for speed is any stronger now than it would have been had I made it ten years ago when I was sitting across the floor of this House and some of the hon Members were sitting over here.

HON C A BRUZON:

The point of my comment is based on the fact that Government have made certain pronouncements on the matter. Whatever happened ten, fifteen, twenty or a hundred years ago is another business. It is just that if Government have made certain pronouncements in their term of office, I am just asking them whether or not the things are going to be put into practice.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The answer is yes.

HON C BELTRAN:

My department.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

GIBRALTAR MUSIC CENTRE

Can Government confirm whether the lady who was managing the Music Centre at BFBS House is still doing so?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

As I informed the House in answer to Question Nos. 1495 and 1496 of 2004, the Gibraltar Music Centre is a charitable trust (not one appointed by Government). The Music Centre is run by its trustees and it is entirely up to them to decide how to, and who will, manage its business.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2127 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Since the Government actually give money to this entity, I think it is just normal that we can ask questions on what is happening with the money that the trustees and, therefore, the person if they are employed or if they do it voluntarily, or whether the lady is actually doing it or not. It is a perfectly normal question.

HON C BELTRAN:

The hon Member is correct in saying the Government supports financially the Music Centre and all the arts generally in Gibraltar. It is very happy to do so but that is a different question totally as to who does the running or managing of a trust which is not a Government department. I think I am perfectly correct in saying that really it is not for me to say whether a particular person is in charge in the trust or not at this moment in time.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2128 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

When the Minister was quoted as saying in the Annual General Meeting of the Heritage Trust a few weeks ago that the Heritage Action Committee had not met in the last few months, what committee was he speaking of?

HON C BELTRAN:

There is only one Heritage Action Committee which is the one that is contained in the information handed over. They have been meeting except that over the summer recess usually it does not meet that often and on this occasion because of the Tercentenary events, a plethora of events that were taking place actually involved a number of members of this Committee so they were really getting on with the action that the Heritage Action Committee advocates.

NO. 2129 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

HERITAGE ORDINANCE

At what stage is the revision of the Heritage Ordinance?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

This matter remains under Government consideration.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2129 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

This matter has been under Government consideration for a considerable period of time if I remember correctly. Is the Minister in a position to say whether it is actually at the drafting stage, whether there is draft legislation before Ministers or it has not even got to that stage yet?

HON C BELTRAN:

There is draft legislation.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is it possible for the Minister to say how long it will take for that draft legislation to come before this House?

HON C BELTRAN:

No it is not possible for me to say, nor can I say whether it will indeed come before the House.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I assume the Minister is considering amending the Ordinance by regulation then, is that the case?

HON C BELTRAN:

Not necessarily.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Or is it the case then that the draft legislation may not see the light of day because Ministers do not agree with it?

HON C BELTRAN:

The legislation has wide implications for the community. The draft legislation actually precedes me, there are a wide number of stakeholders and I am assessing the whole new piece of legislation, new for me.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Has the Heritage Trust been consulted and involved in the production of this document?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I will rise to answer this supplementary because the events that are the answer to that question precedes my hon Colleague's responsibility for this matter. Yes, in the previous administration and with the previous Minister for Heritage, discussions took place which resulted in draft legislation but which had not been considered by other Ministers at the time of the Election. So the answer is yes there is draft legislation, yes there has been discussion between the Government before the last Election and the Heritage Trust but it never got to either me or indeed other Ministers before the Election was called and therefore that is where the matter now lies.

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

VISIT BY THE CATALAN IPECC GROUP

Can Government say where they plan to locate the plaque presented to the people of Gibraltar by the Catalan IPECC Group which was handed to the Mayor and Minister for Culture and Heritage on Saturday 30th October 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

The reception in question was hosted by the Mayor not the Minister. The Mayor is not answerable to this House and I am reluctant to set that precedent.

The position of Government with regard to the visit by the Catalan Institute, which I respected as Mayor, was to keep it low key.

As far as the plaque is concerned, this was presented to the Chairman of The Gibraltar Heritage Trust at the reception and, as far as I am aware, they have not yet decided where it will be located.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2130 TO 2133 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can I ask the Minister in his capacity as the Minister for Heritage and not as Mayor whether there are any plans or whether it is considered placing this plaque at the statue of Rooke in the area of Watergardens?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I rise because in fact the Chairman has recently written to me on this subject. That proposal has been made and has been discussed and has been put to the Government, we are not in favour of it because it may lead, given the wording of the plaque, it may lead passers-by to believe that it was that Catalan organisation that erected the statue. We are not in favour of placing it there and therefore the matter will remain under review. But yes, the hon Member is right, that is one of the proposals that have been made.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Minister in his original answer explained that a decision had been taken to keep the visit low key. Can the Minister expand on that point as to why that was the case?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member knows, because I have said it many times myself, that whilst we regard normal exchanges with cultural organisations from other countries as being good, we do not believe in exaggerating their importance. Particularly not when it is the Government's view that it is not in Gibraltar's long-term political interests for Gibraltar and the aspirations of its people and our rights under international law to self-determination to be mixed up with, parcelled up with and associated with the rights of a region of a country whose people do not enjoy the same rights in international law. If the hon Member wants an example of the wisdom of the Government's policy on this matter and on how it does not serve Gibraltar's interests to have ourselves categorised with the Catalans, he need only refer to the unsuccessful application by the Skating Association to federate itself with the International Federation which in my view came a cropper only because it came before the Committee together with the Catalan application which was extremely controversial. Now, I realise that the hon Members have a different view of this issue and it is a different view, I can understand that there is room for more than one view on this issue, but that is the Government's view so the hon Member should not be surprised if we act in a way compatible with our view. He would presumably be surprised if we did not.

Can Government give a breakdown of the expenditure for the year 2004 on the Theatre Royal?

THEATRE ROYAL

Can Government confirm that the annual rent payable in respect of The Theatre Royal site forms part of the assessable income of the recipient for tax purposes?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

The area is 1,440 square metres. The rent income is subject to the provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance. I hand to the hon Member a schedule showing the breakdown he seeks.

ANSWER TO QUESTION 2136

Answer to Question 2135

£ 21,000
£69,118
£47,217

-----
£137,335

Paid to Haymills. Final account payments; purchase of scaffolding; piling and reinforcing of existing structure and adjacent properties affected.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2134 TO 2136 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

In the breakdown there seems to be the amount of £137,000 does not include the rent, does it because it is not there? Also the supplementary question to this will be, will the scaffolding and what is holding up the Theatre Royal at present, is it an on-going expenditure where the Government are actually paying the company to keep the scaffolding and the place safe until the project gets off the ground?

HON C BELTRAN:

That part of the question, yes. The project continues in that sense. The expenditure to make safe and so on continues obviously. The rent is not included in those figures because it is not rent on the Theatre Royal as it were. The question asked on the Theatre Royal.

HON S E LINARES:

Basically it was because I looked at the Estimates of Expenditure in the Draft Estimates and I asked the question in this House last time, and the Minister actually answered £98,000. Therefore I was assuming that £60,000 was going to the rent and the other £38,000 was to sort of contractors in order to keep the place safe, but I appreciate that I have been given this now as a breakdown.

YOUTH SERVICES – EXCHANGES

Can Government state how many youth exchanges have been organised in the financial years of 2002/2003, 2003/2004 and 2004/2005 by the youth services?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

In the period in question, one youth exchange with South American countries was organised for 2002/2003 but they subsequently, by they I mean the South American countries involved, cancelled it at the eleventh hour.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2139 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Therefore I assume that there has not been any other youth exchange since, because this was 2002/2003 they were organising one youth exchange, there has not been any in 2003/2004 (I am assuming) and 2004/2005? Correct?

HON C BELTRAN:

The hon Member assumes correctly.

YOUTH SERVICES – EU FUNDING

Can Government state how much money has been obtained by the youth service from the EU for youth programmes generally in the financial years of 2002/2003, 2003/2004 and 2004/2005 giving a breakdown by programme?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

No funds have been sought from the EU in the period in question since the programmes undertaken, and there have been a number of them, did not fall within the criteria for EU funding.

NO. 2141 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

VICTORIA STADIUM

Can the Minister for Sport state when he expects all the works to the facilities regarding the water-based pitch to be completed?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

Works to the changing and spectator facilities for the water-based hockey pitch are expected to reach practical completion some time between late February and March 2005.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2141 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister for Sport give an explanation why the works to these facilities have taken something like about three to four years to be completed? What has been the reason for the delays?

HON C BELTRAN:

I have only been in this House for one year so I am not really privy, I have information but I do not see problems arising two years before then. There have been works there and this is what happens when one has construction. Sometimes there are delays in some of the materials, the materials may arrive and they are not exactly what they are expected to be or not up to the standard we insist on and they are returned. The only type of problem that I have been privy to or seen.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

For the sake of clarity if I could add to what my hon Colleague has said, that to avoid any doubt from anybody listening in, the water-based hockey pitch has been completed for quite some time, and has been in use for quite some time. The hon Member is asking purely about the changing and spectator facilities. Now the changing and spectator facilities are part of the overall project of what is happening at the Stadium and it is wrong for the hon Member to question us about specific delays on that particular aspect of the project. It is an on-going project and there have been a number of issues including infrastructure issues which date back some time, but the project as a whole is not behind schedule, it is progressing as and how it has been scheduled by the Government and adjusted due to other priorities and other requirements.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Precisely that is why I have worded the question as I have. I am asking when the Minister for Sport expects the works to be completed to the facilities regarding the water-based pitch, not anything to do with the water-based pitch. Therefore, I would ask the Minister for example, if the facilities have not been completed to the water-based pitch as far as the changing rooms are concerned, what have the sportsmen and sportswomen been doing as far as changing rooms and showering facilities are concerned?

HON C BELTRAN:

A combination I suppose of different things. Some come with track suits and then go home and change at home, some change next to the stands, but I think the important point is that they have been enjoying first class, world level hockey pitch facilities. I mean, the changing facilities we wish to, as I say, have ready by hopefully February or March but I do not think that there have been huge delays with that in any way to make hockey difficult to participate in.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, I only mentioned the fact that there had been delays because the water-based pitch was completed nearly four years ago and that is why I am asking the Government why has it taken them so long after three years that the water-based pitch was completed, there have not been any facilities there for changing room facilities and showering facilities. Therefore that is why I was putting the question. Now can the Government confirm whether they are still using AMCO for the maintenance of that pitch?

HON C BELTRAN:

Yes, AMCO is still maintaining the pitch.

GIBRALTAR SPORTS AUTHORITY

Can the Minister for Sport confirm whether they have now met with the union in order to arrive at an agreement with regard to the transfer of staff to the Gibraltar Sports Authority?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

Answered together with Question Nos. 2142 and 2144 of 2004.

NO. 2144 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GIBRALTAR SPORTS AUTHORITY

Can the Minister for Sport confirm when the Government intend to advertise vacancies for personnel to be employed by the Gibraltar Sports Authority?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

Works at the Tercentenary Sports Hall have now reached the stage of “practical completion” which, in the construction industry jargon means that the hall is ready for handover for operational purposes.

However, it is not possible to advertise vacancies for personnel to be employed by the Gibraltar Sports Authority until the negotiations with the unions regarding the conditions of employment for transferring and new employees, which have already started are concluded.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2142 TO 2144 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So therefore the prediction that the Minister made during Budget time and during the last meeting of the House of Assembly that the hall would be fully operational by this autumn has not been complied with.

HON C BELTRAN:

No, the answer to previous questions referred to by the hon Lady, my answers have referred to completion of works and not dates for operational arrangements. My answer referred to completion of works, and they have been completed within the autumn deadline that we set ourselves.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No, I think the Minister is mistaken. When I have put questions in the House previously I have asked precisely the same question. All that I have done on this occasion is say now, and my previous question was ‘can the Minister for Sport now confirm’ because he had confirmed it previously, ‘whether the new sports hall will be fully operational by this autumn', and I remember specifically, because we have not got Hansard yet but I have got the information here that I have taken in shorthand, that he said that autumn did not necessarily mean it was October, that it could be middle or towards the end of December but I was not specifically referring to the works, I was referring to when the sports hall would be fully operational.

HON C BELTRAN:

The hon Lady is absolutely correct. Autumn does not mean October but I did not decide that. I said the works could continue until the end of autumn. She is also correct in saying that her question referred to operational, my answers on both occasions referred to completion of works if one checks once Hansard comes out, and I have been true to my word. The works have been completed within the autumn, even though she may have asked something differently.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I have asked something different and therefore, I am smiling because it is incredible the Minister now tries to change the tone or the words of my questions. Therefore I will prove it to him. I was never, ever referring to the works being completed, I was referring to the sports hall being fully operational. If the Minister cares to look back at his Budget speech he also said that the hall would be fully operational and that is all that I am saying. I am actually quoting his words.

HON C BELTRAN:

I think I have made my point very clearly. I referred on both occasions to completion of works even though the hon Lady's question may have referred to something else.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No, they did not refer to something else, they referred to what I have just said. Therefore I think that the present Minister for Sport should have learned from the previous Minister for Sport who, about three or four years ago as well said that the Europa Sports ground was being handed to the Government and the Government were going to hand it over to the Cricket Association. Now, these are the answers that we get from the Government, and it is in Hansard. I am not inventing the questions that are asked here before, I have got proof here and therefore will the Minister say that yes, he did say so and yes, that he has not met the deadline, that is all.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Minister cannot say that because it is not the case. The hon Lady is getting herself into something of a tizzy over this. Look, the hon Lady must not confuse her question with the answer that she got to them. It is true that when she has asked this question in the past she has referred to whether the sports hall would be ready for use or words to that effect, operation, but the Minister, prudent chap that he is, I am not wishing to catch his fingers in any slamming door, was careful to answer what he chose to answer, regardless of what he was asked. So notwithstanding that the hon

Lady may have asked whether it would be ready operationally, the Minister answered that the works would be completed by the autumn. Now that being the case, it is not a question of the Minister now trying to change the hon Lady's question, rather it is a question of the hon Lady not having listened carefully enough to the answer. The relevance of all of this is that she has said, with her very attractive smile all across her face, I have my wife's permission to be charming to her of course, and the reason why all this is relevant now is because she gleefully said to the Minister 'contrary to what you said to me in answer to previous questions you have not complied with your undertaking to have it operational by the autumn'. To which the Minister said 'I did not promise to have it operational by the autumn, I said that the works would be ready by the autumn', and he has complied with his word. So it is at cross purposes, the hon Lady is assuming that my Colleague's answer suggests that she did not ask the questions that she did. She did ask the questions that she did but the hon Lady is in turn also mistaken by assuming that the Minister answered the precise question that the hon Lady asked, which he did not. He answered a slightly different question which makes his answer today entirely correct.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, let me first thank the Chief Minister for saying that I have a beautiful smile. Secondly, I must congratulate him because he uses words that he tries to actually get everybody else listening here in the House, and outside of the House, trying to make out that the questions that I have asked have not been exactly the same as the Minister for Sport has been asked by me. Now, I remember distinctly and if I have put a question in this House that says 'can the Minister for Sport now confirm, now confirm', which means that the previous question was 'can the Minister for Sport confirm whether the new sports hall will be fully operational by this autumn?'. Now, I know what he said in his Budget speech and all I need to do now, is to go back and get the information and prove that what I have said is right, and if I am wrong I will apologise. But if he is wrong I hope he apologises.

I still have Question No. 2143 and 2144 which I have not asked supplementaries on. That is regarding the Government, whether they have met with the union in order to arrive at an agreement. I am not too sure because I got really not agitated and not confused but I was concerned by the fact that the Chief Minister said I had a nice smile and therefore he put me off the supplementaries that I had for the two other questions. Now that I have forgotten about the smile I am going to get down to the business of the House. Can the Minister say whether they have met with the union or whether they have submitted proposals with the Union and can he also say as regards the vacancies for personnel to be employed by the Gibraltar Sports Authority, when this will occur?

HON C BELTRAN:

Negotiations with the union have started of course and they are on-going, yes.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I see, but as far as the Minister is concerned when he says 'on-going' does he mean that he has met with the union or that he has submitted proposals and they have not met?

HON C BELTRAN:

Actually I have done both.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

As far as Question No. 2144 is concerned, can the Minister for Sport confirm when the adverts will be coming out as far as the personnel that have to be employed to be members of the Gibraltar Sports Authority?

HON C BELTRAN:

I actually gave that answer in my reply but I shall repeat it for the benefit of the hon Member. It is not possible to advertise really vacancies for personnel to be employed by the GSA until obviously the negotiations with the union come to some conclusion, a happy one I hope, and it is looking like that.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

That seems to be conflicting with what the Chief Minister said in the last meeting of the House, he is nodding, when he said that employing people for the Sports Authority had nothing to do with the negotiations with the union as regards the present members of the people who are employed with the Government. Am I not correct?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member is correct in what she has said except that it is not correct to say that it is inconsistent. What I said to the hon Lady was that they were different things and that if we could not reach agreement with the union then we would certainly press ahead but that if there was a prospect of doing it on a consensual basis, including the existing staff, then that was the Government's preference and we would hold out for as long as possible in giving as much time as possible to that negotiation so that when there was recruitment it was on an agreed basis. I think she will remember I made that distinction.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So then the Government are not able to give a sort of date or an estimate as to when the Sports Hall will be functioning with new members of the Gibraltar Sports Authority if that is the case.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, yes. We cannot give a date but I can tell the hon Member that we are not going to accept the new facility being ready with nets up and the ball bouncing around on the court, unused, for this reason. So we will certainly press the button before we allow the thing just to gather moss there by itself. That date has not quite arrived but we are now getting very close to the wire. That is certainly true and I think in the next few weeks the Government would have to make the decision either to press ahead or to bring the negotiations to a head.

NO. 2145 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GIBRALTAR SKATING FEDERATION

Can the Minister for Sport give details of the support the Government have given to the Gibraltar Skating Federation's application to the F.I.R.S.?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HERITAGE, CULTURE, YOUTH AND SPORT

The Gibraltar Skating Association met with the Sports Development Officer prior to their application and were offered the same support as has always been given to other Associations applying for membership of their respective International Federation, as well as written confirmation that they are recognised by the Gibraltar Government as the governing body of skating in Gibraltar. In other words, it went through the usual procedure of other Associations in the past who signified their intention of applying for membership of the International Federation.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2145 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister say what sum of money they provide to local Associations, is there a fixed sum of money that they provide to local Associations when they wish to go abroad to fight for Gibraltar's case to be accepted by an International Federation?

HON C BELTRAN:

No, there is no fixed sum of money. Some Associations want to be present at the International meeting where these decisions are taken, others are not necessarily so. Sometimes the venues for these International meetings of the Federations are prohibitive because they are so far away and expensive to get to and so on. So I think each case really has to be taken individually, because the circumstances change. There is no fixed sum.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So will the Minister for Sport then agree, or disagree, with the public statement that has been made by the local Skating Association, that have said that the Government only offered them £500?

HON C BELTRAN:

That may have been the case but different Associations take decisions, they are independent bodies and they take decisions as to whether they want to be present at meetings or not.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will the Minister not agree that in such an important subject as whether Gibraltar is being accepted internationally, which is really important as regards not only sport but our identity as a people, that £500 will get them to wherever they want to go to. Will the Minister not agree that that is not enough money?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I do not think the hon Lady can deduce any of that. Certainly the Government do not mind admitting that there is no policy to automatically finance each and every Association that wants to go and federate itself to the International Federation. The Government make absolutely no apology for that and the Government deliver the advice based on the merits of each individual case, and based on the requests of each case, and then depending on how many such cases there are. Look if the hon Lady wants to know how much money the Government spends in what she calls the defence of the identity of the people of Gibraltar, she should be aware of the litigation that the Government are funding for two sports associations, in which tens of thousands not to say hundreds of thousands of pounds have been spent by the Government in conducting litigation on behalf of associations. So that is the measure and of course the hon Lady, if she is a roller skater, may wish to focus the whole Government's commitment with the eyes of what it does in the roller skating case, but the hon Lady knows enough to know that it would be entirely wrong and misleading for her to focus the Government's commitment to this political point by reference to whatever sum of money may have been given by the Government to the Skating Association.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I have not done that, I have not compared what sums of money other associations get. The Chief Minister has and he has said that they spend hundreds of thousands of pounds. Well surely this is a case which is similar and it stands out, because they have not spent the money. The Government have not actually provided any money to this Association and therefore if the Chief Minister says that there are cases of other associations where the Government have spent loads and loads of money, then why is it that to this particular Association the Government have not provided the same hundreds of thousands of pounds that the Chief Minister has said that they have provided to other Sporting Associations. When we are talking about the same point, the same principle, whether it is three or four people we are talking about a principle that the Spanish Government, whether they are saying that they are so friendly and they want to cooperate, they are still blocking Gibraltar Associations to be able to join international federations. Therefore, I think that the Government should forget about the actual numbers of people concerned, whether it is roller skating or whether people do not roller skate any more, whether they do or they do not, I think it is the principle behind it and the importance it is to the identity of the people of Gibraltar.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think the hon Lady is entirely wrong and her question, if that is what it was, is full of political prejudice which she is not in a position to sustain. First of all, she is assuming that this is a case in which the refusal to grant permission or to admit the Skating Association is as a result of pressure from the Spanish Government. We have no information to that effect. Well the Spanish Government certainly objected to the Catalan application, I do not know why the hon Member thinks that she has the evidence for the fact, she may be right but certainly we have not been informed, certainly it is true to say that the Spanish Government objected to the Catalan application. Certainly it is true to say that both applications were refused. The hon Lady is assuming that there is, therefore that means that the Spanish Government objected to the Gibraltar application, as opposed to the International Federation saying 'if I cannot give both I will not give either'. That is the first thing that the hon Lady needs to take care of. The second thing that the hon Lady should take care of is to know that the Government do not immediately finance every case immediately. It depends on the state of the case, it depends if the matter has been challenged by Spain or not because the Government do not finance these things in order to facilitate the Association at a sporting level. The Government finance these things because of the political dimension of the matter. In other words, that sporting associations should not be kept out of their international sporting rights as a result of political activity and lobbying on the part of Spain, and only on cases where the Government receive evidence that that is the case, do the Government substantially finance the resistance at whatever level, whether it is judicial or extra-judicial. That is the Government's policy, it is not the policy of the Government automatically to finance the overseas trips of any Gibraltar sporting association or leisure association that simply wants to sign up to some international federation. Therefore the hon Lady has got to at least appreciate if not agree with that distinction. Therefore the Government do not agree with her implied criticism of this case and certainly, it is not unusual even without political interference for applications not to prosper the first time round. Therefore the hon Lady should also take into account that the Government choose their moment for the provision of financial assistance because it may often require more than one application.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So therefore can the Government give a commitment that they have evidence that the Spanish Government, that if they have evidence that the Spanish Government are trying to block Gibraltar's application, they will give reasonable funding and financial assistance and whatever support is needed to this Association?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The Chief Minister has said what the Chief Minister has just said. The hon Lady does not have to paraphrase it into different words for me. What I have said is perfectly clear and it stands.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2146 TO 2160 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Did I hear the Minister say that General Practitioners contracts do not expire on 1st January 2005?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No, the Minister did not say that or was he referring to consultants?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No I did not say that, but if the hon Member would like me to say it again. There are some GP contracts that expire at the end of January 2005 and those GP's have been assessed, and depending on that assessment the contract will or will not be renewed. There are no consultants which expire in January but when their contracts expire, they will also be assessed. In other words, putting it in a completely different way, there is now a new policy and there is no automatic renewal of contract as there has been up to now, and people will have to perform if they want their contracts renewed.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister say who are the external assessors?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, I do not know. When we say who are they, they are not internal to the GHA, we are bringing people in to do it.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When the Minister is referring to the contracts being assessed by people who are external, what does he mean by people who are external assessors?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I would have thought the answer is pretty obvious. In the English language 'external' means not internal. It means people who are not inside and part of the GHA. Independent assessors.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I see. So this is a new policy from the Government because it never was like that before.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is what I said two minutes ago, that it is a new policy.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Have the Government engaged these independent assessors already?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

This is not the Government, this is GHA doing its own thing at management level, this is not a Ministerial thing.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Presumably the policy decision then has been a recommendation from somebody that has been accepted at a political level. Is this not the case?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

This is not a recommendation that has been given to the Government. This is management doing its job and accepted by me as Chairman of GHA. This is not a political decision, this is what corporations do everywhere else and instead of just renewing contracts automatically, we are now putting into place, if the hon Members look back at the review that the Opposition Spokesman for Health is so fond of deriding, they will remember that we are putting in appraisals, we are putting in a review of performances and that is exactly what I am saying. In future people, and doctors are no exception, contract officers will be required to meet to the levels, the standards expected of them. We are starting with those contracts that are due to expire now, and this will carry on in the future. There have been too many cases of standards not being met and we are trying to put this right.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Minister then confirm, after what he has just said, why the consultant Director of Public Health was given 13 years in his contract?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I fail to see the relevance to any of the questions that have been asked. In any case, the Director of Public Health had his contract granted many years ago, well before my time and I am not even sure it is 13 years I thought it was 10. But maybe if the hon Member has more information than I have maybe it was 13. No, I do not see what she is expecting me to say, it was done years ago. There is now a policy of assessing people. That assessment does not mean that the contract will not be renewed for 13 years. What we are talking about is how contract officers will have their contracts renewed.

HON J J BOSSANO:

This policy will not apply to permanent and pensionable employees of the Health Authority, is that the case?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Obviously not.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So it is not the case then, as I think we were led to believe in a previous House, that contract officers are entitled to equal treatment with permanent and pensionable officers?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I am not quite sure of the context in which that was said, but as far as possible I think it may have been said in relation to income and salaries, I am not sure, but as far as possible we try to deal within all other conditions the same with contract officers and with P&P officers. De facto, by definition, if a person is on contract he cannot be the same as someone who is permanent and pensionable. So they have to be treated differently. That does not mean, however, that the people who are on permanent and pensionable terms will not have to meet appraisals and assessments the same as the contract officers. If they were to be a consistent failure, then that would have repercussions.

HON J J BOSSANO:

But presumably any employee of the Health Authority or any employee of any Authority or Government Department is subject to disciplinary procedures for failure to deliver his side of the contract in the terms of his employment contract. That presumably has nothing to do with this?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Absolutely not. To be clear, we are not talking about disciplinary procedures or actions taken for breaches of the disciplinary code. That is a separate issue altogether. Here we are talking about standards and faults and what we are saying is that we will be expecting doctors to do a number of things, like keeping up their professional education and development and performing to certain standards. That will be done in a number of ways, which is part of the review that is taking place and part of the recommendations of the review.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes, but that can only be applied, from the answer that we have been given, to persons who are on specifically defined contracts with a termination date and not people with open contracts of employment, because then there is not an automatic renewal date if they have got an open contract of employment.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

There is no one, to my knowledge, with an open contract of employment. Everybody who has a contract has a termination date.

HON J J BOSSANO:

No, the Minister obviously has not focussed on the fact that everybody that is employed in the Health Authority has got an indefinite contract of employment.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Now the hon Member is talking about permanent and pensionable.

HON J J BOSSANO:

People who are permanent and pensionable have got indefinite contracts of employment. What I am saying is, given his previous answer, it means that the contract of employment that is indefinite and therefore subject to permanent and pensionable employment, has not got a renewal date, therefore there is no question of an automatic assessment of his performance or skills.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The hon Member is mixing termination of employment with assessment. What I have said is, that all consultants who are on contracts and all GP's who are on contracts, will be required to go through an appraisal process and will be required to go through an assessment of their performance. That will be conditional for the renewal of the contract. How that is applied to people who are on P&P is a different issue, and one for which I do not have full details in front of me because it is not the subject of the question. But talking in terms of contract officers and not in the hon Member's definition 'people on open contracts' which I take to mean permanent and pensionable, I am not talking about them I am talking about people on contracts. What we are saying is that they are contracted for a period of time and part of that contract will be that they need to fulfil a number of things and that will include measuring up to an acceptable standard which will be assessed. As it is, we are not inventing the wheel here, as it is everywhere else.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I do not know whether we are inventing the wheel or not. The only thing is that the wheel does not seem to be the same wheel that we have had described to us before in terms of the rights of people who are on contract, to promotion, to permanent and pensionable status, to being sent to the UK for training, irrespective of their performance or an assessment or the fact that when their contracts terminate they have no right to renewal, which is not what the law on employment says.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

We are widening the question. The question is 'will the contracts of GP's and consultants that expire in January, will they be renewed?' We are not talking about going to the UK for this, that or the other. Those are red herrings. That is the question and the answer is that they will be renewed if they meet the assessment criteria.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So is the Minister then saying that the recommendation that he has received and accepted as Chairman, only applies to GP's and consultants and that for example, none of the 49 contract Staff Nurses have to meet any performance targets to have their contracts renewed?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The question is on contract consultants and contract GP's and I have given the answer.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Yes I know that he has given the answer and I am asking a supplementary whether in fact there is one set of rules in terms of contract officers who are GP's and consultants, and a different set of rules for contract officers in other spheres of employment in the Health Authority. Either the answer is that there is or there is not or that he does not know or knows and does not want to tell me. I know the answer he has given me, I am asking a supplementary to that answer. Does it apply only to those two grades?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The answer is that I would need notice of that question because that is a much widening of the question which has been asked. I am answering the question that has been asked and I would need notice of the widening of the question.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

In the list that I have been given by the Minister, he mentions Harbour Views. Now, Harbour Views as far as I am concerned because I live there, one is not allowed to rent. Can the Minister explain why Harbour Views is mentioned in the list that he has just given me?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, this is the list that has been provided to me by officials and I assume that it is correct. I am not familiar with the terms of Harbour Views and I assume that this is a private letting that has been rented.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will the Minister undertake to look into it, because I live there and I am 100 per cent sure that one cannot rent, one is not allowed under the terms of the under-lease. Therefore, will the Minister look into it and provide me with the information, because he mentions here Harbour Views as regards the medical staff, number of flats 14 and I am convinced, because I have the under-lease and I have read it myself, that no one is allowed to rent in Harbour Views. Secondly, when he has given me the list in answer to Question No. 2160, I do not seem to have the answer. When I am talking about what is the final figure for accommodation under sub-head 22 in the financial year 2003/2004 and the forecast outturn for the financial year 2004/2005 of the Gibraltar Health Authority. I do not seem to have the answer to Question No. 2160.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The hon Member will appear to be correct. It seems the answer may have fallen off the back of the computer somewhere. I will supply her with the answer in writing. It is not an intentional omission on my part.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I understand that, but it just so happens that in the previous House of Assembly the answer was not given to me either.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That may be the reason why it is not given now.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The Minister has not given it to me in the previous meeting of the House and he has not given it to me now, but I would be grateful if he could provide it to me in writing.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, I will provide the answer to Question No. 2160 in writing, whatever that answer will be. In terms of the Harbour Views issue, no I will not undertake to do what she has asked me to do. I will certainly investigate whether the GHA is in breach by renting property in Harbour Views, and if it is in breach I will arrange for it to be put right, but if there is a breach it is a breach of the owner of the flat who is renting in breach of his under-lease but I will certainly not allow GHA to be a party knowingly to the breach, having been brought to my notice I will certainly look into it.

HON J J BOSSANO:

It would not be the case that the Government owns these flats and provides them?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It is possible. As I said the hon Members will hopefully realise that I do not sit down and work out all these addresses, I have better things to do than compile the statistics. Statistics are compiled for me. I take note of what is being said and I will check whether the GHA is in breach of any law, or any regulation, by hiring this flat. If it is we will obviously put it right.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I just bring to the Minister's attention in that respect that the schedule also refers to Montagu Gardens. I think it is only Montagu Gardens and Harbour Views that are covered but I think he should direct his enquiries in relation to both of those Estates, for the reasons he himself has referred to.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I will indeed. As I say, and I stress for the avoidance of doubt to the hon Lady opposite so that she listens to what I am saying, I will investigate whether GHA is in breach. If GHA is not in breach then it is up to one of my colleagues, I will pass on the information to them or to the owner of the flat if they are in breach of the under-lease, to do whatever is right. I will make sure that GHA is not a party to any breach.

HON F R PICARDO:

Clearly GHA is not going to be in breach because it is not their lease but the issue we are asking to look at is whether GHA is a party to a breach by inadvertently renting.

THE HON L A RANDALL

GHA – LABORATORY

Can Government state whether a report was written by an agency from the United Kingdom, in respect of Quality Assurance of the laboratory of the Gibraltar Health Authority, and if so, what was the name of the agency that wrote the report?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answered together with Question Nos. 2162 and 2163 of 2004.

GHA – LABORATORY

Can Government state who is clinically in charge of the laboratory standards in the GHA?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answered together with Question Nos. 2161 and 2163 of 2004.

NO. 2163 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – LABORATORY

Can Government state whether they are concerned at the remarks made public recently by GBC, that laboratory services provided by the Gibraltar Health Authority, could well break down, in connection with a letter written by the Consultant Pathologist which was leaked to the media?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 2161

No report in respect of Quality Assurance of the Laboratory of the GHA has been commissioned or received by the Government or by the GHA.

Answer to Question No. 2162

Dr T Biedrzycki has overall responsibility for the clinical areas and care of the patient.

Answer to Question No. 2163

As Government have already made aware in a Press Release issued on 19th November, and as the hon Member therefore already knows, the Government are aware that in September 2004, senior GHA Management had to intervene to clarify the long established respective roles and responsibilities of the Laboratory Manager and the Consultant Pathologist. Also in September, the Laboratory staff was depleted unexpectedly and unplanned, by three members due to absences on annual leave, interdiction and sick leave. This shortage was adequately addressed in the short term by locum staff and contract extension. Staff levels returned to normal by the end of September.

Furthermore, as with all other areas of GHA, the Pathology Department and the Laboratory are the subject of detailed outside scrutiny and review under the current healthcare review process. The report will deal with all aspects of the department.

Additionally, the work of the Laboratory is subject to both internal and to external quality controls. These quality controls show that biochemistry results of the GHA Laboratory are ranked above average when compared with over 300 other European Laboratories that also participate in this quality control assessment scheme.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2161 TO 2163 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will the Minister not accept that the Healthcare Development Team Report identified that the Government needed to be aware that demand for most laboratory services had increased, in June 2003? Will the Minister not accept that when I asked a question the Government said that indeed laboratory services had increased in almost every area?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The trouble with the hon Member, as the Chief Minister said earlier on, is that she asks the question, does not listen to the answer or if she listens to the answer she either does not understand it or forgets it or ignores it, and then in the next House she asks exactly the same question. It has been explained to the hon Member countless times, that the report that she refers to from the Healthcare Development Team is a diagnostic report. It is not a report for action and therefore, it is not something that the Government or GHA, or anybody else, has acted on. It is a report of the diagnosis carried out by the Healthcare Development Team. Based on that diagnostic report, there have been 20 different work streams initiated. Most are in the process of being carried out, most are in the process of being finished, some have been finished, most are about to be finished, they are all going to be finished within three months and that is the process of recommendations the hon Member should be focussing on, and not the diagnostic report which are not recommendations for actions. I have explained this, the Hon Dr B Linares has explained this in the past, I seem to remember, and certainly both of us have explained it.

In terms of the staffing levels of the Laboratory, it has been said in answer to previous questions, if the hon Member will look at Hansard as she is so used to looking at she will see that the Government will look at the staffing levels as and when the Report of the Healthcare Review Team, the clinical reviews, are presented to the Government. Now if she persists in asking questions about the clinical review, and in my time in this House in the three Question Times that I have had, I have three times already said the same thing. The Clinical Reviews have not yet been presented to the Government, and that is true as I speak today. Therefore, until those Clinical Reviews and the work stream report and the recommendations of those clinical reviews come to the Government, that till those recommendations are accepted and then put to the GHA for action, it is pointless pointing to them and asking me what we are doing about them because we are not doing anything about them because there are no recommendations yet to do anything about. I am trying to explain myself as clearly and in as much detail as possible. The Chief Minister said some time ago that we knew that work had increased in the Laboratory. That does not necessarily mean that it needs more staff because by the nature of the reason and the nature of things, new equipment can do more tests and provide more results not necessarily needing more staff, but that we are committed to look at the reports of the Clinical Review Team, those clinical reviews, and to assess those recommendations as we are with all of the clinical areas, not just with the Laboratory. We will put those improvements as and when they come before us in recommendations. Those recommendations are the recommendations of the work streams. They are not of the diagnostic report which are not recommendations but purely an analysis.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, having mentioned the report of the Healthcare Development Team, now I move to the Pathologist himself. Therefore I would like to ask the Minister whether he agrees or he does not agree with the letter that he wrote in September, wherein he said that the Department could collapse, wherein he said it is ill-equipped, wherein he said the situation is chaotic, wherein he said the situation is dangerous, wherein he said that the staff morale is at rock bottom level. Now, will the Minister say whether he agrees with the Pathologist or not, or is he saying that the Pathologist is inventing everything he said in that letter?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

What I will say is that the Pathologist when he wrote that letter, was expressing concerns that he had at that moment in time, back in August. I have in my hand a further letter that he has written, addressed to the Medical Director, in which he makes that absolutely clear and in which he says 'I have to inform you that the on-call service,' which was the staffing problem that he had highlighted, 'which was my major concern, has returned to normality and that there are currently five people providing this service.' The hon Member also asked about resources, which as I said was raised in that first letter, and the Pathologist says in the second letter 'obviously the move to the new hospital in the new year will improve the situation regarding laboratory equipment. In my original letter I was referring to the situation at St Bernard's Hospital.' [Interruption] Hon Members may laugh when they are told things they do not like but the reality is that that letter that was leaked to the press, for whatever reasons it was written, that letter covered three issues. It covered management issues, it covered staffing issues and it covered resources issues. In the management issues there was some confusion, and as I said in my original answer it was addressed by management with immediate effect, both the Pathologist and the Laboratory Manager were called in by Senior Management and their respective positions clarified and that situation was solved on the spot within days. The staffing issues I have already said in my reply were solved by immediate action being taken on extending contracts and providing local cover and within three weeks the Laboratory was back to normal staffing levels. So the problem was solved back in September. Finally, on the resources, the lack of resources or outdated resources which the Pathologist said, I have yet to receive an adequate explanation on this because there is £400,000 worth of new equipment for the laboratory being installed in the new hospital, of which £400,000 those items which the Laboratory Manager and the Pathologist with responsibility for the clinical areas, have required or have asked to be put in the present laboratory in St Bernard's, those bits of kit are there in the laboratory now. So if the rest was allowed to go into the new hospital, presumably it was not that urgent when both these gentlemen were involved in the analysis. Be that as it may and without wishing to criticise them, the position today is that within weeks over £400,000 of new equipment will be available and in use in the new laboratory. That addresses the three issues in that area, rectified by a subsequent letter.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When the Minister says it will be available in the new laboratory is he saying it will be available in Europort? Therefore if we are talking about the Pathologist saying in September that the department was ill-equipped, is the Minister saying that the equipment will be available when the Europort hospital is fully operational? What happens in the meantime?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

If the Government did not think that the present equipment needed to be changed they would not be spending £400,000. They would be spending the £400,000 on something else. Obviously the Government, with the advice of the Pathologist himself and others in the laboratory, agree that the equipment needs to be updated and needs to be changed, and that is what is being done. This is expensive equipment and it is not the sort of thing that can be put into a relatively small laboratory in the existing St Bernard's, some of it that was urgently needed was put in there, all of it does not fit and it is being installed in the new hospital. If the hon Member is saying to me why have we not moved into the new laboratory yet, that is a different issue, but what I cannot do is put all the new equipment into the old laboratory.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So why did the Minister say when he was interviewed in the local media that he thought that the Pathologist had vested interests in the remarks that he had made in the letter that he had written.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

These are the hon Member's words not mine. I do not have any recollection of having used the words 'vested interests' and I challenge her to tell me where I said that. I am trying to think on my feet, the only way that I could have meant was that he was trying to protect the vested interests in protecting his position. What I am saying is that I hope there is not the suggestion of vested interests in a financial term because I would never have said that, but it seems to me that there might have been a vested interest in protecting his position and therefore that is why he wrote the letter in the first place. That is a question to be asked to somebody else and not to me.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

But the Minister did say that he thought that the Consultant Pathologist's remarks that he had made, he had made them because he had vested interests, and I have here the copy of his interview. What does he say that the vested interests were due to what?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Again, the hon Member asks the question, listen to the answer then either ignores it, does not understand it or does not want to hear it. I have just explained, I obviously cannot remember what I said or what I meant exactly at the time, but it does not matter whether she has the text. What I am saying is, I cannot remember the context and I do not think that I am here to answer for interviews in the press, but the only context that I can think of that I may have said that, and I quite honestly think it is totally irrelevant to the subject of the question, is that I may have said when asked why it had been written, that the gentleman may have felt it necessary, he had a vested interest in protecting his personal position. That is the only context that I can think of but I am not going to defend what I said in an interview in this House unless directed to do so by the Speaker.

HON F R PICARDO:

The point that I wanted to make is that the hon Gentleman actually started his answer to the hon Lady by saying that he had not said that, he had said that he had not said that there was a vested interest and now he is trying to see whether he can have his cake and eat it. Either he said it or he did not say it and if he did say it, then because that is the subject matter of the question that is being asked in this House, he should be directed to reply why he said that, or does he maintain that he did not say it?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I started off saying I did not say a vested interest and then I stopped, and I said hold on, if that was meant to imply that he had a vested interest (I do not remember what words I used), he had a vested financial interest then I certainly did not say that. What I may have said was that he may have had a vested interest in protecting his position, but quite honestly I honestly on my feet six months ago or two months ago whatever it was, I cannot recollect exactly what I said I do not even know what the question was and I still maintain that it is irrelevant to the question on the order paper.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The Minister said 'I think that the Consultant Pathologist has a vested interest in defending his position'.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is exactly what I have said twice in the last five minutes, that I was talking about his position.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Does the Minister think that the present letter has anything to do with him having a vested interest in defending his position or the renewal of his contract?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I utterly reject the implications of that question and I refuse to answer it because there are implications on myself and on the Pathologist. All I will say is that the Pathologist's contract, to my knowledge, is not due for renewal in the immediate future, I have no idea when his contract ends, but it certainly, to my knowledge, it is not due for renewal. Mr Speaker with your permission, I will not continue to answer questions on what is becoming a personal attack on someone who is not here to defend himself.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Let me make it absolutely clear that we are not attacking the Pathologist, we think he was a very brave man to write the original letter, and perhaps a less brave man to have written the second one. So there is simply no aspersions at all on that. We have to be satisfied that the concerns raised in the original letter have now been resolved, and is the Minister now saying that he is perfectly satisfied that there are now no problems in the laboratory?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It would take a braver man than me to say that there are no problems anywhere in the Health Service and I will not say that of the laboratory or of anywhere else. There are, as the Government have said many times, there are problems in the Health Service as there are in many other things in Gibraltar. There are problems in the Health Service and that is why the Government are investing so heavily in the new hospital, in a full review, in the top to tail changes that are being carried out. So I cannot stand up here and say the laboratory is perfect because it is not, and there are difficulties in the laboratory. What I am saying, that of the three issues raised by the Pathologist in that letter, the three have been addressed satisfactorily as he himself says. The management issue was addressed immediately, the staffing issue was solved within three weeks, it was addressed immediately and solved in the short term by employing extra people and then permanently within three weeks, and the resources issue that he highlighted, has been solved by the move into the new hospital and the new equipment there. In that sense, I am satisfied that the concerns he addressed have been addressed and have been tackled in the most professional and the best way possible.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I believe we were told at one of the previous Houses that there was a study that had been conducted specifically of the laboratory as part of this review, and that in fact results had not been received. Can the Minister say whether those results have been received and whether things are happening in connection with that or not?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I made a reference to it a little bit earlier. There have been clinical reviews of all the clinical areas within the GHA, and that is a work stream in itself and that is one of the last work streams which some of those reviews have only lately been finished and the Government are still awaiting the final report from the Healthcare Development Team based on those reviews. These are reviews conducted, let us be clear, not by GHA, not by the Government, conducted by the Healthcare Development Team to give them the information on which to base the recommendations, and that recommendation report on the work stream has not yet come to the Government. That includes not just the laboratory but all other clinical areas.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The position is that the laboratory one has not yet arrived. Is that the case? Presumably some have been finished and some have not, the laboratory is one of those that is not yet finished, is that correct?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, I do not think the hon Member is following what I am saying. What I am saying is that there is a work stream, I cannot remember the title of it, but there is a work stream that is called something like 'clinical review or review of the clinical areas', whatever the title is, and that is from memory I think there are 11 different clinical areas. Each of those clinical areas have been reviewed by people on behalf of the Healthcare Development Team and the reports have gone, I do not know whether all have gone or some have gone or most of them, although I suspect that most of them if not all of them are now in the hands of the Healthcare Development Team. The content of those reports into all the clinical areas compiling their own report as they are compiling the reports on all the other aspects that they are looking into, and that is the report that eventually will come to the Government, or the one we are expecting, their report on what those clinical reviews recommend.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So perhaps the Minister will be patient and confirm it if I have understood him correctly this time. So all the reports have now gone to the team, or does he not know?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

From memory I think that they probably have but I do not know because they do not come to me, I do not see them, they go to them and my understanding is that if they are not all already there they are about to be and they will be getting their report within weeks, the other side of Christmas.

HON J J BOSSANO:

One of them is on the laboratory?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Correct.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Irrespective, what the Minister has said about the equipment side of the laboratory, is he saying that apart from that the Government are still awaiting recommendations from the Healthcare Development Team on the overall recommendations on the laboratory?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I am not sure that I follow that question, so I will say what the situation is and hopefully that will provide the answer. The Government are still expecting a number of work stream reports. One of those work stream reports is entitled 'review of the clinical areas' or some such language. It covers 11 different clinical areas including the laboratory. When that report comes to the Government it will include recommendations of the 11 clinical areas including the laboratory. That is the report that the Government are expecting on the laboratory. From memory I do not think the laboratory is addressed directly in any other of the work stream reports, but there may be side references to it, but the main one is in that work stream report that covers all the clinical areas.

NO. 2166 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – KGV HOSPITAL

Can Government state whether there have been any reports of previous incidents of fires at KGV Hospital, in the last five years, and as a result any recommendations of the action required were made from within the hospital administration?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

There have been no reported incidents of fire at the KGV in the last five years other than the incident on 3rd December, 2004.

In 1998 a review of fire systems at KGV Hospital was conducted by the City Fire Brigade. The report is dated 19th November 1998.

The City Fire Brigade and Independent Consultants Chubb Fire Security (Gibraltar) Ltd carried out independent different surveys throughout the GHA in June 2003 and January 2004 respectively.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2164 TO 2166 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Were the recommendations of the City Fire Brigade in relation to KGV, were they accepted by the Government and introduced by the Government?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

In the immediate aftermath of the incident on 3rd December, GHA has taken immediate action to examine fire systems and the whole situation in regard to fire, not just in the KGV but also in other places in GHA. That review or that internal examination of systems is on-going and we are assessing what has been done in the past. The hon Member may appreciate that there may have been recommendations that say that there should be a fire extinguisher here, but that fire extinguisher may not be there but may be here, because someone has subsequently said put it somewhere else. An audit has been carried out to examine what the situation is today, and arising out of that audit there are a number of immediate actions that have been taken in the short term and longer actions that need to be taken in the longer term. That review is still on-going, the matter is sub judice by the Coroner, there is a police investigation going on, there is a Fire Brigade investigation going on and the GHA itself, with its duty of care to patients and to staff, is carrying out its own investigation towards making sure its house is in order, and if it is not in order why it is not in order but it is premature for me to comment in this House on two aspects of it. One on the sub judice aspects of the case, which the hon Member is not asking about, and two on those aspects which are still under investigation internally. I do not have reports, I do not have the assessed situation in order to be able to answer minute questions. All I can say is that an immediate audit has been carried out in cooperation with the Fire Brigade, where things have been identified that need to be rectified they are being rectified immediately, in the immediate time frame, and where things have been identified that need to be remedied in the longer term, that is also being tackled.

HON J J BOSSANO:

We are conscious that the recent incident is not something to be raised in this House until the full facts are known, but of course that does not alter what was the state of play before this incident occurred and whether in fact there was a report which was either acted upon or not acted upon. Not whether fire extinguishers had been a metre from the door or two metres from the door, but that would not require, would the Minister not agree, an audit of anything. Either there is a report somewhere which was considered and given effect to, or there is not. So (a) is there such a report?; and (b) has he been able to establish whether it was acted upon?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is exactly what I have said, there is a report dated 19th November 1998 which is not just one item saying move this table from here to there, it details a number of things. That is the investigation that is currently being carried out that has not yet been completed, looking at those recommendations and establishing what was done at the time, what was not done, if things were not done, and why they were not done if they were not done, and what needs to be done, and that is what is being established. I cannot answer the question because I do not have the information yet. I will be in a position to answer it at a later stage in a later House but until that investigation is completed internally, and I repeat that there are a number of people investigating, it would be pointless for me to speculate on inadequate information. I will not speculate until I have the full facts.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am not asking the Minister to speculate. Presumably there are people who were there in 1998 when this report was made and who would be able to say either yes or no to a simple question like the one I am putting to the Minister. Has the Minister as Chairman asked that question? What happened with that report when it was made? Who did it go to? Was anything done or was it just sort of put to one side? That is all we are asking at this stage.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I understand the question and that is why the answer that I am giving is that it is not simply a question of saying the report says move the table and if so, who was told to move the table and did he move the table. The report covers a wide number of things. There is an investigation going on at the moment identifying those individual recommendations and establishing if they were done, if they were not done, and why they were done or not done and I cannot answer at this moment in time until I have the results. It is not me carrying out the report, it is not me asking the question. Let me put it this way, the incident occurred at 3 o'clock or 2 o'clock in the morning, by 5 o'clock I was in St Bernard's Hospital and so were the senior management team, some of them had been there a lot before. Since then and with immediate effect the investigation started, within hours of the incident, and it is still on-going and I cannot answer the question because no one has given me a complete answer. It is not a simple question did some one move the table, the question is on all the recommendations in the report, and until those answers are given I am not in a position to provide the answers.

HON J J BOSSANO:

With all respect to the Minister, he seems to have been contaminated by the illness that he accuses my hon Colleague of, that he listens to what I say and then he repeats the same thing as if I had said nothing. Well let me be more specific, can he say to whom the Fire Brigade addressed its report when it made it?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

To the Chief Executive of the Gibraltar Health Authority.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see, and there are no records in the Health Authority of whether the Chief Executive did anything with that report? Forget the audit of going to the hospital and finding out where the fire extinguisher is, I am not asking about that and I am not asking about the incident. I am asking if there is a report and it goes to a body, then presumably that body must have somewhere some written note, minute or record or something of what happened with the report after it was received. Is that something that the Minister is aware of or not?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It seems that I am not the only one who is catching the virus that the hon Lady opposite has. I have already answered that several times, that is what we are investigating. Of course there is a paper trail, of course if there is a report and it is addressed to the Chief Executive of the GHA and it says do this and that and this and that, of course there is a paper trail and that is what is being investigated, what the reports contains and what was done and how it was done. I cannot speculate on what the answer is because I do not have the facts, and until I have reports on what the facts are, the hon Member may shake his head all that he likes but if he thinks I am going to answer and either make up the answer or imagine it or try to foresee what the answer is going to be, I am not prepared to do that. I will give the answer in this House when I have the information. At this moment in time I do not have that information to be able to give a substantive answer. When I have it I will give it, I do not have it at this moment in time.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am not asking the Minister for the voluminous answer that he will have eventually when the audit trail is complete. Just like I asked one specific question 'who did the report go to?', and he said the Chief Executive, then my second question was, 'is there a record whether the report was in fact ignored or action was initiated?' not the detail of the action but the policy reaction to the report.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That I can answer. I told the hon Member there is a paper trail, the report was obviously received, there are people who have exchanged correspondence on it and there is talk about what should be done or what should not be done, so yes, in that sense it was obviously accepted and it was obviously actioned. What is being investigated is the degree of the action.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see, but the Minister confirms that action was taken then but he does not know exactly what it was or to what degree it complied with the recommendation, but he can confirm that there was a response and there was action.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I confirm at this stage that the report was received and that people were dealing with the report and that there was action taken. What the degree of the action, whether that action was one per cent or 99 per cent, until I see it written in front of me that says this is what was done and this is what was not done, if in fact some things were not done or some things were done, until I see that as an assessment by people who were doing the assessment I cannot circulate but the report reached GHA from the Fire Brigade saying do this and do that. What I do not know at this moment in time is exactly what was done or what was not done. I do not want to speculate, I do not have the information.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister also confirm that in fact he has said that there was no previous record of a report of a fire, so that report from the Fire Brigade was not as a follow-up to an incident. What was it a routine inspection? It was not prompted by an incident having taken place and the Fire Brigade having to attend, is that correct?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I honestly do not know the answer to that question. The question was have there been any fires in the last five years, there have not been any fires in the last five years but 1998 is obviously more than five years. I do not know whether the 1998 report was as a consequence of an incident or not. I remember hearing in conversations that there had been a previous incident some time in the past, more than five years previously, but that was not connected with this. Whether one thing followed the other or was as a consequence of the other I do not know.

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

No.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2169 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

This seems to conflict with the information that I was given by the previous Minister for Health, the Hon Dr Linares, who said that the audit would be looking at KGV and they would be making recommendations as regards KGV.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Instead of trying to catch the Minister out, the hon Member should phrase her questions more carefully. The question is 'have we received any recommendation?', and the answer is No Sir, as I said before, because this is part of the work service that looks at the clinical areas, that looks at the clinical reviews and the reports have not yet been received. The question is have the reports been received and the answer is no. If the hon Member wants to know if there has been a clinical review of the KGV psychiatric unit, then she should ask that and the answer to that is yes Sir, there has been and the Hon Dr Linares was right, but she should ask the question to which she wants the answer.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, if there has been then he has received it and that is my question. Can Government confirm whether they have received any recommendations from the Clinical & Governance Audit team with regard to the KGV psychiatric unit? That was my question.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The answer was no.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Therefore I will ask the Minister, are the Government expecting then to receive any recommendations from the Clinical & Governance Audit team with regard to the KGV psychiatric unit?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The answer is as I said a little while ago, that it is a work stream which includes all the clinical areas which includes the KGV psychiatric unit, and there has been a clinical review of KGV, as my hon Colleague said last year or in a previous answer, and it is part of the work stream called 'clinical reviews' or whatever the title is, the recommendations of which have not yet been received by the Government. Please would the hon Member listen to the answer because it will come up again. There are other questions in the order paper that ask the same question, and anywhere where there is a clinical review the answer is the same. No, we have not yet received the review, we are not expecting to receive the clinical review, we are waiting for the recommendations of the Healthcare Development Team and we have not received the clinical recommendations from the Healthcare Development Team.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

As usual the Minister always covers himself with the fact that everything that is wrong with the Health Services is going to be tackled by the Healthcare Development Team report. That is absolutely now, in my mind, correct when I say that whenever we ask the Government anything to do with the Health Services, they always go back and they always try to defend their position by saying 'well we have received it, or we are looking at it, or we will receive it and we will be looking at it'. All I have said is a question that I have put saying 'can Government confirm whether they have received a recommendation?'. Now whether the Hon Dr Bernard Linares told me previously that they would be looking at it, well all that the Minister needed to say was yes Sir, they will be looking at it, they have not looked at it or they are looking at it and we will receive it in due time. That is all.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I will not be tempted into saying the same things that I have already said. The House has heard me and people listening on the radio will have heard me, that the question has been answered as asked, and then the supplementary has been answered when eventually it was asked by myself to myself and then repeated by the hon Member. What I cannot let go is the quip which the hon Member is so fond of making that the Government shield behind the Healthcare Development Report. The Government do not shield behind the Healthcare Report. The Government have had the guts, and I salute my Colleague the Hon Dr Linares for being the person to initiate it, he has had the guts to do what she was never prepared to do and what she never did when she was Minister, which is to examine the problems of the Health Service, which we all know existed both in her time, before her time and after her time, to tackle them in depth, to look at them, and to be tackling them and to be solving them. She can pretend as much as she likes by throwing red herrings to the wind, as she does when she appears on television and she appears in interviews, the reality is that the Government are tackling the problem and the problem, as far as can be tackled, will be solved. It is no good for the hon Member now pretending she is not listening because that is what she usually does, and then she comes back with the same question, the Government are not hiding behind the report, the Government have had the guts to do the report, are accepting the recommendations, have accepted all of the recommendations that have been presented to date, are actioning the recommendations and whenever we say that we are actioning them, she then gets up and starts criticising what we are doing. When we have not yet done them or when we are about to do them, she gets up and criticises us for not doing it, and then she appears on television and says the Government are doing nothing. Well, the hon Member cannot have it each and every way. Either she accepts the fact that we have had the guts to do the report and that we are doing what needs to be done, or she does not. I know she does not like it but that is what is happening. What she cannot do is in one breath criticise us for saying the Health Services has problems, then to criticise us for employing experts to tackle it, then to criticise us for solving it by saying we are spending too much money in solving it, and then presumably when we start implementing the recommendations, she will change her tack as she does in other subjects, and she will be criticising us allegedly for taking too long to do it. She better make up her mind, either she wants the Health Services fixed or she does not and that is what the Government are doing, fixing it.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The Minister, if he wishes to get on his high horse, then I will remind him that they have been eight years in Government and when we were in Government I did not require experts from outside to come to pay them thousands and thousands of pounds to fix our Health Services. That is the difference between that Government and when we were in Government.

GHA – PA TO CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Can Government confirm that a new post of personal assistant to Mr McCutcheon, new Chief Executive of the Gibraltar Health Authority, has been created?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 2170

The cost to the Government of the employment of Mr F McGurrin was £57,451.75p. Mr McGurrin returned to the UK on 8th December 2004 on termination of his employment.

Answer to Question No. 2171

Mr John Langan was on contract directly to the Modernisation Agency of the NHS and not to the Government or to the GHA. The cost of his services are therefore included in the overall cost to the Government of the contract with the Modernisation Agency.

Answer to Question No. 2172

A post of Personal Assistant to the Chief Executive has not been created. However, the administrative support for the new executive team has not yet been finalised.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2170 TO 2172 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When the Minister for Health mentions the figure of £57,451 in relation to Mr Frank McGurrin, who he says left on 8th December 2004, can he actually say for what period the £57,451 is related to?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

From 1st April to 8th December of this year.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

If, as the Minister said in answer to Question No. 1594, that he was not a Member of the audit, how was he recruited?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

By the Modernisation Agency.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The Modernisation Agency, the first time we hear about this, is related to what, a UK modernisation agency?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, the hon Member may be misunderstanding my answer. The Modernisation Agency is the part of the NHS which is contracting the Healthcare Development Team. It is a department, or a section, I do think I have used the words 'modernisation agency' before but I may not. To be clear, the Healthcare Development Team are part of the Modernisation Agency, which itself is part of the NHS, and when I say by the modernisation agency, technically I think I am right but it may be that they were contracted by the Healthcare Development Team rather than the Modernisation Agency. The point is that it is not the Government or the GHA.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So Mr Frank McGurrin was paid £57,451 for a period of eight months, am I correct?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

From 1st April to 8th December, whatever that period of time is in minutes, hours, days, weeks or months.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Is that after tax or before tax?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The cost to the Government of the employment of Mr McGurrin was £57,000. Whether that was before tax or after tax I would need notice of the question.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can he not say what is the cost as regards the services being provided by Mr John Langan?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have already answered that question.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

But he has not said the cost so he has not answered it.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have already answered the question in my original answer. He was not employed by the Government or by the GHA.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Yes, and if he was employed by the GHA the Government must know what the cost is.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The Government contracted the Modernisation Agency who provided the Healthcare Development Team. The Healthcare Development Team does not consist of Mr Langan, it consists of a number of people. The numbers have shrunk and grown, or grown and shrunk over the period they have been here. They have included Mr Langan. The Government contracted the services of the Modernisation Agency for a lump sum, and that includes all the staff that they have decided to bring with them of their own choice.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So what the Minister is saying is that even though they contracted the services of the Clinical Governance Unit, they do not know what is the cost to the Government of the services of Mr Langan?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is not a cost to the Government. The cost to the Government is the contract of the Healthcare Development Team, which has been disclosed in this House in answer to previous questions. I cannot remember whether there are any in this particular order paper, there have been numerous questions on what the contract is costing, that includes the cost of Mr Langan plus all the other people who make up the Healthcare Development Team. It does not consist of one or two bodies, it consists of a number of bodies and that number has been changing as, for example, when the clinical reviews were being done, they have included more people who have been brought in to do the clinical review, and his costs are included in that overall sum. It is not an identifiable individual cost as the others or not, it is part of the overall contract.

HON F R PICARDO:

Perhaps the hon Gentleman can help us in this respect. What has been the tax treatment of any of those individuals who have been providing services in Gibraltar pursuant to that contract? For example, are they Category 3 or Category 4 individuals, like the new individual who has now been contracted?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I do not know the answer to that question, I would need notice of that question. It is not within my remit to enquire as to the tax position of the individuals who make up the Healthcare Development Team. I honestly do not know the answer to that question. Thinking about it, I suspect that it may have a UK tax element to this but I do not know I am speculating and I should not. This is a contract with the Healthcare Development Team. It is not payment to individuals.

HON F R PICARDO:

My understanding is that it is very much a Gibraltar tax, if somebody is providing services to Gibraltar and is earning monies in Gibraltar, earning an identifiable portion of monies which is what this debate is about, but certainly I have to accept his answer that he does not know what it is and that we should give notice of it. I am sure we will for the next time.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It is a matter for the tax authorities and not for me.

HON F R PICARDO:

With respect, in relation to that latest intervention, we were provided with the information in relation to the new contract but we were told that the individual would be, I think, Category 4 in relation to the three-year period. It is that type of question that we will want an answer to when we give notice of it.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Yes, it is a different situation altogether. The contracts of Dr McCutcheon and the other new members of the GHA, I think they were Category 2 and not Category 4 but again I am treading on areas that are outside my remit.

HON F R PICARDO:

They are Category 2.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Then let us forget it is Category 2. It is not.....

HON F R PICARDO:

Unless they are paid £2 million.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, it might be Category 3 but it is not an area that I am very familiar with, I bow to the hon Member's expertise on that rather than mine, but the new members who are now being recruited are on a different arrangement. They are directly recruited, directly employed and directly contracted by the GHA and are being paid by the GHA. In the case of the other people who have come, the Government have been paying a lump sum to a corporate entity. How that corporate entity rewards its employees.....

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

As far as Question No. 2172 is concerned, I recall that the Minister said that the new post of Personal Assistant to Mr McCutcheon, who is the new Chief Executive of the Gibraltar Health Authority, has not yet been created. That is what he said.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, has she said 'has not yet been created' or 'has not been created'?

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Not yet been created. That is what I heard the Minister saying.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, that is not what I said. What I said was that the post has not been created. However, the administrative support for the new executive team, not just Dr McCutcheon but for the whole of the new executive team, has not yet been determined. So, it has not been created yet but I am not saying it will not be created. It may be created or it may not be created, but at this moment in time the strict answer to her question is no, it has not been created.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

If the Minister has mentioned the support team, are we talking about that the Government could actually employ more people than one as a support team, because if he has mentioned support team we are talking about more than one individual? Is that the possibility that could arise in the future?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Let us get the words right. I have not used the words 'the support team', the words that I used were 'however the administrative support for the new executive team has not yet been finalised'. Now, that means exactly what it says, the new executive team which consists of three people, at the moment we are still juggling on what the support will be. In some cases the offices that they are moving into may already have, and in one case has, administrative support and does not need any more. In others it may need reshuffling of existing resources and in others it may mean employing new resources. Maybe in one, maybe in more than one, I do not know, that is being assessed at the moment. Now she will come back and ask me 'have the Government now decided whether how many.....' and when she asks me the next time round I will give her the answer as it is at that moment in time.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, he can mock me and he can make fun of whatever he wants to make fun of but if he actually says things in this House and he says that the Government have not yet decided and that there might be or there might not be administrative support, then obviously it is my duty as an Opposition Member, does he not agree, in the next House of Assembly meeting to come and say 'well what has happened?'. That is normal as far as an Opposition is concerned.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have no quibbles with the hon Member doing her thing or her duties as an Opposition Member in whatever way she thinks fit. What I am resigned to, and that is why I was pulling her leg, is that knowing her style she will now enter into her computer the words of the question which will now reappear whenever she presses the return button of the computer, for the next few Houses of Assembly the question will regurgitate itself and the question will be 'has the Government, or has the GHA, or has the Government now decided what administrative support it will apply?' and I am saying to her that I am resigned to that question being asked for the next couple of Houses or until such time as the answer is given, because I look back on the record and the hon Member has asked so many questions today and over 50 per cent of them are exactly the same words that she was asking, not just the Hon Dr Linares but that she was asking the Hon Keith Azopardi before. It is just the same words with the dates changed.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I mean as far as I am concerned I give up with him, but I have to keep on asking.

| 8      | Incomplete    |       |             |

Answer to Questions 2177 & 2178

When the prescription charges were amended, the Government made all medicines free for pensioners and additionally, after charging only for the first three items on the prescription, supplies all further medicines free of charge.

It is not possible to calculate the extra revenue raised within any degree of accuracy but it is estimated to be in the region of £11.5k for periods 5 and 6 of 2004/2005. Periods 7 and 8 are incomplete.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2173 TO 2180 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

It is a bit difficult to digest the information when I have been handed an answer to nine questions all in one go, but would the Minister not agree that the items, as far as Question Nos. 2173 and No. 2174 are concerned, have steadily been increasing and obviously therefore the cost?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have to say that I have utterly no sympathy for the hon Member's stomach or difficulties of digestion. I have offered to supply the hon Member with these figures on a periodic basis outside Question Time of this House so that she has the time to digest them and then she can come back and ask supplementary questions at leisure. It will save a lot of the time of this House and it would make the proceedings much more productive, from her point of view, because she would be able to ask as many supplementary questions as she wanted. However, to deal with the second part of her answer I do not have the comparative data in front of me so I cannot comment on her supplementary. If indeed she is right and the number of items is increasing it is obvious from that that the cost would be higher, and she asked me why and speculating, which I should not do, but from pure speculation if she is right it is obvious that there are a number of reasons. Firstly, on the increase of items is that demographically the population is increasing at the higher levels of age, there are more older people alive now than 20 years ago and those older people are living longer and they obviously take more medicines and more drugs than they tend to do when they are younger. It may also be due to the prescription habits of individual GP's where some GP's prescribe more and others prescribe less, and that changes over a period of time. Thirdly, that the costs have gone up is obviously due to two reasons. (1) If she is right and there are more items, then it follows de facto from simple arithmetic that the total costs will be higher, but it also follows that because the cost of drugs increases year by year, even if the numbers remain static, the costs themselves would increase.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, it seems that I do my homework more than what the Minister does because I have got all my figures here and I have spent hours analysing the statistics and I think that it is only fair to say that the Government and the Minister for Health should take an interest and should know what is happening as far as the policies that they have implemented, more so in relation to the £7.50p which people are now paying for items and after which they are free. Therefore, I would urge the Minister to do the exercises that I have done and he will see that the policy of having introduced the three items which pay a total of £7.50p and after which the patients do not require to pay for them, has had the opposite effect of what the Government intended to do originally, which is when they said in this House that they were increasing prescription charges to stop the so-called abuse of the system, and here we are with a Government who have introduced a system where people are only obliged to pay for three items after which everything else, apart from the three items, is free of charge. Therefore would the Minister not agree that if the items have increased it has been because the Government have introduced a system which has failed them?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

What the Minister certainly agrees is that the electorate did not agree with the hon Member, who was predicating exactly that line during the last Election and obviously people did not believe her and did not take it into account. Be that as it may, the Minister takes a very great interest in the situation as regards prescriptions, especially because what is my concern is the total turnover in prescribed drugs and the cost to the GHA and to the Government, and that is where the Minister takes an interest and that is where the GHA take an interest. If the hon Member is patient, so that I can give her more information so that she can have more questions for the next time round, if the hon Member has patience and waits for the various work streams to come on stream, she will find that there is one which deals specifically on prescriptions and where we are doing exactly that. Examining not because she has brought it up but because two years ago when the works started, it would have been identified in the diagnostic report and it is part of the work streams and we are looking at prescription habits of individual doctors, how pharmacists dispense their drugs and quite a number of associated issues. Not the bee in her bonnet that the hon Member has, which she may or may not be right, I am not saying that she is not. She may or may not be right on the capping of the £7.50p but that is only one item on which she has the bee in her bonnet and she asks 10 or 15 questions in every House of Assembly. What we are looking at is the overall prescription picture and how that can be brought down whilst at the same time maintaining the service and giving people the drugs that they need without any restrictions on the prescription of those drugs. That is what we are doing and that is what needs to be addressed, not one little item in the whole menu.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The one item that I have brought to the attention of the Government and having heard the Minister talking about the three items which pay a total of £7.50p, therefore what he has just said to me confirms that what I have said in this House previous to the hon Member being Minister for Health, and now according to the figures that I am getting confirms that we have been right, that the policy has failed. Not only has their policy failed the Minister is saying that they are going to look at the overall question of prescriptions, which then confirms to me that the figures that he has been providing plus his predecessors, confirm that the items that are above the three which pay a total of £7.50p have been increasing considerably, because now we have had two different policies and now with the present Minister for Health can he say why they are looking at the overall policy of the question of prescriptions? Why?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have already answered.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2181 TO 2186 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When the Minister has just said that the Government would be looking at the overall question of prescriptions, is he also saying that they will be looking at the deal or agreement that they have with the pharmacists as regards the 15 per cent addition to the cost of medicines, because when we look at the figures we have seen from 1999 to 2003/2004 that there has been an increase of about £100,000 average in every financial year? Is he saying that they will also be looking at the agreement that they have with the pharmacists in view of the increases that have occurred from these years?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The word 'overall' in the English language has an obvious meaning, and that means everything in the context in which I answered the question and to which the hon Member is referring.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will the Minister not accept that the figures which I have here in front of me which he has provided, that the 15 per cent addition to the cost of the medicines has increased dramatically to the tune of what I have said is £100,000 average every year?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Fifteen per cent of a certain number is bound to get bigger if the number gets bigger, and we established in the previous question that the number was getting bigger so it follows that the 15 per cent must also increase.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The fact that it is getting bigger, are the Government saying that they are satisfied that it is getting bigger?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Therefore, will the Minister confirm whether the agreement with the pharmacists has a review date?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I do not know, I would need notice of that question, I do not know if it has a review date.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I see, but when the Minister said he was looking at it overall he meant the overall and therefore he does not know whether the agreement with the pharmacists has a review date or not.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is a non sequitur if ever I have heard one. This Minister has said several times already that he is looking at the overall prescription situation to see how it can be improved for everybody, the pharmacists, the patients and the GHA and that means that we can make savings, which I am sure we can, because there are obvious areas where without taking away any medicine that is necessary for anybody, savings should be made. I am sure that savings can be made but then to link it to whatever she linked it that I have now forgotten, was completely uncorrected. That is what the Minister is saying, we are looking at everything and that everything is everything.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I cannot understand why the Minister says he is ignorant of the fact whether there is a review date or not when I have actually asked a specific question about the pharmacists and about the conditions in relation to the agreement that they have. All I am saying is, and I think the Minister should know or perhaps if he does not know perhaps he will inform me either through a letter or later in this meeting of the House, all I am saying is whether he knows when the review date of the agreement with the pharmacists is when, in a year's time, two year's time? That is all I am asking.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Okay, what I am answering is that I do not know if it has a review date, that it is not the subject of the question, that I need notice of the question and that if the hon Member wants to know then she has various courses open to her. She can wait until the next House and ask me the question again, phrased in a different way or ask me a different question, or she can write to me and ask me but this is not the subject of the question, it has nothing to do with dispensation of medicines, specifically what the review date is I do not know because I have not had notice of the question. If she wants to know she should write to me as she does so often and I will provide her with the information. I have already said that I do not think it has a review date, at least no one has told me that it has a review date.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I will be writing to the Minister as I have just said, but when he says that he does not think that there is a review date, what does it mean that the agreement with the pharmacists have been made for how many years? Does the Minister for Health know how long the agreement with the pharmacists has been made for? That is what I am asking, if he does not know, fine I will write to him and he can give me the information later.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Good, I look forward to the letter.

GHA – PAIN CLINIC

Can the Government now confirm whether they know what the staff composition will be of the Pain Clinic once it is transferred to the Europort Building?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The position is as stated in answer to Question No. 1548 of 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2187 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Which is that the Government are not sure yet. Is that correct?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, it means that the situation is as given in answer to Question No. 1548 of 2004. It was actually answered together with Question No. 1549 and the answer is on the answer to Question No. 1549.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Yes, and what I am saying is that the answer to Question No. 1548 is that the Government were still not sure.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The hon Member seems to have a different answer to the one that I have in front of me. It says nothing about not being sure in mine.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So what does the Minister's answer to Question No. 1548 say?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I am very tempted to say what used to be said to me when I was on the Opposition side of the House, that that is a public document and it has already been given to her, and when she asked the Question she was given a copy of the answer. So why is she asking me what the answer is? That is what I used to be told but as I criticised the treatment so I will have the grace, if she smiles again, I will have the grace to tell her what the answer was in Question No. 1548 because I have no difficulty in giving her the answer. So see, although she was claiming before that she does her homework, obviously she has not done her homework if she does not know what the answer was to Question No. 1548, why is she asking the question again? But I will give her the answer. The hon Member will be delighted to hear that as part of the ongoing work of the Healthcare Development Team there have been reviews of the clinical services but not all these have been presented to the Government. Government are therefore not currently in a position to confirm the exact staffing position after transfer to the hospital. However, the Government are pleased to confirm that facilities have been made available in the Europort building to accommodate the Pain Clinic which will transfer together with all the other services. That is what was said and that is the answer, that the Pain Clinic will be transferred and that it will be transferred with the staff that it has. I fail to see the question whether we know what the staff composition will be. The staff composition will be what the staff composition is at the moment subject to any recommendations that the Clinical Reviews produce in the future. That is the answer put pure and simply.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

That is precisely why I am asking the question, because he said subject to any recommendations and all I wanted to know was whether they had received the recommendations which would change the composition.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I said half an hour ago that we would come to another question where I would have to say that we still did not have the recommendations from the Clinical Review, and we do not have the recommendations on the Clinical Review and there will be other questions where the answer will be the same. The Pain Clinic will transfer with its staff as it is at the moment and subject to recommendations that we may or may not receive, subject to recommendations that we may or may not accept, the staff will change or might not change, but at the moment it will move with its staff to Europort. There is no magic in it.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is it not a fair question to say 'why have the Government not been able to coordinate the receipt of the recommendations before the transfer to the new facilities so that entry into the new facilities can be on the back of the implementation of those new recommendations?'. Is there a specific reason for that other than gross inefficiency?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Well that assumes there is gross inefficiency which obviously there is not. The answer is very simple because it is two separate processes. The new hospital is one process and the Clinical Review Team is another one. In an ideal world, I share the principle of what the hon Member is saying do not get me wrong, I have said myself when I took over the job I have said and I have said it more than once, 'I wish there was a years separation between one and the other'. I am not quite sure which is ideal to come first because both can be argued but it would have been preferable to have had a years separation either to settle into the new hospital before getting the results of the Clinical Review, or vice versa but we are where we are. The hospital has extended, the termination date has extended, the Clinical Review is on course and the two have, to my mind not fortunately, coalesced, but that is where we are and there is nothing I can do to change that.

GHA – PRIMARY CARE CENTRE

Can the Government state whether users of the Primary Care Centre experience delays when making appointments over the telephone?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Telephone lines for appointments are open from 8.30 am straight through to 3.00 pm. The many callers seeking appointments tend to do so during the first half of the morning and this causes unavoidable delays. The GHA is very aware of this situation and the whole process of booking an appointment at the Centre has been reviewed in work stream number 7 of Phase II of the Healthcare Development Programme. This work stream has made a number of recommendations regarding ways to improve the appointments process. A period of consultation is now under way with staff of the GHA and User Groups.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2193 TO 2200 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Does the Minister agree with the findings in the Healthcare Development Report that there is a 2 per cent compound annual growth rate as far as the number of GP attendances at the Primary Care Centre for the year 2003?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

As has been said before in this House, the Minister does not have to agree or disagree with the contents of the diagnostic report, which is the work of the Healthcare Development Team on which the 20 work streams are based.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Does the Minister not know, has he not actually looked at the figures and seen that there is indeed a 2 per cent compound annual growth rate?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Not lately, no, my reading material has consisted of other things but if she claims that that is what the Healthcare Development Team did it says, then I presume it is correct. That is what they said, I have no reason to doubt the accuracy of their calculators.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So he agrees with them then?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is not what I said.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, if he always starts to mention the fact that there is being a review and that the Healthcare Development Team is looking at it, if they come up with a statement then he either agrees or disagrees with them.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have said it before and I will say it again, the diagnostic report is not a recommendation to the Government, it is an analysis done by the Healthcare Development Team. I do not have to agree or disagree and this is something that goes back to my first Question Time when she asked 50 questions or thereabouts, all on the diagnostic report and we told her very clearly that the diagnostic report was not a report of recommendations, it is the basis of an analysis on which the Phase 2 work has been carried out and it is not up to me to tell the hon Member whether I agree with any part of that report or whether I do not. What the Minister and the Government have to agree with is the recommendations emanating from the Phase 2 work streams that are based on that report. The report is a gathering of evidence and it is done by the Healthcare Development Team, and I have said it before and I apologise if I am being repetitive.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I am not asking the Minister to agree with recommendations. This is not a recommendation from the Healthcare Report team, this is a statement that they are making that there is a 2 per cent compound annual growth rate in June 2003. Will he agree with that assessment? I am not saying that whether he agrees with the recommendation or not, I know full well what the Government have done with previous reports whether they agree or they do not agree with the recommendations, of course sometimes they will agree and sometimes they will not. We know, we have seen it in the past, all I am saying is whether he agrees that there has been a 2 per cent compound annual growth rate, that is all, I am not telling him to agree with the recommendation, I have not said anything about the recommendations.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have already answered the question and I do not intend to say anything else on the matter.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

He has not answered it.

HON F R PICARDO:

With respect, I understand that the Minister is saying we as a Government have not gone through this part of the report and decided whether we agree or whether we do not agree with it, we have asked them to go on to the second stage which is to provide its recommendations where we will make a recommendation by recommendation of whether we agree with them or not, but I think that it is fair for the Minister to be asked a specific question in relation to a specific statement which arises in the first part of the Clinical Governance review and to ask him in this House whether in relation to that particular statement the Government agrees or disagrees with a particular remark. I understand that they did not want to take a position yea or nay in relation to the whole of the report but I think it is fair to direct their attention to one particular remark and to ask them what their view on it is.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Certainly whether it is fair or not fair is a different thing altogether but that it is certainly in the right of the Opposition Member to ask whatever she likes. The position which I have taken, and which I have taken before and which I will take again, is that the Minister or the Government do not have to form an opinion and that is what I have said. Asking me the question three times, as the hon Lady has said asking me the question three times, will not make me change the answer. If that was the view of the Healthcare Development Team, fine, that was the view but there is no reason why the Government should take a view on any aspect of it.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Question No. 2200 says, 'In view of the erroneous information that has been given in the House, can the Government confirm the total number of out-patient attendances at the Primary Care Centre for the years 2001, 2002 and 2003?'. If the Government look at the answers that have been given in the House they will see that I have been given for 2003, which is the figure that I have here with me which I have simply added very quickly, is 152,397 and if they care to look at the Abstract of Statistics, which since I have pointed out to them all the different figures that have appeared in contrast to what has been given to me in this House and what has appeared in the Abstract of Statistics, they will see the Abstract of Statistics gives a figure of 181,507 and therefore I would ask the Minister to look and to see which is the correct figure.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

We have been down this road before and I do not intend to go back and check every single figure that the hon Member has been providing in the last 20 years that she has been in Opposition. If she feels that a figure is wrong in the information that has been provided then I invite her to write to me and to say 'I think this figure is wrong for this reason' as she did in the past, I will then investigate this figure and I will confirm to her whether the figure that I have given in this House or my colleagues have given in this House have been correct or not correct. I cannot answer for the Abstract of Statistics or for the Healthcare Development Team, if she feels a figure given in answer to a question by myself or one of my predecessors is incorrect, then I invite her to write to me and I will investigate that figure but I am certainly not going to in answer to a question say, well all the figures for the Primary Care Centre for the years 2001, 2002, 2003, carry out a massive checking of every single figure not without an indication of why I should. If she feels that a figure is wrong I will get it checked but not a blanket question to check every single figure.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

It seems to me incredible that the Minister is sitting there and does not care whether the figures that he provides in this House are correct or not correct. Then when an Abstract of Statistics from the Government is published and I get a different answer with a different figure it seems to me incredible that the Minister is saying that I should carry out the exercise. It is his duty, he is on the Government side of the House, he is the Government, he is providing the figure to this House and what I am telling him is.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Point of order. The hon Lady and the hon Gentleman of course are free to debate statistics for as long as they like, but honestly on a point of order I do not see that the hon Lady having just heard the answer that she has had from the Minister, how she can retort by saying it is incredible that the Minister does not care if the information that he gives in this House is wrong. The Minister far from making it clear that he does not care whether the information given is right or wrong has told the hon Lady the opposite. The Minister has said to the hon Lady if she believes that any information that he has given in this House, he or any of his predecessors, is wrong then please write to him and he will have the matter investigated. Now how does she deduce from that, given her obligation to be accurate in this House, how does she deduce from that that it is incredible that the Minister does not care about the accuracy of the information he gives in this House.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Very simple, because if I ask in this House what are the out-patient attendances at the Primary Care Centre for the years 2001, 2002 and 2003 and I get conflicting figures, and I find out, how is it that he does not find out himself?

MR SPEAKER:

May I express a view of this line of questioning? The hon Lady has asked a question to which an answer has been provided, the hon Lady is perfectly entitled to query any discrepancies which she observes in the answer, the Minister has certain options open to him. He can answer those queries if he can there and then, he can say 'I do not know' or he can say the gist of the answer is 'give me the opportunity and write to me pointing out exactly where you see discrepancies and I will have it looked into'. Up to that point I think we have all understood but I do feel that Question Times, in my limited experience here, often tends to develop into mini debates on issues, the view expressed by the hon Lady afterwards about not caring, it is not for me to take a view on caring or not caring but that really boils down to debating points rather than pursuing questions in supplementaries. I hope that assists both sides.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

If the Minister provides a figure for me in the House for the year 2003, does he not check that that figure coincides with the figures given in the Government Abstract of Statistics which is totally different?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No, the hon Member for someone who has been a Minister in the past, seems to have an incredible lack of either memory or how things are done. The Minister is asked a question in the House by the hon Lady opposite, that question is then looked at by officials and the statistics produced. It is not checked with outside sources, it is produced by the GHA from within and the answer given and the answer that I have given today is a direct copy of answers that have been given in the past. She has asked me to confirm the figures for 2001, 2002 and 2003 and it is not that they have been re-calculated, it is that they have been copied from previous answers so I fail to see why she says there is a conflict. They are a direct copy of information provided in the past so therefore there is no conflict. If the hon Member thinks that the figures are inaccurate because they are not the same as figures she has seen elsewhere, then as my Colleague has said and I will say again for the last time, she can point out which figures she thinks may be wrong and I will get that particular figure checked and we will confirm or otherwise whether the previous answer was wrong or whether it is not, but what I will not do is be invited and accept an invitation to check every single figure from time immemorial because the staff of the GHA have better things to do like looking after patients.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I will write to the Minister because the figures that I have been given in the past do not coincide with the figures I have been given now in this House. So I will write to the Minister and I will also write to the Minister and give him the figures that appear in the Abstract of Statistics of the Government as well, which do not coincide either with this figure that I have been given today and the figures that I have been given previously, and I will write to him.

HON F R PICARDO:

I think, if I may, the one issue which remains outstanding is what happens in the circumstances when the Minister is written to, he diligently checks the figure and finds that the figure is wrong? He will inform his opposite number that the figure is incorrect but what happens then to the record in Hansard? I think we have to find a mechanism so that the record in Hansard is amended. Perhaps the easiest way may be for the Minister to copy his answer to the Chair and for the Chair to cause that to be included in Hansard. It is an issue which has come up before which is to ensure the figures are provided in Hansard. Where a Minister either through the mechanism of an Opposition Member writing to him or otherwise finds later that a figure provided in the House turns out to be incorrect, the Abstract of Statistics is another issue but where a Minister finds that an answer he has given in the House is incorrect and therefore that answer is in Hansard, I think it is fair to the public who may or may not wish to rely on that in future, to have something there which shows that that figure is incorrect and perhaps we should all apply our minds to how that happens.

MR SPEAKER:

Can not a suitably phrased question be put for Question Time for the next sitting of the House?

HON F R PICARDO:

Perhaps that is the only way to deal with it.

MR SPEAKER:

Will the Minister confirm that the answer given under number so and so was wrong and that the true answer is so and so.

HON F R PICARDO:

Perhaps.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I want to say this so that it goes on record. The figures that I have been given today as far as the out-patient attendances at the Primary Care Centre for 2003, given today by the Minister, is 147,725 and checking on the figures that I have been provided with in this House for 2003, the figure is 152,397. Then we go to the Abstract of Statistics and the figure for that year is 181,507, so therefore I will let him know and I will write to him and I will tell him that the figures are incorrect again.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Let me reiterate what I said before that I am not answerable for the Abstract of Statistics, I will answer for the accuracy of the figures that have been given and if the figures are wrong I will correct them as I did the last time and they went into Hansard but I will not go and check the Abstract of Statistics, let us be clear.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

What I have said in my intervention is not referring to the Abstract of Statistics but referring to the question which relates to 2003 which was provided to me by his predecessor and which he has provided to me today, and they are completely different.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is the Minister in a position to confirm whether the source of the information is the Abstract of Statistics is in fact the Health Authority or not? Normally, I have not looked at it myself, but normally in the Abstract it tells at the bottom where the information came from.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I suspect that it would be but we had this discussion the last time, first of all to say whether one is right and the other one is wrong one has to make sure that one is comparing apples to apples. For example, when we come to a question very shortly when the hon Member thinks she is asking one question and in fact she is asking another one. In this particular case if I had taken her questions literally, if we look at Question No. 2193 the hon Member asked me 'can the Government confirm the number of GP attendances at the Primary Care Centre?'. Now that I have taken to mean and presumably because she has not challenged it, I have taken it to mean how many people go and see the doctors. It could also more properly be taken to mean how many doctors go into the Health Centre every day, so she should first of all make sure she phrases her questions correctly and secondly, if the Abstract of Statistics may not be providing the same basis for the calculation. That is the first thing that needs to be established and this happens in other questions.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No the Abstract of Statistics does not indicate the number of GPs that see patients in the Health Centre.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Can I just hopefully wrap this up? If it were to be established, subject to that caveat, if it were to be established that three official sources provide a different statistic for the same variable, then it would be perfectly legitimate for the hon Lady to say 'look, these are three Government sources of information, the GHA Report, the Minister in the House and the Abstract of Statistics, now which of the three is right?'. That would be perfectly legitimate. What the hon Lady should not do is assume that the information given in answers in Questions is wrong. It might be the Abstract that is wrong, there may be a difference between her question and what the Abstract of Statistics says, there is a whole sort of possibilities, or one of the other sources that she is reading from may be wrong, but if it is established once she has written to the Minister if it is established that there are different figures given for the same thing exactly in three different Government sources, then the Government of course would accept not necessarily the Minister for Health because his question may be right, it may be the Abstract of Statistics that is wrong and that is not his responsibility, unless of course the source is the GHA in which case he is ultimately responsible but we first have got to establish in an objective way that there is actually a contradiction in the statistics that have been provided. I suggest that the hon Lady without getting up now to repeat her point which we all now understand, writes to the Minister and explains why she believes that the information is inaccurate and the Minister will investigate and if we establish that there is a contradiction between the statistics of course the Government have an obligation to clarify the situation, inside this House as well as in correspondence to the hon Member.

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – OUT-PATIENT ATTENDANCES

Can Government confirm whether the statistics given for the years 2001, 2002 and 2003, in connection with the total number of out-patient attendances at the Primary Care Centre also include all the departments as given in replies to Question Nos. 781 and 1553 of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answered together with Question No. 2203 of 2004.

NO. 2202 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – FRONTIER WORKERS

Can Government state how many frontier workers are currently registered with the Primary Care Centre under the GPMS, and of these can they give a breakdown of Gibraltarians, Spanish nationals and other nationalities?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

A total of 5369 frontier workers are registered with the Group Practice Medical Scheme as at 14 November, 2004. While it is theoretically possible to give a breakdown by nationality it would involve a disproportionate amount of administrative effort to obtain these statistics and provide the answer in the form requested by the hon Member because patient records are not classified by nationality.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2202 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Are these records computerised?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Not yet.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it the case that frontier workers register when they obtain employment in Gibraltar and start paying social insurance, and does anything happen if they leave or is this a reflection of a historical position and not necessarily a current position?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It is exactly the question that I have asked myself and I am investigating.

NO. 2203 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – PRIMARY CARE CENTRE

Can the Government confirm why in answer to Question No. 1553 of 2004, there are no figures available for patients attending Physiotherapy at the Primary Care Centre, for the month of September and if the figure is now available can they provide it?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

I can confirm that the statistics that I have given the hon Member in answer to Question No. 2200 in connection with the total number of attendances includes statistics from all the departments of the Primary Care Centre.

With regard to the statistics provided with answer to Question No. 1553 of 2004, the hon Member may have realised that four of the rows contained data in respect of visits to the community and not in the Centre itself. These were house calls by GP's, District Nurses, Occupational Therapists and Physiotherapists.

In order to avoid any further confusion, I have limited the information in answer to Question No. 2200 to conform strictly to what has been requested without the additional information.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2201 AND 2203 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So this is where probably the explanation lies. If I get an answer to Question No. 781 where I have 13 departments of the Health Centre and then in answer to Question No. 1553 I get 18 departments, I get an extra five departments which were not included in answer to Question No. 781, but it surprises me that I should have house calls included in the out-patient attendances of the Primary Care Centre when always house calls have been the subject of another question.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is precisely what I am telling the hon Member, that in the last answer in answer to Question No. 1553, she was given information over and above what she was asking for and in order to avoid confusion in answer to Question No. 2200 now, I have restricted it to calls and departments and visits to the Health Centre and not to those in the community. Therefore physiotherapists should never have been in in the first place and now they have been left out completely.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I suppose OT as well because that is the community as well?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have named the four departments. House calls by GP's, by District Nurses, by Occupational Therapists and by Physiotherapists.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Fine but am I getting the figures now?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

She has asked me to confirm whether the statistics include all departments as given in replies and the answer is yes, they include all departments. I am confirming it.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No, but is the Minister saying then that I should subtract from Question No. 1553 the five departments that he is saying, house calls, physiotherapists and OT?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Can I suggest that the hon Member waits until she gets a written answer and then maybe she will follow it? Question No. 2201 is whether statistics given, she asked the question I do not have to read it, and similarly she has Question No. 2203. If I may I will repeat the answer because obviously she has not followed the answer. I will read the answer again. I can confirm that the statistics that I have given the hon Member in answer to Question No. 2200 a few moments ago, the list that she has in front of her, the schedule I have just given her.....

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I have not got it.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

In answer to Question No. 2200 a few moments ago I have given her the schedule. Of course she has got it, I have just given it to her. So I can confirm that that schedule contains the total number of attendances and it includes statistics from all the departments in the Primary Care Centre that she has always asked for. I have eliminated the four departments that were put in by error in answer to Question No. 1553, so that she can compare with the previous answers that have been given.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I will be writing to the Minister because they do not tally with previous answers. This is a nightmare. I remember the Minister's phrase when he said comparing apples with apples but here I am comparing apples that are rotten so I will write to him.

GHA – NON-ENTITLED PATIENTS

Can Government confirm how many non-entitled patients have been admitted to St Bernard's Hospital during the month of October of 2004?

NO. 2205 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – NON-ENTITLED PATIENTS

Can Government confirm how many non-entitled patients have been admitted to St Bernard's Hospital during the month of November of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Fourteen and eight non-entitled patients have been admitted to St Bernard's Hospital during the month of October 2004, and November 2004 respectively.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2204 AND 2205 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When we are talking about non-entitled patients can consultants decide what fees they charge the non-entitled patients?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Private practice no longer exists in the Health Authority.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I see, then why are they not entitled?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

This is the months of October and November and private practice finished on 1st December.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So it means that from now on nobody is entitled to private practice.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well there is fee paying, but one pays the hospital not the doctor.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The hon Member should realise what non-entitled means. It is not the same as a private patient.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Exactly, a fee paying patient.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So the statistics for December, let us see if we have understood the answer correctly, will be fee paying patients, is that correct?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, as of 1st December nobody. If by the phrase 'private practice' what is meant is receiving treatment and paying a fee to the doctor, which is what most people understand by private practice, that will not happen after 1st December. There will continue to be non-entitled patients, not least in the Port visiting sailors, shippers and people of that sort, they will pay because they are not entitled to free care but they will pay the Health Authority not the doctor that delivers the treatment.

GHA – OUT-PATIENT ATTENDANCES

Can the Government confirm whether the figures they have given in reply to Questions in this House, in connection with out-patient attendances at St Bernard's Hospital, for the years 2001, 2002, 2003, all include casualty and all out-patient clinics, and if not can the Government supply this information?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Yes.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2206 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I will write to the Minister to give him different figures that I have been provided for different years in this House.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have not provided any figures. She has asked me whether they include casualty and out-patients and the answer is yes Sir, what different figures is she talking about?

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

That the figures do not tally, does the Minister not understand that? I would like to dwell on this Question No. 2206 because in fact the figures that I have got for 2000, 2001 and 2002 all relate to clinics and casualty, and from then on I am given clinics, A&E, Dressings and Physio, so of course they do not tally because I am being given different departments every time I ask the question.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I am afraid I will be have to write to the Minister again because on this occasion he coincides with the Abstract of Statistics, which is 6,185 regarding Question No. 2207 but in relation to Questions that have been given in this House previously, the figure is different which is 6,179, so I will write to him.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Much as I love receiving letters from the hon Member, I would ask her to note that during January and February I will have a little minor distraction like the moving to a new hospital, so she will forgive me if I do not give a lot of attention to her letters for a little while.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

It does not matter because then if we have another meeting of the House I will put another question.

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – WAITING LISTS

Can Government give details of the third review team recommendation which relates to the elimination of all surgical waiting list backlogs before the introduction of a scheduling system for planned surgery?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

To enable the implementation of a fully scheduled service for all planned surgery the backlog of patients currently on surgical waiting lists needs to be removed. This removal process is being managed in a variety of ways including the validation of all current waiting lists, the implementation of new theatre schedules and the recruitment of two Surgeons.

- (a) as out-patients; and
- (b) as in-patients during the month of November 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Ten private in-patients were treated in St Bernard's Hospital during the month of October 2004 and six during November 2004.

Numbers of private out-patients seen or treated during this period cannot be provided as this data is not available.

GHA – PRIVATE PATIENTS

Can Government confirm what criteria they use for considering patients wanting to access our health services, to be considered as private patients?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 2216

As from 1st December, 2004 no private medicine is being practised within the GHA. Patients who are neither entitled to receive free treatment under the provisions of any legislation nor of a reciprocal agreement which may be in force, may be charged a fee payable to the GHA.

Answer to Question No. 2215

With regard to the rest of the information requested by the hon Member with regard to waiting lists, this is set out in the schedule that I hand to her.

GHA – DISTRICT COMMUNITY SERVICES

Can the Government confirm, in view of the reply given by the Minister for Health in answer to Question No. 826 of 2004 and No. 1589 of 2004, that they intend to improve resources within the District Community Services?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

It is Government policy to improve all services to the public whenever and wherever possible. Whether this requires an improvement in resources is a matter that needs to be considered on a service by service basis.

In respect of the District Community Service, the Government will consider this as part of the many and varied changes that are already taking place within the health service as part of the overall review being carried out.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2217 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I take it that the famous review again is looking at this matter, but will the Minister not agree that he has actually said previous to this Question on the same matter, that the Gibraltar Healthcare Development Team uses international comparisons when looking at service provision and that this is not the same as making formal recommendations for change, but it simply adds to the debate. Therefore, what the Minister is saying is that when it suits them they say that the Healthcare Development Team has international comparisons and therefore does not apply to the manner in which they arrive at certain recommendations, and it is up to the Government to decide whether or not they accept the recommendation or not.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It does not mean that at all. If the hon Member has quoted two answers to two previous questions and she has chosen one, in answer to Question No. 826 and the position remains the same, I have told her that the present complement of the District Nursing team is able to handle the existing workload.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So if they are able to handle the existing workload it means that there is not going to be any change in the department.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

That is a statement not a question.

GHA – ELECTIVE SURGERY

Can Government state how many persons there are presently waiting for elective surgery in each speciality?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The information requested by the hon Member is set out in the schedule that I hand to her.

Answer to Question 2218 of 2004

The persons presently waiting for Elective Surgery in each speciality are:-

|                     |     |
|---------------------|-----|
| Ophthalmic          | 20  |
| Orthopaedic         | 404 |
| Gynaecology         | 44  |
| Otorhinolaryngology | 153 |
| General Surgery     | 129 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2218 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

When the Minister issued a press release on 27th July saying that patients were able to, with the consultants, agree on scheduling, that press release said that that would be done once the backlogs were eliminated. Seeing that there is here, especially in orthopaedics 404, does it mean that the scheduling will be able to be carried out irrespective of whether there is a backlog or not, because that is what the press release said?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Lady has just asked that and has had the answer in the answer to the previous question. Amongst the means being employed to remove the backlogs are, and therefore enabling scheduling to commence, obviously one cannot schedule people whilst there are still people waiting historically. So before scheduling gets off the ground, before current patients can be scheduled, one has got to get rid of the people who have been waiting there for months. It is already working quite well in gynaecology but in orthopaedics it cannot start until the second Orthopaedic Surgeon comes on stream and they both have access to more operating theatres, both of which come with the move to the new hospital now in February, at which stage the 404 figure will start to fall rapidly to the point where the scheduling can then commence in orthopaedics. But the scheduling has already started in gynaecology for example, and in ophthalmology.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Therefore, what the Chief Minister is saying that when we look at ENT and we look at general surgery, the scheduling will not be able to start until the backlog is also eliminated but does it mean that there is only one at the moment and there is only one general surgeon, does it mean that the Government.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, the Government had various options to eliminate this. We could have gone down the route that we used for ophthalmology which is basically to bring in this team of visiting surgeons to operate.....

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

A theatre is not needed.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, but that is different, it is simple, it did not need a theatre, it is a standard operation, it is a 20 minute intervention, after care is less important for these things. For general surgery and ophthalmology and I suppose ENT as well, we went the other way. We said better have permanent in-house resources but that requires a second surgeon. There is no point in having a second surgeon until we have got more operating theatres, because at the moment they have not got enough access to theatre because they have got to share the theatre between all the operating disciplines. So once we have the new operating theatres and the surgery techniques started in the day surgery theatres that are also available in the new hospital, and the new second general surgeon has come, the scheduling system will begin. The scheduling system will not, if this is what she is getting at she is right, the scheduling system does not start from day one because from day one in the new hospital the first task is to beat down the historical waiting lists. When they are under control then one can kick off with the scheduling as has already happened in the two disciplines that I mentioned earlier, ophthalmology and gynaecology.

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The information requested by the hon Member is contained in the schedule that I hand to her.

Answer to Question No. 2222 of 2004

Answer to Question Nos. 2219 & 2220

The number of long stay elderly patients during the months of October and November 2004 remained unchanged. The breakdown is as follows:-

Age Groups

|           |   |            |         |
|-----------|---|------------|---------|
| 65 to 70  | = | 3 females  | 0 males |
| 71 to 75  | = | 3 females  | 3 males |
| 76 to 80  | = | 6 females  | 3 males |
| 81 to 85  | = | 23 females | 3 males |
| 86 to 90  | = | 10 females | 2 males |
| 91 to 95  | = | 7 females  | 0 males |
| 96 to 100 | = | 2 females  | 1 male  |

Total number of females 54.

Total number of males 12.

Answer to Question Nos. 2221 and 2222

Ten patients have been formally discharged. Of these ten patients five elderly are living alone.

All elderly patients require some sort of support be it physical, emotional or social. All patients who have been officially discharged are able to be looked after.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2219 TO 2222 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Government confirm whether all of these patients will be moved to Europort or whether other arrangements will be made for them?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think as the hon Member has been told now on more occasions than I am sure she should need, some of these are being allocated beds in the extended wing of Mount Alvernia when that is available. The new facilities at Mount Alvernia.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Will the new facilities at Mount Alvernia be ready before the hospital actually opens?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I remember that she asked that very question last time. The new hospital is opening in February, Mount Alvernia new wing is operating touch and go but that is no big deal, if Mount Alvernia is not ready they will have to be temporarily accommodated in the new hospital then.

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 2223

Thirty-six elderly citizens are awaiting a place at Mount Alvernia and are occupying a bed at St Bernard's Hospital as at the end of October 2004.

Breakdown of sex and age is as follows:

Female = 28
Male = 8

65 – 70 = None
71 – 75 = 1
76 – 80 = 7
81+ = 28

Answer to Question No. 2224

Thirty-nine elderly citizens are awaiting a place at Mount Alvernia and are occupying a bed at St Bernard's Hospital as at the end of November 2004.

Breakdown of sex and age is as follows:

Female = 31
Male = 8

65 – 70 = None
71 – 75 = 1
76 – 80 = 7
81+ = 31

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2223 AND 2224 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I would like to inform the Government that I have detected another error in previous Questions in this House. I will refer to my Question No. 56 of 2004 when the Hon Mrs Del Agua told me that there were 37 patients occupying a bed at St Bernard's Hospital. She then said that the information would be sent to my hon Colleague, the Hon Mr Bruzon, and lo and behold I look at the information and I look at the same month and the same year and she gives him the figure of 39. Could she please confirm by writing either to him or to myself whether the figure is either 37 or 39?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I am not sure I understand what she wants me to do. If she is saying that my Colleague has given her a different answer, is that what she is saying?

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Yes.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

If she has already received an answer from my hon Colleague, I fail to see why she is asking me the same question again, to be perfectly honest. But if she has just to see whether we can give her different answers, then we shall have to consult and see why we have given her different answers.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No, it is not that the Minister for Health has given me a different answer, it is the Hon Mrs Del Agua in answer to Question No. 56 of 2004 she answered a similar question and gave me 37 persons awaiting a place at Mount Alvernia for the month of December 2003. Then she wrote to my Colleague the Hon Mr Bruzon and for the same month and the same year she gave him the figure of 39. All I am saying is could she write and confirm that it is 39 or 37, that is all.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The question arises from an answer to a Question that asks for the statistics in respect of October and November 2004.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I thought I would take the opportunity since we are talking about the same, the elderly citizens. If we are talking about elderly citizens awaiting a place at Mount Alvernia and how many of these are occupying a bed, then I put a question in for these months but then I look at the statistics that I am given in the previous meetings of the House. It is not that I have the time in this House to look. It was only about three months ago and all I am saying is that seeing we are talking about elderly citizens, I have just taken the opportunity of telling the Hon Minister for Social Affairs if she can confirm which figure is the correct one, because I have been given one and my hon Colleague has been given another.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

Seeing that it is my question but I am not expected to answer, can I suggest to the hon Member that she writes to my Colleague explaining what it is that she wants to know?

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I have gone one better this time. I am asking her to write to me to confirm whether it is either 37 or 39 in December 2004.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I cannot understand if the hon Member is saying that I provided her with an answer and in the same Session of the House I wrote to her Colleague with a different answer, if I have already provided a verbal answer why should I feel a need to write to her Colleague?

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No, she has not understood. She wrote to him and previous to writing to him she gave me the figure. When she wrote to him and gave him what was supposed to be the same answer to the question that I asked, I got 37 and he got 39.

MR SPEAKER:

Miss Montegriffo, your experience of this House is far greater than mine is or ever will be, but I cannot see how the line adopted now falls into the category of a supplementary to the Hon Minister for Health on this Session. You are free to take it up in correspondence with the Minister for Social Affairs.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

It is only that it so happened that at the time that I asked this question a few months ago, it was not the Minister for Health that answered it, it was the Hon Mrs Del Agua.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It was a year ago.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No it was not a year ago.

MR SPEAKER:

It was Question No. 56, a long time ago. We are now two thousand and something.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

It was Question No. 56 of 2004.

MR SPEAKER:

A long time ago.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Well, but all I am saying is that if I have taken the opportunity of looking.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It was January of 2004.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The question relates to 2003 and it was not put a year ago. Now if the Government are not interested fine, if they do not want to give me the answer then fine.

MR SPEAKER:

I suggest the hon Member write to the Minister who will then reply.

HON MRS Y DEL AGUA:

I will try to look at the answers and try to decipher what it is that she wants and if I can provide the information I will.

NO. 2227 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – ST BERNARD’S HOSPITAL

Can Government confirm how many routine operations were cancelled at St Bernard’s Hospital due to the non-availability of beds in November of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 2225

It is not usual for patients to have to wait for several hours for admission due to the unavailability of beds. Patients sometimes have to wait for results from tests carried out before a decision can be taken whether to admit. Once it has been decided to admit the patient in the majority of cases a bed is allocated within an acceptable period of time. Nevertheless and very regrettably, it is occasionally inevitable to have to wait for an extended period, especially if there are other patients who require admission of a more urgent nature.

Answer to Question Nos. 2226 & 2227

Nine elective operations were cancelled in October 2004 and none in November as a result of non-availability of beds.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2225 TO 2227 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I am afraid that I have caught another discrepancy. This relates to Question No. 139 of 2004 and Question No. 229 of 2003, which gives for 2003, 21 operations cancelled. I have looked at the Gibraltar Health Authority Annual Report for the year 2003 and it gives 27 operations cancelled. I am referring to Question No. 2226 and, therefore, in answer to Question No. 139 of 2004 and in answer to Question No. 229 of 2003, for the year 2003 I have been given.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Another point of order. The hon Lady asks a question for the month of October. When she is given a figure the next words that come out of her mouth cannot then be

'ah I have spotted another discrepancy because in 2003 you told me', she might say 'well thank you very much for the information in respect of October and November 2004. I have just noticed that last year you got it wrong when you answered this same question.' Her response to the figure for 2004, October and November, cannot be discrepancy.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I did not say it was a discrepancy between November and October, but fine. What I will do then is I will put another question in next time and I will ask the Minister to confirm whether there have been 21 operations cancelled for the year 2003 as the information which I have been given in this House, or whether the Gibraltar Health Authority Annual Report for the year 2003 is correct, because we are talking about a difference of six.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Ask a question about the Gibraltar Health Authority Report.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

No, it just proves that every time there is a report and I compare it with the information I am given by the Government, there are discrepancies everywhere.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, what it proves is that if notice is given of a question there is a chance that the person being questioned has the information available or the ability to rebut the allegations, otherwise we sit here quietly listening to the hon Member allege discrepancies when the answer may in fact be not that there is discrepancy but that the hon Member is not comparing apples with apples. The hon Lady sits there asserting that she has found discrepancies in 2003 and we have no alternative but to take her word for it, but that should not be interpreted by her as an acceptance by us that she is right. I bet in many of these cases there is an explanation for what she calls a discrepancy. In others there may not be. In others there may be an error, but the fact that we cannot now from memory tell her what happened in 2003 or the figures, proves nothing except the fact that she has not given notice of the questions that she is now seeking to ask in this House. That is all it proves.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

That is why I said that I would be writing to the Minister so that he could confirm which figure is correct.

GHA – MRSA INFECTION

Can the Government confirm whether the Gibraltar Health Authority is looking at alternative hospitals in the UK to replace St Mary's in view of persistent reports of patients having suffered greatly due to MRSA infection?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

No, the GHA is pleased with the service offered to Gibraltar patients by St Mary's Hospital, Paddington.

MRSA and controlling the spread of infection is a major issue for all hospitals worldwide. According to the official Department of Health data, St Mary's actually has one of the lowest rates of MRSA infection for a specialist London teaching hospital.

GHA – SPONSORED PATIENTS

Do Government agree that in view of the increased number of Sponsored Patients being treated in Spanish Medical Institutions, a suitable office to deal with their concerns, or subsistence and accommodation, should be opened in the hinterland in order to provide them with assistance?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Answer to Question Nos. 2235 and 2236

All patients are given the choice to be treated in Spain as opposed to the UK at the time of referral when this is considered appropriate by the referring Consultant. 52 patients out of 163 have elected to go to Spain during the month of October 2004 and 46 patients out of 177 during the month of November 2004.

Answer to Question No. 2237

The Government are not considering opening an office to deal with Sponsored Patients in the Spanish hinterland.

Can the Government confirm how many complaints have been lodged to the new independent review panel since it started to function to the end of November 2004, from users of our health services, specifying the date of each complaint?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

Up to the end of November 2004, no complaints have been referred to the Independent Review Panel. There has been no need for the Review Panel to meet.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2239 AND 2240 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Is it a condition of the Government that members of a panel have to be residents of Gibraltar?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

No.

NO. 2241 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – GYNAECOLOGY SURGERY

Can Government confirm whether scheduling surgery in the specialty of Gynaecology was implemented last October and how many patients have taken up the offer?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The preparatory work for the implementation of a pilot scheduled service in Gynaecology began in October. The essential work includes the development of new theatre schedules, new roles and responsibilities and patient information leaflets. The pilot initiative will go live in the New Year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2241 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Did the Minister say it would start in October or did he say that it would go live in the New Year? I did not quite understand.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

The pilot has started, the preparatory work is being done and then the whole thing will go fully live in the New Year.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

So therefore, so far no patients have taken up the offer.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There has been some scheduling already under the pilot scheme.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

If there have been some patients therefore, and I am asking how many there are, can the Minister say in the pilot scheme how many have taken up the offer?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have not answered that part of the question because quite honestly it does not really make sense because there is not an offer and acceptance between bidding and buying here, the way scheduling takes place is that patients come in and they are allocated a slot. It is not a question of offering and agreeing to take up the offer. So strictly the answer to that is that no patients have taken up an offer where an offer has not been made.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Therefore can the Minister say how many people have taken up the slot offered? Or is the Minister saying that nothing has been offered yet? If the Chief Minister has said that there is a pilot scheme and that it has already started and some people have been offered a slot, if they have been offered have they accepted?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

With the word 'slot' she has to be careful. The way scheduling works is that instead of being put on a list for somebody who needs an operation and then going home and waiting to receive a letter in due course saying to come in on 31st June or such and such a date, there and then they try and agree a date before they go home, 'how about 23rd December is that convenient at 3 o'clock?'. There and then they make appointments rather than send one home and write informing when the intervention is going to be done. So it is not a sort of a slot, they are not slots it is done by agreement there and then. There have been people, I am sure that the Minister can write informing on how many people have been scheduled as opposed to written to informing.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

It is still a pilot scheme, it is on-going.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Would the patients that have been scheduled, would they be people that have been scheduled between October and the end of this year, or would the scheduling have been in respect of what starts in January?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I think it was between October and December.

GHA – ORAL SURGEON

Can the Government confirm whether they agree that when the oral surgeon of the Gibraltar Health Authority is away from Gibraltar that a locum should be brought in to cover for this specialty?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

No.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2242 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

The Minister must be aware that I have asked this question because of the case in hand that I wrote to him about, about a lady that had to be admitted and then on three occasions she was discharged because there were no beds, then she was offered a bed in Children's Ward depending on whether she fitted in the bed or not, then after the operation the patient got an infection and the oral surgeon left Gibraltar. I am sure he will remember about this case, and then the lady was told that she had to go to Cadiz because of the infection that she had and the nursing escort refused to go without a doctor because she might require a tracheotomy. Two hours elapsed before the patient was transported to Cadiz. After this horrendous story the Minister says that when the oral surgeon is away from Gibraltar there will not be a locum. Well I find it quite extraordinary because this is not what I think the lady was told when she complained. I think when she complained the new Complaints Procedure was not in place.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I am very well aware of the case. The patient concerned has come to me in my office and explained exactly what had happened to her, I in fact encouraged her to lodge a formal complaint because there were some aspects of what she told me that I found disturbing about the way she had been treated, not about the lack of an oral surgeon, and that complaint is as far as I know, I have not been notified that it is delayed, that complaint is in the process of being dealt with. The question is whether there should be a locum in all the time. There has never been a locum, there was not a locum when she was Minister and the statistics show that this was, unfortunately, a series of circumstances compounded themselves to lead to this particular situation. The patient was transported to Cadiz where happily she was operated on and she was given the treatment and when she came to see me she was recovered from the experience but still upset enough to want to lodge a complaint. As I said I encouraged her to do it but it is like everything else, in relation to the size of Gibraltar, to the demands for this type of surgery and the statistics for this type of incidents, does not warrant the expense of having a locum in place. This is a one on one and we would have another locum in at the weekends as well. The expense does not warrant it when we have cover elsewhere.

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – DIALYSIS REPORT

Can Government confirm what were the total expenses involved in the report they commissioned on dialysis, which was carried out by Professor Terry Feest?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The cost of the report produced by Professor Terry Feest amounted to £10,115.23p.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2243 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

I suppose that the Government did not agree with the recommendations of Professor Terry Feest, as he said that the La Linea Unit was sufficient for our needs. I suppose that Mr Terry Feest did not realise how unfriendly our neighbours are.

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I think we covered this in a previous question and I remember distinctly telling the hon Member that there had been three recommendations in the report and the Government had in fact by choosing to have dialysis in Gibraltar, had in fact taken an option which had not actually been covered by Professor Feest. Be that as it may, we are where we are, it is past history, the report was made, the decision was made to provide dialysis and that is where we are.

NO. 2244 OF 2004

THE HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO

GHA – CANCER REGISTER

Can Government state whether there is any evidence to suggest that the incidence of cancer in Gibraltar is increasing, according to the cancer register of the Gibraltar Health Authority?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR HEALTH

The incidence of cancer as recorded on the Cancer Register has remained fairly steady over the five-year observation period since the register was started by this Government.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2244 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Except that I would ask the Minister whether he is willing to provide me with the figures, when we were in Government we did a study and I have got the figures with me but we did it on a yearly basis, we did it from 1980 to 1991 and when I looked at the report of the Gibraltar Health Authority Annual Report, as he rightly says, it is done on a five year basis. It says that this continues to be interim figures and due to the registry being constantly updated with new data on past years, the above figures will not be directly comparable with those published in previous reports. That is what the Report of the GHA says. Therefore all I am asking the Minister is if he can provide me with the figures from when it started for five years, on a yearly basis. Is it not possible to have complete figures for the first five years?

HON LT-COL E M BRITTO:

I have in front of me provisional figures dating back to 1999 which is the first year when the Cancer Register was in full force. These are provisional figures, I have been advised, and not intended yet for unqualified publication. The Director of Public Health tells me that the data is currently undergoing audit because there are a number of factors that have still to be quantified. For example, it is known that there are cases that are not directly reported to the Cancer Registry and therefore he is having to establish a system of gathering this data in different ways to what it has been gathered up to now. There is also a need to check the information that has been gathered so far and in short, he tells me that the figures will not be ready for publication for at least another year, but the indications of the first five-year spread are that the figures that we have so far are fairly steady but the figures cannot be published yet because he is not happy with their accuracy.

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Are the Government intending to look at the figures once they are as accurate as possible and look at other EU States and compare the incidence of cancer in Gibraltar to other EU States, are they intending to do that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

We have had this conversation before in Question Time. This was the whole purpose of creating the Cancer Registry, to get reliable statistics that could then be meaningfully compared with European average statistics to see whether indeed it is true, as many people believe, the incidence of cancer not in Gibraltar in particular but in the general geographical region, is higher than it should be. Certainly, if the evidence is that that is so, then we will certainly wish to pursue it and commission further external consultant studies, that is the whole purpose of gathering cancer statistics.

CAMMELL LAIRD

Can Government state how many inspections in relation to the handling of asbestos have been carried out in respect of the works being carried out aboard the vessel ROTTERDAM at Cammell Laird, the date of those inspections, the parties that carried it out (including the names of any sub-contractors that might have been engaged by the Environmental Agency), what equipment has been used in taking any readings that might have been taken, what the findings of those inspections has been and what actions, if any, have been taken as a result?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The Health & Safety Inspectorate are empowered under the Control of Asbestos at Work Regulations 1997, and as such have carried out the following inspections and meetings.

Since notification of the works and prior to any works commencing four meetings were held:

1. 19th July 2004 with Cammell Laird's Health & Safety Manager,
2. 26th July 2004 with the City Fire Brigade and the Environmental Agency,
3. 2nd August 2004 with the City Fire Brigade, Environmental Agency, Cammell Laird Health & Safety Manager, the Director of Cuddy Group Multi-Disciplined Contractor and a representative of the St John's Ambulance,
4. 18th August 2004 a meeting was held on board SS Rotterdam to familiarise the emergency services involved with the site.

The Health & Safety Inspectorate carried out inspections of the equipment, the preparation for the works and the laboratory.

Further inspections were carried out by them on 9th and 30th September, 7th, 13th, 21st and 28th October, 4th November and 8th December 2004.

Daily analysis of air monitoring throughout the work site is being carried out by RPS Analyse, independently of the Cuddy Group who are carrying out the asbestos removal works.

Daily analytical reports are inspected by the European Safety & Health Consultants BV and Cammell Laird Health & Safety Manager and the Health & Safety Inspectors.

No action has been necessary as work has been carried out in compliance with the necessary legislation and standards. As there are a lot of dates and details and names, I am happy to provide the Opposition Member with a copy of my answer for his convenience.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2246 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

I am very grateful to the Minister. One of the things that my question also asks is what equipment has been used in taking the readings, and that question obviously is because we have had some debate about what equipment is available or is not available locally. I wonder whether the Minister can assist in that respect at all?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I have referred to the air monitoring, it is a process to measure the fibres and particles in the air within the logical range, and I presume the consultants, and experts, and scientists involved have the necessary equipment to do that but I cannot give a name, I am a layman totally in these matters, but if he likes I can find out in more detail exactly what type of machinery or equipment is used.

HON F R PICARDO:

I would indeed like that because notice has been given of that question. One of the constituent parts of the question asks what equipment has been used in taking the readings, just for the reason that I have already stated. Namely, that there has been some debate in this House as to what equipment is or is not available. Other than that I am grateful to the Minister.

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

As explained earlier, I will be providing the hon Member with complete substantive answers to these Questions early in the New Year, covering the quarterly statistics. I do not want to be pedantic but there are two questions which are repeated. Just for convenience they are Question No. 2250 and No. 2257, they are completely the same and Question Nos. 2258 and 2254, if I am not mistaken.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2247 TO 2270 OF 2004

HON DR B A LINARES:

As a matter of courtesy, even as a point of order, I would like to say that for Question Nos. 2248 to 2270 I will be unable to answer directly, they may go down in this House for the record in Hansard but I will not be able to provide at the end of it all, at Question No. 2270, a direct answer to these statistical questions. It has been the practice and the policy of the Government to issue statistics on a quarterly basis rather than a monthly basis. The Questions are addressed to the months of October and November. I will of course be entirely happy at the end, well after December and early in the New Year, to provide the hon Member with all the data and statistics that he is seeking here.

HON F R PICARDO:

I just want to clarify, as a matter of policy, is it because the Government obviously have the information for October and November.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes indeed, we have the information for October/November. The thinking behind this approach, this policy, is that any statistician will know a broad range sample gives us more indication of trends and patterns than just an incidental figure for one particular month. So it is indeed more useful to the hon Member and to us. It is not a way of covering up, on the contrary the trends may show bad news rather than good news but at least it is true news or as true as we can get.

HON F R PICARDO:

The question is phrased as the question has always been phrased in this House, directing itself to the number of months that have passed since the last meeting, in order to enable the Opposition to continue its own statistical collation of data which relates to the monthly information provided from Government Members. Can I press the Minister to provide me with this information if he has it?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I will as I say, after we have the complete quarterly returns. Only a moment ago we were talking informally about coming together and issuing statistics and talking about them ourselves, and passing statistics from the Government to the Opposition precisely to ensure that our political analysis of these statistics are as verifiable as possible.

EMPLOYMENT SURVEY REPORT

Can Government now state how many employers have been sent questionnaires for the October 2004 Employment Survey Report?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

A total of 1,396 forms have been sent out to employers in respect of the October 2004 Employment Survey Report.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2271 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Minister say how this compares with the numbers that were sent out last year, which I think was an increase on previous years?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes, if I am not mistaken the figure for 2003 was 1,298 forms sent out. If he wants earlier years, as he said, they were lower. In October 2002 it was 1,082 and October 2001 it was a bit higher, 1,136 (I mean higher than 2002 not 2003). But that is the forms sent out and not the returns.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am aware of that but in fact last year I think the results showed that there was a very high response rate and that part of the increase in the results, in terms of the private sector, I think was attributed to failure of response in earlier years rather than the fact that there were new ones. Does the Minister have any indication, for example, that on this occasion when we were talking about an additional 98 employers being contacted, to what extent those are new employers or people that the Department has not caught up with before?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I am afraid I have not got an indication of how many were the recurring employers and how many were new employers that were now receiving the questionnaire which they had not received before but it may be interesting to the hon Member to know that by the 15th of December, of the 1,396 forms sent out we already have 826 completed questionnaires and 176 on top of that returned but with nil returns. That is a total of 1,002 altogether returned. A reminder was issued to the rest, to 633 employers, on 26th November so we are hopeful that by the end of the month we may have an even higher return rate than last year.

HON J J BOSSANO:

How many did the Minister say the reminders were?

HON DR B A LINARES:

633.

HON J J BOSSANO:

It does not add up.

HON DR B A LINARES:

That is what they have given to me.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

EMPLOYMENT SURVEY REPORT

Can Government provide the breakdown by industry of the 986 employers who returned filled questionnaires for October 2002 and October 2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The Statistics Office inform me that they have a problem with these three questions because the figure of 986 employers quoted in this Question does not tally with the figures that they have, which I can give him now as a form of table. In October 2001 we had 865 completed returns and 104 nil returns, that is 969 returns altogether. In October 2002 we had 1,043 total returns, 897 completed and 146 nil. In October 2003 to be complete, we had 1,290 total returns, 1,052 and 238 nil returns. They cannot detect what this 986 employers come from, I am stuck myself.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2272 TO 2274 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well, given that I have to put a question and I cannot get an answer, if I could be allowed, will the Minister look at the answer that he gave me in the last House, when I asked a number of questions in comparing the results of October 2003 and October 2002, and I asked of those persons that had replied in October 2003 how many had been there in October 2002 and how many were new. It is as a result of the figures that he provided in the last House that I worked it out. I am not saying that my figure is necessarily 100 per cent accurate but the figure I came up with was that in comparing the return for 2003 and the return for 2002 on the basis of the information previously provided, I came to the conclusion that there were in fact the figure in my two questions who were the same employers in the two years. Therefore, if the Minister looks at those answers will he consider the value of knowing to what degree the change in more jobs has been from existing businesses that were there the previous year, and to what extent it has been from new entrants into the market? That is the purpose of the two questions but it is based on information he was kind enough to provide me in the House in the previous questions in the last meeting.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Well the Statistics Office have given me a note as well covering those questions or those answers that I gave then. They say that, perhaps if the hon Member wishes to take the figures down so that they can eventually tally the analysis of the figures, there were 897 filled questionnaires for October 2002, of which they say as is evident from published information, 836 also completed the October 2003 Survey questionnaires. So of the 897, 836 were already included in the October 2002. These, they say, 836.....

HON J J BOSSANO:

If the Minister will give way. He has told me the 897 were for October 2002 and the 836 for October 2003 but he has just said that they were already included in 2002.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes because they say that 836 of these 897 also completed the October 2003. So I deduced from that that they were part of the 897 lot. Then they also say, I am not too clear myself, 836 together with 216 new employers gave a total of 1,052 for the October 2003 Survey. The number of questionnaires completed, and then they go back to 2001 just simply to show the increases. They say the completed questionnaires for October 2001 was 865, yes I do confess that I am a bit lost myself actually with all these figures.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Assuming that in respect of the answer that the Minister has given, the figure of 836 is the one that on the basis of previous answers in my question I put down as 986, would it be possible to give the information that I have asked for in respect of the 836 that the office says were the same employers in the two years?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I agree with the hon Member, it should be possible on whatever figure we have floating around, it should be possible to give the breakdowns in Table 12 that the hon Member is seeking. I am afraid the Statistics Office have not done so but I will insist that they do on whatever figure they think is the true figure.

-----
HON J J BOSSANO:

I would like to clarify in relation to Question Nos. 2272, 2273 and 2274, where the Minister for Employment said the answer was not provided because the Statistics Office was not very clear where the figure of 986 came from in those three questions, which ask for a breakdown of the 986 employers that were included in both surveys in October 2002 and 2003. I have gone back and checked and in answer to Question No. 1636, where I asked 'of the 1,290 employers who responded to the October 2003 survey, how many were not included in the 1,043 who replied to the 2002 survey?', and the answer I had to that was, '304 out of 1,290'. It is deducting the 304 from 1,290 that I got the 986 as being the number of employers that had been included in 2003 and were also there the preceding year. I am saying this so that we have it for the record and because it might help for the provision of the answer which I have been promised subsequent to the meeting.

EDUCATION – ASBESTOS

Can Government state why children were not evacuated from the block where asbestos had been damaged and tampered with even while men wore protective clothing to deal with the said asbestos?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Answer to Question 2275

The Health & Safety Inspectors do not keep a register of asbestos of all public buildings in Gibraltar (including schools). Legislation does not require the keeping of such a register by the Health & Safety Inspectors. What legislation requires in relation to the keeping of records of asbestos works as per the Construction (Design, Management, Health, Safety and Welfare) Regulations 1998, is that a contractor keeps at the work site a Safety File to include any pertinent asbestos works “assessments”.

On completion of works the contractor is required to pass on to the client the Health and Safety File to be kept and updated as necessary whenever any further works are carried out to the building. It would then be the Health and Safety Inspectors duty to check these “assessments” as and when necessary during the course of an inspection.

Answer to Questions 2276 to 2280

The Government can confirm that asbestos is present in other blocks at Bishop Fitzgerald School. We do now have a complete register of the location of all these asbestos in Bishop Fitzgerald School in detail. The inspection and the register was carried out by GJBS, Environtech (UK firm) who specialise in these matters, and by Safety Services locally and of course by our own Health and Safety Inspectors.

This asbestos was originally discovered in Summer 2003 and then it was encapsulated according to recommended health and safety procedures. Blue, white and brown asbestos was discovered.

The asbestos found at the annex to the Gibraltar College of Further Education was also encapsulated as recommended.

Children were evacuated from the block when the latest incidence occurred before any hazardous work had commenced. No children were present when the workmen dealt with the said works.

At the completion of the works, this is not in the question but I want to add it as it is important especially in the context of Mr Picardo's question about machinery testing airborne asbestos, at the completion of the works extensive tests were carried out by RPS Analyse BV which is a specialist firm from Holland presently working on the SS Rotterdam. These tests demonstrated the total absence of any airborne asbestos fibres or particles in the building. Let me say that all these questions were answered by the Government in detail in public statements which were issued on 27th October initially, and then on 4th November with regard to the second incident and I would certainly recommend the hon Member to read these statements which give him more details than I have been able to give in these questions, as I am sure he is concerned on some of the safety issues, understandable concerns, which of course we share, will be as in our own mind once and for all greatly assuaged.

HON S E LINARES:

I appreciate the Minister's answer. Yes there is definitely concern but what concerns the Opposition or at least myself, is not the fact that there are asbestos and I am sure there are many buildings in Gibraltar in which there is asbestos, what concerns me is that a procedure that does not seem to be in place in case of asbestos being either dealt with or asbestos being discovered. In this case it seems as if the men came in with protective gear, the children were still in the classrooms and they intended to proceed with the works and therefore it was the teachers themselves that realised that the men with protective gear were coming in, and I do not think there is an element here of me trying to blame the Minister, it is a question of procedure a question of having, like the Minister well knows we have in schools with fire drills, the children are all very well drilled in case of an emergency. They know exactly where to go, they know exactly what to do, they know that they do not have to run, they know where they have to assemble in order for children not to be left behind in schools. In this case I think that the Department and schools should be made aware that there should be a procedure in case asbestos is found. I am not saying that they start running like they do in fire, but there must be some type of procedure that if somebody suspects that asbestos has been damaged or tampered with, that the procedure goes into place and then that everybody is safe, because as the Minister knows it is the particles in the air, like he explained before, it is the particles in the air that is the danger. So the question is would the Minister not agree that there should be a standard procedure across schools and public buildings may I add, just in case somebody finds asbestos?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Of course I agree that there should be a procedure, clearly outlined for operational purposes in the school. I do not think there was a lack of procedure, in fact let me just make clear that when the men, what there was was perhaps a bit of lack of communication perhaps, but this sort of thing happens in any sort of critical moment. The men came with all this impressive gear and that created a certain degree of panic but the point was that the children were evacuated before these men, dressed up with all this gear, actually got down to whatever they had to do. They were evacuated and that is a fact. So that is the important thing. As I say it is not lack of procedure. By the way there is always room for improvement, as I say in terms of communication and the hon Member may know that at the moment the Department is communicating with the Union in order to establish lines of communication. We have agreed to make sure that all sides in these critical moments know exactly where they stand and what they have to do in parallel with the fire drills, I think that was a good example.

HON S E LINARES:

I understand that the men did not start the works before the children were evacuated but the men were proceeding to do the work and no teacher was informed, and as the Minister well knows, the teachers were up in arms at the fact that these men walked in, and I appreciate that the Minister has just said that there was a lack of communication, of course there was a massive lack of communication not a slight, a massive lack of communication where one gets men walking into a building with protective gear to actually start handling the asbestos whilst the children were there. It was the teachers who alarmed, of course and naturally alarmed, took the decision of evacuating the children. It was not the company or the people who were actually going to deal with the asbestos who said 'hold on, before we start dealing with the asbestos we better evacuate this place'. This just goes to show the lack of procedure that there was on whosever part it was in order to have the children safe before the works were done. May I add, I think it was a brave decision taken by the teachers because then subsequently they were reprimanded for taking that decision. I do not know whether the Minister was aware but they were actually told off for taking a decision for the safety of children, and later on it transpired that nobody had informed the teachers that asbestos was going to be handled. This is what I mean by a lack of procedure and lack of communication definitely.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I do not know, I do not quite agree with his account of the facts and of the incidents on that occasion, I think he is elaborating himself and I suppose it is easy to do so because as I say in these situations there is always an emotional aspect, a certain amount of panic but I do not agree that this alarming epithet that he has used to describe the situation in Bishop Fitzgerald at the time. As I say any way, for his satisfaction and mine, we are now making sure that there are lines of communication so that whenever anything resembling that sort of incident we can actually stem that natural sort of panic and anxiety that arises on the part of those at the times and as I say we have this in hand.

HON S E LINARES:

Just one last point is that if the procedures and all the review and things that the Minister is currently doing in order for this not to happen again could be extended to other schools. I think it is not only Bishop Fitzgerald who has asbestos, I suspect that there are buildings built probably in the 1950s or 1960s that would be rife with asbestos. Therefore what I am urging the Minister to do is that any procedure that might be put in place for Bishop Fitzgerald, that it is extended to all other schools as is any fire drill or any drills and other procedures that are taken in the schools.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I have taken that for granted of course.

EDUCATION – HEALTH AND SAFETY

Can Government state whether they have a written policy on Health and Safety and if so could a copy be given to this House?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The Department has recently circulated a draft Health and Safety policy to all schools and also to NASUWT locally for comments. Suggestions from all these parties will be incorporated into the written policy before submitting to Government for approval.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2281 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Does the Minister have an indication on time as in when this written policy will actually be written?

HON DR B A LINARES:

We have the draft already written and proposed to these stakeholders. We depend on their promptitude to reply but certainly we want to do it as quickly as possible. I cannot give a particular date in the calendar.

HON S E LINARES:

Is it possible that once this policy has been finalised that the Opposition get a copy?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Once this policy has been completed it will become a public document.

NO. 2282 OF 2004*THE HON S E LINARES*EDUCATION – ASBESTOSIS

Can Government confirm whether some teachers have requested to be tested for asbestosis and has this been complied with?

ANSWER*THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Some teachers of Bishop Fitzgerald School have requested to be tested for asbestosis. However, given the professional medical advice available, the Department is now bound to write to every teacher informing them of the risks associated with entering what is actually a long-term medical surveillance programme, especially since these tests require periodic chest X-rays, which have some risk of causing by themselves lung cancer and other cancers. The risk obviously increases the more often chest X-rays are taken. However, and I say this without prejudice, it is pertinent to point out further that our Public Health Director in the context of these incidents in Bishop Fitzgerald, consulted the Health Protection Agency in the UK of all the circumstances related to the asbestos incident in Bishop Fitzgerald School and their advice, that is the advice of the Health Protection Agency in the UK, was as follows, as I say I take this as a statement from the Health Protection Agency without prejudice without necessarily meaning that I am holding anybody to that. I quote, “it is unlikely that staff or pupils have been exposed to asbestos fibres from the cement wall panels, so further medical examination may be unnecessary and of limited benefit. In any case, medical examination and investigations such as chest X-ray and lung function tests, will not show directly the presence of asbestos.” I have said that without prejudice but I think we should all have the scientific facts before us before we take any practical steps that may be counterproductive.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2282 OF 2004*HON S E LINARES:

In the second part of my question which says ‘has this been complied with’, because I understand that the teachers know the implications, they have had already spelt out the implications of tests and yet they insist that they want these tests done. Therefore that is why I have asked has it been complied with. I understand that the Minister is giving the teachers who are wanting these tests, ‘look these are the dangers of having the tests’. In itself X-rays obviously X-rays one is exposed to radioactivity and all this, but they still insist that they want this done. That is why I asked if it had been complied with. In order to just add on, if the teachers know the risk of having these tests and yet they still want to have the tests, will the Minister oblige to have these teachers tested?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Well that is not my information. All I have from the teachers is a very short statement saying 'we want these tests for asbestos related problems' and a list of names. Whether they individually, each of them, know the risks involved I have no evidence of that. I did say in my answer that it is the duty of the Department of Education to put before each teacher exactly the scientific and technical aspects of all this, and it is only in that context and as a response to that and it has not just been an informal 'okay let us go ahead with it', it will have to be legally a disclaimer, a detailed disclaimer form and it is only in that context that the Government will then be prepared to make a decision.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is the Minister satisfied with the statement which he has read out which was provided to Dr Vijay Kumar in relation to the likelihood of infection of children and teachers at Bishop Fitzgerald?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I am a layman, I cannot be either satisfied or dissatisfied with the statement made by a specialist agency in the UK but it is another bit of evidence that should be put before the Opposition and ourselves and that must be weighted accordingly as coming from a specialist agency, an official agency, but I am not in the position Dr Kumar may be, and he is satisfied but I will have to judge it on its own merits.

HON F R PICARDO:

All of us are laymen in this specific technical medical issues, but none of us are laymen in language and if the Minister had read out a statement from the United Kingdom saying that there was absolutely no risk whatsoever that the students had been infected, or that it was highly unlikely that anybody had been infected, then I think all of us would have been substantially reassured. But in fact what the Minister has said is that the report simply said that it was likely that individuals may not have been infected. We also hear for the first time in this House that teachers are asking to be tested. Now I hear what the Minister has to say about the likelihood that the test itself may be problematic, but put into the context of the statements that the Minister himself made on television at the time that this was an issue when he was referring to the statements of the Opposition as being alarmist, is the Minister not actually very concerned that something may have happened at Bishop Fitzgerald School so that specialists in the United Kingdom are not able to say that there is absolutely no risk whatsoever that none of our students and none of our teachers were infected?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I think the statement by the Health Protection Agency, although I was prudent enough to say that I cannot commit myself to being either satisfied or dissatisfied, I think this carries a lot of weight. It comes from an official specialist agency and the hon Member has turned it round and actually softened it up a bit. It is actually what they say, so further medical examination may be unnecessary and of limited benefit and then they explain why. In fact this has been explained to me by clinical people after that. Actually these X-rays and function tests of the lungs do not show in any way, they do detect a problem with the lungs and with the heart, it does not necessarily relate to asbestos infection, it could be something else. The asbestos infection cannot be specifically and directly identified through any of these tests.

THE HON S E LINARES

EDUCATION – WORKLOAD AGREEMENT

Can Government state what is their policy on the workload agreement in relation to teachers?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The workload agreement has resulted in the UK in the removal from teachers' duties of a number of duties which they consider should be carried out by non-teachers which they are employing now. The local teachers association, NASUWT, has not yet made formal representations to us, perhaps because they realise, this is speculation, that the situation in Gibraltar is very different from that in England where we enjoy much more generous pupil/teacher ratios than is commonplace in the UK. Government will study any proposals submitted to us by NASUWT.

NO. 2284 OF 2004

THE HON S E LINARES

EDUCATION – POST 16 EDUCATION COMMITTEE

Can Government state whether the Post 16 Education committee have met to discuss the proposed recommendations of the Tomlinson Report?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The Post-16 Education Committee has not met to discuss the recommendations of the Tomlinson Report. It will do so when a clearer picture emerges as to what will and what will not be implemented in England, especially given the contradictory statements currently being made by leading political figures in UK. In any case, it was agreed with Mrs Sue Rogers of the NASUWT, and I was present at that meeting with her some time ago, that they themselves were caught up in the uncertainty of the situation and we agreed that they would liaise with the Department locally as the implications for teachers of the Tomlinson Report become clearer.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2284 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

I understand the predicament the Committee is in, in the sense that we have to look at how the UK goes, spans out in relation to the Tomlinson Report but that does not stop the Committee, like any interested party, to read the report together, to go through the recommendations, to see, because I have had the pleasure of having had bedtime reading of the Tomlinson Report going through the whole report and therefore there are many, many parts which could be started to at least look into and implement. Things like vocational training, the way we are handling our vocational training, the way we can have diplomas introduced, and all these issues could be discussed by the Committee, and how if they get into place in Gibraltar we have to get into place because of the examination requirements for further education, that there are many issues in the Tomlinson Report that the Committee could be going through. Why do we have to wait? I understand what Sue Rogers was saying, it is the same issue as when the National Curriculum came in where the National Curriculum was bunged by the Tory Party then, Gibraltar analysed and they did so, the teachers, before it was implemented and all the reports were looked into before they were implemented, they were implemented in the UK and then we waited a year to see the effects of the National Curriculum in the UK and then we did it to localise the whole system. What I am trying to say is that I do not see why the Committee now has to not meet until there is any movement in the UK. I think that the Committee should meet, they should meet to discuss the consequences at least of any of the recommendations of the Tomlinson Report. So the question is would the Minister urge his Committee to meet and at least go through the Tomlinson Report to discuss issues that might arise from the reading of the Tomlinson Report?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Members of the Committee are all highly professional people, I am sure, as many other teachers and educators in our service they are quite familiar with the Tomlinson Report and it has been bedside reading for them, as it has been for the Opposition Member, but obviously yes, there is no question that they will meet either formally or informally in a sort of debating background to discuss what the issues are. In fact we do that all the time and the hon Member should know that in schools, in staff rooms, in the Department of Education offices, these professional matters as they emerge from the Tomlinson Report are continually being discussed and debated. What I understood from the question was have they met formally in terms of recommendations and all that, well I do not think they have but that is no reason why at any moment of time, and I do not have to urge them they are people who have their own initiative in these matters, they will get together for academic discussion and debate of the contents of the Tomlinson Report. May I just incidentally, it seems to me that the Tomlinson Report recommendations are geared more to structural examination and the vocational aspects of schools which will indeed require induction and training, re-training of many teachers in the new context, but not necessarily directly in terms of conditions of employment of teachers. That is why I think the Union is also holding back and I can tell the hon Member that Mrs Sue Rogers has not come back to us as yet.

EDUCATION – RECRUITMENT & RETENTION ALLOWANCES

Can Government state what is their policy in relation to the allowance given for recruitment and retention to local teachers?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The recruitment and retention allowances ceased to be paid in UK to those teachers employed after 1st April 2004. This follows the abolition of such allowances at a national level in the UK leaving it entirely in favour of individual school-based allowances.

NO. 2286 OF 2004

THE HON S E LINARES

EDUCATION – CO-EDUCATION AT SECONDARY LEVEL

Can Government state whether they favour the implementation of co-education at secondary level?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Yes, the Government in principle favour the implementation, conceptually, of co-education at secondary level, and in the New Year the Department will be constituting a working committee to make recommendations on an operational level as to how co-education could be implemented. This committee will have very wide representation, including of course the Unions, parents and it is in the light of that that we will proceed.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2286 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

So therefore the Government confirm that they are in principle in favour and are therefore going to recommend to be implemented.

HON DR B A LINARES:

One cannot deduce from what I have said something as blanket as that. This is not how Government proceed in order to be operationally correct and prudent. What I have said is that there is a working group that will look at all aspects of the implementation of co-education and it is in the light of that, that was the phrase I used, then the Government will decide whether it is feasible or not feasible, or valuable or not valuable, or beneficial or not beneficial in terms of actually making it a reality. I hope the hon Member understands the nuances and the qualifications there, which are important if any enterprise is going to be effective and correct.

HON S E LINARES:

I understand what he has just said which is that he is trying to get a consultation process I presume and all this. What time span does the Minister think that this sort of report or recommendation will be in place in order to have a clearer picture of whether we are going to have co-education or not?

HON DR B A LINARES:

The time span will depend entirely on the time span that the working group feel themselves need in order to make effective, solid and meaningful recommendations to Government. We are dependant on that, it is impossible in the abstract and a priori to give time spans on matters which are as I have said a moment ago quite complicated and complex.

HON S E LINARES:

I say this because the Minister continues like in the Post-16 time span, when I asked for the time span he tends to leave it very open. Surely there must be, I understand that the committee has to meet, consult, time goes by but we are talking about whether it will take weeks, months or years and the Minister does not give an indication as in 'I suspect it would take two to three years or two to three months', an indication at least because if not nothing ever happens, it does not move on. There does not seem to be a light at the end of the tunnel.

HON DR B A LINARES:

These things, these blanket allegations that nothing ever happens, all things are happening all the time and I do not apologise at all for being open as he put it in terms of time spans. I do prefer for professionals, experts, scientists, to give solid advice and take their time in measuring and assessing sensitive matters like co-education and other issues related to education, rather than just rush into it for the sake of scoring points, after all Government are very often being accused of actually just being propagandistic and populist, well I am not like that, not certainly in a sensitive area and difficult area like education. That requires time.

HON S E LINARES:

I have not said that I am opportunist or that his Government is propagandistic or anything like that, he is just bringing out these issues which I think are quite irrelevant to the debate we are trying to have in relation to the question. I understand that certain things have been done, yes, I admit to that, the change in school hours did happen but there is a clear example where the Minister in his manifesto stated that during their legislature he would implement the changes of school hours and therefore it happened. In the case of co-education all I am asking for is the same indication that was given for the other issues, because I know that this debate has been running around Gibraltar's professionals for nearly 30 years easily. There was motion in the GTA in 1974 and another one in 1976 that they should be pushing for co-education and now here we are in 2004 and we are still discussing the issue. That is why I am saying if the Minister can give us any indication of time span but if the Minister does not want to do so he is perfectly entitled not to do so.

NO. 2287 OF 2004

THE HON S E LINARES

EDUCATION – COMMUNITY USE OF SCHOOLS

Can the Minister for Education state why the hours of community use of schools have not been extended after the change of school hours?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Community use of schools start at 6.00 pm. This enables the schools to be properly cleaned after the school hours before the start of community use. In any case, users usually finish work after 5.00 pm and as far as we know there has been no demand from the users for an earlier start.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2287 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

I disagree with the Minister in the fact that we understand some users finish work at 5.00 pm, some do not, not everybody finishes at 5.00 pm. There are some associations that work with school children themselves and the cleaning for me is not a very good excuse if I may put it that way, because the cleaning used to happen before and school used to finish later. Now that the schools are finishing earlier it is an opportunity to give more fixtures of community use to associations and clubs in order for them to have at least 45 minutes, which could be a session for children, some sessions last 45 minutes and therefore it could be an extra session that school children could use. Therefore the opportunities that might be given is great and I think the Minister should consider this. I am suggesting this because I have had users coming to me and saying, users especially with children or who do clubs with children, outside entities not school clubs, that they would appreciate having an earlier start. For example, if they started at 5.00 pm rather than at 6.00 pm.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I believe another factor for the late start for community use is that before 6.00 pm the schools themselves run a lot of activities with the children as part of the extra-curricular programmes of the schools, before they actually pass on and open up facilities to other external users. In any case, all these factors that he has mentioned I am sure have been weighed and taken into account by the relevant parties, the Department and the Head teachers, the caretakers and that they have weighed up all these practical options and come to the conclusion that at this stage anyway, especially since there does not seem to be any swell of demand otherwise, that at this stage the situation is operationally good. I do not know but I am sure that these people are knowledgeable in their field to know how to tie in the different uses of the school.

HON S E LINARES:

I would urge the Minister to consult the users because the users have, and I do not know whether they have made formal representations, but they have actually said that they would appreciate that. So it is just that one point that I am trying to make is very simple, ask them because the Minister says that the professionals might have asked and I understand that they have looked into it, well I would urge the Minister to question them whether they have done anything about asking users. About the point of the schools using the premises after school for their own activities, well again if the schools used to use it before from 4.15 pm to 6.00 pm, now they have another extra 45 minutes to use it and therefore all the better, but there are many occasions where gyms, the big gyms that have been constructed are empty and it is because the school does not use it. Therefore the users might have an opportunity to use it. I am just suggesting this to the Minister to have a look into it.

EDUCATION – LUNCH SUPERVISORS

Can Government state why the pupil/supervisor ratio in Bayside is much higher than Westside?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

Answer to Question 2288

The statistical information requested is set out in the schedule which I hand to the hon Member.

Answer to Question 2289

Lunch supervisors are employed by Serviceall Ltd and are therefore not Government employees. Government awarded the lunchtime supervisors tender to Serviceall Ltd, who employs these ladies to work exclusively in our schools. Consequently they do not have the same conditions as Government employees.

Answer to Question 2290

The Department realises that cleaners do undertake other work, such as lunch supervisors. It has no objection provided the other employment does not interfere with their commitment to the Department. At present six permanent and pensionable and 13 supply cleaners also double up as lunchtime supervisors. That is a total of 148 lunch supervisors altogether.

Answer to Question 2291

This is due to the different logistics and in fact even the geography of the two schools. In Bayside it is considered better, given these factors, to have one sitting so that a larger number of supervisors are required, whereas in Westside they have two sittings which makes a saving on a number of supervisors required at any particular time.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2288 TO 2291 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Considering that the lunch supervisors are not considered Government employees and therefore the cleaners are, and the Minister has stated that there are six permanent that double up, which I think is fine because the wages of anybody would be double and therefore it would be considered like having a job, half and half if we put it that way, is there any objection as there is not obviously with the cleaners, that other type of employees do the same? For example, I am thinking of somebody who might have a Government employment that want to be lunch supervisors in their own time, is there any objection?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I should not think so. Any Government employee in any sphere, is that what the hon Member means, Government employees elsewhere or in private sector whatever?

HON S E LINARES:

In whatever, whether it is Government or private.

HON DR B A LINARES:

There are people who have two or three different jobs and if they are accepted and selected by Serviceall as available and suitable for the job of lunch supervisors, I should think there is no objection whatsoever.

NO. 2293 OF 2004

THE HON S E LINARES

EDUCATION – CLASSROOM AIDES

Can Government state what is the criteria for being included in the list for supply classroom aides?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

A number of classroom aides are employed on a supply basis because their services may not be required on a permanent basis. The need for specialist assistance may change as children change also in their trajectory throughout the school moving for example into more integrated and included in mainstream schools, therefore not requiring any more the particularised attention of a classroom aide. The Government, however, are considering the creation of more permanent and pensionable posts within the classroom aide complement.

Classroom aides who are on the supply list are selected by a Departmental selection board which of course includes Head teachers and advisers. Only applicants found suitable for this type of sensitive work are placed on the list, even on the supply list.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2292 AND 2293 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

I appreciate the answer but when I stated this question there are five and four were on supply, some of them are needed and some might not be needed, quite frankly I do not understand why they are not needed when for example, there are supplies on three, four, five years on supply on a full time basis. This is the question where it is not only in St Paul's, the case is in many other places where classroom aides are there for three, four and the next year they have the same job again. I would not even like to think that it is illegal under the new directive where people under contract for a certain time are entitled to the job, so again I would like the Minister to look at this because it is an issue where for example, if somebody being a classroom aide is on a supply list and is employed for three, four years constantly, if they need a mortgage, young people who need a mortgage they are not allowed to get a mortgage because they have not got a full time job. There are many consequences to that and what the Government seem to be doing is using the word 'supply' for certain people and just keeping employing them year after year, after year, I think that it should be done away with. Either they are given a contract and I think we have had this debate before in this House, we either give them a contract where they are told they are needed for three years, 'there goes the contract for three years, after three years thank you very much you have finished your job'. What cannot be done is get them on the supply list, put them on a permanent supply which is a contradiction in terms, and I have said this before, one cannot have a supply a person who is supposed to be covering for another person, just being bunged in on a permanent basis. So I would urge the Minister to get on with laying out a contract. Apparently Personnel is supposed to be laying out the contract, well Personnel should be laying that contract quicker, if I may.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes, I can assure the hon Member that the Government are very conscious and attentive to this situation. I think we have had this debate before, I think the Chief Minister himself showed understanding in respect of the Hon Mr Bruzon's point in which he made a very useful distinction between the permanent and pensionable status and a contractual arrangement which is fair and that he did give assurances in that respect. The hon Member asks me to look into this well I can assure I have a bit of a vested interest in this respect since my wife is precisely in that bracket of supply.

EDUCATION – INDIVIDUAL TRAINING PROGRAMMES

In respect of the schedule provided in answer to Question No. 1623 can Government clarify and provide further information in respect of what courses had been funded for “ITP” (£397,703.14p) and “Children from Abroad” (£8,415.60p)?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

As I had promised to provide the information in writing to the hon Member after the last Session of the House, I wrote to him with the required information, my letter of 10th December, but if he wishes to have this information now on record in Hansard I hand to him a written reply.

Answer to Question 2301 of 2004

ITP (Individual Training Programmes) include Bar Vocational Courses, Postgraduate Certificate of Education Courses and all distance learning courses.

“Children from Abroad” covers payments made to Robert Beiso for organising numerous school trips to Spain. This was in connection with the link with Los Barrios and other activities (such as the visits to ERA in Chiclana, recycling plants, Granja El Dorado (farm), reforestation project). He also organised visits to and from Los Barrios of teachers and other officials. This is in respect of a consideration to Mr Beiso (at an hourly rate of £30.77p) and other expenses (for example, subsistence, transport et cetera).

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2301 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

I am grateful to the Minister, his letter arrived after the notice of questions and it is for that reason that the question was put.

HON DR B A LINARES:

I understand.

HON F R PICARDO:

As a supplementary can I ask the Minister to confirm that the ITP has included the funding of scholarship courses, despite the contrary impression having been given I think whilst we were speculating about what that Head covered?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I am not sure what the hon Member means by scholarship courses. All funding in terms of courses for further education, higher education, go by the name of scholarships. The scholarships which are included under the ITP are the Bar Vocational Courses, the Postgraduate PGCE and distance learning courses.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is there a specific reason why those are being funded under ITP and not as scholarships from the other Heads?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes, I think they are seen more in terms of training, skills development, rather than just purely university degree courses.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is this a new policy that was introduced in the last financial year for the first time?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I do not think so. I think it has been common practice in the past but I am not too sure of my facts in that respect.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it not a fact that the questions that were put the last time were because of the increase in the expenditure shown under the Gibraltar Development Corporation in this Sub-head, which was much higher than the previous year and that in fact in comparing one year with another, this was one of the items which the Minister was not able to give us a full explanation on at the last Question Time?

HON DR B A LINARES:

These Individual Training Programmes. Well, that I agree is what I promised, I was not able to provide specific information on that at the last meeting and I promised to seek the information and deliver it, which I have done.

HON J J BOSSANO:

No, that is not my question. My question is in the Estimates, the original budget for this item, which is on page 121 Appendix B of the GDC, which says 'training and development courses other'. The budget in 2002/2003 was £991,000 and the budget for 2003/2004 was £960,000, the outturn was £1,284,000, the questions were to try and identify the reason for the increase. Now the reason for the increase being that ITP was there introduced during the course of the year and had not been budgeted for at the beginning of the year. Since the budget in the current year is now down again to £870,000, is it that in the current year there is not a provision for this?

HON DR B A LINARES:

I am afraid I cannot answer that question. For budgetary considerations I would have to enquire further before I can give any reliable answer to that. Again, I promise that I will try to find a solution. Yes, I am informed that the reason for the reduction in this year's Estimates is that these grants will now revert back to the scholarship vote in the Consolidated Fund.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So then the position is in fact that they moved there last year but now they are going to go back to the Scholarship Fund which is shown in Appendix N, is that correct?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Not in its entirety but some will go back to the Scholarship Fund. Some had gone there and they are going back there where they came from.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That seems to be the position but I have just asked the Minister whether it was a new policy that was introduced last year and he thought it had always been there, so I take it then that it was introduced last year but it has been reconsidered and is now going back to where it usually was. In terms of the cost that is included there I think when we asked in the last meeting of the House, in Question No. 1623, the Minister told us that the actual maintenance grant to the individual was not included, has it been included or not? Can the Minister confirm whether in fact that information was correct? I think the last time I asked specifically in one of the supplementaries whether the award to the individual, that is the maintenance to the student doing this postgraduate thing, came out of this Head and I think the answer was no, but I am not sure in the light of the information provided today whether that answer was accurate.

HON DR B A LINARES:

No the postgraduate courses are now being paid by the Department of Education & Skills in the UK. They grant maintenance to the tune of £6,000 which is even higher than our maintenance grant here, and they pay the tuition fees as well. So a number of applicants for PGCE this year have not been granted local support, local funding, because they are being paid by the UK.

HON J J BOSSANO:

No that is not my question. My question is, when I asked in supplementary to Question No. 1623 last year about the composition of the individual training programme, the ITP, I asked is the scholarship, the amount of maintenance money given to the student, coming out of there and the answer I got was no. It seems to me that in light of the information provided today that answer might not have been correct and I am seeking confirmation of whether in fact it was or was not correct.

HON DR B A LINARES:

Yes, the maintenance is included in the lump sum that is given towards tuition, out of that fund as well.

EDUCATION – DRUG REHABILITATION PROGRAMME

Can Government state whether in the months of October and November 2004 there has been any increase in the number of employers participating in the wage subsidy pilot scheme that was approved under ESF for persons who have completed a Drug Rehabilitation Programme and others who meet the categories stated in answer to Question No. 730 of 2002 now in operation?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

As with Question Nos. 2247 to 2270, as I explained at the time, the information required is not yet available, rather it is available for the months of October and November but will not be issued by the Government as much as policy practice until we can provide a quarterly return.

EMPLOYMENT – WAGE SUBSIDY

In relation to the answers to Question Nos. 1624 of 2004 and 1625 of 2004 are Government now in a position to provide the information sought in those questions as previously provided in respect of those within the ESF funded programmes and in the fuller manner previously provided by the Minister for Social Services?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

This information too was included in the letter dated 10th November 2004 which I sent to the hon Member, which as he explained before was received after he formulated this question. If he wishes this information to be recorded in Hansard, I now pass him a schedule with the information requested.

Answer to Question 2303 of 2004

Information requested in respect of questions 1624 and 1625

“1. Under our estimates we have wage subsidies split between (a) EU Projects and (b) Other.

- (a) wage subsidy projects which have been approved at EU funding level and for which GOG has committed itself for matching funds in the 45/55 per cent split. These include “Venia” (for Drug rehabilitation, ex-offenders, et cetera) and “Focus” (our main ESF Wage Subsidy scheme for long-term unemployed).
- (b) “general purpose” GOG fully funded.

I can confirm that during the period from April to September we have had a total of 20 new employers and 30 new wage subsidised employees under ESF funding. All these come under the EU “Focus” scheme.

As regards “Venia”, no new employer/employee has joined this financial year (because there has not been any demand).

It is to be understood that wage subsidised employees will not always be on the increase – such is not a cumulative figure. Just as new employers/employees join a wage subsidy scheme others may be completing the full twelve months or terminating (for whatever reason) before the end of the twelve months.”

EDUCATION – GCFE

Can Government explain the nature of the payments of £1,163, £20,773 and £26,820 by the College of Further Education for the financial years 2001/2002, 2002/2003 and 2003/2004 respectively, shown under Revenue Subhead – Other Reimbursements?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

The sums shown in the question are not the three figures that the Department has reconciled with Treasury. These figures should be as follows: 2001/2002 is £1,202.34p, 2002/2003 is £22,856.34p and 2003/2004 is £27,726.55p respectively. They are not all, as stated in the question, in respect of charges made by the College of Further Education. The figure for 2001/2002 indeed is in respect entirely of charges made by the College of Further Education in terms of a number of things, private examination fees, fees for adult classes. Now, the revenue charged by the College of Further Education shown under Revenue Sub-head “Other Reimbursements” is in respect of administration costs for exams as I have just explained.

Other charges included in the figures for 2002/2003 and 2003/2004 are in respect of overpayments made to scholarship holders and also for the hiring of lecture rooms at Bleak House are also credited to this revenue. Hence the difference between the figure of 2001/2002 and the much higher figures of 2002/2003 and 2003/2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2304 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The figures in my question are related to the answer that I got at the last meeting of the House in respect of the increase from £500,000 to £1,250,000 between the original estimate and the forecast outturn in respect of Head 5 Sub-head 6 Other Reimbursements, where the receiver of the revenue is the Accountant-General. I am still trying to figure out how this system works where the receiver of the revenue is the Accountant-General but at the time that I asked the question what I was told was that the Departments mentioned were the ones that were receiving the money. Now is this money paid by the Department to the Accountant-General or by the public to the Department?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Reimbursements from the Department to the Accountant-General and the figures, I am told, have been reconciled with Treasury.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am not questioning the accuracy of the figure, all I am pointing out is that I am using the figures provided previously, and in the previous answer one of the sources identified was College of Further Education, implying that this was money that the College of Further Education presumably had returned to the Treasury because the receiver of the revenue is the Accountant-General. Now the Minister has said this is fees, what is it that the College collects this from the people who use these things and then pass it to the Treasury, is that the position?

HON DR B A LINARES:

Well the Department does, yes. Obviously, administratively the College receives the payment of fees and through the Department of Education it is passed on to Treasury, the Accountant-General.

NO. 2305 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

EDUCATION – NON-EU CHILDREN

Can Government state when the policy was introduced that children residing in Gibraltar without a residence permit should be admitted to Government schools and since then how many such children have been admitted and in which years?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING

No non-EU children residing in Gibraltar without a residence permit have been admitted to Government schools. However, given the sometimes long waiting time for the issuing of such permits from a purely administrative point of view, the Department allows children to be registered when it is advised by the Civil Status that the permit will be issued in due course. In such cases, parents are informed that should such permits not be issued for some reason or other, then the children will no longer be allowed to attend school unless they become fee paying from that time.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2305 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well, this seems to address a different issue than the source of the question. The source of the question is that at the previous meeting of the House I was told that the Government had actually dealt with children that were not legally in Gibraltar in anticipation of being given a permit, on the basis that these children were here and that the choice was either deporting them or allowing them to be educated. Now this is not the same category of people that the Minister has just mentioned, I take it.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, in effect it is because the Government took the policy decision that either it enforced immigration laws and expelled from Gibraltar and physically saw out illegal child immigrants, for want of a better word, in other words illegal undocumented persons who were of school attending age, either the Government applied the law and had them expelled from Gibraltar, or otherwise had a moral obligation to provide them with schooling. What was not acceptable, we came to the conclusion to, was that the Government should turn a blind eye to their presence for lack of courage to apply the immigration legislation and then deny them free schooling. In other words, that there were children in Gibraltar, in Gibraltar with the knowledge of the Government, but to which the Government was denying a free education. The way that that was dealt with was that in effect they get residence permits. So it is true that these people are getting residence permits as a means of compliance with the Education Ordinance that requires that in order for entitlement to free schooling.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I hear what the Chief Minister has to say, which is in fact the same as he said the last time which is what prompted the question. The point is that is it not the case that the answer given by the Minister for Education that people arriving and wanting to go into school are told 'you are being admitted into school in anticipation of your being granted a permit', is not quite the same situation as he is describing.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

It is a different scenario.

HON J J BOSSANO:

It is a different scenario and I am asking about the scenario I am trying to identify, how many people were affected by that policy decision, that was the question?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The one I have described.

HON J J BOSSANO:

That is right, yes.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

We do not have the information here but from memory, it was somewhere between 10 and 15, probably nearer 15 than 10 my instinct tells me, but it was a figure of that order. Remember there had previously already been a regularisation exercise so some were admitted because their parents and their own status was regularised under various amnesties, and then there is this rump that had not been regularised and that were admitted through this route. If the hon Member wants to know the exact figure, the information is available and can be obtained for him.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I would be grateful if the rest of the information sought in the question would be provided, that is the years when this happened, when the policy decision was taken and when this took place.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can we be given some further information as to the criteria applied there? Was it related to the number of years that the parents had been in Gibraltar or the number of years that the children had been in Gibraltar without a residence permit and without the benefit of education?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, my understanding of the way, certainly what was intended, is that it is not subject to criteria. I think the policy is that in respect of children of which the administration is aware that they are in Gibraltar and the administration chooses not to enforce the statutory rights to have them or to seek the necessary judicial orders to have them seen out of Gibraltar, that they are then admitted into schools on the basis that these children should not be allowed to fester as non-persons. Either they are illegal immigrants who should not be in Gibraltar and they are seen out of Gibraltar, or they are admitted into schools, but they should not fall in between either of those so that they are here with the knowledge of the administration but denied schooling. So there is not a criteria beyond that.

HON F R PICARDO:

But are there not some individuals in a situation where they are in Gibraltar without a residence permit, where the Government are aware of that, where they are not being excluded and where the relevant department is saying to them or to their parents who are legally in Gibraltar, 'this is the cost of schooling and if this cost is not met your children will not enjoy that schooling'.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not aware that that is the position, that is precisely what the policy was intended to eradicate. It is possible that children have been introduced into Gibraltar unlawfully recently and they have not been brought forward and have been put in the Loreto Convent or somewhere like that, but that was precisely the situation that this policy was intended to address, because these children were either being denied schooling, or their parents were usually of very limited incomes, were making huge sacrifices themselves so as not to deny their children schooling, paying fees at private schools. Some of them were outside of school and some of them were busting a gut to keep their children in the Loreto Convent, and that is precisely what the Government's policy was designed to relieve them of, the dilemma between denying their children school or otherwise relatively poor people having to pay fees.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can the Minister for Education tell us whether he is aware in fact of instances such as that which we are debating, which may not yet have been dealt with under this Head and who are still pending introduction into schools despite their parents having been told 'this is the cost of education, if you cannot afford it your child is not getting an education'. I assume this is not something we can continue to do indefinitely, there must be a limited number of solutions.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No it is not. Sorry, I know he asked the Minister but if I could just answer the very last bit. No, I do not think there can be any limit, we must enforce our immigration controls. We must not allow children to come in if we do not want them to come in and if they do come in clandestinely and they are discovered, then they should be either seen out of Gibraltar or educated, but I do not think there are any circumstances in which this community can know that there are children of school age in Gibraltar, choose not to apply the immigration legislation to them and then deny them education. So that is not to say that we want an endless number of people from Morocco in our schools, I think there is a limit to that capacity in our resource but the immigration laws cannot be applied at school level, they have got to be applied at border control levels and they have got to be applied at immigration law enforcement level, and it cannot be applied by default simply denying children schooling if they get in and are not seen out.

HON DR B A LINARES:

As far as the Department of Education is concerned, when people come to the counter to enrol operationally in practical terms, we immediately either ask for the identity card to show legal residence or otherwise, that is the thrust of the answer I have given to this question, refer the matter to the Civil Status and Immigration Control who will then advise us as to the status of that person. It might fit within the categories that the Chief Minister has described and if so, and in such cases we then proceed with the process of enrolment.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I take it from that that the Minister for Education is telling me that he is, in answer to my question, not aware of any case where there is a child who might not yet have been enrolled who would fall within this category?

HON DR B A LINARES:

As a matter of fact I am aware. There are two or three children in that situation but that is purely in terms of procedure and administratively that this process has not been gone through as yet.

NEXT DAY SERVICE MODEL

Can Government state how the Post Office has performed against the seven Working Practices agreed in the New Next Day Service Model the Hon and Gallant Ernest Britto referred to in the Budget Session of March 2003?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Only six of the seven working practices form part of the Next Day Service Model. Number 5 referred to by the Hon Mr Britto in his budget speech in 2003 does not. The other six working practices are working to the satisfaction of the Government, as indeed is working practice No. 5.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2306 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

How has the Post Office measured the performance of these six working practices?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

By ensuring that the mail is delivered within the next day, which is what the agreed practice stipulates, and that is monitored and the results are actually in a very high 90 per cent of mail received and delivered.

HON L A RANDALL:

The Minister says 90 per cent, however, the practices said all mail so what measures are being taken to improve this from 90 per cent to satisfy what was originally set out as the target?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I have said over 90 per cent not 90 per cent so therefore the figure is actually in excess of 90 per cent and quite near 100 per cent. The only thing is that this is being monitored over a period of a year and as soon as the year is over we will be able to gauge the exact percentage, but the figure is very much near to the hundred, well over 90 per cent.

DPC – ISLAND PROJECT

Further to the answer to Question No. 1905 of 2004, can Government say what was the nature of the work produced by Triay, Stagnetto, Neish – Island Project Queensway Quay which cost £16,200?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Triay, Stagnetto, Neish provided legal advice to the Development and Planning Commission in relation to the outline planning application for the project known as the Island Project at Queensway Quay.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2307 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is the Minister in a position to say what the advice exactly related to?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

This was before my time, but I understand that there were objections to the project from certain parties who took legal advice themselves and made representations about the granting of the outline planning permission on a point of law, which basically was in respect of whether the Development and Planning Commission had the authority to be able to grant an outline planning in the sea and not on land. Therefore, there was advice granted to the Development and Planning Commission on this issue. I think it will be remembered that subsequently there was an amendment in the law before this House in order to address this issue and to clarify the matter for the future.

FUNICULAR SERVICE

Has an environmental impact assessment now been submitted in respect of the application for planning permission for a funicular by 21st Century Rock Ltd?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

An environmental impact assessment in respect of the funicular project has not yet been submitted. The Government await the outcome of the assessment before taking a view on the project. Subject to environmental impact assessment the Government, in principle, support this project as an addition to our tourism infrastructure.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2308 AND 2309 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The position of his predecessor in that Department, which he made known after he left the DTI was one where he was not very favourable to the project, that may have been his own personal position and not the position of the Government, but what about on heritage considerations, the Minister referred to the environmental impact, do the Government not see whether any heritage considerations, given that it is on the north side of the Rock?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Let me say that the Heritage Trust and the Heritage Lobby is part of the Development and Planning Commission and their views have been made known to the Commission and the Commission has taken a view on the matter awaiting the environmental impact assessment, but if there was any violation of our main heritage sites the project would not be allowed to proceed. Obviously the environmental impact assessment would address that issue and point that out.

DPC – GRAND MAGAZINE, ROSIA MOLE

Has planning permission been granted to Commercial Developments Inc Ltd to construct a residential development at Grand Magazine site and bathing and sub-aqua facilities at Rosia Mole?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question Nos. 2310 to 2314 and 2316 of 2004.

NO. 2316 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

DPC – 2 BUENA VISTA ROAD

Has the application for planning permission to construct seven houses at 2 Buena Vista Road been granted?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Planning permission was granted for the microwave antenna link station at British Lines Road. Two representations were received in respect of this project.

Outline planning permission has not been granted to Marina Bay Complex Ltd for the commercial development/multi-storey car park.

Planning permission has not been granted to the proposed development at Thompson's Cottages. Two representations were received in respect of this proposed development.

Planning permission has not been granted in respect of the proposed development at Grand Magazine and Rosia. Five representations have been received. One of these carried 65 signatures.

Planning permission has not been granted in respect of the proposed project at 2 Buena Vista Road. Let me just add that when this question was written, the Development and Planning Commission had not met as it did last Friday and in fact the proposal in respect of Thompson's Cottage and Grand Magazine and Rosia were discussed, so there have been developments since then but I would not want to make it known across the floor of the House, seeing that the applicants may not have yet been informed of the outcome.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2310 TO 2316 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

When the Minister says therefore, will we know now in relation to Question No. 2312 and No. 2313, in relation to Question No. 2314 that it was not granted, does that mean that the Development and Planning Commission has not yet discussed the matter and that is why it has not been granted not that it has been refused? Is that the case?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

In respect of which one?

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In respect of the others. For example, Question No. 2316, 2311 as well.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, Question No. 2316 which is Buena Vista Road. That has been discussed and we are in discussion with the developer over certain requirements, and the same applies to Marina Bay.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 2314 and No. 2315 which is the development at Grand Magazine and Rosia Mole, is it the case that planning permission has been refused or that it has not been granted because it has not been discussed yet?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The Grand Magazine and Rosia Mole were discussed at the meeting of the Development and Planning Commission last Friday and a decision was taken and will be communicated to the developers within the next few days I assume.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Just to clarify, it was not that planning permission was not granted, it is simply that it had not been discussed.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I am not saying whether it was not granted or not, all I was saying is that there have been developments since the drafting of this question and I just did not want to mislead by saying that it had not been considered. It has been considered.

NO. 2317 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

DPC – SEA AQUARIUM, OCEAN VILLAGE

What condition was imposed by the DPC on the original application for a Sea Aquarium in the Ocean Village project, and for what reason?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

It is not appropriate to give confidential details of the sort requested in respect of a particular application.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2317 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say whether this is still at the discussion stage or whether it has been concluded one way or the other?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, certain conditions have been imposed on the development and the developers have asked for time to consider these and make further representations to the Commission, and this will probably happen in February next year.

NO. 2318 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PIAZZA PROJECT

Has the Piazza project now been handed over by the contractor to the Government?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Yes.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2318 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

On what date did that happen?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

This happened on 25th June 2004 when a substantial completion certificate was issued.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

There was an issue which we have discussed before in this House relating to the delay in the completion of the project on the part of the developer and the Minister supplied me with the penalty clause listing the amounts that had to be paid depending how long the project over run. Can the Minister say whether that clause has been enforced and what amounts have been paid by the developer, or will be paid by the developer to the Government?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I would need notice of the question, if the hon Member wishes I would be happy to make the necessary information available to him.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

If the Minister could write to me with that information I would be grateful.

NO. 2319 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

GRAND PARADE – CAR PARK

Can Government tell the House whether there have been any further meetings since September 2004 with the persons interested in building an underground car park at Grand Parade, and if so when and with what result?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

There was a further meeting on 29th November 2004. The Government, however, are not willing to divulge details of what was discussed at that meeting.

All I am prepared to say at this stage is that the Government would wish there to be a public consultation exercise on the intended project of building a car park under Grand Parade. The results of the exercise will assist the Government in taking decisions with respect to the intended project.

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

FLIGHTS TO GIBRALTAR

Can Government say whether any flight destined for Gibraltar has been allowed to enter a Spanish airport as an alternative when filing its flight plan, and if so what flight was it and on what date did this happen?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

No flight destined for Gibraltar has needed to divert to a Spanish airport since the restrictions on diversions were lifted by Spain with effect from 3rd December 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2326 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The question actually asks whether the airlines have been allowed to enter a Spanish airport as an alternative when filing its flight plan and not whether they actually diverted there. Is the Minister able to say whether the airlines are now entering Spanish airports in the flight plan as an alternative airport?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

What I can tell the hon Member is that as from 3rd December the airlines were informed of the alternatives that they now had which basically eliminated the restrictions that had existed until that date. The actual need for that to have happened has not happened due to the fact that the need has not arisen. We will obviously have to test the system when the need is there but so far there has not been the need for that.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

As I understand the situation perhaps the Minister might be able to clarify it if I am wrong, but as I understand it when an airline is flying to a particular destination they file a flight plan before they leave wherever they are, in this case Luton or Manchester, once they file that flight plan there they will enter before leaving an alternative airport which might be used for emergency purposes or if the weather does not allow a landing at Gibraltar. This is before they actually leave and before they arrive in the vicinity of Gibraltar and it is at that particular stage that they would enter the alternative airport in the flight plan. Before it was not possible to enter a Spanish airport. As we understand it from the reading of the situation, it would have been possible after that agreement was arrived at but we do not actually know whether this is happening or not. I would also draw the Minister's attention to the comments made by GB Airways who had at one particular point, this was in November though, said they had not received any official confirmation regarding any change of policy on the part of the Spanish administration. Can the Minister say, although there has not been a need to divert to a Spanish airport and I understand that, can he say whether in the actual flight plan Spanish airports are now being entered or not?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I am afraid I cannot confirm that matter because I have not asked the airline. I have assumed that they have done. All I can say is that when GB Airways made that comment to the press in November, although the Spanish Foreign Secretary and the British Foreign Secretary had both jointly announced the fact that this was the case, it was not until 3rd December that an official communiqué was circulated which basically did away with the restriction and enabled the flight to be diverted to Malaga if required.

FLIGHTS – GIBRALTAR/MANCHESTER

How many flights between Gibraltar and Manchester airport were timetabled and how many were cancelled on a monthly basis since October 2004 inclusive?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

One new airline is in discussion with the Government.

No flight between Gibraltar and the airports of Gatwick, London Luton or Manchester was cancelled in October or November 2004. One flight to London Gatwick was rescheduled, following damage sustained on the ground on 18th November 2004.

The number of flights timetabled were as follows:-

|                              |                                 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2327 TO 2330 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the one new airline the Government are now having discussions with, is that in addition to the airlines that there were last time, and if so how many are there in total now?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is a new contact we have made in the last month.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

How many are there in total at the moment?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

We are actually actively in contact with five airlines at the moment.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is the Minister in a position to tell the House whether any of those would be a link to Morocco in some shape or form?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, all UK.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the questions asked previously where the Minister confirmed that Fly-Be and the South West was one area that was being looked at, is that still the case?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is still the case.

| Freight charge and expenses                         | £ 244   |
| Air fares                                           | £ 1,422 |
| Subsistence                                         | £ 477   |
| Hotel accommodation                                 | £ 2,399 |

Q 2332

Three persons made up the Gibraltar delegation to the Trade Genoa, as follows:-

The Chief Executive of the Gibraltar Port Authority

The Director of the Gibraltar Government Office in London, who is also Vice-President of Medcruise

A junior officer from the Gibraltar Government Office in London.

Q 2333

The two Gibraltar delegates at the "Competitive Regions – Shaping Best Practice" seminar were Victor Reyes and James Savignon, the EU Programmes Manager and the EU Programmes Facilitator, respectively. The seminar took place from 12-15 October 2004.

Q 2334

The cost of participation was £2,982 as follows:

|                 |        |
|-----------------|--------|
| Flights         | £1,363 |
| Hotels          | £ 797  |
| Subsistence     | £ 603  |
| Travel Expenses | £ 219  |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2331 TO 2334 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The schedule which the Minister has just passed on to me, I have some queries in relation to items which are shown. It shows the total cost of Sea Trade as being in the region of £17,000. It says that three persons attended the seminar but I have a query in relation to the hotel accommodation which is shown as being £2,300 for three people. Is that because the conference was for a week, can the Minister clarify that?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The actual exhibition and conference went on, I believe, for five or six days. The attendance at this particular exhibition and conference was as I have said by three people, the Chief Executive of the Port Authority, who actually attends these conferences as a delegate because in addition to the actual exhibition hall there are also conferences that are going on where issues of a general interest within cruising and the cruising industry are discussed, therefore we need to have our eyes and ears there. The Director of the Government Office in London who is also Vice-President of Medcruise and therefore he attends not just to attend the exhibition but actually to participate in the Medcruise activity, and then we have a junior officer from the London office who actually went to the conference and exhibition to man the Gibraltar stand.

Can Government supply to the Opposition in this House, for the record of Hansard, a copy of the policy paper influenced by Gibraltar that was produced by AMRIE and circulated to all MEPs following the Prestige incident?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question Nos. 2336 to 2341 and 2343 of 2004.

NO. 2343 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

POLICY RESEARCH INSTITUTE OF EUROPE'S MARITIME REGIONS

Can Government say on how many occasions Gibraltar's interests were safeguarded at the initial stages of EU Directives as a result of our membership of AMRIE?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Gibraltar is a member of AMRIE as a Maritime Region.

There was no specific cost for attending and participating at the launch of APRI: this was timed to coincide with the October meetings of the AMRIE Specialist Working Groups.

There is no cost for membership or participation in APRI. The annual membership fee for AMRIE is 3,666 euros.

The members of AMRIE are listed in the Schedule I hand the hon Member. The members of AMRIE are automatically members of APRI.

The members of the Specialist Working Group on Centres of Excellence, which covers maritime education and research, are set out in the Schedule which I also hand to the hon Member.

The AMRIE Specialist Working Group on Centres of Excellence met on the following occasions in 2003 and 2004:

19 February 2003
10 June 2003 *
14 October 2003
18 February 2004
17 June 2004 *
21 October 2004

* - Gibraltar not represented at this meeting.

I now hand the hon Member a copy of the AMRIE position paper on the Prestige.

The Government cannot specify a specific number of occasions when Gibraltar's interests have been safeguarded.

AMRIE membership has specifically proven beneficial to Gibraltar in receiving prior warning of proposed EU policy, directives and regulations, and therefore able to gauge their possible impact on Gibraltar, considering how other EU members are reacting to proposals and comment on the proposals while still at the discussion stage, in the following areas:

- Places of refuge – creation of European Compensation Fund
- White Paper on Transport
- Ship to ship transfers of oil
- The development of the Trans-European Networks (TENsT) and the motorways of the sea
- The Marco Polo initiatives: research in the maritime field
- The I-Marq project on bathing water quality
- Market access to Port services
- Sulphur Dioxide emissions from ships, reduction of sulphur in bunker oil, and proposed directive expected in 2005
- Role of EMSA (European Maritime Safety Agency)
- Port security, and proposal for a directive in this field
- The proposed European Intermodal Loading Unit
- Double-hull tanker regulations
- Ship source pollution legislation, and the introduction of sanctions to combat it
- Short Sea Shipping issues
- Safety rules and standards for passenger ships

The work covered by AMRIE is spelt out in the Annual Report for 2003 which I hand to the hon Member. So in the Annual Report which is being handed over, all of these issues will have been covered.

Membership of AMRIE also allows networking with other European regions and ports in maritime matters, and offers an opportunity to lobby the AMRIE sponsoring MEPs. Membership also gives Gibraltar profile as a maritime region, which led to Gibraltar being invited to chair one of the working sessions at the High Level Conference held in Genoa in May 2004.

Now when reading questions earlier on the hon Member asked who represented us in this. I do not think it is covered in my answer, I have overlooked that but it is the Chief Executive of the Ministry for Trade, Industry & Communications, Richard Garcia, who is the Gibraltar representative on this forum.

ANSWER TO QUESTION 2343
SCHEDULE TO QUESTION 2342

AMRIE POSITION PAPER ON THE PRESTIGE INCIDENT

1. Background

- 1.1 The Prestige disaster off the Spanish coast raises a number of issues. The European Commission has responded by producing what some judge to be a hastily assembled document (Com (2002 681), 3/12/2002.Final) published as a political response to the disaster, some of whose recommendations may not deal with the root causes of the incident.
- 1.2 This Position Paper is produced essentially as a briefing document for AMRIE sponsoring MEPs, though it may warrant a wider circulation. The paper is not produced as a criticism of the European Commission, and certainly not Vice-President De Palacio whose obvious commitment to safety at sea has been amply demonstrated. Nor does it provide directly a commentary on the Commission Communication. Rather does it attempt to draw attention to what AMRIE believes, on the basis of the wealth of expertise within AMRIE members, are the key issues which need to be addressed as a result of the Prestige disaster (following also the Erika incident).

2. General Aspects

2.1 Two aspects of the Prestige accident need to be considered:

- (a) the cause, relating to the vessel condition and operation
- (b) the impact, relating to the management of the stricken vessel and the response to the fuel oil spillage

2.2 Both of these issues require careful and considered examination. It is too soon to identify the primary cause of the accident. What is needed is a considered response to issues – some tangential – which have come into the spotlight as a result of the Prestige. Consultation with technical experts in the maritime field is essential when deciding specific actions, particularly to ensure that a course of action will not have undesired side effects. This was not the path followed by the European Commission. Whatever the pressure on politicians to respond once the event has occurred, it is essential to resist 'rushing to judgement'.

2.3 The decisions that are taken in the aftermath of this disaster should increase the safety of shipping and improve environmental safeguards. The manner of implementation of measures should take account of their effect on the European shipping industry and trade in oil products.

2.4 The recent establishment of EMSA suggests that the Agency should be allowed time to make considered recommendations in the aftermath of the Prestige and other accidents. The Commission can then come forward with cogent, well-argued recommendations. It is also necessary that there is established an independent agency to oversee all accident investigations taking place in EU waters.

2.5 Care needs to be taken, in respect of sub-standard shipping, that European action does not result in poor ships being forced to operate in growing numbers in third world regions, where maritime states would be least able to cope with disasters which could harm the environment on a global scale. To avoid this, it is preferable that action should be taken through the IMO with different regions – such as Europe – bringing forward implementation dates of measures where necessary.

2.6 AMRIE recognises, however, that international action through IMO and other UN Agencies may not always be possible or at least not within acceptable time-scales. In such cases, and the Prestige may be one, it is imperative that the measures proposed - and to be argued at international level - should be well-founded and grounded on practical industry advice.

3. Issues Relating to Vessels

3.1 The assertion that a single hull tanker is unsafe needs to be questioned, as the evidence suggests otherwise. The focus should be on the operation of ships, because a poorly maintained and badly run double hull tanker poses a greater potential danger than a well maintained properly operated single hull tanker, particularly if we disregard the younger age of double-hull vessels. Hence, given that double hull tankers are newer vessels, it remains to be seen whether they will be safer in the long term than single hulled tankers. It is worth noting that the overall hull strength of a double hull vessel is not necessarily greater than that of a single hull vessel and that the double hull concept is intended purely to provide cargo tank protection in low energy impacts and groundings.

3.2 Tankers are not the only type of vessel to suffer accidents. The number of deaths from accidents involving bulk carriers is extremely worrying. For instance, on February 17th the Tor1, a cargo carrier loaded with timber sank off the coast of Sicily with the probable loss of the 8-man crew. This serious accident does not seem to have prompted the same concern as the Prestige. There are also problems posed by rogue containers lost overboard, which AMRIE has reported on before. Hence, we believe that there should be a more general focus on the enhancement of safety and improvement of the design, and particularly the operation, of all ship types.

3.3 In relation to all vessels it is imperative that additional resources are provided in all EU Member States so that Port State control inspectors can carry out the full and complete inspections as required by Paris MOU. There is also scope for reviewing the present inspection policy which mandates inspection of at least 25% of visiting foreign ships. Application of this crude target tends to result in too many repetitive inspections of good ships with too few inspections of the real culprits. A really poor ship takes a longer time to inspect and results in the overall number of inspections being reduced. Hence there is inevitable pressure on inspectors to concentrate on good ships which can be inspected very quickly. It would be preferable to refine the targeting approach. This could be achieved by crediting a Port State with, say, 5 inspections, in every case where a ship is detained for substantive reasons. This would shift the emphasis on to ships which warrant detention and away from good ships.

3.4 Finally, the treatment of the Master in the case of the Prestige has been little short of disgraceful. To be imprisoned, for 84 days, because of the faults of others is intolerable. Parliament and the Commission should look seriously at the treatment of Masters in these situations. While there may be cases of culpability it should not be matter of course that the Master is presumed to be guilty and imprisoned. The issue of the detention in prison of Masters should perhaps be examined in the light of Human Rights legislation.

Summary of Proposed Measures

- The phasing out of single-hull tankers is not the answer to accidental oil spillages
- Other vessel types, particularly cargo carriers, present serious safety problems
- Port State control inspection regimes need to be reviewed to ensure their effectiveness in identifying sub-standard ships
- The imprisonment of masters in the absence of prima facie evidence culpability should not occur

4. Issues Relating to the Management of Environmental Accidents

4.1 The initiative to develop a network of 'places of refuge' round European shores needs to be progressed. On this issue there is complete agreement. Moreover, it is clear that the impacts of the Prestige would have been far less had the mandatory places of refuge policy been in place and adhered to by the Spanish authorities. At one point, after the initial damage was discovered the Master of the Prestige sailed to within 4.5 nautical miles of the Spanish coast. Nonetheless, there needs to be flexibility in addressing this issue to allow for responses at different levels, dependent on the needs of a vessel which may find itself in distress, through the designation of primary and secondary places of refuge.

4.2 It is essential that every Member State should have a Disaster/Contingency Plan to deal with a maritime emergency, including a major oil spillage, and that there should be an interface between the plans of contiguous states. Currently many EU countries do have such plans. For instance, France, Portugal, and Spain have adopted the Lisbon Agreement to co-operate in cases of major spills at sea. Exercises to test the effectiveness of the plans and to provide training for key personnel should be conducted periodically. The Disaster/Contingency Plans should be co-ordinated at EU level.

4.3 Further research is required to deal with the containment/neutralisation of heavy fuel oils, such as that involved in the Prestige disaster, and chemical spills about which little is known.

4.4 It has been suggested that oil recovery vessels which can operate in heavy seas, away from the shore, should be commissioned. This is not only impracticable - oil recovery from stricken vessels in heavy seas is extremely difficult and dangerous - but runs counter to traditional seamanship practice of sailing towards appropriate sheltered shores and to the whole notion of places of refuge.

Summary of Proposed Measures

- It is imperative that further discussions and the rapid implementation of the 'places of refuge' Directive should be initiated
- Contingency /Disaster plans, covering, inter alia, oil spills, should be in place in all EU countries and to be co-ordinated at EU level
- Further research should be commissioned into heavy fuel oil spills and their treatment and into chemical spills about which little is currently known
- Oil recovery vessels should not be expected to operate in heavy seas

5. Issues Relating to the Carriage of Oil

5.1 The Commission suggestion that small vessels under 5,000 dwt should be double skinned, particularly in the light of the impact such a measure would have on Europe's shipping and bunkering industry, is impracticable. The potential problems created by this category of tanker should be dealt with by improved maintenance and operation and by their gradual elimination.

5.2 The operators of all tankers trading in European waters could be asked to belong to an organisation which will provide an immediate response in the case of a Tier 3 oil spill, thereby ensuring a rapid response in the critical few hours after a major accident.

5.3 Rules should be put in place to govern the manner in which bunkers are delivered, following, for example, the Bunkering Code of Practice of Singapore which has been used by other administrations as a basis for their own codes of practice.

5.4 Suggestions that UNCLOS should be re-negotiated and environmental considerations perhaps be allowed to compromise 'innocent passage' should be far more carefully considered before any proposals are made. The implications of a change in the concept of "innocent passage" - which as a concept predates UNCLOS by centuries - are immense. The unilateral 200-mile exclusion zones for single-hull tankers declared by France, Spain, and

Portugal were inadvisable and almost certainly illegal under international law. While accepting that a balance may need to be struck between the environmental considerations relating to the carriage of hazardous cargoes and freedom of the seas, it is not self-evident that the Prestige incident leads to some of the conclusions drawn by the Commission. The carriage of hazardous materials by sea does need to be examined and regulated, but it is principally a matter of ensuring that there are safe vessels operated competently that will secure this objective. There is a need to examine the human factors involved in this context. This implies the need for properly trained, proficient, and experienced personnel at all levels of maritime operations and covering shipboard, shore-based, salvage, and all other relevant personnel

5.5 It is also important to recognise that the two key players who have the major responsibility for the safe carriage of all types of cargo, and particularly hazardous cargo, are the shipper/charterer and the ship-owner/ship-operator. These parties have a duty of care. There should be transparency in the transactions and rewards and penalties to ensure compliance with current regulations. Further regulatory measures are not required. Charterers have a cargo and need to select a ship which is suitable in size, equipment and availability. They must have a quick and (relatively) easy way of assuring themselves that the ship they have chosen for commercial reasons is safe, legal, properly manned etc. Existing sets of information and procedures can go a long way to achieve this objective. The best practice of the major oil companies should be mandatory for all vessels sailing in EU waters. In relation to sources of information the EQUASIS system, to which Classification Societies contribute data, should be further developed and EMSA take over its running. The EU might consider the possibility of a Directive on the transparency of the ownership/chartering of vessels and/or pressure on IMO for such a transparency regulation.

Summary of Proposed Measures

- Potential problems of oil tankers under 5000grt should be dealt with by improving their maintenance and operation not by banning single hull vessels
- All oil tankers should sign up to an organisation providing immediate response to Tier 3 oil spills
- Rules should be put in place to govern the manner in which bunkers are delivered, following, for example, the Bunkering Code of Practice of Singapore
- Extreme care should be taken in formulating any EU proposals to re-negotiate UNCLOS, however desirable it may be to provide potential protection of the marine environment
- The main duty of care in relation to marine accidents belongs to the shippers/charterers and the ship-owners/ship operators, and the former should be provided with, and to use, effective mechanisms to achieve the highest standards of care and to demonstrate transparency

6. The Role of AMRIE

6.1 AMRIE is ready and willing, through its membership and range of expertise - and its objective representation of the wide range of maritime sector interests - to offer specific, more detailed advice to The European Parliament, and to EMSA and the Commission on all matters arising from proposed measures to enhance safety and environmental care, stemming from the Prestige disaster. In offering this advice AMRIE is attempting to ensure that the package of appropriate measures following the Prestige incident will only come after careful thought and planning, involving independent and objective representations from the maritime sector.

6.2 Given its strong links with the European Parliament over the past 10 years, AMRIE believes that it is well-placed to fulfil this advisory role.

1 – OUTSTANDING FACTS IN 2003

1.1 – AMRIE 10th Anniversary and Office Move

On 1st June 2003, AMRIE left its 63 m2 offices at the 4th floor of 68 avenue Michel-Ange to move to 20-22 rue du Commerce, at the corner of rue de Luxembourg, one minute from metro and bus station "Trone" and five minutes from the European Parliament. AMRIE has now 290m2, including a large meeting room. The new office will provide a more congenial and professional meeting space for AMRIE Members when in Brussels for Working Group meetings or on other business. It will also provide a more professional working environment for the Secretariat.

AMRIE organised a reception on 14 October 2003 at 18:00, in this new office, which served both as an official opening of the office and as a celebration of the tenth anniversary of AMRIE. Both events were marked by a short address by Mrs Brigitte Langenhagen, the remaining founder MEP of AMRIE.

1.2 – New Specialist Working Groups

1.2.1 - Because there were some overlaps between the former Working Groups on "Short Sea Shipping" and "Ports and European Regional Interests", they have been merged in a new SWG on "Short Sea Shipping and Intermodality". The intermodal aspects of port activities will now be covered by this merged WG. (see point 3.1)

1.2.2 – A new Working Group has been created on "Maritime Regional Economic Development (MARED)", which will deal with regional and maritime economy. It will also cover the regional developments of ports activities and development (see point 2.1)

1.3 – New AMRIE orientations

At the beginning of 2004 the Steering Group agreed a Secretariat proposal – following a General Assembly agreement in 2001 in Brussels – to confirm and formalise the twin aspects of AMRIE activities. These are: first, as a traditional membership organisation role, seeking to represent a wide range of maritime regional and maritime transport interests, reflected in the membership, at the level of European Union policy development; and second, as a European level 'think tank'/policy research institute, seeking to influence European policy development more directly via its increasing participation in EU projects and studies.

This second role will now be pursued via the AMRIE Policy Research Institute (APRI), which will be established as a division of the existing AMRIE asbl, but with a separate web-site. APRI will set up a database of the expertise of all its members and the Secretariat, to be maintained directly by the AMRIE members who will themselves update, when necessary, the definition of their expertise on the APRI web site. All AMRIE members will soon be invited to complete a template to be placed on the separate APRI web-site, but also linked to the main AMRIE web-site.

1.4 – The main activities of AMRIE in 2003

AMRIE has

- issued Position Papers on maritime safety (see point 4.2), maritime security (point 4.4), the Trans-European Transport Networks (point 2.4), the Classification Societies (point 4.3), marine environmental protection (point 5.6)
- participated in European projects (point 6.3), co-ordinated some of them and launched some new ones.
- organised conferences, such as the annual High Level Conference (point 7.1) and the MARED Conference (point 2.2) and represented its members in a number of events
- spread information through its web site (point 7.2) and its NewsFlash (point 7.3)
- intensified its contacts with the European Commission, the European Parliament and other European institutions.

The present annual Report is structured around a thematic approach, in accordance with the agreement at the General Assembly at Lisbon in November 2002 to follow such a thematic approach for the AMRIE work Programme.

2. MARITIME REGIONAL ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

2.1.- The Specialist Working Group MARED :

This new working Group was created in 2003 and met for the first time on 20th February. The Chairman is Marco Rolandi (Region of Liguria) and the vice-chair is Aude Leblanc (MEF Cherbourg).

The role of this SWG is to encourage discussion and exchange of ideas, leading to proposals to improve maritime regional economic development, involving the input of the regional and local Authorities in the development of port cities and their hinterlands.. The work of the Group will enable more detailed analysis of, on one hand, the profound impact of maritime activities (e.g. port development, short sea shipping) on regional economic and social development and, on the other hand, the obverse impact on maritime sectors of the development of port cities and urban areas and of tourism and land transport strategies.

During the three meetings held in 2003, the MARED SWG has

- adopted its work programme, which focuses on three main priorities:
  - discussion of the TEN-T corridors and the implications for maritime regional economic development;
  - sustainability and socio-economic issues relating to maritime regional infrastructure development and ports and their hinterland, and
  - integrated coastal zone management.
- started work on all three above topics, and some others,
- had first discussions on the revision of Trans-European Transport Networks, TENs-T (see point 2.4),
- sponsored MAREDFlow, a European project under the "Regions of Knowledge, Pilot Action" initiative (point 2.3),
- organised a "MARED Conference" (point 2.2)

2.2 – The MARED Conference

The Conference was organised for the representatives from the Maritime Regions of the EU and pre-Accession countries, including their Brussels offices. It took place in the European Parliament on 15 October 2003 and addressed maritime regional development issues from different perspectives, and how EU maritime regions can benefit from improved economic development, competitiveness and jobs creation through participation in AMRIE and its links with the European Parliament and the European Institutions

Participants (including other interested organisations, and AMRIE members) attended the four sessions covering the following themes:

- the role of AMRIE - seen from a European Parliament perspective, given by Brigitte Langenhagen, MEP, and from a maritime regions' perspective, by Jacques Mazières.
- the regional policy in the light of enlargement - chaired by Barbara O'Toole, MEP and introduced by a presentation of Graham Meadows, Director of Regional Policy in DG REGIO
- the Trans-European Transport Networks - chaired by Michael Frendo, Maltese MP observer to the EP, with a preliminary presentation by Alfonso Gonzalez-Finat, Director of Trans-European Energy & Transport Networks in DG TREN and followed by a report by Michael Lloyd on the REALISE Thematic Network on Short Sea Shipping
- the European Environmental Marine Strategy - chaired by Brigitte Langenhagen, MEP, introduced by Olle Hagström, DG ENV and followed by a presentation by Sue Lewey on the EUROSION and i-MARQ projects

Each session was followed by very lively discussions with panels including the chairs and vice-chairs of 3 AMRIE Working Groups. A cocktail, offered by our sponsoring MEPs, allowed friendly contacts and continuation of discussions after the end of the Conference.

A press communiqué and the programme are available at www.amrie.org/docs/Mared\_Conf.htm

2.3 – The MAREDFlow Project

AMRIE prepared and submitted on 17th September 2003 a proposal called "MAREDFlow" to be funded under the Regions of Knowledge Pilot Action of DG Research.

The objective is to enhance the competitiveness of the five maritime regions involved by improving the flow of knowledge and technical "know-how" from "knowledge creators" to "knowledge users" in the transport logistics sector. This will be achieved by using the AMRIE concept of "knowledge development maps" devised by Michael Lloyd, who will act as the Coordinator.

In November 2003, the bid was accepted by the Commission and the project will start on 1st April 2004 for a duration of 24 months. AMRIE is the co-ordinator and the partners are all AMRIE members: the Asturias (Port of Gijon), Bremen (ISL), Mecklemburg (MIZ), Flanders (AWZ) and City of Pori.

2.4 – The Trans-European Transport Networks (TENs-T)

2.4.1 - In August 2003, AMRIE made comments on the Report of the High Level Group, chaired by former Commissioner Karel van Miert on the TENs-T revision, which was issued on 27 June 2003. The main conclusions of AMRIE are as follows (the whole comments are available at <http://www.amrie.org/docs/TEN-T-%20%20Van%20Miert%20Report.pdf>):

- the Van Miert report represents a positive endorsement for an active policy for developing trans-European transport networks (related to the need for enhanced and balanced trade and regional development within the enlarged European Union) and its emphasis on the sustainability of trans-European transport networks and their proven meeting of economic, social, and environmental objectives and conditions.
- On general aspects: AMRIE supports strongly:
  - the need for the EU Member States and the European Institutions to provide substantial advance financing
  - an increase in Community funding of cross-border projects from 10% to 20%;
  - the establishment of a European Transport Fund (suggested by the European Parliament); the creation of the EIBs TENs Investment Facility (TIF), the use, but with care, of public-private partnerships, and the establishment of the 'Coordination Entity' to enable the Commission and the Member States to manage the delivery of the TEN-T projects in a timely and efficient manner.
  - The need for the TEN-T, including the priority projects, to be established along main trans-European axes/corridors with prioritisation also to achieve a shift in modal balance.
- On maritime transport issues: AMRIE strongly supports:
  - the priority given to the creation of four 'motorways of the sea' and urges that Member States submit proposals to establish all four of these motorways of the sea before 2007
  - the importance placed on improving the efficiency of the complete corridor logistics chain if the motorways of the sea are to become a reality
  - the necessity of providing operating aid for the establishment of the motorways of the sea and their land-side links for a pre-determined period
- However, AMRIE regrets that ports are not yet delineated and asks that the selection of this ports be made by the Members States on the basis of published criteria and methodology based on a cost/benefit analysis.

2.4.2 - AMRIE also participated in other activities related to TENs-T:

- AMRIE was a co-signatory of a Common Declaration on the van Miert Report, which is available on the EIA web site
- In fact, the concept of "Motorways of the Sea" had been launched already in the "White Paper on European Transport Policy for 2010" and DG TREN has organised on 24 January 2003 (hence before the Van Miert Report included them in the TENs-T) a workshop with the objective of clarifying the definition and components of this concept. The meeting was open by Mr Karamitsos, Director of Maritime Transport and chaired by Mr S. Totsmann (for the session on industry's role), Mr E. Thielmann (for the session on the role of the TEN-T) and Mr W. Elsner (for the session to define motorways of the seas). About 100 participants, from Members States and industry, heard presentations and had very fruitful discussions. A final definition of the motorways of the seas was not reached, but Jacques Mazières, who attended, stressed that they look very much like Short Sea Shipping in its wide sense, that is including the full logistic chain and delivery door-to-door.

2.5- Other AMRIE activities related to MARED

2.5.1 – Interreg IIIB North West Europe: Jacques Mazières attended a workshop on « First Project Ideas for Interreg IIIB NWE » on 15 January 2003 in Paris. After a presentation of the Interreg IIIB Programme, several parallel sessions discussed possible topics to be included in the fields of transport, trans-maritime co-operation, cultural heritage, networks of cities and regions, politics for water, information society.

Following this event, and in particular, contacts made at the MARED Conference (see point 2.2 above), AMRIE has been invited to participate in 2004 in an Interreg project bid for an "Arc Manche Development Initiative"

3 - SHORT SEA SHIPPING AND INTERMODALITY

3.1 - The Specialist Working Group on Short Sea Shipping and Intermodality.

This new Working Group is the result of merging the former SWGs on "Short Sea Shipping" and on "Ports and European Regional Interests". This eliminated the overlaps which had developed between the two SWGs and avoid any potential overlap with ESPO and FEPOR activities. In the new SWG, the discussions on port issues are limited to those which can be covered by the term "intermodality". The mission of this SWG is to discuss, exchange ideas and make proposals for the development of Short Sea Shipping; its inclusion in the whole logistics transport chain, and the improvement of intermodality

This new Working Group met for the first time on 20th February 2003 and elected Kari Hannus (City of Pori, for Satakunta Council) as chair and Harry Heijveld (University of Plymouth) as vice chair.

During the three meetings held in 2003, the SWG has

- worked on the Marco Polo Programme and prepared a potential bid (see point 3.3). On 16th October, a presentation on this programme was made by Mr Hervé Arki, from DG TREN (however, the bid has been postponed to the second call for proposals, because of the possibility that AMRIE may be ineligible as it is not registered for VAT (see 3.3.1 below).
- monitored the work of the REALISE Thematic Network (see point 3.2)
- heard reports on various projects
- commissioned a sub-group of 5 members to examine the effect of enlargement and the potential development of ports in the new Member States (see point 3.4)
- discussed the European Commission Programme for the promotion of Short Sea Shipping and proposal for a Directive to standardise new Intermodal Loading Units (see point 3.5)

3.2 - The REALISE Thematic Network

REALISE (Regional Action for Logistical Integration of Shipping across Europe) is an FP5 Thematic Network, funded by DG Transport and Energy.

The overall objective of REALISE is to develop technological strategies, methodologies, and tools for the European business community and policy-makers in the context of the development of short sea shipping, via its integration in the complete logistics supply chain. In the context of the work programme of REALISE these aims are mainly delivered by three key integrative studies dealing with Statistics, Environment impact, Multi-modal transport pricing comparisons.

The duration of REALISE is 36 months, from 1st October 2002 to 30th September 2005. AMRIE is the co-ordinator, the principal contractors are Grimaldi, Erasmus, Mettle, Intermed, and the Land of Bremen, and there are 20 other members, many of which are AMRIE members.

During year 2003, the work done by REALISE was in accordance with the Work Plan and the Gantt Chart. The three Inception Reports of the three Integrative studies (Statistics, Environment and Multi-modal Costing and Pricing) were delivered in time to the Commission. The first European Workshop was successfully held in Bremen on 22 and 23 September and the first Regional Workshop was held in Athens on 1st December. More information on REALISE is available at www.realise-sss.org.

3.3 – The Marco Polo Programme

3.3.1 - The Marco Polo Programme - aiming at granting Community financial assistance to reduce road congestion, to improve the environmental performance of the freight transport system and to enhance intermodality - was adopted on 22 July 2003 (Official Journal of 2 August). The first call for proposals was published on 11 October 2003 with a deadline for submission fixed at 10 December 2003.

AMRIE decided in February 2003 to prepare two potential bids under the first type of intervention, that is "common learning action"

- one on "Joint awareness-raising and promotion" (to prolong the activities of REALISE),
- the other on "European-level training capability"

Unfortunately, this project was abandoned when it became evident in the call for proposal that AMRIE could not be a partner or even a sub-contractor in a Marco Polo project because we are not registered for VAT

3.3.2 – On 28 October, Michael Lloyd made a presentation on the Marco Polo Programme at a seminar organised by the Flemish Community in Brussels

3.4 – The effect of Enlargement and the potential development of ports in the new Member States

AMRIE intends to develop a study, based on the experience and expertise of its members, reflecting a summary overview of the likely developments over the next five years and to promote the notion of EU funded co-operation between EU regional ports and new Member States ports.

A sub-Group has started first investigations, using studies already made in Turku, Rostock, Malta and Flanders. Funding mechanisms will also be investigated.

3.5. – European Proposal for a Directive to standardise new Intermodal Loading Unit (ILU)

This proposal was criticised by all maritime stakeholders in a meeting of the Transport section of the MIF (Maritime Industries Forum) on 21 October 2003, where Jacques Mazières presented the criticisms of the AMRIE members, namely:

- the proposed ILU is higher than a maritime container and could not go under the river bridges across Europe
- the ILU will increase costs in ships and in ports. In particular, the coexistence of several types of loading units, e.g. containers and swap bodies, will complicate the storage
- the feedering, which is used mostly in combination with an intercontinental sea leg and the ports outside Europe will not be equipped to handle the new ILU. Furthermore, the new regulation does not integrate the US regulation on containers safety
- for inland navigation, it would lead to a loss of capacity since the barges could only transport a load of 3 units instead of presently 4 containers barges

3.6. – The EC Freight Integrator Action Plan

In October 2003, the AMRIE Secretariat made comments on a European Commission Discussion Paper on the "Freight Integrator Action Plan": AMRIE is broadly supportive of the objective of this Plan, but is not convinced that such a broad European Community initiative towards identifying and supporting the "freight integrators" is either necessary or desirable. AMRIE commented also on some specific issues such as the role of SMEs, the implications of "just in time", the potential congestion around ports, the changes now occurring in distribution, the need for an analysis looking at different goods being transported, etc...

The comments have not yet been posted on the web site but are available on request to info@amrie.org

3.7 – Other AMRIE activities related to Short Sea Shipping and Intermodality

3.7.1 – Short Sea Shipping Day (Barcelona, 5 March 2003): this event was organised by the Directorate General of Ports and Transport of the Autonomous Government of Catalunya, jointly with the Centre of Logistic and Maritime Services of the University of Catalunya. Jacques Mazières gave two presentations (one on the aims and activities of AMRIE, the other on REALISE and the AMRIE position on Short Sea Shipping). Other reports were made by Spanish ports and organisations and by the Spanish SSS Promotions centre. All were followed by lively discussions.

3.7.2 – 4th Intermodal Award for Best Practices, organised by EIA, the European Intermodal Association: AMRIE, represented by Michael Lloyd, was a member of the Jury. The awards were attributed to those companies which have the best concrete solutions (service or product) to promote intermodality in a specific area and were distributed during the "Intermodal & Logistics" (ITL) conference and exhibition in Rotterdam on 4-6 November 2003.

3.7.3 – Galileo Maritime Applications International Conference (Ferrol, Spain, 6-7 November 2003): Fernando Pardo gave the AMRIE position on navigation, environmental issues and short sea shipping

4 – SHIPPING QUALITY - SAFETY AND SECURITY

4.1 – The Specialist Working Group on Shipping Quality

The role of this Working Group is to discuss, exchange experiences and make proposals for the improvement of safety at sea and the elimination of substandard ships and to monitor related EU policy developments. The Chairman is Des Howell (Isle of Man Maritime Administration) and the Vice chairman is Allan Graveson (NUMAST).

During the three meetings held in 2003, this Working Group has

- discussed the consequences of the Prestige and Tricolor accidents and adopted an AMRIE Position Paper (see point 4.2)
- finalised a position paper on classification societies (point 4.3)
- created contacts with the European Maritime Safety Agency (EMSA) and tried to reinforce the links between AMRIE and this body
- discussed the proposed EC Directive on ship source pollution and the introduction of sanctions and adopted an AMRIE Position Paper (see point 5.6)
- prepared a position paper on maritime security (point 4.4)
- discussed other issues such as a paper from Gauss on an incentive scheme for quality shipping, the extension of the Stockholm agreement, the transfer of register of passenger ships within the EU, the proposals for a reform of the Liner Conferences

4.2 – AMRIE Position Paper on the Prestige incident

In October 2003, AMRIE issued a Position Paper which does not comment directly on the Communication produced in December 2002 by the Commission as a response to the Prestige disaster. It rather focused on what AMRIE believes are the key issues which need to be addressed under four aspects

- General aspects: in case of severe accident, it is preferable not to hurry and to give a totally appropriate answer after consultation with industrial and technical experts. An independent agency should be established to oversee all maritime accident investigations.
- Vessels issues: the phasing out of single-hull tankers is not the total answer (a badly maintained double hull tanker is a greater danger than a properly operated single hull). Other vessel types may be dangerous (bulk carriers, containers lost overboard). Port State Control needs to be reviewed (rule of 25% encourages control of good ships...). Imprisonment of Masters should not occur, without genuine due cause.
- Management of accidents: Places of refuge should be rapidly implemented. Contingency/Disaster Plans to deal with maritime emergency should be set up in all EU countries and coordinated at EU level. Further research for neutralisation of heavy fuel oils and chemical spills to be undertaken. The suggestion that oil recovery vessels should operate in heavy seas is impracticable.
- Carriage of oil in general : Small tankers under 5.000 dwt should not be double-hull but better maintained and operated. Operators of all tankers should belong to an organisation providing immediate response to Tier 3 Oil Spills. Rules to govern the manner in which bunkers are delivered (code of practice of Singapore) should be created. Importance of human factors and properly trained and experienced personnel at all levels. The main duty of care belongs to the shipowners and the shippers (who must be provided with a mechanism to choose safe ships)

The AMRIE Position Paper on the Prestige Incident is available on the AMRIE web site at <http://www.amrie.org/docs/Prestige.pdf>

It was also presented by Jacques Mazières at a Round Table on "Safety in Maritime Transport", organised in Brussels on 7 May by ETF (The European Transport Forum). Brigitte Langenhagen, sponsoring MEP also introduced the point of view of the European Parliament on improving safety at sea.

4.3 – AMRIE Position Paper on Classification Societies

In October 2003, AMRIE issued a Position Paper on the « Role of Ship Classification in improving and maintaining Shipping Quality ».

This paper deals with the role of classification societies and their interrelations with the shipbuilders (in the construction phase) and the shipowners (in the exploitation phase). The AMRIE position is that

- The role of Class is not and should not be that of a Regulator
- Common standards for the construction of ships should be produced not only at the European level (as announced by the LAN group) but at international level, i.e. the IACS level
- Flag states and port states should not recognise any Classification Society not adhering to the IMO guidelines
- Consideration should be given to a legislation imposing disclosure mandates on classification societies and shipowners
- Interested parties, e.g. shipowners, should not be in a position to have a controlling majority on the governing committees of classification societies.

The AMRIE Position Paper on Classification Societies is available on the AMRIE web site at http://www.amrie.org/docs/Classification\_Societies.pdf

4.4 – AMRIE Position Paper on the European Commission Proposal on enhancing ship and port facility security

AMRIE issued a Position Paper on the EC Proposal – COM(2003)229 Final of 2/05/2003 – on enhancing ship and port facility security.

AMRIE stresses that

- the security concerns of the USA and the EU will be best addressed by reciprocal co-operation rather than by unilateral actions (such as the USA Container Safety Initiative) which can impact on trade and cause competitive distortions
- third country ships wishing to call at EU ports should operate to adequate security standards, although such compliance will not guarantee the safety of all containers and "sample" inspections at ports will be required
- the complete maritime transport chain, from supplier to customer, needs to be made secure
- the extension of security measures to short sea shipping is appropriate under the conditions that the measures are proportionate
- the development of the use of ICT and of training programmes must be encouraged.
- the issue of piracy should be included.
- Member States should accept to take in charge one part of the costs associated with combating terrorism.

The complete AMRIE position paper is available on the AMRIE web site at http://www.amrie.org/docs/Maritime\_Security\_Sept\_03.pdf.

4.5 – AMRIE comments to the Consultation Paper on Freight Transport Security

On 23 December 2003, AMRIE sent to the European Commission comments on its consultation paper on "Freight Transport Security"

AMRIE stresses that

- in relation to security of goods, as for security of citizens, it is important to ensure that any measures taken are proportionate to the risks involved, which entails an accurate assessment of relative risks to reduce the negative impact on costs
- it is difficult to correctly react to this paper, because of the absence of a comprehensive risk assessment analysis of the various types of risks
- special attention should be paid to the control of containers transferred between different modes, because it is at the intermodal interface that the risk is the greatest

The full AMRIE comments on the EC Consultation Paper on Freight Transport Security is available on our web site at http://www.amrie.org/docs/Freight\_Transport\_Security.pdf

4.6. – Other AMRIE activities in the field of security

4.6.1 - A paper was presented at the Centres of Excellence WG on the role of human factors in maritime security and piracy.

4.6.2 – An internal paper was produced on the USA, IMO, and European Commission initiatives on the issue of security. This covered, inter alia, the amendments to SOLAS (Safety of Life at Sea Convention) Convention and the ISPS Code (International Ship and Port Facility Security Code), adopted at a Diplomatic Conference in IMO in December 2002 and the Commission Communication on the issue.

4.6.3 - In the Centres of Excellence WG, the following points were raised:

- the need for training and certification of security officers was stressed: it is estimated that it will be necessary to train more than 200 000 ship security officers before July 2004.
- though much of the amendments to the SOLAS Convention and ISPS Code are to be welcomed - whether practical results can be achieved is extremely doubtful. Furthermore the issue of the additional workload on existing officers must be considered : on larger passenger ferries/cruise ships there would be a need for an additional officer. On other ships these security duties will fall as an increased duty for an existing officer, on top of an already high workload. This could well increase fatigue and thus the risk of accidents as 80 to 90% of these are due to human factors.
- the "Container Security Initiative" (CSI) adopted by the U.S. Customs Services on the 22nd of February 2003 was discussed and it was stressed that measures at EU level must be taken in order to 'counteract' the unilateral measures adopted by the USA, which can negatively affect the entire global trading environment. It was noted that the measures proposed, and particularly the CSI will have impacts on trade and on competition between ports. Furthermore it seems illogical and economically not justifiable to place undue pressure on vessels and ports, instead of focussing the attention on making secure the complete maritime transport logistics chain.

5 – ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES

5.1 – The Specialist Working Group on Marine Environmental Care

The role of this Working Group is to discuss, exchange experiences, make proposals and launch common projects for a better protection of the marine environment and the coastal management. The Chairman is Tom Reincke (GAUSS/Land of Bremen) and the Vice chairman is Manfred Grigo (MIZ in Germany).

During the three meetings held in 2003, this Working Group has

- heard a presentation by Tim Marking on the position of European shipowners on the NOx and SOx emissions from seagoing vessels
- discussed draft bids dealing with environment
- received periodic reports on
  - the EUROSION, I-MARQ, and SEAM project (see points 5.2, 5.3 and 5.4)
  - the work of the HECOM Commission, in which AMRIE has a status of observer and is represented by the Port of Turku (Finland)
  - the work of REALISE in its Workpackage on "Comparative Environmental Impacts of Transport Modes (point 5.5)
  - the DG Environment "Marine Strategy", in which AMRIE has several experts (point 5.8)
- prepared (in parallel with the SWG on Shipping Quality) a position paper on a draft Directive on ship-source pollution and the introduction of sanctions, including criminal sanctions (point 5.6)
- discussed the EC Draft Directive lowering sulphur levels in marine fuels and heard a presentation, followed by discussion, by Ms Nicola Robinson, from DG Environment (point 5.7).

5.2 – The i-MARQ Project

i-MARQ is a Research Project, led by Marinetech South (UK) and is partly funded by DG Information Society – IST. The objective of I-MARQ is to develop and validate a prototype GIS-based system which can deliver information on environmental quality of coastal waters to local authorities, ports, tourism agencies and companies. The system will integrate data collected from sensors and from satellites. The project started on 1st May 2002 for a duration of 36 months.

AMRIE is one of the partners and is involved in the structuring of End-User Group activity (AMRIE is leader of this work-package), in the technical evaluation, in dissemination and exploitation, and in GIS and Server Implementation.

i-MARQ uses data fusion technology capable of integrating very diverse data streams of varying data quality to improve forecasting. There are three use cases (metocean water quality forecasting; microbiological risk forecasting, and eutrophication risk forecasting) and two geographical study areas (Côte d'Azur in France and The Solent in UK)

In 2003, the system architecture further developed and AMRIE was able to intensify the end-user work by looking at the system/user interface and at the development of a demonstration system to be shown to potential users.. The User Forum was developed and a first Newsletter was produced and circulated.

To know more on i-MARQ, visit their web site at <http://www.imarq.info/>

5.3 – The SEAM Project

SEAM is a Research Project, partly funded by DG Tren (Sustainable Growth - Land Transport and marine technologies). Led by METTLE, its objective is to formulate safety and environmental measures and procedures to mitigate the impact of three key elements of shipping operations on the marine environment: ballast water management, anti-fouling paints, and air pollution, including quality of fuel and emissions. It started on 1st April 2001 and will finish on 30th March 2004 (36 months)

AMRIE is one of the partners and is involved in dissemination of results (AMRIE is Workpackage leader) and, through Sue Lewey, in ballast water and anti-fouling.

In 2003, two environmental models have been produced, one by BMT (measuring the quantities of contaminants in the marine environment, with two case areas in the German Bight and the Bay of Naples), the other by Bremen (measuring the quantities of contaminants from the total number of ships over a time period on given routes in the two geographical case study areas).

One of the main work-packages has been completed with reports on information regarding technical and operational measures that can be used to reduce the impact on the marine environment of antifouling compounds, air emissions, and ballast water discharges. The needs and preferences of all major stakeholders have been assessed and presented. The work is now concentrating on case studies and full scale evaluation and on the cost benefit analysis of best solutions.

To know more on SEAM, visit their web site at <http://seam.mettle.org/>

5.4 – The EUROSION Project

This project was launched mid-2001 by DG Environment to assess the status, trends and impacts of coastal erosion process throughout Europe and to elaborate policy recommendations on how to manage such processes at the European, national and local levels in the most sustainable way.

AMRIE is not a partner in EuroSION, but has been invited to be a member of the Advisory Group, which, in particular, has to review the interim reports and trends in coastal erosion in Europe.

In 2003, Sue Lewey represented AMRIE at a workshop on "policy recommendations for coastal erosion management", organised on 10 January in The Hague.

5.5 – Comparative Environmental Impacts of all Transport Modes (the WP 3 of REALISE)

The objective of this WP is to assess the environmental impact of short sea shipping, in comparison with other transport modes and to produce a comprehensive, comparative methodology to enable the internalisation of the associated externalities – principally environmental - in multi-modal transport chain contexts, and to enable the selection of policy options.

Work has been carried on so far to examine the various environmental impacts related to surface transport and how the distinct modes “perform” in relation to the environmental threats that can be distinguished. The preliminary outline of the methodological framework for comparison has been developed and work will continue for the evaluation and conversion into monetary terms of the various externalities.

To know more, visit the REALISE web site at <http://www.realise-sss.org/default.aspx>

5.6- AMRIE Position Paper on Commission Proposal on Sanctions on Ship Source Pollution.

In December 2003, AMRIE issued a Position Paper on the Commission Proposal for a Directive on ship source pollution and the introduction of sanctions (COM 52003) 92)

AMRIE welcomes the Commission proposal, but stresses that – unless attention is paid to the need for enforcement to be adequate and uniform throughout the EU, and adequate mechanisms are established for the gathering of evidence, and the protection of the chain of evidence to be presented in a court of law – then the impact of any legislation will be minimal.

AMRIE also welcomes the inclusion of “operational”, i.e. deliberate and/or negligent discharges; stresses the importance of inclusion of all types of ship source pollution (not only oil), and considers that criminal sanctions should apply to all those who are responsible (ship operating Company, flag state, but also public ports and maritime authorities when culpable).

The AMRIE Position Paper is available on the AMRIE web site at <http://www.amrie.org/docs/Ship%20Source%20Pollution.pdf>

5.7 – Draft Directive on sulphur content of marine fuels

The European Commission has published a proposal (COM 2002 595 final) ) for a Directive lowering sulphur levels in marine fuels as a means of reducing air pollution (specifically SOx) from ships, particularly in the vicinity of ports.

A Workshop was held in the European Parliament, chaired by Heidi Hautala, a Finnish MEP of the Environment Committee and was attended by Michael Lloyd. The discussions showed some discrepancy between the data provided from the oil industry and those from environmental organisations.

Another obvious point, which emerged from discussion, was the oil companies’ reluctance to provide low sulphur fuel at reasonable cost. Their preference was to continue to supply their current ‘residual’ product and to promote the use of ‘scrubbing’ on board individual vessels.

Though both the shipping industry and the oil companies welcome the proposal lowering sulphur levels in marine fuels, the solution to the problem seems difficult to reach, mainly because the oil companies state that they can supply low sulphur oil, but at a price reflecting a 50% premium required for the extra production costs, while Environmental Groups estimate the real cost premium to be around 15% only.

The issue, as usual in environmental matters, being to know who finally bears the cost of reducing pollution. Studies into the scrubbing approach and market-based solutions, emissions trading, fiscal measures, etc are being initiated to provide a full overview of the potential solutions. Meanwhile, the Directive will proceed through the normal EU procedure.

AMRIE considers that the approach of the proposed Directive, aimed at reducing the sulphur content of marine fuel oils, is substantially correct, as were the main suggested amendments by the European Parliament Environment Committee. However, some flexibility to provide for alternative approaches should be provided within the Directive.

5.8 – The DG Environment “Marine Strategy”

The European Commission published in 2002 a communication “towards a Strategy to protect and conserve the marine environment” and organised at Koge (Denmark) in December 2002 a conference to develop this strategy in close co-operation with Member States, the European Parliament and candidate countries. Further to this conference, to which AMRIE was invited, DG Environment has created four working groups and invited AMRIE to nominate experts in each of them:

- Ecosystem Approach to management of human activities (EAM): Sue Lewey is the AMRIE expert. This group met in December 2003. It clarified its role (to develop guidelines for an ecosystem approach to human activities and make proposals for its implementation in the marine environment) and had first discussions on the impact of major European initiatives
- European Maritime monitoring and assessment (EMMA): Sue Lewey is the AMRIE expert. This Group will meet in February 2004. Its role will be to establish a baseline to monitor the marine environment without getting absorbed in the technical and scientific difficulties.
- Hazardous substances (HS): Sue Lewey is the AMRIE expert. A first meeting took place in November and decided that a document will be prepared to select and prioritise hazardous substances; regional conventions such as Helcom will be contacted. Discussions will continue on measures to control hazardous substances and improve reporting systems
- Strategic Goals and Objectives: Michael Lloyd is the AMRIE expert. This group has not yet met.

5.9. – Other AMRIE activities dealing with Environmental Protection

5.9.1 – Seminar on Ports and Habitat (Brussels, 20 March 2003): Sue Lewey represented AMRIE at this seminar, organised by PIANC, EUDA and IMI to address the implications of the Habitats and Birds Directives for port development in estuaries, deltas and other coastal habitats protected under Natura 2000.

5.9.2 – Workshop on ICZM organised by DG Environment on 9 December 2003 in Brussels: Jacques Mazières and Sue Lewey participated in this workshop which made a review of the compatibility of EU policies and legislation with ICZM and discussed possible action/communications to enhance awareness and understanding of ICZM and to support the implementation of the ICZM Recommendation and Agenda 21 process in coastal zones.

5.9.3 – Conference on anti-fouling systems (Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, 17 December 2003): Sue Lewey made a presentation on "Responding to the AFS Convention: the EU initiatives"

6 – RESEARCH AND TRAINING

6.1 – The Specialist Working Group on Centres of Excellence

The role of this Working Group is to discuss, exchange experiences, make proposals and launch common projects in the fields of Research and Development and of Education and Training; and to monitor EU policy developments. The Chairman is Richard Garcia (Gibraltar Government) and the Vice chairman is James Veiga (FRETI in Portugal).

During the three meetings held in 2003, this Working Group has

- examined all European projects in which AMRIE was or may be involved (see point 6.3)
- discussed education, training and recruitment of seafarers
- monitored the work of AMRIE in the METNET Thematic Network (point 6.2)
- discussed the maritime security issues, mainly from a human point of view
- heard on 14th October 2003 a presentation, followed by discussion, by Michael Kyriakopoulos, from DG Research, on the present status of FP6, the results of the 1st Call for Proposal, and the next steps

6.2 – The METNET Thematic Network

METNET was a 3-year Thematic Network launched by DG Transport and Energy to improve the quality, to harmonise the contents; to extend the applicability of maritime education and training for ship officers in the EU, and to cluster and exploit the results of completed and ongoing RTD projects. It finished on 31 March 2003.

AMRIE was one partners and was involved in several work-packages. All tasks have been achieved, more than 30 deliverables and seven CDs with courses have been produced. METNET Days have been organised in all European countries to spread the achieved results and envisage future activities derived from the project. A final event was organised in Brussels on 20 March 2003, where over 60 participants discussed the results of METNET and the ways to implement its recommendations.

Due to the lack of ship officers in the EU, the efforts to attract more young people for a maritime career and to retain ship officers on board have been analysed and evaluated. An initiative was launched to propose upgrading and enrichment to maritime education and training to promote maritime studies and to offer quality training.

The METNET web site is still alive at <http://www.metnet.info/>

6.3 – Bids and projects launched by or in which AMRIE is involved

AMRIE is involved, sometimes as Coordinator, in several European Projects, some of which finished during the year 2003. Some other Projects will only start in 2004. Finally, some bids have not yet been evaluated while some others were rejected

6.3.1 – Ongoing Projects

- REALISE, a Thematic Network on short sea shipping, co-ordinated by AMRIE (see point 3.2)
- I-MARQ, a project dealing with quality of coastal waters (see point 5.2)
- SEAM, a project to mitigate the impact on marine environment of ballast water management, anti-fouling paints and air pollution (see point 5.3)
- MISTIC, a Thematic Network on Maritime Intelligent Transport systems. The main objectives of MISTIC are: dissemination of state of the art concerning intelligent systems for transport; assessment of research projects; collection of end-users requirements; development of a suggested methodology to involve users and stakeholders more intensively in the development of maritime intelligent systems, particularly in relation to socio-economic aspects. In 2003, the deliverables were close to being finalised. The project will be completed on 30 April 2004. To know more, visit the web site at <http://www.ist-mistic.org/>
- TOHPIC is a project aiming at improving the interface between ports and High Speed Crafts. It will finish on 28 February 2004 and deliver operational tools and a handbook on the establishment of HSC operations. On 1st December 2003, AMRIE, in charge of dissemination, organised in Brussels an "information and discussion workshop" which allowed discussion, with stakeholders, of the results of the project. To know more, visit the web site at <http://www.amrie.org/tohpic/index.htm>

6.3.2 – Projects which have been accepted but will be signed and started in 2004

- MTCP – Maritime Transport Co-ordination Platform (a co-ordination action led by BMT and funded by DG Tren). to study issues arising in most sectors of maritime transport (excluding short sea shipping, already covered by REALISE). The subject areas will include safety, education and training, shipping quality, social economic issues. The duration is 36 months and AMRIE will be involved in WP3 (Maritime Transport Sector Observatory) and in WP4 (Expert Reviews, Forecasting and Recommendations). Participation in specific studies is also envisaged.
- FASTER – Fostering Alliances For Sustainable Transport in European Research, a SSA to provide a platform of high added value services to European SMEs from the transport sector and related business areas.
- MAREDFlow, a Project co-ordinated by AMRIE under the "Regions of Knowledge" Pilot action (see point 2.3)

6.3.3 – Projects which were completed in 2003

- E-MARCON is a project which finished on 31 December 2003. It has created tools to allow museums around Europe to create virtual exhibitions. AMRIE was in charge of dissemination and has produced the final CD Rom, which contains a copies of the web site and of a virtual exhibition on "Ships of wood – ships of steel" and diaporamas how to create a virtual exhibition and how to use the e-shop. To know more, visit the web site at <http://www.emarcon.net/>
- TELESHIPPING (1 December 2001 – 30 September 2003) made a pilot market validation of telematics applications to maritime transport operators (shipping companies operating cruise and ferry ships) and the affected community (travel agencies, passengers, ports, cities, etc.).
- E-MAR (1st July 2001 - 30th June 2003) was a Thematic Network launched by DG Information Society (IST) for developing maritime e-work and e-business, mainly in SMEs. To know more, visit the web site at <http://emar.mettle.org/>
- METNET (1st April 2000 - 31st March 2003) was a Thematic Network launched by DG Transport and Energy on Maritime Education and Training.(see point 6.2)
- ADVANCES (1st April 2000 - 31st March 2003) was a Thematic Network launched by DG Transport and Energy to improve quality shipping and safety at sea. AMRIE was in charge of dissemination

6.3.4 – Bids not yet decided

- EI-SECURE - 2003 (a Project led by BMT on an Integrated System using Evolutionary Computing for Unified Risks Evaluation)
- MARSECAT - 2004 - (a Specific Support Action, led by AMRIE, on Maritime Security Assessment and Training),
- MARINERS - 2004 (a STREP, led by AMRIE, on Market-based instruments for emission reduction from ships)

There were also bids which were rejected by the evaluators, such as

- CHEMPOL - 2003 (an AMRIE project on chemical pollution at sea and management of chemical and hazardous spills from ships) but it will be presented again in a future call for proposals
- MARMO - 2003 (an Integrated project for GMES, Global Monitoring for Environment and Security, to promote the use of Earth Observation satellites to monitor maritime traffic, fisheries, pollution, etc.)

7 – INFORMATION AND COMMUNICATION

AMRIE has continued to inform its members and - for items which are not reserved only to members - the whole European Maritime Community, through a large e-mailing list with over 1.500 addressees. Besides the MARED Conference, already mentioned (point 2.2) and the great number of events in which AMRIE represented its members, also mentioned, the main activities were the following.

7.1 – The AMRIE High Level Conference

Every year, at the occasion of its Annual General Assembly, AMRIE organises a High Level Conference hosted by one of its members, the country and theme changing every year.

In 2003, there was no High Level Conference because the General Assembly which took place on 6th November 2002 at Lisbon decided, for several practical reasons, that these conferences should take place in Spring and no more in Autumn.

Hence, the last High Level Conference was the Eleventh and took place in Lisbon on 7th and 8th November 2002 on the theme of "Maritime Safety and Coastal Management Issues". The programme and papers are available on our web site at <http://www.amrie.org/docs/HLC11/index.htm>

The Twelfth High Level Conference will take place on 13th and 14th May, 2004 in Genoa (Italy) on the theme of "The Trans-European Transport Networks (TENs-T)

7.2 – The AMRIE web site

The AMRIE web site at <http://www.amrie.org/index.htm> has been totally re-designed in 2003: new background colours, no more frames, a retractable, always visible, menu bar, etc. A search engine has been included and a password protected area for members only has been created.

7.3 – The AMRIE NewsFlash

The AMRIE NewsFlash is e-mailed about once a month to about 1200 addressees. It gives to the maritime community summary information on the AMRIE activities, the European Institutions activities in maritime fields (including publications in the Official Journal), the progresses of European projects in which AMRIE is involved, next conferences and meetings, etc.

To be registered on the mailing list, please ask to info@amrie.org. The last issues of the NewsFlash are available on the web site at http://www.amrie.org/news\_flash.htm

8 – MEMBERSHIP

8.1 – Members of AMRIE in 2003

At the end of 2003, AMRIE had 41 members (the list is available on the AMRIE web site at <http://www.amrie.org/members.htm>)

Classified by countries, 12 were from Italy, 7 from UK, 4 from Finland, 3 from Germany and Spain, 2 from European organisations, France and Portugal, 1 from Belgium,

Denmark and the Netherlands, 2 from Accession Countries (Malta and Slovenia) and 1 from Isle of Man.

Classified by categories, 9 were Regional Authorities, 3 local Authorities, 5 ports authorities, 5 universities, 8 research/training/engineering organisations, 5 industries (yard, shipowner, software, equipment, simulation), 2 trade unions, 1 classification society, 1 chamber of commerce, 2 individual members

The AMRIE membership covers most of the European Maritime counties and all categories of actors in the maritime regions, which give AMRIE a wide range of expertise on every maritime issues and facilitates networking and the launch of common projects

8.2 – Efforts to recruit new members in 2003

Because of the upcoming enlargement of the EU, AMRIE started efforts to mainstream accession countries members into the organisation. Potential members in all maritime regions have been contacted. Priority has been given to those maritime actors with whom we have an existing contact or leads to individual organisations. Further meetings have been undertaken with Brussels representatives offices where they exist. All those contacted were, invited to the MARED Conference (see point 2.2).

Strong contacts have been built in particularly with Tallin (Estonia), Gdansk (Poland), the port of Klaipėda (Lithuania), the Latvian Academy, and in Slovenia, and membership is anticipated after accession

A first success was reached with the Faculty of Maritime & Transport Studies of the University of Ljubljana, based in Portoroz (Slovenia) that became member in July 2003.

Of course, AMRIE has also prospected for new members in the current EU15 countries.

While converting potential members into new ones always remain a slow process, the Secretariat is optimistic because AMRIE has benefits to offer its membership:

- by allowing participation in projects and studies
- by giving the opportunity to influence the policy making process
- by giving access to information and key people

The best way to enable prospective members to perceive the benefits of membership is for them to be recruited directly by existing members in the same area of activity. This will be encouraged in 2004

9 – GENERAL ORGANISATION

9.1 – The sponsoring MEPs

The AMRIE sponsoring MEPs are now 22 and the list is available at <http://www.amrie.org/sponsors.htm>.

Karla Peijs, who was appointed Minister for Transport in the Netherlands was replaced by Peter Pex as a sponsoring MEP from the Netherlands.

However, because the European Parliament will be totally renewed by new elections to take place in June 2004, in the EU15 countries, and also in the accession countries, AMRIE has already started in 2003 to look for possible new sponsoring MEPs. In particular, contacts have been taken with the National Parliament observers from the Accession countries who have taken their seat in the European Parliament.

The Secretariat regularly follows the meetings of relevant Committees, including in 2003 the Temporary Committee which started an inquiry into the Prestige disaster.

The AMRIE sponsoring MEPs and the Secretariat (Michael Lloyd) have met Vice-President Ms Loyola de Palacio during the plenary session of the EP in Strasbourg on two occasions in 2003. The MEPs had thus the opportunity to exchange views on all topical maritime issues, to raise questions, and to make suggestions or comments on the activities of DG Tren.

9.2 - The organisation of AMRIE

9.2.1 - The Secretariat is based at Brussels, 20-22 rue du Commerce, 1000 Brussels. The phone number is +32.2.736.17.55, the fax is +32.2.735.22.98, the e-mail address is info@amrie.org.

The Secretariat is made of

- Jacques Mazières, Director
- Michael Lloyd, Deputy Director
- Milena Noviero, Office Administrator
- Walter Vassallo (Shipping, Transport and Intermodality)
- Fernando Pardo (Training and Maritime Pollution)
- Sue Lewey (Environmental Issues)
- Bob Beck (European Parliament and Accession countries)

9.2.2 - The five Specialist working Groups (see points 2.1, 3.1, 4.1, 5.1 and 6.1) meet three times a year, in February, June and October. They help the Secretariat to prepare position papers, new European Projects, and all other documents to be presented to the Steering Group.

9.2.3 - The Steering Group is made of 14 persons, from which at least 70% are representatives of Regional and local governments. The list of present members is available on the web site at http://www.amrie.org/Steering\_Group.htm.

The Steering Group is effectively the Board of AMRIE and meets four times a year, in February, June and October (generally in the European Parliament) and just before the annual General Assembly. It represents AMRIE between General Assemblies and is responsible for the approval and implementation of AMRIE policies.

9.2.4 - The General Assembly of Members meets at least once a year, generally the day before the opening of the annual High Level Conference. It determines AMRIE policy, adopts the work programme, approves income and expenditure accounts, votes the budget, and fixes the annual membership fees.

It also votes on the Resolutions prepared by the Specialist working Groups.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2336 TO 2343 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Representative in all the forums not just in the Specialised Working Group, is that right?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes. Each of the regions is represented by one person and it is normally officials although MEPs are sometimes brought in for discussions or whatever, but it is officials and it is Richard Garcia who sits representing Gibraltar.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

There are a number of questions which the Minister has answered together so I will endeavour to go through them to see whether any supplementaries arise. In relation to Question No. 2336 the Minister said that we are represented as a maritime region, is that as a region of the United Kingdom or as a maritime region of Europe? Is there a difference?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well, we are a maritime region of Europe. However, if one looks at the membership category list, obviously when it comes under the country the Member State is UK, but we are actually there in our own right and we argue from our own position and not the UK's position. The UK has actually other maritime areas within the UK which are represented there. Remember it is not a one person per Member State, there are a number of maritime regions within one Member State and so therefore it is there by regions and not by Member States.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say how Gibraltar came to be involved with these organisations? How did this come about? Was it the United Kingdom who directed us in that direction or was it an initiative of his Department?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, we had contacts in Brussels which we were in contact with. Let me say that AMRIE is a fairly new body which was born from within the European Union to try and communicate amongst different regions for dictating maritime policy generally, and we were asked if we wanted to form part of it and we felt that it was of benefit to Gibraltar for us to be there.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to Question No. 2337 which related to the cost of the conference, the Minister said that there was no cost because there was already somebody there to attend a meeting of the Working Group, that is how I have understood it from my notes. What was the cost of that, going there for the Working Group and going to this at the same time?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I have not got that information in front of me but let me say that obviously the cost is the cost for the flights and accommodation for our representative to attend, and he was already attending there for one of the main AMRIE meetings so the cost of actually attending the APRI meeting was not anything extra because it fitted in to the schedule of the meeting and it was done to coincide in order to bring the different participants together and being able to participate in this extra forum.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Given that the Minister does not have the cost of that with him, could he write to me perhaps in relation to that cost?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes.

ORAL

NO. 2344 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

PORT AUTHORITY

Can Government provide an update on the on-going discussions with the Port Department staff regarding their possible transfer to a statutory Port Authority?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Discussions continue and are on the point of concluding in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

ORAL

NO. 2345 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PORT ADVISORY COUNCIL

How often and on what dates has the Port Advisory Council met since 3rd September 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question Nos. 2320, 2355, 2376 and 2377 of 2004.

ORAL

NO. 2346 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PORT – NUMBER OF SHIP VISITS

How many ships have called at Gibraltar since October 2004 inclusive for:

- (a) cargo;
- (b) repairs?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 2348 of 2004.

ORAL

NO. 2347 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PORT – BUNKERING LICENCES

Have any new applications for a bunkering licence been made since October 2004 and have any new licences been issued?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

No.

ORAL

NO. 2348 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PORT – BUNKERING

How many ships have called at Gibraltar for bunkering since August 2004 inclusive, on a monthly basis and how many tonnes of bunker fuel were sold each month?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

The information sought in this Question is set out in the Schedule which I hand the hon Member.

Schedule to Question 2348

Ships which called at Gibraltar, August-November 2004.

(a) Bunkering

|           |     |       |
|-----------|-----|-------|
| August    | 367 | ships |
| September | 397 | ships |
| October   | 431 | ships |
| November  | 453 | ships |

Ships which called at Gibraltar, October-November 2004.

(b) Cargo

|          |   |       |
|----------|---|-------|
| October  | 0 | ships |
| November | 1 | ship  |

(c) Repairs

|          |    |       |
|----------|----|-------|
| October  | 11 | ships |
| November | 6  | ships |

Bunkers supplied, August-October 2004.

| Month | Tonnes |
|---------------------|----------------------|
| August              | 259,888              |
| September           | 304,705              |
| October             | 322,285              |

The figures for November 2004 are not yet available.

NO. 2349 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

PORT – YACHT REPORTING BERTH

Can Government confirm that there are no plans to close down the Yacht Reporting Berth?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

No, I cannot confirm that.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2349 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister tell the House whether the future of the Yacht Reporting Berth is under consideration by the Government?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

If the future of the Yacht Reporting Berth is under consideration by the Government, is it because there is an intention to close it down?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, the Government are actively considering a more modern yacht reporting approach in Gibraltar in line with marinas in the area and indeed in most of the Western Mediterranean, and therefore that will mean the ceasing of the Yacht Reporting Berth in its present format.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I remember we debated the question of yachts and yacht reporting during the time of the increase in security or the stage of security alerts in Gibraltar, and we discussed the roles of the yacht reporting berth. When the Minister refers to a more modern approach to yacht reporting is that what we discussed at the time, which I believe was that they would report in by fax or by radio or whatever instead of actually physically reporting?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The new system that is currently being considered is that yachts would actually not report to any yacht reporting berth but would actually call directly into the marinas into which they intend to stop at, and those marinas would actually have a type of yacht reporting berth which would enable marinas to comply with the relevant requirements in terms of customs, immigration and relevant security and documentation, and then these would be processed through a system which would enable the different law enforcement agencies to consider whether they wish to make themselves appear on site at the time and consider whether they need to take any further action in respect of any yacht calling at Gibraltar. The whole idea is to try and make it far more user-friendly than we have at the moment and in fact, legislation will be brought to the House in early 2005 which actually creates the new system to be put in place which will apply to all marinas and not like the system that we have at the moment where only yachts going in to Marina Bay and Sheppards Marina actually call at the Yacht Reporting Berth, but those at Queensway do not. The system will apply to all marinas and the legislation will actually put in place a certain amount of sort of responsibility on the marinas themselves. This is something that I have discussed with them and they are willing to play their part in this.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Will the cost of the new developments that the Minister has described be borne by the marinas or by the Government? Will the persons who will be there administering the legislation be Government officials or employees of the marinas?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, the system will be run by the marinas themselves at their expense.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the new arrangements, would the Government be satisfied that the security, which is obviously an important consideration in the times in which we live, the security of Gibraltar would be fully covered and fully protected with the new measures that they intend to put into place, and that they would be better protected in fact than with the present system?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well, at least the new system will be a system that will apply to all marinas and not just like at the moment where it applies to some not the other. Obviously there will be adequate facilities in place to ensure adequate security is in place at all times.

NO. 2350 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

GTB – UPPER ROCK

Do Government have any plans to increase the entrance charges for visitors to the Upper Rock?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Yes, the industry has been formally notified that the entrance charge will increase by £1.00 from 1st April 2005.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2350 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

If I recall correctly, there is a charge per vehicle and also per passenger, is that £1.00 per person, if there are four people in the car for example or is it £1.00 per vehicle, what is it?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

The entrance fee for private adults will be increased by £1.00, when I say private it is when they turn up privately or on tour through a tour operator, by £1.00 the walkers who are adults will go up by £1.00, for a child as well. Walkers only will actually only be increased by 50p but there the numbers are very, very small. Private vehicles will go up by £1.00 and those that actually turn up to visit only the 100 Ton Gun, which again the numbers are very low, will go up by 50p. So most will go up by the £1.00.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

When the Minister says private adults would go up by £1.00 and private vehicles would go up by £1.00 does that mean that four private adults in a vehicle will go up by £5.00?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I do not understand the question.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Minister has, as I have understood it, said that private adults will pay an extra £1.00, and also said private vehicles would pay an extra £1.00. If the four adults are in one car do they pay an extra £1.00 each plus an extra £1.00 for the car?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes they do. That is right.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Does the Minister take into account something that is happening at present, I am sure he must have seen it as I have, which is that when people get up to the toll booth they suddenly realise how much they have to pay and then they turn the cars round and come back again which causes some traffic congestion in that narrow road, has the Minister taken into account the possibility that that might now increase as a result of the increase in charges, and if so what plans do the Government have to deal with it?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I believe that part of that problem has been addressed already by allowing access for coaches and taxis through Lathbury Barracks. So there are now two entrances into the Upper Rock. Obviously there will always be those that wish to turn round at the last minute and decide not to enter, however, we intend to try and publicise the rates or the new charges as early on as possible on the approach to the Upper Rock, but that unfortunately does not always work. People still continue to go right up to the ticket office and then decide that they may want to turn round. We have tried to diminish that practice as much as possible but it will always be difficult to eradicate.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

What I do not think I have heard the Minister say, it is not in the question but, is the reason behind this increase, is it as a general revenue raising measure or is it anything specific related to improvements to the Upper Rock or to the environment, because I believe this was an environmental levy originally?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well, we are the victims of our own success and unfortunately the level of investment that has to be contributed towards the maintenance and upkeep and improvement in fact of the Upper Rock is an ever increasing demand, and so therefore much of the increase we hope is obviously general revenue but we hope to be able to increase our maintenance and improvement of the tourist site in the forthcoming years. In fact I am working at the moment on a three to four year programme in order to upgrade and improve the Upper Rock experience, which I believe needs to be attended to as a result of the fact that wear and tear due to numbers that actually visit the Upper Rock now warrant at this stage in our development.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Obviously in relation to the last answer, I do not have the latest figures yet, but I do recall that we have had this discussion before in relation to other issues to do with the Upper Rock. In terms of being the victims of our own success we know that the number of visitors to the Upper Rock has actually gone down and not up over the last few years for whatever reason, but can I ask the Minister whether, well he has already said that it will go into the general revenue of the Government but is there any percentage of it which will be allocated directly to the Upper Rock for the purposes which he has just described, or will it just be into the general fund?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I have already said that this will be general revenue. However, there is a commitment to invest in the Upper Rock like we do every year. If one looks at the I&D Fund every year, there is a budget that is attributed to the Upper Rock and I would hope that this would be enhanced but obviously that remains to be seen at Budget time when the Government have to prioritise the different submissions that are made in order to be able to improve and carry out the programme which I would like to see happening in the next three to four years.

NO. 2361 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

GTB – TURISPORT 2004

What was the cost, with a breakdown, of Gibraltar's participation in Turisport 2004 Tourist Fair from 14-17 October 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

The decision to participate in smaller, specialised tourist exhibitions in Spain was taken when deciding the strategy for the 2004/2005 promotional campaign in the Spring of 2004.

It is not possible to speak of the "results" of attendance at an exhibition as the GTB does not sell any specific product at a specific price: that is the role of tour operators. The GTB is, nevertheless, satisfied at the degree of interest shown by attendees at those specialised shows where there has been a Gibraltar stand. Gibraltar's profile has therefore been raised.

With regard to Turisport 2004, the two persons who made up the Gibraltar delegation were Denise Devincenzi, Marketing Co-ordinator, GTB Madrid Office, and Gillaine de los Santos, Office Administrator, GTB Madrid Office.

The cost of attendance at Turisport was £1,972, made up as follows:-

|                                        |      |
|----------------------------------------|------|
| Cost of Stand                          | £585 |
| Flights                                | £426 |
| Hotel accommodation                    | £250 |
| Subsistence and out of pocket expenses | £711 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2359 TO 2361 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The flights for £426 I take it was an internal Spanish flight, from Madrid to Santiago, is that right?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I presume that is correct.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the policy decision taken to participate in smaller specialised fairs and exhibitions in Spain, can the Minister say where that came from, was it industry-led or was it made by a particular sector of the Tourism in Gibraltar or was it his own Department that came up with that idea?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, in the case of the UK it is slightly different because we tend to take a lot of the decisions based on discussions at the United Kingdom/Gibraltar Tourism Association. In the case of Spain it was basically thoughts that were presented for consideration following input from the staff in Madrid, who obviously have contact with the industry in Spain and they felt that it was a good thing to be able to have a presence in smaller exhibitions in Spain, in places like Valencia, Santiago de Compostela, where these shows are actually open to the public as well. So therefore there is an element of increasing our public awareness as a destination rather than targeting the industry like for example, would be the case in FITUR, even though FITUR is open to the public at the weekend. I think that for the level of expenditure involved, it is actually quite a worthwhile exercise.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The Minister mentioned FITUR, is the policy decision taken to participate in the smaller fairs, does that mean that they will no longer be participation in the larger trade fairs like FITUR or will they go to both?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Not at all. In the case of FITUR we will be there again this year, subsequent years will obviously be reviewed but we will be there in January again.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In the relation to the question I asked about results, obviously by results what the question means is whether this will be reflected in an increase in tourism activity to Gibraltar, which is what we all want. Is the Minister in a position to say whether that can be monitored to see whether this new policy will actually work in terms of producing dividends at the end of the line?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

It is very difficult for us to, unless I stand at the border and ask everybody that comes in to Gibraltar, which is well over 7 million people, whether they have come to Gibraltar because we have exhibited in Turisport, that is the only way that I could actually attribute whether anybody would come to Gibraltar as a result of that. I think what we need to gauge is our results over our overall strategy and that will involve attending fairs, advertising, promotions, public relations, media, advertising, media familiarisation trips et cetera, et cetera, it is a long list. Therefore we need to assess what we are doing and assess our results and numbers of people coming in through the border have actually been increasing year on year, at least since 1996 so therefore, we must be doing something right. Nevertheless, even though we may have increased numbers coming in we still review our strategy every year. We spend a lot of time reviewing in detail what we do and try to come up with new initiatives and leave those initiatives which we feel have worked well for us. Therefore that is how we can gauge whether attendance at these small shows will be of benefit to Gibraltar or not.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The number of people coming through the border may indeed have gone up but if I am not mistaken I think the Minister inherited already in the order of 6 million people that were coming through when they came into office. Also, the other point is that expenditure has also gone up and that is what we are trying to measure, the ratio of expenditure on marketing to actual results in terms of visitor numbers, but is it not the case in terms of monitoring what happens that surveys are already conducted on sample numbers of people who come in through the border, come through the airport, or arrive in Gibraltar by sea. Would it not be quite simple to introduce a question into that survey establishing how it was that they had an interest in Gibraltar and how they came to know about Gibraltar and why it is that they are here. That surely could be done, it does not involve the Minister himself standing at the border but it involves people that are already paid to do that job.

GTB – VISIT BY SPANISH JOURNALISTS

Can Government say how and by whom the “selected travel journalists from Spain” who visited Gibraltar at the beginning of October were chosen?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

The cost of the Spanish press trip was £3,989, broken down as follows:

|                                |        |
|--------------------------------|--------|
| Rail tickets, Madrid-Algeciras | £ 790  |
| Hotel Accommodation            | £1,204 |
| Lunches and dinners            | £1,029 |
| Dolphin tour                   | £ 200  |
| Transfers                      | £ 766  |

Seven Spanish journalists were invited to visit Gibraltar in October, as follows:

Ester Muñoz Murillo (Nexotur)
Javier Carrion (Europa Press)
Jesus Navarro Blanco (Turismo Rural and Deportes de Aventura/A Filo De)
David Santiago Garcia (Turismo y Aventura)
Ana Vara (Hoteles de España y del Mundo)
Silvia Barrufet (journalist Turismo y Ocio International Magazine)
Juan Carlos Viera (photographer, Turismo y Ocio International Magazine)

The operator that the GTB is in discussions with is Iberrail, with a view to developing rail packages to Gibraltar.

The selected travel journalists were chosen by the GTB public relations agency in Madrid, in close consultation with the Gibraltar Tourist Board.

GTB – CAMP BAY AND LITTLE BAY

Can Government explain why toilet facilities and cleaning for Camp Bay and Little Bay did not continue to be provided automatically for the winter months once the official bathing season had ended?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Toilet facilities and cleaning of Camp Bay and Little Bay did in fact continue to be provided after the conclusion of the bathing season without a break, in the same way that this was done in 2003. They will continue throughout the winter months. The question is therefore not understood.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2366 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

It is true to say that they are provided at present and that these are the winter months, but I think the key word in the question is “automatically”. The Opposition receive representations from people who use the beach who were told that the cleaning of the beach would not continue during the winter months, that the changing room and toilet facilities would not be available also, and we issued a statement to that effect I am sure the Minister will recall. It was subsequent to that statement that the Government published a notice saying that the cleaning of the beaches would continue as normal, but certainly the information that we have is that there was an interruption in that service however short it might be and that that is what led to the question being placed. The key word then is “automatically” is the Minister not aware of that?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, I am not aware of any gap or break in the service provided. The service, as far as I understand, was continued and I do recall the Opposition actually issuing a press release on the matter and as a result of that I issued a Government Notice to ensure that the public were informed about the fact that the service would be continued. Prior to that I did not feel that the need was there for an Official Notice because the service was being continued.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The position of the Minister then is that the service did not cease at any particular moment in time.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Not as far as I am aware of.

The information in respect of November 2004 is not yet available.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2367 AND 2368 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I think there is a question which asks, in relation to those who stay at hotels, which is the one that I normally table but it does not seem to be included. Perhaps I can write to the Minister and get that information from him.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I know that last time there was a confusion as to whether they related to things so when I saw this again it was pointed out to me by the official that it was actually asking the same information in a different format, so I read it again and again and I thought that they were actually asking for the same information. If there is any other information which the hon Member wishes to seek, please write to me and I will be very happy to give the information needed.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

What it is would be really the same question as Question No. 2367 in relation to those who had stayed at a hotel, because then the average length of stay which is the difference between the two questions, would be the information that would be given.

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well, I would be very happy to write to the hon Member and send him the information for those who had stayed in hotels.

GTB – ST MICHAEL’S CAVE

Can Government say whether a service agreement has now been signed with the company that provided the sound and light system for St Michael’s Cave?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

No.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2369 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Who is maintaining the sound and light system at present?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Electrosonic who are maintaining the equipment since 1st September 2004 but the contract has not been signed yet. It is a matter of logistics the fact that there is not an agreement.

GTB – WORLD TRAVEL MARKET

Can Government say on what date they were advised by the UKGTA that they were dissatisfied with the return on the investment offered by having a dedicated Gibraltar stand at the World Travel Market?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Answered together with Question No. 2371 of 2004.

NO. 2371 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

GTB – WORLD TRAVEL MARKET

What sector of the UKGTA was dissatisfied with the return on investment offered by the World Travel Market?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

The UKGTA Exhibitions Sub-Committee met on 21st July 2004 and decided to recommend to the UKGTA that Gibraltar should not have a stand at the World Travel Market in November 2004. The Sub-Committee's recommendation was discussed at the UKGTA meeting of 14th September 2004, where the UKGTA recommended to me that the Sub-Committee's recommendation should be accepted. I accepted the advice that had been tendered.

There was dissatisfaction with the World Travel Market voiced by all sectors of the UKGTA, namely tour operators, airlines and hotels. In addition, it was reported to the UKGTA that members of ANTOR, the UK Association of National Tourist Office Representatives, were unhappy with World Travel Market and believed it no longer represented value for money. Let me add to this that obviously we will be reviewing whether we go back to World Travel Market or not next year, but I thought that we would be bold and take the decision not to be there this year and see what the results are.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2370 AND 2371 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Minister say whether this is something the UKGTA has recommended to the Government in the past?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well there have been voices of expression in this respect in the past but something that I have not accepted because I am open to being advised but I do not really need to take the advice. On this occasion I felt that having been to World Travel Market last year, there was an element of numbers were down in people attending, the location as to where it is now as to where it was in the past is at a disadvantage, the transport infrastructure to get there is not adequate at all and I think there was a general feeling in the industry that the move from the centre of London down to the Excel Exhibition Centre has been a mistake. Therefore, it remains to be seen whether the World Travel Market will continue to be there next year. I thought it was a good time to test the decision this year and so we did it and we will see what the results are as a result of this.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Do I detect from the Minister's reply and from the statement he made on GBC that this is not a decision that he has taken lightly, that he is doing this somewhat reluctantly?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

I think the hon Member is probably judging right. I am a personal believer that we should be there but that does not mean that I am right, and if I am advised by those that are in the industry full-time and are in the UK themselves, and have their best interests at heart, at the end of the day if tour operators in the UK are telling me 'look, we should be doing something else instead of this. We do not feel that we are getting the benefits that we should be', then obviously I am willing to give them the benefit of the doubt and go down that route. Therefore, probably, that is why I have said that we should not rule out that we will be back next year because I still want to review this decision when we conclude our strategy for the next year.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

As the Minister knows well, in the House we have raised in the past the expense involved in relation to attending this particular event, but the Government's comments at the time indicated that what there will not be is a specific Gibraltar stand at the World Travel Market, which is the bulk of the expense, was there any other presence which did not involve having a stand there?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No there was not any specific stand but we did have our own industry there. I attended World Travel Market on one particular day and we had our industry players on some other stands where they participated and used for their own point of contact. So Gibraltar was represented in an indirect way but nothing direct and nothing official.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

As a matter of curiosity, are those industry players the same ones who recommended to the Government that they should not be present and have a stand?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Indeed, they were. Let us put it into perspective, I think that they all feel that attending World Travel Market and being there is of benefit to Gibraltar. I think what we need to put it is against the backdrop of the cost of doing that. Attending World Travel Market last year cost in the region of about £70,000. That figure will probably be higher this year because the rates at which they hire the space et cetera has actually been increased by something like 25 per cent. So therefore we are looking at big numbers and therefore a good number of national tourist boards actually pulled out. We felt we did not want to be the only ones to pull out because otherwise the industry may perceive that as if we are going into second division and why is Gibraltar not there but the fact that a number of national tourist boards decided that they were not going to take it and be there, we thought we would do the same and take the decision if at any time the best time was probably this year and that is why we took it.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

If I may question the Government on the UKGTA's decision? There was a statement or a comment made at the time which suggested that half of the UKGTA members were dissatisfied with the World Travel Market, which implies that the other half were perfectly content in continuing, was this decision a unanimous one or was this division reflected in the position that they took?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, the Sub-Committee of the UKGTA which takes care of all exhibitions and actually consider, made a unanimous recommendation. When it was put to the full forum of the UKGTA there were still those that felt that we should be there, but after a long discussion on the issue we decided that we would pull out this year and review the situation.

GTB – SECURITY GUARD SERVICE

Can Government say which tourist sites were covered by the tender for the provision of a Security Guard Service, and during what hours this service is provided at each site?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

The tourist sites and the hours covered by the tender are as follows:

|                     |                     |
|---------------------|---------------------|
| St Michael's Cave   | 10.30 am to 7.00 pm |
| Great Siege Tunnels | 12 noon to 7.00 pm  |
| Moorish Castle      | 10.00 pm to 7.00 am |
| Jew's Gate          | 10.30 am to 7.00 pm |
| Coach Park          | 10.00 am to 4.00 pm |

The tender was awarded to the lowest bidder.

GTB – CONFERENCES

Can Government list the conferences that they have assisted with, sponsored or co-sponsored since 29th September 2004 inclusive, showing the dates of the conferences in question?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

The GTB has not assisted, sponsored or co-sponsored any conference since 28th September 2004.

The Finance Centre participated in one conference, on 16th November 2004, on insurance.

GTB – HOTEL GRADINGS

Can Government say into which star category the hotel at 11/15 Turnbull's Lane is expected to fall?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

It is for the hotelier to determine into which category of hotel he wishes the property to go. There are specific grading criteria against which the hotel will be judged once it is operational to determine its star rating.

It is not for the Government to determine the star rating of the intended hotel, nor to indicate to the hotel what grading it should aspire to.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2375 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is it not the case that when the Government have considered hotels as part of development projects, I recall the one at Rosia Bay there was a discussion once about that one, there was a discussion about the ones on the East Side, that the Government themselves have a preference for a particular star grading of hotels?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Yes, but in this case this is a very small hotel with only a handful of rooms so therefore it is really up to them as to what they decide. I have met the developers and I know the Gibraltar Tourist Board has given them the criteria they need to meet in order to meet various star ratings under the RAC scheme. It is up to them now to come up with whatever product they want to sell.

Q2381

Of the two projects referred to in Question No. 1793 of 2004, one (Dorcas Fashion Designs) has been successful in its application; the other (Risso Bakery Ltd) is still pending, as further information needs to be supplied by the applicant.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2378 TO 2381 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

I have a number of queries in relation to some of the answers given. In answer to Question No. 2378 there is a grant approved for £4,174, that includes a rent subsidy scheme, is that something new or something which businesses can now apply for whether the landlord is the Government or whether it is a private landlord?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, this is part of a package in the application where the Government or the European Union is asked to participate in part of the funding, composed of a variety of expenditure issued which total up a total bid. Therefore, that included the purchase of equipment, the fitting-out of the premises, the advertising and the rent subsidy scheme which has nothing to do with, maybe it appears there and it looks as if it is a scheme that has been developed, but it is part of the overall expenditure proposal which is then partly funded by the European Union, and partly funded by the actual applicant himself.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

My other query is in relation to the grant of £4,424 where one of the items listed is the payment of import duty. That is something that I do not recall seeing there before, is that new or can people now legitimately apply for relief from import duty?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

No, I think possibly the purpose of the grant issued there, I have been of the view that I wanted to give as much explanation as possible, possibly in the past they have never been mentioned and never been discovered. It may be that in the case of say the £4,424 maybe the purpose of the grant would have been for the purchase of equipment and said nothing else, or upgrading of equipment and said nothing else. What I have done is specify the actual purpose of the grant as appears in the application form, because I have requested that there should be more information when making applications for EU funding than there have been in the past.

How many entities have submitted tenders for the organisation, production and staging of the Tercentenary New Year's Eve Celebrations?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

Four entities submitted tenders. The successful tenderer was The Studio.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2383 AND 2384 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is the Minister able to say in what amount and whether it was the lowest tender?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

Well, the amount was awarded to The Studio in the sum of £59,650 and they were not the lowest bidder. Let me say that the Government are not liable to accept the lowest tenderer and in this case especially the financial aspect is just one aspect of the submission. The quality of the programme that they actually propose et cetera is something that is very much borne in mind in the adjudicating.

SALE OF BANK NOTES

Can Government state whether they no longer intend to proceed with a system for the sale of banknotes via the Internet?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government do intend to have a system in place for the sale of banknotes via the internet.

Arrangements are in hand for Gibraltar currency notes to be offered for sale to collectors through the Gibraltar Philatelic Bureau Ltd website.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2385 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Is there a target date for the software to be ready for the sale to proceed via the internet?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I am not aware that there is a target date, I think that this is something that both sides want to do so I suppose it will be done as quickly as they can agree. That website will give access to about 15,000 collectors of Gibraltar stamps, the Philatelic Bureau website, so it will provide a useful outlet but I cannot give a target date.

NO. 2386 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

LAND PROPERTY SERVICES

Can Government state whether they have now concluded a new contract with Land Property Services, and if so, on what terms?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Heads of Terms of the revised contractual arrangements have now been agreed by the Government, in principle, and a formal document is now being drafted for final approval and execution by the two parties. This is expected to take place early in the new year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2386 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can the Chief Minister say whether the agreement fulfils the goal which they set up, which if I remember correctly, was to give the Government a more equitable share of the revenues derived?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I am not sure that that is how I would put it, but the Government wanted a form of contract which (a) did not give them more revenue for no more substantial amount of effort, in other words, if the Government grows a particular source of revenue it is not equitable in our view that they should get an automatic share increase in their revenue without a commensurate increase in effort. The other thing that we wanted to do was to have a system that was measurable in terms of value for money and productivity, so whereas I think it would be inappropriate at this stage to give the hon Member details of the basis of the contract, I can tell him that it is based on cost plus principles. In other words, the operating cost base has been agreed with the Government, they are then allowed a percentage mark-up over their cost not as a percentage of the Government revenues that they are collecting, and then in addition to that they are allowed bonuses linked to passing certain gateways and targets and reaching certain targets. So they do not get a fixed percentage of any growth but what they get is a bonus if they achieve things that in turn increase the level of revenue for Government through their efforts.

HOUSING – THE SANDS PROJECT

Can Government state how many tenders have been received for the Housing Project on the site known as 'The Sands' by North Mole Road?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The closing date for the return of tender bids has been extended to the 14th January 2005.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2387 OF 2004

HON C A BRUZON:

Can the Chief Minister say whether any tenders have been received, even though the date has been extended to January?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I believe the answer is no, but in any event the system does not work like that, these tenders get deposited in a box and I think the box is opened on the day, so theoretically one should not know whether any tenders have already been deposited in the box. That said, I believe that it will not have been because all interested parties sought an extension.

HON C A BRUZON:

Could I also ask the Chief Minister if the completion date as stated in the Official Notice on 28th May this year is still the 31st December 2006, or is that also being extended?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

My understanding is that it is a two year construction period.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So effectively then the condition that was published is being altered in the sense that instead of them having to undertake to finish by a given date, they have to undertake to finish within two years of starting, is that the position?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No. A completion period has been specified and then they have been invited to tender, if they want to, for different periods so that the Government can then judge the relationship between completion date and cost, but their primary obligation is to tender for a specified period and then they are free to submit tenders for different periods. In addition not instead of. They have to submit a bid for the period of two years and if they want to they can submit bids for other periods as well.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Right, but my question in relation to the two years is that if the commencement, which I think is the question my hon Friend was asking, if the commencement of the two year period is now different from originally envisaged, since the original invitation to tender required people to submit a bid on the premise that they would complete by the end of 2006, is that now altered in terms of the language being that the basic bid that everybody that has to come up with, irrespective of what other options they may offer, is a bid for December 2006 or a bid for two years from the date of commencement?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The latter because we do not know when the contract will be adjudicated.

CIVIL SERVICE – MATERNITY LEAVE

Can Government state whether there is any disparity in the Civil Service with regard to maternity leave entitlement?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Maternity leave entitlement currently stands at twenty six weeks for all Government employees. Teachers, however, are entitled to 14 weeks exclusive of school holidays. This is as a result of the application of the teacher's UK conditions of service relating to maternity leave. The manner in which maternity leave is calculated in the UK has since changed and discussions are on-going with the GTA as to their application or otherwise in Gibraltar.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2389 OF 2004

HON S E LINARES:

Just to make the Chief Minister aware since he did mention the teachers, that yes, teachers do get the 14 weeks and the maximum a teacher would get because the system works that the school holidays are not counted as part of the maternity leave, therefore the maximum are sort of added on to the teacher. Therefore, for example, the maximum now a teacher would get would be 20 weeks, because if we take for example that a teacher starts the maternity leave in June, has four weeks maternity leave before the school ends, then the six weeks of holiday is added on which is not counted, that would be ten weeks of de facto maternity leave and then they would have another ten weeks to a maximum of twenty. Just to say that I appreciate that the Chief Minister has mentioned the teachers and that there is on-going discussions with the GTA.

GHA – CAR PARKING SPACES

Can Government now state how many car parking spaces will be available at the Europort Hospital and who will have access to them, since the answer to this question was not given in reply to Question No. 1888 of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Assuming that the question by saying “at the Europort Hospital” means in the Europort Hospital building, the answer is 50 car parking spaces and 50 motorbike spaces will be provided. This will be available to on-call staff, staff who are mobile between differing GHA sites, a percentage will be available for disabled persons and some may be made available for other visitors. They are talking about the spaces in the basement of the hospital building.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2390 OF 2004

HON MISS M I MONTEGRIFFO:

Can the Chief Minister say whether the staff, likewise, will be available to the car parking spaces which they have purchased from the adjacent building?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That decision has not yet been made but the answer is probably not because those spaces are intended for visitors to the hospital.

FAMILY EXPENDITURE SURVEY

When do Government expect to undertake the next Family Expenditure Survey?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

In answer to Question No. 1325 of 2004, I explained that a Family Expenditure Survey is undertaken at times when there have been significant changes in the pattern of consumers' expenditure. The last such Survey was carried out in 1995/1996 after a period of 17 years since the previous one, and gave rise to the current Index of Retail Prices that commenced in April 1998. Since then, the Statistics Office updates and revises the range of goods and services that are priced as part of the Index. It is not intended to carry out a new Survey in the immediate future.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2391 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it not the case that in fact when the Government brought the Bill to provide for a minimum increase of two per cent to Government Civil Service pensions, the Government said that this was being done on the basis that they believed that the Index was under-reflecting price rises and that it was being done as an interim measure until the information needed to review the Index was done? Then at a subsequent meeting when I asked about what exactly was being done, I was told that what was being done was that a new Expenditure Survey was going to be carried out.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, it is intended that at some point there will be a new Family Expenditure Survey. I did emphasise in my reading out of the answer the word "immediate", I did not want the hon Members to think that it was imminent but it is in the pipeline at some stage when they are ready to do it, I suppose. I cannot tell the hon Members that it is imminent or immediate in the sense that it is round the corner, but yes, the Government do recognise the need to do this Survey again and though there is no policy decision here, they ought to do it whenever they have the resources and are ready to do it, as far as Government are concerned.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The Government are not saying that there should be one or that there should not be one, we are just trying to find out if there is going to be one.

FINANCE CENTRE DIRECTOR

What is the annual remuneration package of the Finance Centre Director?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Finance Centre Director is on a three-year fixed term contract. His gross annual salary (which is not subject to annual increases) is currently £97,728. This salary does not accrue pension rights.

The question refers to an annual remuneration package. The Finance Centre Director will also receive a gratuity of £51,436 at the end of his three-year contract which expires on 20th November 2005. In addition, the Finance Centre Director receives a housing allowance of £30,000 per annum.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2392 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Is that salary also treated like the salary of the new Chief Executive of the GHA as a Category 3 salary or Category 3 Individual with that tax applied to that salary?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That is correct.

NO. 2407 OF 2004*THE HON F R PICARDO*TAX EXEMPT COMPANIES

Can Government state how many tax exempt company certificates were issued in the months of October and November 2004?

ANSWER*THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

In the months of October and November 2004 the following number of qualifying companies discontinued their qualifying status.

|          |     |
|----------|-----|
| October  | Nil |
| November | 19  |

In the months of October and November 2004 the following number of tax exempt companies terminated their tax exemption certificate.

|          |    |
|----------|----|
| October  | 72 |
| November | 82 |

“Terminated their tax exemption” is interpreted by the Finance Centre Department as companies which have returned their certificate and no longer require their tax exempt status.

In the months of October and November 2004, the following numbers of qualifying companies were considered as active or trading.

|                 | Active | Trading |
|-----------------|---------------|----------------|
| October  | 102           | 65             |
| November | 83            | 59             |

During the months of October and November 2004 the following exempt company certificates were issued:-

|          |    |
|----------|----|
| October  | 94 |
| November | 93 |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2404 TO 2407 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Is the Chief Minister aware whether any of the 19 that discontinued their qualifying status in November have actually taken up exempt status thereafter?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

This is not an issue on which I would like to give chapter and verse in public. I should say this to the hon Member and perhaps this will suffice for his purposes at the moment, that during the last few months each qualifying status company has been addressed individually, discussions have taken place and the result has been that each have opted for different status. In other words, they have each been dealt with differently. There are three possibilities, just leave Gibraltar, they stay in Gibraltar as an ordinary tax paying company or they stay in Gibraltar as an exempt company. Those are the three options. There have been examples of all three. No sorry, let me say that again. To date none has left Gibraltar or signified its intention, so either the Government have agreed to issue them with an exemption certificate or they have been happy to become ordinary tax paying companies subject to the normal provisions of the Income Tax Ordinance.

NO. 2410 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

TAXATION OF SAVINGS ORDINANCE

Can Government now confirm that the Taxation of Savings Ordinance 2004 will come into effect in January 2005?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

It would be ultra vires for the Government to commence the Taxation of Savings Ordinance in January 2005. Pursuant to section 2(2) of that Ordinance as passed by this House, the Government do not have the power to commence this Ordinance prior to 1 July 2005.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2410 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

The Chief Minister told us in answer to questions recently in relation to this Ordinance that there was a possibility that it might be necessary to bring it into effect in January I believe, and that is why I am pressing him further in relation to that. I know that both of us agree that the longer that we can avoid bringing this legislation into effect the better, and I think that we both agree that is why I am pressing him. But if that is the position I am quite happy to see that it has been kicked into the future in July.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have to say I have no recollection of saying anything of the kind. It may be that I said something else and the hon Member has misunderstood me. I remember that the hon Member asked me what was the commencement date, whether it was January because there was then a story in the press, I suppose that might have prompted his question that the Commission was delaying the commencement. It had been scheduled to start in January, there was a decision taken at the European Community to defer the commencement until July. Since that date we have debated the Bill itself in this House, and we have legislated it with a commencement provision that the usual commencement clause says "to be commenced on a date by Government not before 1st July", that is the chronology. I am not aware that I have said anything to the hon Member since then that puts the January/July date back in the balance. In any case it is not in the balance.

THE HON F R PICARDO

LEGAL COSTS – MR JOHN GOMEZ

Are Government now in a position to state what were the legal costs of defending the case of unfair dismissal brought by John Gomez?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The legal costs of defending the case to which the Question refers are £13,895 plus £172.75p disbursements.

ORAL

NO. 2412 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

AGE OF CONSENT

Is it Government's intention to take any action in relation to the age of consent as a result of the ruling of the European Court of Human Rights in L & V –v- Austria?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government will take such action as they are compelled to take on a proper and authoritative interpretation of the meaning and effect of that ruling and its actual extent. The Government will not do more than is strictly obligatory.

ORAL

NO. 2413 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

SALE OF S/Y PERKEO

Has a decision now been taken in respect of the allocation of the proceeds of sale of the S/Y "Perkeo" sold by auction on 14th July 2004 and have any such proceeds been earmarked or ring fenced exclusively for investment in respect of law enforcement?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am advised to answer that the Government have still not yet made a decision as to the use of the funds. I think the matter remains as it was in the last House.

NO. 2414 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

TEP'S

Will the Government agree to assist investors in TEP Plans that have themselves or through their solicitors written to him, as far back as July 2004, by agreeing to fund a group litigation in respect of the losses that have arisen from that financial product?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am considering what help the Government can give and indeed how it should be given since persons affected are not all of the same financial disposition.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2414 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

I hear what the Chief Minister says but the fact is that he will have received the request as far back as July 2004 for some assistance, and as I understand it he has not yet replied to that letter. Can the Chief Minister tell us when he expects to be in a position to communicate his decision, such as it may be, to these individuals?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No.

HON F R PICARDO:

The people who are affected by the problems that arise as a result of the collapse of these products are all of a different financial disposition, I appreciate that, that means that there are some of them who are in dire need of some financial assistance and in that respect the Government are being looked to for the funding, for action that they may take to obtain some financial support. Can I not persuade the Chief Minister to reply to that letter outstanding from the members of the TEP Plan Association very quickly, and if possible before the end of January next year at the very latest?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No the Government will reply to the letter when they are in a position to decide what the reply should be, and that is the position and the hon Member's involvement in this matter, which I suppose he should have added, is of a professional nature.....

HON F R PICARDO:

Point of order. There is absolutely no basis whatsoever for the Chief Minister to suggest that I am involved in this professionally, I am not. All my contact with members of the TEP Plan Association and all parties related to the TEP Plan debacle, if I may call it that, has been purely political not at all professional. I have had to endure the Chief Minister referring to my involvement in this matter as being quasi professional and political before, I have made the point before, I think there was a ruling in that respect before, he should, I would be grateful, be directed to ensure that he does not make that type of reference again.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Oh I see, so if e-mails are sent to Picardo and Co we should assume that that is a political lobby firm, should we?

HON F R PICARDO:

I should not have to answer to the Chief Minister for what e-mail address I use, and I certainly do not have to answer to him if I take political correspondence at a professional address, that is not to address the issue of whether or not I am professionally involved or politically involved in a matter, or is it that he expects me only to receive correspondence of a political nature at a political address, as if that were to change the nature of the correspondence. The Chief Minister's remark, although this is the season of goodwill and good cheer, I have to say are absolutely ridiculous, and I would ask Mr Speaker directly to ensure that in relation to this matter he accepts that my involvement is purely political and that he stops making jibes of that sort, which I consider very damaging to him because it shows that he does not understand the nature of my involvement.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I have no way of knowing whether his involvement is professional or political. I hear that he says that it is only political but I am certainly not prepared to vouch for it simply because he asserts it. I hear what he says. It is not for me to underwrite the accuracy of his remark or not to underwrite the accuracy of his remark. I am not responsible for the accuracy of it, he is. In any event the answer remains the same. The answer remains as given.

HON F R PICARDO:

Is the hon Gentleman accusing me of lying?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

He can choose whatever words he likes. He has said that he is not acting professionally and he has required me to accept that he is not acting professionally. I cannot accept whether he is acting professionally or not, I can accept that he asserts in this House that he is only acting politically, and that is his statement of fact it is not for me to agree with it politically. I have to accept what the hon Member says until or if I could prove to the contrary, which is of no interest to me one way or the other frankly.

MR SPEAKER:

But the Chief Minister will accept that until such time as he is able to establish that the hon Member is acting professionally he ought not to make such an allegation in this House.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is nothing wrong with the hon Member acting professionally in this matter or in any other. I am not suggesting it but I accept Mr Speaker's ruling.

HON F R PICARDO:

As a result can I therefore ask the Chief Minister whether he can finish his answer to me which related to whether or not he will be in a position to answer before the end of January with the request made of him by the TEP Plan Association?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I have answered that question already, I have no intention of repeating it.

HON F R PICARDO:

In that case, if he is not going to go beyond the answer that the Government will answer when they are in a position to do so, can I leave him with the fact that a lot of the individuals who are suffering as a result of this debacle are actually of a financial capability which requires a result for the problems that they are experiencing. Can I therefore at least ask him to acknowledge receipt of the letter?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The recourse for people affected is in litigation. If there are people of the sort that he is describing, there is a Legal Aid & Assistance Ordinance Scheme which provides for assistance in the conduct of civil litigation. To my knowledge there are people who have already applied for and obtained assistance under the Legal Aid & Assistance Scheme. The request being sought is over and above that and indeed for the benefit of people who may not be entitled to legal aid and assistance because of the threshold provisions and the asset provisions in that Ordinance. So we are necessarily talking of people who are not entitled to legal aid in the context of their present financial disposition and assets and that is what we are talking about, because people who do qualify have already obtained the assistance that the hon Member thinks everybody should be given by the Government and it has to be looked at carefully, because as I said in my original answer, not everybody affected, some people have been very, very badly affected, and to the extent of almost all that they own except perhaps a roof over their heads, and others are not in that category. There is no reason why the Government should assist them all at tax payers expense in equal measure.

HON F R PICARDO:

Can I now just clarify only one issue that arises as a result of the Chief Minister's question. I do not think, and he should not interpret from my questions, that everybody affected should receive the type of assistance that those who are entitled to receive legal aid are receiving, that is not the point I am making. That as I understand it is not the question that has been asked of him in the letter that he has received and has not yet even acknowledged. I just want to put that point on the record and simply press him out of simple good manners to at least acknowledge receipt of the letter.

NO. 2415 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

TAX REFORM PROPOSALS

When do the Government expect the EU Commission to take a decision as to the interim measures the Government are seeking (and announced to have been agreed between the Government and the EU Commission DG Competition in June 2004) pending the outcome of the legal proceedings commenced by the Government against the EU Commission in respect of the latter's rejection of the Government's tax reform proposals, and will the said "interim arrangements" last until the outcome of the said legal proceedings or until 2010, whichever is the earlier?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Commission has not approved the arrangements negotiated with DG Competition in June. Since then intense negotiations have been taking place, culminating in new interim arrangements being settled on Monday of last week subject to approval by the College of Commissioners early in the New Year. It is not appropriate to give details until the arrangements have been approved by the Commission in full.

NO. 2416 OF 2004

THE HON F R PICARDO

TAX REFORM PROPOSALS

What progress has been made since the last Question Time in the House of Assembly in the legal proceedings (Court of First Instance register number 240836 and allocated case number T-211/04) against the EU Commission following the latter's rejection of the Government's tax reform proposals?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government have now filed their reply to the Commission's defence.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2416 OF 2004

HON F R PICARDO:

Are we to assume then that pleadings are closed or do the Government expect the Commission will be filing another reply, or is there any provision for that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

My personal understanding of European Court of Justice procedure is, although I am not a lawyer in practice, is that the Commission now has a right of rejoinder.

HON F R PICARDO:

That is what I mean. Does the Chief Minister know, are the Government aware or has there been any indication from the Commission that they will be exercising a right to file a rejoinder? He will remember from the times when he was in practice that sometimes parties file rejoinders, they do not always do even if they have a right to do so.

Can I take it from the silence that the answer to my question is that the Government do not have any such indication one way or another?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Parties do not give indications to their opponents, they either file it within the required time limit or they do not. My understanding is, and I may not be entirely right in this, is that the European procedure is not voluntary, that one has to file a rejoinder. It may not have to be as comprehensive as it would be if one were enthusiastic about it, but my understanding is that all stages of the procedure are compulsory in that Court. That is my understanding but I would not assert it as fact.

HON F R PICARDO:

In that case can the Chief Minister tell the House by what date the Commission is required to file its rejoinder, or if that date is not available and I would understand that he might need notice of the question, at least can he tell us on what date the Government's defence was filed so that it might be possible to work out by looking at the procedure when the Commission's rejoinder will have to be filed?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not have either dates here.

HON F R PICARDO:

Would the Chief Minister agree to provide that date outside this House if he does not have it available? Although I must say that I find it surprising that the Chief Minister does not have the date or does not know it, seeing as he has told us before that in all these matters he is involved in the day to day running of cases like he told us he was in the Matthews Case. He told us he checked every document and was very much in the driving seat.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I assume that the fact that he expresses surprise at the fact that I have not got it is not an insinuation that he thinks I have got it and I am misleading this House by suggesting that I have not got it. I cannot imagine what other interpretation one is to give to the phrase "I am surprised that he has not got it". I am telling the hon Member I do not have and I do not have it, of course it is available in a file in the office.

HON F R PICARDO:

I said I was surprised he did not remember it or did not know it but fair enough. The first part of my question was would he undertake to provide it, perhaps in writing when he gets back to his office.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not give the hon Members undertakings across the floor. This is not a court room. If the hon Member would like me to provide him with the information I will of course be happy to provide it to him.

NO. 2417 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

EUROPEAN ELECTIONS

Can Government say whether the Spanish Government persists in its legal challenge to the manner in which Gibraltar was enfranchised for European elections?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

As far as we are aware the Spanish Government have not withdrawn their legal challenge.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2417 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can the Chief Minister say whether the UK Government are as robust in defending this action as they said they would be before it materialised?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not know what answer I can give to that question. The United Kingdom has expressed a determination, both publicly and privately, to defend this action which actually raises very challenging issues for the UK itself let alone just for Gibraltar. I have not yet seen any of the pleadings in this matter which may be because the case has not got that far.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is it possible for the Chief Minister to give an indication of at what stage the case actually is at this particular juncture?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, this is not a case to which the Government of Gibraltar are a party. We rely entirely on the information provided to us by the UK, whom I am sure would provide us with and keep us informed of the main steps. I am not aware that we have received or been informed that the UK for example, has received Spain's application or that the defence has been filed. That may not be the case that may have happened but certainly I am personally not aware of it.

NO. 2418 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

EU COMMITTEE OF THE REGIONS

Can Government say whether, and if so when, they met with the Secretariat of the EU Committee of the Regions?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am not aware that the Government have met with the Secretariat of the EU's Committee of the Regions.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2418 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

When the Chief Minister was asked that question on this subject on television, I think it may have been a phone-in, he mentioned that Michael Llamas would shortly be taking this matter forward, and that is the reason why the question was tabled, to establish whether it actually happened or had not.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No I think that is something quite different. The hon Member may be referring to a seminar organised by the Committee of the Regions to which I indicated Gibraltar might be represented, but that is not a meeting with the Secretariat of the Committee of the Regions. I think Michael Llamas was scheduled to go to that, whether he actually went or not I would have to check, but it is certainly not a meeting with the Secretariat and nor do I recall saying anything about a meeting with the Secretariat. I have got a vague recollection of alluding to the fact that there was this seminar organised by the Committee of the Regions.

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

EU SINGLE EUROPEAN SKY

Following the preliminary advice received by the Government on the feasibility of mounting a legal challenge to the exclusion of Gibraltar from the EU Single European Sky, can Government say whether and when they intend to mount such a challenge?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

This matter remains under consideration.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2419 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

The preliminary advice which the Government have now received, is the Chief Minister in a position to say what the chances of success would be if the Government take this forward according to the advice that has been received?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, I think it is self-evident that it would not be appropriate for me to say that even if it were possible to say so.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is it possible to say then, to give an idea of the timescale in which the Government intend to consider this matter and then come to a conclusion as to whether to proceed or not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No it is not.

NATIONAL DAY

How much of the £188,000 forecast outturn for 2003/2004 in respect of Head 8 – A 21 National Day was in respect of travel and accommodation for Government guests?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am advised that none of it was.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2420 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Would the travel and accommodation for Government guests come under a different Head in the Estimates?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I do not have that information in front of me but if the Government paid for travel and accommodation and it is not under this Head then it must be under some other.

NO. 2424 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

GIBRALTAR DAY IN LONDON

Can Government say whether the Corps of Drums of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment provided the music inside the Guildhall during the Gibraltar Day festivities in London?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Gibraltar Government delegation to the Gibraltar Day festivities in London were the Chief Minister, the Minister for Health and the Minister for the Environment, Roads and Utilities, the Government's Press Director, the Chief Minister's Private Secretary (Legal Affairs), and the Director of the London Office.

There were no invited persons from the GDC.

The Government invited the Honorary Colonels and the Commanding Officer of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment, local Trade Union leaders, the Chairperson of the Gibraltar Federation of Small Businesses and the President of the Gibraltar Chamber of Commerce.

The Gibraltar Government is as always grateful for the participation of the Royal Gibraltar Regiment at the Gibraltar Day. The band and Corps of Drums were engaged in providing music throughout the evening.

The breakdown of Gibraltar Day expenses are as follows:

|                                     |                  |
|-------------------------------------|------------------|
| • Food & Wine                       | 23,504.58p       |
| • Lighting, sound & video           | 21,132.38p       |
| • Hire of Guildhall                 | 8,416.25p        |
| • Toastmaster & Performance fees    | 852.40p          |
| • Printing, postage and photography | 3,535.10p        |
| • Military expenses                 | 2,088.65p |
|                                     | 59,529.36p       |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2421 TO 2424 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

In relation to the figures just given by the Chief Minister, I noted down a figure of £2,088.65p in relation to military expenses, can the Chief Minister say what military expenses those were?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I cannot give that information with the degree of accuracy that I would wish. I can tell the hon Member that apart from the Gibraltar Regiment there were colour parties in attendance from all the regiments still in existence that participated in the events of 1704, and there was also bandsmen and the Honorary Artillery Company and I suppose this must have related to their expenses.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Can I just say that there is nothing here in relation to the travelling and accommodation expenses which normally are supplied to me, not just for this event but also for others, is there a reason for that or could the Chief Minister supply that information if he has it available?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

He has not asked for that information. Those are not expenses of the Gibraltar Day in London. The hon Member has asked for costs in relation to the event itself not to the cost of people from Gibraltar attending at it.

NO. 2425 OF 2004

THE HON DR J J GARCIA

RECAPTURE OF GIBRALTAR – 1705

What events are planned for the commemoration and celebration of the 300th anniversary of the failure of the first Spanish siege to recapture Gibraltar in April 1705?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

None.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2425 OF 2004

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Is it the position of the Government that the failure of the first Spanish siege to recapture Gibraltar since the Anglo-Dutch conquest is not an event worthy of commemorating?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Correct, it is the Government's view that it is not an event worth commemorating. Gibraltar has been resisting Spanish ambitions to recover its sovereignty on a 24 hour a day, 365 day year, 300 year basis. On the basis of the hon Member's logic every day would have to be a tercentenary or centenary or something.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Well, I am sure he would not mind celebrating that event every day, I am sure many people do, but given that this was an attempt at a military conquest, in the same way as we celebrated the liberation of Spain from the Bourbons in 1704 in August, is it not also worth celebrating the fact that they did not take it over from a military point of view in April 1705? I think that is a distinction, there are several key historical events and this was one of them. Earlier on in this House we heard from the Minister for Heritage that we will be celebrating the 200th anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar which is obviously something that we welcome and we certainly would equally welcome if the Government found it in their hearts to celebrate this anniversary as well. Firstly because it is 300 years and secondly because it is an important historical event.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I hear what the hon Member says that he thinks that during this year he has been celebrating the 300th anniversary of the liberation of Spain from the Bourbons, he can speak for himself. I have been celebrating nothing of the sort but if that is what he has been celebrating let me tell him that he has been celebrating under a false premise, because the Bourbons indeed ascended to the throne of Spain.

HON DR J J GARCIA:

Indeed they did but they did not do so with Gibraltar as part of their realm.

THE HON F R PICARDO

JEWISH MUSEUM EXHIBITION IN LONDON

Can Government provide a full breakdown of the expenditure under head "Others" set out in the table provided in answer to Question No. 1859 of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The schedule submitted in answer to Question No. 1859 of 2004 contained a typographical error in respect of the date of the Jewish Museum Exhibition. What read as 5th June 2004 should have read 5th July 2004 as suggested by the chronological order of events.

The Chief Minister's travel on 8th June 2004 related to the Committee of 24 trip to New York and not the Jewish Museum Exhibition as stated in Question No. 2427.

I hand the hon Member schedules setting out the information he has requested in Question Nos. 2426 and 2428. Goodness, even the names of the hotels are given, this really is transparency.

GIBRALTAR BUS COMPANY LIMITED

Can Government state the date on which Gibraltar Investment (Holdings) Limited acquired 3,700,000 £1 shares of the Gibraltar Bus Company Limited?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answered together with Question No. 2430 of 2004.

NO. 2430 OF 2004

THE HON L A RANDALL

GIBRALTAR BUS COMPANY LIMITED

Can Government state the date on which the Authorised Share Capital of the Gibraltar Bus Company Limited was increased from £1,000 to £4,000,000?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Gibraltar Investment (Holdings) Limited acquired 3,700,000 £1 shares in the Gibraltar Bus Company Limited on the following dates:

|                                |   |                                                        |
|--------------------------------|---|--------------------------------------------------------|
| 16 th March 2004    | - | 2 fully paid up ordinary shares of £1.00 each          |
| 1 st September 2004 | - | 3,699,998 fully paid up ordinary shares of £1.00 each. |

The Authorised Share Capital of the Gibraltar Bus Company Limited was increased by Ordinary Resolution on the 1st September 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2429 AND 2430 OF 2004

HON L A RANDALL:

Can Government state the £1,825,000 above the cost of acquiring the buses, was this in respect of working capital for the company or in settlement of other things such as the licence acquired?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The latter.

NO. 2431 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

I & D FUND

Can Government say how much has been received to date by the Improvement and Development Fund under Head 103 – Grants?

ANSWER

THE HON THE MINISTER FOR TRADE, INDUSTRY & COMMUNICATIONS

The sum of £2,025.23p. These are expenses incurred to facilitate a number of projects being driven under the Interreg III A Programme namely:

- Gib MA Natur - (Barbary Apes)
- Gib Mo Col - (Trade project – training for people involved in business)
- DDP and SME Project - (Distance learning and development project for senior managers of small and medium size enterprises)

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2431 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Nothing has been received then in respect of the Konver Projects which I understand was money that was pending approval but had already been spent, is that the case?

HON J J HOLLIDAY:

That is the case. The Konver Projects are currently in what they call the completion programme stage and we are hopeful that the balance that is outstanding to us will be forthcoming during the first quarter of 2005.

NO. 2432 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

INTERNATIONAL DIALLING CODE

Can Government provide a copy of the Report on the technical problems and economic costs of the possible utilisation of the 0044 international dialling code for Gibraltar?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government do not consider it appropriate to provide details at this stage of the technical assessment of the utilisation of 0044 international dialling code for Gibraltar. I think it is also fair to comment that there is not a bound report as such, it is a series of assessments.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2342 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

When he offered to provide a copy of the Report to Mr Peter Isola in the Viewpoint programme which I was there with him, was he referring to this or was he referring to something else?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Can he remind me what it was that I said?

HON J J BOSSANO:

When we were in that debate and Mr Isola was saying the Chamber supported the use of the 0044, the Chief Minister in reply said that in fact it was not as straightforward as people thought, that there were economic and technical problems and that he would be happy to provide Mr Isola with a report if he wanted it. That is the report I am asking for. I am assuming I am not going to get inferior treatment to Mr Isola even though I am not President of the Chamber.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, I will write to the hon Member setting out the relevant arguments, the relevant aspects of the issues. There is nothing confidential about the issues themselves but I am not sure that the report itself is in a form that can just be handed over. It is not a sort of bound report but I mean the technical aspects themselves he can be aware of but I would like him to deal with them on a confidential basis, given several factors. First of all, that this proposal is not presently on the agenda, it is not under consideration and secondly, that we hope to revisit the whole issue of telephones in the context of the new spirit of dialogue and cooperation which has broken out.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Let me make clear that we are not supportive of the 0044 it is just that since there are apparently arguments against it which we are not aware of, we would like to know what they are and I am happy to receive it on a confidential basis because I do not want to do anything that may hamper the Government's negotiating position, but given that we did not even know such arguments existed, now that we know that they do we would like to know what they are.

- (a) Gibraltar Government; and
- (b) MOD?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information requested by the hon Member goes back to 1998. It is not possible in the time available since notice of his Questions to compile all the relevant data. However, I am handing over to the hon Member a schedule containing details of average earnings for the different categories of employees by sex and nationality shown separately by the Gibraltar Government and the MOD for the periods 1998 to 2003.

The hon Member, whilst he digests that, may also be interested to know that in fact it is not possible to provide the additional desegregation of the data that he has required by industry without re-writing virtually the whole of the survey programme, and in respect of 1998 it cannot be given at all because the programme used for that survey is not in use any more. The programme was revamped in 1999 and onwards and it is therefore no longer possible to re-run the obsolete programme to obtain the desegregated data the hon Member seeks, which is why he only has it there from 1999 onwards not 1998.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2433 TO 2450 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In answer to the first one which is Question No. 2434 I understand what the Chief Minister has just said that the answer cannot be provided for Question No. 2433 because that is in respect of 1998, but the first one is Question No. 2434 which is in respect of 1999 and of course I have asked from 1998 onwards because he has told me previously that it was not possible to do it before 1998 because that was when the survey was compiled from information collected by the Tax Office and that it was only possible to do this kind of exercise after 1998 when it was the results of survey results. Question No. 2434 quotes the figures that I have taken from Table 7. In fact the answer provides a breakdown by nationality and not by industry but the numbers of the breakdown by nationality do not seem to tally with the 236 in Table 7.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, the hon Member may not have noticed that they are provided separately for the Government and for the MOD. On page 10 it is the Government of Gibraltar and then four pages further on it is the same table because this is the only way the computer can produce the information, and indeed that is the reason why we cannot do it for 1998 because the computer can no longer be run, so in page 5 he has to add the two together.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see, the figures tally, yes. In fact what he is saying is that the distribution by industry which is given in Table 7 cannot be given with the programme as it stands.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Not with the programme, the information is there but it cannot be retrieved.

ELDERLY CARE AGENCY

Based on expenditure to date do Government anticipate any changes to the estimated expenditure for the current financial year by the Elderly Care Agency?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The Government anticipate expenditure higher than budgeted by the Gibraltar Electricity Authority, the Elderly Care Agency and the Gibraltar Health Authority.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2453 TO 2455 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the case of the Electricity Authority, which is the only one really that has got a product to sell, is this something that the Government also expect to be reflected in revenue from electricity sales? Is it driven by higher outputs or driven by higher costs?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

There is some higher output but it is not the substantial part, or a significant part even, of the reason. The reason is a combination of errors in the calculation of the estimate in the context of the transfer between Government and the Authority, as well as the sort of fluctuating fuel costs during the year. There is an element of increased output but it would not explain anywhere like the overspend. It is not actually overspend, the higher fuel bills is overspend the other is not so much overspend as understated estimates included in the budget, a mistake was made in effect in the departmental tender bid.

NO. 2456 OF 2004*THE HON J J BOSSANO*INCOME TAX – PAYE

Based on the 2003/2004 Employers Annual Statement Declaration and Certificate submitted to date what was the PAYE payable by area of employment and the number of employees as follows:

- (a) MOD;
- (b) Gibraltar Government;
- (c) Government Owned/Joint Venture Companies; and
- (d) Private Sector Employment?

ANSWER*THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Based on the 2003/2004 Employers' Annual Statement, Declaration and Certificate submitted up to 13th December 2004 the information sought is as follows:

|                                                  | £m          |
|--------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| (a) MOD                                          | 4.7         |
| (b) Gibraltar Government                         | 11.0        |
| (c) Government owned and joint venture companies | 2.6         |
| (d) Private Sector employment                    | 33.1        |
|                                                  | 51.4 |

The above does not include estimates of PAYE tax payable in respect of employers that have not returned the Employers' Annual Statement.

Also the PAYE Deduction Cards for the year 2003/2004 are currently being processed and it is not possible at this time to provide details of the number of Deduction Cards returned.

GHA – CAR PARKING SPACES

Can Government state what is the area in square metres of the land provided by the developers of Europlaza for the provision of car parking spaces to be used for the hospital at Europort?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Approximately 2,600 square metres but it would be wrong for the hon Member to think of it in terms of land rather than floor space. I mean it is in effect a floor of the building, it is one floor of that building that is presently being built.

MOD LAND

What has been the expenditure to date, if any, in the relocation costs connected with the release of MOD land?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Relocation costs to date connected with the release of MOD land has been £360,403.71p, in direct costs as well as in part of expenditure totalling £81,000 on the Mid Harbour reclamation project which has involved assessments and initial design proposals into moving MOD facilities in the area around the No. 4 Dock, the Watermanship Training Centre.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2461 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is this charged to the Improvement and Development Fund?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

That very issue is currently under consideration, whether it is going to be booked to the Improvement and Development Fund or to the Government property company, the Accountant-General is currently considering that and I am awaiting his advice on the matter. I think at the moment it is being charged to a suspense account but funded, I think presently it is being defrayed out of the Government property company but that may not be how it is finally accounted for.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In the transfer of land that is involved is it not the case that this land will go to the Government as there is a transfer from one side of the Crown to the other or can it be transferred to the property company? Presumably it has to go through the Government first.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I suppose that the MOD would, if we wanted to, transfer it to a company but in fact our view is that it should be transferred to the Crown and therefore it is being transferred to the Crown and therefore the sale proceeds will be revenue of the Improvement and Development Fund.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2462 TO 2467 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In respect of the ones in the current financial year, was this estimated in the figure put under Reimbursements in the budget. I can remember this came to light as a result of asking for a breakdown of the figure of the revenue head which showed Reimbursements.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Without sight of it I cannot remember whether an estimate provision was made on the basis perhaps of sales in the pipeline at least. The hon Member can marry this to the information I gave or that was given to the Hon Mr Bruzon in answer to the question of how many flats had been sold to date. What I cannot tell him is whether this revenue was estimated or not estimated in the revenue, perhaps it would be under the Treasury head.

HON J J BOSSANO:

The fact is that in the original estimate in last year's Budget was £100 million and the result was £1,250,000 and a big chunk of the £750,000 was this 5 per cent. Now in this year's estimate the figure put in for Other Reimbursements, which is not exclusively this of course, is £900,000 and therefore that is why I am wondering whether in fact they left this out in the estimate for this year.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well the figure that he has just read out of £900,000 odd compared to the previous year's estimate of £500,000 suggests that there may have been some inclusion in respect of this head in this year's estimate.

FINANCIAL SERVICES

In relation to financial services, can the Chief Minister give the dates in the months of October and November 2004 when he has been away from Gibraltar on Government business relating to Financial Services, giving the event or function attended, the venue, the city and the country visited, the names of any officials or other persons travelling with the Chief Minister and a breakdown of the cost of each visit?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

I am reminded that between 19th and 21st October I visited the Foreign Office accompanied by the Chief Secretary and one of my Private Secretaries and the total cost was £3,917.99p, of which £1,052.99p related to accommodation and £2,865.00 related to air fares.

STAMP DUTY

Can Government state what was the total number of property transactions and the value of each transaction in respect of which Stamp Duty was collected in the financial year 2003/2004 and the total amount of such duty paid?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

As I replied in Question No. 553 of 2004, Government's land agents (Land Property Services Ltd) do not maintain analysed records of transactions in respect of which stamp duty is paid.

The total amount of stamp duty collected in the years 2002/2003 and 2003/2004 was as follows:-

|           |   |                |
|-----------|---|----------------|
| 2002/2003 | - | £1,365,136.68p |
| 2003/2004 | - | £1,486,710.42p |

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2469 AND 2470 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

The answer that I was given before was when I asked for the information in respect of residential property and I took that to mean that they could not distinguish between residential and commercial property sales, but is it that they do not even know how many transactions have taken place? That is to say, they know they have collected £1.365 million but they do not know how many transactions that represents.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Surprising as it might sound to the hon Member and perhaps even to me, that is what they are saying to me. I would have thought they could just count the number of entries in the cash book or something, perhaps they just make a day's entry aggregated, they do not analyse them that way. I suppose it must be possible from their records somehow, to count the number of transactions and I suppose they mean that it is too much work. I cannot imagine that this information is not available by any means or over any period of time, it may not be conveniently available.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Would it be possible to get them to do it from a current date? Given that the Chief Minister has said in previous answers to questions from me that the Government do not believe in monitoring the movement in property prices, I think he added although it was a non sequitur because they had no intentions of controlling it, I do not think the rest of the Governments in the Western Europe control property prices, although they all monitor them. What I am trying to do is to see if there is some sort of information that would indicate what is happening.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I can certainly ask them whether they can start keeping the information in a way that allows them to say how many transactions it takes to accumulate £1.486 million et cetera, yes. I would have thought a system of numbered receipts would be sufficient.

GDP FIGURE

Do Government still expect to be in a position to publish the estimated value of the GDP for the year 2002/2003 by January 2005?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

We can do better, I can tell him now. The 2002/2003 GDP estimates have now been finalised. GDP stood at £507.17 million and rose therefore by 7.9 per cent in money terms and by 5.1 per cent in real terms compared to 2001/2002. The attached table gives the breakdown of the GDP estimate.

NON-EU PENSIONERS

Can Government state when the policy was introduced that non-EU pensioners should continue to be provided with annual residence permits, how many such persons currently have such permits and under which provision of the Immigration Control Ordinance have such permits been issued?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The only non-EU nationals who have reached pensionable age and reside in Gibraltar on the basis of annual residence permits are persons who have continued to work after reaching pensionable age and who are covered by employment permits.

The Employment Ordinance does not prohibit employment after pensionable age and, as a matter of policy, no age restriction has ever been imposed on non-EU nationals so as to prevent them from continuing to work after reaching pensionable age.

There are currently 51 non-EU women over 60 and 51 non-EU men over 65 who continue in employment and who hold employment and annual residence permits issued under the provisions of section 18(f) of the Immigration Control Ordinance.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2472 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact I must have misunderstood the Chief Minister when he said a policy had been taken to allow pensioners to remain here, because in fact they have always been able to remain as long as they were working and had a work permit.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, most of that statement is true and the bit that is not true I still would not disagree with. It is true that there has never been a policy, as far as I am aware, under any administration of not allowing working pensioners to stay in Gibraltar. What the hon Member may be alluding to is to the parallel policy of issuing multiple entry visas to non-working Moroccan pensioners who come and go under the guise of coming to collect their pensions and things, but as far as I am aware Government have never had a policy of issuing residence permits to retired persons. So if I have said anything that has led him to believe that, it has been a misunderstanding.

HON J J BOSSANO:

It was a misunderstanding, I thought that was what he had said at a previous meeting, so I have got it wrong obviously.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The only other thing that the hon Member might be alluding to is that when we agreed to extend the residence permit that had always been for one year, we extended them to five years for working non-EU nationals on the basis that the Moroccans could not get a visa to visit Spain on the basis of only a one year residence permit. That was not extended to workers over pensionable age who continue to get only a one year residence permit.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I was under the impression that at some point it had been decided to allow persons to register as unemployed and therefore get a permit of residence beyond their retirement age, but clearly this is not the case.

-----

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Can I correct the hon Member on what he said was not the case. Persons of the sort that he has described are issued with monthly residence permits as opposed to annual which is what his question sought. Provided they register with the Unemployment, they are issued with monthly residence permits.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see, so non-EU pensioners therefore, was that a policy then? What the Chief Minister is saying is that in Question No. 2472 the answer would have been yes if I would have put monthly instead of annually, is that correct?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see, well can I then ask when that policy was introduced then?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Further, there has been an administrative concession whereby if “the unemployed Moroccan looking for work” is actually too old to work and everybody understands that this is just for the purposes of getting his monthly residence permit, I do not think they make them go every month, I think if they register once every six months I think that is the administrative concession that has been made. But it is monthly residence permits and not annual. I think there is in total 35 such people in Gibraltar, of the sort that I have just described of those monthly.

The amounts of £116,198, £5,279 and £56,225 collected by Customs for the financial years 2001/2002, 2002/2003 and 2003/2004 respectively, and credited to Revenue Subhead – Other Reimbursements, are in respect of Landing Certificates, Examination Certificates and Destruction Certificates.

Answer to Question 2474 of 2004

I hand the hon Member a statement showing the information requested.

Answer to Questions 2475 to 2478 of 2004

Annual estimates of receipts under Revenue Subhead 5(6) are calculated on the basis of actual revenue collected over previous years.

Source of receipts forecast under this Revenue Subhead are calculated using actual collections at the time the Estimates are prepared, and a proportional estimate for the remaining months of the financial year.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2473 TO 2478 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

So on the basis of that answer, that would mean that for example in terms of the forecast original estimate of £600,000 for 2002/2003 which is the subject of Question No. 2475, what the Chief Minister is saying is that the Government estimate produced by the Treasury would have been guided, for example in the case of Customs, by the £116,000 that they had received in 2001/2002.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes I assume that that is what it means.

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the revenue that is collected by the Customs and then passed on to the Accountant-General, because this is really what we are talking about, I mean the fact is that the Customs collect it from the public but the Head itself makes the receiver of revenue the Accountant-General.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Correct.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2479 AND 2480 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

In terms of the I & D expenditure, which nearly always eventually finishes up less than budgeted and approved by the House, looking at it in terms of global figures we are talking about something like one third of the expenditure having been incurred in 50 per cent of the year. Is there an indication, for example, in any particular Head that something is not likely to be progressing at the rate that was originally expected when the estimates were approved by the House earlier this year? I mean in terms of the different Heads, I have not obviously analysed each individual one to see which one is, the overall thing seems to be that it is only slightly behind because we have got a third of the expenditure in 50 per cent of the time, but is it to the Government's knowledge a case that any one of these things is not likely to have progressed as fast as originally thought?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, I agree for reasons that we have debated in the past that expenditure outturn is always much less than the amount estimated at the beginning of the year. Of course even now, in December, if one asks the Controlling Officers of expenditure they will swear blind that they will all spend the full allocation, which of course they never do and I suspect that they give that answer for fear of losing the money, or somehow they think that the money can be taken away from them if they admit that they are not going to be able to spend it on time. But of course they do not and I think the under-spend this year may even be a higher percentage than it has been in previous years. I think the hon Member will find by the end of the financial year that Heads 101 and 102 will be pretty fully spent, and also Head 106 will be pretty fully spent, and that the shortfall is in Heads 103, Head 104 to a lesser extent obviously it is a smaller Head, and partly in Head 105 but probably Heads 103 and 105 will account for the largest share of the under-spend. If I had a copy of the Estimates here, which I have not I am afraid, I might even be able to give him an indication of which particular Subheads, in case I see any projects there.

HON J J BOSSANO:

There are Subheads but.....

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Projects which I can look at at a glance and tell him where, yes, housing will be almost completely spent, I think Social Affairs will certainly be fully spent, Education certainly fully spent, Sports I think that the expenditure on Subhead 7 which is the main item there will more or less come out in full, so that takes us to Head 103. I do not think that environmental projects, depending on the expenditure of this new equipment when it arrives, that that might be fully spent. I think rock safety, coastal protection and retaining walls, storm water drains and sewers probably we will not spend the full amount provided there. I am not sure that £500,000 of road maintenance and resurfacing has been done this year, so those are the sort of areas. Construction of a car parking facility, which is down there as £550,000, I do not think that will have been spent by the end of the year. The Objective II Programmes I think are fully committed whether the expenditure will be met, I believe so I believe that it will be and that might account for some higher because there are projects that have been approved there recently which are already advanced. I do not think that £1.6 million of tourist beautification projects will necessarily be done, so I think it is in Head 105 and Head 103, and to a much lesser extent in Head 104, which I think the hon Member will find the under-spend comes in.

Can Government state how many companies were affected by the abandoned tax assessments claims in the financial year 2002/2003 and what was the highest company claim?

ANSWER*THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Write-offs in the financial year 2002/2003 can be summarised as follows:

|             | £                |
|-------------|------------------|
| Individuals | 404,541          |
| Companies   | 1,679,637        |
| PAYE        | 32,840           |
|             | 2,117,018 |

88 individuals of which the highest write-off was £33,594.

51 Companies of which the highest write-off was £241,554.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2485 TO 2487 OF 2004*HON J J BOSSANO:

Can the Government say whether the highest amount, he has given a breakdown which shows the PAYE separately, can he say whether in the highest amount of the company PAYE would be included, or is PAYE by people that are self-employed or something like that?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, PAYE may relate to monies deducted by employees but it is not company tax. I assume that the hon Member has assumed in receiving the answers that he has had from me, that of course abandoned tax assessments does not necessarily mean failure to collect sums which were due and payable because some of these were assessments raised in the absence of the returns. So the hon Member is familiar with the system, if one does not submit a return the Commissioner issues an assessment, it may then be abandoned but the tax may never have been due in the first place because it was a raised assessment. So he should not assume, for example in the case of companies, that all the companies made all the profits that would have rendered this amount of tax which was not collected payable.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I was making that assumption.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member was making that assumption, well I am glad I have clarified it then.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Well I am not sure that the Chief Minister has clarified it. To my knowledge, when provisional assessments are made and then they are corrected based on information submitted, it does not require a write-off.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, it becomes a debt in the books of the company the moment that the assessment is raised. Once the assessment is raised, even in the absence of a return, it becomes an amount due, it can become due by two different routes. One submits a return and is assessed and one does not submit a return and one is assessed in the absence of a return. Both are accounted for in the same way, both become tax payable to the Government. If both of those are then written-off they are included in the total written-off even though one is the result of a calculation of actual tax due on the basis of profits actually made, and the other is tax assessed to be due in the absence of no return. Both result in a tax debt, both result in a write-off but in one case it is the write-off of an estimated assessment as opposed to an assessment based on a return.

HON J J BOSSANO:

Does the Chief Minister have the information as to what years this refers to, because the fact that it was done in 2002/2003 does not indicate how far back it goes?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

I do not have the information but certainly it would be many years, because they are not written off until there is absolutely no doubt that there is no possibility of being collected. The hon Member can see that from some of the answers that he gets from some of the other questions he asks. They do not disappear for several years.

NO. 2488 OF 2004

INCOME TAX – CORPORATION TAX

Can Government confirm whether the tax collected from companies in respect of the tax year 2003/2004 as at 30th September 2004 was £15.1 million, as given in answer to Question No. 1863 of 2004, or £18.401 million as given in answer to Question Nos. 1864 and 1865 of 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Following a comprehensive reappraisal of the computer programmes utilised to extract data in the manner required by the hon Member, the Income Tax Office has concluded that the information provided in reply to Question No. 1863 of 2004 was incorrect.

The corporation tax collected from companies in respect of the year of assessment 2003/2004 was £18.2 million as at 14th December 2004 and not £15.1 million as at 30th September 2004, as stated in answer to Question No. 1863 of 2004. So in other words, I think they are saying that the figure of £15.1 million was wrong and the current figure as at 14th December 2004 was £18.2 million.

The statistical data provided in reply to Question No. 1863 is therefore replaced by that contained in the schedule that I now provide the hon Member.

The schedule also provides an overview of the techniques employed to extract data in the manner required by the hon Member.

I am advised that the data required by the hon Member is extracted solely for the purposes of answering his questions and is not utilised for management purposes given that tax estimates are based on financial year revenue yields and not on yields by year of assessment.

The incorrect split in the original table arose due to the way adjustments are recorded. The flagging of entries other than adjustment entries can be easily identified. However adjustments (e.g. transfer of amounts paid from one year of assessment to another) have in the past been incorrectly allocated when extracting the data for the purposes of the analysis required by the hon Member. The problem has now been identified and should not present difficulties in the future.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2488 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

So in fact the answer is that both answers were wrong that I got in the last House, because if it is £18.2 million now it could not have possibly been £18.4 million then.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well £18.2 million as at 30th September, is that what the hon Member was told?

HON J J BOSSANO:

No, in answer to Question No. 1863 of 2004 I was told it was £15.1 million, and then in answer to Question Nos. 1864 and 1865 which breaks up the under 20 and over 20 turnover, the small and the big companies, if one adds up each component of those the total of all those companies should come to the same answer and that one comes to £18.401 million. So if in fact it was not £15 million on 30th September it could not have possibly been £18.401 million either, otherwise the amount collected would have gone down since 30th September. So it must mean that both those answers were wrong.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Well, the accurate information is the one provided in the schedule which I have handed over. That is Question No. 1863, the one that was wrong. The schedule handed over is the replacement schedule to that answer. The hon Member will also see there in the bottom of the schedule a small explanation as to how the figures are extracted. In fact, I am told that this information is extracted only for the purposes of answering his questions.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I am glad I have been of assistance to the Government in the analysis of their financial statistics.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No one apparently feels the need to analyse them to this sort of extent.

ORAL

NO. 2493 OF 2004

THE HON J J BOSSANO

INCOME TAX – CORPORATION TAX

What was the amount of Company Tax collected in each month since March 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

The information the hon Member requests is set out in a schedule that I hand to him.

Answer to Question No. 2492 of 2004

The PAYE tax (net of refunds) collected in the months of March 2004 to November 2004 is detailed hereunder. Also included are corrected figures for the months of December 2003 to February 2004 given that the figures provided in reply to Question No. 1420 of 2004 included other taxes in addition to PAYE tax and were therefore incorrect.

|                | £m  |
|----------------|-----|
| December 2003  | 4.5 |
| January 2004   | 6.1 |
| February 2004  | 4.9 |
| March 2004     | 6.3 |
| April 2004     | 4.8 |
| May 2004       | 4.6 |
| June 2004      | 4.6 |
| July 2004      | 7.1 |
| August 2004    | 5.0 |
| September 2004 | 5.1 |
| October 2004   | 5.0 |
| November 2004  | 4.9 |

Answer to Question No. 2493 of 2004

The Corporation Tax collected (net of refunds) in each month since March 2004 is:

|                | £m  |
|----------------|-----|
| April 2004     | 3.6 |
| May 2004       | 0.9 |
| June 2004      | 2.3 |
| July 2004      | 1.2 |
| August 2004    | 0.2 |

GIBRALTAR PROVIDENT TRUST (NO 2) PENSION SCHEME

Have any additional employers joined the Gibraltar Provident Trust (No. 2) Pension Scheme since 1st April 2004?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

Answer to Question 2494 of 2004

The employer under Government Contracts that contributed to the Gibraltar Provident Trust (No 2) Pension Scheme in the financial year 2003/2004 was the Government of Gibraltar.

Answer to Question 2495 of 2004

Twenty two employees of the Gibraltar Bus Company Ltd have joined the Gibraltar Provident Trust (No 2) Pension Scheme since April 2004.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NOS. 2494 AND 2495 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Are the Government saying that they had an employee who was a Government employee covered by that Scheme?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes, a contract officer.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I see. I assumed that all the contract officers were in fact covered by this system that they get a gratuity at the end of three years and then they are not pensionable.

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

This particular individual started life as a GDC employee on contract, on fixed contract. He continued on fixed contract but under the Government rather than the GDC, basically because he came to work in my office, and therefore remains on contract under the Scheme and has ceased to be under the Scheme by virtue of the GDC and is now under the Scheme by virtue of Government. In other words, his employer has changed, he remains on contract terms.

HON J J BOSSANO:

So he was in fact in the Scheme previously under GDC?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

Yes.

THE HON J J BOSSANO

OCCUPATIONAL PENSIONS

Is it Government policy to require Government contractors to provide for an Occupational Pension for their employees?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

It is Government policy to encourage employers to establish occupational pension schemes for all their employees. However, the Government have not made this an official condition of tender award.

SUPPLEMENTARY TO QUESTION NO. 2496 OF 2004

HON J J BOSSANO:

Is it something the Government take into account in evaluating the tenders? I think at one stage the Government indicated that it would take into account the level of local employment provided but not as the only factor. Is this something that is also taken into account or not?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

The hon Member knows, because we have had occasion to talk about it on several occasions, that the Government attach considerable importance to the higher incidence of occupational tenders in the private sector. The Federation of Small Businesses launched a particular scheme which has not had a huge take up. We have opened the Gibraltar Provident (No 2) Scheme to the private sector, it has not had a huge take up. The Trade Union movement who share the Government's view that this is something that should be tackled, say that they are going to make this an issue in their negotiations in the future. The Government are biding their time, we intend to escalate the degree of pressure that we bring to bear to bring about higher incidence of pensions coverage in the private sector from doing nothing to making them compulsory by statute, there is a range of things that one could do. One of the steps that one could take somewhere along that road is to make it compulsory for award of a Government tender. It has not yet reached that stage, the Government have not yet made that decision but I can envisage that the day will come when the Government might well make that a condition for the award of a tender.

HON J J BOSSANO:

I seem to recollect that in fact when the Gibraltar Federation of Small Businesses launched their presentation of their scheme, that there were indications that in fact they were doing this in anticipation of having to move in that direction in any case because of EEC requirements. Is there any indication of that being in the pipeline?

HON CHIEF MINISTER:

No, it is actually a hugely controversial issue in the EU. There is enormous resistance from private business in the EU from some Member States to the concept of compulsory occupational pension schemes. My own personal view is, I do not know whether Gibraltar will be at the forefront or in the rear of this, but I think it is inevitable. I think that the level of state old age pension provision across Europe is not at levels that can be funded at levels of benefits which provide a decent income stream for people of retirement age who to boot are living longer than they used to. My own personal view is that it is inevitable at some stage that there will be compulsory pension schemes in the private sector, just as there is now compulsory contribution to the social security. When that will emerge and whether it will emerge here before in Europe is moot, but in terms of strategic social engineering I think it is inevitable myself. The pressures building up are simply too big.

INCOME TAX – CORPORATION TAX

Can Government explain what is the multiplier used to gross up Corporation Tax for the purpose of calculating GDP and what is the source of the net figure prior to grossing up?

ANSWER

THE HON THE CHIEF MINISTER

For the period 1996/1997 to 1999/2000, the level of corporation tax billed in each of those years was grossed up by 28 per cent. From 2000/2001 to date, following the introduction of the 25 per cent tax rate, the grossing up rate was changed to 22 per cent. The source of the net figure is the total amount of corporation tax billed in the year as supplied by the Income Tax Office. So that is corporate tax billed.
