340 $300-odd when the pound was worth $1.45.

So Brexit underlies everything, even for a country that already has an agreement with the European Union. We are still without a post-Brexit deal, six years after the referendum. We have been warning about lost opportunities for some time. Now, not only have there been lost opportunities but missed boats.

345 The New Year's Eve Agreement was a flimsy, eight-page, non-binding document of some form of Neville Chamberlain type triumph. Mr Azopardi says that the agreement that has actually kept the Frontier flowing ... I fully get the problem with blue ID card holders, but not just blue ID card holders – he only mentions blue ID card holders because they are the only ones who vote, they are the only ones he cares about – also green ID card holders and magenta ID card holders. We care about all of them: red ID card holders, blue ID card holders, magenta ID card holders and 350 green ID card holders, whether they vote or do not vote, because we take responsibility for everyone. He only cares about the blue because they are the only ones he is trying to carry the vote of. I get the problem with them and we are trying to fix it as soon as we can, and I get the problem with health – of course they are trying to put us under pressure, it is a negotiation; of course we get it – but to say that the deal that has kept the Frontier flowing ...
355

My God, Mr Speaker, I am looking at him and he is squirming already. Of course he is squirming already. He knows that his point was just atrocious. To compare that with the Munich Agreement that did not keep Hitler in Germany ... It is absolutely impossible to take seriously the things that the hon. Gentleman was saying. This is a man who told us that we needed to be like Northern 360 Ireland, except now he does not want to be reminded or remind anyone that he thought we should have done a Northern Ireland style deal. This is a man who said that the solution for Gibraltar's Brexit problem was to give control of Gibraltar's external relations to the President of the European Commission, with the United Kingdom out of the EU and Spain sitting at the top 365 table in the European Council. The New Year's Eve Agreement is no Munich Agreement, I am no Neville Chamberlain, but he needs to start thinking things through before he says them.

He said that instead of landing permanent rights for our citizens we gave away MoUs that were in-roads to our economic and social affairs; we accepted a permanent Tax Treaty that classed some Gibraltarians and some of our companies as Spanish tax resident, even when they lived here and did not do business in Spain. He is the hawk now and Joe Bossano is the dove. That is what he is saying, that we present MoUs to the Cabinet which we have negotiated and every step of the way is put to the Cabinet and every step of the negotiation is brought back ad referendum to Cabinet, that we present a Tax Treaty to the Cabinet – Joe Bossano in the Cabinet. Joe Bossano comes here, in this place and goes on television and says, 'Of course I accept them,' explains why he accepts them – and Joe Bossano has become a dove and Keith Azopardi is now the hawk. Even with COVID, Joe Bossano is no dove. Good luck to COVID: only one person is going to win that battle and it is going to be Joe Bossano, for sure. He is absolutely no hawk.

375 He is the man who, in a footnote to his treatise on sovereignty and the stateless nation, says that the modern Andorra is not joint sovereignty. Well, if he is a hawk, good luck to us. He is leading the party that said that perhaps one day they would recommend a modern Andorra solution to the Gibraltarians in a referendum. They are the hawks – hawks with no claws.

380 Nobody is going to be tougher than the GSLP Liberals on the fundamentals, nobody. We are negotiating with a European Union, that has no sovereignty claim on Gibraltar, a deal about mobility of persons and mobility of goods, so anybody who thinks that if the GSD were in government they would be driving a harder bargain really has not understood the modern political history of Gibraltar and who represents what. The underlying aspect of his theory is that you can negotiate more quickly and still defend more strongly the things that you care about, and do a deal sooner with more benefits and less risk and few problems. Well, this is a very tough deal to negotiate but the TCA has very little that would have benefitted Gibraltar. The TCA is about stopping fluidity of persons and stopping fluidity of goods. It is about creating barriers where there were none. We are negotiating the opposite.

390 When the hon. Gentleman says that we are on our own now and the UK has done its deal, which political reality does he need me to explain to him? We were on our own from the morning of 24th June 2016. We work on our own, in partnership with Britain, because our aims and objectives are different than the aims and objectives that the United Kingdom had for the United Kingdom in respect of a future relationship with the European Union, and it is being negotiated at a different pace. Of course it is being negotiated at a different pace – why? Because the European Commission refused to engage with the United Kingdom, at the suit of Spain, if the United Kingdom purported to include Gibraltar in its deal. If we had forced that, what does he think would have happened? That the United Kingdom would have crashed out of the European Union without a deal because it did not include Gibraltar? Can he get up and, shorn of rhetoric and telling the people the God's honest bare truth, tell them that he would have insisted that the United Kingdom not negotiate its TCA with the European Union unless Gibraltar was included, knowing and guaranteeing to the people of Gibraltar that the United Kingdom would stand by him and that the 60-plus million people of the United Kingdom and all its businesses would have crashed out of the European Union without any deal if the European Union did not agree to include Gibraltar, against Spain's whims? Is that the politics that he defends to the people of Gibraltar? I think the people of Gibraltar deserve to be treated like adults and to understand the truth shorn or rhetoric, know who we are and understand how we use our size to our advantage and not allow it to be what defeats us. But in that context, putting an economy the size of Gibraltar as the pivot between the European Union and the United Kingdom in that negotiation we would have been crushed in an instant.

400 So, blue ID card holders, who vote, green ID card holders, who do not vote, magenta ID card holders, who do not vote, and red ID card holders, whom we are beholden to, all of them matter to us, all of them are the people we will negotiate for. Every day, we spend hours on the issue of the non-red ID card holders, every day we are working to resolve the issues, but we do not want to resolve them short term, we want to resolve them long term. That is the game we are in, the long-term solution of this issue for people and businesses in Gibraltar.

It is just not true that we have given away any rights in the Tax Treaty. It is not true. Joe Bossano would not have voted for a Tax Treaty that gave away rights. Albert Isola would not have voted 420 for a Tax Treaty that gave away rights. None of the people sitting on these benches would have voted for a treaty that gave away rights, but it was not just our views that mattered. We got a legal opinion from Sir Peter Caruana on the subject. So, frankly, let's be clear: were there, legally, any concessions in that Tax Treaty? No, there were not, we were told in that legal opinion. So who is going to be the arbiter or the best guide for the people of Gibraltar on whether or not we made 425 concessions? Is it going to be a man who was Deputy Chief Minister for four years, a Minister for four years and left that party to form another party, then came back to lead this party, having started in our party – consistency zero? Or is it going to be the people sitting in this Cabinet, former Chief Minister Joe Bossano – who has not been known to be soft on anything, including his Cabinet colleagues, as we all know – and the former Chief Minister and one of Gibraltar's best established 430 leading Counsel? I do not think that Mr Azopardi stands the proverbial snowball's chance in hell up against that opposition. When the time comes to do the analysis, however much he wants to ignite the rhetoric, however much he wants to scare people ... Scaring and fearmongering has been a big theme of theirs, for the past year in particular, in this debate. However much he tries to do that ... Of course there will be some who believe him and they will clothe him in nice social 435 media posts which he will enjoy and revel in, but not the majority, not the right-thinking majority.

When you think of Mr Azopardi wanting to give away the external relations of Gibraltar to the President of the European Commission and you think of his view that modern Andorra is not joint sovereignty, or indeed you shift across and go back to the former leader of the GSD, who, when he was leader of the GSD, although he was holidaying in France when we were creating the 440 artificial reef, told us that he was coming back ... He swapped his car for a white charger to bring him down the Iberian peninsula to help me deal with the new reef issues, and his help, as he told Radio Gibraltar, was that he would remove the reef, if he thought that would help. So the removal of 'reefy', which was Mr Feetham's highlight in external relations, or 'Andorra is not joint sovereignty, let's resolve Brexit by giving our external relations to the President of the European 445 Commission'. Those two – Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum – or Garcia, the Cabinet, Licudi, Bossano, Caruana and Michael Llamas? Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum, or that team? I think people will not give Tweedle Dee and Tweedle Dum much of a snowball's chance in hell.

Indeed, look at what happened here. Mr Azopardi did not reply on the Budget in terms of public finance. He said the public finance points would be picked up by Mr Clinton, who is the shadow 450 Minister for Public Finance, and then he had to have the sweeper for the Opposition pick up the other points at the end. So what did he do? He got up for an electioneering speech and said that of course they wanted a safe and secure treaty for Gibraltar.

Let's start to prepare the public for what is about to happen. If we come back with the safest and most secure treaty for Gibraltar, they will look for any aspect of it for which they can pretend 455 to have a light ... big up, exploit and use to scare people, to reject us and the treaty – us and the treaty, because that is really the point – pretending that they can do better, and say that they will go back to renegotiate and they will do better, and this is terrible, it is has taken six years, and whatever they come back with ... He has written his speech for the day after we show him the treaty already. It is clear: 'We all want a safe and secure treaty for Gibraltar, but whatever you 460 come back with, we will clobber it.' Of course they will clobber it; that is what they are ready to do. They are not going to give it any chance.

All they care about is reaching the chair at No. 6 Convent Place. That is why they are already misrepresenting the MoUs. That is why they are already misrepresenting the Tax Treaty. Well, I can only tell him one thing: he made all the misrepresentations of the MoUs and all the 465 misrepresentations of the Tax Treaty before a General Election, and when people analysed it and considered it he led the GSD to one of its lowest showings in its history. That is what he achieved by failing to put Gibraltar first, trying to interpose his own party-political benefit and trying to pull the wool over people's eyes. The people out there will not have the wool pulled over their eyes. They will look at things themselves, they will make a determination for themselves in the round and they will not be ignited – except, of course, for a few hotheads and fools – by the flames of the hon. Member opposite.

The hon. Gentleman then went on by thanking healthcare workers. I suppose it sounded good. We have just dealt with COVID and he wanted to get up here to thank healthcare workers, but it was rank hypocrisy because in the next sentence he was condemning and attacking me for spending in the GHA. So he thanks the healthcare workers and the next thing he says is 'It is terrible that you have spent so much on the healthcare workers'. So, not only did he get his question of debt wrong, and overall debt and debt on the arrival of the pandemic wrong, he also has no logic about what he was saying.

He said that Government debt in 2011-12 was £480 million. (Interjection) That is what he said, but, Mr Speaker, you were ... I was talking about the financial year, but when we took over ... Can't he remember the leaders' debate we were in together in 2011, where Peter Caruana during the course of the debate said that the debt had exceeded £500 million? In fact, it was £520 million when we took over, and that was just direct debt. Company debt was not £20 million, as Mr Feetham suggests. I know that everything I say will be water off a duck's back for him, because he does not care. That is the sort of shame: whatever you say, I do not care. The facts do not matter. The facts and what the Chief Minister says are water off a duck's back. Has he forgotten the car parks? Indeed, has he forgotten the views he espoused about the Hospital – not in a company, but also, according to him, a debt? He is the one who made the argument that the PFI was a £110 million debt – £109.1 million. He says it is a debt, so how can he get the idea that debt was only £500 million? Just on that reckoning you are closer to £650 million, if you are doing the exercise the way they say they want to do it. I have done this exercise before, I am not going to do it again. I refer hon. Members to the Hansards of my earlier speeches dealing with the nonsense they raised about company debt, where I detailed all the company debt under them.

So there is no question of debt, by any measure of calculation, having been tripled before the COVID pandemic. Let's be clear. What they want to do – the exercise they are trying to do – is to scare people into thinking that our debt is unmanageable. That is the scare: 'The Government has raised the debt, the debt is unmanageable and that is why you have to replace him and put us there instead of him.' But it is not an unmanageable debt and it does not arise or get close to being unmanageable as a result of anything that we have done. Indeed, part of what we have the benefit of today, which we negotiated – the people they want to get rid of – is something they never were able to achieve, which is a sovereign guarantee from the United Kingdom for our borrowing, which brings our interest rate down on all our borrowing under that guarantee.

'But let's be clear,' he said, 'what happened next and over the last financial year has been absolutely staggering, a total overspend of £90 million – thirty-five million of those pounds by the Departments.' That is the reason why I cannot be trusted, he said – no discipline. And of course he personifies that not in the Government, he personifies that in me. I have spent the £90 million, I have spent the £35 million. Well, the buck stops with me. I am going to explain it, but it is not my spending, let's be clear.

Maybe it is because he did not expect the Estimates Book to be made public so that everybody could see it that he pursued those arguments. He might have expected people to be focused on just what he was saying, not being able to look at the Book as an aid to hon. Members' speeches and how to interpret them and how to demonstrate who has been economical with the truth. So let's look at what you can see from the Estimates Book.

First of all, it is called an Estimates Book for a reason. It is impossible in an entity like a government to predict exactly what your costs are going to be. You can predict what salaries are, based on salary agreements, but even that is not possible to predict because if you budget for 10 people to work for you and you say, 'This is what it is going to cost,' and one of them passes away and another decides to retire early, then you are going to spend less, even on the salaries you have calculated. You are going to have a capital expenditure if you pay the 12 times salary for the 520 death in service, so it has to be an estimate because the organisation is that large. So nothing is set in stone in the Book; it has to be an estimate. Things can happen and that is why it is an estimate, so my job as Finance Minister is to set direction for the estimate. I would like to see any of the heads of charge when they were in charge that came in exactly as predicted. Of course they do not; it is in the nature of an estimate that they cannot come in exactly as predicted. There are 525 some heads where you hold people to an amount, where the spending is for a purpose and you do not agree to more spending because it is not demand led, it is not something which you agree should be spent, but that cannot happen in areas like Health and the generation of electricity unless you are prepared to stop giving people the care or putting the fuel into the engines. But he does not get that. He says:

It is like someone who ran a kilometre two minutes slower than expected now saying that he will run it three minutes faster than his personal best time.

530 Well, no, I am somebody who, between January, February and March 2021, predicted with a team how we thought the spending could go, based on the information we had then, and in March, a year later, sees the result of that, based on the decisions we have taken throughout the year. What you have to analyse are the decisions taken throughout the year and whether they were the right decisions or not. It is a marathon, it is not a one-kilometre sprint.

535 What they have to make their minds up on is whether the accusation they are levelling at me is that we are providing too much – with the lavishness and the extravagance, are we giving too much? – or are we not restraining enough? But then, at the same time, they tell us we are not giving enough to the healthcare workers etc., or to the culture community, who want a theatre.

I said in my speech that the estimate of £552.8 million is ambitious for this year, but I also said 540 that it is important to set direction. Even though it is £16.5 million down on the forecast outturn for the year, we are setting direction for this year because we are trying to rebalance the books, we are trying to get back to financial discipline. When we do that, they say, 'Ah, you see, they are going to cut.' If we do not do it, they say, 'Ah, you see, they are not prepared to cut.' We just cannot win. I am setting a direction for controlled expenditure but now he is criticising me for 545 being unrealistic.

The reason we are trying to go back to 2019-20 is because that is the first pre-pandemic year we have. It is the best pre-pandemic year. It is where our GDP has come back to. If we miss our targets, it will not be for want of trying, but we are trying to set direction so that costs are controlled. That is my job as Minister for Finance. I have to be ambitious in curtailing costs in areas 550 which are not areas where we need to spend, not allow things to escalate in terms of spending, or else I will be accused of not controlling costs. It has to be one or the other. They have to make up their minds.

They do have to understand, because there is another Estimates debate to be had, and I do hope that they will learn from this Estimates debate and come back to provide better analysis for 555 the taxpayer next year. When you produce an estimate it will likely be exceeded or not met in many of the larger budgeting areas. What would happen if I came back with a Budget that did not seek to provide the control – the thing of which he accuses me, which is of trying to run the kilometre even quicker than I did last year? He would be saying that I was not being ambitious enough in the control that I was trying to provide for.

560 In my main speech I already told them the reasons why we spent more last year. High level:
fuel for the generators that provide our electricity and our standby support. That cost has been driven up by inflation in the cost of fuel throughout the year. Yes, it has peaked now, but it has been coming. Would he have stopped that? That is what he is saying. And second, additional COVID costs for the GHA. In February and March last year we could not imagine that we were 565 going to have to continue testing for the whole of the financial year, but we did, with a lot of additional COVID cost. Would he have stopped the testing? That is the issue. When he just, in a cavalier way, says, 'You spent more than you expected to spend,' he does not want to analyse 570 what we spent it on, because if he would have stopped that spending he would not have stopped one party or one club-class flight. All of those things came within budget. In fact, there were precious few parties; I do not think there were any. What he would have stopped ... what he was telling the public was that the terrible overspend with which I should not be trusted was fuelling the generators to ensure that we had power, despite the odd power cut, and continuing the testing in the GHA. That is what, if he means it, he would have stopped.

575 We know that we wanted to stop the generators we have, but when you look at the numbers we paid £67.9 million in fuelling the cost of the generators, instead of the £55 million we had budgeted for. That is the almost £30 million difference out of the £35 million I referred to in respect of the GEA. I do not think it would have been brave or bold to stop that overspend. I think it would have been foolish to stop that overspend because then we would risk having power cuts because of failure of generation supply. Is that what he is saying he would have stopped? He does not like it, Mr Speaker, when I do the analysis, because it shows that the headlines he was 580 throwing to the wind are actually no more than ... they are not even hot air. This is, by the way – because fuel goes to the electricity bill and the amount that is paid into the GEA – in the context of an 8% increase in electricity this year and 16% last year, a total of 24%, when we found, on our arrival at No. 6 Convent Place, that they had agreed to increase the cost of electricity to everyone 585 in this community, business and residential payer, by 100%. How could the leader of the GSD have the gall to say that it is terrible that the cost of electricity has gone up in the past 10 years by 24%, when by now they would have put it up by 50%, – 5% a year for 20 years, a 100% increase? That is what they were hiding from the public. That is what the leader of the GSD was going to do if re-elected in 2011, and the leader of the GSD today has the gall to say that 8% is too much and that 590 there is an overspend in the GEA. He would have got rid of that overspend, he is right, but by not spending, because he would have put the electricity up in the past 10 years and they would be making a profit in the GEA rather than suffering a loss – and on a power station built in the Nature Reserve. Let's not forget that.

595 When people decide 'Do I have a good Government or do I not have a good Government? What is the alternative?', first of all there is no alternative. Second, the guys who said they were the alternative were going to build a power station at Jews' Gate. When you go up to Jews' Gate, instead of seeing Africa, instead of the Pillars of Hercules, you were going to see the 'Pylons of Hercules' spewing grimy, smelly diesel. That is what they were going to do. And they come here and talk to us about the environment? And they come here, when they would have put up your 600 cost 100% on your utilities, to tell us that we put it up to much? They are a political joke that has had its day. Let's be clear about that. Whether it is on the cost of utilities, whether it is on the environment or whether it is on spending, they have no arguments left. All of the arguments they run are counter to their own positions when they were in government.

605 What happened in Health? In February and March 2021 we planned for a year coming out of COVID, so we expected that by the end of the year there would be almost no COVID testing etc. We got it a little right, but of course we did not get it exactly right because something called Omicron happened. We once again saw flight cancellations, we once again saw increased testing, we saw lockdowns in different parts of the world – not in Gibraltar. How did we avoid the lockdowns? Well, we avoided the lockdowns with a lot more testing in Gibraltar.

610 We provided about a quarter of the COVID costs for tests etc. for the GHA that we had provided in the year before in the Emergency Budget of 2021, in terms of how much we knew then, by the COVID Fund etc. We provided £5.5 million for COVID etc. in the GHA, when previously it had been about £20 million, a difference of £15 million. So as the year went by, the GHA increased spending on COVID measures and decreased it as the pandemic receded. It did not recede a lot. We needed 615 to keep 111 operating until 31st March. We needed to keep testing. But they were not just doing testing in the GHA; the GHA was responsible for testing also outside the GHA. We were testing teachers, we were testing patients, we were testing nurses and we were testing passengers arriving at Gibraltar Airport. And yes, we were charging a subsidised cost, but not in every case 620 did we get our money back. And in the context of that we were operating two laboratories and providing security for those two laboratories, and we were providing security at the Airport.

625 Did we spend more than we expected to spend? Yes. Was that uncontrolled expenditure? No. When you add the different elements that I am talking about, you can see that the overspending is not uncontrolled spending on lavishness, it is not because I flew club class anywhere or anybody else flew club class anywhere, it is because of this, the real, necessary cost of keeping the fuel in the generators and funding the GHA.

This year we believe that we will be able to provide less cost to the GHA for COVID because we hope that it will now be a phenomenon that is dealt with in a different way, but look at the numbers in the United Kingdom today. Already people are saying you have to be cautious; will masks come back? That is what people are talking about.

630 Our ambitious estimates of controlling expenditure we hope will come true – and they should hope come true – but when you look at what we spent, £13 million overspend in the GEA and £15 million in the Health Authority, and he has accused us of £35 million of overspending, there it is.

635 When you are in this chair, which is the one that carries responsibility, and the chairs along here that carry departmental responsibility – responsibility for the Electricity Authority is with Minister Isola; responsibility for the GHA was with Minister Sacramento throughout the period – what would they have done? Would they have stopped the generators? Would they have stopped the testing? That is how you would have controlled the £35 million overspend, even if you had not gone to see the Pope, even if you had not gone to market Gibraltar, even if you had not done all 640 of the other business-as-usual things that you needed to do and had budget to do and came in or below budget for doing. What would he have done? These are the big-ticket items. These are the £35 million overspend that he talks about – not overspent on luxuries or frivolities, on lavishness or anything extravagant; spent on these things which were necessary. What would he have done?

I put it to him that either he would have acted exactly as we did and would have overspent by 645 £35 million or he would have vacillated, hesitated and been the proverbial rabbit stuck in headlights. If he had insisted on getting his Budget right, if he had said, 'Well, no, look, I'm afraid doctors, I'm afraid technicians at the GEA ... I'm afraid that because I don't want to be embarrassed by an overspend at the next Budget session – which matters to me more than the proper administration of this community and the safety of our patients, our children in schools, our 650 teachers and our doctors – because not being embarrassed by Fabian at the Budget debate matters more to me than keeping the generators running, stop the fuel, stop the testing, undo the COVID measures in the GHA, close the laboratories. I want to save that £35 million.' Is that what we would have seen in an Azopardi administration? That would have been bad government. Or perhaps, because he is going to emaciate himself by appointing a Minister for Public Finance 655 who will carry the purse strings, even if he had wanted to fuel the generators and keep the COVID testing, his chancellor, his Minister for Public Finance, would have said, 'No, because I do not want to be embarrassed by Joe Bossano in the Budget debate by overspending by £35 million. I do not care what happens to our people, I do not care whether they are tested, I do not care whether they have power; the numbers will come in according to the Book. The estimate will be set in 660 stone. It will no longer be an estimate, it will be a definite figure.'

That is the nonsense that they have suggested, that we should have cut off the generators and stopped all our GHA testing. Well, when you look at the issue with relief cover in the GHA, for 665 example – when you are in the middle of a pandemic, more people get ill and you have to cover for more people. That is why you have more relief cover. If you cannot get professionals from the United Kingdom or elsewhere, you have to pay the relief cover. We have to ensure that the posts are covered, in particular in a pandemic, even though the GHA then is not able to sometimes use those people because they cannot get the patients in front of the doctors to treat them. That is the reality.

670 Of course, it is difficult, if not impossible, to allocate costs in the middle of a pandemic, so last year we also had the costs of the year before, where we were receiving bills after 31st March 2021 in respect of spending before 31st March 2021, because in that period not everybody was invoicing as we would expect them to invoice etc.

675 He complains about recruitment expenses being £2 million instead of £900,000. What would he have done – stopped recruitment? This year there is a forecast outturn in the COVID Fund of £831,000. That is why it is there. Would he have stopped recruiting for our essential services?

680 He complains that we spent £270,000 on security services. Would he have left the labs and the testing areas shorn of security if something went wrong? Sometimes things went wrong and people got loud and had to be dealt with. So he would have left our health professionals without security but he would have brought it in in budget? And he complains about this £270,000 protecting the people who were providing that essential service. That is what he is doing. He is complaining that we spent £270,000 protecting the people who were providing the essential service. Mr Phillips tells us that morale is low in the GHA. I am not surprised. Morale must be low, seeing an Opposition that is telling us that we spent too much protecting our GHA professionals, that we spent too much giving them the tools they needed in the COVID period. Well, I believe in 685 protecting our people when they are carrying out essential roles. I believed we needed extra security at the vaccination centres. I was advised that we needed it and I approved the spending, even though it was in excess of the estimate. Is that an excess which relates, as he wants people to believe ...?

690 ‘They spent on lavish parties and travelling club class.’ The amount that they actually complained as overspent is not on any party, on any club-class travel, on any lavish project or any extravagant project. No, it is on protecting our GHA staff, on fuelling the generators, on providing the testing kits.

695 He complains about spending £750,000 more on the disposal of refuse. Where was he when we had the issue that we could not take our waste to Los Barrios? Where was he when we were in the middle of a pandemic and we sometimes had to replace people because they got ill and we had to pay overtime? Where was he when all these things were happening? It is all very well to complain, but what would he have done – sat on the waste? Is that his solution? He would not have paid more, and when the price was elevated, not just for us but for all who dump in that area, what would he have done? Said he would not pay the increase because it was going to 700 embarrass him when the time comes to have the Budget debate? Of course he would have paid. That is the rank hypocrisy of the approach they have taken. Of course he would have paid, or we would have ended up eating the waste in Gibraltar, or spending it in another way, sending it by boat to another country where the international conventions allow us to send it.

705 This is not about government in a bar, this is not sitting around with a few friends having a coffee and saying por qué no lo mandas a Marruecos; why didn't they send it to Morocco; why isn't it cheaper to ...? This is rank nonsense. The international conventions do not allow you to do things like that. That is why the overspend is there. Emergencies occur, we have to deal with them – that is why it is an estimate – and the idea that we have to be kept within the estimate 100% or otherwise it is mismanagement fails to understand the nature of government, which most of them
710 have no clue about but he was Deputy Chief Minister. The other one was Minister for Finance but was not allowed anywhere near the purse strings most of the time, but he was Deputy Chief Minister – unless he was just Deputy Chief Minister in name and nothing else and he knew nothing about the operation of these things. Of course we have to plan for Brexit contingencies and we have to spend on that; he would say we were irresponsible if we had not done so.

715 And then he tries to land a punch when he says:

To put it in sharper context, the Government is cutting the GHA's sponsored patient budget by £4.75 million this year, or over 30%, but intends to spend 50% more by way of the Chief Minister's entertainment budget than last year. The priorities are all wrong.

What does that seek to convey? It is pernicious in the worst possible way. What the Leader of the Opposition is saying is that I would sit in my office and say, 'Give me some of that money we use 720 to save people's lives sending them to the UK. I'm going to use it to have a party instead. Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha!' That is what he is saying. It is rank nonsense, Mr Speaker – I am sorry to have to subject you to it, but that is what he is saying. The Leader of the Opposition suggests that any Gibraltarian in charge of this community would actually bring a Book to this House to deprive people who need healthcare of 30% of the moneys required and up the amount for celebration, champagne and canapés. That is what he is trying to sell. Nonsense! There are better words not parliamentary language to describe what he is purporting to say, and they relate to the excreta of the male cow.

725 Let's deal with this question of the increase in the entertainment budget. This is on page 23 of the Estimates that people can look at, under Protocol and Entertainment. That is not money to spend on parties, as the hon. Member likes to pretend. This is not about parties. This is about hosting individuals who come to Gibraltar, where we have to host them for a reason – a senior Minister, anybody who would come ... for example, a royal visit – all of the cost of that protocol and entertainment. What would he do? He would not entertain those people? He would not give them a meal? He would not treat them to a tour of Gibraltar, where we might tell them what is going on around Gibraltar?

735 He says, 'He is reducing the sponsored patients by 30% and increasing the entertainment budget by 50%.' Very easy numbers to work with. Well, last year we spent £80,000 on protocol and entertainment; this year, £120,000. It is not 50%, but it is about that. But last year there were severe restrictions on people being able to come to Gibraltar. There were times when there were no flights. There were times when, even though there were flights, people had to wear masks and get COVID certificates etc. and people were not flying. There were times when there were few flights. This year we expect more people will come. When those people come, do we completely ignore them? Do we not entertain them? Or do we put £80,000 and then overspend if more people come? And then the accusation will be, 'You've overspent on entertainment and parties'? Of course not. We estimate. But the estimate we are giving is less than in 2018-19 and 2019-20. In 2018-19 and 2019-20 it was £150,000; now it is £120,000. In 2015-16 it was £250,000. Why? Because we knew, that year, that we were going to receive a Prime Minister in Gibraltar and we were going to receive a Foreign Secretary in Gibraltar, and that requires additional cost and protocol. In fact, those visits did not go as we expected them to go, but we had other visitors on the back of the referendum etc. So rather than largesse, might he want to reconsider and realise that actually we are cutting back from £150,000 to £120,000?

750 What was the cost, when they were in government, of protocol and entertainment? Just scratching the surface, I can tell hon. Members that 14 financial years ago, when they were in government, they were spending £110,000 on protocol and entertainment. Adjust that for inflation: £148,000 is what they were spending. Unless you do that full analysis, there is no better way to describe what the hon. Gentleman tried to do than being economical with the truth, because he has not done the analysis of going back to see what they used to spend – indeed, what we used to spend before the pandemic – and see that we are still spending less.

760 He completely waved goodbye to the truth when he got up to give his speech. He completely ignored the truth when it stared him in the face and he sat down to write the speech that he then delivered. I know these are tough times, that tax is going up and utilities are going up. I am not flavour of the month – I am not flavour of the month at home, let alone anywhere else – but I trust the Gibraltarians. I know they will see through the yarns he tried to spin them, and the figures I am giving are the sorts of figures that will enable them to see that. Of course I am the one raising taxes for a short, defined period – never a popular measure – but when it comes to who to trust or distrust and they look at the counter analysis I am having to do, they will see that their numbers and their spin are not to be trusted.

765 Look at the sponsored patients budget. The hon. Gentleman has said we are cutting this by £4.5 million, down by 30%. Well, we are spending much more on sponsored patients than they ever spent, but does he want us to control expenditure or doesn't he want us to control expenditure? And does he not know that we are changing the way we do things with the United Kingdom on sponsored patients so that the cost of sponsored patients is likely to be lower – not

770 because we are going to make the cake spread more thinly across those who need the help but because we are going to do more in Gibraltar? Hon. Members are the first to come out and say the Government needs to move more quickly on providing the cardiology service in Gibraltar, the Government needs to move more quickly in providing the urology service in Gibraltar, the Government needs to move more quickly in repatriating the service: 'The charity is right, the 775 Government is wrong. This person who has come out saying something is right, the Government is wrong. You must be doing this more quickly.' When we do it, and we therefore have fewer people to send to the United Kingdom, should we not also cut the sponsored patients budget?
We are not going to pay sponsored patient sums to people who are treated at St Bernard's Hospital. It does not make any sense.

780 Of course, none of what we said about repatriation etc. is going to be helpful to the hon.
Gentleman in making the analysis he wants to make, because he wants to talk about the cutting of the sponsored patients budget even without doing the analysis, and actually it is likely to be fewer sponsored patients because of the repatriated service. But if there are more, we will spend more. We will overspend the budget on sponsored patients if we need to pay sponsored patients 785 more sums for them to support themselves, because it is a demand-led head. So, when you cut it, there is no risk to any sponsored patient that they will not have the money they need if we reach the maximum allocated amount because demand requires it. He should know that – he was Minister for Health, or didn't they let him anywhere near the accounts when he was Minister for Health? I would not be surprised.

790 Anyway, Mr Speaker, I made those points because I think it is fundamentally important. The hon. Gentleman said that the whole issue was an issue of trust and I could not be trusted because I had failed to control the expenditure by £35 million in the Departments. I have to make the point that actually he would have done the same thing and allowed that overspend of £35 million, which I have just analysed for him, or he would have been doing a very great disservice to the whole of 795 our community and the GHA in particular. Of course, he talked about £90 million, not just £35 million. The £35 million was departmental overspend. What about the £90 million in total?
When you take out the £35 million, you are left with £60 million, which is the forgone revenue, which has to come in from the fund. Well, £30 million of that is the amount I told them is the forgone revenue on Import Duty without tobacco, and then there is another amount which, of 800 course, relates to revenue from excise duties, which includes dutiable items like tobacco and alcohol etc.

I want to do an aside here, because sometimes in our community people feel holier than thou and I just want to remind people that in The Wealth of Nations, which is a treatise on economics which is now centuries old but is still considered to be the classical text, Adam Smith said this:

Tobacco might be cultivated with advantage through the greater part of Europe; but, in almost every part of Europe, it has become a principal subject of taxation.

805 That is a direct quote. So there is, therefore, no shame for this community in the legitimate duties we get from tobacco.

But coming back to the hon. Gentleman, I do not know what he has been smoking in order to come up with the speech he came up with, but certainly, having done the analysis that demonstrates to him that of the £90 million, £35 million – which is the overspend – relates to the 810 fuel and the GHA, £30 million relates to duties not from tobacco and the excess relates to other such costs, I hope he is clearer now. I hope he understands that there is absolutely no mismanagement on the part of the Government and no failure on the part of the Government to control costs in this biggest crisis in world public health in a century.

815 Mr Speaker, when he then descended into referring to my visit to His Holiness the Pope in the Vatican, I thought it was in very bad taste. I do not believe that I have to seek financial forgiveness and confess economic sins. Neither would a pope be interested in hearing about Gibraltar's public finances, I am sure. And no, I was not seeking divine inspiration, as he said, to illuminate my financial path or request an economic miracle, which is what he says is what we need now. I thought it was in very bad taste. I wonder, though, whether his bad taste and less-than-amusing 820 sense of humour was on display in the Cabinet in 1998 when the former Chief Minister went to see St Pope John Paul II and whether he asked him whether he had gone to seek forgiveness for anything, or whether he dared to ask Sir Peter – Peter Caruana, as he then was – whether he had travelled club class. In fact, the two press releases that were issued by the GSD Government at the time when Sir Peter went to see His Holiness St John Paul II and then His Holiness Ratzinger, 825 one of which related to a Government which he was in, said that it was a great privilege for Sir Peter and a great honour for Gibraltar that the Chief Minister was being received by His Holiness the Pope. What is the difference? Is it not an honour for Gibraltar that the current Chief Minister should be received by His Holiness the Pope?

As Sir Joe Bossano says in his excellent Budget contribution, which I hope all hon. Members have read – I am sure Mr Clinton has read it; I am not sure all the others have – and which I hope we will have an opportunity to hear Sir Joe, viva voce, very soon deliver with that usual gusto and the asides that make him so excellent an orator ... As Sir Joe says, what they do in government is what they condemn us for doing in government. What they do is right when they do it; when we do the same thing, it is wrong. It is that simple and the public need to know, because what the 835 public need to realise is that every time this lot get up and say that we are doing something that is terrible, they have done it before and probably twice over. That is the reality.

Did he complain, Mr Speaker? I am genuinely interested to know. Did he jibe at Peter Caruana when he sat round the Cabinet table after he came back from seeing the Pope? Did he say, 'Did you go and ask for a miracle, mate?' Oh, no, hang on, Mr Speaker, I forgot: they did not have a 840 Cabinet table, theirs was not a collegiate Government. But we do have a Cabinet table. We do things in a different way, we do them in the right way, and people will understand that, as they have in the last decade, even though at the moment we are doing things which might be unpopular. But they will also understand the rank hypocrisy that characterises everything that hon. Members say and do.

What I am detecting is that their discourse is not even led by them. Pick up a couple of statements on social media and 45 minutes later you have got yourself – hey, bingo! – a GSD press release. Sometimes I do fear that they fall into the trap of dog-whistle politics, but a lot of the time it seems to me that Facebook is their dog whistle and they react to that. They come to politics without ideology, without argument. They come with clear ambitions to take our jobs and a box 850 of matches to ignite dissent and opposition wherever it may be. They are not leaders; this is a team of followers.

We respected the visit of the former Chief Minister, when he was leader of the GSD, to the head of state of the Vatican as a head of government. Sir Peter's religion is no secret, but his visit was not a religious visit; it was a political visit from one head of government to another head of state, and in our case it was also a visit from a head of government elected by the people of 855 Gibraltar to a head of state elected by a college of cardinals.

The difference, of course, is that the hon. Gentleman's references to that visit – which I have just referred the House to, to remind people – were dripping in malice. That is the reality, and everybody can see that: dripping in malice, like his references to TNG and the Eastside project and the Bayside project. He said:
860

This is a cash-strapped Government that is not only selling the family silver and looking for benefactors for its financial mistakes ...

Selling the family silver? When we were elected, they had sold the Eastside plot to an entity. They talk about a mortgage, I talk about an investment. They had sold 150 post-war flats. That is selling 865 the family silver. We bought back the Eastside plot (Interjection) – which the hon. Gentleman says, from a sedentary position, we should not have done. Okay, well, we bought it back for £28 million and have sold it for £90 million, so I think we did a good deal. They had kept it without development for more than a decade, so I think we have done exactly the right thing.

870 But I can sense their frustration. I get it. I know they have a problem. Mr Clinton, Mr Feetham and Mr Azopardi have a problem. We may have done a very good deal for Gibraltar. The plot may be about to start taking off into development. One of the plots, the Bayside plot, is already in development, in the sense that the two schools that we get in exchange for it are starting to go up, the Earl and Countess of Wessex inaugurated the Wessex Campus and the children move in next September. They have a problem. They were planning an election with those two new 875 schools not ready. Damn it, the Government is going to do it! Of course they have a problem with TNG. They have to say everything they can to try to stop TNG from completing in the Eastside plot.

Mr Speaker, whilst I am talking about the Wessex Campus – which has become a little bit of a tongue twister for me – I want to assure the people who will have their homes next door in what was the old Westside School, at Chatham Counterguard and in Bob Peliza Mews, that of course 880 we are going to build those estates and we are entirely committed to them, we are going to see the demolition start and I have set out a timetable for it. I do, once again, recognise the heartfelt petition that I have received, so I look forward to meeting with the organisers of that petition to talk to them about why the delays have arisen, which I have explained on a number of occasions – it has been impossible to sign those contracts during this difficult period – and assure them that 885 we are going to do everything possible to ensure that their homes are ready as soon as possible and that changing government is not going to do anything to help things move quickly. I have already apologised for the delays and I look forward to seeing the work start.

In relation to the Eastside, the other TNG project, the hon. Gentleman went through a list of reasons why he said we did not do things properly. Actually, we did things exactly properly and 890 we engaged with TNG to get the best for the taxpayer. In terms of breaching any tender rules – although none were broken – can I remind hon. Members that I do not like to be the one raking up the past, because people are interested in what is happening in Gibraltar today, but the past is a guide to the future. The hon. Gentleman did his first degree in history. We cannot ignore history, even his and his party's history. They are the ones who breached European tendering rules when 895 they gave one contractor, outside of tender, a £1 billion Government contract in breach of EU rules. When I asked a question in this House, the Government did not answer, and they did not answer for a very good reason: because the answer was that they had breached EU rules, as I found out when I was elected. I was right when I asked the question, and when I looked I was right in what I had asserted. So they cannot come here to accuse us of breaching tender rules – Gibraltar 900 tender rules or EU tender rules – because we have not breached them, but if they do come here to make that allegation against us, they must do so with their fingers crossed behind their backs because they were the ones who did it in a £1 billion contract.

By the way, I am pleased that Mr Clinton has said from a sedentary position that we should not have undone the Eastside sale that they did for less money, the £28 million plot, because that had 905 a marina as well. I do not expect them to come out now and say that they are against the marina on the Eastside if they did not want us to undo the contract that they had done, which had the much taller towers and the marina on the Eastside. I want to thank Mr Clinton for that very helpful political point that he made a moment ago and remind them that a marina has been on the cards on the Eastside for many years, indeed since the time of the late, great Solomon Serruya – may 910 he rest in peace – who was the Minister for Tourism who first suggested the marina on the Eastside.

A marina on the Eastside will be developed in a manner that will not affect Catalan Bay in the adverse way that some have suggested. I look forward in coming weeks and months to meeting 915 not just with the developers but also with people from Catalan Bay who have expressed those concerns whom I have not been able to meet yet. Indeed, this year it has been some months since I have been able to go down to Catalan Bay, have lunch and enjoy Catalan Bay, because of the pressures of work, but I do hope that I will be able to do so. I will add my voice to those who say no to the marina if it is going to have an adverse consequence on Catalan Bay, because we are 920 saying yes to a marina which will not have an adverse consequence on Catalan Bay, in particular in the way that some perhaps genuinely have a fear it will have.

Mr Speaker, let's be very clear. I do not think Mr Azopardi cares whether what he says or does not say about TNG affects the possibility of TNG completing or not completing on this deal which will produce £90 million in cash for the Government but will also produce huge benefits for the rest of the community, not least another hundred affordable homes, not least a small boats marina, not least a car park that will be very useful for people going to the beaches in that area, not least all of the other benefits and the economic consequences which Sir Joe equated to a doubling of the GDP over a particular period of time, 10 years. They do not care. They will risk all of that if they think they can use it somehow to bring down estimation of the Government. He will do anything, any deal with anyone, to beat the Government. He will make any allegation of anyone to beat the Government. He will do anything to fulfil his ambition. That is the Opposition that he delivers today: all out for himself, all out for themselves, none looking out for Gibraltar.

935 He says Gibraltar is in deficit because of Picardo's lavish spending and COVID is an excuse. COVID is an excuse? A hundred and four Gibraltarians dead, millions of people around the world dead, economies closed, people in hardship: COVID is an excuse? That is absolutely shameful. For a Leader of the Opposition to have been careless enough as he got carried away writing his address to write those words is absolutely disgraceful and it says more about him than it does about anyone else.

Mr Speaker, Gibraltar was in deficit before, in the past 20 years. This is not our first deficit. We were in deficit under the GSD. That was a self-inflicted deficit. It happened in his time in office. 940 The deficit related to the period 2003-04. He was in office in 2003 in the GSD. What was it that gave rise to that deficit? Was it COVID? No. Was it Brexit? No. I will tell you what it was: it was the 2003 General Election, or the run up to it. Of course, when they have a deficit, it must be entirely excusable, entirely acceptable, entirely proper – it is the proper management of our finances that Gibraltar was in deficit under the GSD. When we are in deficit after COVID and after Brexit, it is 945 because of my lavish spending and my failure of control. Calpe lives matter, Mr Speaker, as well, you know. A little bit less of the discrimination against the GSLP Liberals simply because we did not join the blue and yellow party and we joined the red and white party.

How can they sit there and say that their deficit was fine, our deficit is bad? Their deficit was exclusively about lavish spending, about extravagance, about giving people jobs, about organising things to bring people with them, and then: General Election. That was the deficit that was. I do not know why he did not stand in the 2003 General Election. I do not deal in rumours or in gossip, but the rumours and the gossip say it is because he said he wanted to take over the leadership and Caruana said, 'How's your coco.' You don't stand a chance.' Four years later he was leading another political party.

955 But the first deficit of this millennium was a GSD deficit. He was a Minister in the Government that delivered that spending which led to the deficit. There was no world financial crisis, which came in 2008. There was no pandemic, which came in 2020. There was no Brexit, which came in 2016. And he was a Member of the Government that drove us to deficit, a Member of the Government that had no discipline, that had no control on spending, that spent public money to win a General Election, to mount up the votes under a mountain of deficit debt, as Mr Feetham accused us of doing. Of course, in those days Mr Feetham was accusing them of exactly that, because he was then leading the Labour Party. Shortly after, tail between legs, he had done the complete 180 and was with those who had incurred the deficit. And what were they doing at the time the deficit was incurred? Reining in expenditure? Five point two per cent increases to the public sector each year for three years. Inflation in those years: 4%, 2%, 1%. General Election in 960 between. Come on! Tell it to the marines.

When you look at that and you look at the argument that the question is where did we arrive at this point of departure to the pandemic and you see that at the point of departure even to no pandemic, no Brexit etc. they were taking us to deficit and at the point of departure to the pandemic we were in surpluses and we were in surpluses even after the Brexit referendum, then 970 you have to realise who are the better managers of the Gibraltar economy. It is this Government that is the better manager of the Gibraltar economy because we do no lavish spending, we do no extravagance, we do proper management and controls but we spend where we have to.

975 But then the hon. Gentleman pretends to be an advocate of the golden rule that we should not spend more than we have in revenue, but actually do we do all the things we need to do in order to have an economy that produces the revenue, that can enable us to maintain the golden rule or not? Well, actually, I think we both would. When push comes to shove, he would have done all of the things that we did to bring the economy back to normality. The first sign of our success as a Government and of our strategy as a Government is not whether we are in deficit or 980 surplus, it is that the economy has come back. Just as I told you before, Mr Speaker, the bounce back means that all of the levers we pushed, all of the money we threw into the economy beat forgone revenue of import duties etc., forgone rates. That delivered that businesses came back like this, a little bit higher than 2019-20. That is what is going to take us back to the golden rule, because those businesses eventually ... They still have pandemic losses which will be in their 985 corporate accounts for the next 18-24 months, but eventually those businesses will be producing income for the taxpayer through the tax receipts that we get from them; so will their workers etc. Then our revenue, when tourists come back and they start buying stuff in our shops etc., will be back to where it needs to be, and then we can ensure that our expenditure matches below our revenue, which has always ... In my time in office our revenue has always grown more than 990 expenditure, except for the pandemic period. So we are embarked on a process to properly comply with the golden rule, which has had to be suspended in this period with Sir Joe's agreement.

Then he says in order to comply with the golden rule, what you have to do is cut costs, but he says nothing about which costs to cut – apart from club-class travel, which they say is the thing 995 we need to cut. If we cut club-class travel, we might save £20,000 a year. We would not travel to those meetings we cannot get to without traveling club. Our rule is to travel economy, but if we have to, we travel club. If we cut club-class travel and do not travel to those meetings we might save £20,000 throughout the year. Of course it is a start, but it would not be a good start if we did not attend meetings that we have to attend because we could not travel club class. That is how 1000 shallow the Hon. Mr Clinton's analysis is: if you can save £20,000, save it, even if you do not travel. If you are going to a Commonwealth Heads of Government meeting, if you are going to meet on the Brexit issues, if you are going to meet on any of those – if you are going to meet the Prime Minister – what do you do? You do not go? You say, 'Sorry, Prime Minister, easyJet don't have a flight until the day after tomorrow – I can't go today'? That is the sort of shallow analysis you get
1005 from Mr Clinton.

But if you have to cut, you have to cut millions. Where are they going to cut? They talk about cutting but they never say where. They talk about controlling costs but they never say which service they would not provide. On that, they are quieter than a prostitute. I suppose Mr Azopardi would say that he would leave all of that cutting to his chancellor. Well, his chancellor did not tell 1010 us what they would cut either. When it comes to telling us what he would cut, he is as brave as he is charismatic. That is the reality. Would he have cut the daily LFTs for teachers, nurses, care workers and doctors? Would he have cut the fuel to the power station and turned off the lights? Which costs would he have cut? Silence. 'Mudis', which is what my mother used to say I was when she caught me out in something and I had no good excuse. 'Mudis te has quedado.'

1015 Mr Speaker, if you are not faced with the day-to-day pressures of running Government, it is very easy to sit there and say, 'I would have cut this, I would have cut that.' Of course it is easy to do that. Of course we accept that things are not going 100% right. Of course we accept that the Hospital and the Health Service are still dealing with the restart and recovery in a way that is not satisfactory yet. Of course we accept that. That is what we are working on. We are working to fix 1020 that. In every country in the world that is happening. Do we believe Gibraltar can be a health bubble? Of course not. Nobody is more frustrated than the professionals in the Health Service who are having the problems they are having in getting to their patients. We have to fix those 1025 things, but on the key issue of cutting costs they tell us to cut costs and provide more services – not that there is any other way of cutting costs in the Health Service, which I will come to in a while, because Mr Phillips told us that there is only one way to cut costs in the Health Service, which I will come to in a while. Maybe that is why they do not tell us where to cut costs in the Health Service or anywhere else, because they do not want to indispose themselves with anyone, or because Mr Phillips is right. I will come to what Mr Phillips said later.

1030 One minute he tells us he believes the golden rule, the next he tells us that we have borrowed too much and the next he tells us that we need to cut costs etc. He is just flip-flopping over everything because he cannot stick to a direction that is required for our community, which is difficult but which we have to make stick. This is like going to the doctor and saying, ‘I have a problem in some part of my body,’ and the doctor, instead of saying to you, ‘I am afraid this is something which is quite bad, it is going to require an operation, it is going to require some painful 1035 treatment and you need to prepare yourself because you are going to go through a few months that will be very difficult, but at the end of it you are going to be back to normal’ ... That is what they would get if they came to me, but from what he is telling us he would do to the patient, he would spot the problem and he would prescribe Lucozade and a bit more candy, and the patient would smile and be delighted with his doctor. We have to do the hard things and we have to do 1040 them together.

That is why I revealed the deficit immediately I got the Book, because people needed to know and it is my obligation to tell people what the state of the finances is and how we are going to fix it, but it is not because we built new schools or new sporting facilities or better healthcare facilities which are not yet working as we want. That is not what led us to the deficit – unless he is saying 1045 that he would not have done any of that; or is he saying that he would have built them bigger, quicker and cheaper? I guess that is an argument they could make for 10 minutes until everybody saw through it, but again they do not tell us which of these things they would not have done.
Would they not have refurbished the estates? Would they not have built the affordable homes?
Which would they not have done? What are the things at the point of departure on which we 1050 spent money that they would not have done? Again, quieter than a prostitute, as the saying goes in Spanish. Heck, his Shadow Minister for Culture is saying that it is disgraceful that we have not built the theatre at public expense already. They are saying it is disgraceful that we have not built the theatre at public expense already. So what is he saying? That we should have borrowed more to do it? And he says I am the one fiddling whilst Rome burns.

1055 They are not giving us any indication of what they would not have done. What they are doing is what they accuse us of, as usual: spin, spin, spin. They have become utter centrifuges of spin.
They should audition for the large hadron collider – they are spinning like never before. But I do not appreciate people thinking that any of what they are saying is getting through, because people can see through this. The counterarguments are this straight and simple. They are that clear.

1060 Of course, if you do the things that the hon. Gentleman says and you do not apply the increases that we are applying this year, and he provides no alternative increases, what is going to happen is that next year you are going to have a higher debt because you are going to have a higher deficit accumulating. So he neither tells us what he would cut to reduce costs, nor does he tell us what he would put up to increase revenue. Nothing on that – nothing. So what would happen is we 1065 would have more debt and then it would be harder to get back to the principles of the golden rule.
And then the question is what would happen: they would have to put up taxation more and they would have to put taxation for longer.

We do have a plan to manage the debt which is prudent and sensible. I will come to him in detail in a few minutes, but Mr Clinton says, ‘You have no plan to manage the debt, no debt 1070 management plan, but I would like more details of your very interesting debt management plan that you have just talked about.’ I could not believe my ears, Mr Speaker, the contradiction – it was like day and night surviving in the same speech.

We believe that in two years we cannot repay the COVID debt – of course we cannot – but we can right the ship, we can get it back to complying with the golden rule and we can manage the 1075 payment of the debt over a longer period in a very manageable way so what we are leaving for future generations is not an unmanaged, very high debt that is going to lumber them; actually, it is a beautifully managed debt which will be very controlled in the costs it will give rise to, so that the Gibraltar economy, on any day, will be producing enough to finance that cost in hours at the beginning of each month.

1080 What do they do? Silence on cuts, silence on what to put up, navel gazing, creating a bigger problem and just predicting doom because it is helpful to try to defeat Picardo. The right thing to do is what we are doing: leadership, leadership, leadership, not sitting on your hands or biting your nails, as he is now. Indeed, Mr Speaker, although when I get to him I will quote him from 1085 Mr Feetham said this year when he said that only part of the problem we are facing this year has been caused by our spending. Even in resiling from his position last year, Mr Feetham accepts, even in his speech this year, that only part of the problem is caused by us.

Now, Mr Speaker, in continuing to deal with the Leader of the Opposition, I reach perhaps what I think is the lowest moment we have reached in this Parliament in a long time, certainly in the 1090 time that I have been here, and probably the most shameless, despicable statement uttered in this place since its inception as a debating Chamber. The hon. Gentleman said:

This is not the people's Budget. It is to hold the people up by the side of the road like a 15th- or 16th century highwayman [...] I know how fond the Chief Minister is of straplines ... a break with the past, a great leap into modernity. The only relevance to his Renaissance reference is that there were plenty of highwaymen robbing the people in Renaissance times as well. And this is all this is. This is the highwayman's Budget ...

I think I have demonstrated over the last two hours how the overspend arises, but what is a 1095 highwayman? A highwayman is a thief. If the hon. Gentleman has one iota of evidence that I have stolen anything, he should go to the Police today. He should not wait even for the end of the debate. He should call 200 72500 and he should report the theft to the Police. He needs to put up or shut up. Painting the leader of this community, of whatever political complexion he may be, as a thief in this House is a disgusting new low. It shows disrespect for Gibraltar, it shows disrespect 1100 for the office that he actually craves. I do not think that this debating Chamber has ever found that those charged with looking in detail at the Estimates of our public finances for the future and analysing them in detail are left with so bereft a position when it comes to finding argument that the only thing they can say is that the Chief Minister of Gibraltar is a thief and a robber. He may think that he can create that nuance in people's minds, that innuendo that I am a thief, and that 1105 that will help him because they will see Azopardi the holy one and Picardo the highwayman and thief, and they will choose Azopardi at the election – that must be what he is thinking – but it is not going to work.

We have stolen nothing, we have given everything. Every day we give everything, and if we thought that we were giving everything after the referendum we gave more and we found more, 1110 and after the pandemic we gave more and we found more – more energy, more ability, more hard work – but we have stolen nothing. We are thieves of nothing. We are honest workers. There is no highwayman on these benches. We are working for our people and we are doing our best for our people. If anything, we have added taxation in an area where they forwent it, at the top – where they allowed those on huge salaries of over £½ million, of over £150,000, to get away with 1115 paying 5%. We have upped that and created social justice there. We are taxing Category 2 individuals who were avoiding payment, and the lapsed Category 2 individuals.

Mr Speaker, if I am any outlaw I am Robin Hood, but I am not a highwayman. I am used to being called names. I am used to being completely deprecated and disrespected by them. It is back to the same old character assassination. I guess because his pernicious pen was one of those 1120 that did so much work in 1995 and 1996 he thinks that he can do to me what he successfully did with his colleagues to Joe Bossano and to others between 1995 and 1996, which is complete character assassination. That is the GSD way. That is what they are trying to do by calling me a 1125 thief and calling my colleagues thieves. It is not going to work anymore. People can see through it: the cheap GSD character assassinations. No allegation is too low or too outlandish for them.

You can feel them spitting poison as they write these speeches. They called me unfit to govern in 2011. Nobody would agree with that now. They are calling me a thief today. Well, we will see what the judgement of the people really is, because none of it was true. Joe Bossano did not deserve the things they did to him in 1995 and 1996. No one in this Government deserves to be called a 1130 thief. Scratch below the surface and you find the same old GSD, all of the 'mala leshe' but none of the brains that Peter Caruana brought to it.

The people of Gibraltar know who I am, they know what I do. They know that every day, every waking moment I spend defending our country tooth and nail, like every Member of this Government, like everybody who has the privilege to lead. We worked harder than ever in COVID.
I know that people are desperate to get COVID out of the way, I understand, but never has a 1135 Leader of the Opposition been so desperate. Perhaps it is because of his own inability to ever break through with the public, and yet his driving ambition to get to Convent Place ... Maybe that is what made him stoop so low as to call the Chief Minister of Gibraltar a thief for exceeding the Budget to keep the generators and to keep the GHA testing and with all its kit. That is how low he would go. Imagine how low he would take us if he had the levers of power, because for all of the 1140 pretence of temperance he brings to politics, actually he has behaved in more pernicious a fashion than any other Leader of the Opposition in the past, that disgusting new low from which the Hansards of this place will not recover.

A man who cannot persuade with facts has to fall back on untrue innuendo to seek to persuade the masses with pure, unadulterated demagoguery. All he can do is light these dynamite sticks, 1145 hoping to create a fire in public opinion. All he can do is sling mud. All he can do is exaggerate debt. All he can do is stoke fears. The Gibraltarian public is far too clever. Some people might believe the nonsense talk about my villa in Portugal which is being developed by a developer who is going to gift me the keys because they get contracts, just like they believed ideas of castles in Portugal many years ago, but these untrue defamations will not actually really ever take off – 1150 maybe with some social media fools. But to call the senior elected representative of the people of Gibraltar a thief ... I thought I would only ever see that from Margallo, Rosetti and Vox, not from Keith Azopardi. Where is the Keith Azopardi I met 30 years ago? Where are those lofty ideas he sells of who he is? It is below the dignity of the people of Gibraltar, who deserve to be treated with more respect by their elected politicians, to come here to call the leader of the Gibraltarians 1155 a thief because he has raised taxes.

The Leader of the Opposition has taken £64,336 from the people of Gibraltar in the financial year just gone – pocket money for him because he has another job – and he comes here and makes that speech. Well, if anything is daylight robbery it is £65,000 for the job he does as a second job. Together with the six Members they represent on the Opposition, that is £255,000 a 1160 year that they have taken us for. Is that value for money for the Gibraltarians? I think you must be joking. Four out of six of them are in current legal practice and these amounts are just additional fees for them, to fit in politics on the side of their lucrative jobs. That is why what you are seeing there is not an alternative government. They are living an alternative lifestyle to most of the rest in our community. They are making hay whilst the sun shines and taking home the people's money 1165 as pocket money – and he comes here and goes that cheap. His best line, the headline, is to call me a highwayman. I hope he found it funny. I am very disappointed as a Gibraltarian, I am very disappointed as a former colleague because we sat together in politics, and I am very disappointed as a parliamentarian. Today, in this time and generation, at this difficult financial moment our people deserve better, a thousand times better, a thousand times more serious and a thousand 1170 times more effective. And this is the man who says he should take over the Brexit negotiations?
Come on!

The good thing is that the people of Gibraltar do not need to wise up to him. They know who he is. They rejected the PDP twice when he led it – although at least we do have to thank him because he did help us to beat the GSD in 2011, for which I do thank him. They rejected him 1175 massively when he led the GSD at the last election and time will tell what people will do at the next election. I never take the electorate for granted. They have already said that they are going to win the next election. I do not say that we will. The public will decide when the time comes. But in the old days, when he and Mr Feetham used to lead other parties, they used to say to Sir Joe Bossano three strikes and you are out. Well, he has had three strikes. Doesn't he feel that he 1180 should practise what he preached? Three strikes and still trying: so desperate, so frustrated and so incapable of winning by the rules. Indeed, he stoops low and then he deploys his parliamentary thug, the sweeper of the Opposition, to break the parliamentary rules –

Mr Speaker: I do not think you should say 'thug'. You must withdraw that.

1185

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I will withdraw it unhesitatingly: the sweeper of the Opposition to do parliamentary thuggery to the Rules of Parliament and to try and win an argument outside of the Rules. The only thing I would say to them is that I can see which playbook they are pursuing. Donald Trump would be proud of them, but their assault on the Capitol will be 1190 as successful as Donald Trump's was. It will leave a lot of casualties but it will not succeed.

1190

The people of Gibraltar know better. Their Chief Minister is no thief, their Chief Minister is no highwayman, but their Leader of the Opposition is a loser – three times a loser already and counting – with a cloud hanging over him from the time when he was last a Minister and all of the issues that related to how he managed his business then. I would say to him one thing: I believe 1195 that he is one of our prized assets in politics these days. I know that they – some of them – want to remove him, but he should not think he has no fans. Despite everything I have said, he does have fans. We all want him to stay, even though he came 14th in the ranking at the last election.

1195

Frankly, even if he loses at the next election I am not going to offer him a job at £400,000 to be Solicitor General, which is what he wanted the last time we had a conversation about that. He 1200 was not so concerned about money and recurrent expenditure then, when he thought that was the right amount of money for a Government salary to be – £400,000.

1200

Perhaps one of the things he should do is amend his Wikipedia entry. Maybe it should say this:
'Keith is the first Leader of Opposition to have founded one party, become a member of three parties, led two other parties and spent a period away from politics supporting another party in government on Twitter. He founded the Liberal Party. He has been a member of that party and 1205 the GSD and the PDP and he led the PDP to defeat to the GSD. He supported the GSLP on Twitter after the PDP was wound up and now he leads the GSD to try to defeat the GSLP.' You could not make this up. 'Un trompo politico, eh' He will go down in history as a man whose only known consistency is his lack of consistency, really not the leader our community needs today, and 1210 everyone can see and knows that. I do venture to suggest, at the risk of being accused over the summer of abusing him psychologically, that even he knows it, too; his party and his party colleagues certainly do. Let me move on to some of those colleagues now.

1205

1210

Let me turn to the Hon. Shadow Minister for Finance, as they call Mr Clinton. I do not think it would be fair to allow him to get away with some of the statements he has made. He says, as I 1215 alluded to before, that we have no plan for management of debt, and then, almost in the same breath, he says 'but I am very interested in the plan for the management of debt over 25 years that you have talked about and I would like more details of it.' Frankly, you could not reconcile those two things, but you can see that the whole of his speech was about stoking fear in people.
Mr Azopardi slung the mud, Mr Clinton stoked the fear – fears about debt, principally.

1215

A little like Mr Azopardi, he likes to pretend that he is courteous and gentlemanly in his approach to Parliament, but then what he tries to do, using his background in banking and finance, is to twist the hard work of our public servants in the Treasury and the Ministry for Finance. Apart from being unfair, his actions and statements also result in the record of Hansard being polluted by his inaccuracies and misleading interpretations of some of the numbers which are just not 1225 correct, even his statements as to the cumulative total of government debt and government company debt and his mischaracterisation of the funding for our Improvement and Development

1225

1230 Fund. In fact, he complains a lot about the debts of government companies – we have discussed that over and over again – but did he know that when the party that he represents was in government they did not just acquire debt in government companies? Did he know that they also received funds directly into government companies, because the last premium received by the Government for the sale of the Eastside was not received by the Government, it was received directly into the company structure? It was not received into the Improvement and Development Fund.

1235 So much the for the GSD doing things on balance sheet. Not only did they do debt off balance sheet, they did receipts of sale of government land off balance sheet. Where does that leave his theories of the GSD's approach, the purity of the GSD that he represents? Will he, at least, mark a break with the past by condemning the GSD practice as much as he condemns the GSLP Liberal practice, which is identical to the GSD practice? That would at least make his position logical, although perhaps he would then have to be expelled from the GSD.

1240 I am going to go through some of his worst transgressions against accuracy and truth in my contribution, as I peel away at his monotonously delivered speech. One thing is clear. However much he might have modelled himself on him, he ain't no Joe Bossano, and neither can he pretend to be, in terms of his engaging personality or his ability to explain things. As I said in my first intervention, there is only one Joe Bossano.

1245 What is clear is that the public sector will have no hiding place from him. What Mr Clinton is seeking in all his statements is a mandate to cut, cut, cut. He is not going to be a chancellor holding the purse strings, giving pay rises to the public sector. Let's be clear, he wants to cut numbers and services to achieve the savings he wants. He wants his government to be an austerity government. He wants to be a chancellor to that eunuch chief minister who will be the man making the decision to cut government jobs, to cut government pay, to bring down the bill. The only way to do it is to cut, cut, cut. His will be the power, because as I have explained before to hon. Members, Gibraltar does not have an arsenal which is in the control of the Chief Minister to declare war with or without the Parliament and to decide whether or not to deploy the nuclear deterrent. Power, such as it may be, and I detest the word, here, is to deploy or not deploy not nukes but cash, and with the power to deploy cash passed from the First Lord of the Convent Place Treasury to a Minister for Public Finance, No. 6 Convent Place might as well become a chapel again, where people will come to pay homage to a chief minister – who, if it is him, is probably not even the guy who topped the poll – but they would have to go cap in hand to the Minister for Public Finances, whose stated objective, given everything he has said is that everything is too expensive, we have spent too much money on recurrent expenditure, the main item of recurrent expenditure is Civil Service salaries ... So all of the public sector will suffer a cut, cut, cut, Clinton cut after Clinton cut, unless everything they have said is untrue. If everything they have said is true, they cannot go into a general election pretending to do anything other than cut, cut, cut, and the cuts have to be in the public sector in terms of conditions, the growth of salaries, the numbers of people we have employed and the services that we provide. Otherwise, there is no logic to anything they have said, nothing whatsoever.

1260 If they cut all the club-class flights, if they do not organise a concert and if they never build another school again, it is irrelevant. None of that goes to the bottom line, unless they only want to save £60,000 or £70,000. We should start somewhere, yes, but he is not saying let's start there, he is saying they have to cut and they have to cut deep. Or are they only saying that we have to cut deep because it might make us unpopular and that is what they want? Are they saying that when they are here they are going to do the opposite of what they said? No. So public sector jobs, public sector pay and public sector services are all at risk with Roy Clinton in government. It is all there in his speeches. All you have to do is read them with a brain and you can see what they are trying to say. Otherwise, none of what they have said is relevant – the debt used to mount up the votes, which is what Mr Feetham says. It is all there – unless, as Sir Joe says, they are going to say one thing in opposition and do another in government.

1280 It would be quite something to see a GSD government with Roy Clinton as Minister for Public Finance with costs going up and up, because then who would he be and what would he represent? Anybody in the Chamber of Commerce who might like to see costs in the public sector come down, who might think that he is of the same mind as them, who saw him in government doing the opposite would say, 'Roy, we didn't choose you for this, we chose you for this. Go for a bit of Picardo style if we are going to see this.' At least we have style and panache. 'We got you to cut, cut, cut – to put up with this monotony and this greyness, to see the costs still going up, we do not want you.'

1285 So the public sector needs to know, every public servant needs to know that their speeches, although they are personified as an attack on me for my spending – and they try to personify that even more by calling me a thief to pretend that the £35 million overspend on fuel or on the GHA is actually in my pocket, taken home, which they then resile from because he has not got up and called the Police and told them that, and he will not – actually they are an attack on every public sector salary, on every public sector job, on every public sector service. That is what they are. And there is only one way to fix it – cut, cut, cut – according to Mr Clinton Scissorhands. That is what he would do. He would get collected and he would come and cut, cut, cut without a view to who gets hurt with the scissors as he cuts, without a view to whether the job is the only job in the household:

1295 'No. Cut, it is a waste.'

'But it is a job and providing a service.'

'No, it is a waste. Cut.' That is what we are going to see, if we ever see a Clinton presiding over our public finances.

1300 He, too, incurred in the disgraceful, Mr Speaker. He said:

yesterday the people of Gibraltar had their collective pockets picked by this Government in order to cover the mismanagement of the 2021-22 Budget, which has resulted in the need to borrow an extra £50 million.

It is a disgraceful metaphor, an allegation, again, from a second Member of the Opposition that the Ministers in the Government – myself as Minister for Public Finance – have somehow stolen. A pickpocket is a thief as much as a highwayman.

1305 This Government has given everything it has to the people of Gibraltar – some may agree with us, some may disagree with us – every waking moment working harder and harder to keep costs down but to do the right thing and sail our community through COVID. We are not stealing from our people, we are serving our people, and in these hard times the last thing that this community needs is a charisma-less character coming along to seek to ignite a match under people, telling them that the Government is stealing from them.

1310 Maybe it is because they have found that however much they try to excite the mob they cannot get the mob excited, but they think they can say anything because nobody will listen. But do they realise how dangerous it is to say that politicians are stealing, in this throwaway style? It is, frankly, remarkable that the hon. Gentleman who takes £38,221 on top of his pension, such as it may be – almost £40,000 – to come to Parliament a few times a year suggests that we are the ones stealing.

1315 I have been in opposition for eight years. I do not underestimate the importance and value of an Opposition, but of all times in our history, coming as we have from a period when Mr Azopardi, he, Mr Mena, Sir Joe and I worked together on the appropriations that have led to this deficit ... For him to come here with that all but political failure that is Mr Azopardi and accuse us of theft is really demeaning to every Gibraltarian and in particular the Gibraltarians that he represents.

1320 I do not expect hon. Members opposite to respect me as much as I respect them, but they really have let themselves down in the context of the past week in making the baseless allegations metaphorically that they have made, and I would have expected them to respect the people of Gibraltar more. Raising taxes by 2% for two years to deal with the pandemic problems we have had is no Boston Tea Party and we are not stealing anything from anyone.

1325 The hon. Gentleman then said:

One significant difference from recent years is that there is no material contribution to the Improvement and Development Fund from the Consolidated Fund. In 2021-22 it was £19.5 million; next year, merely a notional £1,000.

1330 Let me start with that quote. An estimate has to be that. It is an estimate of revenue, it is not something that is set in stone, but we have to be clear that at the time when we were doing the I&DF estimate there are many other projects which are on foot, not just the Eastside project. We do expect that we will receive the Eastside project premium during the course of this year; we do not know when. It is not impossible that we may not do the deal, but I believe we will, and there are other projects which are out for discussion with developers for final agreement on premium. If they had been in government planning the Estimates Book and they were negotiating this deal and they expected the money to come in, wouldn't they provide for that? But wouldn't they provide for that with the caution that we are providing, putting in a token rather than an actual amount?

1335 I think that this is a good project for Gibraltar that will manage to take off. Is he telling us that he does not want the Eastside project to take off, just like Mr Azopardi seemed to be suggesting that they would prefer that the premium might not be collected, and that is why they think that we should be a little bit more cautious and provide more cash into the I&D rather than await the receipt of that premium and put in a token until then? Or is it that he did know that which I thought he did not know and he knew that the last time they sold the Eastside they did not put the money into the I&DF, and that is why he wondered whether we might be about to do the same thing they did when they were in government? I do not know because it seems that he has eschewed all of the GSD's practices in government, but he does not get up and say so.

1345 Or what about one of the things he thought was one of his killer points, when he said:

we have yet to hear how the appointment of the new CEO of the Tourist Board at a salary of £140,000 is cost neutral, as was described by the Chief Minister on 17th March 2021, especially as the salary was disclosed as being £51,767 in the 2011-12 Estimates Book under the Gibraltar Development Corporation.

I think he is being a bit economical with the truth there, not giving the whole picture, because he has the facts in the Book and he is one of the people who we are led to believe by them is best able to interpret the Book.

1350 First of all, the salary of £140,000 should not be compared with the salary in 2011-12. The outgoing CEO's salary was £87,403. Secondly, he would say, 'Ah, but that is still £53,000 less.' But turn to page 155 of the Book. That is information that they have. If we look at the overall budget for tourism, it was budgeted at £2,512,000. Next year – the last column – it is projected at £2,173,000. So let's be clear. What it is going to cost to turn tourism in Gibraltar after the appointment of the CEO is going to be about £350,000 less than it used to cost before the appointment of the CEO. But you have to add the CEO's pay there because it is not provided for in the Book at the moment, so you end up with a total spend at the end of the year of £2,313,000. That is almost exactly £200,000 less than it used to be. Why? Because we know that the person we have employed has a Rolodex – these days it is probably not a Rolodex ... an electronic contact system with all of the phone numbers of all of the people we have to go to conferences to meet to obtain etc. So the number of conferences we will go to – I am sorry to tell the other Mr Bossino, who is very keen for us to go to certain conferences – will be fewer and more targeted because we will be able to rely on the expertise of the person we have employed.

1355
1360
1365
1370 So when people, spurred by him, go around saying 'que poco verguenza' £140,000, that £140,000 save us immediately £200,000 – not just cost neutral, a saving, and the numbers are there in the Book, which he had, that he says does not show anything. It does not show anything if he does not do the hard work of looking, if he just goes to see where is the pay, is it higher or lower, add it up, it does not work out. Take a step back, look at all of the tourism budget: there it is, staring you in the grey face. And yet he did not see it. A numbers issue which he presented in one way actually is quite the opposite; another one in his area, finance, which he gets wrong, littering Hansard with inaccuracies and mistakes, seeking always to look at things with coal-tinted spectacles to hurt the Government and not see the truth, blinding himself to the truth because of the way he does his exercises.

1375 Then he says he has found one of the ways we are making decisions to flatter our accounts. He did this before, on tax rebates, and got it wrong; but it does not matter, he just crashes the car 1380 against the wall again. 'You are flattering the accounts because you have not made a contribution under head 22 this year by giving yourself a contribution holiday of £7 million and not paying anything to the Statutory Benefits Fund. You are doing it next year but you have not done it this year. You are flattering the accounts.' The suggestion there is that the loss is greater than if we had acted in the way we needed to act before. He is saying 'flattering the accounts' to suggest 1385 some sort of accounting impropriety. Let's look at the reason why we did not contribute to the £7.5 million. It is very simple. We did not contribution to the £7 million because it was not needed. If you look at the numbers over the last few years, at 31st March 2015 the Statutory Benefits Fund stood at £6.9 million; March 2016, £800,000; March 2017, £46,000; March 2018, £22,000; March 2019, £798,000. In all of those years the fund needed £7 million, from 2016. In March 2021 the Statutory Benefits Fund was at £6.3 million. In March 2022 it had £4.7 million. It does not need the £7 million. We have always considered and they always considered that a healthy balance of the Statutory Benefits Fund was £5 million, so with that money in the fund it does not need to be given the £7 million. The numbers guru got it wrong again because he ain't no guru. He keeps getting it wrong, and all with numbers – in particular in relation to tourism – that he has.

1390 He says it is insane that we should tax people by an increase of 2% without first using the rainy-day funds. He says the Estimates Book, on page 254, shows that the reserve account of the Gibraltar Savings Bank is £56 million:

Should this not be used first, before taxing workers? [...] We have a rainy-day fund that we cannot touch, even today at the height of monsoon season.

1395 I can assure everyone in this House and outside that before we raised taxes, which we are always loathe to do, we explored all other options, but spending the rainy-day funds now would really mean that we end up with nothing left in the event that we need it. We have £100 million cash, the £56 million in the Savings Bank, Community Care has about £55 million or £60 million: £200 million. What he is saying is spend it. That is what he is saying. They come here to say we have spent too much. They come here to say we have raised debt too much, that the deficit is too
1400 high. What do they come and then tell us to do: to spend more; to take the saving in the Savings Bank and spend it now. So if something goes wrong in the Savings Bank, if we are unable to pay interest or whatever, he does not want us to take it from the reserve of the Savings Bank, he wants everything to be back at zero.

1405 What we are starting to see are the cracks that show us that actually it is the same old GSD. They left us the Savings Bank at zero, with the thousand pounds it had in the account. They left us Community Care at zero. That is who they were, that is who they are. That is why he will not condemn the previous GSD administrations, because he believes in the same things. He says that we should be cutting costs, but then he says that actually we should be spending the savings fund. It is remarkable.

1410 Indeed, he has something in common with Mr Reyes. Mr Reyes said 'You should have built the theatre already and you should have paid for it from taxpayers' money,' and so did Roy Clinton. Roy Clinton said, 'It is terrible that you are going around seeking donations to build something which is public. You should pay for it yourself. It is terrible, because it was in your manifesto.' Okay, well, never mind the fact that we have said ... given the fact that we cannot deliver our 1415 manifesto is something which Mr Feetham invited us to do and I think Mr Azopardi invited us to do, but despite that, he is now saying, 'You must build it with taxpayers' money.' What about Carnegie Hall and the Radio City Music Hall, or the Lincoln Center, or most of the theatres in London? Yes, there is a National Theatre in London, but there are more theatres which are not owned by the public and there are theatres which are run for the public but which have been built 1420 by donations. What is wrong with that? How can he come here to tell us that we have spent too much and then tell us that we should be spending on the theatre?

1425 All of this nonsense just to try to capture public opinion by saying, 'In effect, the problem you have, Gibraltar, is that Picardo enjoys his parties and Picardo and Vijay travel club class. That is the problem Gibraltar has. Get rid of Picardo, get rid of Vijay, get rid of the whole team. They are the ones who have the parties and travel club class and will be fine.' Does he think that I travel because I want to, because perhaps when I was in my early 20s and I was asked as a young lawyer to travel for the first time I thought it was glamorous then? I do not travel for pleasure. I do not raid the mini-bar. I do not even have the meal on board, most of the time. The fact is that we travel because we have to. In doing so, I and my colleagues, in most instances, leave our children behind, we leave our spouses behind. We lose the time that we would have with our families to travel for Gibraltar because it is the right thing to do. We do not travel for pleasure at all, but he has to go for it every time, the most pejorative attempt to try to show people that he is right and that we are wasting money. So now we know – because he was nodding in agreement – what he believes we should do, whatever meeting we may have, is not travel; we should say we cannot make the meeting because there is not an economy seat available. That is Roy Clinton's politics. That is how Roy Clinton would run Gibraltar. Good luck to Gibraltar should Gibraltar ever have to suffer being run in that way, because it would not get many meetings put back on the agenda based on when there are economy fares departing Gibraltar or Malaga.

1430
1435
1440
1445 Knowing, as he should know, that you can talk down an economy, he does it anyway. He does it all the time: debt is too high, your spending is too great. He does it all the time, not caring what it might do to Gibraltar as a government. It is not seditious of him to act in that way because he owes no duties to me or to us. He is free to say whatever he likes, but with consequences – consequences that can be replied to, and if there are consequences for Gibraltar, then consequences that can be visited on him. It is that simple. He is free to say what he likes and I am free to say what I like.

1450 All of his analysis seems to be driven by an attempt to simply pull the wool over people's eyes, saying that COVID is not the reality of what has hit us like a brick wall, saying simply that it is an excuse that we are bringing. I suppose that actually, in their heart of hearts, they are pleased we have not used the rainy-day funds as they have suggested and they are pleased that we have put tax up, because they think that makes us unpopular and they think it opens the door for them to win an election. I suppose they wish we had put tax up even more because that would help them even more. They have no difficulty feeding off the misery of people. If they saw that this opened an opportunity for them to win a general election, they would be delighted to do that. By now, if they had won the General Election in 2011, the utility bill would have gone up 55%.

1455 I, Mr Speaker, am not persuaded by Mr Clinton at all. I really do believe that despite the things he says, Gibraltar's future is extraordinarily bright. I think our economy coming back is a demonstration that our public finances will come back – in a period, it will not be immediate – and that the rainy-day funds, which Joe Bossano has always advocated and the GSD advocate one day and now no longer advocate, are something that we must maintain and ensure we keep for future generations.

1460 I would just say that in a lot of what he says Mr Clinton actually speaks about things which are contrary to the positions that Peter Caruana took in government, but there is one thing that is in common with him and Peter Caruana. When it came to spending the rainy-day funds, Peter Caruana stood here once ... When he was being told by Joe Bossano, 'You are spending the rainy-day funds,' he said, 'Well, it is raining, I am spending them.' No pandemic, no Brexit and they spent the rainy-day funds. Well, that is the GSD for you. You cannot trust them even to keep the rainy-day funds intact. Well, Mr Speaker, the economy is bouncing back and the public finances will follow – with a delay – but we have to ensure that we protect ourselves against any future where there is any difficulty again with the rainy-day funds.

1470 Mr Speaker, I turn now to the sweeper of the Opposition. He said he was not quite on the graveyard shift but then he was going to proceed to do the parliamentary thuggery that he did to the Rules. Thank you, therefore, for your ruling today, which I think has been very helpful in re-establishing the Rules and how they should be observed.

1475 But at least I am starting to understand why it is that Mr Feetham, like me and like all Members of this Government, and like Mr Azopardi, is such a proponent of the rainbow of Pride. It is the only badge he can wear that has all the colours of all the political parties he has been in. He might be good at Pride, but his approach to you, Mr Speaker, on the view of the Government, was simply unacceptable, and the use of that unparliamentary language was not something which, on reflection, Mr Feetham will be proud of. He behaved in a way that was designed to deliver for his ratings, as he always does. He knew that he perhaps was not live on GBC at that time and he needed to get on to News Watch, so he pushed it, to make sure that his ratings were there and people would see him outside of this place.

1480 It was disgraceful to say that you were stopping him from reading his speech. You were stopping him from reading an unparliamentary part of his speech; that was what was behind it. The reality is he does not care about respecting the Chair, he does not care about respecting Parliament, he does not even care about the people who sit alongside him on either side. He only cares about one thing: sitting in this Chair. Even now, when you think he has finally bled himself of the ambition, there it is burning in his belly. At least it burns brighter than in anybody else's. That is the reality. Even if he tries to put it out with fireman's foam, it comes back, that burning sensation.

1490 I think he really was the person most pleased in this economy to see us raise taxes – of course, because he believed, at last, that the pandemic and this Budget were coming together to enable him to get his audience, to say, 'For 10 years in the wilderness I have been right, my people.' Maybe that is what the badge he told us about in a magazine interview 15 years ago, I think, has inscribed on it in Aramaic: 'Set my people free from the taxes that will be imposed by Picardo.'

1495 Government's mismanagement of the finances have placed Gibraltar's way of life in jeopardy, says Mr Feetham. Actually, in my speech it said the opposite: it was the protection of the Gibraltar way of life that we were going to ensure. But didn't he hear that, in Spain in particular, holidays are up 30% and, as a result, 30% of people have cancelled their holidays? Didn't he hear that 30 flights a day are being cancelled at Heathrow because they cannot get the passengers through the airport? For him to say that he was right all along when nobody could have predicted Brexit or indeed the pandemic is really quite impossible to believe, but I would have expected some such drama, I suppose, from the artist formerly known as Michael Bain. I am not surprised that there are so many people on social media who appear to support them; it must be them frantically logging in and out of different entities and identities.

1500 He almost seems happy that there is a deficit because it has enabled him to say I told you so. He said we could not use COVID as a get-out-of-jail-free card. He is using it as a get-out-of-my-incorrect-predictions card. We do not use it as an excuse; we use it as an explanation. But then he says:

1510 Of course no one denies the challenges of Brexit or COVID or the Ukraine war, no one on this side belittles or underestimates the pandemic or the economic crisis that they have brought in their wake. Yes, these are unprecedented events. Yes, the immediate deficit in the public finances has been caused by COVID – I stand by everything that I said last year – but ... [the Government's mismanagement of the finances is what has placed Gibraltar's way of life in jeopardy]

1515 Come on! At least make each speech not inherently contradictory. Maybe we could just settle that Mr Feetham will, from now on, give speeches that contradict earlier speeches but that within one speech there are not going to be a morass of contradictions. I have to spend a lot of time unravelling these things.

Remember what he said last year, Mr Speaker? In honour of him, today my notes for my Budget speech actually include his quote last year, on the front page, in case anyone had forgotten:

Of course, no one on this side of the House is saying that if they had been prudent with the people's money over the last 10 years we could have avoided a £157 million deficit which is, of course, COVID-related. No one could have predicted the pandemic ...

And then throw in a war. And then thrown in inflation at the highest rate since the Second World War, and fuel prices at the highest rate in the past 20 years.

1520 I do not think he realises the consequence of what he says. He writes it ... 'Sounds good, I'll say it.' He does not have to worry about whether or not the things he is saying are consonant with logic or indeed with the truth. He is dealing – in saying that the management of the finances by the Government has placed Gibraltar's way of life in jeopardy – in exactly the thing that Kipling warned us not to deal in. Exactly that. He has become a merchant of untruth and an alien to 1525 honesty and parliamentary integrity.

My sympathy with him: he regards himself as the greatest Chief Minister Gibraltar never had. His fans put it to me that he is still – well, they do not just put it to me, they put it out there – the true leader of the GSD, who undoubtedly is the person who should have been and should be the Chief Minister of Gibraltar. It must be tough to be so great and not be recognised as such. I send 1530 him my deepest solidarity in absence of recognition by the rest of the community of his innate greatness, that greatness which he sees every day in the mirror when he shaves. He is the permanent Marlon Brando. My next meeting with him I shall have at the Waterfront. He could have been a contender, he says to himself every day. Of course, that is if you do not accept democracy. That is only to suggest that the Gibraltarians have failed to choose the golden person.
1535 They have failed to choose the golden team because the terrible Picardo and the terrible GSLP Liberals have pulled the wool over the majority, who can be easily duped into choosing the wrong person and failing to choose the great person.

I know that he could not have put it better himself, but I take a different view. I say the 1540 Gibraltarian cannot be duped, that we have many faults but they have seen that we want to do great things and we bring honesty and integrity to what we do. I say that when the Gibraltarians elect us, when they choose us, the sweep of history will show they were right; and when they do not, disappointed though we might be – as we were in 1984, as we were in 1996 and as we were in every year until 2011 – we do not say that we were the best people for the job and the Gibraltarians got it wrong. We say that the Gibraltarians made the choice and that we have to try 1545 harder for next time, but we remain ready to give everything and ready to do more. I do not say that Chief Minister Peter Caruana was not a great Chief Minister in many ways but not in others. I do not say that Sir Joe was and should have been Chief Minister from 1984 until he chose to step down in 2011. We accept the verdict of the political jury. That is the reality. That is what the hon.
1550 Member should do, and reconcile himself to the reality that he is the unchosen one. But he insists that he has always been right and that the electorate have been wrong every time they have failed to accept his arguments instead of ours. He said so explicitly. Look at what he said on Viewpoint:

I have held a line for many, many years in relation to debt, in relation to spending,

– let me do it like he does – in relation to the expectations that the way that the Government has conducted itself, particularly in relation to spending and debt, is created in this community in the way that they've structured public debt through off balance sheet vehicles.

That is entirely untrue. How can he say that we invented a new system to borrow with debt in 1555 off balance sheet vehicles? 'Vehicles' in this context is not cars, it is lawyer-speak for companies. How can he say that? He said it on television with a one-on-one interview with Jonathan Scott to the face of our people: 'in the way that they've structured public debt through off balance sheet vehicles'. They, the Government. In other words, the GSLP Liberals have structured public debt through off balance sheet vehicles. How can he say that we have structured it in that way? He 1560 knows it is not true. That can only amount to wanting to pull the wool over people's eyes again.

They used company debt. They structured public debt through off balance sheet vehicles, taking his definitions. We did not structure it that way. We inherited it from them.

I am grateful that from a sedentary position he has said, nodding, it is true. I am grateful. It must be true. Of course it must be true, and not only must it be true, he said in his speech here that it was true, because he said last week:

In 2011, when gross public debt stood at £540 million, inclusive of debt in Government-owned companies ...

1565 The number is wrong, but what he says is a direct contradiction of what he told the people on Viewpoint a month ago. When was he telling the truth, on Viewpoint or here? He cannot have been telling it on both occasions, and therefore on one of the occasions he was doing the thing that Kipling says one should not deal in. Don't deal in lies, says Kipling. That £540 million excludes a lot of the other company debt that they had and it excludes the hospital debt as well. It excludes 1570 the Kings Bastion Leisure Centre, which was bringing £1.4 million of costs. This is ridiculous.

I really had many issues with Peter Caruana when he was Chief Minister of Gibraltar, and Sir Joe Bossano's speech sets out all the contradictions going back and is worth studying in detail. At least in each speech Peter Caruana gave he had no inherent contradictions. I hanker over the seriousness of those debates, I really do. When he does things like this and he brings this sort of 1575 level of invective to the House, saying to the public that it is Government's mismanagement of finances that place Gibraltar's way of life in jeopardy and he uses those examples, and then he says the per capita debt now is £60,000 per person – not £16,000 as the hon. Gentleman said in 2011 – he really is failing to tell people the whole picture. What I said in 2011 was this is a meaningless measure of debt. The per capita debt is meaningless, but it is a measure that 1580 Mr Freddie Vasquez, when he was as a Member of this House, used in 1995 to present that debt was out of control. He came up with a figure then – I do not know whether it was £6,000 or ... In fact, on net debt the figure was zero in 1995-96 if you included the rainy-day funds. But what I was doing was saying, 'This was meaningless, but if it was meaningless then, look at where it is today, £16,000, and you, the GSD, said that this meant something in 1995. I put no store by it.' I 1585 assume that he read that when he read my contribution in 2011. Yes? Good.

Really, Mr Speaker, to see him adopt and channel Freddie Vasquez in this House, who spent four years hitting the GSLP Government of 1992-96, including his paterfamilias, using that nonsensical measure, and to see him use the same measure and channel the same things ... The tale of Anakin's journey to the dark side is a fairy tale compared to the scale of his political 1590 treachery of his family's socialist roots. It really is a tale without precedent in modern politics. This is like Nelson Mandela's son leading a new apartheid against the black population of South Africa, treachery of biblical proportions which will forever be associated with his lust for power. It is so epic that it is going to become a parable in his own lifetime. The parable of the prodigal son? No, because in everything he says, he presents himself not as a prodigal son, he presents himself as 1595 Mystic Meg with a crystal ball that showed him everything that was going to happen in the 10 years. Come on! Pull the other one.

He cannot have given the speech he gave without having failed to read Sir Joe's speech, because if he had read Sir Joe's speech – and he professes adherence, on occasion, to Joe Bossano's theories ... Sometimes it is Peter Caruana's 'it's raining, let's spend', sometimes it is Joe 1600 Bossano's golden rule. Of course, logic does not matter and consistency is irrelevant, so he can do this, right? He can be any religion and none when it comes to the finances. He cannot have read Sir Joe's speech.

I cannot go through everything in his speech, Mr Speaker; otherwise, we will be here until tomorrow and I know hon. Members will want to get on, but he said:

I have always admired the Chief Minister's energy, more than he knows.

1605 Mr Speaker, I feel the pinpricks of his admiration every morning in my spine as he stabs the voodoo doll harder and harder.

Mr Feetham said:

The Chief Minister said that underpinning this Budget was ‘the spirit of prudence and responsibility’. It is a real shame that he was not possessed of that same spirit when we were urging prudence and responsibility over the last 10 years ...

1610 It is what they have all said, Mr Speaker. They have said the same thing every time. But what does he say now that I have explained again, as I explained in my first speech, that the overspending was to keep the GHA operating and to keep the generators with fuel? What does he say now? Of course he has no arguments whatsoever, because when faced with the reality that the testing was of teachers and GHA staff etc., there is nothing they can say.

Over the last 10 years, and all for the sake of piling on the votes – not just winning but winning by landslides – they have played Russian roulette with those public finances ...

1615 He is making the bald assertion that we have set out to buy votes, but also the bald assertion that everybody in this community who voted for us sold us their vote because by playing with the public finances, using the money, we have got the votes. This Opposition genuinely believes that the people of Gibraltar are there to be bought and sold at election time. It is just remarkable.

1620 Compare the two statements that he is responsible for delivering in this House on successive Appropriation Bills – compare and contrast, the same speaker. He said, this year, that instead of being prudent, ‘Over the last 10 years, and all for the sake of piling on the votes – not just winning but winning by landslides – they have played Russian roulette with those public finances’, and last year he said:

Of course, no one on this side of the House is saying that if they had been prudent with the people’s money over the last 10 years we could have avoided a £157 million deficit which is, of course, COVID-related. No one could have predicted the pandemic ...

1625 He cannot have forgotten that, because I quoted it at him in my main speech, and yet he still delivered the other line. This is the same speaker. It does not make any sense. When was he telling us the truth on this, as in on the issue of the company vehicles? Was he telling us the truth on Viewpoint or here? Was he telling us the truth this year or last year? And when he was not telling us the truth, what was he doing?

1630 A strong economy, sound public finances, money in the bank to see us through difficult times – that is what he wants. So then he obviously disagrees with Roy Clinton, who does not think that we should have money in the bank, who does not think that we should have the Savings Bank reserve, who thinks that we should spend it. Another disagreement between them.

In 2011, when gross public debt stood at £540 million, inclusive of debt in Government-owned companies ...

1635 No! The number is completely wrong, and not least ... and this is the only part I am going to concentrate on because I have already dealt with this issue in successive years. The number is completely wrong on the measure that he is the one who has consistently said since 2003 should be added: the £110 million of the Hospital. So by his measure – because he was the one who was going around saying, ‘esto es una poca verguenza’ It is terrible. I can’t believe it. You shouldn’t do it. Public finance, it adds to the debt. Public finance is debt; it should be on the balance sheet,’ – he needs to add £110 million to the number he ascribes to the 2011 position.

1640 And has he forgotten that by the time we got there, when we came to this House the then Chief Minister was offering us a resolution of the House to exceed the ceiling of debt, which was what was going to happen? Exceed the ceiling of debt on the basis of the debt as it was under the GSD, and the GSD projects running, and he said, in the official opening of this House, 'With the projects that are on foot the public debt will be exceeded and we offer you a resolution with our support.' And what did we do? Stop the projects. We did not exceed the ceiling. We stopped the projects.

1645

He then went on to say:

the difference is that we never mortgaged working-class housing estates in order to secure that debt.

No, they did not, it is true. They did not work out that they could bring in investors instead of selling the housing estates. That is what they did. He has no defence that we have either brought an investor or a mortgagee, depending on whose side you want to fall. They did worse. They alienated the family silver forever. They did not say, 'Lend me £10 in exchange for the pen and I will pay you over the next 10 years, and then the pen is still mine and I have the pen throughout the period.' They said, 'Give me a pound and the pen is yours.' That is what they did. They sold 150 flats that today could be churning and could be for the people who need them on the housing waiting list. They alienated them forever. That is half a housing estate. And at what rate did they sell it? Almost a quarter of the value. Mal vendido. Badly sold, as they say in Spanish. And why did they do it? To raise money. What they did was mad and bad in equal measure.

1650

1655

In many instances I see people who do not want to understand, but with the hon. Gentleman I am starting to wonder whether he can understand, because I have told him too many times. These are not issues of opinion, where you can have different opinions; he is making mistakes on the facts – on what he likes to call the fact matrix. He said:

1660

That is why the people of Gibraltar should believe the discourse of the Opposition, because we have been consistent and, despite the fact that it came at an electoral cost, we never deviated from what we thought was right.

The electorate are not stupid. They know what you have been saying, they have understood what you said, they rejected it and they will know that you were not right and that this 'our chickens are coming home to roost' ... They will know that this is COVID and a war etc. Or at least have the courage of your convictions – you tend to have that – and even though Mr Azopardi will not tell us and Mr Clinton will not tell us, tell us what you would have cut and what you would not have built. Is it the schools, or is it the primary care centres? Which are the civil servants you would get rid of to cut the bill? You could make it clear. You have always said that you are prepared to stand up and after the whole thing is said and done you will stand up and be counted. Tell us who are the people you would sack. It is remarkable.

1665

1670

And then, Mr Speaker, he said:

The Gibraltar Savings Bank Act at that stage, pre amendment, only allowed the proceeds of Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures to be invested in money or moneys-worth investments ...

We amended it to permit the Savings Bank to invest in Gibraltar. 'We have no problem with this Bill as it stands.' That is in the contribution of Mr Clinton to the amendment of the Gibraltar Savings Bank Act. They voted for it. They voted for the amendment to the Gibraltar Savings Bank Act. (Interjection) Well, Mr Speaker, when we made the amendment to the Savings Bank Act to permit the Savings Bank to invest in Gibraltar they voted for it, and when, in 2012 or 2013, they made the earlier amendment, I do not think they even voted, in the end, on the Third Reading. (Interjection)

1675

He said that in 2013, in the by-election, even when they found indisputable evidence that the Government did use the proceeds of the Gibraltar Savings Bank debentures through Credit Finance for the purpose of loans to the Sunborn, we did not admit it until after the election. That is what he said. Well, we admitted it when I was interviewed and asked. It was an admission. But we cannot have been that wrong about it, can we, because we made a lot of money on the

1680

Sunborn for the Gibraltar Savings Bank? That is why they no longer talk about it, and indeed they must be extraordinarily fond of it, because they now shoot their videos there.

1685 But what happened when we admitted it? We admitted it after the 2013 by-election. We admitted it, okay? What happened afterwards? He said:

When it was then admitted, it was justified on the absurd basis

– the absurd basis –

that Credit Finance Company was some form of sovereign fund.

Okay, so then it was not hidden.

1690 And then what happened in 2015? We got 68% in the General Election after that alleged admission of an absurd basis for justifying something, which they obviously set out to the people of Gibraltar was totally wrong. Sixty-eight per cent. So the idea that we won the by-election because we did not admit something until after the by-election, when the margin on the by-election was not as great as the margin in the General Election, is nonsensical. You might have paused to think about that before you wrote it down.

1695 And then the allegation is:

a year later, in 2016, they came to this House and altered the legal borrowing limit by delinking it from recurrent revenue and linking it to a percentage of GDP [...] they never said to the people of Gibraltar, 'We not only defend the levels of public debt but we are going to change the legal borrowing limits in order to allow us to borrow more.' That would have been the honest thing for them to have said at that election ...

1700 That is what he says against us. Mr Speaker, they changed the borrowing limits three or four times and it was never featured in their election manifestos that they were going to change the Borrowing Powers Act. It is all there in Joe Bossano's speech. I commend Joe Bossano's speech to the hon. Gentleman.

1705 Then he said 'Mr Phillips, in his quite terrible speech' – that is not a direct quote – 'did make a point about e-scooters and criticised the Government for the time it has taken for that legislation to come to the House. It is not the Government's fault. I have told Mr Phillips it is my own delay because I represent the Motor Insurance Bureau, which has been in contact and in talks with the Government of Gibraltar and they wish to make some amendments. That is the reason why it is taking so long.' Thank you for the honesty, Mr Speaker, to the hon. Gentleman. At least on that, which explains the Government's delay, the hon. Gentleman fessed up and accepted that he is the one who is responsible. Hon. Members might see that in this case a Member of the House has 1710 accepted that the Government is not delaying, itself. There are other delays that are occasioned where we do not have the Member in this House to tell us that it is their problem.

Mr Speaker, finishing now in respect of Mr Feetham:

I would urge those listening to this debate to prefer the discourse of my learned and hon. Friend the Leader of the Opposition over those of the Chief Minister.

1715 What has that got to do with the price of eggs? We are having a debate in the Parliament about how to vote on this Bill in the Second Reading. We want people to know what we are doing. We want people outside to understand what it is that we are doing and how we are going to spend their money. I published the Book. This is an admission that all of their speeches – exactly as I was saying to your earlier – are about a general election, not about a vote in this Parliament on a Bill. That is the reality: blatant electioneering.

At the end of his speech he said:

I stood in a minority of four in this House when I introduced a Private Member's Bill seeking to equalise the age of consent in 2009-10.

1720 That is true. Of course he stood in a minority. It was shameful that the Government then, the GSD, were seeking to rely on a Private Member's Bill to equalise the age of sexual consent. In effect, they were trying to get a progressive Opposition, the GSLP Liberal Opposition, to do a centre-right conservative Government's dirty work for them. That is what they were trying to do.
1725 It was transparent, like everything he does, completely transparent, and that is what we refused to do. That is what we refused to bail them out of, not because we did not support the principle of the equalisation of consent; we did it immediately we were elected, on a Government Bill.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, he is no hero of the progressive cause. Let's be very clear, he was the dupe of the conservative cause. That is the reality. They tried to use him to lubricate the 1730 change and the legislation failed.

He said:

When the legislation for same-sex partnerships was introduced by hon. Members opposite in this House, everybody on this side of the House voted in favour of it, including my hon. and learned Friend Mr Bossino. When they introduced same-sex marriage, it was supported unanimously from this side of the House. There is no question of a GSD government going in reverse gear in relation to any of that.

Does he sit next to Mr Bossino in this place? The unanimity he talks about in respect of equal marriage happened because Mr Bossino was not in this House at the time. That is the thing that he tried to hide in the way he presents it. He mentions Mr Bossino when he talks about voting for 1735 civil partnerships, then he talks about unanimity without saying that Mr Bossino was not in the House anymore. He says he has said no reverse gear, that the GSD has no reverse gear, which is the direct opposite of what Mr Bossino said and how he said we should consider the effect of cancel culture and the meaning of elections – the direct opposite.

Debates on finances matter, they matter hugely, but parties define themselves by ideology, 1740 and as I will show later when I deal with Mr Bossino's contribution, which I think is the right place in which to deal with it, we have heard, I think, four different positions on a fundamental issue such as equality. So many different positions have we heard that frankly I can understand why he got up to say, 'I want to clarify that there is absolutely no intention of reverse gear on any of the measures I have referred to, or any other measure that the Government has introduced in the last 1745 10 years that they have been in government.' Of course, because they can see that actually all of those who are concerned about equality in our community can see that Mr Bossino said, 'I have the reverse gear in my hand ready to take to the people. I am ready to persuade them, and if I persuade them, reverse gear it is.' That is the reality. Talk about getting your political knickers in a twist because Mr Feetham did not know how to find a way out of the difficulties in which they 1750 find themselves on equality.

Mr Speaker, it is half past one. I estimate that I will take about another 30 minutes to finish, but I am in your hands. You and I are the ones who are not able to move during the course of this.
If you wish to have a break in a moment, I am happy to break.

1755 Mr Speaker: You may continue with your speech.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, Mr Phillips delivered a loud address – not surprising, we all know he likes a microphone. When we were in the depths of the pandemic dealing with all the issues we were dealing with, one of the few moments of levity was Mr Phillips – whilst we were working – on TikTok, doing his karaoke impression of Don't Stop Believin'. It is time to stop 1760 believing that there is any chance that Mr Phillips is going to be finding himself on this side of the House.

Hon. E J Phillips: You've blocked me on every other site.

1765 Hon. Chief Minister: I do not think I have blocked him, Mr Speaker, have I? Well, it must be by mistake because he does amuse me, so I will ensure that I unblock him. I do not always do these things myself. Perhaps I was laughing too much when I was looking at his latest tweet. Maybe I have not blocked him; maybe it is just that the algorithm does not allow his paid-for advertising to get through to me.

1770 Anyway, Mr Phillips's speech was forthright in delivery in order to try to hide the absence of any substance, but in fact Mr Phillips's speech was not just devoid of substance in itself. In one throwaway line, those dangerous throwaway lines, he deprived his colleagues of what they pretended was the substance of their speeches – Mr Feetham, Mr Azopardi and Mr Clinton, who talked about the overspend in the GHA. He said one thing that completely disembowelled the 1775 submissions and arguments made by Mr Azopardi, Mr Clinton and Mr Feetham. They all said this thing about us overspending in Health, but Mr Phillips, to his credit, has a different view. I want to quote him exactly, so nobody suggests that I am traducing what he said:

The only way, in my view, in getting down the collective weight of our community is by increasing our activity levels, putting healthy eating at the forefront with exercise.

The next sentence reads:

This is the only way we can bring down the cost of healthcare and the burden that poor choices can have on the public purse in the long term.

1780 Mr Speaker: There is an issue with your microphone and the Clerk is going to bring it towards you.

Hon. Chief Minister: His theory of this Budget is that the overspend, which was principally on Health, can only be addressed if we all go on a diet, and that is how the public debt will come down. People might think I am making a facile point that the public debt is going to come down 1785 and that the cost of the GHA is going to come down if we all go on a diet, but I am actually reflecting what the hon. Gentleman said. Those were his exact words: 'This is the only way we can bring down the cost of healthcare and the burden that poor choices can have on the public purse in the long term.' Well, so much for our overspending being a fault. I am already on a diet, but unfortunately I am constantly on a diet. Losing weight is a good thing – it is good for diabetes, it is 1790 good for obesity, it is good in every respect in relation to healthcare – but it is not the solution to the public finance problems that this community has. He has identified that the only way to control spending in the GHA is for people to go on a diet and lose weight. He might like to tell Mr Feetham, Mr Azopardi and Mr Clinton that that is his theory of how we deal with things. It also puts the rest of his shouty lament on overspending in the Health Service into context. It is utter 1795 tripe.

It was particularly tripe to suggest that Samantha Sacramento had been fired, because she had been reshuffled. She had not been reshuffled to the back bench. The only person sitting on the back bench chose to sit on the back bench and would be very welcome on the front bench. Nobody has been fired here. Neil Costa left the Government because he wanted to. The last Ministers to 1800 be fired were fired by the people, and they were fired on 9th December 2011. Nobody in this Government has been fired. Being moved from one Ministry to another to do the business of the people of Gibraltar is not being fired, it is a privilege. I have moved portfolios that I had – that is to say I have fired myself because I have given responsibilities to Samantha Sacramento.

1805 Where does this man get these ideas, Mr Speaker? Where do they sit when they write their speeches? I know that some artists have written their best work high on LSD, but it is not a way to write a Budget speech.

Hon. K Azopardi: That is not parliamentary.

1810 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, check the language in the index and see whether it says it is not. I bet you will find it is parliamentary.

The one portfolio that has eclipsed all others in respect of public complaint and engagement is Health. He is right, of course he is right, because it is the Department that has suffered most of the consequences of COVID; the weight of COVID fell on that Department. Mr Azopardi says we 1815 have not had a lockdown for 17 months. We have not had a lockdown in 17 months, but the GHA has been fighting COVID. Even now, COVID is blunt-force trauma to the GHA. We have to fix it. The professionals in the GHA have to fix it, and fix it they will and fix it we will by giving them the support they need to have the ability to book a GP quickly and easily. All of that has to be fixed. We are in the process of fixing it, not because Albert Isola has a silver tongue – well, he has silver 1820 hair, so I assume he has a silver tongue – but we will do it without speaking with a forked tongue, which is what hon. Members do. We will fix it with the professionalism of the medical profession and nursing staff in Gibraltar with a new general manager and without a Minister running the show. How can they say that it is their policy to do that? How can they say that? How can he, in the same speech, say, ‘You fired the Minister for Health because you took her off the Hospital then you reshuffled her,’ and then say, ‘We are the ones leading on the policy’? They do not have the policy of taking a Minister out of the GHA; they had their Minister in the GHA.

These things are not going to be done overnight, I acknowledge that. People might say, ‘The Government is terrible because I still cannot get an appointment.’ Well, we are working very hard to make sure that you can get an appointment. What he is trying to do with all the rhetoric is simply to light a match again under the people, Guy Fawkes style, to try to get people to turn 1830 against the Government – not to persuade his colleagues to vote for or against the Bill but to try to get beyond this place, to persuade people to vote against the Government in a General Election which is not due until October next year, say things like this: access to life-saving medicines will be curtailed, people who cannot obtain medication will get the medication that they need. Access to life-saving medicines will be curtailed ... Where did he get that from? There is absolutely no
1835 question of everybody getting the life-saving medications that they need. There is no question of curtailing life-saving medicines. That is happening in places with austerity. That is not happening here, because there is no austerity. It is ridiculous, utterly ridiculous, designed to make people think, ‘Oh, my goodness, what is happening in Gibraltar?’ but it is not true. It is the thing that Kipling told us not to deal in that he deals in when he says this.

Mr Azopardi came to this House and said in Question Times passed, ‘I am very concerned about the over-medication of patients.’ That is one of the things we have to deal with, which we all said we were concerned about. Mr Phillips seems to want everyone to have everything they want, whether or not they need it, but no question of life-saving medication being curtailed – never – 1845 and, I bet, never even under them or any other Government of Gibraltar would life-saving medical medicines ever be curtailed. How dare he raise that allegation against the Government when it is untrue and it can make people who have a need for life-saving medication, in the worst moments in their life, have a concern because of the nonsense that this man comes here to utter, to create fear in people. They just sling mud. They just create fear. That is the Opposition that we have. What has this got to do with supporting a Bill or not supporting a Bill? It is all about getting people to turn against the Government.

And then, when he turned to the environment and said that John Cortes had no interest in protecting the environment, I should simply have said I am not listening to another word that this boy is saying because it does not deserve to be replied to. To say that John Cortes has no interest in protecting the environment is something that no one is going to believe. John Cortes wishy-washy on the environment? Come on! I am going to have to tell him the same thing I told Mr Margallo: wake up and smell the coffee. Come on! People expect more. Do you forget that you have just been chastising us because we have developed another park? Do you forget that? Parks are not everything, but they improve the quality of the environment of life and they take trees, which are important parts of protecting the biosphere and the environment. Come on! And on air 1855 quality, how can he pretend that our air quality is bad? It is not as good as we want it to be. It is much better than it was under them, and we are on the road to improving it even more, but it is demonstrably better than it ever has been since records began, not least because they did not win the election and there was no grimy, smelly, diesel power station.
1860

1865 If he does not like the volume, this is what he was subjecting us to, a lot of volume – and very little substance – so he is going to get it back because they are the people who represent the Government that did absolutely no solar in Gibraltar, although solar was a technology that existed in their time. Come on! He said we are doing nothing about vehicles. Did he not hear the measure I announced that puts even more pressure in respect of second-hand cars, in respect of LCB and buses? Come on!

1870 No other government in the world has withdrawn from environmental commitments, but we have? No, we have not withdrawn from environmental commitments. Does he not read the news? Doesn't he know that Germany is going back to coal-fired stations? When he says what has happened elsewhere in the world, does he not check?

1875 He said that we spent money on the Alameda, but it was not in a good state and the cemetery was not in a good state. The complaints are down because we are investing in Alameda and we are investing in the cemetery. The ill-conceived closure of Line Wall Road cost – and this was his killer punch – £300,000, wasted by the Government of Gibraltar. Killer punch? Straight back at you, mate. The hole in the ground where the Theatre Royal used to be was our throwaway of £10 million – £10 million of taxpayers' money buried in a hole by the GSD makes everything else pale into insignificance. They are the heavyweights of one thing and one thing only: waste, waste, waste. So how can he complain that we are not doing enough to resurface the roads? How can he complain about that? Is he urging us to spend more money? Is he sitting next to the people who are urging us not to even have spent what we have spent on Health and the power station, let alone on resurfacing roads? You could not make this up. Next time, instead of standing there pretending to channel Marcus Aurelius he should channel Benny Hill; it would be more in keeping with the things he says.

1885 And so, Mr Speaker, I turn now to Mr Bossino. Mr Bossino, to his credit, did not feel that he had to descend into insult during the course of his Budget speech like the others felt they had to do. He was obviously approaching his address from a different standpoint and a different point of view to that which we represent – of course entirely proper, acceptable and accepted because we have a Government-and-Opposition, Westminster-style, adversarial mechanism of government. Absolutely right. There are perennial differences between us, in particular about the value of attending conferences like FITUR in Spain to attract Gibraltar tourism, which comes at great cost. That is a clear distinction between us. There is also another distinction between us – in fact, between us and between him and me, which we have known for many years and which does not affect our friendship: we have different ideological positions. We represent the left, and he has finally come out: he represents the centre right of the political spectrum, which is what everyone on the right says to try to sugar-coat the fact that there are on the right – that they are on the centre right. It is fine. We represent different points of view. That makes for a healthy political debate. Whereas most of his teammates stand for nothing and have no ideological position that they can point to as their lodestar, Mr Bossino clearly has an ideological position that he believes and that only he represents. That is why when the loser of the Opposition says that as long as he is there the GSD will never change its attitude to Pride etc., he means as long as Damon does not become the leader. That is the underlying reality. Mr Azopardi is using the shield of equality to protect himself from Mr Bossino's potential leadership challenge.

1900 I know that he and I have had a very competitive approach to each other since we were young, but in a healthy way, and I do hate to have to say it but his speech really was exactly the sort of engagement that we should have across the floor of this House in a debate: a different point of view in a democracy about doing things in a different way because we each believe in the best interests of our country and we would deliver the best interests of our country in a different way. The sort of thing that we should be talking about.

I was not surprised that he described himself as right wing – centre right; I have watched his journey to the right since we were in school together – but I did not quite expect the vehemence from him. I really did not expect that level of vehemence. Let’s face it, he is not somebody who is known for speaking with passion or conviction on any particular topic, so I was surprised to see him more into Monty Python’s Spanish Inquisition in the approach he took. He did it very convivially. We did it in the warmth of a summer’s afternoon and in our comfy chairs as he spoke, exactly like the threat in the Monty Python sketch, but I do have to challenge him and say it is not cancel culture to say that we will fight to preserve the positions that we have delivered. Cancel culture is not to allow a person to speak their views if it is contrary to the view that those who are progressive would consider is the appropriate view. He said what he wanted. He said that he represents the opposite view and he explained it in the length, or not length, that he chose, and if ever he wants to put a motion in this House he will have, of course, the right to speak for as long as he wishes on any motion on any such subject as he wishes, and he will hear me speak against him on the subject and tell him that as I have led the Government to where I have led it I will fight anybody trying to take that Government and the position in the statute book back from where it is. He would expect nothing less from me, but he knows that I would not seek to silence him, which is what cancel culture is.

1930 He said this:

Whatever happens in the future with abortion or any other issue should be decided by the people of Gibraltar in democratic elections, and they will cast their vote in one direction or another. That is the way democracies operate: the voice of the electorate expressed here in Parliament in general elections.

I agree, that is what democracy is about. I will be speaking in those general elections to ensure that people make the choice that does not see a reverse, and he might be speaking to deliver a different outcome, but what his leader has said, and indeed what Mr Feetham has said, contradicts what he said. The remarkable thing here is that he faces more contradictions from his side of the political divide than he does from us. He said this business about whatever will be decided by elections, and Mr Feetham has said the opposite. Mr Feetham has said, ‘No reverse gear. What this GSLP Government has achieved’ – Mr Feetham talking about the GSLP Government – ‘will not be reversed by a GSD government, even if the people, at an election, have chosen the GSD government that goes into an election seeking the opposite.’ Will he accuse Mr Feetham of cancel culture, or Mr Azopardi, who says that while he is the leader of the GSD there is no reverse gear either?

What I will say is I think that Damon Bossino represents GSD values. He represents the GSD that the GSLP Liberals fought against in 1995 and 1996 and in every other election under Peter Caruana. I do not know what they stand for anymore. I know that he continues to stand for what he stands for, and I appreciate that. I think it is healthy for us to have a debate. If we do not have a debate about the differences between us, we end up calling each other names because the only thing that we are left with is saying, ‘If it is the same thing we are going to do, I will do it better than you.’

1945 ‘No, I will do it better than you.’

1950 ‘No, I am taller than you.’

‘I am shorter than you.’

He stands for something different, so he needs to persuade that what he stands for is the right thing to do, and we persuade that what we stand for is the right thing to do, and then it does not matter who of us is taller or shorter and we do not have to call each other names; we just talk about the thing that we believe we should do or not do.

1955 Mr Azopardi has represented all values. Mr Azopardi represented Liberal Party, National Party values, he has represented GSD values, he has represented PDP values, which are supposed to be progressive values, although he has represented conservative GSD values, and now he is back to representing GSD values, but the GSD values seem to be progressive values, so it is more like diet

1960 GSD, or GSD zero, rather than GSD. Mr Feetham says that he is progressive and that he brings laws about equalisation of age of consent, and he was the GSLP, he was the Labour Party and now he is the GSD zero as well. That is cancel culture. When you do not know what you stand for, you cancel yourselves out, and I commend Mr Bossino for being, in my view, mistaken in his views but 1965 and I encourage him to continue to put his views because that is the plurality of opinion. That is diversity. Diversity cannot only mean that people who were ignored and shamed before now come to the fore and everybody else disappears. Diversity is because everyone who was there before still is, and others who were shunned before are now part of it. I think he and I, ironically, 1970 are probably a wider measure of agreement in that respect, because I think we actually deeply understand these issues more and we do not use them for political purposes, as others do.

I think he is completely wrong on housing allocation. I understand the issue of means testing. I understand that there are abuses on issues relating to housing – don't we know it, and we try to deal with them as often as we can – but the policy that the Hon. Mr Bossino has set out is, in effect, to tell every public servant of Gibraltar over a particular salary that they will not be eligible 1975 for a Government home. That is the reality. So not only, if there was a GSD government would it have Scissorhands Clinton cutting the number of public servants, cutting the cost of the public service and cutting public services, it would have a new housing allocation scheme which would have to have a figure for means testing, and public servants in particular, and indeed the working class who receive a wage from an employer and are the ones who have their wages declared at 1980 the Income Tax Office, would immediately be the prey of that, wherever you decide to throw the line. Say you are saying anybody who has a household income of over £28,000 will not be eligible for Government housing, every public servant who has that income, clear, off the housing waiting list. If you throw it at £50,000, say – £75,000, wherever you throw it, £12,000 ... You have to throw a line. If you do not, then you are just playing a game. You are making its objective ... You are just 1985 going to allow Ministers or civil servants with the ear of Ministers to do Ministers' bidding to allow people in if they like you and not if they do not. You cannot do that here; you have to have an objective number. So if you are going to do means testing, you put that objective number. First victims: those who are on PAYE, public servants and working-class people. You are going to throw a line. You are going to create what you say is justice by throwing the line there and everybody 1990 else will be off, regardless of the circumstances. Okay, so you are going to allow some element of discretion by doing other means tests etc. That is the wrong way to deal with something that is a problem. There is a problem, both side agree there is a problem. There is some abuse of the housing allocation rules, but that is the wrong way to deal with it, and although I am grateful for his honesty in setting out what their policy would be, I think it is very dangerous, in particular for 1995 the public servants of Gibraltar and the working people of Gibraltar, because we do not know ...
 They are going to keep quiet until after the election on where they are going to throw the line, and then you might find that you are on the wrong side of that line.

On the question of travel spend, £28,000 is the cost of a one-page advert in The Times travel section, and yet it is the Budget for the year for travelling that Mr Daryanani has spent.
 2000 Mr Daryanani can be targeted very easily by hon. Members, as they do. They say, 'He's travelling.
 It's terrible. He's spending money.' Easy to persuade people that that is something that should not be happening because they imagine Mr Daryanani in club class drinking champagne and eating nuts and they say it is terrible – none of which I am sure he does. Certainly on the few times we have flown together, Vijay does not eat the nuts and he tends to drink water. I drink Coke Zero – 2005 imagine how big I would be if it did not! If he does not travel, drink water and go to the meetings and bring in the new business, he will say, 'It is terrible – the hon. Gentleman is sitting in his ivory tower at Europort not bringing in any new business.' So which is it to be? The hon. Members have an attack arsenal which they will deploy painting the negative whether we travel or whether we do not travel.

2010 I do not understand his obsession with FITUR, Mr Speaker, because, frankly, if there is one place we do not need to go to market Gibraltar and remind them that we are here, it is Spain.

They have an unhealthy obsession with us; we do not need to tell them to come and visit. We tried FITUR. They insisted on FITUR. We tried FITUR when we came into government. We did not think that it made sense. There may be instances in the future where it makes some sense. If there is a deal which provides Schengen fluidity, we may want to go there one year to explain the benefits of the deal, that sort of thing, but no need for the obsession he has.

In the month of May this year we have had more new cruise calls than ever before in May. The figures are already 162 booked for 2023. We had 197 calls before the pandemic, in 2019, and with 184 this year already – as he knows, the calls are booked later – so on cruises we are doing very well indeed. Our Airport is working better than most airports and we are back to pre-pandemic levels. We have problems with airlines that have gone but come back, but what a bounce back. I think the hon. Gentleman should be congratulating Mr Daryanani. And neither is Mr Daryanani now not going to be involved because Mr Bossino is coming to be the CEO. They are going to work in partnership. They are going to work together to get the best for Gibraltar. We are saving £200,000 for the Gibraltarians already by appointing the £140,000 CEO, so it is a net saving – put up more money but save more money in the long term. I am sure Mr Bossino will do an excellent job in tourism – not him, his brother.

One thing is clear: if he were to become Minister for Tourism, or a Minister in this Government, I assume he would eschew the efforts we are making to attract the pink pound to Gibraltar, which is also extraordinarily important in the context of international tourism, and I suppose he would not fly the Pride flag over No. 6 Convent Place, if he became Chief Minister, on 28th June, which would be a pity because most other governments fly it, but with him in government it would not fly. In fact, there is one thing that he will never have, of course, in the photo sticker album of Saturday mornings in Main Street 2022-23 ... The hon. Gentleman has more stickers than any other Member of this Parliament because he goes to everything down Main Street on a Saturday and has his picture taken with every charity. Laudable though that is, he is not going to have the sticker for Pride events. It is a pity because he is not going to complete the album. The one picture he is missing. He talks about hon. Members just wanting photographs. Well, none of us have as many photographs as he has down Main Street on a Saturday – except that particular Saturday, when he was nowhere to be seen. I thought – ‘Y Damon viene?’ (A Member: No.) (Laughter)

On planning, he was completely wrong. What is not independent about the DPC? The Government has had its own projects rejected by the DPC: extra floors on housing estates rejected by the DPC; new Port Office turned back on several occasions by the DPC; the expansion of New Harbours again. Even before we changed the rules we faced rejection in a public DPC, so how can he say with a straight face that people there just vote with the Government, and Ministers vote with the Government? Ministers are asked by the Chief Minister to be independent in the DPC. There is no government whip in the DPC. They sometimes just have to go back to the minutes, which are now public – Ministers vote in different ways in the DPC. So he cannot make out that what he is saying is true, and therefore the whole premise that he brings here about the DPC, to try to curry favour with those who are against development – but, by the way, when you open the development, people love it ... He says the DPC is a puppet in the hands of the Government. It is not true and it is disrespectful of the members of the DPC who are not Ministers, who are civil servants and public servants, and, indeed, all the other members of the DPC. Mr Speaker, remember that the DPC which they presided over approved a development plan for the Eastside, Sovereign Bay, with a marina and huge towers, so I really do not think that they can make out the arguments they are making.

I thought his arguments on the Caleta Palace were really not sound arguments. The Caleta Palace has had an outline planning permanent subject to redesign. In other words, they have been told, ‘We don't like your design, it needs to be different.’ I do not know what it is he says that the existing Caleta Palace, the one that is going to be demolished, has in keeping with Catalan Bay as it was before the Caleta Palace was built. When you look at Catalan Bay when it was an empty rock on the southern end, what did the Caleta Hotel that is there now have in keeping with the Caleta? Nothing. He made the argument about doing something that was in keeping with Catalan Bay – it does not make any sense.

2065 Mr Speaker, my good friend Chris Riddell is not a David in front of any Goliaths. He has a good slingshot ready, no doubt, and therefore he will be one of the people I trust we will be able to engage in relation to the issues that relate to the marina, which I mentioned earlier already, but I was surprised to see him trying to curry favour in that way.

2070 Finally, the idea that John Cortes is not trusted because the historian Joseph Garcia is continuing with the Northern Defences that he started with and working with the Royal Engineers etc. and doing the Mount and Landport is nonsense. Do they make this up as they go along? John Cortes has delivered Ocean Views, he has delivered two parks, five schools and he is working on three others. Do you think I do not trust him? Really? They know I trust him, Mr Speaker, so there is no need to make those points. We have done so much work on heritage that had lain abandoned and on heritage buildings, like the Social Security building that we have already told him we will consider very carefully.

2080 Mr Bossino I actually believe was also more genuine and fairer in relation to the treaty than I believe Mr Feetham, Mr Azopardi or the others who mentioned it were, who are behind the door with the axe, waiting for us to arrive at the treaty, ready to pounce. I genuinely believe that Mr Bossino, although his original reaction was not as I expected it to be in this House a couple of years ago, has had a Damascene return to where he was after the New Year's Eve Agreement, and I do genuinely believe that he wants us to succeed on the treaty. I am grateful for that and I think he has a job to do in persuading his stable mates to take the same constructive and positive approach he is taking. The Leader of the Opposition has said that we have a referendum on the treaty. I have already said when I think a referendum on the treaty should be held, but I do not think we should hold up the treaty because of a referendum. I have been very clear about that as well.

2090 Mr Speaker, I turn now to Mr Reyes, whose contribution was short but, as usual, when analysed, far from sweet. He said that this year the Budget allocation represents £63 million, £39 million in respect of payroll charges, which is an increase but on the payroll subheads a small saving. Mr Reyes himself is demonstrating that there is no austerity. Mr Feetham was at pains to try to persuade everyone that there is austerity in Gibraltar, Mr Clinton was at pains to say that there is not enough austerity in Gibraltar, and Mr Reyes demonstrated that there is no austerity in Gibraltar because the fact that there is the sum necessary to pay not just for the numbers of teachers we had before but for more teachers, who were being paid under relief cover and now will be paid directly, is a demonstration that we will be putting the money where it needs to be put.

2100 On temporary cover, the reason there is a thousand pounds is because we have taken all of the new teachers and so there needs to be a new assessment as to what a temporary cover will be, and as we run through the next couple of financial years, this and the next Government after the next General Election, which I hope will be of the same political complexion, will be able to see, with the full complement, how the relief cover plays out. That is why we have put a token, so that we can assess it as we go. With a full complement there should be a lot less relief cover. Of course there will be pregnancies, of course there will be maternity and paternity leave where relevant, of course there will be serious illness, but teachers do not take time off. Teachers have time off if they are ill or if they need it, but otherwise their leave works in a different way. That is why we have put in the token.

2110 The £8,000 that he asked us about for compulsory professional supervision is for the school counsellors, which is the compulsory requalification or checking that they do, which is required to keep up their registration through periodic assessment, and the increase of almost £400,000 in respect of facilities management is the contract for the new schools. I am not going to reply on whether or not teachers have been involved in the planning process because Mr Licudi, who actually ran the planning process and the building process for some of our new schools already gave a magnificent reply when he spoke on Thursday.

2115 Mr Speaker, I do not agree that giving teachers full-time jobs, instead of keeping them as supply, makes their future insecure in any way, but I do strongly agree with him that those who have not been successful at interview should be given meaningful feedback so that they know what they have to improve for any future interviews they have.

2120 On the Housing Works Agency, the hon. Gentleman was surprised to see lower numbers. What they cannot do is pretend that they are surprised to see the Housing Works Agency being run down when they are the ones who signed the deal that ran it down. They signed a deal that said for every two people in this agency, only one will come in. That is a law of diminishing returns. You have turned the pyramid, in effect, on its head. The Housing Works Agency is going to zero because the GSD confined it to go to zero under the agreement it signed and said it was confining it to go to zero. This is like a doctor or a gaoler who, executing capital punishment, injects the lethal injection, leaves the patient and then comes back and says to the nurse standing next to him, 'Why is he dead?'

'Well, because you asked me to stand here whilst the poison you had injected into his veins had the effect.'

2130 Anyway, it is not true that hon. Members here have heard excuses for the reason why sporting facilities are not completed. Of course we were waiting too long for that and of course it is lamentable, but reasons are not excuses. Excuses are designed to exculpate somebody who should have done something and was able to do something and has failed to do something. Reasons set out why something has happened and I think everybody will understand the reason behind why we have not been able to finish those facilities – although they will finish very soon, as the Minister for Sport told us. I do join him in wishing all the best to our athletes at the Commonwealth Games and any other Gibraltarians competing internationally this summer before the House is able to meet again. I know that we have a number of Gibraltarian football teams in our league and they will be playing the knockout stages of qualification for the Champions League and the Europa League, and I know that every Member of this House will join me in wishing them all the best.

I do appreciate that the hon. Gentleman said this:

once again, this year I wish to reaffirm my personal conviction that, through the collective celebration of social events, participating Gibraltarians contribute to reinforcing our identity, culture and history as a people and a community.

2145 The parties that hon. Members say we should not be funding I assume are the ones that Mr Reyes was telling us are very welcome because they gel us as a people, and our identity, and I know all Members, on this side of the House, at least, are very much looking forward to celebrating a Gibraltar National Day in the normal traditional way down at Casemates, which the GSD stopped and we brought back, this year after two years of not being able to do so.

2150 All mysteries are sometimes resolved, except perhaps the mystery of Fátima. Now we know who created the culture of entitlement. Mr Reyes said this:

Our local performers, entertainers and audiences are entitled to ask for a theatre which is fit for purpose and available throughout the year without them having to exclusively raise the funds themselves.

2155 'Entitled' – the culture of entitlement, the entitlement to culture, the entitlement for the Government and the taxpayer to pay for the infrastructure of culture. Thank you, Mr Reyes, for having spilt the beans and having explained so clearly that it was the GSD that created the culture of entitlement as already set out. What we are seeing is benefactors wanting to invest in this theatre and wanting to make it a reality for our people, but if we go around talking about people being entitled to things we are doing none of the things that the rest of his team say and agree with the Government we should all be doing. When hon. Members write their speeches, they need to look at every word. Every word matters.

2160

2165 Finally, Mr Speaker, the only Member I have not had to deal with this year is Ms Marlene Hassan Nahon, who has not been with us for this session. We have had our fair share of disagreements this year, in this House and outside it, but I want to associate myself with the words of the Hon. Minister Sacramento on the disgraceful WhatsApp anonymous attack that was circulating and to associate myself with the words of the Hon. Mr Licudi in wishing Ms Hasson Nahon all the very best and looking forward to welcoming her back to this House in order to continue to disagree with her in the parliamentary way. We are all human, Mr Speaker, and it is not an indulgence to grieve a parent.

2170 There is one other speech that I have to deal with this year. It is the undelivered speech of Sir Joe Bossano. Having had an opportunity to read that speech ... I usually read Sir Joe's speech after he has delivered it, when the Hansard comes in, because I enjoy it. I have been, like everybody else, deprived of the opportunity of hearing Sir Joe deliver his speech with his asides and his quips at hon. Members. I must say, having read it, I really do think it is the most brilliant analysis of the current economic climate affecting the whole world, an excellent prediction of the issues that can affect the Gibraltar economy, and in particular it sets out in stark Technicolor, black upon white on the page, the contradictions that hon. Members have fallen into in the attacks that they have made on the Government in the past years. I do hope that we will be able to see Sir Joe deliver that speech in some way, so that those who prefer to watch it rather than read it will have an opportunity of doing so. In that speech he talks about a new system of social security which will enable people to retire as from the age of 60 – which I very much welcome – in keeping with our manifesto commitments, and he also sets out a number of predictions which I think all should see.

2180 Mr Speaker, I am sorry to have gone on for a little longer than I expected, but I am now coming to my concluding remarks and I will not keep the House for much longer. When I first arrived at Oxford University, not as a student but to interview, on the door of the man who was to become my law tutor, where I was going for my first interview, there was pinned a poem by Rudyard Kipling. Since then, I have tried to live my life according to the maxims set out in that poem. I do not deal in lies, I do not deal in hate, I do not lose my head in difficult moments. I tell it like it is. I treat popes, earls and countesses like I treat union leaders, workers and those who need to see me on any issue: with respect and friendship. They know that, because whenever they need me I am there to help them, also.

2185 Today and this week I have told it like it is, like I always do. I have told the truth to our people. I have worked for the past two and a half years since the election like never before, and so have all of my Government colleagues. I thought we had worked hard on Brexit, but combining Brexit and COVID was really difficult. I think we have proven ourselves to our people, we have proven ourselves in this House and we have proven ourselves to the world. Yet I come here this week to be called a knave and a thief, a highwayman and a pickpocket by an Opposition that has nothing to contribute but mud, debt and fears. They have slung mud, they have miscalculated and misrepresented debt and they have sought to exploit fears. Mud, debt and fears – that is all they have. That is what they have shown in this House in the past week. We have listened out of respect for the parliamentary process and out of respect for them, but not out of any respect that they display for us. I have not called them any names in my original intervention. I have kept to the hard facts. The public needed a serious debate, no frivolity, no name-calling, but they came here with nothing but insult, miscalculations on our national debt and rising fears for our people. They leave the blood, sweat and tears to us. We leave the mud, debt and fears to them. What I have been forced to do today is to hold up a mirror to them, to show them who they really are, to show them that their offer of mud, debt and fears is not what the people of Gibraltar want, that they are wrong, and to show them that even in these toughest of moments we are ready to give our best, so that when we look back on what we did in this time and generation we will say that this was our finest hour.

2200
2205
2210 When people look back on this debate, they will say, 'What was the alternative that the Opposition presented?' Although they do not say it explicitly, if you vote for the GSD in the next election, given that they want to make this debate about votes outside this House, not here, what

2215 they are going to get is Scissorhands Clinton cutting jobs, cutting wages and cutting public services, or centre-right Damon trying to undo the progressive advances that we have delivered. At least Mr Bossino was honest about his position and the things I have said about name-calling do not apply to him, as I set out. Cuts with Chancellor Scissorhands Clinton; loss of sexual rights and freedoms with right-wing Bossino.

2220 With the GSLP Liberals in government, Gibraltar is safe politically, it is safe financially; Gibraltar remains that safe haven for our people. There is no highwayman here. What there is on the other side is a group of unfunny comedians who make up an Opposition that is no alternative government. This is a time for serious politics and serious people. It is a time for serious arguments and serious solutions. It is not a time for highwaymen or bandoleros or bandoliers. It is time to 2225 work hard to put our society back on track, a time to work and argue seriously to ensure that through argument we improve things. It is not a time for populism, for opportunism or for Trumpism and petty politics, but that is all we have got from them – and the threat of those serious, deep and damaging cuts to public services whilst at the same time arguing for more public services and more costs and more theatres, etc. In fact, they are quite divided in terms of cuts on jobs and services, as they are divided on equal rights and reproductive rights. I do not think they 2230 are a party; I think there are six parties in the skin of one snake.

As the people see the effects of our Budget, as they understand that these measures are designed to protect them from the huge increases in electricity costs that we have seen elsewhere, as they see that the tax increases are temporary and designed to make us stronger and that we will never surrender to their cowardly approach to the problems that we face today, 2235 many people will say, 'I didn't like the Budget, but it was the right budget for Gibraltar.'

I have told them about the many messages I have received. I am going to read one of these messages because I think it is important that I should. This is what I received. This is a person who is not a member of my political party, by the way:

Man, I just heard the Leader of the Opposition. You guys have built a beautiful park, great modern schools, great beaches with great facilities, the estates with new cladding etc. Es una gloria Gibraltar that you have worked for, man. 'Vanity projects' – what the BLEEP? ... vanity una BLEEP. Don't they remember the Bayside vaults? We had classes cancelled porque se llovía and you could not get into the classrooms porque estaban encharcado. Y ahora Bayside/Westside is like a modern university in the best city. Legacy projects, not vanity projects. L-e-g-a-c-y.

2240 I am not going to read the many hundreds of messages that I have received.

Mr Speaker, I am an old cynic, but that Llanito message almost brought a tear to my eye. It is not lost on me that the people opposite actually want the malevolent commentators on social media to hit us hard, and that if we had not built Bayside they would be hitting us really hard now 2245 for not having built Bayside. If we had not built a new PCC they would be hitting us for not having built a new PCC. You cannot work with some people. We cannot win and we cannot do it to win.
We do it because it is the right thing to do, and as the summer advances and the dust settles the people will see a Government acting in its best interests, acting in the interests of our people, and they will decide who deserves to be supported and who deserves to be rejected at the next 2250 General Election. That is for the General Election. What we have to do now is decide how to vote on this Bill.

No one likes to pay higher taxes, no one likes to raise taxes, but when we have finished working with our partners in the unions, in the Chamber, in the Federation and with Action on Poverty, we will have done all these things and ensured that we have protected those of our businesses that 2255 need protection and those who are the most vulnerable in our society as we build a bridge to recover our public finances.

If you are a teacher, if you are a fireman, if you are a police officer or a GDC employee, if you are a GHA employee or if you are a prison officer or a customs officer, if you work in the Port or in the GSLA or if you work in the Civil Service in any capacity, today we have been told the GSD is 2260 going to vote that you should not be paid. If you need medical services or the assistance of the Police, if you are due a rebate on tax, if you need your welfare payment, your disability payment, 2265 your state pension, if you need a passport or an identity card, whatever government service today you need, the GSD today is going to vote for you not to have that service. They are voting against the Budget and that is what that means, because they are not leaders. They are men with no shame, men with no clue and men with no plan. Gibraltar would have to be very irresponsible indeed to give the reins to the gentlemen opposite now, and Gibraltar is not irresponsible, far from it.

2270 So, having heard nothing to persuade me otherwise, having watched an Opposition shorn of credibility and short of ideas, having heard even the most basic and sacred rules of parliamentary debate bent to destruction by Members opposite, and having the comfort that in everything I have said in this debate I have not dealt in lies, bearing to hear the truths that we have all spoken in this debate twisted by knaves to make copious traps for fools, I have no doubt that this is the right Appropriation for Gibraltar, that it will be passed with GSLP Liberal votes. Once again, we will vote to pay our public service and fund our public services, and once again, just like for the past 2275 five years, these will be provided to our people only because the GSLP Liberals are prepared to vote to keep paying them and to keep providing the services. We are going to keep our heads about us, although they insist on losing theirs. We trust ourselves despite their doubting. We will not fret about being lied about and we will not deal in lies, and, what is most important, we will not give way to hating. Therefore, Mr Speaker, it is a privilege and an honour to once again
2280 commend the Bill to the House. (Banging on desks)

Adjournment

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I now move that the House should adjourn until tomorrow to consider the Committee Stage. The reason for that is that hon. Members will want to know that Sir Joe is able to be tested tomorrow, and, if he were to test negative, it would be possible for him to join us for the Committee Stage of these proceedings, which I know everyone 2285 would consider would be helpful and would be welcome.

So, instead of taking the Committee Stage today, we will take it tomorrow. I would propose, Mr Speaker, that we therefore come back at 11 o'clock tomorrow and then be able to determine how best to continue.

2290 Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Tuesday, 5th July at 11 a.m.

I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Tuesday, 5th July at 11 a.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

This House will now adjourn to Tuesday, 5th July at 11 a.m.

The House adjourned at 2.29 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

MORNING SESSION: 11 a.m. – 12.45 p.m.

Gibraltar, Tuesday, 5th July 2022

Contents

Order of the Day	2
Appropriation Bill 2022 – Debate concluded – Second Reading approved.....	2
Appropriation Bill 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	3
Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved	3
Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved.....	3
Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	5
Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved	5
Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved.....	6
Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	7
Committee Stage and Third Reading.....	7
Appropriation Bill 2022 – Consideration of clauses	7
The House recessed at 12.45 p.m. and resumed at 4.04 p.m.	22

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 11 a.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[ACTING CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S Galliano Esq in attendance]

Order of the Day

Appropriation Bill 2022 – Debate concluded – Second Reading approved

Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Tuesday, 5th July 2022.
The Hon. the Chief Minister.

5 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I believe you have to put the question on the Second Reading.

Mr Speaker: Yes. I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to appropriate sums of money to the service of the year ended on the 31st day of March 2023 be read a second time.
10 Those in favour?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I call a division.

Mr Speaker: A division has been called.

Voting resulted as follows:

FOR

Hon. P J Balban
Hon. Prof. J E Cortes
Hon. V Daryanani
Hon. Dr J J Garcia
Hon. A J Isola
Hon. G H Licudi
Hon. S E Linares
Hon. F R Picardo
Hon. Miss S J Sacramento

AGAINST

Hon. K Azopardi
Hon. D A Feetham
Hon. R M Clinton
Hon. D A Feetham
Hon. E J Phillips
Hon. E J Reyes

ABSENT

Hon. Sir J J Bossano
Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon

Mr Speaker: The result of the division is as follows. There are 9 votes in favour, 6 against and 2 absences, one through sickness and one through family bereavement. The Bill's Second Reading is carried.

Appropriation Bill 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

15 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken later today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
First Reading approved

20 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Legal Services Act 2017. The Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Legal Services Act be read a first time.

25

Mr Speaker: I would like to advise the Parliament that the Hon. the Chief Minister has certified that consideration of this Bill is too urgent to permit the expiry of six weeks after the date on which the Bill was published before proceeding on the same. I have the certificate and we can now continue the process.

30 I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Legal Services Act 2017 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Legal Services (Amendment) Act 2022.

Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Second Reading approved

35 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill now be read a second time.

40 The Bill amends the Legal Services Act 2017 (the Act). This had been partly commenced, with some parts coming into force on 1st July 2019. The parts that have already been commenced are mainly those that established the Legal Services Regulatory Authority (LSRA), but not those that enable it to commence its statutory functions of regulating the profession. Currently, the LSRA is carrying out many regulatory functions as agent for the Registrar of the Supreme Court, who remains statutorily responsible.

45 The Bill amends both parts of the Act that have been commenced and parts that have not yet been commenced. The amendments in the Bill had been requested and prepared by the LSRA and approved by its board, which is chaired by Sir Peter Caruana QC and of which David Dumas QC is the CEO. The board includes the Chair and Vice-Chair of the Law Council, previously called the Bar Council. I am assured by the LSRA that insofar as the proposed amendments touch on matters that are currently the responsibility of the Chief Justice, he, too, has been consulted and has approved them.

50 The LSRA has requested these amendments to rectify shortcomings that it has identified in the Act as it is prepared to fully assume its intended functions and responsibilities under it. Once amended as sought by the Bill, the whole amended Act can be commenced at a date to be agreed with the LSRA, whereupon the LSRA will fully take over the regulation of the legal profession on the terms of the Act.

55 The amendments are wide-ranging but do not depart from the intended regime created by the Act. Many of the amendments correct unintended consequence of the Act's drafting, introduce necessary structure, clarity and consistency to the regime created by the Act to permit it to be coherent and effective, correct errors in cross-referencing and definitions, and endow the LSRA with the necessary corporate powers and procedures to enable it to discharge its functions.

60 The Act currently lacks a clear, structured or effective basic regulatory spine in keeping with current regulatory principles, namely prohibition, authorisation and the offence of carrying out without the authorisation. The Act contains contradictions as to who is eligible to apply to be registered in a way that makes registration impossible, since an applicant would need to possess that which he can only obtain after registration. The proposed amendments cure these defects by introducing a clear, coherent regime comprising (1) the prohibition against the carrying out of the 65 prescribed reserved legal activity unless the person is authorised by registration, or exempt; (2) what enables a person to carry out a reserved legal activity, namely registration as an authorised person and the holding of a practising certificate; and (3) the offence of carrying on or holding himself out as providing a reserved legal activity without being entitled to do so, or exempt.

70 Mr Speaker, I have discussed this Bill with the Hon. Mr Feetham, and, as a result of the shortness of time that has been given for the passing of this Bill, have agreed to enter into discussions with him on any issues that provide him with any difficulty and to meet with the LSRA to ensure that we are able to reach consensus on what is the best way forward. I know there are a number of Members opposite who have an interest, not just political but personal; I would be
75 very happy to meet with them and talk these things through with the LSRA, and the drafters in particular, to ensure we arrive at a Bill that is fit for purpose, as indeed is obviously the intention.

The Bill would render the LSRA a fit-for-purpose regulator of the legal profession, enabling the general public to be adequately protected whilst ensuring the independence of the legal profession.

80 Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any Hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill? The Hon. Daniel Feetham.

85 Hon. D A Feetham: We will be supporting the Bill.

Sir Peter Caruana reached out to me yesterday in order to discuss this Bill. I know that he is one of the individuals who have been involved in the drafting of the Bill. The Bill is essentially a product of the work of the LSRA and should not be controversial, but of course, because of the shortness of time, as the Minister has indicated, we would like an opportunity to meet with the 90 Minister and also to meet with those who have drafted the Bill in order to ask any questions and clarify any issues that we may have some concerns about.

I, myself, am not certain about the amendments that are proposed for section 5 and, for example, what the implications are in terms of catching out or excluding consultants who may be employed by a firm. It says 'as a partner, director, consultant to' ... must be a consultant to a local 95 firm. There are a number of firms that employ consultants and I just wonder the extent to which that goes. I know that my learned friend Mr Phillips has some concerns in relation to the use of paralegals. Many firms use paralegals, for example, in order to do research. I suppose the answer in relation to that is they are not holding themselves out to offering legal services from Gibraltar because they are doing research for somebody else and that person is licensed to provide legal 100 services. These are the types of issues that we would appreciate the opportunity to be able to discuss with the Minister and also to discuss with the drafters of the Bill in order to ensure that Gibraltar has the best possible product. Subject to that, Mr Speaker, we will be supporting the Bill.

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to make any contribution?
The Hon. Albert Isola.

105

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, thank you. I am grateful to the hon. Members for their support and, as I mentioned earlier, I would be happy to meet with them to see if there are any issues that require clarification and ultimately, if necessary, amendment by discussing the same with the drafters.

110

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Legal Services Act 2017 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Legal Services (Amendment) Act 2022.

Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

115

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

120

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
First Reading approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to make changes to amend the Traffic Act 2005. The Hon. the Minister for Transport.

125

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Traffic Act 2005 be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Traffic Act 2005 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

130

Clerk: The Traffic (Amendment) Act 2022.

Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for the Traffic (Amendment) Act 2022 be read a second time.

135 This Bill amends the Traffic Act 2005 and introduces provisions that will allow for an improved service at the DVLD and change the composition of the Traffic Commission, with focus on the addition of a representative from the Gibraltar Cycling Association as part of this Government's continuing commitment to a greener Gibraltar. In addition to this, changes are being made in order to enhance enforcement powers held by the RGP to ensure that our roads continue to be safe to use, with appropriate deterrents being put in place as part of the first phase of a review of traffic offences in Gibraltar.

140 I will now move on to the clauses of the Bill, which give more detail on these amendments. Clause 3(2) amends section 6 of the Traffic Act 2005 in order to allow temporary examiners to be appointed for the purposes of examining drivers. The DVLD experienced a backlog of appointments due to the pandemic, and should similar issues arise in the future the Licensing Authority would, for example, be able to engage retired examiners on a short-term basis to deal with the workload.

145 Mr Speaker, I have given notice that I will, at the Committee Stage, move an amendment to the Bill to amend clause 3(3) and to insert new subclauses (4) to (6). The amendment to clause 3(3) will allow for the composition of the Traffic Commission to change, in line with the Government's continued commitment towards a greener Gibraltar. The change will allow for the addition of a transport planner, an additional member to be appointed by the Government and a representative of the Gibraltar Cycling Association.

150 The new clause 3(4) amends section 65(2) of the Traffic Act 2005 to address the concerns raised by the Royal Gibraltar Police that a police officer has no legal power to require a person to provide a blood sample unless the police officer has first been advised by a medical practitioner that the condition of that person may be due to a drug – section 65(2)(c) of the Traffic Act 2005. As the law currently stands, this requirement adds to the time and expense to process an individual. That is because a medical practitioner would need to conduct his own impairment tests rather than rely on the RGP's preliminary drug tests which the RGP are empowered to conduct under section 63D of Traffic Act 2005. Moreover, the Gibraltar position can be contrasted with the UK, where, pursuant to amendments to the UK Road Traffic Act 1988, the Police are permitted to request a blood sample without a medical practitioner having first conducted his own impairment tests. This difference puts Gibraltar at a relative disadvantage to the UK in eradicating the problem of driving under the influence of drugs. This amendment is intended to bring section 65(2) of the Traffic Act 2005 in line with the amendments made to section 7(3) of the UK Road Traffic Act 1988.

160 Mr Speaker, the amendments introduced by the new clause 3, 5 and 6 are a first step to a wider exercise of reviewing traffic offence penalties and the level of fixed penalty notices. The Royal Gibraltar Police have raised concerns that the level of some of the fixed penalty notices for traffic offences has been too low to act as a deterrent. A review has been conducted to make appropriate amendments and this is the first stage of the process, designed to ensure that there would not be a discrepancy between the level of FPN and the underlying penalty for the offence. The general penalty for traffic offences, which applies where no specific penalty is provided for, is being increased from level 1 to level 3 and from three months' to six months' imprisonment. Whether a penalty should be higher or lower than that or where it is already expressly provided for within existing legislation, amendments will be made, as necessary, at stage 2 of the process.

175 Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

180 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, we welcome the amendment to the Traffic Act, particularly in relation to the functionality and the operation of examiners in our jurisdiction, but also welcome the enhancement of powers due to the RGP, so this will have the full support of the Opposition.

185 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Traffic Act 2005 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Traffic (Amendment) Act 2022.

Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Minister for Traffic (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

190 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

COMMITTEE STAGE AND THIRD READING

Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Reading. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

195 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I move that the House should resolve itself into Committee to consider the following Bills clause by clause: the Appropriation Bill 2022, the Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 and the Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022.

In Committee of the whole House

Appropriation Bill 2022 –
Consideration of clauses

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to appropriate sums of money to the service of the year ending on the 31st day of March 2023.

Clause 1.

200 Mr Chairman: Clause 1 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 1, Treasury.

205 Mr Chairman: Clause 2, head 1, Treasury.

Hon. R M Clinton: Can we stop, Mr Chairman? We are on the Treasury detailed expenditure at the moment?

Mr Chairman: Let's restart. Let's say clause 2, head 1, Treasury, subheads 1 and 2.

210

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Chairman.

If could ask, on head 1, Treasury, subclause 2, item (16), the item is headed 'Government office rent and service charges' with an outturn of £10,535,000 for 2021-22 and £10,700,000 for 2022-23. I would be grateful for an analysis.

215

Mr Chairman, I would just point out that the schedule I was given in answer to Question 270 last week adds up to a total of £2.3 million. I would be grateful if the Government could advise what the bulk of the £10 million is.

220

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Chairman, yes, if the hon. Gentleman looks at the Book, he will see that this is a reduction from £19 million of the actual in 2019-21 – in fact, that is the double year – going down to £10.3 million per year, and this year £10.7 million. The exact figure is £10,692,579 and it is made up as follows: World Trade Centre, £217,486; 323 Main Street, £109,584; Blake House, £69,752; New Harbours, £11,683; Leanse Place £282,994; Suite 6, 57-63 Line Wall Road, £142,862; Suite E, Regal House, £94,114; Euro Towers, £30,887; John Mackintosh Hall, £125,000; Units, ICC 9.3, £91,435; and then all buildings, £9,516,178.

225

Hon. K Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Chairman, can the Chief Minister just repeat ...? We did not hear it. Did he say 'all' buildings or 'old' buildings?

230

Hon. Chief Minister: No, in the breakdown I have it is 'all' buildings. I am just trying to find out what 'all' buildings is. Mr Chairman, I can endeavour to provide a breakdown, if hon. Members want. We are just finding it very difficult to see the list that we have, because it is in very small print. It would appear that those are the buildings that hon. Members, when they were in government, put into a company subjected to a loan and we pay rent in respect of that, which is the Gibraltar car parks loan which they obtained, but I will give him, if he wishes, the breakdown building by building – which I think is what he wants – of the £10,700,000.

235

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, it might speed things up if he could just give us a schedule, and then that would be acceptable to us.

240

Mr Chairman: Anything further on head 1, Treasury?

Mr Clerk, you may proceed to close this.

Clerk: Head 2 –

245

Mr Chairman: No, hold on. We need to say that head 1, Treasury, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 2 ... [Inaudible]

250

Mr Chairman: Mr Clerk, as soon as the Members of the Opposition have stopped asking questions, then we must proceed and read out the head and subheads, so we can give this a bit of a push.

255

Clerk: Head 3, Office of the Chief –

Mr Chairman: No, head 2, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

You can proceed to head 3.

260

Clerk: Head 3, Office of the Chief Technical Officer, subheads 1 and 2.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, I am sorry to be very technical about this, but it is important. No. 6 Convent Place is three subheads because it has the COVID subhead in, exceptionally. For the Hansard we need to, just technically, have that subhead 3 in as well. Although it is going to zero this year, it is still in the Bill.

265

Clerk: Head 2, No. 6 Convent Place, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 2, No. 6 Convent Place, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

270

Clerk: Head 3, Office of the Chief Technical Officer, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 3, Office of the Chief Technical Officer, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

275

Clerk: Head 4, Customs, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask on that one ...? Can there just be an explanation on subhead 2, item (15), 'ASYCUDA expenses'? That is in relation to what in particular? What new expenses would be necessary?

280

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this is actually not a new expense. It is a transfer of the expense which hon. Members used to see at subhead 1(1)(d), which was the temporary assistance head. This is an individual who provides a service. He is not an employee of Customs, he provides a service. The view we took when we were looking at this in detail this year is that it is not correct to book somebody who is contracted to provide a service under the temporary assistance head; he should be provided for as an expense of the thing at least that he is providing the contracted service for, which is the ASYCUDA system. This is the person who maintains the ASYCUDA system.

285

Hon. K Azopardi: On the same head, on item (19), can I ask also about the further clarification on the rise from the forecast outturn of £180,000 to £425,000 in respect of leasing arrangements and what that could be?

290

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this is the full-year effect of the leasing arrangements for the Scimitar. Hon. Members will have seen, the year before, £180,000, which is a part-of-the-year effect, and the full-year effect is the £425,000 – HMS Scimitar.

295

Hon. K Azopardi: So we are leasing the Scimitar? On what terms? I do not understand.

Hon. Chief Minister: I think we have announced before that we are leasing the Scimitar. It is leased from Damen Shipyards, which means that we are able to replace it should something go wrong with it. We do not suffer the capital cost of having to acquire it and put up the capital, and there are different terms as to maintenance etc., all of which is included in the cost of the lease and is, in the long term, cheaper to the taxpayer than an outright purchase and suffering the cost of the maintenance.

300

305

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask, Mr Chairman, on that – unless they have announced it; and, if so, I have certainly missed it – what is the length of the lease?

Hon. Chief Minister: The length of the initial leasing arrangement is three years, Mr Chairman, and I think we announced that when we did the event at the launch of the Scimitar.

310

Mr Chairman: Head 4, Customs, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 5, Income Tax, subheads 1 to 3.

315 Hon. Chief Minister: Before we carry on, I have just been told it is 42 months, not three years – just to be clear in respect of the earlier answer.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask, on Head 5 subhead 2(9), Contribution to GDC Staff Services, £144,000 compared to £106,000 on the outturn – what is the reason for that?

320

Hon. Chief Minister: It is the increase, Mr Chairman, which hon. Members will see reflected on the cover page for head 5, of an additional GDC officer for this financial year.

Mr Chairman: Head 5, Income Tax, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

325

Clerk: Head 6, Parliament, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. K Azopardi: On subhead 1(1)(a), less on salaries expected this year – what is that represented by?

330

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, there is one member less in the complement of the Parliament and the senior grade in Parliament has changed from senior officer to senior executive officer and that explains the saving.

335 Hon. K Azopardi: And then, on subhead 2(8), CPA Expenses, the rise to £100,000 – is that to cover the possible conference that the Minister was talking about last week, or is it something else?

340 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Chairman, and the hon. Gentleman will see that there is a footnote to that effect at the bottom of the text. I do appreciate, Mr Chairman, that at our age footnotes become harder. If only Sir Joe were here – he spots them immediately.

Mr Chairman: Head 6, Parliament, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

345 Clerk: Head 7, Human Resources, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. K Azopardi: At subhead 2(6), Rents and Service Charges, it is £161,000 this year, as opposed to £33,000 for last year, so, again, could we have a clarification of that?

350 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, the Public Sector Support Unit, which was the human resources resource for everything that was not the Civil Service, was accounted for separately before; it is now accounted for here, also. All of the costs of human resources for the Government are now consolidated in this place, so that it is easier to see the cost of that, and those are the costs for rent and service charges for the PSSU coming from elsewhere in the Book – it used to be under the GDC.

355

Hon. K Azopardi: And then, just further down, the line at item (10), the Early Exit Schemes, £2 million, as opposed to £1.6 million. That projection is based on, I guess, an assessment, by the Department, of early retirement, is it?

360

Hon. Chief Minister: In part; in particular, the Housing Works Agency and the cost to the Housing Works Agency as the age profile shifts there towards the deal that hon. Members did, which we need to fund.

365 Hon. K Azopardi: Entirely a Housing Works Agency cost?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, it is all the early exit schemes. The one which is the one that we have the greatest visibility over is the Housing Works Agency. Others are demand led, in some instances.

370

Hon. K Azopardi: Is there an assessment by the Department of how the possible £2 million would be made up?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, down to the names and dates of birth of the individuals – information which I am afraid I cannot share across the floor of the House. But yes, it is a very accurate assessment of the cost, principally based on the Housing Works Agency because that is the one where we see the age profile and allowing a small estimate to be able to fund those that otherwise might also be agreed during the year, not broken down by Department but by individual.

380

Mr Chairman: Head 7, Human Resources, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 8, Immigration and Civil Status, subheads 1 to 3.

385 Hon. K Azopardi: I can see there is an increase in GDC staff, but the increase in salaries in Immigration, which is about ... There is a £130,000 difference there, more or less, that does not seem to be reflected in an increase in establishment, so perhaps there can be a clarification. Is that just like a ...?

390 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, there is an additional higher executive officer in the Department, there is additional executive officer in the Department, there is an additional AA in the Department, one less AO and there are two or more GDCs in the Department. I know that he was asking about the top, but I have told him also about the GDC because we will come to that, and the contribution will also have to cover that.

395

Hon. K Azopardi: I understand the increase in the GDC posts, but that would be reflected, I assume, at item (12), Staff Services, so taking that out ... If you look at the establishment, as it were, on page 36, I can see it is the same number. I understand what the Chief Minister is saying, that there is one more executive officer – because I can see that – one less AO, one more HEO and booked as two less EOs. It is the same number of staff, 25, but the adjustments of the posts accounts for the difference of around £130,000 – that is what we are talking about?

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, I believe that is exactly right, Mr Chairman. The hon. Gentleman needs to see that he is looking at the outturn and the estimate for the year before in the eight hundreds, and the estimate this year. The estimate this year is more precise because I think, from what I understand of this Department, those posts have been filled. The estimates in previous years would have included a half-year provision in some instances, rather than a full-year provision, and therefore, when you do the full amount for the payment of the 25, you will get to the figure that is there now. And, as I told him, the GDCs are reflected in the increase below.

410

Mr Chairman: Head 8, Immigration and Civil Status, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 9, Financial Secretary's Office, subheads 1 to 3.

415 Hon. K Azopardi: At item (10), where it says 'Supervision of Financial Businesses (Anti-Money Laundering)', I assume that is a notional figure. I just wanted to ask the hon. Members to perhaps explain the thinking there. Is that a new unit that is being set up under the Financial Secretary for a specific task? What is the thinking behind that?

420 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, I have not got my earlier Books, but I understand that this has been there for years – it is a provision made in case there is a requirement for supervision of financial businesses, which I think is one of the obligations in statute of the Financial Secretary – but it has never, in the past, been called upon since the financial obligation was there. As most 425 hon. Members will know, where you have a thousand pounds in, it is usually, but not always, a token, and that is a token in the event that the Financial Secretary were to be required to become engaged in the execution of his statutory obligations.

Mr Chairman: Head 9, Financial Secretary's Office, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

430 Clerk: Head 10, Government Law Offices, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask. on item (24), which is professional fees – is that where they book briefing-out fees by the Government Law Officers, or is it is booked somewhere else?

435 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Chairman, and that is a central vote, so all Departments come through there and all of their private sector legal fees are paid for there.

Hon. K Azopardi: That is litigation, or is it drafting as well?

440 Hon. Chief Minister: It is everything, Mr Chairman – litigation, advice, drafting. Anything which is done externally is booked through there and the breakdown is provided online. All his firm's fees are booked through there when paid.

Mr Chairman: Head 10, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

445

Clerk: Head 11, Office of the Deputy Chief Minister, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. K Azopardi: On item 2(7), the Brussels Office, I notice that the £260,000, which is the estimate for this year, is the same as last year's estimate but quite different to the outturn, so 450 perhaps the hon. Members can explain that issue.

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Chairman, yes. I explained during my contribution on the general principles of the Bill that there had been less work in the context of involving people going to Brussels and all of that will be taken from the Brussels Office, but we do 455 expect that work to spike or to increase in the financial year to come, whether there is an agreement or whether there is not one, and that is why the level of the estimate has been kept at £260,000, even though there was a considerable saving down to £150,000 in the last financial year.

460 Hon. K Azopardi: This is a follow-up to that. I assume that these are not salaries, or are they? Are they a contracted service as part of the projection of £260,000, or is this just simply a budgetary provision, for the Brussels Office to do whatever it needs to do in the course of its work, that amounts to possibly £260,000; or are there, built into that, fixed costs because they are subject to contracts, for example?
465

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this includes the salaries of the office. It also includes the operating costs. It includes, for example, things like transport and travel, protocol when they organise receptions, visits, meetings for Ministers who might be visiting. It includes all that.

470

Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, Mr Chairman, and then, on (9), Government Communication, Information and Lobbying, is there a similar explanation, so as a result of increased lobbying or communication ...? Can the Deputy Chief Minister perhaps give us an explanation of that? Is that linked to the Brussels Office in any way, or is this a separate provision? Again, the same questions: 475 is this a general provision, or are there fixed costs that are part of the £300,000?

480

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this is a general provision. I outlined in my contribution that there had been less lobbying in person, for example, in places like Washington, New York, London and Brussels, and that is the reason why, although we had estimated £350,000, we actually only spend £130,000 of it and are now estimating another £300,000 for the coming financial year in the expectation that these things will now start to pick up again.

485

Hon. K Azopardi: So this is a head that is used for international lobbying? The Minister has talked about New York and Washington; I think he mentioned Brussels in the context of this answer. That is what it is for, presumably – is that right?

490

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, yes, this is for the lobbying done by the Department or by my Office. That is generally international, but it could also be local in the sense that an event can be organised in Gibraltar rather than being organised outside Gibraltar.

Hon. K Azopardi: Does that, for example, take into account things like the United Nations, or is that separate?

495

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: My understanding is that the United Nations is separate and comes from a different vote under the Office of Chief Minister if I am travelling with him. If there are things which my Office is doing where I am the senior Minister present, then that will be paid from my Office vote.

500

Mr Chairman: Head 11, Office of the Deputy Chief Minister, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 12, Civil Aviation, subheads 1 to 3.

505

Mr Chairman: Head 12, Civil Aviation, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 13, Environment, subheads 1 to 3.

510

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask the Minister – in terms of the posts in Enforcement, they are going down by five, in effect, so is this going to, in any way, affect the enforcement capability of the Department in respect of environmental matters?

515

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): No, Mr Chairman. These are, in fact, now being filled by GDC posts. Although they remain the same in number, some of them were not actually filled at the time. So, de facto there has been no decrease over the last year or two, but the complement has been adjusted as a result of vacancies that have now come in through the GDC.

Hon. K Azopardi: So, if I understand the answer, if we look at the GDC provision, it is exactly the same numbers – 15, and 15 last year – but this year, in Enforcement you have five people 520 fewer. Do I take it from the Minister's explanation that he is saying that even though there were 15 establishment posts under the GDC last year, some of them were not filled; now they have been filled and they have basically taken over the enforcement functions. Is that right?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, that is exactly what I meant.

525

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, if I could take the Minister's attention to subhead 2, item (12), Contract Officers, I notice in 2021-22 it was £31,000 and came in at £124,000, and for 2022-23 it is now £54,000. Can I ask the Minister what that is in relation to? Is he confident the number is actually at the right level?

530

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: That is correct. The work related to that will be assumed by people in the establishment, so that the figures are correct.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, I notice, in the list of retitled subheads, that contract officers, according to the reallocation, would relate to the commission of sustainable development. Is that correct?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: That is correct.

540 Hon. R M Clinton: So, if I understand correctly, you are envisaging the cost of the commission of sustainable development being well over half what it was for the outturn of 2021-22.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, that is correct.

545 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask, on (14), Cleaning of Streets, envisaged to be approximately £400,000 higher this year – is that head entirely made up of the main contract, or are there other contracts? Is this the one contract; and, if so, what is the reason why that is going up this year?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, the is that street cleaning contract, that one contract.

550

Hon. K Azopardi: My follow-up was what is the reason for the increase of £400,000? If it is a contracted service, is there a built-in contractual increase of £400,000?

555 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: There are the annual increases that are given by the contract, but also there is ... In fact, there was a question about this not long ago, about extending el turno to some other blocks as well, so this is a readjustment and an increase in the cleaning of some areas.

Hon. K Azopardi: I see. To what extent can the Minister provide information as to how much of the £400,000 is a built-in increase under the contract and how much is an expansion of services?

560

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: From what I have in front of me, kindly provided by the Financial Secretary's team, an increase in frequency of cleaning during the summer season will account for £161,760; a new area which we have included is another £22,000; plus another area in the North District, another £14,000; and another area in the South district, another £36,000. We are actually increasing beyond what had been provided in the contracts, so obviously we have to provide additional funds for that.

Mr Chairman: Head 13, Environment, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

570 Clerk: Head 14, Collection and Disposal of Refuse, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. K Azopardi: On the clearing of refuse there is an increase of around £250,000 on wages. Can we have an explanation on that? Is that new posts, posts that have been filled? Is it other increases?

575

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, there is full provision for all the wages, whereas last year there was not provision for those posts that had been vacant. Therefore, this rectifies that.

580

Hon. K Azopardi: So when the Minister says there is full provision this year for all the posts, for the wages, as he said, and last year there had not been, have those posts been filled, or are some now vacant? If so, how many are vacant?

585

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: They are in the process, but the hon. Member will see, Mr Chairman, that overtime is expected to decrease as a result of the posts being filled, so we are providing more in wages and filling those vacant posts, which means there is less need to cover and overtime, so the net effect is down.

Hon. K Azopardi: Sorry, I missed the end – the net effect will be down?

590

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: The net effect is a decrease.

Mr Chairman: Head 14, Collection and Disposal of Refuse, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

595

Clerk: Head 15, Upper Rock Tourist Sites and Beaches, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. D J Bossino: Thank you, Mr Chairman.

600

If I can take the Minister to subhead 2(16), which is Sites Management Systems, the estimated amount, as he will see, was £550,000 and has shot up quite drastically to £940,000, and the estimated amount for this year is maintaining itself. Can he provide an explanation for that and whether that figure is likely to remain the same going into the future?

And also, if I may, in relation to the establishment, there is also a quite – Okay.

605

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Sorry, I did not hear the second part. On the first part, I can say that this is now a full-year effect, whereas the first entry was introduced about halfway through the year. (Interjection) In fact, this is the system for our access to the Upper Rock. The higher it is, the more income we get. There is a sliding scale in relation to that. But I think the initial question is why that difference, and that is it was not a full-year effect the first time round.

I did not hear the second part. He asked another question.

610

Hon. D J Bossino: If I may remain with subhead 2(16) for a moment, can he tell us how long that contract is for?

615

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: I do not have that information here, but obviously I would be very happy to give it to the hon. Member. Probably I will get a message within the next half hour, if I send it.

620

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask for a follow-up on this? Did I understand the Minister said this is the full-year effect, but he said something like the higher it goes, basically there is then some kind of revenue stream for the Government? Is that right?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, this is in relation to that part of this which is related to St Michael's Cave and the cave experience, and there is a sliding scale that the Government gets money back. The more it costs us the more we get back because it does mean that there is a bigger flow.

625 Hon. D J Bossino: I think this has been the subject of questions and answers from the Minister, so I think he has provided that information previously.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, I have indeed.

630 Hon. Chief Minister: If it is helpful to hon. Members, Mr Chairman, there is a counter to this. Head 15, subhead 2(16) has a counter in the blue pages. If they go to page 7, Tourist Site Receipts, they can see that consequent on the increase in the cost is a massive increase in the receipt. So £550,000 arose from £1.7 million of receipts, £940,000 from £2.4 million of receipts, and £950,000 delivers £3.5 million of receipts – so there is a counter to it. The equation the hon. Gentleman is telling them about is there in the blue pages as well.

635

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, just a quick question on subhead 2(27), Contracted Beach Services. I was wondering if the Minister could advise us what that is for and for which entity this contract is in place.

640

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: It is for the lifeguard service and its supervision.

Hon. R M Clinton: And who is this contracted with?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: I am informed it is ALS Telematics.

645

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to subhead 2(11), Leasing Arrangements I think appears twice, in section 25 as well, £5,000 and £9,000. Can the Minister explain that, given the new entry?

650

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Did he say item (11)?

Hon. E J Phillips: ... [Inaudible]

655

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, and in fact it appears in several other heads. This is leasing of vehicles. The old vehicles had reached the end of their life and they are now being leased, and that is the provision for that.

Hon. E J Phillips: These are the older vehicles that you are leasing out from ...? (Interjections)

660

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: And leasing new ones. It includes, I think, a couple of electric motor cycles. I could give him the full list, if he wants it, but it is leasing vehicles to replace old ones that have reached their end of life.

665

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, may I ask, on that particular point, with which entity are these vehicles leased?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: I believe it is Bassadone.

670

Mr Chairman: Head 15, Upper Rock Tourist Sites and Beaches, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 16, Education, subheads 1 to 3.

675

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Chairman, on subhead 1(1)(b)(i) under Payroll, it says 'conditioned' overtime. The estimate is zero, whereas the forecast outturn is £47,000. Knowing that teachers are not subject to being in receipt of overtime, how did we incur £47,000 last year, for which we do not foresee any expenditure need for the coming year?

680 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: If I may just say, in answer to the previous question, I have been reminded that in relation to the vehicles, an exercise was carried out and the maintenance of the older vehicles was, in fact, more expensive than leasing new ones. I thought I would give that for completeness.

685 There are a lot of staff in Education, as the hon. Member knows, who are not teachers and who do overtime – technicians, caretakers, a wide variety of staff.

Hon. E J Reyes: Which leads me to the second part of the question. Other than £1,000 token figure for emergency overtime, we do not foresee in the next academic year the need for any overtime at all from these technicians, caretakers and so on?

690 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: The hon. Members will see that, in general, we have removed conditioned over time and we are trying to reduce levels of spending to more urgent provision, and that is where we will then have to deal with it.

695 Hon. Chief Minister: In fact, Mr Chairman, the analysis that we did was to look at what type of overtime was being booked as conditioned overtime, and it was not conditioned overtime. For many years – indeed, before our time and beyond – some overtime has been booked as conditioned when it is not conditioned. To be conditioned overtime, it has to be a condition of employment that that person does that overtime, otherwise the overtime has to be because it is needed on a particular day – in other words, an emergency; otherwise, the working day should provide for the job that needs to be done. And so that is why Members will see throughout the Book we are booking it as emergency, unless we have found that there are contracts which have a condition in them which binds the Government to provide the overtime.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Chairman.

705 I can understand the reason behind what he is saying, yet it does not make that much sense when we see that under industrial wages, which I take it is what cleaners and so on will come under ... I can understand the Chief Minister will say that it is wrong to have just conditioned overtime, so we have the £1,000 token figure for emergency, whereas looking at the previous year's expenses there was £135,000 that was incurred by the industrial staff, which could have been cleaners. I am not entirely certain if the caretaker falls under industrial or non-industrial, but it seems too much of a difference.

715 Hon. Chief Minister: But the hon. Gentleman is not looking at the wages bill. If he looks at the wages bill, Mr Chairman, he will see that in the year where the overtime was £135,000, the wage bill was £2.6 million. This year, there is a full complement, new people employed and added, and there is £3.6 million, and so there should be less need for people to do work that others would do on overtime, because the complement is filled.

720 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: It is a similar point to the one on the refuse. We are trying to, obviously, reduce expenses, and one way we are doing it is by having the complement and reducing the overtime. The hon. Members will see this right across the Book.

725 Hon. Chief Minister: With the caveat that you have also opened two new schools here, which are larger than the schools that they were coming from. So it is exactly that and the two larger schools.

Hon. E J Reyes: If I can go further down, to Payroll, subhead 1(2)(c), under Allowances there is Temporary Assistance, which I understand will be the cover or whatever, but these allowances refer to exactly what?

730

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: They are for supply cover and there has been a reduction because, as the hon. Member is aware, we are taking on more teachers and learning support assistants. They will be part of the complement and therefore we will require less expenditure and supply.

735

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, Mr Chairman, I can understand that, but that, I think, is charged to Temporary Assistance. 'Allowances' is when you give a particular allowance for undertaking some sort of responsibility or whatever. I do not understand what 'allowances' covers.

740

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: You mean (c) Allowances? Okay. Sorry, I thought you were referring to another subhead. In relation to industrial, the industrial complement has a series of allowances which are built into their terms. I am sure the hon. Members are aware.

745

Hon. E J Reyes: Allowances to undertake duties which are not part of the contractual obligations and the basic wages – is that what the Minister is trying to explain?

750

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Chairman. For example, you could have acting allowances, so if you fill the complement you have fewer acting allowances to be paid because people will be ... And here we are dealing with industrials, not with the professional complements, so there are fewer acting allowances to be paid. There will be other allowances that will have to be paid, but they will be down slightly from the £180,000, to about £160,000 on the calculation that we have made to date as an estimate. As I said yesterday in my reply, these are the estimates that we believe will be the amounts paid.

755

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: But there will be some acting ... A caretaker may be away for a period and somebody has to act, and that is an acting allowance or substitution.

760

Hon. E J Reyes: I am going down to subhead 2(10), Special Education Abroad. We know from the past that this is because of specific needs. Is the Minister aware how many pupils this expense relates to? Is it just one, or have we got two or more pupils?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, it is two at the moment.

765

Hon. E J Reyes: And then on subhead 2(43), the Chief Minister kindly answered that the facilities management was to do with the facilities contract for new schools. I do not think this is the cost of actually building the schools. Is this fees given to manage, or something? Can he expand further? The Minister's explanation was a facilities contract.

770

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, in fact I can go a little bit further. This is in relation to a maintenance arrangement for the two new secondary schools, Bayside and Westside. The hon. Member mentioned during his Budget speech the cyclical maintenance, which is sub-subhead 2(35), and that is a similar arrangement for the primary schools, but clearly the new comprehensives are much larger and therefore they require, and it is important that they should have, a maintenance programme, and that is what that is for.

775

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Chairman, that is useful, but just for my own clarification, does the £450,000 estimated cover both labour costs and materials?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Though there will be somebody resident there to deal with reactive maintenance, it is pre-emptive maintenance, making sure that the systems are checked and remain in good condition.

780

Hon. Chief Minister: And, Mr Chairman, for a period the facilities management contract manages items – lifts, air-conditioners – that are in guarantee and are supplied by the same entity that has the facilities management contract, so there should ... In answering the hon. Gentleman's materials point, as long as those materials are items that enjoy a guarantee, there is no cost to the spare parts or other items that may be necessary.

785

Hon. E J Reyes: And then, Mr Chairman, on subhead 2(44), in respect of security services, there is a forecast outturn of £152,000, yet we estimate only half the amount for next year. And whilst we are explaining that, does that refer to just the secondary schools, which is where, walking down the street, we can actually see the security officers, or does it entail other schools as well?

790

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: This is in relation to the secondary schools. We had provided a certain level of security with a certain number of people there, but in reviewing it after the experience of the first two years we realised that it was actually being overprovided and therefore we were able to reduce it. There is still security, but the level of manpower is lower and we have been able to reduce the expenditure there – but we are satisfied that it is enough.

795

Hon. Chief Minister: It is also no longer a site with materials on it, which is one of the reasons why we were providing the extra security. Now that all of that has gone, we are providing, exceptionally, security at the door of the two comprehensives because of the nature of the comprehensives and the size of them, rather than having to provide the additional numbers of people we were providing before when we were providing it for a comprehensive and the place where there was storage of materials etc.

800

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Chairman.

805

There is a provision for lunchtime supervision, but is there anything in respect of hot lunches? Is the Government committing itself to that, which has been spoken of previously in this House?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Well, yes, item (41) makes a token provision. We are actually currently in discussions with our preferred bidder after the exercise we did some time ago, so we will know exactly what we need to provide, but the head is there.

810

Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, and that could or could not have a knock-on effect on item (36), which is the lunch supervision?

815

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Not really, because we need the lunch attendants anyway, whether they are eating the food that is provided there or the food that is brought in by the children, so I do not see that ... In fact, there was not during the period when we were providing hot lunches before the entity went into administration, so I do not think that is a consequence.

820

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask, as a follow-up to that ...? The Government is in discussions with a preferred bidder, so the intention would be to reintroduce a system this year – and the kind of likely cost? Does the Minister have an idea, or does he not want to say because of the discussions?

825

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: No, because we are in discussions with the preferred bidder, and if those do not go ahead we may have to fall on another. So it is an active discussion going on at the moment.

Mr Chairman: Head 16, Education, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

830

Clerk: Head 17, Gibraltar University, subheads 1 and 2.

Mr Chairman: Head 17, Gibraltar University, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

835

Clerk: Head 18, Heritage, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Chairman, can I take the Minister to subhead 2(13)? I am sure it is capable of easy explanation, but I just do not know what that ... It has 'Heritage' and then it has that amount of £1.21 million. I just do not know what it is.

840

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: That is the contract fee for the running of the Gibraltar National Museum.

Hon. D J Bossino: Does he also have an explanation – if I can take him back up to subhead 2(7), Garrison Library Trust – as to why there was an increase in terms of the forecast outturn for 2021-22 of about £23,000, and then it goes back to the previous figure?

845

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: I believe it was related to water ingress. There were some additional works that had to be done as a one-off, which incurred an overspend, but it was an emergency. We are now back to the original figure, now that that has been dealt with.

850

Hon. D J Bossino: And finally, Mr Chairman, in subhead 2(9), 'World Heritage Site Expenses', an explanation as to – which is a good news, I suppose – a decreasing figure.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, it is running smoothly. The initial expenses in setting up the whole system were higher, but now, fortunately, we are able to run it at a slightly lower cost and it is working well.

855

Mr Chairman: Head 18, Heritage, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

860

Clerk: Head 19, Culture, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Chairman, in subhead 2(6), in respect of repairs and maintenance, it is repairs and maintenance of which cultural facilities?

865

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Many and all. Remember, this includes a whole range from the Central Hall, the Ince's Hall and some of the art galleries, so it is a general provision – City Hall as well, which includes art galleries as a general provision across the whole of the cultural estate.

Hon. E J Reyes: So, then, accepting that, Mr Chairman, under subhead 2(12), Premises, Clubs and Associations, it was my understanding that a lot of the maintenance was actually charged to that, so what would the £80,000, which is a very substantial increase, be related to?

870

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Because in addition to the cultural premises per se, we also look after premises for other clubs and associations – say the retrenchment block, the recreational rooms in South Barracks, there is another set in Town Range for the dance groups and so on, and Jumpers Bastion, so that is what that refers to. These are premises of clubs and associations, as opposed to the cultural premises which are the ones that are run centrally for cultural purposes. They are different buildings.

875

Hon. K Azopardi: And so the increase in the Premises, Clubs and Associations?

880

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: The increase is that there are more and there are some that are in need of considerable investment due to, again, issues of water ingress that have not been dealt with for a while, and therefore we have had to increase the provision.

885 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I, then, ask on subhead 2(13), Music Concert: that provision, I assume, is notional and envisages what?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, it is there so that we do not lose the subhead, but at the moment – as we have said before, very recently, here, in parliamentary questions – there is no intention of 890 us organising a large music concert, although there are others that may be organised by private entities, which we will support but we are not expecting to support financially. But we thought we should keep a token provision there. Hopefully, in the future, things will change and we will be able to do something like that again.

895 Hon. Chief Minister: And if there are any costs, Mr Chairman, which are associated with assisting a third party – for example, the provision of GSLA facilities – where expense arose, we would book it here, so it would be visible as the Government’s contribution, small as it may be, to any third party organising such a concert. But the Government is not going to organise such a concert.

900

Mr Chairman: Head 19, Culture, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 20, Driver and Vehicle Licensing, subheads 1 to 3.

905 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to establishment, there seems to be a decrease in human resource, and then if you look at ... Obviously, the Bill that we have just passed in this House that will go on to receiving Assent envisages the appointment of temporary examiners. I am just wondering where that is provided for in the context of payroll.

910 Minister for Traffic (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Chairman, the actual temporary examiners either come from ... The testers themselves will be able to cover. This was due to issues during COVID, when we found ourselves quite stuck, with a lot of people wanting to pass their exams and tests and we did not have the throughput or the capacity. It will either be the testers themselves who will be able to work as driving examiners or they will bring in temporary, retired officers. That will 915 come in through Contracted Services.

Hon. E J Phillips: Thank you for the answer. Would the Minister also explain the spike in the forecast outturn of £44,000 for 2021-22 on Payroll (1)(ii)?

920 Hon. P J Balban: The hon. Gentleman is referring to why the increase. Obviously, there is more demand at the counter for counter services, so the increase in overtime there has been due to people coming to the counter to have the fast-track services that we provide for roadworthiness certificates and, mainly, logbooks. When people purchase new cars the expectation is that they will be able to take these cars quickly, so we have an express counter which has to be manned 925 and able to provide throughput of newly bought cars.

Hon. E J Phillips: Did that also, for a time, include the issuing of international driving licences?

930 Hon. P J Balban: It could include it, if there is a need. When we were not sure what was happening in terms of our responsibilities because of Brexit, there would have been a time when there was a lot more demand at the counter, and that would reflect on that sum as well.

Hon. E J Phillips: Also, just in relation to subhead 2(17), Incentive Scheme – Importation of Hybrid Vehicles, obviously the Government has a commitment to incentivising the import of hybrid vehicles. Why does the Government anticipate a reduction in that amount?

935

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Chairman, we do not envisage a reduction; in fact, it is a token amount. We do not know what people will be purchasing henceforth, so we just provide an estimate based on previous years, and that is the estimate provided in the Book.

940

Hon. E J Phillips: The reason I ask that is it is helpful to understand the answer, because obviously recent statements by one commercial entity put the figure for hybrid and EV at 65% of new purchases. That is why I was asking that question.

945

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, the reality is that last year we saw the figure go up to £115,000. It is impossible to accurately predict how many vehicles that are sold locally will be eligible for this support and, indeed, will claim the support, so the Government considered that we should provide for 60 vehicles and see if there were more that were registered and claims made, but it is very difficult to provide an accurate estimate here. It would be wrong, however, of us to book just £1,000, because we know it is going to be more; but it would be excessive to simply follow last year's amount, because the number of electric vehicles is going up. So there are a lot of factors, but I think the prudent thing is just to put in a figure like 60 – which increases the figure we provided for last year, which was 50 – and see where we get to.

950

955

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, just one question on the charges: comparing 2(1), General Expenses, with 2(19), General Office, I would be grateful if the Minister could explain the difference between these two heads. Why does this particular Department have two heads for 'general'?

960

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Chairman, the General Office is actually the GDC staff, so that reflects their pay as a separate entry.

965

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, I could be wrong but I would have thought they would come under Payroll somewhere and then be a recharge by the GDC, rather than have a line as another charge.

970

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Chairman, the £649,000 is the total and the difference between (19) and (20) is the salaries of General Office, which is £76,000, and the Transport Inspectors, which is £573,000. If you go to page 193 in the green pages you can actually see the breakdown reflected there, the £573,000 and the £76,000, which is above, for the General Office.

975

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, I am grateful for that. May I suggest that perhaps in future they adopt the same presentation as other Departments, which show a payment to, for example, the environmental contribution, Gibraltar Development Corporation staff services? That may be an easier way to make sure that we can follow the numbers through the Book.

Hon. Chief Minister: We are happy to consider that, Mr Chairman.
I move that the House should now recess to four o'clock this afternoon.

Mr Chairman: The House will now recess to four o'clock this afternoon.

The House recessed at 12.45 p.m. and resumed at 4.04 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 4.04 p.m. – 8.29 p.m.

Gibraltar, Tuesday, 5th July 2022

Contents

Order of the Day	3
Appropriation Bill 2022 – Consideration of clauses concluded – Clauses approved.....	3
Legal Services (Amendment) Bill – Clauses considered and approved	39
Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved with amendment.....	40
Appropriation Bill 2022 – Third Reading approved: Bill passed	40
The House recessed at 7.26 p.m. and resumed at 7.40 p.m.	41
Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Third Readings approved: Bills passed	41
Questions for Oral Answer	41
Transport	41
Q220/2020 Taxi fleet – Encouragement to go green	41
Q221/2020 Electric motorcycles and bicycles – Eligibility criteria for grants towards purchase	42
Q222/2020 Parking permit fees – Rationale for higher fees within same household	43
Q223-25/2020 Parking fees paid by residents of parking zones – Revenue re first, second and third vehicles.....	43
Business, Tourism and the Port.....	46
Q251/2020 Post Office private letter boxes – Number available to rent	46
Q252/2020 Minister’s visit to Bangladesh – Details.....	46
Q253/2020 FITUR fair – Government attendance.....	47
Q254/2020 Entry points to Gibraltar – Efforts to maintain and refurbish	48

Q255/2020 Airport departure lounge bar – Owner/operator	49
Questions for Written Answer	50
Private Member’s Bill.....	51
First and Second Reading.....	51
SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved	51
SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved	51
SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	53
Committee Stage and Third Reading	53
SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved with amendment.....	53
SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 – Third Reading approved: Bill passed	54
Adjournment	54
The House adjourned at 8.29 p.m.	54

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 4.04 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[ACTING CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S Galliano Esq in attendance]

Order of the Day

Appropriation Bill 2022 – Consideration of clauses concluded – Clauses approved

Clerk: We continue with the Committee Stage of the Appropriation Bill 2022.
Head 21, Technical Services, subheads 1 to 3.

5 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to Other Charges, 2(6) Rent and Service Charges, at £81,000 it seems to have crept up reasonably significantly and I wonder whether the Minister might be able to explain.

10 Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Sorry, could you repeat the head? I did not catch it.

Hon. E J Phillips: Subhead 2(6) on page 79, Other Charges – Rent and Service Charges.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Chairman, that is the rent for the offices I presently use at Europort.

15 Hon. E J Phillips: Thank you very much for the answer. Can the Minister explain why the increase? Is that in relation to those offices? I assume he has always been based at those particular offices, or are they new?

20 Hon. P J Balban: No, Mr Chairman, that used to be the office of the Minister for Transport when I was Minister prior to 2019. Then I moved, with Employment, down to New Harbours, and when I was appointed as Minister for Transport I came back to the old offices that were in Europort, so that is why it has been up and down.

25 Hon. E J Phillips: Apologies, I did not get the answer to the question in relation to why the increase in rent and service charges.

Hon. P J Balban: Because that office was not in use. I was not using those offices when I was Minister for Employment, I was using the offices down at New Harbours. When I moved out of Employment and their offices I went to Europort, which is where my offices are today.

30 Hon. E J Phillips: So, in essence, it is a new rental arrangement with the landlord?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Chairman, the expenditure will be in a different head, as those offices were occupied by some other Minister previously.

35

Mr Chairman: Head 21, Technical Services, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 22, Social Security, subheads 1 to 3.

40

Mr Chairman: Head 22, Social Security, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Chairman, as you are going through the next few sections of that one can I just remind the House that unfortunately Sir Joe is not able to join us this afternoon for the Committee Stage. I know that he will be watching assiduously. These are the heads that are his ministerial responsibility, so we shall do our best to assist the House in his absence.

45

Clerk: Head 23, Statistics Office, subheads 1 to 3.

50

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, in relation Payroll, Personal Emoluments, subhead 1(1), in relation to the actual salary grades, which are on page 268, I notice that, unlike last year, most of the grades for the Statistics Office are now described as 'personal to holder'. I was wondering why that would be.

55

Hon. Chief Minister: Because we have got rid of the ring-fencing, Mr Chairman.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, I am grateful to the Chief Minister for his answer. I am afraid I do not follow what he means by 'ring-fencing'.

60

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Chairman, when they were in government they entered into an arrangement – in fact, in some instances it may go back even further but they extended it to some other Departments – whereby individuals were given an amount in respect of an uplift, and I think it was 12%, but in exchange for that 12% they were not permitted to move to other Departments. We do not think it is in the interest of public servants that they should not be able, throughout their careers, to move to other Departments, so we no longer require them to stay in the Department and therefore we no longer pay new entrants a 12% uplift in respect of the penalty they are suffering in not being permitted to go to other Departments.

65

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Chairman, can I ask on item (9), on the Census ...? The estimate was £176,000 last year, and the same this year. I guess COVID interrupted the work and this is now projected to happen – is that the case?

70

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Chairman.

75

Mr Chairman: Head 23, Statistics Office, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 24, Economic Development, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 24, Economic Development, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

80

Clerk: Head 25, Procurement Office, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 25, Procurement Office, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

85 Clerk: Head 26, Justice, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask Government to clarify the increase in complement and what the thinking is behind that?

90 Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Chairman, there is no increase in the complement. It will relate to people who will probably appear in other pages in the Book, but there are certainly not more people. This will be as a result of the reshuffle since the last Book.

95 Hon. K Azopardi: Is it that certain functions have been absorbed under the head of the Justice Ministry which were not previously there? Is that the reason for these people to appear here?

100 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: They may well have appeared under the Equality head last year, because last year I think Justice and Equality appeared as one head and this year it is separate. There are certainly not more staff and there are not more people, Mr Chairman. It is a question of presentation; they would have been in other heads previously. When we look at head 30 on page 102, Equality, the hon. Member will see a decrease of four there, so it is an adjustment but it is most certainly neutral.

105 Mr Chairman: Head 26, Justice, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 27, Gibraltar Law Courts, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 27, Gibraltar Law Courts, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

110

Clerk: Head 28, Policing, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 28, Policing, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

115 Clerk: Head 29, Prison, subheads 1 to 3.

120 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Chairman, just one question that we are debating here. If one looks at the estimate for 2021-22, it is £180,000, as indeed the estimate for this year, but the forecast outturn was £215,000. Could the Minister perhaps provide us with a reason why the forecast outturn is higher than the estimate? And, therefore, is the estimate for this year, £180,000, realistic in the light of the forecast outturn? (Interjection) Payroll – I beg your pardon, it is Manning Level Maintenance.

125 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Chairman, there were incidents last year which required deployment of prison officers outside of HM Prison and that contributed to the effect of the recurrent expenditure. For example, there was an inmate who was in hospital. If someone is taken out of the Prison and is out for a considerable period of time, it will have ... That was not forecast at the preparation of the Estimates and that had an impact on the recurrent expenditure in that regard.

130

Hon. D A Feetham: Is that overtime? In other words, if you have somebody in the Hospital, there has to be a 24-hour, round-the-clock guard there? I do not quite follow the point the Minister is making. (Interjection)

135 Hon. Chief Minister: Exactly. Mr Chairman, that is not the head that he is looking at. If you were looking at the individual having 24-hour security outside of the Prison, then that would not 140 be Manning Level Maintenance; you would be looking at overtime, which would be demand led and would be emergency overtime. What is happening is that in the period when some people have to be in the Hospital, you may be down on manning level in the Prison so you have to call people into the Prison. That is the head that he is looking at – Manning Level Maintenance.

145 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Chairman, if I can add to that as well, in relation to retaining the manning level in prison, last year had the cost of COVID factored in, so if officers were away from work because they were either positive with COVID or in isolation for any other reason – for being in close contact – then somebody had to come in and cover in order to maintain the manning levels. That is why last year is additionally high, because it was not something that could be foreseen, nor could the manning level maintenance be avoided in any other way.

150 We also have to bear in mind that the Prison, as the hon. Gentleman will recall from my Budget speech, was exceptionally full last year as well, therefore it was even more important to ensure that the manning level was maintained.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask, on item 2(11), the Multi-Agency Public Protection Arrangement – what is that?

155 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Chairman, I explained this at length in my speech last week. The Multi-Agency Public Protection Arrangement is abbreviated to MAPPa and is the management of sex offenders, and that amount will be in relation to training.

160 Mr Chairman, the hon. Gentleman has referred to MAPPa in 2(11), but that is actually head 30 and I thought that we were –

Mr Chairman: We have jumped the gun here. (Hon. K Azopardi: Sorry.) Yes, we are still on head 29.

165 Hon. K Azopardi: I apologise.

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: ... [Inaudible] MAPPa, being multi-agency, appears in various of the heads.

170 Mr Chairman: Head 29, Prison, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 30, Equality, subheads 1 to 3.

175 Hon. K Azopardi: The answer you gave me when you mentioned the management of sex offenders applies to this as well – is that right? Okay.

Mr Chairman: Head 30, Equality, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 31, Civil Contingency, subheads 1 to 3.

180 Mr Chairman: Head 31, Civil Contingency, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 32, Gibraltar Regulatory Authority, subheads 1 and 2.

185 Mr Chairman: Head 32, Gibraltar Regulatory Authority, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 33, Town Planning and Building Control, subheads 1 to 3.

190 Hon. D J Bossino: On subhead 2(60), Rent and Service Charges, can the Minister explain why the increase in 2021-22 and then the decrease, which seems to accord with the estimated figure for last year?

Mr Chairman: Who is dealing with Town Planning?

195 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Chairman, I am advised that the rent was increased but then it was renegotiated and therefore decreased, which is why we see the reduction back to £205,000.

200 Hon. D J Bossino: I am sure for completely different reasons, but we see a similar increase and then a back-to-normal, it seems, decrease in the same subhead att (13), which is an employment matter, clearly, but it is 'Contribution to GDC' – if she can explain why that is the case?

205 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, I believe that this is because, as a result of the lockdowns, we actually brought somebody in for a short period last year to assist, but did not add them to the complement, so they were just literally brought in from the GDC and they are no longer there. I am talking from memory, because as that person will have come in and out in the previous financial year, I do not have the details here for the spend for this financial year.

Mr Chairman: Head 33, Town Planning and Building Control, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

210 Clerk: Head 34, Office of Fair Trading, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 34, Office of Fair Trading, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

215 Clerk: Head 35, Fire and Rescue Service, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 35, Fire and Rescue Service, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 36, Airport Fire and Rescue Service, subheads 1 and 2.

220 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Chairman, can we just ask about the increase from the outturn of about £350,000 to the Fire and Rescue Service and what that is for?

225 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this is a settlement of an outstanding part of the contract – or the arrangement; it is not a contract – entered into with the MoD, which, when it was resolved, left outstanding the issue of migration of some pensions. There was a migration, in effect, to people from the MoD pension scheme of those who were going to continue. There had to be an adjustment made and it has taken us some time to negotiate, but that is the effect of it going forward.

230 Hon. K Azopardi: Sorry – it is the effect of it going forward, so it is not a one-off, it is a going-forward cost?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, I do not ... it continues.

235 Mr Chairman: Head 36, Airport Fire and Rescue Service, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 37, Housing, subheads 1 to 3.

240 Hon. D J Bossino: This is a very important question and it may be challenging to answer, but there is an overall increase in the Salaries section, which is 1(1)(a) – although I see that the total payroll actually goes down, so I am not sure why there is an increase at the top of the tree there, from £574,000 to £610,000, and yet the overall summary complement in the Department goes down by £5,000, from £29,000 to £24,000.

245 Hon. Chief Minister: That is because we are filling the vacancies, Mr Chairman. What will happen is people will qualify for the higher salaries and therefore the cost of the full complement is the £610,000. Even though you might see a reduction, when you put people into those existing vacancies, which are, in effect, promotions, that is the full-year effect.

250 Mr Chairman: Head 37, Housing, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 38, Employment, subheads 1 to 3.

255 Mr Chairman: Head 38, Employment, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 39, Youth, subheads 1 to 3.

260 Mr Chairman: Head 39, Youth, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 40, Sport and Leisure, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 40, Sport and Leisure, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

265 Clerk: Head 41, Digital Services, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask, firstly on the salaries at Personal Emoluments, Payroll 1(1)(a) ... an explanation of that increase, given the overall establishment seems to be lower?

270 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Chairman, it is the same as the last answer: filling in vacancies that were not in last year.

Hon. K Azopardi: Does the Minister know how many vacancies have been filled for that difference?

275 Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Chairman, I do not have that information with me.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I, then, ask about item 2(7), Consultancy Services, and what is envisaged? What is the scope of that, for what purpose, and so on?

280 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, these are five individuals on consultancy agreements.

Hon. K Azopardi: So five separate consultancy agreements for individual names, not companies? Am I right to assume that these were all entered into during the course of the last year and therefore account for the increase in the forecast outturn? And also, £224,000 would be the full-year effect – is that right?

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, that is right.

290 Hon. K Azopardi: And what is the scope of the services these individuals are providing to the Ministry?

295 Hon. A J Isola: The scope is varied. Some of these individuals are working with contractors, whom we then reach agreement with to have consultancy arrangements directly, which is far cheaper. Hence the switchover from [inaudible] – some of them, not all of them – to directly consulting at a significantly reduced cost.

Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, but I am trying to understand what they are actually doing for the Ministry. What kind of services are they providing?

300 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, it varies across the scope of different services, from software developers to ...

305 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just pull a thread so I understand it? Are these individuals providing services on a focused basis in respect of the proposed rollout, say, for example of e-government or digital services, or is it outward-facing services? Is it in relation to that – client-facing services? Or is it in relation to support for internal government administration?

310 Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Chairman, it is not internal government administration; it is in respect of the design of the services, and as and when those services are completed the consultants' arrangements will then cease.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, just one additional on that point: these consultants, are they located in Gibraltar, or could they be elsewhere?

315 Hon. A J Isola: I think they are all located in Gibraltar. They could be elsewhere, but I do not think they are.

Mr Chairman: Head 41, Digital Services, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

320 Clerk: Head 42, Information Technology and Logistics Department, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 42, Information Technology and Logistics Department, subheads 1 – 325 Hon. D A Feetham: May I just ask one question?

Mr Chairman: Of course.

330 Hon. D A Feetham: What is the difference in consultancy services that appear under this head and the consultancy services that appeared in the head we were just discussing a few minutes ago?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, they will be similar, providing software design and services to ITLD for specialists.

335 Hon. D A Feetham: Providing support, aren't they, to the local, Government-employed IT Department, if I can call it that, in Gibraltar? Some of them are providing support. I am asking the Minister because I am familiar with somebody who is a consultant and is employed under a consultancy agreement.

340 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, there is one individual in particular who is and has been working with us for a very long period of time and is critical to the work that we do, for example, for the Income Tax Office. He has been involved in most of the transition from what we have to where we want to go. Others are directly supporting ITLD in the development of software that they 345 require to provide for some of the services they are rolling out for Government. So it is varied, but obviously all within the Government network.

Hon. D A Feetham: But some of these contracts will be directly between the Government and the individual consultant, rather than between the Government and an organisation that then essentially employs these people? That is correct, is it? Or is it a mixture of both?

350 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, it is a mixture of both. The individual I mentioned who works with us on the Income Tax and a number of other critical data systems that we operate is an individual, but one of the other contractors ITLD works with is a company and we have had the same two individuals working with us for some time from that same company.

355 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask on that point, is it the same individuals or some of the same individuals under this head as in the previous head, or are they different?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, they are different.

360 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just understand ...? In view of the answer he has given my hon. colleague it is slightly confusing. Who is spearheading the rollout of e-government services? Is it that both Digital Services and Information Technology and the Logistics Department are both doing that in different areas? Is that right?

365 Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Chairman. One cannot work without the other. You have the back end and you have the front end, and the two different parts come together when the rollout happens.

Hon. K Azopardi: I understand that, but in terms of the overall rollout, does the Government not think it should perhaps be in some way merged in the planning and then rollout? Let me explain my question. I am just not understanding why there are two different Departments planning e-government, both of which also have consultants engaged to do that. Why isn't there one Department driving all this?

375 Hon. A J Isola: I think if I talk about the gentleman who is helping us with the Tax Office, who has been working with us for many years – long before the e-government project ever happened – within ITLD he is critical to the transition because he is an individual who knows how to write what requires to be written to create the API to link the two services together.

380 So there are two separate and distinct functions that each one of those two teams is dealing with. As you know, ITLD is responsible for the entire government network, for the network itself, its maintenance, for our entire email system. Without that backbone, or spine, whatever you put on the front cannot work. So they are very different but they are interconnected.

Hon. K Azopardi: To help me understand, ITLD is, as you say, running the backbone – if I can use that analogy – and making sure that the Government system works, so to that extent I can understand their involvement in the planning of e-government. Would it be right for me to think, then, Digital Services is the more client-facing, consumer-led role, and that is what they do, and it is the interface between those two Departments that then allows the rollout of e-government? Is that what the Minister is saying? If he is not saying that, I am not understanding why there need to be two Departments; I am just not understanding.

385 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, there is a design and build of e-services; that is what Digital Services does, the design and build of the e-services. You are working out what each Department requires. You have analysts going in to see what each Department requires and how that can best be delivered, then you design it, and then you build it with the relevant Department. Once you get through that process, you then plug into the back end. There could already be databases that we have in other parts of Government which we want to link an API to, to link it up so that we link up the old and the new. You have to censor the data that you have, to make sure it is consistent, and then you put them together and they are rolled out. So both parts are critical to the development we are doing, but they are totally different to each other.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, I understand all that, but what I do not understand is if this particular company has a contract with the Government in order to undertake these services, why is the Government paying extra in order to employ extra consultants? I thought that these consultants might have been people the Government is employing in order to help them implement whatever strategy the company the hon. Gentleman has mentioned essentially provides for the Government. In other words, it is extra manpower but with a consultancy for the Government itself, rather than essentially people under the umbrella of a company, which it seems logical to me would have been included within the original contract they have with the Government.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, in respect of the contract that the providers of servicing ITL deal with, that is a far shorter term and that is in the process of being terminated. The job is done and now they are being terminated. The other consultants, the individuals like the one who is helping us with the tax and the billing of the API will continue. So, some have a job to do and then they move on – that is the reason why they are in the way that they are.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, I am still trying to ... just developing the point my colleagues are discussing, ITLD seem to have in their establishment a large number of technical people, but if you look at the establishment for Digital Services you have a lot of administration officers. What kind of project development can these people do? What skills do they bring?

Hon. A J Isola: I have just referred to the business analysts who go into each of the Departments to understand exactly what each Department does, what their forms look like if what we are doing is transitioning from paper to digital. If you do not understand in some detail what that is and engage with the Departments to a huge degree, you cannot begin to build what they are going to need in a digital format for it to work, so the administrative officers are actually business analysts.

Mr Chairman: Head 42, Information Technology and Logistics Department, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 43, Broadcasting, subheads 1 and 2.

Hon. K Azopardi: Again, Mr Chairman, the increase in the contribution to GBC of £250,000 – what is the scope of that? What is the intention there?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, the majority of that is rental of property, which is now being picked up by GBC – rental in respect of the new premises.

Hon. K Azopardi: Thank you for that. The majority of the increase is the rental – is that what he said? So what is the rental for the new premises?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the rent is £300,000 per annum, so it accounts for the increase and some has been cut off.

Hon. K Azopardi: And I assume the lease is in the name of GBC – is that right? And if so, what is the length of the lease?

450 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, the lease will be in the name of GBC. It has not yet been completed. Rent is being paid – we are in the process of finalising that. It is a long-term lease. I cannot remember exactly how long it is. There is an option to purchase from the developers at the end of a period of time, during which the rents paid to date will be set off against the price, so that could be looked at in the coming period.

455 Hon. K Azopardi: And the intended lease is with the developer – is that right? And the developer entity, do we know who that is?

460 Hon. Chief Minister: The developer entity is the entity to whom they gave the tender for the site, which was Sharrock Shand The lease is being negotiated for Sharrock Shand by Triay Stagnetto Neish.

Mr Chairman: Head 43, Broadcasting, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 44, Financial Services, subheads 1 to 3.

465 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, on subhead 1(1)(f) there is reference to ‘Central Register’ and in the establishment numbers on page 132 there was one HEO there and there is obviously no real expense in the outturn. I was wondering what the ‘Central Register’ refers to and what is the alternative provision for it.

470 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, I believe – and I will be corrected shortly, if I am wrong – that we had a person specifically looking after that register last year, and this year it is somebody from within the Finance Centre office who covers that.

475 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, just to be absolutely clear, the register we are talking about is the Register of Beneficial Owners?

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Chairman.

480 Mr Chairman: Head 44, Financial Services, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 45, Gambling Division, subheads 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Head 45, Gambling Division, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

485 Clerk: Head 46, Health and Social Care, subheads 1 to 3.

490 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, in relation to Appendix F, on pages 224-25, just insofar as relief cover, whether the Minister could explain the estimate of £1 million? Clearly there is a huge difference between the actual [inaudible] 2019-21 and the forecast outturn for 2021-22 was £11.1 million. Can the Minister explain the £1 million provision at item (12) on page 225?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, could I suggest we deal with that when we get to those pages?

495 Hon. E J Phillips: Yes, because I think that the hon. Member [inaudible]

Mr Chairman: Head 46, Health and Social Care, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 47, Gibraltar Health Authority Elderly Residential Services Section, subheads 1 and 2.

500 Hon. K Azopardi: The same point arises here, Mr Chairman, that we may have questions but they are on the green pages – so when we get there.

Mr Chairman: Head 47, Gibraltar Health Authority Elderly Residential Services Section, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

505

Clerk: Head 48, Care Agency, subheads 1 and 2.

Mr Chairman: Head 48, Care Agency, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

510

Clerk: Head 49, Drug and Alcohol Awareness and Rehabilitation Services, subheads 1 to 3.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Chairman, on subhead 2(18) there is £10,000 set aside under the heading 'Youth Service'. Can we have some clarification on what 'Youth Service' actually does?

515

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, it relates to programmes, drugs related, for under-17s, to create more awareness and support for young under-17-year-olds.

520

Hon. E J Reyes: And the section in subhead 2(20), Secondment, £242,000, is that in respect of salaries? It does not appear under Payroll, it just appears under Secondment – whether it is human resources or whatever it is.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, this is a provision for seconded Care Agency personnel for the Rehabilitation Centre – Bruce's Farm.

525

Mr Chairman: Head 49, Drug and Alcohol Awareness Rehabilitation Services, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 50, Utilities, subheads 1 and 2.

530

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask on item (6) Salt Water System – Contract – AquaGib Ltd, and on (5) ...? These are AquaGib contracts. In view of the proposed purchase of AquaGib, is that going to in some way impact on these arrangements?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, no, that would continue.

535

Mr Chairman: Head 50, Utilities, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 51, Business, subheads 1 to 3.

540

Mr Chairman: Head 51, Business, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 52, Tourism, subheads 1 to 3.

545

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Chairman, the overall staff complement has reduced by four. Can the Minister explain why that is the case and whether that is the intention going into the future? Is that the direction of travel?

550

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Chairman, this is part of the restructure that we are looking at, at the moment, within the Tourist Board. The decrease in complement ... There are some people who have retired and some who ... we took the decision that they were surplus to requirements within the Tourist Board and that they would be better off in another Government Department. Insofar as the future is concerned, I hope to discuss the final part of the restructure with the new CEO of the Tourist Board when he starts on 1st September.

555

Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to that particular individual, is he within the 14 under the GTB staff? Is the CEO of the GTB one of the 14 in number which the Hon. Minister has envisaged will continue to be employed under (4) which is the GDC staff?

560

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Chairman, he is not part of that complement, as the contract was done after the Book was published. (Interjection)

565

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, I note, in terms of the estimate for next year, that in fact total tourism costs are expected to go up by £271,000. I was wondering if the Minister could indicate what particular values – I notice that most of it seems to be in marketing – he intends to extract from this additional expenditure, which is obviously not a reduction.

570

Hon. V Daryanani: Which additional expenditure is the hon. Member referring to, Mr Chairman?

Hon. R M Clinton: Sorry, Mr Chairman, yes, on subhead 2(13), Marketing, what is the intention there?

575

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Chairman, the intention is to market. If he looks at the estimate of 2021-22, it was £850,000 and we have estimated it will go down to £700,000, so £150,000 less than it was the previous financial year.

Mr Chairman: Head 52, Tourism, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

580

Clerk: Head 53, Postal Services, subheads 1 to 3.

585

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, in relation to subhead 1(1), Postal Emoluments, there is quite a large increase in salaries, and I do note on page 156, on the establishment side, it is going up from 58 to 79, of which I notice 22 seem to be in respect of messengers. I am just wondering why the Post Office now needs 22 messengers, and is the increase of salary entirely due to that?

590

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, the hon. Gentleman, in his detailed analysis, will have noted that there are no messengers anywhere else in the Book and that, therefore, all the messengers are now coming under the head of Post. So there is not an increase in salary, there is just a centralisation of all the messengers in the Government in one place.

595

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, I am grateful to the Chief Minister for his answer. Is there any particular logic in that? Is there some efficiency gain anticipated to have them under the Ministry of Postal Services?

600

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Chairman, because messengers in the Government deliver letters and that is what a postal service is, the delivery of letters. And so if it was felt that it was a better and more efficient way to record the service that is being provided, even if it is being provided in Departments, under the head of Postal Services, which is what our messengers do. Although they will continue to be deployed in the Departments and they will continue to do the excellent work they do, the way we account for them will be through here.

Mr Chairman: Head 53, Postal Services, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 54, Port, subheads 1 and 2.

605

Mr Chairman: Head 54, Port, subheads 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 55, Maritime Services, subheads 1 to 3.

610

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to the establishment on page 161, it appears that the assumption remains the same whilst salaries appear to be lower at £687,000, even with the forecast outturn 2021-22 at £800,000, which seems to be consistent with the two years 2019-21. If the Government could explain how they intend to make those savings there?

615

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Chairman, I have not heard the hon. Member's question. Speak louder, please.

620

Hon. E J Phillips: Sorry, I just thought everyone was fed up of my loud voice over this long period of time, but I will repeat the question. The establishment appears to remain the same, whilst the forecast outturn for 2021-22 was at £800,000, which is pretty consistent with the actual previous two years. I am just wondering how the Government intends to achieve those savings on the £687,000 at Salaries in head 55, Payroll, page 162.

625

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Chairman, we had one vacancy last year and we have four vacancies this year. That is why the cost in general will be lower.

630

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Chairman, may I invite the Minister to look at 2(14) in the first instance? The Minister will see the estimate for 2021-22 is £114,000, the outturn was £116,000, and now the estimate is dropping down to £80,000. I just wonder how that saving is expected to be achieved.

May I also invite him to look at Investigations at (12) –

Hon. Chief Minister: One at a time.

635

Hon. D A Feetham: I have no problem with that.

Hon. V Daryanani: The reduction, Mr Chairman, is due to the negotiation with the MCA.

640

Hon. D A Feetham: Can you just explain that a little bit, so that perhaps Members can understand it?

Hon. V Daryanani: We persuaded them to reduce the cost.

645

Hon. D A Feetham: So this has been, in the past, a fixed cost or a percentage cost? How did the Government persuade them to reduce the cost?

Hon. V Daryanani: It was a fixed cost, Mr Chairman.

650

Hon. D A Feetham: Can the Minister also look at item (12)? He will see the forecast outturn at £45,000 in terms of Investigation Expenses. Then, if he looks at Maritime Accident Investigation Expenses, he will see that the estimate was £150,000 for the year ending 2022. The forecast outturn was £27,000, so it came in significantly lower, and now it is going up to £90,000. Is that essentially an ongoing explanation for that? Is there an ongoing investigation that straddles two financial years, so you have to take the £27,000 together with the £90,000? Is there any 655 connection at all between that and Investigation Expenses at (12); and, if not, what is that forecast outturn of £45,000 when an estimate of £1,000 was placed in the Estimate Book last year?

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Chairman, in the questions that the hon. Member asks reference (12) and (16), both are demand led and that is why they vary so much.

660

Hon. D A Feetham: Do they relate to just one case, or do they relate to more than one case?

Hon. V Daryanani: Various cases, Mr Chairman.

665 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, the hon. Gentleman should be interested to know that these are the costs associated with those investigations and the Maritime Accident Investigation Expenses. There is a receipt by the Government of those costs and additional amounts in the blue pages of revenue.

670 Mr Chairman: Head 55, Maritime Services, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 56, Gibraltar Audit Office, subheads 1 to 3.

675 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, with reference to subhead 1(1), Personal Emoluments, it is, I guess, possibly the same point as I raised on the Statistics Office. If we go to page 260, where we have the Government's salaries, it would appear that most of the auditors are now also personal to holder. Is that the same reason as we heard earlier in respect of the Statistics Office?

680 Hon. Chief Minister: It is the same answer as I gave earlier in respect of the Statistics Office, Mr Chairman.

Mr Chairman: Head 56, Gibraltar Audit Office, subheads 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: That concludes clause 2 of the Appropriation Bill.

685

Mr Chairman: Clause 2 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 3, head 58, Contribution to Government-owned Companies.

690 Mr Chairman: Page 167.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Chairman, can the Government confirm that £30 million, as per practice in the past, goes into Gibraltar Investment Holdings Ltd, the company at the top of the pyramid of all Government-owned companies?

695

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Chairman, it does not go into Gibraltar Investment Holdings, it goes into different companies which in the judgement of the Government require the direct injection of capital. As the hon. Gentleman knows, this is a practice that we introduced when we were elected because the companies were not getting sufficient injections of capital and therefore 700 we were seeing companies with very large amounts of losses that were not being made good and were simply being written off, in particular the trading companies. GIH is not a trading company but you have other companies which are trading and which have losses because they do not receive income, and this is sometimes put directly into those companies to ensure that the loss is redressed. This is the 10th year that we do this, I think, so now we have contributed £300 million 705 to the companies structure in this way.

710 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, would the Government be able to provide a breakdown as to which companies are likely to be beneficiaries of this £30 million? Certainly I recollect having asked this question in the past and being told that it all went to Gibraltar Investment Holdings. Obviously what we are hearing today is it does not go directly, necessarily, to that – at least not this year. Could he give us an indication of amounts going to which companies?

715 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, let me correct what I have said. The injection into the company structures may go through Gibraltar Investment Holdings. The spreading of the £30 million goes into different companies. It does not stay in Gibraltar Investment Holdings.

720 Hon. K Azopardi: As I understand his answer, entry point Investment Holdings and then to different companies, so each year will be different, the onward transmission of funds will be different each year – is that right? Do they have a projection of where the money is going this year?

725 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, yes, the injection is into Gibraltar Investment Holdings and then it is distributed in keeping with the views of the directors of Gibraltar Investment Holdings etc. The Government commitment is to provide £30 million a year to the Government companies structure because it was not being provided before, and therefore the companies structure was being left with losses.

730 Hon. K Azopardi: I understand that answer but it is not really what I asked. What I asked specifically was do they have a projection of where the money is going to go this year, or is this a notional provision and they will then, as the year goes on, make a dynamic assessment of where the money is going? Is that the answer to that particular question?

735 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Chairman, that is the answer to that particular question, based on the trading needs of the companies – in other words, the companies that are trading and their income is not sufficient to cover their expenses, but they have employees etc.

Hon. K Azopardi: And so, as it is dynamic, I guess they cannot tell how they are going to use the money this year – but how did they use the £30 million last year?

740 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, that, I think, is information which relates to the companies structure, not to the Government accounts.

745 Hon. K Azopardi: I am just asking if ... The Government has indicated it receives ... It sends an injection to Investment Holdings and then spreads it, depending on which company needs the money. I am just asking the direct question: in the year that has just gone, how has the £30 million been used beyond Investment Holdings?

750 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, I am giving him a direct answer and I will give it again: to pay the losses of the trading companies.

Hon. K Azopardi: I just wanted to know which companies received what moneys.

755 Hon. Chief Minister: The trading companies, Mr Chairman – the Bus Company, for example, is a trading company – the companies that are incurring liabilities because they are paying wages, because they have employees, and they are not getting income. The Bus Company receives very little income from the public because it is free – some people pay but not a lot of people pay – and so, in order to make good those losses, where previously there were just losses under the former administration, we now provide this amount to ensure that the trading companies have their losses provided for.

760

Hon. K Azopardi: I am asking specifically, because I understand there are a number of trading companies, which of the trading companies received what money from the £30 million.

Hon. Chief Minister: Allocations are not yet finalised for last year, but it would include Gibraltar Air Terminal, Gibraltar Car Parks, Gibraltar Bus Company and Kings Bastion Leisure Centre.

765

Hon. K Azopardi: Would it also include Gibraltar Joinery and Building Services?

Hon. Chief Minister: No.

770

Mr Chairman: Head 58, Contribution to Government-owned Companies, subhead 1 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 59, Transfer from Government Surplus, subhead 1.

775

Mr Chairman: Head 59, Transfer from Government Surplus, subhead 1 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 60, Contribution to the Improvement and Development Fund, subhead 1.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Chairman, if one looks at the contribution to the Improvement and Development Fund, we see the estimate in the year ending 2022 at £16.5 million and we see the forecast outturn at £19.5 million. We now have an estimate for the coming year of £1,000. That is a notional figure, I understand, but does the Government have an idea of essentially how much realistically is going to be needed as contributions into the Improvement and Development Fund from projects that the Government may have in mind for the next financial year? Of course, £1,000 is unrealistic.

785

Hon. Chief Minister: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the reply I gave yesterday to hon. Members, in particular to Mr Clinton, where I explained in detail why we had put in £1,000 and where we expected the revenue to come from. I am surprised he does not remember. Perhaps some of what was said yesterday has affected his ability or his desire to remember what I said.

790

Mr Chairman: Head 60, Contribution to the Improvement and Development Fund, subhead 1 stands part of the Bill.

795

Clerk: Head 61, Contribution to the COVID-19 Response Fund, subhead 1.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, just a general question: would the Government envisage closing the COVID Response Fund at the end of the financial year 31st March 2023?

800

Hon. Chief Minister: We would very much wish to, Mr Chairman, but I think we will be having to continue to consider where we are on COVID. Only this morning I have been reading the frankly terrible news that once again there are considerable issues – once again in the United Kingdom mandatory facemasks on the wards to fight against COVID in the NHS – and the unfortunate news of a press release that the Government will soon issue of another COVID death today in Gibraltar. I think we would all want to share the hope that this financial year we will be able to close the COVID Fund, and that those who pray should pray that we can, and those who hope should hope hard.

805

810 Mr Chairman: Head 61, Contribution to the COVID-19 Response Fund, subhead 1 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: That concludes clause 3 of the Appropriation Bill 2022.

815 Mr Chairman: Clause 3 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 4, head 62, Exceptional Expenditure, subhead 1.

820 Mr Chairman: Head 62, Exceptional Expenditure, subhead 1 stands part of the Bill. Clause 4 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 5, head 57, Supplementary Provision, subhead 1.

825 Mr Chairman: It is page 166. It has always been the case that we go back. (Interjection) Yes. So it is on page 166. We are still on clause 5, Supplementary Provision, head 57. Head 57, Supplementary Provision, subhead 1 stands part of the Bill. Clause 5 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Improvement and Development Fund, head 101, Works and Equipment, subhead 1.

830 Mr Chairman: This is clause 6. We are a page 174.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Chairman, can I ask on 'Contribution to Housing Works Agency', which is (g) – (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) Sorry, did you want to pick that up?

835 Hon. D J Bossino: No, I was going to ask Edwin. He raised it in his speech.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can we have an explanation of how they intend to use that money?

840 Hon. D J Bossino: And why the reduction?

Hon. K Azopardi: And the reason for the reduction compared to last year.

845 Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Chairman, it is a question of trying to cut down on waste, as in turnover of houses. We are also offering more people, so that they can get the houses earlier ... that they do their own self-repair. So there are a couple of schemes that we are doing, and we think that we can get to that amount this year.

850 Hon. D J Bossino: Is that a complete explanation, Mr Chairman? It seems like a significant reduction from £4.6 million to about £2.7 million, when, as I understand it, all that has been done is encouraging people to do their own self-repair. The quid pro quo that the individual gets the tenancy earlier is what I understand the Minister to have said, but is that the totality of the explanation as to the intended reduction of waste, as he put it?

855 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, there are also fewer houses to repair. They will have seen from the answers we give them that we have been making sure that we get as many houses out the door as possible, so the number of houses that are awaiting repair before handover are lower. So you have got the work that the Housing Works Agency does in repairs of areas etc., but in the whole refurbishment of homes that are pending refurbishment to be handed over to new tenants 860 you have got the new system that the hon. Member is talking about and you have actually got a lot fewer houses that are waiting to be handed over. At some stage that has got to happen. As you become as efficient as we have in making sure that we get houses in and get them out the door, so to speak, to the tenants, you have fewer and fewer of them available. We probably expect to see that next year there will be more money spent here for the simple reason that, as Hassan Centenary Terraces phase 1 is handed over and more people who are in government housing will leave homes and move into the new homes at Hassan Centenary Terraces, more homes will be available to repair or refurbish and hand over to new tenants. But at the moment, the exercise is coming to ... not an end, because there are always people who pass away or move to the elderly housing and we have homes to repair, but at the moment the numbers of houses ... If he traces it through the questions that they asked, the number of houses available has become a smaller number because you have had all the handovers of affordable estates etc., and as you move towards the next handover of estate, which is the big thing that makes homes available, you will see that number rise, but that will be after the next financial year, not in this one.

Hon. D A Feetham: But, Mr Chairman, isn't part of the explanation that during 2019-21, because we are dealing with lockdown years, there are essentially no works being undertaken during those years? So, essentially what you see in the year ending 2022 is a catch-up with what has not been done during the two previous years because of the lockdown. Now that we are reaching normality, what you see is a downturn from the £4.6 million to the £2.7 million. Essentially, what you are moving to is a more normal situation (A Member: Hear, hear.) because last year was an abnormal situation.

Hon. D J Bossino: Trying to catch up.

Hon. D A Feetham: Yes, exactly.

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Chairman. Attractive though it might be to simply say yes in order to move on, that is not the case because the amount of work that could be done in the year after lockdown year would have been the same anyway – we could not have done double the work. And in any event, the reason it is zero in the earlier year is not the lockdown – the lockdown does not take you to zero, because you are not locked down for the whole year – it is because it was booked somewhere else and not there. This is a new subject. I can hardly see what I am being shown these days, but it is page 175 in the disappearing subhead which is at the bottom of the page, 'Housing: Works and Repairs'. So, even when it comes to conjecture that might have been helpful to the Government, I cannot agree with the hon. Gentleman.

The breakdown includes starting some external refurbishment works in a number of estates, which is also covered through here. It is not just the individual houses, it is also the external refurbishment works for some of the estates. (Interjection) That is right, yes.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to (1)(n)(iii) and (iv), Environment and Roads, I know that the Minister for Transport gave the explanation for the increase in relation to sewers and drains, but insofar as road maintenance and resurfacing I noted quite a significant increase. Can the Minister give a bit more of an explanation in relation to that?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, there are a number of explanations. The Hon. Minister I am sure will be able to say more, but in respect of what has come to me, for example, we are expecting to open the tunnel approach road, which will mean that all of that work on resurfacing etc. will have to be done in this financial year, which is quite a considerable project. It is the opening of the largest section of road that Gibraltar has opened probably in a number of generations, and that will have to be dealt with this financial year in addition to the annual provision that is made for continual resurfacing.

915 Hon. E J Phillips: I just asked that question because I thought that that was already being provided for under another head, the runway tunnel. These are the approach roads that I think the Chief Minister is referring to.

920 Hon. Chief Minister: 'Tunnel' is the tunnel and the project for the tunnel ends at a particular point. Beyond that, you are dealing with the approach roads, which are not part of the government tunnel project.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Chairman, just moving on slightly to ... Are we still on head 101? Okay, well, then, I will ask my questions ... [Inaudible]

925 Mr Chairman: Head 101, Works and Equipment, subhead 1 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Head 102, Projects, subheads 1 to 7.

930 Hon. K Azopardi: On that, can I ask: on the MoD Lands, specifically on MoD Project Euston, so that particular sum there in relation to (a) the £305,000 on MoD Lands ... Let me just ask that first. What are those relocation costs for?

935 Hon. Chief Minister: The short answer to that, Mr Chairman, is the contract that they signed with the MoD for the relocation of property. The exact spend I will find in a moment.

Hon. K Azopardi: In relation to (2)(b), which is the Project Euston – Requested Works, can the Government perhaps explain the scope of those works?

940 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, I can confirm that this is the amount that the taxpayer is still having to pay in respect of Lands Agreements 2004 and 2007 and Lands Agreement 2011 – that is to say the Lands Agreement that they entered into. I am trying to get the detail of the works that are still being done.

945 On £305,000, as part of the Land Transfer Agreement for the Lathbury Barracks parade ground, which I think is Agreement 2007, there is a need to demolish the old band block building and construct a new car park for 60 parking spaces. Half of this will be provided at the Lathbury car park, which will make it cheaper, and the other half of the band block site – the GSD agreement 2004-07.

950 Both the other amounts are infrastructure works which are being carried out in respect of the Four Corners estate. They are being carried out at the request of the MoD in one instance and otherwise as part of the agreement, but both are funded by the MoD. In other words, this is the cost but there is a compensatory payment by the MoD because it was not something that was covered that we were required to do – but we are doing and we are being refunded by the MoD so that they only have one contractor on site.

955 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask on item (3), Reclamation Projects, what reclamations would that be in respect of?

960 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this is the cost of moving that part of the rubble which is in the Eastside reclamation and which is going to Victoria Keys and to Coaling Island.

Hon. K Azopardi: Is the entire £5 million for that purpose, or is it part of that £5 million?

965 Hon. Chief Minister: There are a couple of other tokens in there. The vast majority, about £4 million, is that processing, and some other works at the Coaling Island reclamation – caissons etc. – is the other £1 million. The rest is just a token for some investigatory works elsewhere.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to head 102, subhead 1, Roads and Parking Projects, I do not want to labour the point, but if you look at (a)(i) and (ii), Tunnels and Roads to North Front and Highways Resurfacing Programme, in relation to the answer the Chief Minister gave me in respect of the general head under 101(iv)(n), Road Maintenance and Resurfacing, the answer was that the increased cost there was in relation to roads that led to the tunnel and he explained the segment of the tunnel that was under the particular cost ... I am not casting aspersions, but it does seem slightly duplicitous in terms of the language of the subhead that we are looking at, insofar as roads to North Front and tunnels and highway resurfacing programme, when it would appear to have been provided in the answer that the Chief Minister gave. I just wonder whether he might be able to provide further information as to that, or the breakdown.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Chairman, traditionally there have always been two sections within the I&DF regarding road resurfacing and repair. One of them is the highways maintenance programme, which is something that happens every single year, and that is the resurfacing of vast stretches of road. We have seen that on Queensway and we have seen it along Rosia Road. We still have not decided and finalised what areas we are going to be doing in this year's major resurfacing works. That accounts for one of those subsections and the other one includes the stretches of road, once the tunnel is finished, around the new roundabout at Devil's Tower, at Eastern Beach exit and also what today is the entrance into Gibraltar, which will also be cut off because of the runway. It also includes pothole repair when it rains and we have smaller areas which need to be fixed; and also, when a smaller section road of road is in need of repair because it has been repaired multiple times, we may choose to do a bigger patch repair, but it is not in the highways resurfacing programme, it is not a programme resurfacing a whole road, it is a small section of a road because it has got into a bad state of repair because of lorries or whatever. So traditionally there have always been those sections, one the resurfacing campaign, and two the general maintenance of the roads.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Chairman, on subhead 4, Other Projects, there is a point where there is not a subhead to the subhead. I am looking at page 180. One of the items close to halfway down the page refers to Boat Moorings, for which there was, last year, an estimate of £1,000 but there was no forecast outturn and no further provision made. Can we have some clarification on what boat moorings that subhead was referring to?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, on page 180, which is the italicised bit, those are all the disappearing subheads. That is why they are zero this year.

Hon. E J Reyes: But what I am asking for, Mr Chairman, is ... In the previous year, we had an estimate of £1,000, of which no expenditure was incurred, and my question is what boat moorings was that heading referring to. There is the Small Boats Marina and there are other places with boats, and I am seeking clarification in respect of which boats this heading would have referred to.

Hon. Chief Minister: None, Mr Chairman, because none were done.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Chairman, I cannot find it here but is there a provision under any of these projects for the commitment that apparently Government has given to those individuals who moor their boats at what is commonly known as the old Sheppard's Marina? Is any provision made for the expenditure in respect of that project?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, the old Sheppard's Marina became Ocean Village. Is the hon. Gentleman referring to the Watergardens Marina, not the old Sheppard's Marina? In relation to the Watergardens Marina I understand that that cost is being undertaken by the Port Authority.

I do not think it is here, is it? It may be in the green pages, but I do not think it is here as a government capital project.

1020

Hon. E J Reyes: If I understood correctly, I think that the Minister is saying that that is a Port Authority project. Can I find anywhere in the Book what the estimate would be towards those works which I have seen in a written manner? The Minister has confirmed to those who moor their boats there that some works will be undertaken.

1025

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, but not yet, Mr Chairman. He can see it when we get to the green pages under Port Authority.

Hon. K Azopardi: Sorry, can I just go further back, to page 177, and in particular subhead (4)(r) Infrastructure Provision for New Developments? That is in respect of what particular development? Are we talking about the ...? I imagine it is not the housing projects, because Housing Projects is at (o), so what developments is that in relation to?

1030

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this is the new pumping station that is going to be required on the Eastside, part of that cost; the Western Water Mains Relief Project, where the project will be completed with this year's provision; a new sewage pumping main from Eastside to Transport Road; South Jumpers intermediate sewage pumping station; a new sewage pumping main from the Dockyard Road to Transport Road; a service corridor from Ragged Staff to Harbour Views; Coaling Island development infrastructure; and the extension of the storm water culvert on the Eastside.

1035

1040

Hon. K Azopardi: And is any of that infrastructure provision for the Eastside recouped in any way through the agreement with the Eastside developers, or not?

1045

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, when they pay us £90 million, the £200,000 that it costs will have been recovered. The Government has always agreed to provide infrastructure to the edge of that plot, and this is the Government's obligation to take the infrastructure to the edge of the plot.

Hon. K Azopardi: So this is to the edge of the plot and then in the plot itself the developer will undertake the cost at their expense?

1050

Hon. Chief Minister: On the plot itself it is the obligation of the developer; to the edge of the plot and interconnection, therefore, on the edge of the plot is what the Government is responsible for. That is exactly the same position that we inherited from them in respect of the £28 million deal that they had done on the Eastside, which Mr Clinton thought we should not have undone, although we have done a £90-plus million deal on the Eastside.

1055

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask on (za), Works to Buena Vista Estate: the projection of £1.173 million, last year, £325,000 but the estimate was £1 million – can I assume that this is just cost that straddles both financial years? Is that right? And in respect of what, given that the total would be higher than last year's estimate?

1060

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this is works to the estate which the Government has agreed to do because of the state in which the properties were in when we took them over. We hope to be able to recover a lot of the cost that we are having to expend on these properties from the MoD and we will have to negotiate that with them, but the reason why last year we estimated spending a million and did not manage to spend it was twofold. First of all, the MoD did not move out from one of the blocks that they continued to occupy, which they were occupying in lieu of the old Britannia House on Queensway until later in the period than was anticipated, and

1065

1070 therefore the cost could not be expended. Therefore, part of the cost is now to refurbish that block before it is sold to the successful tenderers. That block is the block known as Phillimore and Prevost House. Then there is a cost to repair the footpaths and the road inside the estate, which are not private footpaths and not private roads, they are highway. And then some refurbishment works which are still due in respect of some other parts of the estate where there is a balance to 1075 complete.

Hon. K Azopardi: And can I ask on (zb), Soft Loans and Repairs to Housing Estates, the reason why they envisage that degree of expenditure, £640,000, to housing estates? Do they have a particular project plan in mind, having discussed it with housing estates?

1080 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Chairman, and he can see that we had anticipated spending more last year and we were not able to. This includes works in respect of Cumberland Terraces and Nelson's View, Calpe Quarters, Beach View Terraces, Bay View Terraces, Brympton Mount View, Brympton Bridges and Harbour Views.

1085 Hon. K Azopardi: And this is engagement, presumably, between the Government and the tenants' associations, the management companies of these estates, and agreements reached in respect of each? When it says 'soft loans', presumably there is some kind of financing put in place, which is then repaid out of service charges? How does it work?

1090 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Chairman, it is exactly that. There are some works which are carried out by the Government and there are some works which, either because the tenants' associations and management companies want to carry them out and because they sometimes also want to carry them out at the same time as the Government is mobilising its own contractors 1095 to carry out those works, we carry out together. But the management company may not have the ability to finance them at this time, which would just mean having to pay for mobilisation costs in the future. The Government therefore looks at what it considers as its obligations, usually as a developer in respect of these estates at the beginning of their lives when things might have gone wrong and need to be repaired as latent defects, and the things which are desirous to be done to 1100 the estates which the management company simply want to do and which are not the obligation of the taxpayer. We reach an accommodation with those management companies on that which they wish to do but the Government has no obligation to do, or considers it has no obligation to do ... they do, and, where necessary, we provide them with loans that they then repay from the roll of service charges, which is the income of the management companies. We have been doing 1105 that for some considerable time since we were elected, and indeed it is something that they were doing when we were elected also.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask on (4)(a), is it too early to say the kind of projected costs that that joint facility would cost the UK-European treaty joint facility?

1110 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Chairman, it is too soon. We do not know what it will cost, we do not know how we will spread the cost of that, but we believe it is possible that it is a cost that may have to be incurred in this financial year. That is why we have made a token. If we did know what it was going to cost, we would have put it in there.

1115 Hon. K Azopardi: And then, on the next line, which is (zj), Relocations Associated with Affordable Housing Projects, are these moneys in respect of the Bob Peliza/Chatham Views projects, or one of the projects, or other projects?

1120 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this is in relation to all of the projects, so Hassan Centenary Terraces, Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Mews.

Hon. K Azopardi: In respect of Hassan Centenary, what kind of relocations are associated with that development?

1125 Hon. Chief Minister: There are a number of leaseholders on the site in respect of leases that ... In fact, the ones that need to be relocated I think are leases that they granted and they therefore need to be provided for elsewhere.

1130 Hon. K Azopardi: I am not sure I understand. I understand that there are commercial leases adjoining. Is that what he is talking about, that the property extends to ...? There needs to be a relocation of the commercial tenants on the adjoining plots – is that what he is saying?

Hon. Chief Minister: There needs to be a relocation of one construction tenant.

1135 Hon. K Azopardi: Is there a breakdown of how the £3½ million would be spent across the various ...? If you had to book them in accordance with the particular affordable housing projects, how would the £3½ million fall to be divided?

1140 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, at the moment there is a token provision made in respect of one of them, so £1,000; there is a very specific provision made in respect of another, which affects only one relocation, and therefore I am loath to give the figure because we are negotiating and hoping to reduce it, and therefore, if I give him any other number it will be possible for the counterparty to the negotiation to know how much we have provided for, although we wish to negotiate further down from that number.

1145

Hon. D J Bossino: Subhead (4)(a), Heritage Building Refurbishments – can more particulars be given for that? There is only a provision for £10,000 given to it. I just wanted to get a bit more sense of detail in relation to that item.

1150 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Can you repeat the question? I was looking for the ...

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, of course. Mr Chairman, it is just more detail on item (4)(a), which is Heritage Building Refurbishments.

1155

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: This is an allocation which will be used for any issue that arises during the course of the year in which a heritage building or monument requires some works.

Hon. D J Bossino: And the same question in relation to (4)(g), which is Heritage Projects.

1160

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: This is in relation to specific projects that I mentioned during my speech last week, two of them being repairs to Southport Gates and the Tower of Homage.

1165 Hon. R M Clinton: Sorry, Mr Chairman, just jumping down to page 179, subhead (4)(zzj), Digital Transformation, we seem to have an estimate of £450,000 that came in at close to £3½ million, which is a significant difference, and I was wondering if the Minister could advise why that was.

1170 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, I will have to revert to him. It was formerly called E-Services and it is now Digital Transformation across the entire Government, but I have to get that breakdown for him so I can explain it to him more clearly. I do not have that information here.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Chairman, may I ask why (zzm), which is Beautification of Landport to Casemates, and then (zzx), Landport Gate, are treated separately? Is it not the same project?

1175 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Chairman, subhead (zzm) – is that what the hon. Member is referring to?

Hon. D J Bossino: And subhead (zzx).

1180 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Chairman, just to clarify, this is part of the Walk the Wall project which the Government announced a long time ago and which I believe already has planning permission for parts of the project. That entry refers to that project.

1185 Hon. D J Bossino: By ‘that entry’ – because I was referring to two – presumably the hon. Member is referring to (zzm).

Hon. V Daryanani: No, (zzm), Mr Chairman, is the beautification that we announced recently via Casemates tunnels.

1190 Hon. D J Bossino: So what the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister was referring to then is (zzx) – is that correct? Landport Gate? Okay.

Is the reason why the Duke of Kent House Gibraltar Archives, (zzu), is only allocated £1,000 ...? I think in answer to a question, or during the course of his speech, the Hon. the Chief Minister mentioned a feasibility study that still needs to be carried out. Is that the case and why there is no specificity yet as to the amount that that particular project is going to cost?

1195 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, yes, that is right. This refers to that particular project and to what I said at the time, which was that the Government is now working on feasibility studies and costings on the proposal to move the archives to Duke of Kent House, but we do not envisage there being a major refurbishment or construction at this particular time.

1200 Hon. K Azopardi: On that same page, at (zzy) and (zzz), e-ID Card System and New Passport Issuing System, are these standalone projects, or are these in any way related to the discussions going on? If they are, the Government may not wish to comment in great detail, but if they are not, if they are standalone projects, can there be an explanation of what exactly these projects are for?

1205 Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Chairman, these may be relevant to any treaty that may be entered into, but they are not about a treaty to be entered into. This is an additional machine to print more ID cards. I think we have always one. We get one new one every couple of years because of the need to upgrade the way that we do the security, and we have always the ability, therefore, to have one down and being refurbished etc. This is the year when we need to get a new one. The new passport issuing system is the upgrade of the system that we maintain with the United Kingdom in respect of passport issuance.

1215 Hon. K Azopardi: So the first one was a machine. That last one – does it include equipment, or is it just software?

1220 Hon. Chief Minister: It is a processing system. It is not a printing machine because, as he knows, the United Kingdom withdrew all the printing from all of its passport offices in the Overseas Territories, in the large embassies and even throughout the United Kingdom, and centralised in one place in the United Kingdom. The sending of the information is through a secure system from Her Majesty’s Passport Office and this is the cost, to all of the Overseas Territories and all of the Dependencies, of providing that.

1225 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to the Main Sewer, (zt) on page 178, can the Minister explain the significant increase up to £1 million of the estimate for 2022-23 in relation to the main sewer provision, given the fact that there is, in the context of these pink pages, an additional element for sewers generally?

1230 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, (zt), as far as we can see, does not suffer an increase at all. It is exactly the same amount as was estimated last year.

1235 Hon. E J Phillips: No, I appreciate that it has been estimated the previous year for £1 million and the forecast outturn was £285,000, and the previous year, 2019-21, £1.433 million. Insofar as the amount is concerned, it would just be interesting to explain what that is for insofar as the detail of the main sewer works, maybe.

1240 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Chairman, we cannot say that we will spend a million pounds every year, because it depends on the projects that we set out to achieve financially. This is the one I mentioned in my Budget speech, which is, I think, from Bomb House Lane. Actually, it was the largest section of main sewer within the city walls, and that then will complete the whole length of sewer within the city walls. It is, I think, from Bomb House Lane all the way to Ragged Staff Gates. It is that project.

1245 Hon. E J Phillips: The reason why I ask, of course, is because there is an element within this as well for drains and sewers, so it is difficult ... If this is specific Bomb House Lane sewer remedial action, then that is fine; it is just that it is not clear and immediately obvious from the Book, that is all.

1250 Hon. P J Balban: There are different parts of it. One is the project, which is the relining of the sewer, and then there are also other works like desilting and cleaning and doing smaller sections of the sewer, which we do on a yearly basis. Similar to what we said with the road resurfacing, one is a big project and the other is the maintenance that we have to give our sewers if we are going to ensure they are working properly for us in the immediate future.

1255 Hon. E J Phillips: Just in relation to the STTPP at (zu), the actual for 2019-21 was £477,000 and the forecast outturn for 2021-22 was £205,000. Is there a reason for the significant increase to £800,000? Is this in relation to implementation of certain parts of the STTPP? I know that there was an indication given in the hon. Gentleman's Budget speech about certain implementation of items there, but it seems like a lot of money and I just wondered whether he had any further information with him to explain that.

1265 Hon. P J Balban: We are involved now with the design stage of our bicycle infrastructure. Once we have drawn out the final plans then obviously it is a question of getting boots on the ground and doing these projects. To develop a cycle lane, it is not just painting, it is not segregating with dots. It is a lot more that we have ... Even things like the sewers, the drains and the storm drains – for a bicycle they have to be set at 90° to the wheels of the bicycle, otherwise you risk the bicycle going into the ... and if we are going to be moving out of road, using part of the road where the pavement is, maybe the sewers are badly lined. We are dealing with every single bit of work from things like the drains to removing pavements and so forth, painting, using segregation, so it is a massive ...

1270 It does not sound much, but creating a bicycle infrastructure can be pretty expensive, and this is obviously part of a bigger project because we cannot think for one moment that this will be it. This is the beginning of getting some sort of infrastructure in Gibraltar, and it is a plan that will span many years in that respect.

1275

Hon. E J Phillips: So that is part of the segregated pop-up scheme that you are going to expand out from many of our roads?

1280 Hon. P J Balban: Yes, the first stage is what we call phase zero, which is to mark out using pop-up, which is temporary infrastructure, to see how things go, see what the take-up is. I obviously get the feedback from cyclists. This is like when you build a gravel road and eventually you build up to a motorway. This is like our gravel road for cycling. We need to create the infrastructure so that people feel brave enough to cycle, and once we have the throughput of cyclists using it, then 1285 we will start upgrading. So the first stage is the pop-up infrastructure, which is removable and you can change its position and see how it goes, and then, once you see that it is working and take-up is good, you start thinking about more permanent infrastructure and it is the people who will be saying they want more of this, and so forth. That is the plan behind it.

1290 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, in relation to (zzzc) on page 179, Ex-Chronicle Printing Works – Justice Offices, I am just wondering what that item refers to. (Interjection) It just appears to be something new insofar as the (zxc) Ex-Chronicle Printing Works – Justice Offices and I am just wondering what the intention is for those premises. Is that to decamp the Ministry for Justice into that particular building, or to expand the provision?

1295 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Chairman, it will be premises to collocate officers to deliver some Justice projects. For example, it will be a MAPPA hub for police officers, social workers and probation officers to work together. It is that kind of office. It is not anything to do directly with the Ministry for Justice but Departments that come under the auspices of the Ministry for Justice.

1300 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Chairman, just by way of explanation, if the Hon. Deputy Chief Minister could assist, I think he did say that (zxx), which is Landport Gates, related to the Walk the Wall project – which, as he has rightly pointed out, had been announced and I think it was in their manifesto, in fact. Isn't there a separate provision for that under (zxt), where it says City Walls – 1305 Walk the Wall, for which I think a nominal provision of £1,000 is made?

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, if I recall correctly, the project was being done in phases, so it could well be that different parts of the project have been entered separately into the list of projects.

1310 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, just looking at (zys), The Mount, £400,000, I was wondering if this is in anticipation of the generous donation of £1 million towards the refurbishment of the Mount. And how does the Minister envisage this working? Will the Government incur the expense first, and then expect reimbursement?

1315 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, no, this is for the refurbishment – I think I referred to it in my address – of the Porter's Lodge into the Marriage Registry and also of the events hall in its proper restoration and refurbishment into an events hall plus the gardens around that area. This is not the Parasol money. That money is being used separately for a different phase of the project.
1320

Hon. R M Clinton: I am grateful to the Minister for that explanation. How would the Government effectively account for that? How would it work? I would expect to see something in the Book for that element and then covered by a reimbursement. How, in your minds, do you see that working?
1325

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, yes, this would appear in the revenue section of the Improvement and Development Fund. If he looks at page 173, the hon. Member will find the 1330 different sources of revenue which come into the fund, including reimbursements and others, and grants, so it would be shown on that page and would be offset against the project as the money starts being spent.

Thank you.

1335 Hon. R M Clinton: Yes – I am grateful to the Minister – that is exactly the way I would expect it to function for the Book. Based on what he has just said, then, it would appear that the second phase is not anticipated in this next financial year.

1340 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, the first phase is one we anticipate this year. The second phase may or may not happen at the same time because the source of funding is separate, it is not Government funding. So it may happen at the same time but my best guess would be that at this stage in this financial year we would only do phase 1.

Mr Chairman: Head 102, Projects, subheads 1 to 7 stand part of the Bill.
Clause 6 stands part of the Bill.

1345 Clerk: Clauses 7 and 8, Gibraltar Development Corporation.

Mr Chairman: Page 184.

1350 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, the Gibraltar Development Corporation obviously has substantial payments. I just would like more information about recurrent payments, item (19), Contribution to Economic Development & Employment Company Ltd, £11,782,000 last year and this year. I would like to know exactly what this entity does for the Gibraltar Development Corporation.

1355 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, this is essentially Sir Joe Bossano's head and he is not here now, but this is the Economic Development Ministry. The Future Jobs Strategy was run through here, all of the activity of the Economic Development Ministry is run through here, part of the National Economic Plan is run through here, etc. This amount, he will see, goes back some considerable time and is provided each year.

1360 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, I know this is something I keep on referring to, but would the Government at least commit to publishing the accounts of this entity on an up-to-date basis, in the very near future rather than later because obviously significant amounts of money are being spent through this entity?

1365 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, yes, the Government is committed to publishing the accounts of all the Government corporations as soon as possible.

1370 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Chairman, on subhead (25), Training and Development Courses, it says 'Other Projects – Government Financed' with a projected increase twice the amount of the forecast outturn for last year. Can we have some information on what projects it entails and what are the future ones?

1375 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, it may be an increase in the forecast outturn, but it is exactly the same estimate, which is being run by the Economic Development Company, and it is just a question of whether the courses are taken up and therefore whether the cost is incurred.

1380 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, a slightly different question. On the Capital Account, on page 187 there is the sale of a share for what looks like £1. I would be grateful if the Government could advise what that is in respect of.

1385 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is the sale of one share, which is part of a restructuring of the internal way that the government companies are held. We are racking our brains just to remember, because we spent a lot of time working out how we would do this and how we would restructure, but it was x months ago. It is not often that you see in these Estimates £1, you usually see £1,000, but it is £1 because it is precisely £1 for one share.

1390 Hon. R M Clinton: Yes, Mr Chairman, I fully appreciate that from the Book. My question is: in respect of the shares of what entity?

Hon. Chief Minister: It may be one share in Credit Finance, Mr Chairman.

1395 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, if my memory serves me correctly, I have seen one share of Credit Finance appear in the recent summary of the investments of the Gibraltar Savings Bank. First of all, I am I correct that that is the same share? And, secondly, what was the reason for it?

1400 Hon. Chief Minister: It is to permit a distribution of profit in that company. Otherwise, because of the preference shares, if you do not do the exercise that we are doing now, you are not able to pay the distribution of profits.

1405 Hon. R M Clinton: Sorry, Mr Chairman, while I just think this through. If I recall correctly, there was a dividend which was deemed ... it was a dividend up, but it was deemed to be reassigned to the Savings Bank – I think it was about £9.7 million – and by effectively giving the Savings Bank this particular share it would avoid that problem in future. Does this particular share have any particular special class to it that gives it any special dividend rights?

1410 Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Chairman, it is an ordinary share, but if you do not do it this way you have to do the deemed dividend, which is what the hon. Gentleman has identified. In this way, we can do it direct.

Mr Chairman: The Gibraltar Development Corporation stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Borders and Coastguard Agency.

1415 Mr Chairman: Page 211. Borders and Coastguard Agency stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Housing Works Agency, on page 214.

1420 Mr Chairman: Housing Works Agency stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority, on page 217.

1425 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Chairman, on subhead (8), in respect of electricity and water, if we look at the figures in previous years the estimate for this coming year tends to be of the same spending per year. I agree that the electricity supply to the main football pitch, which has been leased out to Gibraltar Football Association ... those floodlights are used. The electricity bill – is that still being paid by the Sports and Leisure Authority, or is it now on a separate meter, the running costs of which will be met by the Gibraltar Football Association?

1430 Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Chairman, the GFA pays for its own utilities. This is not GFA related. I wonder whether the hon. Gentleman needs to look back and then calculate the increase in the in the utilities and the other sites that have come on stream, and that probably balances out.

Mr Chairman: Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority stands part of the Bill.

1435

Clerk: Gibraltar Health Authority, on page 220.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to page 225, Recurrent Payments, could the Minister give an explanation as to the rationale for the relief cover at £1 million?

1440

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, I refer the hon. Gentleman to the statements I made in my reply speech, where I addressed this specifically.

Hon. K Azopardi: Just on a related item, under the forecast outturn of £11 million, is there a breakdown of how that sum has been spent?

1445

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, I think I actually gave him the breakdown yesterday in the course of my speech. I know he might have not wanted to hear much of what I had to say, but £4.3 million came from the COVID Response Fund, which he can see on page 228 at the top, and the balance is having to provide the relief cover necessary as a result of the continued pandemic, which had rolled on in a way that we had not expected when we had prepared the Estimates in January, February and March of 2021, because in the financial year 2021-22 the pandemic continued and therefore we had more cover that we had to provide etc. It is what we say is the demand-led cost of ensuring that the GHA had the individuals available doing the jobs that were needed when others were not able to do them, and what he says is my terrible mismanagement and the reason why I could not be trusted.

1450

1455

Hon. K Azopardi: I am asking for a more specific breakdown, and we are getting into that because we are past the Second Reading – otherwise we will be here all day. How does this break down in terms of staff numbers, who they are, what kind of jobs? What is this? They projected £2.5 million as the estimate, it then came in at £11 million, so what is the specific breakdown?

1460

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, I do not have the management accounts here, but we do have the name of every individual who was paid as a result of this. If the hon. Gentleman is asking do we have that breakdown, we do. I do not think we have it here because we have it in the ... He is asking us about not the estimate for this financial year, which is what we are debating today; he is asking us for the forecast outturn for last year, which informs our work in making the estimate for this year. I am not saying he should not ask, what I am saying is I do not have the information here. This relates to individuals who have been paid to do the work that the GHA has determined was required and was not in complement for reasons that I have explained to him both yesterday and before, because I explained it in my main speech. The £2.5 million was the view that we were taking for a year when we expected COVID to end, and the £11 million is the actual cost for a year through which COVID rolled and continued to require us to incur costs. In the context of the argument that COVID is being used as an excuse, unfortunately, as I told hon. Members a moment ago, I have another death certificate, which shows that this ain't no excuse, this is real and the number of Gibraltarians lost to it now is 105.

1465

1470

1475

Hon. E J Phillips: I think it feeds into another question we asked about how realistic is the £1 million figure, because the Chief Minister has referred to what has happened in the United Kingdom and the sad loss of another life and the reason why the forecast outturn is £11 million.

1480

We put this in our Budget speech and in our contribution we talked to the principles of the Bill. We asked the question how realistic was the £1 million in that context.

1485 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, the £2.5 million was realistic when it was estimated in February/March. The £1 million is realistic when it has been estimated this March. If we have to come to this House to seek £21 million at the end of the year, and if they behave like they have behaved this year, they will say it is a terrible mismanagement on my part and I will say that is what we needed during the course of 2022-23. I do hope that we will need less than a million and that we will not have to have people wearing masks in the Hospital again going forward throughout the year and that we do not have another spike.

1490 The hon. Gentleman is asking me how accurate the estimate is in the face of the, hopefully, last roll of the pandemic dice – and it is literally a roll of the pandemic dice. We could have put a thousand pounds in here, so that it was obvious that it was literally just a token, but this is not just relief cover for COVID, this is relief cover generally in the GHA and we have to make our best estimate, with all our vacancies filled, how much relief cover we will require and how much of COVID will still be there and how it will affect relief cover. It is an impossible estimate to make beyond being a guesstimate, and there is no way that anybody can find a better way of estimating against this number in the public health circumstances in which we find ourselves.

1495 Mr Chairman, I emphasise the point: it has not stopped them – despite agreeing with us now more convivially when looking at the detail – from accusing me of mismanagement and that trust in me should be lost because of the increase in the forecast outturn, the actual, in effect, against the estimate, but I am telling them now it is a guesstimate. It was a guesstimate last year – it could not be anything more than that – and it is a guesstimate this year, and I look forward to being accused of mismanagement next year.

1500
1505 Hon. K Azopardi: Well, it is not about clutching at straws, Mr Chairman. It was not presented as a guesstimate, it is presented as an estimate. Presumably the Health Authority and the officials are providing advice on these matters, and what we are trying to probe is the accuracy of these figures. Do you want to carry on?

1510 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes. Mr Chairman, of course this is based on advice. You are not probing the accuracy of this estimate unless you have not heard everything that I have said from the first speech, because I said from my first speech, before the hon. Gentleman got up to accuse me of mismanagement because we had not kept to the estimate, that it was impossible to estimate and that we were doing our best in the face of a public health pandemic. If we had stuck to the figure religiously out of a desire to demonstrate our management and our ability to estimate, we would have butchered frontline services because we would not have had people on the frontline.

1515 And so what I am saying – again, because I said it in my main speech about the estimate for this year and I said it in my reply about the estimate for this year, and last year I said it about the estimate that we were making as well – this cannot be anything other than a guesstimate. We have filled vacancies or are in the process of filling vacancies. There should, therefore, be less need for relief cover if it is the ordinary course of business, if it is business as usual, but we do not know that it is – and I shared with hon. Members this morning an article I read in The Times about the effect on the NHS. I am making the point with vehemence so that I can, if necessary, point hon. Gentlemen to it next year when they make the accusations that they have made in the terms that they have made them for the reasons that they say they made them in respect, in particular, of this increase and this failure to keep to estimate, or indeed the Government's decision to ensure that the provision necessary for the GHA was there, even though it exceeded the estimate.

1520
1525
1530 Hon. K Azopardi: And I hear the explanation, but the point is that on this side of the House we do not necessarily accept the explanation, or in the terms that it has been put. That is the point we make.

Hon. Chief Minister: Sorry, what did you say?

1535 Hon. K Azopardi: I said I hear the explanation but on this side of the House we do not necessarily accept that explanation.

Hon. Chief Minister: I understand that you do not accept it, because hon. Members do not accept reality. They might like to see that there is a footnote on the next page that says that funding will be provided to the level required in the event that the level required is in excess of the amount. Mr Chairman, if they do not accept the explanation, can I invite them not to bother seeking it? What is the point? They are going to vote against this estimate. They do not accept our explanations and yet they seek them. Why? Simply to make a note in order to then try and compare it to our explanations next year? Well, they will find that we are consistent in saying that we will provide the amount that the GHA requires, even if it exceeds the estimate where it is in a demand-led area, because that is not a failure of management. That is to provide, as the footnote on page 227 sets out, such funding as may be required to continue to be able to deal with the ravages of the public health pandemic that we are suffering. That is what happened last year and that is what would happen this year, although would that it need not happen this year.

1545
1550 If he does not want to accept that explanation, frankly, Mr Chairman, it is a matter for him, but I will deploy the explanation again because it is the truth and it is reality.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Chairman, we have been asking a lot of questions on the specifics, and we are interested in the explanations and clarifications on the numbers that we have been asking for. The distinction that I have just made is that he has made a long explanation about how these numbers have been reached and how it was impossible to control. I was making the specific distinction that we may not accept the explanation he has just given about that issue. I am not talking about the more macro level of read-across in his remark, 'Well, if they are not interested in the explanation, why are they even asking these questions?' I am asking him specifically on this issue. I have made that distinction. In respect of the other numbers, of course we are interested in the specific questions we have been asking.

Hon. Chief Minister: I understand he does not accept the expression, Mr Chairman. He has called me a thief because of the increase. He has told me that I have become a highwayman to pay for the increase, so that must mean that I have stolen it. If he does not want to accept the natural meaning of his words, so be it.

Hon. K Azopardi: I understood that ... [Inaudible] Be serious. It was an exchange. He was talking about the renaissance and I made an allusion which was intended to be comic, and everyone understood it like that. He has made an exaggeration of it. Fake outrage, Mr Chairman.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, I am extraordinarily grateful to the hon. Gentleman that he has clarified – although he had an opportunity to do so yesterday when I was replying, but he did not seek to have me give way because he wanted to clarify it – that he called me a highwayman in jest, that he did not mean it and that he does not believe I am a thief. (Hon. K Azopardi: Of course.) He is saying 'of course'. I genuinely appreciate his belated but hugely important clarification.

Mr Chairman: Are we ready to proceed?

1580

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to point (13) in the same column, Visiting Consultants Fees and Expenses and Other Contracted Medical Services, can the Minister for Health or the Chief Minister explain how they are going to achieve that particular saving?

1585 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, on the same basis as the Chief Minister has already outlined, this is the estimate that the professionals provide us with and we are prepared to support.

1590 Hon. E J Phillips: In relation to item (14), recruitment expenses, the forecast outturn 2021-22 is £2 million that is provided in terms of the estimate for this year. In relation to recruitment expenses, item (14), the estimate 2022-23 is listed at £750,000. I wonder whether the Minister might be able to explain a bit more about that.

1595 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, it is all related in terms of the extra number of people needed during COVID, which we hoped not to be needing during the course of next year. When you have relief cover to the extent that we did, that obviously had a cost to it, not just in respect of the recruitment but also in respect of the expense of bringing people over and accommodating some of them whilst they are here providing relief cover.

1600 Hon. E J Phillips: So in relation to the recruitment expense, that £2 million that was spent in 2021-22 relates to the payment of fees towards agents and also the bringing over of resource, potentially. I think there was one aspect of flying nurses over. Was that in relation to that resource being imported for the benefit of the GHA?

1605 Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Chairman, it relates to bringing people here, accommodating them – some of them on short-term arrangements – and then them leaving.

1610 Hon. E J Phillips: Just in relation to item 21, GPMS Prescriptions, the forecast outturn for 2021-22 was at £12 million. If we roll back to 2019-21 it was £24 million, pretty consistent from those years. And then we get to the estimate this year being a lot less at £9 million. I just wondered whether the Minister might be able to explain the thinking behind that estimate.

1615 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, we issued a press release some two months ago, I believe, which explained that we were removing certain items from the list of prescriptions. In that press release we said we anticipated a saving of £4.3 million in the course of the year. I think you will find the numbers are quite close to that.

1620 Hon. E J Phillips: I think it really fed into the point that I was making. I know the Chief Minister picked up on the 'life-saving' words in the contribution that I made, but also critical medicines that was added on – it was life-saving and other medicines. Is it the case that there has been a general review by the Chief Pharmacist or, indeed, the Health Authority in relation to medications, or a re-designation of certain medications that patients require, and that has been communicated down to pharmacists up and down Main Street in relation to dispensing those? I think he referred to it in the answer to the last question that I asked here ... that it related to specific medicines. Has there been any sort of change in approach by the Chief Pharmacist or, indeed, the GHA in communications to pharmacies in Gibraltar about issuing those medicines to people?

1630 Hon. A J Isola: Yes, there is a press release which details the thinking behind it, as well as the use of generic medicines as opposed to branded medicines, which will also obviously have a saving. I think that was all in the same press release, which explained why we were hopeful of a £4.3 million reduction in the cost of pharmaceuticals through GPMS during the course of the year.

1635 Hon. E J Phillips: That is very helpful; that is well understood. I think the point I was trying to get at, probably not in an articulate way at this time of the evening, but the point that has been made to me by patients is that there are certain medicines that they are receiving that are significantly expensive – they understand to be, now – and are not being made available, given the expense. That is obviously a comment being made to me by a number of patients and discussions that I have amongst pharmacists in our community. I would just like to seek clarification on that, because it is a genuine concern of people who have asked me, so I thought it best to ask it here – it is the only place we can do.

1640

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, we would never preside over a Government – and, as I said to him yesterday, neither would they and neither would anyone, I think, who has sought office in this community – which would deny members of our community who need a particular pharmaceutical. There is no question of that. There is a concern – which is a medical concern, not 1645 a financial concern, although it has financial consequences – of an overmedicated population and the consequence that that can have for public health. In other words, more medication means less good health, not better health; and, secondly, there are some instances of people seeking expensive medications simply for the purposes of trading the prescription for non-medical goods. We have had that before. I have given interviews on GBC about the subject. We have debated it
1650 across the floor of this House. I cannot remember whether it was in the lifetime of this Parliament – I think it was in an earlier Parliament – and I cannot remember whether it was the first Parliament to which I was elected as Chief Minister or the second, so I cannot remember whether he was here, but there is a very serious concern about that. There is pharmaceutical fraud going on, and I think that at the time I looked at this I was told that they had had the same concerns 1655 when they were in government and they had taken some of the same measures at different times. They had even deployed undercover officers at one stage, I understand, to try to catch out pharmacists who were involved in this, because this is a two-to-tango issue.

Let me just give the hon. Gentleman a statistic that I was given, which made me really raise my eyebrows. Without casting aspersions on anyone but telling hon. Members today what I think I 1660 said on television at the time, every time a new pharmacy in Gibraltar opens, for the same number of people in the population we end up with 10% more prescriptions. How can that be? So there is no question of the Government depriving anyone of life-saving medication, as I told him. He has now said to the Minister, ‘Well, I had my answer on that. What is my answer on other prescriptions, just things which happen to be expensive?’ The issue here is also (a) overmedication and (b) pharmaceutical fraud. That is what has been the subject of the investigation and the 1665 attempt to put in new systems which will prevent that.

I would hope that all of us, as Members of this House, and every Gibraltarian should want the Group Practice Medical Scheme to work and to give the people who need medication the medication they need whether it is expensive medication or not expensive medication, certainly 1670 if it is life-saving medication. If it is medication they need, then of course. If it is medication they want, it is different. If they want it because it is pain relief, then, in my view, they need it and the doctor should prescribe it, unless the pain relief is causing them a difficulty. Hon. Members will know that there is a huge opioid crisis in the United Kingdom and in the United States, where people become addicted to pain relief and they can die from the pain relief, which causes them 1675 the problem.

So the issue of overmedication is a very serious medical issue, the issue of pharmaceutical fraud is a very serious financial issue, and all of these things make up the concern that the Government is trying to deal with through the review that is being carried out.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, I thank the hon. Gentleman – that was a very helpful answer.

In relation to item (23), Medical Departments, as we can see from the run across the line there from £16.8 million through an estimate of £3.8 million at 2021-22, then to the forecast outturn for 2021-22 at £12.1 million ... Apologies, I have lost my train. It was £18.2 million and then the reduction to £5.7 million, a very significant reduction there, the least on the surface of the items.
1685 Insofar as ‘Medical Departments’ is quite a generic description, perhaps the Minister might be able to explain the rationale for what on the surface looks like a reduction.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, the difference between the amount in the outturn and the amount forecast is the cost of LFT tests.

1690

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, about £13 million in tests that has been run through the Medical Department aspect of this?

Mr Chairman, just one question. I assume the answer is that Dressings, Aids, Medical Gases and Tests at item (27) are other tests, not those tests that relate to COVID. Again, if that is the case, there is a reduction of over a million from the outturn last year. I would have thought that Dressings, Aids, Medical Gases and Tests would be a pretty consistent figure, so why the reduction in procurement of those items?

1695

Hon. A J Isola: Sorry, I was about to agree with the first part of the question. I am not sure where is he taking it with the second part of the question.

1700

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, insofar as the second part of the question, whilst I appreciate the tests do not relate to COVID tests, that these are run-of-the-mill tests that are conducted at the GHA, I just want to know why, for Dressings, Aids, Medical Gases and Tests, the figure now stands at £1.75 million as an estimate, when the forecast outturn last year was £2.83 million.

1705

Hon. A J Isola: You are referring me to the reduction from £2.8 million to £1.7 million? Mr Chairman, I do not have that information here and I would rather not guess as to the cause. I am happy to come back to him.

1710

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, dealing with the fairly large amount of ... I know this is a heated debate in the exchanges and I do not want to encourage that again, but insofar as item (37), Sponsored Patients, we have seen, again, from 2019-21 right the way through the line up until the estimate, fairly consistent figures for sponsored patients, and I just wondered how the Government arrived at that estimate for £10 million and whether it was realistic in the context of the work that we do in sponsoring our patients to receive medical care in other jurisdictions.

1715

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, the Chief Minister also referred to this in his address during the course of the Appropriation Bill. As we repatriate more and more services, we need to send fewer and fewer people out, and the estimation at this stage is that this will serve a reduction of that amount by repatriating services here.

1720

Hon. Chief Minister: And, if not, we will overspend. In other words, not through mismanagement but because we will provide the sponsored patient provision that is necessary, but we are trying to reduce it by bringing back the services.

1725

Hon. E J Phillips: Just a general question on that. I think the repatriation of services is an interesting point. I know that the Hon. Neil Costa, when he was in this House, explained the rationale for repatriation of services. I think that many Governments have tried to do that over many years, but on occasion it does actually significantly increase the cost of providing that service. So it is a bit of a fine balancing act that I think the Hon. Mr Costa talked about in this House previously. Obviously they have suggested a figure of £10 million because of repatriation. I wonder whether there is a breakdown of that further, insofar as what services are being repatriated in a bit more detail so that we can ascertain that.

1730

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Chairman, yes, and what the Hon. Mr Costa also told the House was that in some instances, if it cost a lot more to repatriate the service it did not make sense to do it, but if it made patients in a difficult situation considerably more comfortable, if there was potentially an increase in the cost but there was a better service provided to the Gibraltar patient,

1735

1740 then it would be something that we would pursue. And then Mr Costa left this House and we had a General Election, and no sooner than we had a General Election we had a pandemic. Literally, we had works which had been ongoing, we had cleared areas which were going to be used to provide certain services, and those areas then had to be used for pandemic purposes. That is why the hon. Gentleman is right to point to things that were said during the lifetime of the last 1745 Parliament and that we are now in the second half of this Parliament and we have not been able to do those things, but that is the criterion that is in our minds.

When you look at the cost of the repatriation of services, you have an indication of how many people you send away in respect of those services and you can do – again, I emphasise this – a guesstimate, which is a finger in the air. If we have no longer got to send people we sent for this 1750 service away from Gibraltar ... How many people on average do we send away for this service?
What does that mean in terms of sponsored patients? Maybe we can make that saving. But of course, like everything in medicine, those are averages. You might actually find that there is a year when you do not send anyone for a particular service. It is very unusual, but say you were to send, usually, 70 people, for angiograms, to the United Kingdom – I am not a doctor, and I think we send 1755 angiograms to the Costa del Sol, but say you were to send 70 people for angiograms in the United Kingdom and you sent 70 every year, and so you do an average and it works out to 70 and you then say, ‘How much do those 70 cost in terms of sponsored patients?’ Say it costs you £4 million, you say, ‘We can reduce it from £4 million because we are going to treat the 70 here.’ And then, the following year, you have 10 angiograms, so the amount that you have invested is not going to 1760 show you as much of a benefit as you expected, because you are not treating 70 in your new angiogram facility in Gibraltar. Or you have 170, and you treat 70 and you have to send a hundred out because you cannot deal with them, even though you have repatriated the service, because you do not know how many angiograms you are going to get in a year, even if you have had a pattern of angiograms for a number of years.

1765
Hon. E J Phillips: Just one final question on this list before ... I believe that hon. Members may have certain questions on this side of the House, but in relation to item (42), Disposal of Clinical Waste, again, this seems like a fairly consistent amount of money, generally speaking, and I just wondered why the difference between the forecast outturn last year and this year amounting to 1770 nearly £1 million difference, and how that is going to be achieved.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, the forecast outturn is influenced, again, by COVID. Around £400,000 of that cost is disposing of COVID-specific waste. The estimate for the forthcoming year is more in keeping with what it has been in previous years, although slightly higher, he will see, 1775 but I think that is the estimate they are providing at this moment in time.

Hon. E J Phillips: Just one question in relation to page 226 on the Europort Paediatric Centre. I assume that all children’s services are dealt with in respect of the Paediatric Centre? That is the first question. I will follow up on that, depending on the answer.

1780
Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, I think the Paediatric Centre has always been intended to cover all aspects of the paediatric services the Hospital provides. We are doing some work on that to see how we can reinforce that message better across the community.

1785
Hon. E J Phillips: A follow-up question: does that also include diagnosis of autism at that centre, or is that dealt with somewhere else?

Hon. A J Isola: I would not know, Mr Chairman. I am certainly happy to find out and come back.

1790
Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Chairman, a minor question. On Recurrent Payments, item (39), Rents and Service Charges, I note it seems to have gone up from £35,000 to £150,000. And just by way of aside, I know you have a section specifically for rentals, which goes from £48,000 to £52,000 and I was wondering, first of all, what is the increase in respect of? What is the rent for? And should it perhaps not be reclassified under the subheading later on?

1795

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, I am afraid we do not have that information available. I agree with the hon. Member's comment that it seems a rather sudden increase, and if it is rent or any part of it, it should be in the other column, so I will have to get that information and revert to him.

1800

Hon. R M Clinton: Many thanks, Mr Chairman.

Hon. A J Isola: If I may, just by way of assistance, I understand some of that may be in relation to storage off site, as opposed to the actual premises themselves, which are under the other head, but again, I will confirm that.

1805

Mr Chairman: Gibraltar Health Authority stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Gibraltar Health Authority – Elderly Residential Services section. That is on page 230.

1810

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Chairman, just in relation to page 231, the summary of the totals of full-time and part-time, it appears that we may have lost 31 people within the Elderly Residential Services Section. I wonder whether the Minister might be able to give an explanation as to the loss of numbers in human resource there.

1815

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, I understand that the reduction in numbers is a result of the Jewish Home and people moving from here on to the books of the Jewish Home.

Mr Chairman: There is a section, as part of the GHA, which talks about the Elderly Residential Services Section, which we have just covered, but there is also another section which talks about the COVID-19 Response Fund. Is that something that has been looked at, or shall we ...?

1820

Gibraltar Elderly Residential Services Section stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Care Agency.

1825

Hon. K Azopardi: Just a question on that. At item (29), Home Support – Supported Living in the Community, and the projection of a lesser sum there, I assume that having spent £4 million there would have been an assessment of ongoing needs in the community and I just wanted to understand why the Government thinks it would be less.

1830

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Chairman, during COVID, over £1 million – £1.18 million – was spent in providing additional support to families who were at home, as opposed to under our care. The day centres were closed as well, and so more support was provided. We believe that by removing that support we will get much closer to the number that we believe we should be spending in this respect.

1835

Mr Chairman: Care Agency stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Gibraltar Electricity Authority.

1840

Mr Chairman: Gibraltar Electricity Authority stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Gibraltar Port Authority.

1845 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Chairman, referring to a question I asked before on a previous page, where the Chief Minister kindly pointed out to me that perhaps the answer could be found in the green pages, under subhead (14), Maintenance of Port Installations and Equipment, is that the area that would include those small boats moored on the Watergardens side that we were talking about before?

1850 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Chairman, yes, it is, as the hon. Member said, in the green pages. On page 252 under Capital Account he will see Payments and then he will see Works and Equipment.

Hon. E J Reyes: I beg your pardon, Mr Chairman, but because I am hard of hearing perhaps the Minister could kindly repeat that, so I can make a note.

1855 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Chairman, it is on page 252 under Capital Account and then Payments, and he will see Works and Equipment. Capital Account, then there is Payments underneath Receipts, and there is Works and Equipment. Has the hon. Member ...?

1860 Hon. E J Reyes: Yes, thank you, Mr Chairman, I think I have got that. One clarification: is the whole £522,000 exclusively for that project, or are they amalgamating different subsections, bringing a grand total as per the estimate?

1865 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Chairman, no, the £522,000 is not only for the Watergardens project, there are other things involved there.

Mr Chairman: Gibraltar Port Authority stands part of the Bill.
Clauses 7 and 8 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: The Schedule.

1870 Mr Chairman: The Schedule stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

1875 Mr Chairman: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Legal Services (Amendment) Bill –
Clauses considered and approved

Mr Chairman: Legal Services.

1880 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Legal Services Act 2017.
Clauses 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clauses 4 to 12.

1885 Mr Chairman: Clauses 4 to 12 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved with amendment

1890 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to make changes to amend the Traffic Act 2005.
Clauses 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: I believe there is an amendment to be moved.

1895 Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Chairman, I beg to give notice that I shall be moving amendments to the Bill for the Traffic (Amendment) Act 2022 during the Committee Stage. The amendments are as follows:

1. Substitute the following for paragraph (a) in clause 3(3)-

"(a) in subsection (1)-

(i) after paragraph (c) insert-

"(ca) the Transport Planner for the Government;";

(ii) in paragraph (e), delete "and";

(iii) for paragraph (f), substitute-

"(f) three other members appointed by the Government; and"; and

(iv) after paragraph (f), insert-

"(g) one person appointed by the Government after consultation with the Gibraltar Cycling Association."; and".

2. After clause 3(3) insert -

"(4) In section 65(2), insert the following paragraph after paragraph (b)-

"(ba) as a result of the administration of a preliminary drug test, the police officer making the requirement has reasonable cause to believe that the person required to provide a specimen of blood or urine has a drug in his body; or".

(5) In section 91(3) for "level 1" substitute "level 3".

(6) In section 98(1)-

(a) after "Act" insert "or subsidiary legislation made under this Act";

(b) for "level 1" in both places it appears substitute "level 3";

(c) for "three months" substitute "six months".

Mr Chairman: Are Members of the Opposition content with the amendment?

Clauses 1 and 2 stand part of the Bill.

1900 Clause 3, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

The long title stands part of the Bill.

Appropriation Bill 2022 –
Third Reading approved: Bill passed

Clerk: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

1905 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to report that the Appropriation Bill 2022, the Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 and the Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 have been considered in Committee and agreed to with some amendment. I now move that they be read a third time and pass.

1910 Mr Speaker: Those in favour of the Appropriation Bill 2022?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I call a division.

Mr Speaker: A division is required.

Voting resulted as follows:

FOR

Hon. P J Balban
Hon. Prof. J E Cortes
Hon. V Daryanani
Hon. Dr J J Garcia
Hon. A J Isola
Hon. G H Licudi
Hon. F R Picardo
Hon. S E Linares
Hon. Miss S J Sacramento

AGAINST

Hon. K Azopardi
Hon. D J Bossino
Hon. R M Clinton
Hon. D A Feetham
Hon. E J Phillips
Hon. E J Reyes

ABSENT

Hon. Sir J J Bossano
Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon

Mr Speaker: The result of the division, as requested, is 9 in favour, 6 against, and 2 Members are absent, which means that the Bill is passed. (Banging on desks)

1915 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, before we carry on with the rest of the business the House needs to deal with this afternoon, I am conscious that you have been in the Chair since we started the exercise, and I wonder whether this might be a convenient time to take a short recess until twenty to eight.

1920 Mr Speaker: The House will now recess to twenty to eight.

The House recessed at 7.26 p.m. and resumed at 7.40 p.m.

Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Third Readings approved: Bills passed

Mr Speaker: Those in favour of the Legal Services (Amendment) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Traffic (Amendment) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Questions for Oral Answer

TRANSPORT

Q220/2020

Taxi fleet – Encouragement to go green

1925 Mr Speaker: I think we now revert to Questions, those that remain from the beginning of this session.

Clerk: Question 220/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Further to Written Question 14/2022, can the Government state what it is doing to encourage our taxi fleet to go green?

1930

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the Government, in consultation with the Gibraltar Taxi Association, is looking into the possibility of installing EV charging points in taxi ranks at strategic locations in order to encourage our taxi fleet to go green. We are already in the process of installing the first EV charging point at the ground floor of Midtown car park solely for taxis. The hon. Gentleman is reminded that Import Duty for electric vehicles remains at zero and the cashback incentive is £2,500.

1935

1940

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, when this Written Question was put for the Minister, obviously he was not here at the time and we agreed to convert it into written. I think the answer was that only one taxi in Gibraltar was EV, and therefore the reason why I have asked about how we are going to encourage the taxi fleet is ... My view is they all should be electric or hybrid, as the case may be, and whilst I understand that in putting infrastructure in these particular areas so that they can access that, is it right to say that not the complaint but the concern of the Taxi Association is the lack of infrastructure? Are they waiting for that in order to make that investment in the services they provide, in buying electric vehicles?

1945

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the Taxi Association is in the process of testing. They tested some vehicles out with one of the local businesses. I think their biggest fear is range and size. I think that is what they were most fearful about, that they would not be able to do their full day's work on a charge.

1950

Now, as you rightly say and in my Written Question reply I said, there was only one electric vehicle. I think that will probably spread like wildfire, because obviously the cost of fuel nowadays will make the e-vehicle a lot more attractive. I think they have satisfied their doubts as to range and size range and they know they can use it for the whole day, so I think it will push on a lot quicker now, especially because there is one in the fleet already. I think they will see it and they will talk about it, and very soon I think there will be more. As I have said in my reply, we will be working with them to see whether we can place some EV charging points at ranks as well, other than the coach park, and that will, I think, help them in that respect, too.

1955

1960

Q221/2020

Electric motorcycles and bicycles – Eligibility criteria for grants towards purchase

Clerk: Question 221/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, further to Written Question 17/2022, can the Government state in detail the eligibility criteria for the provision of grants towards the purchase of electric motorcycles and electric bicycles?

1965

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the eligibility criteria are as follows. The electric motorcycle must be fully electric and the bicycle must be an electrically assisted bicycle without a throttle where the electric engine does not exceed a speed of 25 km per hour. In addition to the above, the electric motorcycle or electric bicycle must be purchased in Gibraltar through an authorised dealer.

1970

Q222/2020

Parking permit fees –
Rationale for higher fees within same household

Clerk: Question 222/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1975

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what is the rationale for applying higher fees to persons from the same household who seek a zone parking permit when someone else in the same household is renting an indoor parking space elsewhere?

1980

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, when an individual owns or rents a parking space and another member of the same household applies for a zone permit, he or she will enter into tier 2. The rationale for this is to discourage multiple car ownership per household, and use of other, sustainable modes of transport. Further information can be found in the policy booklet that was published in 2017.

1985

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, is that policy going to be reviewed at any point in the foreseeable future, or is that policy something that the Minister thinks should continue, going forward?

1990

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the whole point of this policy really is if you own a private parking space or you rent a subsidised parking space from Gibraltar Car Parks or the bank that Gibraltar Car Parks manages ... We want to encourage people to use their parking space and not park their car on the highway, so by increasing the fee, what you are saying is you want the car to use the parking space they have acquired at a lower rate than market value.

1995

I think the policy is a good one, because if you have your own private parking space and you rent at the cheaper rate, it encourages you to say, 'Well, I will just use the parking there,' because it is much easier to find or it is much more advantageous for the individual to park outside their front door, if they were to find a parking space, than to go 200m to the car park itself. So that discourages, hopefully, that behaviour. At the end of the day, what we want to see is fewer cars on our roads and less usage.

2000

Q223-25/2020

Parking fees paid by residents of parking zones –
Revenue re first, second and third vehicles

Clerk: Question 223/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2005

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state the revenue by way of parking fees paid by residents/householders resident in the various parking zones for a first vehicle, broken down by parking zone and by numbers of permits per zone?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

2010 Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 224 and 225.

Clerk: Question 224/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2015 Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Government confirm the revenue by way of parking fees paid by residents/householders resident in the various parking zones for a second vehicle, broken down by parking zone by numbers of permits per zone?

Clerk: Question 225/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2020 Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Government confirm the revenue by way of parking fees paid by residents/householders resident in the various parking zones for a third vehicle, broken down by parking zone and by numbers of permits per zone?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

2025 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I have prepared the reply but I think it might be better if I offer the hon. Gentleman a schedule, so he can see for himself and I will not need to read it out, which will be helpful in that respect. Thank you.

2030 Hon. K Azopardi: He is going to hand it to me?

Hon. P J Balban: Yes. (Interjection)

Hon. K Azopardi: Oh, I see.

Answer to Q223/2022

First Vehicle (Tier 1)

 Please note that Tier 1 is a combination of Pensioners and Tier 1 permits

Zone	Number of permits issued	Revenue
Zone 1	407	£24,420
Zone 2	324	£16,500
Zone 3	435	£26,040
Zone 4	21	£1,110

Answer to Q224/2022

2035 Second Vehicle (Tier 2)

Zone	Number of permits issued	Revenue
Zone 1	110	£13,200
Zone 2	111	£13,320
Zone 3	426	£51,120
Zone 4	328	£39,360

Answer to Q225/2022

Third Vehicle (Tier 3)

Zone	Number of permits issued	Revenue
Zone 1	19	£4,560
Zone 2	13	£3,120
Zone 3	57	£13,680
Zone 4	25	£6,000

2040 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can I just ask ...? First of all, I am grateful for the breakdown, which is very helpful, and there may be further questions that I ask in future meetings in respect of that, but can I understand the note on tier 1? First vehicle, second vehicle, third vehicle, so it is tier 1, 2 and 3. Where it says that tier 1 is a combination of pensioners and tier 1 permits, what does that mean?

2045 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the pensioner gets a 50% discount on the permit, so tier 1 could be at the full rate for a non-pensioner or it could be at half rate for a pensioner.

2050 Hon. K Azopardi: That would not affect, obviously, the number of permits, so within the number of permits – say, for example, zone 1, 407 – some of those will be pensioners, some of them will not be, but would you hold a specific number? Does the Department hold a specific number of how many of these are pensioner permits?

2055 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the point that was trying to be made there will not tally. If we multiply the 407 by £60 or whatever, you will not get a figure ... It will be less, because of the pensioners. I am sure, yes, of course, the car parks GPMSL Minister will have a log of how many of those would be pensioners.

2060 Hon. K Azopardi: Slightly off, but related to the questions I have been asking – I have not done the maths on this but the Minister will know that when you add the numbers of permits in zone 1 or in 2, 3 and 4, how does that correlate with the available spaces in the zones? Is that a good supply of permits per parking space available?

2065 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, we do not provide permits for parking spaces, so you will find that in some zones there will be a lot more parking availability than in other zones. For example, in zone 1 there is plenty of parking, in zone 4 there is plenty of parking and in zone 3 there is plenty of parking. The one that has always been, traditionally, a bit more of a problem is zone 2 because there are a lot of houses there that do not enjoy parking spaces other than the parking spaces that the Government has built in Engineers Lane, the Theatre Royal etc. Generally, it does provide much better parking availability for people within their zone, but it is just zone 2 where the numbers are not as great as in the other zones.

BUSINESS, TOURISM AND THE PORT

Q251/2020

Post Office private letter boxes –
Number available to rent

2070 Clerk: Question 251/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise the total number of private letter boxes the Post Office has made available to rent?

2075 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the total number of post boxes is 1,719.

Q252/2020

Minister's visit to Bangladesh –
Details

2080 Clerk: Question 252/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide the following details relating to the Minister for Tourism's trip to Bangladesh: (i) who comprised the Government's delegation; (ii) the total cost of the trip, broken down into air travel costs, lodgings and entertainment; (iii) who the Minister met; (iv) what new business has been secured as a result of the trip; and (v) the duration of the trip.

2085 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

2090 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the Government's delegation comprised John Reyes from the Ministry of Business, Tourism and the Port, and myself.

The costs of hotel and accommodation for myself were covered by the Commonwealth Enterprise and Investment Council in London. The flight for Mr Reyes cost £3,881.36 and his hotel costs were also covered by the Council.

2095 For the rest of the information the hon. Member requests, he should refer to my press release of 27th January 2022.

2100 Hon. D J Bossino: Did he say that the organisation, which I have not taken a full note of ...? I have the press release here with me, but I seem to have misplaced it in preparing for the question. Did he say that, in effect, all the costs were covered save for Mr Reyes's flight costs? Is that correct? Have I understood him?

Hon. V Daryanani: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is correct.

2105 Hon. D J Bossino: May I ask what class of travel he used – Mr Reyes, because he is the one whose travel resulted in an expense to the public purse?

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, this was two flights over 15 hours and Mr Reyes flew club class.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q253/2020
FITUR fair –
Government attendance

2110 Clerk: Question 253/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state whether the Government intends to attend the next FITUR fair in Madrid and why it did not attend the fair this year.

2115 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the Government has not yet decided on whether it intends to attend the next FITUR fair in Madrid.

2120 There are various reasons for not attending this year's event, the main reason being that the principal Spanish tourism that comes into Gibraltar is for day trips from Andalucía. I felt that having a stand and spending approximately £60,000 would not make a difference on this and was not really worth it at this stage. The fact that from March onwards we have seen a formidable return of day trippers, a full Easter and an extremely busy few months after that proves our judgement was correct.

2125 Finally, Mr Speaker, the Government does not rule out attending next year.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, may I ask what factors he is considering as to which side of the line, whether a yes or a no, he is likely to be deciding as to whether to attend or not? He says he has not decided yet and he talks about the improved numbers – and he is absolutely right – we are seeing from Spain, but what factors will determine whether the Government will be attending the event this coming year?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I refer the hon. Gentleman to the logic I set out in my reply to him when I dealt with exactly this question.

2135

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the logic, from my recollection, would be supportive of a decision in the negative, if I recall the Hon. the Chief Minister, but what we are getting from the Minister now suggests that that is still in the air, that there has not been a final decision made as to whether there will be an attendance on the next occasion. So I think the question is still valid and I do not think that we have had a proper reply from the Government benches on this one.

2140

Hon. Chief Minister: They have had a full and proper reply from the Government benches, which told them, Mr Speaker, that we believed, as the Hon. Minister has set out, that in an ordinary year it makes no sense for us to go to FITUR at a cost of £60,000, which we think would be money thrown away because we do not need to advertise Gibraltar in Spain.

2145

As I told him in my reply, Spain is obsessed with Gibraltar and therefore we do not need to sell Gibraltar in Spain, but if we have a new treaty which potentially provides a new way of accessing Gibraltar, we may consider that next year or the year after, or in no year but maybe next year and the year after it makes sense to go to FITUR to explain the new fluidity arrangements, such as they may be if they are agreed.

2150

That is the logic. That, we are discussing. We have not made a determination yet because the circumstances that we have provided for do not yet obtain, and therefore we will have to see what happens if those circumstances obtain. Otherwise, our view is that going to FITUR is throwing £60,000 of taxpayers' money, literally, away, like holding them up in the wind and seeing them fly. It is our opinion. He may not agree, but as I told him yesterday also, he has different opinions on things and it is fine; we just should not debate those issues until we get to a conclusion which is the best conclusion for the Gibraltarian taxpayer; and in our view, our conclusion is the right one.

2155

2160 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for the reply; I think it is a fuller reply than I originally obtained from his colleague and himself initially.

I am not too sure what the position is, but is this the one occasion when the Government did not attend? Hasn't the Government always attended this fair in the 11 years they have been in office? It has always been a popular fair, certainly when we were in Government. I thought they had carried on with the practice when they have been in office.

2165

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I know that he dips in and out of politics and that he was here for the first four years we were in office and then he took a four-year sabbatical and is now back. I think we have gone on one or two occasions. I do not know if it was two, I do not know if it was one and I do not know if it was three, but it certainly was not 10.

2170

We have had the debate in this House about us continuing to go to FITUR on a number of occasions. Gibraltar needs to seek tourism because we need to get the numbers of tourists in Gibraltar up. The question is whether going to a Spanish tourism fair is the best use of our money. Maybe he would like to explain to us – not in the context of this moment because he needs to ask his questions, but explain to us privately or by exchange of press releases in the headlines of the newspapers why he believes that going to FITUR is going to increase the number of people who come to Gibraltar. If he can persuade us of that, well then we might agree.

2175

I think the policy that we have had, which is to do it but not do it regularly, to just, if there is something new, maybe put it there ... For example, if there is a new treaty or if we have new tourist attractions, as we have had in the time that we have been in government, to explain those, we think it made sense. Otherwise, we think there are other trade fairs where we reach other professionals, which makes more sense. But he is absolutely right that FITUR is a very big trade fair, aka a shindig, and if people here, on this side of the House, were looking to go to shindigs and not looking to look after the taxpayers' money, we would go simply because it is a shindig, but we are looking after the taxpayers' money and we think it is £60,000 wasted.

2180

2185

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q254/2020

Entry points to Gibraltar – Efforts to maintain and refurbish

Clerk: Question 254/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

2190 Hon. D J Bossino: What efforts are being made to maintain and refurbish Gibraltar's entry points by land and sea?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

2195 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, all efforts are being made to maintain our entry points. As the hon. Member will have heard last week – perhaps two weeks now – we have announced a wonderful refurbishment and embellishment of the Landport area, which is one of the main entry points to our town centre. Other projects will be announced during the lifetime of this Parliament.

2200

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, I think it was two ... perhaps even three weeks ago now. I think we lose track of time, we have been so long here.

2205 I am grateful for the answer, but I was more interested to learn what the Hon. Minister's plans are in relation to the Port, the cruise liner berth and also the Frontier. I understand that the Frontier, as a result of the potential Schengen treaty – or in any event – will be the subject of a refurbishment, but I have received quite a lot of complaints about the state of those particular entry points and I would be grateful for the Minister's ... whether he has any plans in relation to those two particular entry points.

2210 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, regarding the cruise terminal, the Port area, there are plans. I have a certain vision for that area. We need to look at it and it needs to be improved, but of course we are not in a position to give you any further information because we are still at the early stages of that.

2215 Regarding the Frontier entrance, we have already submitted planning for a project that includes the e-gates etc., and that will incorporate a certain clean-up of the area because, once again, the hon. Member is right that it does not look very good. The reason we have not done so has been because we were waiting for this to happen and we were going to do it at the same time as the e-gate project.

2220 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q255/2020
Airport departure lounge bar –
Owner/operator

Clerk: Question 255/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2225 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, which company owns and/or operates the bar in the departure lounge at the Airport?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

2230 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the current owner of the departure lounge cafeteria is Lewis Stagnetto Ltd, trading as Bellport Ltd.

Hon. K Azopardi: Does the Minister have information – I assume it is a lease or a licence, a licence I guess – on when it commenced?

2235 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, no, I do not have that information, but it was not that long ago, so if he wants, I will be able to write to him and give him that information.

2240 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, that lease was granted before we were elected into government – or licence, because it is in the duty free area concession – and is being renewed, but it is something that we found when we were elected.

Clerk: Answers to Written Questions.

2245 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can I just ask, before we pass to Answers to Written Questions ...? I had understood Sir Joe might have had a couple of questions. My learned and hon. colleague Mr Feetham had left me with custody of one of his questions with a request that it be converted to written on the assumption that Sir Joe might be answering it – but it might not be on this list. It is not on the written list that I can see in front of me. (Interjection) But there is another, I see.

2250 Mr Speaker: Those questions which remain unanswered because the answerer is not here can be converted into Written Questions and they will be able, at the next meeting of the House, to ask supplementaries in the form of new questions in supplementaries on these questions which have been converted.

2255 Hon. Chief Minister: Or they can convert them to oral, Mr Speaker, or they can keep them as oral questions for the next session.

Hon. K Azopardi: I understood that under the rules the particular questioner will have a number of days.

2260 Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, that is right.

Hon. K Azopardi: But to the extent of Mr Feetham's question, I can confirm that he is willing to convert it to written.

2265 Mr Speaker: [Inaudible] converted to written?

Hon. R M Clinton: Yes, Mr Speaker.

2270 Mr Speaker: ... [Inaudible]

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker. I am content for mine to be converted to written.

2275 Hon. E J Reyes: Likewise, Mr Speaker, I am happy for mine to be converted on the understanding that if I have a follow-up I can file a supplementary.

Questions for Written Answer

Clerk: Answers to Written Questions.

Hon. Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions W18/2022 to W23/2022 inclusive.

2280 Mr Speaker: Ordered to lie.

PRIVATE MEMBER'S BILL

FIRST AND SECOND READING

SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 –
First Reading approved

Clerk: Private Member's Bill – First and Second Readings.

A Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the transfer of the undertaking of SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited to SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank Limited.

2285 The Hon. A J Isola.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the transfer of the undertaking of SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited to SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank Limited be read a first time.

2290

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the transfer of the undertaking of SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited to SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank Limited be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

2295

Clerk: The SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Act 2022.

SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 –
Second Reading approved

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

2300

This Bill makes provision for and in connection with the transfer of SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited to SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank Limited, a UK-registered company which has a branch in Gibraltar. In the Bill and in the rest of my comments SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank is called SGKH and SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank Limited is your called SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank Limited. The Gibraltar company is a subsidiary of SGKH Bank Limited.

2305

This transfer will not affect the level of presence of SGKH in Gibraltar as it will initially continued to operate from its current premises at Line Wall Road, Gibraltar, although it intends to move to new premises at Midtown shortly. The public will not see any change in this regard and will continue to be able to deal with their current contacts at the bank in the normal course of business.

2310

The staff working at SGKH Gibraltar will automatically transfer to the branch of SGKH Bank Limited and the banks have confirmed to me that the transfer effected by the Bill will not give rise to any redundancies. The hon. Members opposite will be familiar with the process of transferring undertakings in this manner.

I would be grateful for their support, and I commend the Bill to the House.

2315

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I rise to declare a tangential interest in that I have, for many years, had an account at the bank and therefore I would wish to abstain on any particular vote – not on the merits of it, but just so there is no tangential view that I may have a conflict. That is not to say that the Opposition obviously does support the merits of the Bill.

2320

2325 If I can add that as a former President of the Banking Association and having worked in the banking industry for many years, I first of all obviously welcome the fact that the bank is retaining its presence in Gibraltar, although of course in a branch format it has perhaps slightly less kudos than a locally incorporated entity with a board of directors and share capital etc. De facto they are providing banking services in Gibraltar and I think that is obviously good for Gibraltar. I am glad to hear what the Minister has said in terms of employment, that that will not be affected.

2330 And so, Mr Speaker, I do not know if the Leader will make a few comments, but when we come to the final stage of the Bill, if we can have a division so I can record my abstention?

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2335 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the Opposition, insofar as subject to a clarification of my hon. colleague Mr Clinton, will support this Bill. As the Minister has said, this has become now not regular practice but it is the practice that has been seen in this House before in respect of other entities, and it has been done by Private Member's Bill by successive Ministers responsible for financial services who have introduced legislation in relation to particular banks, so we have no difficulty supporting this to smooth the passage and make it easier administratively for the bank to handle its business in this way and so that it has no particular issues.

2340 We note what the Minister says in terms of its move to new premises. We hope that is because it intends to expand its services and grow and then recruit, and we are also grateful for his indication that there will be no redundancies, but insofar as the detail and so on, we will, of course, support the principles and detail of the Bill.

2345 Hon. G H Licudi: Mr Speaker, I also rise to declare an interest in this matter because I have been professionally involved in the matters that give rise to this Bill. Unlike the hon. Member opposite, I do not believe that that affects the way I vote and I do intend to support this Bill, having declared the interest that I have declared.

2350 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think that, as the hon. Members have said, as stakeholders in the financial services sector in Gibraltar it is important to support the institutions like SG Kleinwort Hambros. They are obviously responding to the real world in terms of how the banking community is evolving and changing. What gripped me was the investment in new premises, which I thought was encouraging, and their commitment that as a result of this Bill there will be no redundancies to the staff.

2355 I very much hope, as the hon. Member has mentioned, that the bank will continue to grow, will service more and more clients and be more and more profitable in its operations in Gibraltar so they can pay us more taxes and promote and work with us in further developing the financial services community.

I am grateful for their support, Mr Speaker.

2365 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the transfer of the undertaking of SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited to SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank Limited be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can we record an abstention by me?

2370 Mr Speaker: Mr Clerk would wish to record the abstention of the Hon. Roy Clinton.

Clerk: Recorded.

The SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Act 2022.

2375

SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

2380

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

COMMITTEE STAGE AND THIRD READING

Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Reading. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

2385

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House should resolve itself into Committee to consider the following Bill clause by clause, namely the SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022.

In Committee of the whole House

SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved with amendment

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to make provision for and in connection with the transfer of the undertaking of SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited to SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank Limited.

2390

Clause 1.

Mr Chairman: Clause 1 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clauses 2 to 12.

2395

Mr Chairman: There is an amendment to clause 5, so it is clauses 2 to 4. Clauses 2 to 4 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 5.

2400

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Chairman, I would be grateful if it could be amended in accordance with the letter provided to you, the Clerk and Members opposite.

2405

Mr Chairman: Is the Opposition content with that? Clause 5, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clauses 6 to 12.

2410 Mr Chairman: Clauses 6 to 12 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: The long title stands part of the Bill.

SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 –
Third Reading approved: Bill passed

2415 Clerk: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to report that the SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 has been considered in Committee and agreed to with an amendment. I now move that it be read a third time and pass.

2420 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that the SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022 be read a third time and passed. Those in favour of the SG Kleinwort Hambros Bank (Gibraltar) Limited (Transfer of Undertaking) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) We note that the Hon. Roy Clinton is abstaining. Those against? Carried.

Adjournment

2425 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, having kept my head when so many around me were the losing theirs and blaming it on me, it is my pleasure to rise to move that the House, after having approved the Appropriation Act 2022-23 on the basis of GSLP Liberal Government votes only, and having done all its other business for this month, should now adjourn sine die.

2430 I will be in contact with the Leader of the Opposition to see whether we will have another meeting before the summer. It may be possible to have one, it may be necessary to have one, but for now I move that the House should adjourn sine die.

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die.

2435 I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed. This House will now adjourn sine die.

The House adjourned at 8.29 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 3.06 p.m. – 8.26 p.m.

Gibraltar, Wednesday, 19th October 2022

Contents

Prayer	4
Administration of Oath of Allegiance to His Majesty King Charles III	4
Confirmation of Minutes	4
Announcements	4
Tribute to Her late Majesty Queen Elizabeth II	4
Tribute to Marie Montegriffo, former Member of the House	8
Papers to be laid	11
Thanks to all from Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon for friendship and support during period of bereavement	12
Standing Order 7(1) suspended to proceed with Government Bill	12
Order of the Day	13
Bill	13
First and Second Reading	13
Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved	13
Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved	13
Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	16
Committee Stage and Third Reading	17
Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved	17
Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Third Reading approved: Bill passed	17

Standing Order 7(1) suspended to proceed with Questions	17
Questions for Oral Answer	18
Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities	18
Q276-77/2022 Counselling, psychological support services and Child Protection Services – Number of children referred.....	18
Q278/2022 Children referred to Mental Health Services – Numbers receiving medication, counselling or other therapies	20
Q279/2022 Number of suicides in last 11 years – By age and sex.....	20
Q280/2022 Numbers receiving medication for mental health conditions – By condition, age and sex	22
Q281/2022 Numbers receiving therapy, counselling or CBT – By condition, age and sex....	25
Q282/2022 Mental healthcare – Budget	25
Q283/2022 Primary Care Centre appointments – Difficulty in accessing.....	27
Q284/2022 Cat 2 individuals and HEPPS – Numbers.....	30
Q285/2022 AquaGib – Financing; indicative purchase price	30
Q286-88/2022 Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi and St Martin’s – Staff numbers; nationalities; numbers through recruitment agencies	31
Q289-292/2022 COVID boosters administered – Number by resident and non-resident	33
Q293/2022 Gibraltar Health Authority – Number of vacant posts.....	35
Q294/2022 Power cuts – Duration, districts and reasons	36
Q295/2022 Power’s Drive Tunnel – Reservoir stock level on day preceding fire.....	38
Q296/2022 ITLD – Increase in staff complement	40
Q297/2022 DHA orthodontists – Whether Government satisfied with complement.....	41
Q298/2022 GHA Domestic department – Management of and relationship with employees	42
Q299/2022 GHA electrical works – Whether being privatised.....	43
The House recessed at 6.05 p.m. and resumed at 6.23 p.m.	44
Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB.....	45
Q300/2022 Construction and Engineering Trades Training Centres – Trainees; instructors and current vacancies; future plans.....	45
Q303/2022 Disability Allowance – Number of cases where revoked or discontinued.....	48
Q304-310/2022 Public debt – Figures for June to September 2022; General Sinking Fund – Balance as at June to September 2022; Gibraltar Savings Bank – Listed bond portfolio; unclaimed deposits National Economic Plan – Engineer’s Lane air-raid shelter; application procedure Rooke Nursing Home – Arrival date of modular units; Jewish Home – Refurbishment costs	49
Q311/2022 Disability benefit – Number of applications outstanding	55
Q312/2022 Apprenticeships – Whether continuing locally	61
Q313-16/2022 Rooke residential home – whether private or public facility; Mount Alvernia – option for existing residents to remain; criteria and financing terms for residents moving to new facility.....	62

Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations.....	66
Q348/2022 Development Plan – Expected date of publication	66
Deputy Chief Minister	68
Q349/2022 Rooke site – Update re preferred bidders.....	68
Adjournment.....	69
The House adjourned at 8.26 p.m.	69

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 3.06 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S Galliano Esq in attendance]

PRAYER

Mr Speaker

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF ALLEGIANCE TO HIS MAJESTY KING CHARLES III

Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Wednesday, 19th October 2022.

Order of Proceedings: (i) Oaths of Allegiance of hon. Members.

The Chief Justice administered the Oath of Allegiance to the Hon. M L Farrell, the Hon. F R Picardo, the Hon. Dr J J Garcia, the Hon. Prof. J E Cortes, the Hon. A J Isola, the Hon. J J Bossano, the Hon. G H Licudi, the Hon. S E Linares, the Hon. P J Balban, the Hon. Miss S J Sacramento, the Hon. V Daryanani, the Hon. K Azopardi, the Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon, the Hon D J Bossino, the Hon D A Feetham and the Hon E J Phillips.

CONFIRMATION OF MINUTES

5 Clerk: (ii) Confirmation of Minutes – the Minutes of the last meeting of Parliament, which was held on 22nd, 23rd, 28th, 29th and 30th June, and 4th and 5th of July 2022.

Mr Speaker: May I sign the Minutes as correct?

10 Members: Aye.

Mr Speaker signed the Minutes.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Tribute to Her late Majesty Queen Elizabeth II

Clerk: (iii) Communications from the Chair; (iv) Petitions; (v) Announcements.

15 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the community has had an opportunity to hear, already, fulsome tributes to Her late Majesty from all Members of the House in different fora in the time since 8th September, when her death was announced. It would be remiss of us, however, not to reflect those tributes in this House in some way.

hon. Members will have heard me say, and I repeat here, when it came to Her Majesty, Mr Speaker, we were her Rock and she was ours, and in much more than the geological meaning of those words. For all the time that this Parliament has existed, as well as its predecessor the House of Assembly, we were Her Majesty's seat of Government in Gibraltar. For all hon. Members except Sir Joe and – although it would be rude of me of me to ask – perhaps yourself as a Member, if not an elected Member, we, the rest of us, have all been born in her reign. So the Government considered that the death of Her Majesty on 8th September had to inevitably lead to the cancellation of the National Day celebrations this year. As one Member of the great Gibraltarian public told a foreign television station, once Her Majesty's death had been announced we had nothing to celebrate that week.

Mr Speaker, I refer the House to the statements I have made to various media and elsewhere and reiterate those sentiments to the House today. On 18th September, I also extended condolences on behalf of the people of Gibraltar and all Members of this House directly to His Majesty the King, Charles III, to the Queen Consort, the Earl and Countess of Wessex and the Princess Royal at the reception at Buckingham Palace ahead of Her late Majesty's funeral.

The British Royal Family have seen the depth of the real affection for Her Majesty that there was in Gibraltar and which remains in respect of the memory of her reign. It is also true that the depth of that real affection will also have been seen and felt beyond the United Kingdom. One hopes it will better help some people to understand that, for us, British sovereignty is not an esoteric concept, it is something that runs through our veins and that, like our blood, it comes from our hearts.

Mr Speaker, once we have heard from other Members I will ask that the House should observe a minute's silence as a sign of respect for Her late Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I will associate myself entirely with those remarks by the Chief Minister on the passing of Her Majesty.

What can one say that is sufficient when something like that happens? A monarch who served not only her country and her people but the entire Commonwealth for 70 years and left her mark and her legacy throughout the entire Commonwealth. As the Chief Minister says, we have, all of us, each and every one of us, reflected on the passing of Her Majesty and her legacy in different ways and on social media, and it is fitting that we should also say so today.

She came here in 1954 and left her mark. The people of Gibraltar felt her loss massively, as we did when the Duke of Edinburgh also passed, before. Her Majesty was in place and saw almost every significant step towards self-government in our community, and it is worth reflecting that she was there at the time of the three Constitutions that were granted to her people of Gibraltar. And while we, of course, always assert our right to self-determination, it is entirely compatible with our place as loyal members of the Commonwealth, so we have always valued our links with Her Majesty. She leaves an enduring mark that will never be surpassed or rivalled as the monarch that she was, who touched the hearts of so many people throughout the Commonwealth and so many people in Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Marlene Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I would like to echo the tributes of the Chief Minister and the Leader of the Opposition for our beloved Queen Elizabeth II, and pass on, of course, my condolences to all within the great British family of nations.

As did I, many of our brothers and sisters felt her passing as the loss of a close, comforting and protective relative, and have felt a degree of orphanhood ever since. Having recently lost my mother, I must admit that losing our Queen reopened wounds in powerful and completely unexpected ways. Many have expressed criticism of some excessively performative and dramatic 70 shows of mourning, but these are, to me, nothing more than the manifestation of a level of respect and adoration that is not easy to express with words. I hope not to fail these excesses with this honest and heartfelt obituary.

Queen Elizabeth II meant a lot to me, for many different reasons, and I profoundly admire the way she fulfilled her many roles. She will always be an example I will try to follow. As a figurehead, she was an example of how to exercise great power with great sensibility and humility. As a matriarch, she was always capable of navigating the right course between loyalty and responsibility. As a woman, she endorsed and echoed the progress achieved by her female peers despite the traditionalist trappings of the institution she represented. As a monarch and perhaps the greatest exponent of an institution many consider anachronistic, she was capable of garnering global sympathy and uniting the nation in times of hardship. She made republicans embrace the monarchy and recognise the value of emotion, symbolism and tradition. She was a consensus figure standing right in the middle of a time where there is no middle ground. Think what you like about the monarchy, but these are all objective achievements of enormous value.

80 In a time plagued by polarisation, demagoguery and alienation, Queen Elizabeth gave us hope that we could have unity, dignity and kindness in public life. May this promise inspire us all for years to come.

85 Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

90 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, the death of Queen Elizabeth, on 8th September, was the end of an era.

Many tributes have been paid to the late Queen, much has already been said and written, so I would like, if I may, to make my own short contribution in this House with a personal story. Six years ago, I agreed to represent the Government at an event at Buckingham Palace. My wife and I attended, together with guests from the United Kingdom and all over the Commonwealth. It was our first visit to the Palace, so logically we were struck with the surroundings. We stayed in our allocated place, chatting to political and military figures and their spouses who came and went; one of them had worked in Gibraltar, one worked for the Royal Family. The Royal Family entered the enclosure and circulated amongst the guests. The afternoon wore on and there were only, more or less, 10 minutes before everybody had to go home. It was then that we saw Her Majesty talking to the people directly in front of us. The image in my mind is of that crowd parting, and in an instant the Queen stood there in front of us. We exchanged pleasantries and, logically, a few words about Gibraltar. I remember that conversation vividly and it was a moment both my wife and I will cherish forever. It was a genuinely humbling experience.

105 It was obvious to me from that encounter that the Gibraltarians had a special place in her heart, just as she had won a place in ours. This was the Queen who defied General Franco by visiting Gibraltar in 1954, the Queen who brushed aside security concerns to come here and visit the Rock, and the Queen who came here in the face of advice not to do so. Meeting her even briefly was a real honour. It was also genuinely impacting. I understood then the effect Her late Majesty had on the very many people she came across over the years, and when you try to rationalise it, it really comes down to this: Queen Elizabeth II was a constant in our lives. Prime Ministers and Presidents have come and gone – 15 UK Prime Ministers during her reign, 179 Prime Ministers of her realms, 14 American Presidents – but Her Majesty the Queen was always there. Millions of her subjects have not known anyone different. Indeed, it was almost as if the Queen would be eternal, for the Queen was a symbol of continuity, of stability and of strength. She represented tradition and security in a turbulent world, and her passing has left a void.

110 She was born in a time of empire and she departed this world still Sovereign of her numerous realms and territories – over Gibraltar, too. Indeed, our very own Constitution states that Gibraltar is part of Her Majesty's dominions – now His Majesty's, of course. The outpouring of grief we witnessed only a few weeks ago has shown precisely how much her reign has meant to the people we represent here in Gibraltar, to the wider British family of nations, and indeed to the world as a whole. The Members of this House have always been clear about their loyalty; our people, too. Her Majesty was a symbol of what it means to be British. She personified it.

125 The House will know that the Gibraltar National Archives organised an exhibition in June precisely to mark the Queen's Platinum Jubilee, and in 2010 a new Gibraltar £5 coin was minted, approved by the Palace, inscribed for the first time with the words 'Queen of Gibraltar'. Those three words said it all. This was a reflection not only of a strict legal and constitutional position; those words marked an emotional and popular bond as well, an unbreakable link between the people of Gibraltar and the late Sovereign.

130 Mr Speaker, in paying tribute to our late Sovereign I want to highlight what has already been said: her dedication, her exemplary devotion to duty and the record she has set as the longest-serving monarch in British history. We now look forward to the coronation of our new King, Charles III, in May.

135 We will all remember where we were and what we were doing at the moment we heard that Queen Elizabeth had passed away. The second age of the second Elizabeth came to a close last month. Her reign was a watershed that will mark a before and after. May she rest in peace.

Mr Speaker: I truly believe that the people of Gibraltar feel an emptiness in their hearts at the passing of Her Majesty the Queen. There is a deep sense of grief amongst all of us, and it will be 140 difficult to come to terms with her loss.

Her Majesty was a tower of strength as she led her country through the many trials and tribulations in the seven decades of her reign. For us in Gibraltar, Her Majesty was a symbol of British sovereignty. We will continue to nurture and treasure our status as a British Overseas Territory.

145 Her Majesty was held in very high esteem by the people of her Rock of Gibraltar, and we remember her with great love and affection. I am sure that she was proud and fond of her most loyal subjects of Gibraltar. We thank her for a lifetime of service to our small nation.

Her Majesty is now with our Lord and in the company of her beloved husband, and as we mourn her departure we welcome our new monarch, King Charles III, as King of Gibraltar.

150 God save the King.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, can I thank you and all hon. Members for those fulsome tributes? It is in the nature of Parliament that we are here to debate the things that divide us and to seek to improve the governance of our nation through the debates that we have, but it is 155 genuinely a pleasure to see all of the people of Gibraltar represented in this place, united under the British Crown and our reflections in respect of the monarch who held that Crown for 70 years in such impeccable fashion and to have seen us all able to swear our allegiance now to the current monarch.

Mr Speaker, if I can just sum up by saying that certainly Her Majesty the Queen will go down 160 in history as the emancipation monarch, the monarch under whom colonialism has ended in most of the realms that she was responsible for as monarch when she was elevated to the throne – and remained responsible for, in many instances, but after the emancipation of those people.

165 If in 1954, when she came – as the Deputy Chief Minister reminded us, against the advice of so many – General Franco saw that visit as the beginning of the reasons to start to impose restrictions on Gibraltar, and the fruit of those restrictions was the hardening of the identity of the Gibraltarian as British, then that seed was laid by her and we will always thank her for it.

And so, Mr Speaker, I call that the House should now observe a minute's silence in the memory of Queen Elizabeth II.

The House observed a minute's silence.

170 Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Tribute to Marie Montegriffo, former Member of the House

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, we received equally sad news on 18th August that the former Member of this House, Marie Montegriffo, had passed away. It was certainly a bitter blow to those of us on this side of the House. She had been a Member of the House from 1984 from the moment that the GSLP took all of the Opposition seats, and she had remained a Member of this House until 2007. I therefore had the pleasure of sitting alongside Marie as a Member of the GSLP for four years, from 2003 to 2007, and, to add to my pleasure, I actually sat next to for a lot of that time. I confess that I learnt greatly from her. I learnt how to write an Opposition Budget speech and leave nothing out. I learnt about historic political issues on the GHA and how to write Opposition press releases, and, most importantly, I learnt how to get under my predecessor's skin from her. Perhaps she taught me that a little bit too well, but she did it really well, as those who were on this side of the House with her might remember.

I know that she also cared for me a lot as a younger Member and she nurtured me, and I think that is one of the enduring memories that most people will have of Marie Montegriffo, that she was somebody who cared. She cared enough to leave everything for her political service to the Socialist Party and to this community, she cared enough to leave her career to become a Government Minister, and she cared enough for everyone in our small community to work every hour that she could in her Ministries of Health and Sport. She was, in many respects, a pioneer, and yet, despite that, she was approachable and personable in equal measure. I know that she was highly regarded by those she worked with in all her Ministries and by all those whom she had worked with outside of Government. She was also very highly regarded by those who worked for her and those she worked for, in particular the people of Gibraltar and the patients and staff of the GHA that she gave so much time for.

I know that we will all reflect on the fact that she was an excellent parliamentarian. She was well loved across the floor of the House and I know her loss was deeply felt also by Members who served with her in Parliament, even those who were on different sides. In that respect, I will long remember that in moments of tension in this place, certainly in the four years that I was here with her, it was often Marie who would break the ice behind the Speaker's Chair after a particularly trenchant argument might have taken hold. We would all benefit from reflecting on her approach in that respect, I am sure.

Mr Speaker, I have extended the condolences of the people of Gibraltar and the GSLP executive in particular to Gillaine, Marie's partner, whose loss I know is immense. I know all our thoughts are with her at this still difficult time.

Sadly, once again, Mr Speaker, after other Members' reflections, I will ask the House to hold a minute's silence in honour of the service of Marie Montegriffo.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, on behalf of my party, certainly Members on this side, I would like to extend our respectful condolences to Marie's family, her friends and, of course, her political family in the GSLP. I did so, of course, at the time, but I do so on the record in this House because, for the same reasons, I think it is important for us to do so when a Member of this brotherhood and sisterhood passes.

I certainly know, from sitting on that side of the House when Marie was on this side of the House, that there was no one who got Sir Peter Caruana going more than Marie Montegriffo. That was reflected in the rather long interventions that the then Chief Minister would dedicate to her political points. He did so in recognition of the fact that those points needed answering and they could not just be left on the record, because Marie was always an effective parliamentarian and the points hurt and needed to be responded to, and I say so in the most amicable political way that I can.

220 I was a very young Member of the House when I was elected in 1996. It was a very difficult time for this community and a divisive election, but when I became a Member of this House for the first time and Marie was my opposite number who had been Minister for Health herself, beyond the politics of it all we always enjoyed a very good personal relationship. She was very kind to me – not kind in this House but kind outside it – and we had a relationship also outside 225 this House when I ceased to be a Member of the House in 2003.

The Chief Minister reflects her importance in politics. If I can put it this way, she was massively influential, I am sure, and a role model for women. Tomorrow, the GSD will have a memorial event for our own standard bearer for women, Terry Cartwright. In many respects, there were two very strong women in our respective parties. Marie's contribution to politics was also decades long, as 230 was Terry's, and certainly on this side of the House I respectfully associate myself with everything the Chief Minister has said about her long career, her contribution to politics and the extension of condolences to her family.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Marlene Hassan Nahon.

235

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, Marie Montegriffo was one of our first female political representatives and the first female Mayor of Gibraltar. She was also a dear friend, whom I deeply respected and enjoyed spending time with; listening to her pearls of wisdom and experience was always a treat.

240

Marie was a trailblazer who showed women such as myself that the path to equality and empowerment lies in our institutions and in political activism. With great humility she furthered the agenda of the LGBTQ community at a time when simple exercises of honesty and coherence were nothing short of heroic. She was a kind, generous and supportive woman, always ready to give insightful advice and capable of discussing issues openly and honestly, always prioritising the greater good for the community. It was this openness that allowed her to take part in Together 245 Gibraltar discussions and engage with political rivals with elegance and respect. These qualities, which we now associate with a bygone era in politics that was more about the betterment of society and less about self-aggrandisement and partisanship, should be praised and recognised by our community as we celebrate her life and achievements.

250

Our most heartfelt condolences go out to Marie's wife, Gillaine Morello, and her family and friends.

Thank you.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

255

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Cortes): Mr Speaker, thank you.

In paying tribute to the life and career of Marie Montegriffo, I recall having had the fortune of knowing her from before she was in active politics and before I was in politics, through her father, who was a photographer for the Gibraltar Evening Post for many years.

260

As the House knows, she served as a Member on both the Government and the Opposition sides, for four terms in opposition and two terms in government. From 1999 to 2007 I sat with her on those benches in opposition, and I have to say it was always a pleasure to hear her contributions in this House, particularly her legendary Budget speeches on health, to which the hon. Member has already alluded.

265

She was a trailblazer for women, certainly, but also, I think, in the area of sports, and in health as well, where she made important contributions, too. Also, she was a fighter. In everything she did in life she was a fighter, having a wicked sense of humour as well, which sometimes manifested itself at the most inopportune or solemn opportunities. I certainly found that she always had the perfect remark to say in the perfect situation.

270

Mr Speaker, I want to pay my condolences to Gillaine and to her family.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Prof. John Cortes.

275 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, if I may add a personal note, I had the honour and pleasure of having an office next to Marie for three years when she was Minister for Health under the Government of my hon. Friend Sir Joe Bossano, and I was her hospital manager and then her general manager. We worked very closely together, and indeed with Sir Joe, and we became good friends.

280 She cared dearly for the health of the population of Gibraltar. We often forget achievements of the time in Health. Just to mention a few, we inherited a decrepit St Bernard's Hospital that was falling to bits and we totally refurbished it and gave it a new lease of life. Through her leadership, we achieved not only the refurbishment of the Hospital but the introduction of new processes like ultrasound for the first time in the radiology department, new x-ray equipment, new lab equipment which allowed us to automate blood analysis and other analyses for the first 285 time ever. For the first time – perhaps something minor – mothers were allowed to keep babies by their side on the maternity ward, which was not allowed before then. And need I remind this House of the progress made in establishing Calpe House, which she spearheaded from the Health Authority side? It is important that we recognise her huge contribution to the development of Gibraltar's Health Service, and, in paying tribute, that is a point that we must most definitely 290 remember.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Sir Joe Bossano.

295 Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the Gibraltar Savings Bank (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): I think everything that Marie did was the result of her decision to join the group of trade unionists who created, in 1976, the GSLP. She was, then, the shop steward in the Bland Group, a member of the clerical staff. It was at the time when we were fighting for parity, and then the logical step from that was ... With the situation that was looming in talks with Spain after 1975, there was a clear need to clarify the position in which 300 Gibraltar found itself. We campaigned on the slogan 'We want to know our future now'. We started campaigning initially as a pressure group and the Labour Government said that they would not talk to us unless we could prove that we had the support of the people. The movement that we had went into politics at that time in order to be able to make sure that the future of Gibraltar was in the hands of the Gibraltarians and not in anybody else's hands. And then, of course, once 305 we entered the political arena alongside our work within the trade union movement to achieve parity, it was obvious that this was not a fight that would only last three-and-a-half years, like the parity one, but that was, in fact, going to last a lifetime.

In the process, I think when we became the first socialist Government in 1984, we brought something completely new to the way things were done in Gibraltar because, for a start, Members 310 were required by the party to be full time, they were not allowed to continue with their employment, and they worked for the 50% wage that had existed under the previous administration because they were part-timers. So, from the very beginning, the demands that the party made were a level of commitment and sacrifice that nobody else had ever been asked to accept in political life. That spirit that was in her commitment and in that of the many others who 315 had started the GSLP, kept her committed throughout her life in everything she did.

After she retired from the House, she was totally active in the party. She would come and help me do my speeches for the manifestos, she would come and help me do my speeches for the United Nations, she would come and help me type my questions and she was always available whenever she was needed; without having to ask twice, she was there. She was there for the 320 party, because she was there for Gibraltar from the moment she took the first step to help us bring into existence what we have today, which I think has been something that has been good for Gibraltar, whatever mistakes we might have made on this long road, the road that I have been travelling for 50 years. We are here because we care about our country more than we care about ourselves. She was one of us. (Banging on desks)

325

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Samantha Sacramento.

Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I grew up knowing Marie since I was a child. I was 11 years old when we were in government first, in 1988. My family was, of course, very close, and my recollection of Marie growing up was, as we have heard from everyone else, her kindness. I remember a time when she helped with the sponsored patient arrangements for my Grandad to go to the UK, and since that day he always said that she was the one who had saved his life. Since that day there was a huge photograph of Marie and my Grandad in my house. Marie knew that, and she loved the photograph, too.

335

When I first joined Parliament, Marie was always not only kind but also very protective of me, and we spoke often. Later, when I became Minister for Health, I often called Marie for advice. I always recalled everybody's fond memories of Marie as Minister for Health and her kindness. I knew first-hand how important it is as a Minister to make sure that people who need Health are helped, and Marie was very much my guiding light in that respect.

340

Finally, I remember the day Marie called me to tell me that she was getting married and she thanked me and our party for making that possible.

345

I have incredibly fond memories of Marie from all my life, and I am extremely grateful for all the guidance that she gave me personally and, needless to say, what she did for women and women in Parliament.

Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

350

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, Marie would be very disappointed if we forgot that she was also a great sportswoman and that she represented Gibraltar on a number of occasions, in her beloved sport of squash in particular. We have made some references to her being Minister for Sport as well, but she was also a sportswoman in representation of Gibraltar. The last thing I want is if some people are right about all this and I turn up at the pearly gates and Marie is there to tell me off because I forgot to say that she was one of Gibraltar's leading sportswomen as well. Indeed, as we have been reminded by Sir Joe, anybody who has been heroic enough to try to type anything for Sir Joe Bossano in the number of bits that it comes deserves praise indeed.

355

I am so pleased that once again this House is united in reflecting on the contribution of a Member like Marie Montegriffo. I would invite everyone to now hold a minute's silence in respect of her memory.

360

The House observed a minute's silence.

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

PAPERS TO BE LAID

Clerk: (vi) Papers to be laid – the Hon. the Chief Minister.

365

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to lay on the table the Annual Report of the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority for the year ended 31st March 2022; the Audited Accounts of the Gibraltar Regulatory Authority for the year ended 31st March 2022; the Annual Report of the Gibraltar Police Authority for the year ended 31st March 2022; the Licensing and Fees (Amendment of Schedule) Order 2022; the Licensing and Fees (Amendment of Schedule 370 No. 2) Order 2022; the Qualifying (Category 2) Individuals (Amendment No. 2) Rules 2022; and the High Executive Possessing Individual Skills (Amendment) Rules 2022.

Mr Speaker: Ordered to lie.

375

Thanks to all from Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon for friendship and support during period of bereavement

Clerk: Suspension of Standing Orders. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

380 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, before we carry on, I think the hon. Lady wanted to make a contribution. I wonder whether this is the right moment to do it before I suspend.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Marlene Hassan Nahon.

385 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, if I may, I would like to register here, in this House, and for the purposes of Hansard too, my deepest gratitude to hon. Members for their tributes, letters, words of support and kindness shown towards me and my sister on the passing of our beloved mother just four months ago today. I was absent from the House at the time, so this is my first chance to thank you all, from the Chief Minister to the Deputy Chief Minister, the Leader of the Opposition, your good self, Mr Speaker, and especially my good friend the hon. Lady, 390 Minister Samantha Sacramento for your friendship, affection and kindness during such a difficult time for me and my family.

I also take this opportunity to thank the people of Gibraltar for your outpouring of love and respect for my late mother. We shall be forever indebted to all of you for your generous words and support.

395 Thank you.

Standing Order 7(1) suspended to proceed with Government Bill

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Thank you, Mr Speaker.

I now beg to move under Standing Order 7(3) to suspend Standing Order 7(1) in order to proceed with a Government Bill.

400 Mr Speaker: Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Order of the Day

BILL

FIRST AND SECOND READING

Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved

Clerk: (ix) Bills.

A Bill for an Act to amend the Extradition Act 2018 for the purposes of implementing, in part, the requirements of the Convention on Extradition between the United Kingdom and the Kingdom of Morocco dated the 15th April 2013, and signed in London.

405 The Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality, Public Standards and Regulations.

Mr Speaker: I wish to confirm that I have been notified of the urgency of this Bill.

410 Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for the Extradition (Amendment) Act 2022 be read a first time.

415 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Extradition Act 2018 for the purposes of implementing, in part, the requirements of the Convention on Extradition between the United Kingdom and the Kingdom of Morocco dated the 15th April 2013, and signed in London be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Extradition (Amendment) Act 2022.

Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved

420 Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for the Extradition (Amendment) Act 2022 be read a second time.

425 The purpose of the Bill is to implement the mandatory requirements of the Convention on Extradition signed between the United Kingdom and Morocco in 2013. We are currently not provided for under Gibraltar law. Gibraltar's proximity to Morocco makes this Agreement beneficial. Gibraltar is largely compliant with the requirements under the Convention, and for that reason it is a short Bill. The United Kingdom has advised us that we need to form part of the Convention and there is a very tight timeline. Gibraltar is also included in other bilateral extradition treaties with other countries, and this would be a useful addition to these other international arrangements.

430 I will take each amendment as it appears on the Bill, Mr Speaker.

Clauses 1 and 2 contain provisions in relation to the title and entry into force of the Act.

In relation to the age bar, clause 3(2) amends section 17(1) of the Extradition Act 2018 by adding a further bar to the list of reasons barring extradition under section 17.

435 Clause 3(3) adds a new section 19A to the Act. The effect of this section is to bar the extradition of a person who would have been under the age of criminal responsibility had the offence occurred in Gibraltar at the time the extradition offence was committed. This is consistent and in line with Gibraltar law and also provides an important protection. It also aligns more with the practice in the United Kingdom.

440 Clause 3(4) introduces a new section 109A. This provides the Minister with two powers – (a) to make regulations, and (b) to amend the Act – for the sole purpose of implementing conventions, treaties, bilateral or multilateral agreements, other obligations or standards concerned with these, the recommendations of international bodies that are involved with the adoption, monitoring or promotion of these obligations and standards and any other international obligation that concerns matters covered under the Act. Regulations made under the Act can 445 contain consequential, incidental or transitional provisions. Regulations to amend the Act can also contain transitional, transitory or saving provisions. This regulation-making power is a very common provision where international agreements are concerned. Similar provisions can be found in the Proceeds of Crime Act 2015 in section 184, the Imports and Exports Act 1986 section 450 129G, the mutual Legal Assistance (Council of Europe) Act 2018 section 18, the Trademarks Act section 19, the Patents Act section 14, section 152(1)(f) of the Terrorism Act 2018 and section 223A(1)(b) of the Merchant Shipping Act.

In relation to the transit provisions, clause 3(5) inserts new sections 110A to 110B into the Extradition Act.

Clause 110A provides the interpretation provisions.

455 Clause 110B(1) makes provision to facilitate the transit through Gibraltar of a person who is being extradited from a third state to a state where a transit request is approved by the central authority in Gibraltar.

Clause 110B(2) provides for the particulars that must be contained in that transit request.

460 Clauses 110B(3) and (4) deal with the formalities of the request and the response to that request.

Clause 110B(5) provides that the transit must be supervised by a police officer and the person who is transited must be deemed to be in the custody of that police officer.

465 Clause 110B(6) provides that where a person is being conveyed in transit and makes an unscheduled stop through Gibraltar, in that scenario the central authority must be provided with the information referred to in clause 110B(2) and this person shall be deemed to be in transit through Gibraltar. There are already similar transit provisions under section 20 of the Extradition Arrest Warrant Act 2004 and section 19 of the Mutual Legal Assistance (International) Act 2005, which apply in different scenarios.

Mr Speaker, I commend this Bill to the House.

470

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill? The Hon. Daniel Feetham.

475 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, we will be supporting the Bill, but I would ask for clarification from the Minister in relation to certain parts of it.

The first point is under proposed section 109A(b), which allows the Minister, by regulation, to amend this Act for the purposes of subsection (a). Bearing in mind that we are dealing with extradition, we are dealing with depriving people of their liberty, are there any plans for those regulations to then at least be laid before Parliament, allowing Members of Parliament to 480 potentially, should an issue arise, at least debate them in Parliament? I know – we have done it when we have been in government and they have done it when they have been in government over the last 11 years – that Bills do occasionally make provision for regulations to amend the principal Act, but when you are dealing with something like this, which is about potentially depriving people of their liberty, it is a practice that really has to be justified and also has to be 485 scrutinised very carefully by us, as legislators, in order to make sure that essentially nothing is done by way of side win, so to speak, without proper scrutiny. I would ask her to comment in relation to that and whether there are any plans specifically for regulations to be laid before Parliament and debated in Parliament.

490 The second point I would appreciate clarification on is section 110B. This Bill appears to me to be about transit from a third state to a Convention state. Is this directed at a transit from Morocco through Gibraltar to a state under the Convention? Is that the main purpose of this, or is it wider? I ask that question because the title, we are told, is 'to amend the Extradition Act ... the requirements of the Convention on Extradition between the United Kingdom and the Kingdom of Morocco, dated the 15th April 2013, and signed in London', but it does not appear, at first glance, 495 to be limited to Morocco. Perhaps if she could give me a little bit more information in relation to that.

Mr Speaker, those are our comments, trying to be as helpful as possible and accepting on this side ... the Minister and the Chief Minister have said this is an urgent piece of legislation ... that, of course, that is so and that we are debating its urgent consideration.

500

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I want to thank hon. Members for indicating that they are going to be supporting this Bill.

505 The United Kingdom signed this Convention in 2013, but it is taking some time for that Convention to come into effect. It is about to come into effect, and this is the moment when we have the opportunity to be included in it. As the part of the British family of nations covered by the ratification of the United Kingdom of this Convention closest to Morocco, of course it is in our interest that we should be able to form part of the process of ratification, so that as soon as it is possible we will be able to enjoy the benefits of this extradition treaty.

510 Mr Speaker, I am going to address only the point that has been raised by the Hon. Mr Feetham on the regulations, and my learned and hon. colleague the Minister for Justice will take the other point that he has made.

515 The Government has no plans to bring any regulations to Parliament. The hon. Member says it is those regulations that might have the effect of depriving an individual of their liberty, and therefore, for that reason, they should be brought to this House, even if they are simply laid, so that hon. Members could have the benefit of debating them. I want to take issue with both aspects of that contribution from the hon. Gentleman. On the first, because it would not be regulations that we make under this Act that would have the effect of depriving an individual of their liberty. 520 An individual would be deprived of their liberty only if they are deemed to have committed a criminal offence for which they are detained, and that offence would likely not be an offence created by this Bill. A person might be, for example, illegally in Gibraltar. The offence is in the Immigration Act; it is not here. What this will do is provide the pathway out of Gibraltar for that individual, either because they have been convicted of being illegally in Gibraltar or because there is another route for their extradition. Extradition very often – and not in the classic case of 525 immigration that we might be dealing with in the context of most people who are illegally in Gibraltar from Morocco, but most often – is about a person having committed a criminal offence in another state, then being found in a second state and the state where they committed the criminal offence seeking that they be taken back there. Obviously, in the context of south to north immigration the circumstances are usually different, but the offence that leads to detention and deprivation of liberty is not an offence that is being created by this Bill and will be in effect under this Act; it is an offence in another Act. This is the route for the person being removed from the jurisdiction, and that routing is a routing that is going to be – of course, as it could not be otherwise under our legal system – subject to judicial scrutiny at every stage. So, what this Bill does is give 530 powers to courts to extradite, but subject to court jurisdiction and court supervision. So, first of all, the first issue I take with what the hon. Gentleman says is that these regulations will give rise to deprivation of liberty. They will not.

540 The second point the hon. Gentleman made was that laying the regulations here was the way that hon. Members would be able to debate the regulations. In fact, when something is laid as a regulation made, we could have a debate at that stage, but of course the regulation would already have been made, it would already be in effect, so there would be no difference between the Government laying the regulation ... Of course, regulations, when they are made by the Government, to have effect, have to be published. They are published to the world and they are published in the Gibraltar Gazette. The whole world is given notice of them. Legal practitioners 545 receive the Gazette, they see the regulations made up, and all of that would happen before the laying on the table. There is, of course, another way that hon. Members can bring about such a debate: they can put a motion in the terms of the regulation and seek to debate it. There are many ways to achieve a debate on a motion.

550 Mr Speaker, although for those reasons I do not believe it is necessary for us to lay regulations on the table and neither do I think we should do so – it is a practice that governments making regulations to amend legislation ... It is a practice that is very circumspect and successive Governments have done it. We have been very careful when we have used those powers in particular, but I have no difficulty telling the hon. Gentleman that we will share the regulations with them in draft before they are made, in case they have any concerns that they want to express 555 to us, because if they were to express a concern with which we might agree, we would not want that it be expressed after the regulation is made, when it is laid in the Houses as a regulation made. In the same way as we have done with hon. Members during the COVID period etc., we are quite happy to share those regulations with them before they are made, if they have to be made, so that we take their views, and if they have anything to put to us, we are happy to consider that.

560 I do not know whether before I sit down the hon. Gentleman wants to come back on any of those issues. I am happy to give way, but otherwise I am happy to sit down.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Samantha Sacramento.

565 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, in relation to the second point that the hon. Gentleman raised, he will be aware that this Bill amends the principal Extradition Act, so when it comes to the definition of 'state' it is as defined in the Extradition Act.

570 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Extradition Act 2018 for the purposes of implementing, in part, the requirements of the Convention on Extradition between the United Kingdom and the Kingdom of Morocco dated the 15th April 2013, and signed in London be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Extradition (Amendment) Act 2022.

Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

575 Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

580 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

COMMITTEE STAGE AND THIRD READING

Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved

Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Reading. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to resolve that the House should dissolve itself into Committee to consider the following Bill clause by clause, namely the Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022.

In Committee of the whole House

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Extradition Act 2018 for the purposes of implementing, in part, the requirements of the Convention on Extradition between the United Kingdom and the Kingdom of Morocco dated the 15th April 2013, and signed in London.

Clauses 1 to 5.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 1 to 5 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

Mr Speaker: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Third Reading approved: Bill passed

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to report that the Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 has been considered in Committee and agreed to without amendment, and I now move that it be read a third time and passed.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that the Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022 be read a third time and passed. Those in favour of the Extradition (Amendment) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Standing Order 7(1) suspended to proceed with Questions

Clerk: Suspension of Standing Orders. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to move under Standing Order 7(3) to suspend Standing Order 7(1) in order to proceed with Questions.

Mr Speaker: Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Questions for Oral Answer

DIGITAL, FINANCIAL SERVICES, HEALTH AUTHORITY AND PUBLIC UTILITIES

610

Q276-77/2022

Counselling, psychological support services and Child Protection Services – Number of children referred Clerk: (vii) Reports of Committees; (viii) Answers to Oral Questions.

Question 276/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state how many children have been referred 615 to counselling or other psychological support services since the answer to Question 97/2022?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
620 Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 277.

Clerk: Question 277/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, since the asking of Question 97/2022 can the Government state 625 how many children have been referred to Child Protection Services?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I can confirm that in respect of the GHA, 117 children have been 630 referred to counselling or other psychological support services. I can confirm that in respect of the Care Agency, 49 children have been referred to counselling or other psychological support services.

In respect of Question 277, since Question 97/2022, the Care Agency has referred 261 children to Children Services. As I do not wish to mislead the hon. Member, I am advised by the Care Agency 635 that the correct term is Children Services and not Child Protection Services, which Question 97/2022 and this question both refer to. All children referred to the Care Agency's Children Services are triaged by the duty team. The duty team's manager will review, categorise and allocate the referral of a child to a social worker following the relevant policies and procedures pertinent to the issues in question.

640

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, Question 97/2022 referred to ... I think the answer to that question was 112 children were referred for purposes of counselling and other psychological support services. The figure that the Minister now has given me is 117 in respect of counselling and then 49 in relation to psychological support services. I am just trying to rationale the numbers, 645 because it seems like a very significant increase in numbers since the asking of that question.

Just to add a little bit of narrative to it, the Minister was, as I was, very concerned about the numbers here in respect of children being referred. Can the Minister give any further and better visibility as to what we are doing to support these children beyond this, because the numbers continue to be alarming, to say the least?

650

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the numbers that I quote are obviously for different periods and not the same length of time, and so it is difficult to compare the two on a mathematical basis.

Clearly, the numbers are higher than they have been in the past. On average, the number of referrals to Child Services has ranged from 350 to 380 per year. In 2018 it was 376 – so they fluctuate – and 266 referred in 2019, so they are slightly higher than those years, and the team, I understand, are looking into what is, if any, the cause of that increase. There is certainly greater awareness and greater use. Whether those two will bridge that gap that the hon. Member is putting his finger on, I do not yet know.

Hon. E J Phillips: Just in relation to Question 277, I know that the Minister, in response to questions to the Leader of the Opposition and myself at the time, said that one child is too many. I think that is one of the phrases that he used in his answer. I have not checked Hansard, but I think it was that type of language, and I entirely agree with that analysis that he conducted at the time of that question. Insofar as Child Services, I know the answer last time was in relation to Child Protection Services. This is obviously a slightly wider term – Child Services – that would encompass other matters apart from protection. Is that right?

Hon. A J Isola: The term is Child Services, so Child Protection Services – in other words, children who are requiring of that – is a small part of Child Services. Child Services encompasses all the services which they may be referred to, so the number in respect of child protection is obviously a small part of the global number that I have given.

In respect of one child being too many, obviously the numbers that we are talking about cover a whole range of reasons as to why children may have been referred. I do not think we can surmise or imply that they are all as serious as some may be, and I do not want to be driven in that direction in terms of what each one of them is because I would not go there. But yes, as I said, this is something that has been considered and looked at by the Care Agency. I met with them recently and they were expressing some concern as to the numbers as well, so it is something they are looking at with a view to trying to understand better what can be done to prevent those numbers increasing further.

Hon. E J Phillips: Just one further question generally in relation to Questions 276 and 277. I assume this has to combine the joined-up approach within schools as well, because that is ultimately where the notifications are coming from. I believe that the last time we asked these types of questions, the schools were directly referring into the system. What is being done in schools internally to review the resource element? If we are referring out, it might mean that we might need greater resourcing on the ground in schools. Is the Minister currently looking at that with his counterpart at the Ministry for Education?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, children and their families are referred with a range of difficulties. It is, as I mentioned before, very wide. Some are anxiety, some are self-harm, some are school related – bullying is one example – bedwetting, depression. The range is very extensive and very wide, so the school is one entry into the services of identification. There are many others, but that is certainly one, and yes, of course an important one because they have a good rapport with pupils and have a good idea of when somebody is not behaving in a normal way and can identify and then refer a problem that is requiring attention.

I think it is way too early to begin to say whether we are able to deal or cope with what we have. Clearly when the Care Agency want more people, they have them and they use them, so that is not something that I think we need to be concerned with. There is the resource and there is the support there for them today.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q278/2022

Children referred to Mental Health Services – Numbers receiving medication, counselling or other therapies

Clerk: Question 278/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

705 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, further to Question 97/2022, can the Government state of the 112 children referred to Mental Health Services how many are receiving medication as a form of treatment and how many are provided with counselling and/or other forms of therapy?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

710 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the number of children receiving counselling or other forms of therapy is 35.

In connection with the information being requested by the hon. Member, the GHA would need to review the individual records of the 112 children in order to provide an accurate answer, which I am advised is an onerous exercise as not all GHA records are held electronically and would also entail a manual exercise. The GHA would be happy to provide this to the hon. Gentleman when the information is available in due course.

720 Hon. E J Phillips: Just so that I can follow up, if I email the Minister I am sure that he will be able to provide that information electronically to me at the appropriate time when it is ready?

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, the work has commenced; it was just not ready in time to be provided now.

Q279/2022

Number of suicides in last 11 years –
By age and sex

Clerk: Question 279/2020. The Hon. E J Phillips.

725 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm the number of suicides over the last 11 years broken down into age and sex?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

730 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the number of suicides recorded by HM Coroner during the last 11 years is 20. All of these are males. The breakdown in age is as follows: 20-29, four; 30-39, four; 40-49, three; 50-59, five; 60-69, three; 80-84, one.

735 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the answer. Obviously this subject touches many people in our community, and I think that certainly on this side of the House that quite astonishing figure – not in number, but actually insofar as the male population is concerned ... I know that we have all recorded Mental Health Awareness Day, all of us in this House, in our own way and publicly by way of our own positions in Gibraltar, but it is an astonishing figure insofar as how it dominates insofar as the male sex. I would be grateful, given the fact that the Minister has done 740 the work in getting this number so that we can all be more aware of the loss of life in this area, for what resources are currently at the Government's disposal to help those people in those age brackets in trying to prevent what is a tragedy in families and for the rest of our community.

745 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, if one looks behind the 11 years ... The last 11 years have been all male. Before that, since 1990 when these records have been made available to us, there are only four females from 1990 to now, none in the last 11 years. In the last three years we have only had two, so that would indicate a reduction in terms of the numbers despite the perception that this is a number that is going up and astronomically so. This last year I am delighted to say the number 750 is zero – one the previous year and one the year before that. I think if you look at the United Kingdom, for example, 2021 was 7% up from the previous year, so in terms of statistics I think we are doing okay. But again, as I said to the hon. Member when we referred to a previous answer I have given, one is too many and so work is going on. You will know that there is a huge amount of work going on in terms of creating awareness, creating the resource and the assistance and 755 support and help for those who may think they may need that support. I think the work that has been done in that respect, particularly in creating awareness and getting people to phone these lines, and providing the services of people who are trained and able to deal with those calls, will help us further in dealing with this. That work is very much work in progress, and there is a lot more still to be done.

760 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the answer, and of course we should, all of us in this House, and I am sure the Minister might, in this reply to this question, continue to support the mental health charities in Gibraltar that do such great work in highlighting not only this issue but of course the wide areas of mental health challenges across our community. I am sure he would agree with that analysis.

765 The Minister had the figures from 1990 onwards in relation to females. I think he referred to four. I wonder whether he has the same figure in respect of males.

770 Hon. A J Isola: I do, Mr Speaker, but I would have to tot it up. I am very happy to pass that on to him later on in the session.

775 With respect to the work of charities, I think I have been astonished since coming into this Ministry in recent months at the extent of the support and the work that we do with all of the charities and all of the associations to promote each of the different areas in which they support us, and create more awareness and more of a working relationship, a closer working relationship with them between the health and care services and all of these charities, for which, of course, we are hugely grateful and depend on for so much of the good work that they do and that we do as well.

780 Hon. E J Phillips: I am grateful for your patience, Mr Speaker, in relation to this. It just goes to the point that the Minister has made in relation to the mental health charities because, as you know, there was recently a video deployed in relation to particular patients who have had mental health challenges over a number of years in relation to assisted living, and one of the calls was the support that individuals in our community need for assisted living moving forward. I know the GHA CEO was in attendance at the video showing this week, along with me and the Hon.
785 Mr Clinton. What that video did display was quite a powerful and moving message about individuals in our community, and to be fair to the Government, actually, there was support for some individuals but not for others. It was a bit of a mixed bag insofar as support for those who require assisted living, and their families, actually, who fall within that vulnerable category as well.

790 The Minister does talk about resources and I just wanted to question him as to how the Government will deploy further resources in relation to that assisted living because I currently understand there are seven units that are available. It might be interesting to learn from him what the Government is doing in that area.

795 Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, I understand the point the hon. Member is making. I think it is important to remember that the clinical assessment that is made determines whether assisted living is appropriate or not. There are cases where the professionals themselves do not believe it is, but the families may believe it is. And so it is not a question of just having endless numbers of units available for assisted living, it is very much a clinical assessment process that goes through with the professionals telling us when they think they are and when they think they are not.

800 Yes, we have seven now where there were none before, so that is an improvement, but that does not mean that the Care Agency is asking us for more or for less. We are not being pressed for more, which indicates to us that they can work with what they have available to them, and if they do need more they will come to us and ask for it. So I think it is really important with all of these areas to understand that there is a professional process, with the agency and with the GHA, 805 of professional assessment, clinical assessment, and that is obviously what we follow always.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

810 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member may not know, but in relation to the seven flats that are provided for assisted living, can I assume safely that the level of assistance will vary in each case, so some of them may be people who are in the community who had domiciliary care services, but some of them may have live-in assistance? Is that correct?

815 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, in seeking to have more and more people at home, whatever the ailment – which is an objective, we want to keep people at home – again, an assessment is made as to how much care they need, and whatever care the professionals say is required is then provided to them.

Whether in respect of those seven today there are some living in them or not, I do not know the answer to that question, but what I can tell the hon. Member is that certainly it is an assessment as to what level of care they need, and in many of these cases they have care from 820 family, care from professionals and care from co-workers, so it is very much on a case-by-case basis.

Mr Chairman: Next question.

Q280/2022

Numbers receiving medication for mental health conditions – By condition, age and sex

825 Clerk: Question 280/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide details of the numbers of people receiving medications in respect of all mental health conditions, broken down into condition, age and sex? 830

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, there are currently 1,846 people receiving some form of medication in respect of all 835 mental health conditions.

In connection with identifying the age and the sex of the individuals in question, the GHA has advised that it would take a considerable amount of time to provide accurate information.

However, the GHA would be happy to conduct this exercise – and, indeed, has started – and provide the hon. Gentleman with the information requested as and when it is available.

840 If I may provide more information, of the 1,846, 26 are in-patients and the rest are out-patients.

Hon. E J Phillips: Just one question, Mr Speaker. In the Minister's experience of the current portfolio and the work he is doing within mental health – current – what is his view as to that number historically, if he looks at the statistics? With respect, it looks alarming from where we sit, in terms of the number of people on medication for mental health conditions.

845 I know that, generally speaking, the Government and the Opposition are very supportive together, insofar as the use of counselling and therapy as an alternative to medication, not least given the long-term gains that counselling and therapy can provide for those people suffering from mental health conditions. How is the Government looking at transitioning away from medication? Clearly, there will be cases where there will be clinical need for medication, but ultimately, insofar as those who require counselling and therapy, what is the Government doing to try to move the dependency away from medication in this area to counselling and therapy?

855 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think the sexy number is obviously the 1,846, which is alarming, but the number that gives you a far better impression of the nature of the problem is the in-patients, which is 26. The number of people on some form of medication ... that medication is very drastic, on extremes on both sides. I think before we draw any conclusions in respect of the numbers, we need to understand better where the numbers are higher. So, if there are higher numbers in the more serious types of medication, then obviously the problem is a different one than if they are at the lower end of the scale – both of which require attention anyway, I agree.

860 Of course we would all like the numbers to be lower, both in-patient and out-patient. I know that part of the work that has been done and is carrying on with the Director General and Peter Wadum Buhl, who are advising us in respect of, specifically, mental health, is to address these issues and to understand better. I think that work, when it is concluded, will greatly assist us in understanding if there is a problem, and if there is a problem, how serious or not it may be. We will only get that when we get that further information from them.

865 I will get the information the hon. Member has asked for, which will be made available to me, I hope, in the coming 10 days to two weeks, and I will then pass it on.

870 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, may I just ask how this is defined? The hon. Member has asked about the numbers of people receiving medications in respect of all mental health conditions. What is the threshold there? I recall having asked a question about the number of people who have received medication for anxiety, or antipsychotics, or depression, and it being a much higher number, so I am just wondering what has been the understanding of whoever prepared the answer of the scope of mental health conditions. Can I understand that? It does not seem to be capturing, if you look at the consistency of the figures, everyone who might have been receiving medication for depression or anxiety. It may be that that is outside the scope, so we need to understand the scope of how this has been prepared.

880 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, this is why I urge caution in respect of the numbers, because I suspect that some of the medication may be in respect of anxiety or stress, or something like that. I do not know what measure has been used to calculate the definition in the eyes of the staff who have dealt with ... It says 'all mental health conditions'. It is quite a wide question, so I suspect we have thrown the net pretty wide to ensure that everything is captured within the answer. I will certainly ask the question and see if I can fish out the original question that the hon. Member refers to – I do not know if he can help me as to when that may or may not have been, because that would be helpful in trying to understand if there is a difference and if we are comparing like with like.

890 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Marlene Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, if I can, on the back of this mini-discussion, ask the Minister if he remembers a few years back, in the time of the last Minister for Health, Minister Neil Costa, there was a moment when I believe it was Pfizer who warned Gibraltar of all the 895 medications for depression and anxiety that were given out. The corporation was concerned at how much we were consuming for a community of our size. I would like to ask whether the GHA undertook some kind of plan to target this feedback that we were given in order to minimise the dependency on drugs for anxiety and depression after we had been given this very essential and eye-opening information in order to stop this dependency.

900 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the answer is yes, they have, and they continue to. It is an ongoing process of engaging with the GPs to ensure that the prescribing of these medicines is appropriate and not just patient driven because the patient has got used to something and wants to continue. That work is ongoing all the time and it was one of the matters referred to me more recently when 905 we introduced some changes to the pharmacies in the generic medicines which cause some of the same problems the hon. Member is referring to. So yes, very much aware of it and they are engaging with GPs to ensure that we work towards dealing with that exact issue.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Daniel Feetham.

910 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, thank you very much.

My hon. Friend Mr Phillips asked about alternative therapies. The reason for my supplementary is this week I had a meeting with somebody who suffers from mental health and she was telling me – my question is whether the Minister can actually look into this – that she has been referred 915 to a therapist, but the therapist is saying to her that she can only be seen six times and after the sixth time that is it; there is no discretion on the part of the therapist to see her a seventh, eighth, ninth or tenth time if it is justified. She has then got to essentially go back to the GP to get another referral and come back. It just seemed to me very odd, because the system has to have the flexibility that if the therapist says she has to be seen a seventh or an eighth time, there is that 920 flexibility for the therapist to do this.

It is self-evident I am not a doctor and I have no inside knowledge about the system, but could he at least have a look into that, because I thought it was very odd when a constituent who came to see me about the problems that she has had within the mental health system was telling me about this, and I thought it was too late now to ask questions about this, but next time round ...
925 and given that these questions have been asked now it gives me an opportunity to raise with the Minister.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the first point I would make is that the hon. Member does not have to wait for Question Time to write to me. I would be very happy to look at it and revert to him, as 930 I have done with some of his colleagues on that side of the House.

The picture that the hon. Member has painted is alien to me. I do not understand it and it does not make any sense to me, so if he does write to me I will certainly look into it, as it makes no sense at all.

935 Mr Speaker: I think we have deviated substantially from the original question and answer and I think we need to move on. With respect, we need to move on.

Hon. K Azopardi: I was going to move on, Mr Speaker; I am just answering the ... Can I just give the hon. Member the ... not the question number, but I can tell him that the answer was given in 940 the House in ... it would have been January 2020, and the figure that I was given at the time was that the total figure of people receiving antidepressant and anti-psychotic medication was 3,974.

I think it is important to understand. Despite what the hon. Member has said about the width of the definition, it seems to me that it is the other way round, so I just wonder how it has been drawn and it would be helpful to understand how it has been drawn. If he goes back to his Department, it would be interesting to see where things lie.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I would be very happy to look at that.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q281/2022

Numbers receiving therapy, counselling or CBT –
By condition, age and sex

Clerk: Question 281/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide details of the number of people within our community receiving therapy, counselling or cognitive behaviour therapy, broken down into age and sex?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, within the GHA there are currently a total of 139 persons in our community receiving therapy, counselling or cognitive behaviour therapy. The breakdown is as follows: 35 under 18, of whom 20 are male and 15 are female; 98 between 18 and 64, of whom 50 are male and 48 are female; six are 65 or over, of whom two are male and four are female.

Within the Care Agency there are currently a total of 190 persons in our community receiving therapy, counselling or cognitive behaviour therapy. The breakdown is as follows: 49 under 18, of whom 21 are male and 28 are female; 136 between 18 and 64, of whom 71 are male and 65 are female; five are 65 or over, of whom two are male and three are female.

Hon. E J Phillips: Would the Minister mind if I get a copy of that particular answer?

Mr Speaker: These are the prepared answers and you will get them either today or tomorrow, I believe.

Q282/2022

Mental healthcare – Budget

Clerk: Question 282/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state the actual budget for the provision of mental healthcare in Gibraltar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
980 Mr Speaker, the mental health budget for this current financial year is £5.7 million.

Hon. E J Phillips: Does the Minister have a breakdown of how that is allocated beyond the mental health budget? We have had numerous exchanges on the lack of mental health budget.
Public Health England has criticised us, in relation to the mental health situation in a report of 985 April 2019, for not having a mental health budget. It would be helpful to have from the Minister a bit more information as to how that is distributed across the services, given the lack of visibility we currently have on that particular figure.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I would be happy to provide the hon. Member with that 990 information.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask if the hon. Member has a figure in front of him? Does he know how much money is being provided for counselling services in the Mental Health Services?

995 Mr Speaker: Of the £5.7 million, how much is –?

Hon. A J Isola: No, I do not have that information here, Mr Speaker.

Hon. K Azopardi: I would just ask the hon. Member perhaps to consider that issue with his 1000 Department and write to us, but also consider it internally, because in relation to the previous question, if I heard him correctly, and he may correct me if I am wrong but I heard that the answer to the question of the number of people receiving therapy, counselling or cognitive behaviour therapy was ... did he say 190?

1005 Hon. A J Isola: A hundred and thirty nine.

Hon. K Azopardi: A hundred and thirty nine? Well, in the context of the fact that the previous answer to that was a 1,846 people receiving medication, and, as I illustrated to him a moment ago, they had given a previous answer in this House which seems inconsistent, that almost 4,000 1010 people were receiving anti-psychotic or anti-depressant medication, it seems a very tiny proportion of people are receiving counselling. Perhaps that is something that the GHA should reflect upon, and if it is a resource issue it should be addressed.

Can I just say that of all the people who come and talk to me about mental health problems, almost the biggest complaint is the lack of support and lack of access to counselling services, and 1015 the figures that he has just pointed to seem to indicate that those complaints are not far wrong?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the numbers that the hon. Member has mentioned do not sit with mine. He mentions 4,000 receiving some form of medication. That may have been in 2020. The number I have is 1,846 and I have told the hon. Member already 26 of those are in-patients and 1020 the rest are out-patients with a whole string of varying degrees of strength of treatment.

With respect to therapy, I have said there are 139 persons in the GHA and 190 in the Care Agency, so the numbers are not as disparate as the hon. Member referred to, but I will certainly look at the point he has made and consider it further.

1025 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can I just say, first of all, I am not sure whether those numbers are consistent, for the reasons we have outlined before, and it is something that perhaps the Department needs to check, given the scope. But even if we were to take the figure of 1,846 and the cumulative figures of 190 and 139, we are still talking about 240 people out of 1,846, if that figure is accurate. That is a small proportion. Doing the maths quickly in my head, it is about 15% 1030 of the people on medication and it correlates ... It seems to support the point that is made to me a lot by people who engage with Mental Health Services and, I think, with other people on this side of the House, that people are finding it difficult to access resources for counselling to the point that a lot of people are forced, if they can afford it, to go private, and those people who cannot afford it are left languishing.

1035 In the context of the review of mental health services and the strategy that they announced and so on, and the keenness which they have said publicly they have to review and expand the services for mental health, I am asking the hon. Member to look at that issue.

1040 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am not going to speculate on the numbers. I have agreed to go back and check and have a look to ensure that we get the correct picture and we know we are talking about the correct numbers. I am not going to begin to agree or disagree as to whether the numbers are high or low without even knowing.

1045 The basis of the medication is clinical. It is a clinical assessment. They are the ones who are deciding whether the treatment is going to be one of medication or one of therapy. I am not hearing the same things the hon. Member is hearing, but if he writes to me and tells me and gives me examples, I will very happily look at them to ensure that where therapy is needed it is being given.

1050 Hon. K Azopardi: This is my final question. The hon. Member needs to understand it from this perspective, that people come and see me. Some people get medication and that is the end of it, but a lot of people I am aware of who come and see me are given medication but they are also put on a counselling path. The problem with not accessing the counselling is that you bounce from prescription to prescription, you get put into a corner of endless medication. And so it is not as easy an answer as to say the reason for a bigger number of people on medication is simply because the clinicians have decided that you only need medication. A lot of the people who engage with the Mental Health Services are given medication as a stopgap, sometimes as an enduring thing, but are also told to go to counselling, but they face great difficulty in engaging with counselling services.

1060 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am happy to note and look into these issues. The GHA is spending a lot of time with a lot of expertise in this specific area, and so I have every confidence that we will get to the right place as we roll out the National Mental Health Strategy that was launched in 2021.

Q283/2022

Primary Care Centre appointments – Difficulty in accessing

1065 Clerk: Question 283/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Can the Government state why it has yet to tackle the appalling situation as regards the inability of our citizens to access PCC appointments?

1070 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the hon. Member will be aware that the GHA has previously advised that as part of their Reset, Restart and Recover strategy, a significant transformation programme for Primary Care services would be announced. I am pleased to now refer the hon. Member to Press Release 766/2022 detailing the significant changes which will be introduced as from tomorrow.

As I say that, I would like to sincerely thank Dr Valerie Flores, Dr Elaine Flores, Patrick Geoghegan and all the rest of the team who have worked so hard to deliver the strategy which we hope to see come into full force tomorrow and which I am delighted to see the hon. Member has welcomed.

1080

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, Members on this side of the House will, of course, welcome initiatives that seek, at their very heart, to improve this process. I know the Minister and I have shared conversations about PCC appointments and the staggering difficulties that are encountered by everyone in accessing medical appointments, but how does the Minister reconcile the latest changes – which we hope, of course, will improve the system – with the statements made back in 2018 by the former, former Minister for Health, where he characterised the changes at the PCC then as extensive, impressive and which referred to a first-rate service moving forward?

1085

What I would say to him in relation to that particular question is we have been here before, haven't we? And whilst we have every confidence that the system may well be improved, many people in our community have lost trust and confidence and I would hope that he would agree with me that this process will, hopefully, restore that trust and confidence in our Health Service and the PCC Appointment Committee.

1090

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member has quite a perverse way of welcoming initiatives such as this. A welcome has never been more meek than that one. Good Lord.

1095

Between 2018, which is the date to which the hon. Member refers, and today, something has happened. I do not know if the hon. Member is aware that there is this thing called COVID that for two years has shaken the very core of our Health Service and, indeed, the economy, not just here but around the world, to require change to come. Whenever you mentioned the Hospital and you forget to mention COVID, you commit a pretty fundamental mistake because when you talk about waiting times, if you do not also, in the same breath, refer to COVID you are not being realistic. So when you say would I reflect on what we did in 2018 and today, this is a progression of the same effort to stay ahead of the curve.

1100

I mentioned in the press conference on Monday that in 2011 there were 16 GPs and today we have over 26 – it is 26.2, and then it was 16-point-something – and we have gone from ... I cannot remember the number because I have not got it noted down, but we have significantly increased the number of appointments – I think was from 140,000 to 190,000 a year. So the whole use of this facility by our people has grown enormously. There is no explanation for it. And so, when you are trying to deal with so many people calling into a system, all at eight o'clock, hundreds and hundreds – for a blood test or for the wellness clinic or for the sexual health clinic or for an urgent appointment – at the same time, no matter how good that system is, it is not going to work.

1105

When the Chief Minister asked me to help him and he said, 'For goodness' sake, please look at the appointments system,' – which I have accepted before in this Parliament was not good enough – the first thing I thought was surely we just need a decent phone system. No. Surely we just need a good calendar system. No. This needed fundamental change, and that is why it has taken us not a week or two, it has taken us months to put all the different things in order that we hope, together as a package, will enable us to deal with the problem and ensure that we can meet the needs of the community.

1115

And so, by filtering the calls from eight until 11 just for the need for a same-day GP visit and pushing the bloods and everything else to 11 o'clock, and then having the evening surgery available to those ... and linking the phone system to 111 so that you have clinical expertise available to triage calls ... There may be no appointments but there may be somebody in need of an appointment, so the new system will deal with that person and say come in this afternoon, or, if it is urgent, get yourself to A&E right now. It seeks to deal with the urgency and, at the same time, you have the online booking system four weeks in advance with your named GP. And the app is also being launched tomorrow. From your phone you will be able to book your blood appointment up to four weeks ahead, a GP appointment four weeks ahead with the GP you prefer

1120

1125

and they will become your named or preferred GP. If that person is unavailable, then obviously you will have to go to another one – there are no appointments necessary.

1130 There will be teething problems, there will be issues, but I can assure the hon. Member that if people pick up the mantle that we have asked them to, in terms of acting responsibly and only calling at eight when they need to see someone that day – go to the chemist first, self-help ... We are still going to introduce these mobile units which will be going around our community on different days, offering support to people who need it, at different times of the week in different parts of Gibraltar. We are trying to do everything we possibly can to keep people away from the 1135 eight o'clock phone call and from the PCC unless they have to, but giving them the opportunity to book up to four weeks in advance and to ensure that they have the best service available during the times they need them – and 'needing' is the really critical word in all of this.

1140 Am I confident this is going to work? If this does not work, I honestly do not know what we are going to have to do in Gibraltar to get our appointments systems working. I do not know because this is really pulling out every stop: 490 more appointments a week. This is a significant change. Everyone has bent over backwards to make this work and I hope the community responds favourably, has some patience with us over the next couple of weeks as all these new systems bed in, and enables us to get this working for the benefit of all our community.

1145

Mr Speaker: Just the one.

Hon. E J Phillips: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.

1150 It is an important issue, of course. I am just struggling. As impressive as the Minister is in explaining the magnitude of the changes and the package of measures that he announced on Monday – and we contributed to the debate publicly on the News Watch last night – I would just say one thing to him. He talked about COVID as being the difficulty, given what Minister Costa said back in 2018, namely the impressive and extensive reforms that would lead to very significant changes and a first-rate service, but we also heard the same in 2020 in the context of COVID, 1155 insofar as the Reset, Restart and Recover strategy to again make changes to the telephone lines. Whilst we are supportive and willing to assist the Government in whatever way we can to rebuild that trust and confidence within our community, is he confident that the work that is being done to restore that confidence amongst the community will, in fact, happen? A lot of people have lost that trust and confidence. I know he acknowledges publicly in this House and outside that this is probably one of the most difficult things that we can achieve, but is he confident that the system 1160 will now change to accommodate the pressure on the GHA?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I do not remotely agree with the premise of the question, which is that people have lost trust and confidence in the GHA. I believe that people are cheated off that they cannot get an appointment when they want to, but when they get in and they need help the story that I hear from patients and the many letters I get from people saying thank you is extraordinary. So I do not believe there is a lack of trust or confidence at all. 1165

I accept that the appointments system – and I have said this publicly – has not worked as it should. It has not, but how many people were coming to complain to you about appointments in 1170 2018 and 2019? There were not any. The noise was now. The system now cannot cope with the incredible demand that we face from people seeking those appointments since COVID. You could say it was since 2021, but from 2018 to when COVID struck, the appointments system was not really an issue. People struggled, but it worked. The numbers increased and so the problem is extenuating and it has to be dealt with, and that is precisely what we have done.

1175 I would not for a second wish to accept that any member of the public has lost trust and confidence in the extraordinarily hardworking people at the GHA who provide a damn good service, in some cases in very difficult circumstances. I give the GHA my vote of serious confidence in the work they do and the manner in which they deliver it. I sympathise with people who have had problems with the appointments system, absolutely, and that is exactly why we are trying to 1180 improve the service we offer the community, to make sure that we can get even that bit that was not working so well working very much better.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q284/2022
Cat 2 individuals and HEPPS –
Numbers

1185 Clerk: Question 284/2020. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise how many Category 2 individuals and HEPPS there were at the following dates: 31st March 2018, 31st March 2019, 31st March 2020, 31st March 2021 and 31st March 2022?
1190

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the information being requested by the hon. Member is publicly available on the Government Statistics page and the statistics available date back even further than date for which the hon. Member has asked the question, which is 2018. However, I will obviously provide the information.
1195

As at 31st March 2018, there were 346 Cat 2s and 146 HEPPS; March 2019, 355 Cat 2s and 148 HEPPS; March 2020, 335 Cat 2s and 171 HEPPS; March 2021, 338 Cat 2s and 192 HEPPS; March 2022, 355 Cat 2s and 210 HEPPS.
1200

The hon. Member will note that in respect of both Cat 2 and HEPPs the numbers are increased, and in respect of HEPPs, significantly so.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q285/2022
AquaGib –
Financing; indicative purchase price

1205 Clerk: Question 285/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise how it intends to finance the purchase of AquaGib, and does it now have an indicative purchase price?
1210

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, at present we do not have an indicative price, but rather are working together with the shareholders of AquaGib to come up with an agreed formula to determine this based on the value in the accounts. As you will be aware, some of the unprecedented issues this summer are leading to discussions that involve insurers and the management of AquaGib, which ultimately impinges on this.
1215

1220 With regard to financing this, the Government is presently exploring a number of options and we will advise Parliament of these once we have narrowed this down.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, does the Minister have any view of the kind of timescale for those discussions, both in terms of the basic formula for arriving at the purchase price and also the financing arrangements?

1225

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the formula is what we are currently working on. In terms of its implementation and applying it, there are factors outside our control – the insurance is one that I have mentioned – which may have an impact on that.

1230 As to the timing, I am not able to give him an indication, but what I can tell him is that we are working very closely with AquaGib. We have a board meeting this week, at which further discussions will take place afterwards in respect of this issue, and I fully expect this to happen ... I cannot give a date, Mr Speaker.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, just a clarification, so that I know whether I have understood the answer correctly. When he says that they are discussing the formula and its implementation, is he saying that the formula is up for grabs as well, or is it just the implementation? Have they landed on a correct and agreed figure and it is simply now about implementation, or is it that they have not set a figure? Can I just understand the answer?

1240 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, what I have said in my answer is to come up with an agreed formula to determine the price based on the value in the accounts. So there are a number of things in the air – the timing of when that is looked at in terms of the accounts, which is the date, and what we are seeking to do is agree the formula so that when that date is agreed, that formula will be applied to the accounts on that date. The formula is as good as agreed. They are still working on some of the minor details, but in the main it is pretty much already agreed.

1245

Hon. K Azopardi: And if the formula is agreed –

Hon. A J Isola: Pretty much.

1250

Hon. K Azopardi: – pretty much agreed, is he able to give us the figure, or is he unwilling to do so because the other factors are still up in the air?

1255 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I cannot give him a price because I have explained that the formula depends on the number in the accounts at any given time, so I would not be able to do that even if I wanted to.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q286-88/2022

Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi and St Martin's – Staff numbers; nationalities; numbers through recruitment agencies

Clerk: Q286/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

1260

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many people work at Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi and St Martin's?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1265

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 287 and 288.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what is the nationality of the people who work in Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi and St Martin's?

1270

Clerk: Question 288/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many people who work in Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi and St Martin's are employed by recruitment agencies, providing details of the agencies in question?

1275

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, there are currently 323 persons working at Mount Alvernia, 125 persons working at Dr Giraldi and 135 persons working at St Martins.

1280

The nationalities of the people who work at Mount Alvernia are as follows: British, 170; Spanish, 135; Moroccan, 11; and one of each of the following – Argentinian, Brazilian Portuguese, French, Italian, Polish, Russian and Romanian.

The nationalities of the people who work at Giraldi are as follows: 39 British, 78 Spanish, two Italian, one Polish, one Irish, one Romanian, one Australian, one Belgian and one German.

1285

The nationalities of the people who work at St Martins are as follows: British, 127; and Spanish, eight.

I am providing the information in relation to St Martin's, which is an educational establishment, for administrative ease to avoid the Minister for Education having to get up also, but I will not be able to answer any supplementaries in respect of that.

1290

Three people who work at Mount Alvernia are employed via recruitment agencies as follows: two agency workers contracted via Meddoc and one agency worker contracted via ADA.

Forty four people who work at Dr Giraldi are employed via recruitment agencies as follows: 37 agency workers contracted via ADA; five agency workers contracted via Meddoc and two agency workers contracted via We Care.

1295

Twenty two people who work at St Martin's are employed via recruitment agencies as follows: six through supported employment; 14 agency workers through GJBS; one agency worker via ADA; and one agency worker via Meddoc.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I only have one supplementary and then I will digest the statistics the hon. Gentleman has provided. He said 14 GJBS in St Martin's. Can he explain how an employee from GJBS comes to be working in St Martin's, unless they are dealing with maintenance or something of that sort?

1300

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the 14 persons contracted through GJBS are lunchtime attendants. They are not carers or working within the educational realms of St Martin's, simply lunchtime attendants.

1305

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can I just ask, in relation to the figures under Question 287, the nationalities of the people who work in Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi and St Martin's, the numbers that he has given, I suppose they fall into different categories, but does he have a subdivision? For example, in relation to the Spanish employees at Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi and St Martin's, the two bigger numbers, as I took it, are 135 at Mount Alvernia and 78 at Dr Giraldi. Are they primarily carer grades? Is that the division of labour?

1310

1315

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I do not have that information available to me, so I would not want to hazard a guess as to which of these are doing what.

1320

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in relation to these numbers – 323, 125 and 135 – does the Hon. Minister have the figures for those people who are permanent and pensionable – in other words, they are permanently employed – and those people who perhaps are on a one-year or two-year contract, where the contract has not been made permanent?

1325

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I have given the numbers in respect of those who are employed by recruitment agencies. That is the division that I have, which is the division that was asked for by the hon. Member. If he wants those again, it was three from Mount Alvernia, 44 from Dr Giraldi and 22 –

1330

Hon. D A Feetham: No, that is not the question I have asked. I have those figures. The first question was how many people work at Mount Alvernia, Dr Giraldi and St Martin's. That is nothing to do with recruitment. Some of those will be through recruitment agencies. I am asking out of the 323, 125 and 135 do you have the figure for permanent and pensionable or one-year and two-year contracts. If you do not, I will ask it next time round.

1335

Hon. A J Isola: That is what I was trying to explain, Mr Speaker, that I have given him the numbers of the total, and of the total, if you deduct the numbers through recruitment agencies, that is the division I have. That is what I was trying to say. So in respect of, as an example, Mount Alvernia, of those 323, three are employed by recruitment agencies and the rest are employed directly, not through recruitment agencies, but I do not have the subdivision of that number.

1340

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am getting confused by that last answer where he engages the deduction of the last figures from the 323. Presumably the hon. Member is not saying that, using the example I was giving before on the same line, 135 Spanish nationals working at Mount Alvernia and 78 Spanish nationals working at Dr Giraldi ... they are not all permanent and pensionable? Presumably, some of those are on contract, are they not?

1345

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think we need to be careful in terms of the language we use, because to call someone permanent and pensionable is normally attributed to people who work in the public sector, in the Civil Service. Somebody can be on contract, employed, who is not permanent and pensionable, he is on a contract.

1350

I have not got the information to draw the division between permanent and pensionable, contract and recruitment agency, if you want to have that answer.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q289-292/2022
COVID boosters administered –
Number by resident and non-resident

1355

Clerk: Question 289/2022. The hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, of the 40,474 COVID boosters administered to 30th September 2022, how many were first COVID boosters, i.e. a third dose of a COVID vaccine, broken down by residents and non-residents?

1360

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 290 to 292.

1365

Clerk: Question 290/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, of the 40,474 COVID boosters administered to 30th September 2022, how many were second COVID boosters, i.e. a fourth dose of a COVID vaccine, broken down by residents and non-residents?

1370

Clerk: Question 291/2020. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, of the 40,474 COVID boosters administered to 30th September 2022, how many were third COVID boosters, i.e. a fifth dose of a COVID vaccine, broken down by residents and non-residents?

1375

Clerk: Question 292/2020. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: How many third COVID booster – fifth COVID vaccines – had been administered by GHA by 11th October 2022, broken down by residents and non-residents?

1380

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, of the 40,474 COVID boosters administered to 30th September 2022, 30,941 were third doses, of which 23,564 were administered to residents and 7,377 were administered to non-residents; 9,508 booster doses were fourth doses, of which 8,527 were administered to residents and 981 were administered to non-residents; similarly, 25 booster doses were fifth doses, of which 24 were administered to residents and one was administered to non-residents.

1385

1390

A total of 572 third COVID boosters – fifth COVID vaccines – had been administered by GHA by 11th October 2022, of which 560 were administered to residents and 12 were administered to non-residents.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, when you just look at those figures you can see quite a significant descent, I suppose, in the take-up figures between ... Obviously, the vast majority of people got vaccinated once or twice. You then have 23,000-odd residents getting the first booster, if I can put it that way, the third vaccine, but only 8,000 taking up the second booster, and now we are in the realms of the third booster, the fifth vaccine, so it may be that we are expecting further descent. Is the Government concerned about the difference in numbers of take-up of the booster vaccine?

1395

1400

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think the challenge is that people think COVID is over; we all know it is not. The clinical advice continues to be get your vaccine. The GHA continues with its awareness campaign to ask people to get their vaccine and, indeed, for those over 50, to take the flu jab as well. The GHA continues to call people, to seek to invite them to come in and have the vaccines, and will continue to push the population to be as fully vaccinated as it can be within the realms of what has been provided for them.

1405

So yes, we would like more people to be vaccinated and we will continue to work to push the clinical advice that we get from the GHA, which is for vaccination.

1410

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, as I understood the current position, the GHA was offering the fifth vaccine, the booster, to people over 50, I think it was. Given the numbers, would it be sensible to offer the vaccine to whoever wants to take it? It is not as if you are managing the programme that you used to manage in the early days, where you really needed to stagger the rollout in the community. As we are entering winter, if the hon. Member is concerned about that message perhaps it might be prudent to extend the offer, now that we are in October, to whoever wants to take it up.

1415

Hon. A J Isola: Indeed, Mr Speaker, we are coming to the winter months when I am sure we will see an increase in the incidence of COVID in our community, so yes, I fully expect the board of the GHA and the executive team to do exactly what the hon. Member has suggested.

1420

Q293/2022
Gibraltar Health Authority –
Number of vacant posts

Clerk: Question 293/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm how many posts were vacant at the Gibraltar Health Authority at 11th October 2022 and provide a list of current vacancies at the Gibraltar Health Authority?

1425

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, at this moment in time and after agreeing to many vacancy policy issues with the Director General in recent bilaterals, there is significant activity at this particular juncture. As part of the GHA's post-pandemic Reset, Restore and Recover Strategy, there are many boards, interviews and re-advertisements currently taking place. The GHA is, therefore, working on this, but exact numbers will be provided to the hon. Member as soon as this phase has been completed, within the next 10 days. I am advised that all clinical, allied health professional and nursing vacancies are being covered in the interviewing period where there are vacancies in the process of being filled.

1430

1435

In addition to that, I would say I am able to provide the hon. Member, in the next couple of days, with a list of all those that are currently in train. In other words, there is another question on the Order Paper relating to the Ophthalmology Unit, where I am going to be saying there is one coming in November. So these are in process and I would like to give the hon. Member some proper information and not just give lists without background information in respect of each one and how it is being managed and handled.

1440

1445

Hon. K Azopardi: So the hon. Member is not able to give me a precise figure of how many posts are vacant today – is that really what he is saying?

Hon. A J Isola: Not now.

1450

Hon. K Azopardi: Not now, but he will give it to me in the next 10 days. Mr Speaker, that is fine. I just put on the record – and perhaps with your indulgence, Mr Speaker can reflect on it –

1455 that I may have questions I want to ask about that list when I get it in 10 days' time, and I do not want to infringe the six-month rule, so I would like to be able to have the ability to ask follow-up questions relating to the information that he will give me in 10 days' time.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, that is perfectly sensible and reasonable and I have no issue with it at all. When he receives the information, if he has any questions to ask at the next sitting I would be very happy to take them.

Q294/2022
Power cuts –
Duration, districts and reasons

1460 Clerk: Question 294/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many power cuts have there been from 1st January 2022 to 30th September 2022, giving a breakdown of the duration of the power outage, the district affected and the reason for the same?

1465 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1470 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I now hand over a schedule detailing how many power cuts there have been from 1st January 2022 to 30th September 2022, giving a breakdown of the duration of the power outage, the district affected and the reason for the same.

Answer to Question 294/2022

APPENDIX 4

FILE 200

RECORD OF I-IV POWER CUTS

GENERATOR FAILURE REPORT

YEAR 2022	Date and time	Duration	Districts/Areas affected	Reasons for Power Cut	Type
1	28.01.2022 11.11	36 mins.	Blackout within GMES/MoD network. Vineyards, Nelson's view.	Private contractor damaged cable by Fossway tunnel. The earth fault triggered a blackout at GMES network. Restored by 11.47 with assistance given to GMES by GEA and MoD contractors. GEA S20 tripped causing power cut to Vineyards and S80 Nelsons view.	Network Failure
2	28.01.2022 16.00	7 mins.	Bedlam Court, Ocean Village Complex, Tradewinds, Casemates.	Operational switching at S61 WDC panel tripped causing power loss to Bedlam Ct, Casemates, Ocean Village, Tradewinds.	Network Failure

3	11.03.2022	2 — 11 mins.	Bayside, Varyl Begg West, Marina, Jetty Five, Watergardens, Ocean Village Complex, Waterport Terraces, William Jackson, New Harbours. King's Bastion, Cornwall's Lane, Governor's Parade. Alameda, Rosia Bay.	NMPS IFLS testing caused a trip of Set 1 causing feeders to open.	Generation Failure
4	08/07/2022	48 mins.	GEA network suffered no loss of supply but local consumers suffered power outage due to supply from ex MoD network.	Cable from GMES power station to Norfolk House S/S tripped on load. Upon first restoration process, Norfolk House tripped all ex MoD network including local consumers.	Network Failure
5	20.07.2022	67 — 116 mins.	Western Arm. Approx. 80% Gib-wide power-outage.	Cable fault at S68 Western Arm to S36 North Mole caused WDC panel trip affecting supply to Gasnor Plant. Gas supply main valve shut down in safety protocol caused trip on NMPS engines.	Network Failure
6	02.08.2022	6 — 43 mins.	Marina, Watergardens, Ocean Village Complex, Bedlam Court, Waterport Terraces, William Jackson, Waterport Place. King's Bastion, Cornwall's Lane. JBDC Alameda, Rosia Bay, Sunnyside Steps, Little Bay, Europa Business Centre.	NMPS TX2 fault caused trips of engine-bay cooling-fans triggering safety-protocol shutdowns of 3 Gas Engines. Reference to PACIS lost at NMPS CR. S55, S63 and S65 restored manually.	Generation Failure
7	12.08.2022	40 — 55 mins.	Alameda, Sandpits, Sunnyside Steps, Rosia Bay, Little Bay, Europa Business Centre.	Dual cable fault at S15 to S17 Willis's Road (spiked by contractor) and S19 to S67 Beach view Terraces.	Network Failure

1475 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, we will digest the schedule and we may have more points to raise in the future, but I am just looking at the list and for the purposes of those people listening there are seven on this list, seven power outages in the period, ranging from a few minutes to almost a couple of hours in one respect. I am just looking at the last column, where they are categorised in one of two ways, either network failure or generation failure. (Interjection) Well, 'Generation Failure', it says. (Interjection) Failure of a generation! Can the hon. Member help us understand the difference?

1480 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, you have generation of power which is the North Mole power station, which is a generating station, and then you have the way we get to people's houses, which is what is called a network. So we have a generation failure and a network failure. I would have thought that with all the eminence we have across the floor, we would have had no difficulty in understanding that.

1485

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I do not pretend to have any eminence in engineering, still less electrical engineering.

1490

To the extent that there are issues affecting the network – and, of the seven, five are about network failure – isn't that indicative of the need to review the network and find ways of improving the issues, so that we do not have to suffer so many power cuts? Not just seven this year, but last year I think the figure was almost 30.

1495

Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Speaker, it is indicative of a private contractor damaging the cable by Fossway Tunnel, where the earth fall triggered a blackout of GMES' network, restored by 11.47 after 36 minutes.

1500

The information is given because each incident is different and is not indicative of a problem with the network. You will see that two, maybe three of these are the ex-MoD network – that is in the south district of Gibraltar – and that is an older network than our own and something that is being integrated into our own network over a period of time, working closely with the Ministry of Defence.

1505

So no, I do not believe it is indicative. People have to understand that if we have a generation failure within the power station ... For example, the two that are generation relate to works going on to integrate the current new power plant. Systems trip because these are all software driven and if you do not do something and the computer says no, you have a trip and you have a power cut. This is part of the process of integrating a new power station into the community.

The difference between Gibraltar and anywhere else in the world, or most parts of the world, is when power fails from one generation source another one kicks in. We have not got another one. We have one power-generation source, so that complicates the issues, but generation trips are absolutely normal all over the world with new power stations.

1510

Would I wish that we had zero at all and I could tell the hon. Member, today, zero? Of course I would, but this is a very sophisticated piece of kit that is being integrated into our community and is producing power to us. Are there issues? Yes. Will they continue? Unfortunately, I suspect they will.

Q295/2022

Power's Drive Tunnel – Reservoir stock level on day preceding fire

1515

Clerk: Question 295/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what were the water reservoir levels the day before the fire at Power's Drive Tunnel?

1520

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the reservoir stock level on the day before the fire at Power's Drive Tunnel was 22.289 million litres.

1525

Hon. K Azopardi: And, Mr Speaker, that is from a total possible capacity of water reservoir of what?

1530 Hon. A J Isola: To put the answer I am going to give the hon. Member in some context, the stock levels ... Our reservoirs are never full, so I think the total capacity, from memory – and this is a guesstimate – is around 70 million, then normally during the course of the year at around 40, reducing as you get closer to the summer months. If I look at it from 2020 onwards, I do not see a single month from July 2020 to date ... No, I am afraid that is not it. I cannot make that ... The vast majority of the months are below 50 million. As we get closer to the summer months the volume of stock reduces for two reasons: there is more water used and our production is fixed, and therefore, during the summer ... I remember last summer – and I have said this publicly during 1535 board meetings of AquaGib – we had a very keen eye on the amount of water we had because we were looking at alternatives should we need to bring in more water to meet the increasing demand. The demand has continued to increase over the years. This year would have been the same as last year had it not been for the fire at Power’s Drive which caused us the problem that we had.

1540

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member will correct me if I give the wrong figure. I believe that the water consumption of Gibraltar is around 5 million litres a day, something like that. If that is right, this was reservoir levels of not more than four and a half days when the tunnel fire happened, and given the explanation he has given, that total capacity is around 70 million but 1545 it is normally at around 40 million and it lowers towards the summer months, isn’t one of the lessons of the whole incident that we need to do much more to build up reservoir levels and perhaps to a higher level throughout the year and also to increase reservoir levels?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, stock level and production ability are what dictate what stock we are advised we need to have. Do not forget this is AquaGib, a privately owned company, which is responsible, under contract to Government, for our water supply, and the measure they have taken is that if we are producing 4.5 million litres a day and we are using five – in the summer, it is higher than five – then we are trading water and we are okay. When you have a sudden cut off of four or four and a half million a day and you are left with one and a half at the Waterport, you are going to have a problem.
1555

The speed with which we moved to restore that was remarkable. I did not think we would make the timelines that were set. In fact, AquaGib came in ahead of time in terms of producing, and then the Balaena reverse osmosis plant that was procured for us by the dockyard, who came to our rescue with that one that produced an extra million, has made the position more comfortable.
1560

When anything goes down, to bring it back up is a real challenge because consumption continues. That was the battle, the consumption continued, so we took out, as the hon. Member will know, all the high users and found alternative sources for many of them and reverted back to just the ones that had to have it, and that enabled us to limit the damage to that 10-day period when people had problems at home.
1565

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the explanation. Indeed, the Chief Minister was away and I had a briefing from the Deputy Chief Minister, for which I was grateful, as to the detailed mechanics of these things during the time when the fire was ongoing at that stage, and the Chief of the Fire Department was there.
1570

I am not critical about the way the emergency was then handled. The emergency was handled well by the essential services and AquaGib once it had happened. What I am saying to the hon. Member is that perhaps one of the lessons to be drawn from this is that Gibraltar really should not function at a level where we have only four days’ back-up water, because if something happens it is cataclysmic to an essential service, and what we should be doing is making sure that our capacity is higher and our reservoir capacity levels are able to be expanded.
1575

I am not sure if the hon. Member heard that because he was having an aside with the Chief Minister. If he wants me to repeat it ... Yes, I will. Isn’t the lesson to be drawn from this that we

1580 should not be functioning at four days' back-up water, that our reservoir levels need to be higher and not at the levels which he has indicated, and that, indeed, given that there is probably an increase in population ...? The Hon. the Father of the House went on television recently to talk about the census, and he was talking about the increase in population and the increase in infrastructure and the pressure on infrastructure, and we know all the pressure there is on the sewage infrastructure and so on. Perhaps it is important to review our water infrastructure as 1585 well, to increase reservoir capacity.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the Government has already announced – and the hon. Member has already asked a question on it – that it is purchasing the remaining shares of AquaGib to bring the critical supply of water into public ownership and into Government hands.

1590 I think the Government would have preferred to have had more water in its tanks, of course we would. The Government has for some time been preparing to have not just more production of water available to it but in more diverse places. In other words, the reliance on one place for so much capacity of our water is something that the Government did not believe was the best way forward, and consequently one of the lessons learnt ... It is not really a lesson learnt because it 1595 was going to happen anyway because the provision of the new AquaGib facility at North Mole already has provision ... In fact, there is plant arriving in November, nothing to do with the issue at Power's Drive.

1600 What is going to be happening at Waterport is there is going to be, instead of 1.5 million litres of provision there will be 3.5 million litres of provision of water. So when we have that facility and the facility a Governor's Cottage we will be able to manage our water stock and supply far more efficiently and with far more resilience than we have ever been able to do before.

The hon. Member, I am sure, will welcome that news and the decision by Government to buy AquaGib and bring the water provider into public ownership.

1605 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q296/2022

ITLD –

Increase in staff complement

Clerk: Question 296/2020. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

1610 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, the GSLP Liberal Government said in a recent press release that it had increased the complement of staff at the ITLD department. By how many people has the staff complement increased in the last 24 months?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1615 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
Mr Speaker, the information that the hon. Lady is requesting is public information – it is obviously in the Estimates, which are public documents, every year – but I will give the information notwithstanding.

1620 Indeed, the Government stated that the complement of the ITLD department has grown by more than 100% since 2011. In 2011-12, the ITLD had a complement of 15. There is currently a complement of 31. In the last 24 months, the complement of the ITLD has not increased, which is completely understandable bearing in mind what we have been through in the last two years and that our commitment is to maintain complements as at 9th December 2011 and we have more than doubled it since that date.

1625 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you for the answer, despite it being publicly available; I was unaware. Thank you.

Can I just ask, from what I understand, the Government's servers have almost doubled from something like 180 to 340 since 2017, so I think we can deduce that the workload may have increased as well as you need more and more technology to satisfy that. My question would be if we have not increased complement in relation to this increase of what we see as the machinery, are we our putting our department of ITLD at too stressful a level where perhaps low morale and poor output would ensue?

1635 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, can I just get up on a point of procedure to set out that when information is publicly available the Government does not habitually provide it because it is publicly available information? In particular, in this case, we are not dealing with publicly available information which is beyond this House. That information is in the Book that we hand the hon. Lady and all hon. Members each year – it is the section that deals with ITLD – and the fact that we have provided the information in this case should not for one moment be taken to suggest that the Government must, or accepts that it should, provide publicly available information in the context of Question Time, because the rule has always been that if it is publicly available it should not be asked about. I just wanted to make that caveat.

1640 I will allow the Hon. Minister to reply to the question, but given that we have doubled the server capacity, why haven't we doubled the number of people – we have, as he has just confirmed.

1645

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, there is no question that since 2011 the work that ITLD carry out has increased. That is acknowledged, not just in doubling the numbers of people who work in that Department but in the investment that has been made in the very servers the hon. Lady talks about, because those servers are changed every ... I think it is five years, and there is a current round of tenders going out now for the new servers.

1650

So yes, we accept that the ITLD workload has increased significantly. We have increased the complement significantly, we have increased the investment significantly and I would accept that we have some more to do, and we are engaging with them to get there. So I am confident that working together we will be able to deliver the service that not only Government expects from them, but they will be happy to deliver for us.

1655

Q297/2022

DHA orthodontists –

Whether Government satisfied with complement

Clerk: Question 297/2020. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

1660 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Is Government satisfied with the complement of orthodontists in the GHA?

1660

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1665 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the GHA has commissioned a review of the dental services it provides. This includes a review of the scope of dental care currently being provided by the GHA, the workforce and infrastructure required to adequately cover the scope of dental care and how the current resource is being utilised. The current complement of orthodontists will be evaluated on the basis of the findings of this review.

1670 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I appreciate the Minister's answer regarding the review, which would of course give rise to us giving him some space to ensure that the new policies come into force, but my representations – and there have been several – are that currently the orthodontist complement has gone down from two to one and many teenagers who are in need of braces are being told that there is no guarantee that they will get them due to the decrease in orthodontists. My understanding from these representations is that parents are being told that 1675 the new policy is adopting a UK approach, which is based on quotas rather than needs based, and that would mean that many needy teenage patients with maybe justifiable complexes as well about the state of their teeth are being left behind.

1680 Can the Minister tell us when we will know more about how they plan on filling this complement and what he would tell parents, at this stage, of children who are being denied orthodontic treatment, please?

Thank you.

1685 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, no, the GHA is not following the UK practice, as the hon. Lady has referred to. At this present time, we have five dentists and two orthodontists, one of whom is acting up as a dentist, and there is a vacancy for one orthodontist, which is in the process of being filled.

1690 Again, I have to mention COVID because, yes, there is a long waiting list. As I have also said in this House before, the GHA has actually gone out to private contractors in Gibraltar to seek to ask for their support to clear the backlog, to bring ourselves up to date as quickly as we possibly can. That is ongoing. We have orthodontists in private practice helping us with this process, but there is more work to be done. What the review is going to tell us is with the capacity of work that we need to deliver, is the complement we have too high, too low or spot on, what is the nature of the services that we should be providing and what is the nature of the services that maybe we should not be providing, but the ones that the hon. Lady has referred to are clearly ones that we will 1695 continue to provide, especially in respect of children.

1700 So I think my answer would be we have, today, five dentists and two orthodontists. We are aware that we are one down on orthodontists, which will mean that the orthodontist will go back to being a dentist, and I hope once the review is concluded and we are able to clear the backlog with the support of the private sector, we will be in a better place.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I thank the Minister again for his answer. Can I ask him the timeline of this review? By when will they have some kind of answers and feedback in order to proceed with the new decisions and policies?

1705 Hon. A J Isola: I do not have an exact date, but I know it is an external review by people from outside coming in and looking at us and seeing what we do, so I would expect to have it relatively shortly. I would hope by the end of the year.

Q298/2022

GHA Domestic department – Management of and relationship with employees

Clerk: Question 298/2020. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

1710 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Is the Health Minister satisfied with his Ministry's management and relationship with the employees within the Domestic department in the GHA?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
1715 Mr Speaker, yes.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I have been made aware over months, and in fact the last couple of years, of the low morale within this department and the fact that they feel there is a shortage of staff, where people are covering positions of high responsibility, in many cases for 1720 years and for the same remuneration. Their conditions have made them feel ... As many of them have dubbed it, they feel that they are the forgotten department.

So my question for the Minister would be whether he has any sort of plan to engage this department, many of whom are feeling quite marginalised, in order to restore job satisfaction and general satisfaction for the employees this department? If not, what would he say to these 1725 employees?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the question asked the Health Minister with his Ministry's management and relationship with the employees, and with that I am happy because I do not have a relationship with them other than in respect of a dispute which has been resolved.

I am not aware of any of the matters that the GHA deals with, with the Domestic department, but from the agreement we have reached with them in the last 10 days I can tell the hon. Lady that they are extremely happy and that we have come to that arrangement and dealt with a longstanding dispute, which has now been resolved to both our and their satisfaction. Other than that, I am not aware of any issue at all, hence my saying that yes, I am satisfied with that 1730 relationship.
1735

Q299/2022

GHA electrical works – Whether being privatised

Clerk: Question 299/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Is Government privatising electrical works within the GHA which have traditionally been carried out by the Gibraltar Electricity Authority?
1740

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
1745 Mr Speaker, no.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I have been told that as staff are retiring they are being replaced by private contractors and there are roughly 28 vacancies missing that have not been filled. What would the Minister say about this assertion, which has not come from rumour but from disgruntled members of the electrical agency?
1750

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think I recognise some of the numbers the hon. Lady has referred to, but in different contexts. If I were to tell you that within the GHA the Techno-medical team, which is the team from the GEA in the GHA, is smaller than the total number of 28, which is the number of vacancies the hon. Lady has referred to ... So absolutely not. There are not 28 vacancies within the Techno-medical team at the GHA.
1755

There has been an issue, because the way this works is that the GHA has works carried out within its buildings and when it does those, if it feels that the works can be done in house by its Minor Works team, who use the Techno-medical team from the GEA, then they will do that, but 1760 even when they do that they will get quotes to ensure that the pricing that has been given from the Minor Works team within the GHA is competitive. If it is competitive, it will be done internally and they will do it, hopefully, during normal hours at no cost. If it requires overtime, then that will be considered. When the works are specialist works, and you can imagine the Hospital – many of the works ... There are two large projects going on now which are actually contracted out with the 1765 agreement of the GHA Minor Works team and with the agreement of the Techno-medical team, who accept that they could not do those works anyway. The Techno-medical team in the GEA predominantly service electrical equipment within the Hospital, of which you can imagine there is lots. That is their prime function, not to do building works. That is why I said no, it is not privatising electrical works, because we are not; we are carrying on in exactly the same way we always have done, where there are some specialist works where outside contractors come in, and 1770 what can be done internally is done internally provided the price is, obviously, competitive and in the interests of the taxpayer.

There is no question at all of vacancies being replaced by private contractors. I met with the shop stewards and I met with the unions yesterday to make that point absolutely clearly to them, which they accepted, so I do not think that there is any concern that the hon. Lady has made in 1775 that respect.

Clerk: Question 300/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am just conscious of the fact that you have been in the Chair 1780 for three hours. I wonder whether this might be a convenient moment to take a 15-minute break before we come back.

Mr Speaker: I am grateful.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, with your leave, can I just say – and with the Chief Minister's 1785 giving way – I was going to say before, when I asked questions on behalf of Mr Clinton, as my hon.
colleague here, Mr Bossino, will ask questions for Mr Reyes, that in case the listener is wondering, the reason we are doing so is because both my colleagues unfortunately have COVID and that is also the reason why they were not here to take the Oath of Allegiance?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the hon. Gentleman for clarifying that. I could 1790 not find a convenient moment to say it, and I thought it was better for him to do so. Of course I look forward to seeing them both back as soon as possible in full health. COVID is not what it was when it hit us in March 2020 but it is still something that should concern us.

I would simply reflect that when the hon. Gentleman says we have we have done nothing, he 1795 has just got up and talked about listeners. He is still living in the world in which people are only listening to us on the radio. We are now in glorious technicolour, one of the great reforms after the new dawn of 2011.

I move that the House should now recess for 15 minutes.

1800 Mr Speaker: The House will now recess for 15 minutes, to return at 20 past six.

The House recessed at 6.05 p.m. and resumed at 6.23 p.m.

SOCIAL SECURITY, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT, ENTERPRISE, TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND THE GSB

Q300/2022

Construction and Engineering Trades Training Centres – Trainees; instructors and current vacancies; future plans

Clerk: Question 300/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino on behalf of the Hon. E J Reyes.

1805 Hon. D J Bossino: Can Government provide details of the number of trainees currently enrolled at both the Gibraltar Construction Training Centre and the Engineering Trades Training Centre, providing details of the estimated completion dates of such courses and the qualifications to be obtained upon successful completion of said courses?

1810 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, before I give the answer, can I just say, having been put out of action for a fortnight by COVID myself, I wish both my friends, Edwin and Roy, a speedy recovery and I hope it will not keep them in bed as long as it kept me.

I will answer this question together with Questions 301 and 302.

1820 Clerk: Question 301/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino on behalf of the Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. D J Bossino: I would just like to thank the Minister and acknowledge his kind remarks. I understand they are both doing very well.

1825 Can Government provide details in respect of the number of instructors currently employed at both the Construction Training Centre and the Engineering Trades Training Centre, together with details of any vacancies which may presently exist?

Clerk: Question 302/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino on behalf of the Hon. E J Reyes.

1830 Hon. D J Bossino: Can Government provide details of its future plans for both the Construction Trades and Engineering Trades Training Centres?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

1835 Hon. Sir J J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the number of trainees currently enrolled at both centres is 35. The estimated completion dates of the courses and the qualifications on successful completion are as follows. Level 3: Fabrication and Welding, November 2022 and 2023; Electrical Engineering, November 2022, 2023 and 2024; Mechanical Engineering, November 2022, 2023 and 2024. Level 2: Diploma in Building Maintenance, August 2023; Diploma in Plumbing, August 2023.

1840 There are five instructors currently employed at both centres. There are three vacancies which presently exist: one bricklayer, one painter and decorator, and one electrical instructor.

If, by 'future plans', the hon. Member means between now and the next General Election, there are no plans to change the role of either Training Centre.

1845 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in respect of the first question I posed, which dealt with the number of trainees, can he tell the House whether there are any current intentions to expand upon the intake of numbers? He said there were 35. Is there any intention to expand on that and indeed to promote this in schools, given that not everybody wishes to pursue an academic route?

1850 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The number we take in is determined by the fact that there is an intake of eight in any one of the specialities, and in the case of Electrical and Mechanical Engineering, which are done in GibDock, the requirement is higher because there is a higher requirement in terms of technical knowledge. For example, in Electrical Engineering and Mechanical Engineering you have to translate from drawings to physical work, whereas in the construction trades it is not as demanding so there are no entry requirements. In addition, the construction trades can be taken to craft labour in two years, whereas the other ones require three because they require more time at the place of work.

1855
1860 At the moment, the number of people who apply is in excess of the capacity of the centre and we do not have an intention of increasing, but we may have to do so in future. There are some trades where we have to reconsider what it is we are training people to do. For example, if we are talking about a future with no car engines, then it will be electrical training for electric cars that will be needed, and therefore motor mechanics will be a shrinking market and electricians will be an increasing market.

1865 Looking ahead, I think we will have to make sure that if technological changes are changes that demand skills in the market we then increase in one area and maybe decreasing in another. For example, in Fabrication and Welding we did an exercise last year and found that nobody who had trained in welding and fabricating since the centre had opened in 1996 had ever got to work in welding and fabricating, so we decided that we would not keep on training people in that area. We actually tracked every single person who had completed the course and not one single individual in the entire history of the centre had gone on to work in what he had been trained to do, and therefore it did not seem to be a worthwhile thing. We therefore decided to discontinue this in future. This is why there is a course that finishes in 2022-23 but there is not one in 2024. In that case, when we are looking at the manning levels, when vacancies come up we may need more instructors in one area than in another, but it will be driven by the demand in the market.

1870
1875 Hon. D J Bossino: But in the context of expansion, did he say there is a demand? I may have misunderstood him, but did he say there is a demand but there is, in fact, a limited number of places available to meet that demand? And that if that understanding is correct and I have heard we say it is about the various skills, does that not answer the question – in other words, that there is a requirement for further expansion?

1880
1885 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The biggest problem we have is not in expanding the centre itself, it is that we have great difficulty in getting employers. At the moment, for example, we have people who have done everything they need to do in the electrical training and we are having difficulty in getting private sector electrical companies willing to take them on, even though they are provided free of charge and they will not necessarily have to employ them. They need to do real work. The City and Guilds and the other awarding bodies will not accept that the work is done in a simulated situation in the centre – where it can be done – except in the plumbing trade. The plumbing trade is one where you can do the whole course, finish it and get the certificate without leaving the construction sector, but for the other trades – and I do not know why the difference exists – you have to work in a real place on a real building site, and sometimes ... I remember one year we had a particular group – this led to some changes in the content of their course – who could not finish because the course that had existed there before required that they actually went on a building site to work on cavity walls and there was no building site in Gibraltar doing cavity walls. The situation was that the guys had done everything they needed to do to finish but they could not actually finish the last module that was required because there was not a single building site and we could not simply put them in the Training Centre to do a cavity wall and then knock the cavity wall down. That is not permitted. On subsequent courses we were able to substitute 1900 something else, and that was because we are now concentrating more on the maintenance work. On the maintenance work, for example, you do not need to know how to build a cavity wall because that is not something you would normally do when you are doing maintenance. If you are doing maintenance, you are mostly doing internal work and repairs and this is where the bulk of the work is.

1905 One of the positions that I have explained previously that we need to understand about the construction industry, particularly in the context of the fact that many of the construction companies only have frontier workers, is that the construction industry for many years now has had specialist workers, so when you are doing foundations people come in from Spain and Portugal, do the foundations and go away. If you had somebody here trained to do foundations, he would be out of work for six months of the year because there is no possibility of going in the opposite direction to work, with our wages above the UK and their wages below.

1910 So where is the future employment? The more buildings we have, the more buildings will need maintenance, so we see the importance of having people trained to do maintenance, so that at least the permanent growth in the construction sector which would be providing the maintenance to ever greater numbers of buildings will be with local Gibraltarians. That is where the work is, but the problem at the moment is that if we plan to take more people, we might do by taking on more instructors, but unless we have more building companies willing to take them on, they cannot finish the work, and at the moment we are in that situation that we are using the maximum that is available.

1920 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Clerk: Question 303 –

1925 Mr Speaker: Switch on your microphone.

Hon. D J Bossino: This is in relation to Question 301 and the number of instructors, in respect of which he said there were three vacancies, I think. Can he say where those posts are being advertised? As we understand it, the information reaching the party is that the advertising of those vacancies has been limited to Government employees, Gibraltar company employees and the GDC, whilst we understand that there is interest from outside these two groupings. Can he expand a bit on that?

1935 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, every vacancy in the public sector is initially advertised inside the public sector. The policy of the Government, of which I have made no secret, is that when a vacancy comes up we see if it is possible not to fill it, given the state of the estimates in the Budget, which hon. Members are well aware of, and if it does get through we hope to be able to fill it internally and then maybe the vacancy that is created by filling it internally will not need to be filled. In order to restore the Budget to what it used to be, which is that there should be no deficit, we have to constrain the numbers and increase efficiency, and that is part of my job, not in training but overall in the size of the public sector.

1940 Hon. D J Bossino: One final question, Mr Speaker, in relation to that question. Is he able to say whether one of the vacancies is in relation to the Construction Training Centre Manager who has retired and that position is not yet replaced? Can he confirm that?

1945 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The three vacancies for instructors, which is what the question was about, is what I have given you in the answer. The manager is also being advertised internally.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q303/2022
Disability Allowance –
Number of cases where revoked or discontinued

1950 Clerk: Question 303/2020. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state how many people who have been in receipt of Disability Allowance have had that allowance revoked or otherwise discontinued over the last three years?

1955

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

1960 Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, out of 479 people in receipt of Disability Allowance, 28 have had their allowance revoked or discontinued over the last three years.

1965 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the Father of the House's answer to that question. Can he be more helpful in explaining the reasons for that revocation or discontinuance of the Disability Allowance and whether that is broken down in the other part of the written answer to that question, potentially, the information that is given to the Minister in respect of that data?

1970 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, I do not have that information, but as far as I understand it, the system is that there is a periodic review and then presumably the people who originally decided that the allowance was required have decided it is no longer required. This is a team of experts, doctors and so on, who take this decision.

1975 Remember that when the allowance existed before, in 2011, it was based on a medical condition. The system was reformed some years ago and the effect has been to increase it and make it available to many more people. There were 162 in 2011 and there are now 479. The reality is that, for example, two people can have the same medical condition and one person may be able to cope and live a normal life and the other person cannot. Therefore, the criterion is the ability to lead a normal life rather than the condition you have. Before, what the doctors listed was if you have this condition you can, and if you have some other condition you cannot. That was because sometimes the people with a condition that was allowable actually were able to cope better than someone with another condition that was not allowable. So now it is entirely arbitrary, in the sense that somebody makes a judgement. That judgement may be justified or not justified in the eyes of a layman, but the system that was newly created put that decision in the hands of a team that then makes a recommendation to the director and then the director either accepts or rejects the recommendation.

1980 I think when the question is one of granting in the first place, the director has a discretion but I doubt that he would go against the advice, unless there were some very compelling reasons; but when it is a question of disallowance, I do not think the director has the discretion to say, 'Although they say it is no longer needed, I will keep on giving it.' I do not think that is the case.

1990

1995 Hon. E J Phillips: I am grateful for the answer. This question actually arises in the context of my hon. and learned Friend Mr Feetham's questions in the past. I reviewed those contributions and the excellent work he does with his constituents in trying to get to the bottom of this longstanding issue. I have had a number of people who have approached me in the context of my Health portfolio who have been in receipt of Disability Allowance and have had very little notice in terms of that revocation, and in fact they do not know the reasons for the revocation. It is simply a very short paragraph in a letter saying it is being removed. I need to give those individuals the reassurance that this will be properly investigated.

2000 I bring it to the attention of the Father of the House because it is an important issue for people who have, in the past, received the benefit. I understand what he is saying in relation to regular review at technical level with experts, but what I would ask him is whether he is able to take on this feedback that I am trying to provide him with and hopefully get some further answers as to why these 28 in particular have had it revoked. That is the reason why I asked for the reasons from the Father of the House. I am grateful.

2005

Hon. Sir J J Bossino: I went beyond what the question asked – how many people there were – just to get some feel for how many get revoked. It does not seem to be a very high number out of 479, so that suggests that the normal thing is that it does not get revoked. Obviously, the amount of information I get is limited because nowadays, with data protection, people are very sensitive, but I will try to see if there is a pattern to the reason why these 28 were revoked and the other 2010 450 were not.

Q304-310/2022

Public debt – Figures for June to September 2022;

General Sinking Fund – Balance as at June to September 2022;

Gibraltar Savings Bank – Listed bond portfolio; unclaimed deposits

National Economic Plan – Engineer’s Lane air-raid shelter; application procedure

Rooke Nursing Home – Arrival date of modular units;

Jewish Home – Refurbishment costs

Clerk: Question 304/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

2015 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government please provide the total gross debt, aggregate debt after application of the Sinking Fund to gross debt, cash reserves and net debt figures for public debt for the following dates: 1st June 2022, 1st July 2022, 1st August 2022 and 1st September 2022?

2020 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Questions 305 to 310.

2025

Clerk: Question 305/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

2030 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise the balance on the General Sinking Fund on the following dates: 1st June 2022, 1st July 2022, 1st August 2022 and 1st September 2022?

Clerk: Question 306/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

2035

Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Government advise what the effect has been on the listed bond portfolio of the Gibraltar Savings Bank given the sell-off in the bond markets; and to what extent has this affected the ability of the Savings Bank to distribute its £50 million of reserves?

2040 Clerk: Question 307/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Government advise the value of unclaimed deposits identified under section 11A of the Savings Bank Act and what amount, if any, has been transferred to the Consolidated Fund?

2045 Clerk: Question 308/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

2050 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise how the air-raid shelter in Engineer's Lane is a sponsored project under the National Economic Plan; and how are applications made to be included in this plan?

Clerk: Question 309/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

2055 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise when the modular units are expected to arrive from China for the Rooke Nursing Home project?

2060 Clerk: Question 310/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Government advise how the Jewish Home was refurbished at 'no cost to the taxpayer', according to Sir Joe Bossano, when the Estimates Book Improvement and Development Fund under subhead 4(v) shows an outturn for 2021-22 of £305,000 and a forecast of £900,000 for 2022-23 for this project?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

2070 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the gross public debt and the aggregate debt after the application of the Sinking Fund to gross debt, cash reserves and net debt figures for the months required were as follows in June, July, August and September. I will go through the months and then the individual items: gross public debt, £822.7 million in June and July, and £847.7 million in August and September; aggregate debt £797.3 million in June and July, and £822.3 million in August and September; cash reserves, £40.3 million, £24.6 million, £52.4 million and £40.8 million; net debt, £757 million, £772.7 million; £769.9 million and £781.5 million.

The balance on the General Sinking Fund on the requested date is the same as previously stated.

2080 There has been no effect on the listed bond portfolio of the GSB as a result of the sell-off in the bond markets.

The value of unclaimed deposits identified under section 11A of the Savings Bank Act since 2011 stands at £11,990.03, of which £9,821.58 was transferred to the Consolidated Fund on 30th June 2015.

2085 The air-raid shelter project is sponsored under the National Economic Plan in the manner described in the written answer to Question W27/2022. Prospective developers who are interested in being sponsored under the National Economic Plan in respect of any planned project can contact my office and arrange a meeting with me.

2090 The Rooke Residential Home modular units are expected to be delivered in Gibraltar early next year.

The Jewish Home refurbishment will be at no cost to Government because the I&D contributions will be refunded in the current financial year.

2095 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am not sure how the Minister wants to do it. It is my first experience of his rolling up of Mr Clinton's questions, which has now become traditional. I do not know if he prefers that I roll up all the supplementaries. I am happy to do that, if he wants to make a note, or I am happy to take them one by one. It is whatever he prefers. Let me just run through and then he can stop me if he thinks I should not ask them all together. It might be easier to do it that way.

2100 In relation to Question 306, he says there is no effect on the bond portfolio of the Gibraltar Savings Bank. Given the well-reported turbulence over the last two or three weeks, it would be helpful to get a more extended explanation as to why that is so. If it is so – and the hon. Member has said it is – that is good news, clearly, but it would be helpful to get a more extended answer on that.

2105 In relation to Question 308 on the air-raid shelter, he has explained that it is in the manner described in Written Answer 27/2022. I do not have that with me – my hon. colleague would have that, presumably, and he may wish to probe that next time – but he says if anyone wants to make an application they can contact his office and arrange a meeting. Can he expand on whether there is some kind of written criterion for the making of applications? If there is, what is it? How is it 2110 obtainable? If there is not a written criterion, what is the general in-principle criterion by which anyone listening – or viewing, of course – can then determine whether or not it is a good idea for them to make an application? Is there something that he can seek to explain that? Does he agree that it would be helpful for there to be some clarity on the process and on the criteria?

2115 In relation to the modular units to arrive from China – and he says they are expected to arrive early next year – can he expand and say once these units arrive ...? If I have understood his previous explanations in the House, the modular unit form of construction is quicker once it is here because what you are basically laying is like Lego – if I can put it that way, in my simplistic view of construction. So how long will the Lego take for completion, assuming they arrive in January or February? Does he have advice as to the expected completion of the Rooke Nursing 2120 Home project?

In relation to the refund of the costs of the Jewish Home, can he say who is providing that refund?

2125 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, in terms of the effect on the bond, there are two reasons for it. One is that the indication before the turmoil was of increasing bank rates. There was a clear policy decision being taken some months before that the days of almost free money – some parts of Europe having a minus interest rate and the UK 0.05% – were coming to an end and central banks were saying that in order to curb inflation the central bank rates were going to go out ... and therefore, by definition, there was an inverted [inaudible] curve, which indicated the 2130 possibility of a recession and the inevitability of higher interest rates. So the portfolio that we had, which in any case is a portfolio which is principally in the short dated and which we hold to maturity and we do not re-value it on a ... If the hon. Member looks at the bond portfolio in the Savings Bank – which I produce a report on, at Mr Clinton's request, every month – the figures there are not constantly being revalued up and down. If they were, then in fact the value would 2135 be going up and down all the time. Since they are all short dated and they are all held to maturity, we do not sell them before the maturity date because they are short dated. We therefore had a portfolio which was changed before the turbulence in order to be proofed against the potential effect of the turbulence. Therefore, we did not expect it to affect us, it did not affect us and we

2140 have been able to sell things where, in some cases, even without the turbulence we would have had a capital loss simply because we had bought above the par value, because the coupon might 2145 have been 4% and the yield 3%, therefore we paid more than 100% in the knowledge that the yield we were getting was in fact less than the coupon and that there would be a capital loss because we had paid more than 100%. But it is all in vehicles that do not go beyond 12 to 24 months, and the real big changes have been in the long term, which have gone into an inverse 2150 curve, where there has been a drop at the longer end even greater than at the shorter end. We have not had any long-dated bonds and that is where the big changes took place, so that is the explanation for that.

The next was the question on the written criteria, or how do people come ... The answer I gave last time is that when somebody comes and suggests to me ... because it is not a secret that we 2150 are prepared to include an initiative from a private developer. The number of developers in the Gibraltar economy you can count on the fingers of both hands, and therefore, if they are interested in exploring the possibility of us engaging with them and supporting them, and maybe helping in the investing, then they ask to see me and they come and explain what they are planning to do. In some cases I have to say I am not interested because this is just something they 2155 are doing to make money and we only get involved in things that are not merely to make money but also have an element of producing something long term for Gibraltar or meeting a social need.
If somebody wants to build apartments to sell at £10,000 a square metre, then it is unlikely that I would be interested in sponsoring it, but if somebody comes along with a project and says we are going to try and see if we can get your support and involvement in doing, for example, something 2160 we are looking at, which is transition housing, where there would be privately funded and privately rented accommodation created for the people who are waiting to go into 50-50 and who are, at the moment, facing problems – which could get worse with interest rates going up – of having to meet payments on what they are going to buy and rents in the private sector, which are very high and leave little after paying two things ... That is a particular problem in the housing 2165 market for ordinary working people in that category, and I am exploring with some people whether it is possible to come up with a scheme where it would be for those people in that category alone ... so that it would be people who would not be getting the accommodation on a permanent basis but in order to be able to get out of something where they are paying maybe £1,500 a month to getting something where they would be paying £500 or £600. So there are 2170 things that are in the pipeline on which I am talking with different people.

Everybody in the market knows I am doing it and people contact my office and say, 'I have something I would like to discuss with you. Maybe the Government is interested in sponsoring this and helping me bring it about.' That is how the system works. We do not do forms criteria or anything else. Anybody who thinks there is something that fits the things we are doing in the 2175 National Economic Plan, which are to do with creating activity or creating social needs, which the Government at the moment is not able to do because we have a problem with a recurring deficit, which I am required to bring an end to ... and therefore I am looking for alternative ways of delivering things for our people which will not make our public finances go in the wrong direction, which is going further into the red instead going back to the black. That is basically the philosophy.

2180 The modular units should be here in January, hopefully, but I cannot guarantee it because this is a question ... They are being manufactured now. The manufacturing should be finished by the end of this year, and then it is a question of ... I think it takes, normally, 42 days for the ship to arrive here. With all the units it will be one trip. And then the units, as the hon. Member says, will be slotted in, but you cannot just slot them in and leave them there like that. There will be several 2185 months of continued work here in terms of making all the connections in the structure that is now at the fifth floor, which is a concrete structure into which the modules will go. We have all the services joined still to the existing structure, and then this has to be joined to the units because the modules come fully furnished. That is to say each module already has a shower in each bedroom, a small kitchenette in each bedroom and all the services we are going to provide in the 2190 home. All this will require several months of further work. I hope the thing will be ready for 2195 occupation maybe by May or June, around about that time, if everything goes to plan. With the construction and the delays in deliveries nowadays, you cannot be as confident as you would have been a few years ago, because everybody knows that there are shortages happening all the time as a result of the disruption there is in the global economy. The timeline is that kind of thing, so hopefully by January we will see the ship here, and then I think it will be a few weeks to put everything up, all 280-odd modules, and then there will be several more months of work on the building until it is finally complete and considered to be ready for occupation.

2200 On the refurbishment of the Jewish Home, I have told the House before that the developer was CSS. In the previous financial year, we started funding things that needed to be paid before the construction phase started. That is things that were concerned with mainly invoices from architects, planning and that kind of thing. We financed that initially and it is going to be refunded. It would have already been refunded, but they are now considering a second phase, and there is a provision in this year's Budget if the second phase goes ahead. There has been a lot of discussion about the second phase of the Jewish Home. It may have the potential for taking in new people 2205 coming to retire to Gibraltar who are very attracted by the idea of a Jewish Home which meets all their needs, because we have a kosher kitchen and it has all been done exactly to the requirements of the community. We have not yet used any of the money in this year's Budget, so if it looks like the second phase does not go any further and they do not need any help from us, then that money in the I&D will be available for something else, and, in addition, we will have the money that we 2210 spent the year before coming back into the I&D Fund as revenue.

I do not think I have left anything out, but if I have the hon. Member can remind me.

Hon. K Azopardi: No, but just a couple of things that stem from those, if I may, just for clarity. Helpful answers on all those issues, but can I ask, going back to Question 308, which is the 2215 sponsored projects under the National Economic Plan, as I have understood the hon. Member's explanation, there is nothing in writing but there is a judgement in his discretion as to whether there is a social-economic need, public interest assessment, basically. So someone will come to him and he just makes an assessment of whether the project, as explained to him, is in the public interest for a variety of reasons. Can I just ask what is the effect of being a sponsored project 2220 under the National Economic Plan? What is the effect of the sponsorship in terms of the financial or other benefits that may arise from it being a sponsored project? He talked about the interesting idea on housing and I am not sure if he is able to share more details with the House on the kind of numbers he is looking at or the type of dwellings he is looking at to break the back of that. I suspect that one of the big challenges, if something like that gets off the ground, is to then only 2225 have them as transition dwellings, but that is by the by.

Again rolling up my questions in the interest of speed, can I ask, on Question 309, which is the 2230 Rooke Nursing Home project, is he envisaging the importation of labour for the purposes of that phase of the project, given that this must be a fairly specialist kind of job? When the boat arrives from China, or wherever it is coming from – (A Member: Slow boat.) the slow boat from China; no, 42 days is not a bad journey – are we getting labour, and, if so, how many people? Presumably that is quite a big job. He talked about the Lego kind of project being set up within weeks and then maybe months, but that is still quite fast, so presumably, if the answer to the question is there is labour involved, it is probably quite significant labour. Hearing him, I thought it was interesting that he said the modular units already arrive with, for example, showers – very interesting – and 2235 I was wondering how they marry the whole Chinese standards, British standards ... (Interjection by Hon. Sir J J Bossino) They are all British standards, built in China but to British standards? Okay, very interesting. (Interjections)

Turning to his first answer, have I understood his answer correctly? Is it that the Government has drawn down on the £50 million amount budgeted by 1st September? Is that the correct 2240 understanding of the figures he rattled through at the beginning in respect of debt and so on, that they have drawn down the £50 million?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, to answer the last question first, the answer is yes, we have drawn down. That is why the gross debt is up, having used the money. That is why the net debt is not as up as the gross debt.

2245

In terms of the importation of labour, we are importing labour to do the integration of the modules into the structure. The labour is being imported from the UK and they are UK workers – not Chinese workers – who have done this already in the UK.

2250

The modules are to UK standards because the company has been supplying it to the UK before supplying it to us. It has been certified here as being of that standard because we have a partner in China. One of the problems we sometimes can get in ordering stuff from China is that what goes into the container may not be what you ordered and you find out when it gets to the destination, so we have people who are our partners, who are supervising so that we get what we are supposed to be getting, as a safeguard of the quality of what we are getting.

2255

The partner we have has a very big presence in the construction industry in the United Kingdom. It is responsible for building the Manchester Airport City, which was a £500 million development, and it is very big in the Midlands. It is involved in something like a total of £3 billion in construction work. Because we have still maintained the EU system of posted workers, the workers working for our partner in the Midlands will come out here as employees of our partner, still paid by the parent company in the Midlands, and we will pay them, which is the system of posted worker that has existed within the European Union, where one could go to provide a job in another member state and the job would be on the basis of going there, doing the work and then coming back, and you pay tax in the state in which you do the work but you are covered by the social insurance in your home state. We have not removed any of those elements of our membership of the EU because we put on hold, when the negotiations started, the law that we had repealing these things. This is something we are interested in continuing to have with the UK anyway, so that it works in both directions and so that we can send workers there to do work and they can send them here. We think there is potential for that, if we are able to do it, but at the moment it is working in one direction only, so people can send posted workers from the UK to do work here and they continue to be employees of the parent and not employees of the customer. So we are, in that aspect of this project, the customers. We will have some of our own workers here working alongside them, so they will acquire some of the skills, and in future projects we may need to be less reliant.

2260

2265

2270

2275

At the end of the day, because of all the restrictions in the lockdowns and that there have been in China all this time, it was actually cheaper to bring in UK workers than to bring them from China because of the difficulty of travelling in and out of China. If somebody comes here from China, when he goes back he has to spend three weeks in a hotel before they will let him out. We then have to pay for the three weeks the guy is going to be in the hotel, even if he has only been a week here. We did our sums and because the company had ... I think they probably only need to send something like 20 guys to do this. It really is something that happens very quickly once the modules are here, but there is still quite a lot of work to do in integrating the services and this is why it takes several months.

2280

2285

The vessel that brings the modules will only stay here for seven days and then, after that, we have a penalty, which I think is something like £10,000 a day, so it is very important that we do the work very quickly while the ship is here because these things are very expensive.

2290

In terms of the sponsoring, it depends what it is. It is not that I have total freedom to decide what is in Gibraltar's interest or not; it is that much of it is already spelled out in the manifesto. We said in the manifesto we were going to do more elderly people's homes. We thought we would have the money to do it in 2019 when we wrote the manifesto. The reality is that we want to be able to do as much as possible of our manifesto, and if we can find a way of doing it in partnership with the private sector, where there is a profit element for the private sector and we get what we want for our citizens, then it makes sense to do it, and this is what I am doing.

For example, in the case of the investor I mentioned in my last year's Budget, and I think it was again in this year's Budget, which was a reconversion, which is the circular economy using a new 2295 invention of a vehicle which is predominantly for the taxi trade, the Gibraltar company that did that is a sponsored company under the National Economic Plan. What does that mean? It does not mean we are putting in any money, but I actually went to support the international launch in Italy. The company has now obtained orders for quite a few thousand of these vehicles in Italy.

2300 They have bought two unused car factories in Italy and I went there with the owners to talk to investors on the basis of the confidence we have in this product, the fact that it is a product that meets the fundamental approach to climate change, which I am convinced is the only one that will work because it is a product where it is ... The first vehicle is for the taxi trade. The taxi trade vehicle will be provided to people in the trade for a higher rate, which will be €1 per kilometre.
2305 The vehicle is provided free. The battery is recharged free. The maintenance is free. The vehicle belongs to the company and not to the driver, so if you have a company that has a fleet of a thousand taxis, they can get a thousand of these cars free and the only element is that they pay a euro a kilometre for the use. Why is it better for the climate? Well, apart from the fact that the whole thing is battery driven and the battery can be changed in six minutes because it goes into a unit that takes the battery out automatically and puts another one in and then that is recharged 2310 and the car carries on, you have now an incentive for manufacturers to make things that last.
When you are hiring something, the longer it lasts the more money you make, but if you are selling it, the sooner it wears out and they cannot buy another one, the more money you make. So you then use the profit motive of the capital system to produce long-lasting goods instead of having an inbuilt sell-by date so that people continually have to replace what they have. My commitment 2315 to this company, more than anything else, is not just because if it is as successful as it has the potential to be, it will probably be the biggest company we have ever had registered in Gibraltar in terms of capitalisation, but I want it to succeed because of what it will do for the planet and the climate. I think it is a good thing for Gibraltar to have it here and it is a good thing for the Government to sponsor it, because it is a good thing for humanity.

2320

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q311/2022

Disability benefit –

Number of applications outstanding

Clerk: Question 311/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

2325 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in relation to the answer provided to W28/2022, please state how many of those outstanding applications/appeals remain to be determined.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

2330 Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, in relation to the answer provided to W28/2022, the following outstanding applications/appeals remain to be determined: two applications outstanding for three years, 10 applications outstanding for two years and 48 applications outstanding in the last year.

2335

Hon. D A Feetham: So in reality there has been no movement, Mr Speaker. The answer last time round was that there had been two applications outstanding for more than three years, or appeals, 10 outstanding for more than two years and 55 for more than a year. It has come down by seven in the year category, but no movement in the two and three categories.

2340 What does the hon. Gentleman say to somebody like ...? I saw a lady last week. She had a leg amputated as a consequence of bacterial infection and she has lost a substantial part of her hearing. She has an application that is outstanding for longer than a year, so she would be in the two-year category. What does he, on behalf of his Government, have to say to somebody like that who has been waiting for over a year to have her application for disability benefit determined?

2345

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, what I would say, if I were the one who had the power to determine it, is she should not have had to wait that long, but I do not have the power to determine it. The system we have is dependent on the people who have not been functioning for a long time. They tell me that the disruption to the Social Services Adult Care recently, where 2350 everybody had to be working from home, has not helped and that they have really only restarted the work in September, and we are in October. There is no way to satisfy that lady or any excuse that can be made. If it were a decision that I could take, I would, but I cannot.

The first thing I asked when I got this data was why have you started with the people with one year instead of the people with three? I would have thought you would start with the people 2355 waiting the longest. They tell me that of the ones who have been there longest, of the two applications ... one, the assessment was received in October 2022. What happens is there is a panel. I do not think there are time limits on the panel. The assessment was made in October 2022 and then the assessment was sent to the director on 12th October. So that is one. It has not been resolved because the director has to take a decision on the recommendation of the panel.
2360 Presumably that will be done after this meeting – very quickly, hopefully.

Of the two that are there for three years, they tell me the other application is pending documentation to complete the claim, that the Department has written to the applicant by letter on two occasions, on 10th August 2021 and on 29th November 2021 and that the person has also 2365 been contacted over the phone on 4th May 2022 and advised in all instances to provide the relevant information, and he has not done it. That is the explanation I was given for the two people there for three years. It seems to me that one finally is about to be resolved and the other one seems to be in the hands of the applicant to resolve it by actually delivering whatever information they have been asking him for three years to deliver.

Of the ones that have been there for two years, which is 10 applicants, they say three have 2370 already been assessed and are now with the director and seven are still with the panel and have not yet been sent to the director, but apparently there is action taking place.

All I can say is I am sorry for the people who have been waiting. I wish it was something I could resolve. I sincerely hope that when the next House comes in I will be able to tell the Members that it has all been done and we have made further progress on the other ones in the last 12 months.
2375 Certainly I can assure the House, Mr Speaker, that I am as keen to see these cases resolved as the hon. Member opposite.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I am just going to read out to the hon. Gentleman a message that I received five minutes ago from somebody else. I have not seen her, but she has sent me a 2380 message:

I just wanted to reach out regarding disability benefit applications. I am feeling rather helpless at the moment. I initially applied mid-2020 and was rejected, and I requested an appeal last August. During the initial application only my GHA records could have been reviewed as they did not contact any of the private doctors that I had listed. I have since been sending updates on any changes to my medication or circumstances, but have not heard anything since April when I received an acknowledgement email of some files I sent. I have been trying to call regularly, but never get through and have not had any response to more recent emails. I have finally got through today, spoken to [...]

– I am not going to mention the public servant – and have been told there is a likely further two years' wait due to backlog.

That is what this lady has sent me. I am not inventing this message that has been sent to me. Does he know anything about a two-year backlog in determination of applications?

2385 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Obviously, I do not, because that is in conflict with the information I have provided to the House, which is the information that has been provided to me. The two-year backlog would be the people who have been there for two years. If the hon. Member gives me more specific information I will certainly investigate it, but this is a very difficult area because the level of information that you can get cannot be one that identifies the individual who is 2390 complaining, unless the individual personally comes to you and says, 'I want you to look into my case.' I do not get names and I do not get details of what is wrong with the people who are making the applications.

The system, as I mentioned in the earlier question, has been that there is now a much bigger group of people with a right. As I explained in the question that was asked previously, when we 2395 came in, in 2011, there was, as there had been for many years, a list of medical conditions, and either you had the medical condition or you did not. Originally, it started with Down's syndrome only, and then further conditions were added at different stages, so the eligibility grew as conditions were added. If you did not have one of the eligible conditions you could not apply, never mind be treated. When the concept was altered to the disability not being the criterion but 2400 the ability to lead a normal life being the criterion, then, in effect, the potential of people not being able to cope ... As I said in my previous example, the reality is that two people can have an identical ... Somebody can have a stroke and, as a result of recovering from that stroke, be limited in how much of a life they can lead, and there are people who make a huge effort to be self-sufficient and not depend on anybody. If they apply and put down all the details of how they are 2405 managing, they probably will be rejected because they are doing okay, whereas somebody who has a different approach to life or is less strong-willed may become incapable of doing anything on their own, and they will get the allowance. So the allowance and the assessment are now driven by the criteria of how well you are managing your condition, rather than how bad the condition is. Somebody, for example, who is not able to perform things will get it and may be visibly less ill
2410 than somebody else who has been rejected. This is something that is difficult for people to understand. There are people who seem to have very little wrong with them who get the allowance, and there are people who have lots of things wrong with them who do not get the allowance.

I think the change was made on the basis that there was increasing pressure from people asking 2415 why it was Down's syndrome only; then why were people with autism not included, so autism was included; then why people having an accident and being in a wheelchair were not included, so that was planned in; and then, eventually a policy decision was taken by the Minister at the time to take a completely different look at it, and that system then created a much bigger number. So, as I mentioned, of the 28 that had been discontinued, we now have 490 compared with 116 in 2420 2011.

This is the system we have. If there is a way of improving it, I am prepared to look at any suggestions, but at the moment all I can do is report to the House the information that I am being provided with. I can tell the hon. Member that if anybody who approaches him is willing for him to give me the details, I will then ask specific questions as to why this is happening to this person, 2425 but I cannot do it any other way because I do not have access to files, I do not have access to names and I do not have access to their conditions. Data protection prevents all those things from being made available to me because I am not a professional entitled to have access to that information.

2430 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I understand everything the hon. Gentleman has said. This goes to the issue of rejection. We have discussed this and we have debated it. There has been a debate. We have suggested various ways forward, the Minister has not agreed with those, but that is a different aspect of the debate.

2435 What we are talking about now is the very significant delays in the determination of applications. That is what we really are talking about now. Does he not agree with me that really, on something like this, where you are ...? Sometimes people try it on and I accept that. This is the reality of anywhere in the world, that some people may try it on and may be not deserving, or less deserving, but there are people who are genuinely deserving who are not trying it on. I have just mentioned one person. Does he not agree with me that because there are genuine cases and 2440 genuine hardship created by those genuine cases, there is a duty on the administration – which you head at the end of the day; I know it is the Civil Service, but you are responsible to this House for that administration – to determine applications expeditiously and there is no reason why an application of this sort, if all the information has been provided, should not be determined in three months, four months, five months, six months at the most? Therefore, does he not agree with me
2445 that perhaps a system where the Minister says, ‘No, hang on a minute, this is not acceptable and I want applications to be determined in a maximum of six months’ ...? There is nothing wrong with that, actually, for a Minister to basically take that position and make that statement to his Department – does he not agree with me?

2450 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I agree with him, Mr Speaker. First of all, I do not agree that it is a different thing, because it is the same people who say they reject it as the people who say they accept it. The people who review and the people who grant it are the same people. These people are doctors and specialists.

2455 Hon. D A Feetham: I am not saying granting it, I am saying determining one way or the other.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Determine whether they get it or they do not. (Hon. D A Feetham: Yes.) Yes, well, there is granting it or rejecting it, okay? These are the same people who remove it. It is the same body that removes it.

2460

Hon. D A Feetham: I know that.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: So it is not a different issue. The people who take the decision to remove it and the people who take the decision to recommend that it should be given are the same 2465 people. Those people are a finite number of people, and because we have changed the criteria, there are now hundreds of people who can apply who could not apply before 2011. (Interjection by Hon. D A Feetham)

I can say to the people in my Department this is not acceptable, but the people in my Department cannot say to the group of doctors what they are doing is not acceptable, because 2470 they are not subject to direction. As I understand the system, we send the stuff to them and then we wait for them to come back with their recommendations, and then the director takes a decision based on the assessment that the panel has made and the recommendation that the panel has made, which is give it or do not give it. He then takes the decision to do it.

It is clear to me that the system is working too slowly for the volume of people who are now in 2475 the pipeline, which was not there before. I do not know whether there are enough people in the system in Gibraltar in the Health Service such that we can take them from doing something else to spend time doing this. I am not saying there are more deserving or less deserving cases, because I am not qualified to make that judgement. The criterion is not that anybody is less deserving because they are trying to milk the system. I cannot imagine you can invent something you do not 2480 have. I have told him if the criterion is ‘is the person able to lead a normal life?’, there is an element of subjectivity about it. This is not the same as saying if somebody has cancer they are entitled to disability. They either have it or they do not, which is what used to happen before 2011. You had a list of illnesses, people made a case for an addition to that list, and therefore there were 120 or 130 people at any one time who were getting the allowance. The position now is that there are 2485 four times as many people and therefore there are many more applicants.

2490 In terms of other questions in other areas, it is quite evident that we seem to be having lots of health problems now in numbers, where we were not before. When the hon. Member asks me about disability and says, 'I cannot understand how we have got so many children in school with learning disabilities compared with what there was in the past, a massive increase.' That does not mean people are making it up. If it is real, then the most serious thing is that it should be happening, not what we can do for them: what is going wrong that this is happening?

2495 What I am saying to the hon. Member is the system that we have, if there is a way in which it can be improved so that the people who have to take the decision are able to take the decision faster, then I am all for it, but I cannot instruct the experts on how long they should take on each case. Obviously, if there is a given number of experts and an increasing number of applicants, there is going to be a problem in how quickly it is being processed. The argument is that they have been out of action for a very long time and they only really started normalising the process in September, and I have told the hon. Member what has been happening since September.

2500 If there are people who have a particularly strong case which is self-evident and they are not getting the response they should be getting and they go to him, then just like when there is somebody looking for work or somebody looking for a home and they go to the Opposition, if the information is put in my hand or in the hand of anybody else, as far as I am concerned I am grateful that I get to know that there is a case where I need to investigate if the Department has treated the person as they ought to be treated. Therefore, the only thing I can do, in terms of specific cases, is commit myself to asking for a detailed explanation of why this is happening. As a general case, all I can hope is that if they tell me the system has now come back into action in September, we will see a difference from now on from what it has been like up to now, but I do not think I can do more than that ... and agree with him that everything is wrong is something that ... just so that he can say 'Bossano agreed with me that everything is wrong.' That is not what I am going to do.

2510 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I can be of assistance to the hon. Gentleman, he said, 'What should I say to this lady who is an amputee, who has been waiting so long?' The answer is very simple. It is that as a result of the reforms that the Government implemented, she can claim. She could not claim before the reforms that this Government implemented because it was not a disability she was born with.

Mr Speaker: Did the Leader of the Opposition want to pose a question? He indicated earlier that he did.

2520 Hon. K Azopardi: Well, I did, but it was similar to the hon. Member's question. The only thing that was going through my mind when I was listening to the Father of the House give the answer was when he said, 'I cannot do more about it.' I did, initially when he gave his answer, detect a sense of frustration that the delay is big. There are 60 families affected and these are real situations, and some people – 12 families – have been waiting more than two years and two for more than three years, so these are real situations where people feel, whether or not ... Some of them will be granted and some of them will not be granted, but those are real situations where people feel that their life is slightly on hold, where they could get a bit more support. In a very difficult cost-of-living crisis it would be helpful if these things were determined.

2530 I could sense the frustration. He says, 'I do not know what more can be done.' This is a non-statutory system and so on, and I am aware that there is a criterion, so the suggestion that there should be an introduction in the criterion by the Minister of a time limit for the determination of applications by the panel and by the Department is a sensible way forward if there has been this backlog. The only question would be the size of the time limit, but I am not sure if the hon. Member wishes to take that on board. From the answer he gave my colleague, it appears he does not think that that is something that can be considered, but I would ask him to reflect on it further because if the Department has made a criterion which governs the process, it is not so radical a step to just introduce something more to say that these applications will be determined within x period in the same way as other things that there may be time limits for. People are entitled to see a determination of their rights within a reasonable period.

2540

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I am told that since 1st September 28 cases have been heard by the panel. That is one a day. Is one a day too little? I suppose that it is not just a question of hearing somebody and saying yes or no. These people have to spend time examining the thing to make sure that they are being fair to all the applicants, that they are being fair to the ones where the recommendation is negative and the ones where the recommendation is positive.

2545

He mentions the one and the three years. I have told him of the two that are from three years ... The first thing I asked when I was given the answer was why have you started with the people who have been waiting one year instead of starting with the people waiting three? The logical thing, as a layman, is that you want to help the guys who have been waiting longest. I was told, 'One does not answer our questions,' so clearly there is something that is required in the criteria which they have been asking for, for two years by phone and by letter, and the person does not answer. That one of the two in three years is likely to be there for three, four or five, presumably, until he produces the information they are asking for. On the other one, I am told they have already done an assessment and the assessment has already been sent to the director, on 12th October, which is a few days ago. That is what is happening with the two people from three years ago, which he mentioned. One is stuck in the system because they are asking for something the person does not have or the person does not want to give. The other one, apparently, is in the process of being resolved but I do not know whether the resolution of that one will mean that the panel will have recommended that the disability should be awarded or that it should not be.

2550

2555

2560

Accelerating the process does not necessarily mean that everybody who has applied is going to get a positive answer; accelerating the process means a decision is taken. Sometimes, if you give people less time to make a decision, you may be doing a disservice to the applicant in that they say let's say no to everybody, without being as thorough as they need to be. I think 28 cases on 1st September, if they keep at that rate, should produce a considerable reduction in the backlog.

2565

All I am telling the hon. Member is I am not unsympathetic to the concerns they have about the people affected, but the system we have is designed to do something which requires more complex judgement than the system that existed before, which was simply that if you claimed to be affected by a particular condition you were examined and either you had it or you did not have it. You could be leading a totally normal life otherwise and you got Disability Allowance because you had that particular condition. That did not take much decision making. It was simply a yes or a no. If it is to what degree you are able to lead a normal life, there is a level of subjectivity there and you could easily get some people saying, 'I think they should get the Disability Allowance because they are finding it very difficult to lead a normal life,' and somebody else might have a different judgement. So the people on the panel really need to be conscientious and look into these things in depth, given the subjectivity that the nature of the criteria require, which is an assessment of whether they can manage. This is why, I suppose, they revisit it because the person might be able to cope better further along the condition than they did at the beginning. Some people initially may have an accident which creates a level of disability from which they can recover. Other people may have a lifelong condition, where they are born with a genetic change which is a handicap to them and is not going to disappear.

2570

2575

2580

I have already told the Members opposite I am prepared to go into any individual case where the person is willing that I should do so. If they are not willing ... they are entitled to their privacy. I am prepared to go back and monitor how this is happening and bring back the information, hopefully that there is less delay and that we are progressing faster. I do not think the hon. Member is going to expect me to be able to go further than this.

2585

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q312/2022
Apprenticeships –
Whether continuing locally

Clerk: Question 312/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2590 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Can Government confirm whether apprenticeships are in place and continuing locally?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

2595

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Yes, Mr Speaker.

2600 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, insofar as electrical apprenticeships go, I have an email here, sent to an aspiring apprentice by the Ministry of Economic Development, saying that there would be no further intakes until a suitable instructor is recruited to fill in for the ex-instructor who recently retired. So my question is until when will aspiring apprentices be waiting to start learning the typical trades offered by these schemes?

2605 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: As given in the answer to the other question, the trainers we need to recruit, and therefore people will be taken in when we have the people to do the training.

In the case of the electrical apprentices, there is a problem in placing them. We have a situation where there are now two people in level 3 who have been removed from the firm they were with because there were not getting the opportunity to do the work they needed to do to be able to qualify and finish their training. There is a problem in that you cannot commit to take people on if you cannot deliver what is required for them to complete their studies.

2610 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I appreciate that answer, but I would like to ask the Minister what the prognosis is to find trainers. Obviously, I think it would affect the quality of jobs being done and market trade if we do not have these apprenticeships taking place because we cannot find the trainers.

2620 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I have said we have vacancies and we have now advertised the vacancies, but even if we have the trainers, the difficulty in the numbers we can take and the difficulty with the people who are there finishing is not the trainers; it is that there are things they have in their modules which they specifically have to do in the real world. They cannot do it in the training centre. The awarding bodies accept in the early stages that when they are being taught they are asked by their trainers to do things. So, if somebody has to dismantle an electric module he can do it in the workshop in the first year and put it together and the trainer will look to see if he has done it properly, but to get to level 3 he has to be doing it in a real environment, in the market, with an employer, and if we do not have employers who are providing that kind of work then we have a problem in them being able to finish. There are people who are at level 3 and we have had to remove them from one particular company and try to put them in another. We have not yet succeeded in persuading the other to take them, but I hope to do so next month so that they can actually do what they are missing in their module. This is part of the problem, in that you cannot force people to take somebody on, or they do not have that kind of work. There are people who have electrical workshops and do electrical work in houses and so on, but there are certain things that the module requires and you have to tick them all, and some are more difficult than others.

2630 In one particular case – I do not want to mention the name of the company – it was clear that 2635 the lads we had there would never finish because they were not getting the opportunity to do a particular level of more sophisticated work which the City and Guilds qualification requires them to have. What happens then is that the work is done in the workshop and the trainer goes from the training centre to the workshop to see the work being done in a real environment. The difficulty is there, rather than in the training. I think we will not have a problem in having 2640 applicants for the training, but how many we can take depends on how many placements. In the electrical trade they only spend the first year ... and the next two years they have to be out with employers, still as employees of EDEC because we pay the wages of the apprentices. They are on the Minimum Wage, which is much higher than the wage of an apprentice in the UK, but even though they have them as free labour as an incentive, sometimes they put them on menial jobs 2645 and they never get the level of experience that is required. So, until we have more available companies willing to provide the work we need, we are limited as to how many trainees we can take in. As far as I am concerned, the more we train, as long as the market is there, the better.

2650

Q313-16/2022

Rooke residential home – whether private or public facility; Mount Alvernia – option for existing residents to remain; criteria and financing terms for residents moving to new facility

Clerk: Question 313/2022. The Hon. Miss M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Will the Rooke complex be a private or public elderly residential 2655 facility?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and 2660 the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Questions 314 to 316.

Clerk: Question 314/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Will residents who wish to continue to reside at Mount Alvernia, 2665 despite the new Rooke facility, be able to do so?

Clerk: Question 315/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Will residents of Mount Alvernia who choose to move to the new 2670 proposed Rooke complex be expected to subsidise their stay or will the residents' financing terms be the same as are currently in place?

Clerk: Question 316/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2675

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: What criteria will be used to prioritise residents wishing to move to the Rooke site from Mount Alvernia?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and 2680 Enterprise.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, any resident of Mount Alvernia who prefers to move to the new home will be able to do so, and those who wish to continue living at Mount Alvernia will be able to do so.

2685 There is no current consideration of applying criteria as to who may move, since there is no way of knowing whether any of the current residents would seek to move to the new facility, and this is only likely to happen after the facility is handed over by the contractor and potential residents see what the new residence offers and exercise the choice of moving or staying in their present accommodation.

2690 The residents in the future residential home at Rooke will continue to contribute to their costs on the same basis as they do currently at Mount Alvernia, if sponsored by the Government. The residential home will be privately owned and operated.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, if I can ask a couple of supplementaries on these few questions. Firstly, the Minister has said it is going to be privately operated, so does this mean that residents are going to have a different type of service than they have at the moment at Mount Alvernia? Has it been weighed out as to whether the new standards that are going to be applied will match the traditional ones that we have now, where the residents have the full gamut of GHA services and resources, like ERS on call and facilities like medical equipment and things like that, which, from what I understand, they will go without if it is a private arrangement? How will the Government ensure that the same standards are met?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: This is a residential home, not a nursing home, and therefore the entitlement to medical care is with the National Health Service and not the residential home. This is a place where people are living, not where people are treated for illnesses. This is what Mount Alvernia used to be many years ago. That is how it started and that is what it was supposed to be. At the moment, there are doctors in Mount Alvernia. There will not be doctors here. The doctors will visit like they visit any patient at home, or the patient will go to the Hospital to see the doctor.

2710 This is the same issue that the hon. Member thought was happening with the Jewish Home, which is not happening. That is to say the people in the Jewish Home get access to the Health Service the same as they would if they were in their houses, because it is a residential home, the same as the Jewish Home is a residential home.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I thank the Minister for that answer. It is interesting that he brings up my own take on the Jewish Home, because when we did bring up the issue of the Jewish Home I was told it was actually still public and not private. Now I am being told that the new Mount Alvernia is going to be private but on the same basis as the Jewish Home. I think the Minister should really keep a little bit of consistency when he offers us these new incentives, because we are seeing a complete change of heart in his reply.

2720 When he talks about this being residential and not a nursing home, my concern is that these residents obviously are just going to be getting older and frailer, so when he talks about no doctors and no medical set-up it is concerning. I would ask him how they expect to keep the patients ... He talks about a different set-up, but right now Mount Alvernia has that care, has that ERS set-up. We are talking about the same people, who are going to be transferred and lose that level of care, so how can the Minister be comfortable that these vulnerable and elderly patients are going to have the same level of care when it has clearly been stipulated that that will be changed and reduced?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I do not know whether the hon. Member has a problem hearing or understanding. Nobody is going to be moved. The first thing I have told her is that the people who are in Mount Alvernia are not going to be moved anywhere, unless they wish to move. When the home is ready and finished, they will see what there is, and if they are as sceptical about it as she is they will say they will stay where they are.

2735 When she asks what is going to happen with the people who are moved, they are not going to be moved. They will know what the services are and they will decide if they do not want to move to the new one, and then they will stay in Mount Alvernia; and if they want to move, then they will move. We are giving them the choice of another place which we think is an improvement to the facilities that are there in terms of the location and in terms of the way the facilities are being put together – people having individual rooms, having shelves in their rooms and having a much bigger, better and properly designed thing.

2740 It is not an addition to the GHA, it is not a mini-hospital, and we are not going to have people being provided with hospital services, which they are provided with in the ERS because the ERS is part of the GHA. If she looks in the Budget Book she will see that the GHA has a page that says 'GHA ERS' and therefore the people who are getting treatment in Mount Alvernia are getting treatment from the GHA. In a privately operated and privately owned home, there will be people who are there because they want to be there and the Government will pay the same support that they pay in Mount Alvernia, and there will be people who are paying for it themselves, who will not get the support from the Government. If those people are entitled to Health Service cover – the ones who are paying for themselves – they will be able to access it, and if they are not, they will have to have medical insurance to do it. This is how it happens in the United Kingdom and has been happening for many years, and nobody has thought there was anything wrong with it.

2755 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, how does the Minister propose to present this choice to people who are old and frail and might not know exactly what is best for them, what route to take, whether the resident route or the medical route? Who is going to be assisting in ensuring that an objective decision is made by a resident who will most likely need to be helped to decide where they are? The Minister is telling us that it will be their choice. I would like to know, because I find that a little bit concerning, to be honest.

2760 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I will tell her when the time comes to make the choice, Mr Speaker.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I will wait with bated breath for that strategy. Given that the Minister did bring up the Jewish Home and he did say a couple of months ago that it was public, how is it he is now telling me that the new facility will be much like the new Jewish Home, which is private, as I had told him and he had told me not?

2770 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I do not know what the hon. Member understands by public or private. The Jewish Home building, which is owned by the trust of John Mackintosh, has never been owned by the Government. It is sub-let and it will be sub-let to the new operator, who will pay for the ... We have somebody who is interested in investing in the building and that investment will be what will yield a return to pay for the money that has been invested in creating it.

2775 When the building was nearing completion, the Jewish community asked for quotes to operate it. They had three different companies coming forward with quotes and they selected one of the three. Certainly people are very happy in the Jewish Home. There is now the possibility of expanding it because there are indications that there are people who are willing to go into it privately, who would not be funded by the Government. Of course, if we get people who come in privately it is a good thing because the cost to the Government may be able to be reduced. That is because it is proved to be a successful transformation which has met with the approval of everyone in the community. Of course, the reality is that we expect and hope that the Rooke Home will be as successful as the Jewish Home has turned out to be.

2780 I am sure that if one wants to take a negative view of life, then one can speculate on all the things that could go wrong instead of speculating on all the things that could go right. I dare say that if she were on this side, she would be speculating that it is all going to go right. Now that she is there, and likely to stay there, she is speculating that it is all going to go wrong. Well, the answer is she should wait and see.

2785

At the end of the day, we are being accused of going to be moving people down there. Nobody is going to move anybody. If the people there are old and frail and they cannot make a decision, the answer is they will not move because they cannot say, 'I want to move.' Or, if they do not have any family members ... I think we need to get the home finished and then we need to see just how good a job has been done and how attractive it is, and how good it is for the people who are there, who are the people who are going to be the beneficiaries, and how much better it is than the facilities there are now. If they are not better, then the people will say, 'No, I do not want to go.' The people may say, 'I do not want to go because I am used to being here, even if the other one is better.' Even if they are old and frail and they have family or relatives who will do it, and if they do not have family they will have to ask somebody, but nobody is going to be told they have to go out of Mount Alvernia because we are closing Mount Alvernia, which was one of the stories going round a few weeks ago. That is not going to happen.

I think when the time comes we will see what happens, and then, if there are opportunities for her to criticise what has happened she, no doubt, will do the criticising then, but she should wait.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I am sorry the Minister does not appreciate that our role as Opposition is to express any items of concern. It is not about negative or positive, but there is nothing more important than the most vulnerable in our community and we are duty bound to ask for clarifications. I would expect the Minister, instead of dipping into his usual jibes, to respect the Opposition's role and answer questions.

Can I just ask, in terms of the Mount Alvernia building, if only a handful of residents decide to stay there, how will the Government manage running two sites when one is almost empty and the other one ...? Will it be cost effective, or will it then maybe embark on another option for the Mount Alvernia building?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I am sorry she thinks that I am doing something nasty to her and intruding into her right to ask questions. She is asking entirely speculative questions which I have no obligation to answer. What happens if only a few stay? If only a few stay, when only a few stay you ask me the question. What happens if the roof falls in? She postulates a potential situation in the future and then asks me to speculate on what I would do if what she thinks might happen does happen. That is not what parliamentary questions are about. Parliamentary questions are about getting information about things that are taking place, not something that might or might not take place, which I might or might not respond to. The answer is if there is that problem, my job is to find solutions to problems and I will find a way of solving it when the time comes.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask on this, Mr Speaker? The hon. Member says people are going to have the choice to go from Mount Alvernia to the new home, which will be privately operated. Assuming people want to go there, how is the Government going to achieve that? Once people go there, is there some kind of control of the services provided, so that the terms and conditions do not change, so that having taken the decision to go to the new environment, the new operator does not change the aspects of the services that they were enjoying at Mount Alvernia in a new environment in a way that is undesirable – for example, by levying fees on certain services? Presumably, that would be part of the arrangement that the Government would have with the operator. Would that be a fair way of describing it?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I think I have covered that by saying the relationship in terms of the persons who are sponsored by the Government – that is to say the persons for whom the Government is responsible, because the facility can take private people who come in and are charged a rate, but the Government will have nothing to do with that ... In the case of the Government ones, there will be a fee per person that we negotiate and then each person would 2840 make a different contribution to the fee, just like they do in Mount Alvernia. In Mount Alvernia, for example, it costs us £98,000 per person. Nobody pays £98,000, but there are people who will pay £1,000 and there are people who will pay more, depending on their pension and their income.

2845 That is the system that exists in Mount Alvernia and that is the system that exists in the new one, except that we hope and expect that because it is a bigger place and there are more facilities there, the actual cost per individual will be less.

2845 From the Government's point of view, we have a facility that we think has a lot in favour of it and we will be able to take care of more people without a big increase in our budget. That is the advantage to the Government of the new facility. So nobody is going to be charged for anything if they are ours. We will pay whatever has to be paid, which we will have to negotiate with the person ... which will have to meet all the standards that are required, which will be subjected to 2850 regular inspections of quality, and then from the person's point of view they will pay no more than they would pay if they were still at Mount Alvernia.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

2855

JUSTICE, EQUALITY AND PUBLIC STANDARDS AND REGULATIONS

Q348/2022

Development Plan –
Expected date of publication

Clerk: Question 348/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: I understand it is the only question the Minister is fielding in this session,
Mr Speaker.

2860 Please state when the Government now expects to be in a position to publish the Development Plan.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality and Standards.

Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the Government is currently considering options for the retendering of the preparation of a new Gibraltar Development Plan. Following the award of a tender, work will be able to commence on the Plan before the end of the current financial year.

Hon. D J Bossino: So, if I have understood her correctly, does she think the Plan will be completed before the end of the financial year? That is okay. So, the process started for the tender, the commissioning of the Plan? Okay.

The reason why I ask this is because if one looks at the recent history in relation to this, her predecessor Minister who held the job, Mr Isola, in answer to a question that I posed back in July 2021, said expressions of interest were invited for suitably qualified consultants to undertake the review and the preparation of the new Plan in August 2019, and then he said that the procurement board had now concluded its assessment and the Government is currently considering its recommendations. Then there was a bit of a jug of cold water poured on it because he talked about priorities given the COVID pandemic. I am glad to report that the current incumbent in that position, at last – I think it was in June, in the Chronicle – talked about prioritising this issue and, indeed, in fairness to her, she also said in her Budget address that the tender process ... If I can quote her, it is a really small piece:

I hope to make further announcements on this once the tender process has been completed.

2865 Just by way of further preamble, her colleague did say that it would take approximately 18 months to two years to complete the work. Does she expect that once the tender process has completed it is going to take that long? If that is the case, then we could potentially be looking at not having a Development Plan until 2024 or maybe even 2025.

2870 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the hon. Gentleman, who has pre-empted in his preliminary suggestions what I was going to say in answer to his supplementary. The situation we find ourselves in is that there has been an unfortunate delay arising out of COVID, as the hon. Gentleman is aware from the last answer. What happened is that because we have engaged in the tender process, the tender process has now, unfortunately, elapsed because of 2875 the delay arising out of COVID and therefore we are advised by the Procurement Office that we need to restart. We are quite advanced on that, obviously, because the groundwork has been done. As I said in my answer, we would like to finalise that part of the process before the end of the financial year and then, of course, embark on the actual Plan.

I am aware of the statements made in the House by the previous Minister with this 2880 responsibility, and that was the timeframe we were advised of the time it would take, but because I am mindful of the delay that has arisen out of this policy's progress as a result of COVID, I will see what parameters we have, because obviously we are now getting out of COVID and we want to make this very much a priority.

2885 As the hon. Gentleman knows from my Budget speech, as he rightly pointed out, I am very excited about this project because it is a very important strategic development for Gibraltar and I cannot wait to get started.

Hon. D J Bossino: Does she expect that this is likely to attract outside-of-Gibraltar interest in terms of the tender process, or will there be only local applicants? And if I may, has consideration 2890 been given – I assume it has and it has been rejected – to doing the Plan in house, which I think is what we did, which resulted ... I see the Deputy Chief Minister shaking his head ... in 2009. That is information that I have; I was not in government. Those are the questions.

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, because it is a tender process, anyone will be able to 2895 apply, so we envisage that we will have both tenders locally and not locally. We will see what we receive and then it will be considered by the Tender Board as appropriate.

This is a project that is being outsourced, but it will be led internally. The team at the Town 2900 Planning and Building Control Department of the Government will be in the driving seat when it comes to giving the instructions on the Development Plan.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is she able to give us some indication of what the likely costs are going to be?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: No, Mr Speaker, because it is a live tender process, so I need to let 2905 that run.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER

Q349/2022

Rooke site –

Update re preferred bidders

2910 Clerk: Question 349/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide an update in relation to the preferred bidders for the Rooke site?

2915 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

2920 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, yes, the Government continues in negotiations with the preferred bidder and is currently awaiting revised concept designs from them.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm that it is having discussions with just the preferred bidders and not any other party that expressed interest at the time of the tender?

2925 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government, as the hon. Member knows, was talking to two preferred bidders. Those two preferred bidders have now, my understanding is, merged into one, which makes the discussions easier, and they will be producing a new concept design, which we will be looking at when it is submitted.

2930 Hon. K Azopardi: Given that scenario – that the two have merged into one to make some kind of collective bid, I guess – is it safe to assume that at the end of that process of discussions, inevitably this entity will be awarded the site, or is it that it is still up for grabs because it is dependent on the discussions that you are undertaking?

2935 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, no, there is still an ongoing live negotiation, so it could be that, as part of that negotiation, nothing happens and the Government must turn to the next highest bidder.

2940 Hon. K Azopardi: Does the Hon. Minister have any visibility as to the kind of timescale we are envisaging, given that these discussions have been going on for some time now?

2945 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government would like this to happen as soon as possible, but obviously it is a live negotiation and sometimes things take longer than you would like.

Hon. K Azopardi: Is the scope of the menu of components – if I can put it that way – of the site also part of the discussions?

2950 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government would rather not get into the detail of the negotiation across the floor of the House, but the expression of interest provides for a negotiation to take place with the preferred bidder once the bids are in, and that is what is happening at the moment.

Adjournment

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I move that the House should now adjourn and continue with Questions tomorrow at 3 p.m.

2955

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Thursday, 20th October at 3 p.m.

I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Thursday, 20th October at 3 p.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

2960

The House will now adjourn to Thursday, 20th October at 3 p.m.

The House adjourned at 8.26 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 3.03 p.m. – 5.17 p.m.

Gibraltar, Thursday, 20th October 2022

Contents

Questions for Oral Answer	3
Chief Minister	3
Q387/2022 Principal Auditor’s Reports – Expected date for tabling	3
Q388/2022 Income Tax Office counters – Reason for continued closure.....	5
Q389/2022 PAYE – Additional revenue expected following increase.....	6
Q390/2022 Spanish tax have black list – Removal of Gibraltar from list	7
Q391-92/2022 Treasury office rent and service charges – Breakdown of costs for 2018-19 and of estimated costs for 2022-23.....	7
Q393/2022 Haven building – Sale price	11
Q394 and Q404/2022 Eastside project – Receipt of £90 million premium; whether contractual arrangements with developers finalised.....	11
Q395/2022 Sovereign guarantee – Terms of rollover	14
Q396-400/2022 Foreign-registered vehicles – Parking and speeding offences.....	14
Q402/2022 Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views – Progress re construction; financial position	15
Q403/2022 Victoria Keys – Arrangements with developers	20
Q405/2022 Red ID cards – Difficulties in renewing.....	23
Q406/2022 Minors crossing the border – Reason for controls introduced by Spain.....	23
Q407-08/2022 UK-EU treaty – Referendum; parliamentary debate.....	24
Business, Tourism and the Port.....	27

Q317-18/2022 OS35/LNG vessel collision – Equipment and resources; lessons learnt and improvements for the future	27
Q319/2022 OS35/LNG vessel collision – Publication of independent investigation report...	28
Q320/2022 Refurbishment of entry points – Expected timeline.....	29
Q321/2022 Gibraltar Airport arrivals – Human resources issues	31
Q322/2022 Tourism development – Measures to encourage private sector investment	33
Q323/2022 Gibraltar Maritime Day – Details of events	35
Q324-25/2022 Hotels – Hotel Indigo expected date of reopening; update re new hotel.....	36
Q326/2022 Airbnb – Progress re regulation	37
Q327/2022 LNG vessels – Exclusion zones	39
Adjournment	40
The House adjourned at 5.17 p.m.	40

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 3.03 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S Galliano Esq in attendance]

Questions for Oral Answer

CHIEF MINISTER

Q387/2022

Principal Auditor's Reports –
Expected date for tabling

Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Thursday, 20th October, 2022. We continue with Answers to Questions.

Question 387/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

5

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise if the Principal Auditor has indicated when he will be able to table his latest completed Reports in Parliament; and, if so, for which years?

10

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

15

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the Principal Auditor has advised that he is in the midst of finalising the audit of the 2016-17 and 2017-18 Public Accounts of Gibraltar. He is awaiting changes to be carried out to these two sets of financial statements by the Accountant General as a consequence of his audit. The Principal Auditor further advises that his report on the audit of these two sets of Public Accounts will be completed before the end of December 2022. I will then table them here.

20

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, obviously those years are, in the case of 2017-18, still five financial years behind the current financial year. Has the Principal Auditor indicated where he is with subsequent financial years, and in the conversation with the Chief Minister has the Principal Auditor indicated to him what the issues are as to why these reports are taking so long?

25

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have had no conversations about this with the Principal Auditor and I therefore have none of the information the hon. Gentleman has requested.

30

Hon. K Azopardi: Does the Chief Minister agree that it would be more helpful if the Principal Auditor's reports were laid in the House already and laid in the House on a more timely basis?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am not able to tell the House with sufficient certainty what the lag of presentation of the Principal Auditor's accounts for financial years is habitually, or indeed what it would be, for example, in the United Kingdom or elsewhere, and therefore I do not know that it is possible to do these things within any other, shorter period. I think in some instances it has been in shorter periods, I think in some instances, in respect of the time that hon. Members were in office, the period was longer, so I do not want to venture an opinion in respect of an area which is not my area of particular professional understanding, when I might be saying something which might apparently be correct but might professionally not be correct.

Hon. K Azopardi: At the end of the day, Mr Speaker, the point of the Principal Auditor's Reports is to provide that independent audit, and recommendations in many cases, in respect of public finances. We were certainly under the impression, on this side of the House, that perhaps part of the delay is because some of the Supplementary Appropriation Bills that had to be taken in respect of some of those years had not been taken until recently, for example. If that is the case, clearly those aspects would be within the gift of the Government, but clearly there would need to be an engagement with the Principal Auditor to understand what exactly the issues are.

In any event, it seems to us, on this side of the House, that it would be helpful for the Principal Auditor's Reports to come earlier, because ultimately, if they are providing that independent audit and those independent recommendations, it is in the public interest that they should be known earlier.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I did not discern a question in that position, but I assume the hon. Gentleman asked me whether or not I agree –

Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, the question was that.

Hon. Chief Minister: – and therefore I would, once again, say that it is not in my area of professional competence to say that it is possible to do these things in a shorter period of time and I do believe that there have been instances, when hon. Members were in office, where the Principal Auditor's Report was delayed for longer than it is delayed now. Two wrongs do not make a right. The fact that I am pointing to that does not suggest that there was anything wrong in the practice that might have occurred under hon. Members, because we are talking about audits, which are complicated.

The hon. Gentleman knows that we took the Supplementary Appropriation Bills that he is referring to and passed them, in this House, into Acts some time ago, so it was obviously not just the passing of those Bills that was expected, because if the Reports had been ready, simply awaiting the passage of those Bills, then the Reports could be with the House already; there was obviously still work to be done.

And so, Mr Speaker, I am, of course, as a layperson and at a political level, able to agree with the perfectly unobjectionable statement that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has made, but that does not mean that, professionally, it is possible for the people who are responsible for these audits to do them more quickly. I do not think anybody should consider that there is a criticism, at least from the point of view of the Government, that the Principal Auditor's Office is taking the time that they consider is necessary and appropriate to do the important work of auditing the accounts of the Government of Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q388/2022

Income Tax Office counters – Reason for continued closure

Clerk: Question 388/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

80 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise why the counters of the Income Tax Office are still closed?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

85 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I refer the hon. Gentlemen to Press Release 767/2022, which confirms that counters are now open.

The counters at the Income Tax Office have remained closed following the measures taken during the COVID-19 pandemic and given the Government's drive to digitise tax services. As a result, we have also introduced an online service for citizens to file their tax returns. This 90 comprises both the income declaration and a claim for allowances. Other services are in the process of digitalisation and, as part of this transition, traffic is being redirected via email.

We nonetheless understand that there is now a higher demand and need for an alternative filing system to the online digital tax return. As a result, we have published the press release I have referred to, confirming that the public will now have an option to file their tax return by email 95 using a specifically designed editable PDF that can be downloaded from our website. Instructions are also available to guide citizens as necessary.

Public counters at the Income Tax Office will also open. This, however, needs to be managed to meet the needs of service users. Therefore, as stated in the press release, the opening of public counters will initially focus exclusively on providing assistance to citizens for the completion of 100 their tax returns. Other services should continue to be done either via e-Services or by email.

Once the 2022 reporting cycle is complete, I have instructed the Commissioner of Income Tax to fully open the counters for all matters. This will happen in January 2023. Once reopened, the counters will work on an appointment basis, whereby the public are able to check time slots and choose when they want to visit, based on availability. They will select from a menu of pre-defined 105 services and be provided with guidance as to which documents are required ahead of their meeting. They will also be reminded of their meeting beforehand, allowing them to cancel should their personal circumstances change.

These improvements, together with additional resourcing, demonstrate this Government's commitment to providing a more streamlined and efficient service for the public.
110

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I read the question as it had been drafted. It had been filed prior to the issue of the press release that the Hon. Chief Minister talks about, so clearly he can refer me to the press release, but it is not as if it was available to us earlier.

It is certainly welcome news in respect of that, and looking at that press release – as we did, of course – that came later, it has struck us that in the press release itself, the reference to the 115 counters being open was that that service was going to be extended for the purpose of submission of tax returns only, but now the Chief Minister has made clear that those counters are going to be open more widely within a few months. That is welcome news. When could that practice be spread out to other Departments?
120

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I know that there is a widespread view that counters are not open, but in fact, whenever I check with my colleagues and the Chief Secretary ... I believe that tax is probably one of the last ones that had not been opened and all the others are now open. If there are instances of counters which are not open – and the Hon. Mr Bossino is making the 125 gesticulation for ‘many’ across the floor of the House in his usual convivial way – I would be very happy to hear from hon. Members which are the ones that they understand are not operating in the usual way, so that we can see whether there is a reason for that.

130 Hon. K Azopardi: This is Mr Clinton’s question, but I think I asked a general question as to the state of the public counters some months ago. In the course of those exchanges, we pointed out some inconsistencies in the information provided and I said to the Hon. Chief Minister that perhaps some Departments had been left out. He undertook to check that with officials. I do not 135 know if he has that up-to-date information, and if not to hand – because clearly he is answering a more specific question – perhaps he can write to me on those issues, so that we can do our own cross-check, because that information was pending and I would be happy to engage with him on the issue of public counters, which appears to be an issue of public concern to many people.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I obviously do not have that to hand because this question deals only with the issue of taxation, but I am happy to write to him, if necessary, with the 140 information – I think that we had the discussion in May, just before the Budget session – and to ask the Chief Secretary to give me an updated list of any counters he believes his people are still not operating.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q389/2022

PAYE –

Additional revenue expected following increase

145 Clerk: Question 389/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise how much additional annual 150 revenue it expects to receive from the 2% increase in PAYE announced at the 2022 Budget?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, as a result of the revised Income Tax bandings announced in the 2022 Budget debate – including both the 2% uplift to all rates in the Allowance 155 Based System and the Gross Income Based System, as well as the levelling of the applicable tax rate on higher levels of income in excess of £½ million under the Gross Income Based System, which goes up to 27% – the Government expects to receive in the region of an additional £17.2 million.

I should emphasise that that is, of course, an estimate and is usually based on averages of 160 people in those bands in previous years, and it may be exceeded or the amount may be lower, depending on income in respect of people in those bands during the course of this financial year for which they make a declaration – but usually the Income Tax Office makes estimations which turn out to be quite accurate.

165 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q390/2022

Spanish tax have black list –
Removal of Gibraltar from list

Clerk: Question 390/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

170 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise if Gibraltar has been removed from the Spanish tax haven black list; and, if not, when does it expect to be removed?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

175 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, Spain's blacklisting of Gibraltar was instigated on the basis of their misconception that Gibraltar is a tax haven. The agreed level of co-operation and transparency envisaged in the Tax Treaty is at complete odds with that. I am advised by the Commissioner of Income Tax that Gibraltar continues to comply with all scheduled exchanges of information and co-operation with the Spanish authorities as set out by the Tax Treaty.

180 Gibraltar's noted compliance with obligations under the Tax Treaty, as well as public comments made by members of the Spanish government at the time endorsing the positive steps in negotiating the Tax Treaty, will no doubt assist in this delisting process. Nevertheless, given that Gibraltar's unfair blacklisting was by parliamentary decree in Spain, there is an internal parliamentary process that needs to run its course there concurrently with the ongoing effectiveness of the Tax Treaty.

185 The Government, therefore, expects that the blacklisting of Gibraltar, which should be welcomed, no doubt, by all Members of the House and beyond it, should be finalised in the first half of next year.

190 Hon. K Azopardi: Is that expectation based on discussions with the Spanish government, or is it just a general expectation?

Hon. Chief Minister: It is an expectation based on discussions with the Spanish government.

195 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, is the fact that we have been grey-listed by the FATF going to have any impact on that process?

Hon. Chief Minister: I do not believe it should, Mr Speaker.

Q391-92/2022

Treasury office rent and service charges –
Breakdown of costs for 2018-19 and of estimated costs for 2022-23

200 Clerk: Question 391/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, further to Question 268/2022, can the Government now provide a detailed breakdown of the office rent and service charge costs of £9,253,765 incurred in 2018-19 by the Treasury Department, as promised on 22nd June 2022?

205 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 392.

210 Clerk: Question 392/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: As promised at the Committee Stage of the 2022 Budget debate, can the Government provide a detailed breakdown of the office rent and service charge estimated costs of £10.7 million in the Treasury Department for the year 2022-23?
215

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I now hand over a schedule with the information requested.

Answer to Question 391/2022

Address	Rent	Ground Rent	Service	Other
323 Main Street	£ 102,800.00			-
43/1 North Mole Road	3,370.00	-	-
Blake House	£ 58,420.88	£ 432.26	£ 1,724.00	-
Leanse Place	£ 59,214.96	-	£ 219,880.00	£ 180.00 Registration at LPS
New Harbours Parking Bays	£ 1,680.00	-	-	-
Unit 35 New Harbours	-		£ 2,638.22
Unit 71 & 72 New Harbours			£ 6,494.95
World Trade Centre	£ 146,595.00	£ 939.60	£ 20,759.60
206-210 Main Street (Gibraltar Savings Bank)	£ 356,758.15	-	-	-
14 & 12-16 Governor's Parade & Library Street (Ex Sgts Mess)	£ 352,973.80
37 Town Range (Environmental Agency)	£ 111,918.52	-	-	-
331 Main Street (Income Tax)	£ 153,734.24	-	-	-
Unit 35 Harbours Deck (Treasury)	£ 23,367.60
Unit 61 Harbours Deck (Technical Services)	£ 12,298.72			-
Unit 69 Harbours Deck (Health Authority)	£ 15,988.36	-
Unit 71 & 72 Harbours Walk (Treasury)	£ 41,815.72	-		-
Unit 75 - 79 Harbours Walk (Employment)	152,504.36	-
Unit 83 - 86 Harbours Walk (Human Resources)	105,769.16			-
Unit 87 & 90 Harbours Walk (Technical Services)	£ 48,580.00		-
Unit 91 Harbours Walk (Environmental Agency)	£ 19,677.96	-	-
Unit 93 Harbours Walk (Procurement)	£ 35,666.32			-
Unit 99 Harbours Walk (Statistics)	£ 29,516.96		-
32 John Mackintosh Square (City Hall)	£ 335,284.78	-	-	-
23 Queensway (Education)	£ 190,630.44	-	-
16 Governors Parade (DSS)	£ 153,734.24	-
31 Town Range (Employment)	£ 79,941.80	-	-	-
16 Europa Flats (Bleak House)	£ 202,929.20
18 Waterport Wharf (Customs House)	£ 49,194.95	-	-	-
40 Town Range (Ex Department of Education).	£ 145,125.12		-
1 Johnstones Passage (Care Agency)	£ 81,064.67	-	-	-
11 Cathedral Square (Duke of Kent House)	£ 115,927.41			-
19 Cemetery Road	£ 9,390.11	-		-
6 Convent Place	£ 280,757.63	-	-	-
10 Governor's Lane (Ombudsman)	£ 101,436.49		-
104 Main Street (Post Office)	£ 200,554.44		-	-
4 North Mole Road (Port)	£ 87,275.93		-	-
31 & 32B Rosia Road (Police Headquarters)	£ 552,329.18	-	-	-
2 Secretary's Lane (Joshua Hassans House)	£ 243,447.56	-		-
2 Winston Churchill Avenue (Customs)	£ 121,352.80	-
21 Hospital Ramp (Ex-St Bernards Hospital)	£ 1,959,927.50	-		-
Winston Churchill Avenue (Old Airport Terminal)	£ 158,159.86
32 - 36 Town Range (Law Courts)	£ 1,194,134.28		-
18 Windmill Hill House (H.M. Prison)	£ 905,467.44			-

Answer to Question 392/2022

Address	Re	Ground Rent	Service Charges
323 Main Street	£ 109,584.80	-	-
Blake House	£ 67,424.12	F. 432.26	£ 1,896.40
Leanse Place	f 223,780.00	-	£ 59,214.96
Unit 35, 71 & 72 New Harbours	-	-	£ 11,683.44
World Trade Centre	£ 193,709.20	£ 939.60	£ 22,837.28
Suite 6, 57/63 Line Wall Road	£ 123,858.00	-	£ 19,004.00
Suite E, Regal House	£ 87,696.00	-	£ 7,018.00
Eurotowers, Europort Road	£ 28,647.36	-	£ 2,239.68
John Mackintosh Hall	£ 125,000.00	-	-
ICC Units 9.7, 9.8 & 9.3a	£ 79,798.52	-	£ 11,637.28
206-210 Main Street (Gibraltar Savings Bank)	£ 430,669.41	-	-
14 Governor's Parade & Library Street (DSS)	63,861.97	-	-
37 Town Range (Environmental Agency)	£ 125,965.29	-	-
331 Main Street (Income Tax)	£ 173,029.26	-	-
Unit 35 Harbours Deck (Treasury)	£ 26,300.45	-	-
Unit 61 Harbours Deck (Technical Services)	£ 13,842.32	-	-
Unit 69 Harbours Deck (Health Authority)	£ 17,995.03	-	-
Unit 71 & 72 Harbours Walk (Treasury)	£ 47,063.97	-	-
Unit 75 - 79 Harbours Walk (Employment)	f 171,644.99	-	-
Unit 83 - 86 Harbours Walk (Human Resources)	£ 119,044.13	-	-
Unit 87 & 90 Harbours Walk (Technical Services)	£ 54,677.22	-	-
Unit 91 Harbours Walk (Department of Environment)	£ 16,610.52	-	-
Unit 93 Harbours Walk (Procurement)	£ 40,142.77	-	-
Unit 99 Harbours Walk (Car Parks)	£ 33,221.61	-	-
32 John Mackintosh Square (City Hall)	f 377,365.97	-	-
23 Queensway (Education)	£ 214,556.25	-	-
16 Governors Parade (Social Agency)	£ 173,029.26	-	-
31 Town Range (Buildings and Works Department)	£ 89,975.18	-	-
16 Europa Flats (Bleak House)	£ 228,398.61	-	-
12-14 Library Street (ITLD)	£ 141,827.21	-	-
40 Town Range (Ex Department of Education)	£ 163,339.61	-	-
1 Johnstones Passage (Care Agency)	£ 91,238.98	-	-
11 Cathedral Square (Duke of Kent House)	£ 129,527.23	-	-
19 Cemetery Road (Offices - Stores & Mess Room)	£ 10,491.71	-	-
6 Convent Place (Government Offices)	£ 313,694.26	-	-
10 Governor's Lane (Ombudsman)	£ 113,336.33	-	-
104 Main Street (Post Office)	£ 224,082.15	-	-
4 North Mole Road (Port)	£ 97,514.55	-	-
31 Rosia Road (Police Headquarters)	£ 563,536.75	-	-
32B Rosia Road (Offices & Store - Nelsons Anchorage)	£ 53,588.00	-	-
2 Secretary's Lane (Joshua Hassans House)	£ 272,007.21	-	-
2 Winston Churchill Avenue (Customs Office)	£ 135,589.10	-	-
21 Hospital Ramp (Ex-St Bernards Hospital)	£ 2,249,176.59	-	-
Winston Churchill Avenue (Old Airport Terminal)	£ 176,714.15	-	-
32 - 36 Town Range (Law Courts)	f 1,344,008.67	-	-
18 Windmill Hill House (H.M. Prison)	£ 1,019,111.60	-	-

220

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, while we digest the information – and there may be things that we need to digest more properly – as I understand it, this is a list of properties occupied, rented, by Government Departments. As I understand it, that is correct. Can I understand, in respect of Question 391, why there is a cost of nearly £2 million – £1.959 million – in respect of the ex-St Bernard’s Hospital, in terms of rent?

225

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I assume because that is where St Bernard’s School is.

Hon. K Azopardi: I do not understand – unless the hon. Member can illuminate, because the question was a breakdown of office rent and service charge costs – what office rent we are paying in respect of St Bernard’s Hospital to the tune of £1.9 million.

230

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the question was in respect of office rent and service charge costs in respect of an amount of money provided for in a particular year by the Treasury Department. The amount of money is not just in respect of office rent and service charge costs. It is in respect of the schedule that I have given him. That is how that amount is made up, not just offices; it is all of those Government buildings which make up that amount. The same is true in respect of Question 392, where the figure is £10,700,000. These are the lists that make up those figures which are provided for by the Treasury in respect of those amounts.

235

Hon. K Azopardi: Sorry, I do not understand. Perhaps we need to have the explanation again. I appreciate he is giving me a schedule and it has detail on it, but the question was quite specific about having a detailed breakdown of the rent and service charge cost of £9.2 million, for example, in relation to Question 391, which is the cost incurred in 2018-19. Just looking at that schedule, in the list under the column ‘Rent’, it says, when it gets to St Bernard’s Hospital, £1.9 million, and when it comes to, for example, the Law Courts, it is £1.1 million. I do not understand why there is a rental cost in respect of buildings that are ostensibly public buildings, or in relation to the Prison, where it says £905,000. I would understand that there is a rental cost in respect of the World Trade Centre, which is higher up in the list, at £146,000 – that is clearly not a Government building – but in respect of buildings that seem, ostensibly, Government buildings, we do not understand why they are logged as rent.

240

245

250

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am going to speak from memory right now, so if I am wrong I shall correct the record when the time comes, but I believe that at the time when hon. Members were in office they introduced the practice of putting some buildings in a company and paying rent for the use of those buildings by the Government, and therefore that practice means that we end up with this situation where there is, in some instances, a circulation of money from one pocket of the Government to another pocket of the Government, which leads to the figure that is set out in the accounts, which is the figure that you asked about. To give you the full breakdown to the figure that you asked about, these are the numbers that we are dealing with.

255

260

Hon. K Azopardi: To be clear, from the answer he has just given, he is speaking on a basis of speculation; he is not clear exactly how some of these buildings are being parked. Perhaps on that basis it would be better if we were to digest the information and ask more specific questions in respect of the history. Would that be helpful to get to the bottom of it, because I can see from his previous answer that perhaps is this not clear?

265

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, what I am not clear about is the chronology, but I am clear about the practice. In other words, there are buildings which are Government buildings which are now in companies and the rent is paid for those buildings by the Government. I believe, and that is what I am saying from memory, that that was a practice that they began. That is the aspect that I am happy to clarify when the time comes, but what I am telling them is that the Government pays rent for the use of buildings which are in companies which are otherwise ostensibly Government buildings.

270

275 Hon. K Azopardi: We will look at this and then ask more specific questions, if need be.
Can I ask, in the column of service charges in relation to Question 391, why there is a figure of £219,000 in respect of Leanse Place? It seems a very high figure, out of synch with the others.

280 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, there is only one answer I can give him, which is that that is the rent. (Hon. K Azopardi: The service charge.) The service charge? I do not know, Mr Speaker. I would have to take specific advice on that.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q393/2022
Haven building –
Sale price

285 Clerk: Question 393/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise how much the Haven building was sold for by Gibtelecom?

290 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the Haven building was sold for £6 million.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q394 and Q404/2022
Eastside project –
Receipt of £90 million premium; whether contractual arrangements with developers finalised

295 Clerk: Question 394/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

300 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise if it has yet received the £90 million premium in relation to the Eastside Project?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

305 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 404.

Clerk: Question 404/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

310 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government update the House on whether the contractual arrangements with the developers of the Eastside have now been finalised?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: The premium has not yet been received, as the negotiations are still ongoing, albeit in their final stages.

315

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, it is almost a year – I think probably precisely a year – since the Government made an announcement in relation to the Eastside, and as part of that announcement there was a signing ceremony. I remember pictures emerging of the Government and the Chief Secretary, I think it was, and those representing the developers, signing documents. If the discussions are still ongoing, what were they signing?

320

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not know what it is that the hon. Gentleman thinks he saw. I do not think pictures ‘emerged’. Pictures were published. There is a big difference. When you say that pictures emerged, it is as if one is talking about a picture, surreptitiously taken, that is leaked to the Leader of the Opposition and he sees that we are signing documents that we do not want to own up to. As he knows better than most, language matters.

325

So no pictures emerged, pictures were published and the captions to those pictures – or, indeed, the press release that accompanied those pictures which were published – said that we were signing heads of terms. I am surprised he feels he needs to ask me what it was that we were signing when the pictures that we published with a press release specifically said that what we were signing were heads of terms.

330

Hon. K Azopardi: ‘Emerged’ has many meanings and it emerged through the Government Press Office, but we are not going to get stuck on that definition. Those photos were there.

335

It also became clear – it emerged through the Government press release – that they were going to pay a premium of a particular sum. What is it that is holding up the payment of the premium and the conclusion of the contractual agreements?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, when something emerges it moves out of the way of something in order to become visible. There is no question of this going on. This was the publication, very proudly by the Government, of arrangements that had been entered into by way of heads of terms.

340

The heads of terms, as the hon. Gentleman knows, set out the heads of the agreement that have been done by parties. In this context, I think the heads of terms were a couple of pages in respect of the largest piece of land in Gibraltar. Now we need to finalise a commercial agreement, which will be many tens of pages, if not hundreds, with a building lease or building licences, which, as the hon. Gentleman knows, is very detailed, in particular in relation to land which is reclaimed and in respect of which there will be environmental issues etc.

345

It appears a little disingenuous that the hon. Gentleman might ask me what it is I think is going to be negotiated from a few pages and heads of terms to the many hundreds of pages that are going to finally be agreed. His legal training is sufficient for him to know that we are moving from a helicopter view of the transaction, agreed between the parties, to the agreement. He will know that one of the things that was set out in the heads of terms was that outline planning had to be provided in order to be able to move to the stage where the premium is payable and the agreement signed, so that is what is happening.

355

You can understand that if you have been involved in transactions of this sort in the past, as I know that he will have been – he has experience both as a legal professional and as a Government Minister – or you can pretend not to understand it if you somehow want to cast a shadow of aspersion over the ongoing transaction.

360

I am sure he will agree with me that we should soon be very happy to receive a premium in respect of this transaction and that we should soon all want to see this plot under development. Already, Hassan Centenary Terraces Phase 1 is almost complete, we are going to see the second phase start – in fact, the works on the second phase have already begun – and we, I am sure, all 365 believe that it would be a good thing for Gibraltar to see this plot in development. I look forward to his next question, which I am sure he will preface by agreement in that respect.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker –

370 Mr Speaker: This is the final question.

Hon. K Azopardi: I am not casting any aspersions. If there is any criticism to be done, it will be direct; it will not be aspersions.

Indeed, my legal training is sufficient – to use his word, as language matters – to understand the mechanics, but what we were trying to seek was information, through the question, to see what stage they were at, given that with some fanfare it had been said that there would be a premium, a significant one, and indeed that the Government had put it in their Budget.

The Chief Minister describes them as being close. Does he have a sense of how close, in terms of timescale, he is? And what is his expectation in terms of the finalisation of the contractual agreement?

380 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I said ‘sufficient’ because the hon. Gentleman has sufficient and he does not need more than sufficient in order to be able to understand – (Interjection) Sufficient training, absolutely. I am sure that he has sufficient training for that purpose, so I think my words were carefully and well chosen, but I do not believe that the hon. Gentleman would be a good negotiator for Gibraltar in any instance, because every time he asks me about a negotiation he urges me to resolve it quickly. In doing so, he immediately puts Gibraltar at the disadvantage of having to resolve the negotiation quickly in order to satisfy the voracious Opposition that we have opposite. My view is that it is important to do the right deal for Gibraltar, however much Mr Phillips might shake his head. I believe it is for Gibraltar and its Government to do the best deal for Gibraltar and for the taxpayer, however long it may take – not to accelerate a negotiation simply to bring in a result quickly, whether that is in respect of a treaty or whether it is in respect of a commercial arrangement.

395 I can tell the hon. Gentleman that we might have had the £90 million quicker if we had simply done the deal that was first put to us, and then we might have trumpeted the £90 million and not had such good commercial terms. We believe we should have the £90 million for the land with the best commercial terms. Just as in relation to the treaty, we believe it is important to get the right deal so that it passes the test of safety and security of those sitting on this side of the House, and not a quick deal. (Interjection) The relevance is this: that the hon. Gentleman, in respect of every negotiation – (Interjection)

400 Mr Speaker: No, because that would be deviation and we are not going to permit deviation. The Chief Minister is making an example. (Interjection) In his explanation, he is giving an example.

405 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member does not need to get nervous. He has other questions on the Order Paper in respect of the treaty, so he can ask questions about the treaty without having to rely on pretending to link matters by supplementary. What I am linking, Mr Speaker, (Interjection) is the hon. Gentleman’s approach to negotiation. He needs to learn that in life, timing is everything, and pushing too hard, too quickly, to try to get a result quickly is a beginner’s mistake. It is a beginner’s mistake. He is wrong to push us to finish this negotiation quickly simply because we must do it quickly, and he is wrong to push us, in respect of every negotiation, to finish things quickly.

410 So, Mr Speaker, I am not going to give an indication of how close I might think I am to concluding this agreement. If I did, I would be negotiating against myself in respect of trying to achieve it, because immediately the party opposite would then know that I had made a political point about when I was going to finish the negotiation of whatever it is I am negotiating, whether 415 it is a treaty or a commercial agreement, and they would immediately have that against the Government of Gibraltar. For us, on this side of the House, the interest of Gibraltar and its people is more important than our own personal political interest.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q395/2022
Sovereign guarantee –
Terms of rollover

420 Clerk: Question 395/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Government provide details as to the terms of the proposed 25-26-year rollover of the £500 million sovereign guarantee facility, to the extent utilised, upon 425 maturity on 3rd December 2023 as announced in the 2022 Budget?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the discussions with HM Treasury are currently 430 ongoing. A full announcement will be made when negotiations are concluded.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q396-400/2022
Foreign-registered vehicles –
Parking and speeding offences

Clerk: Question 396/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

435 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what is the total annual value of parking tickets which have been issued to the owners or drivers of foreign-registered vehicles in each of the last five years?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

440 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 397-400.

Clerk: Question 397/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

445 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, what is the total annual value of money recovered from parking tickets which have been issued to the owners or drivers of foreign-registered vehicles in each of the last five years?

Clerk: Question 398/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

450 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many speeding tickets have been issued to the owners or drivers of foreign-registered vehicles in each of the last five years?

Clerk: Question 399/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

455 Hon. D A Feetham: What is the total annual value of speeding tickets which have been issued to the owners or drivers of foreign-registered vehicles in each of the last five years?

Clerk: Question 400/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

460 Hon. D A Feetham: What is the total annual value of money recovered from speeding tickets which have been issued to the owners or drivers of foreign-registered vehicles in each of the last five years?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

465

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, no parking or speeding tickets are issued to owners or drivers of vehicles. Foreign-registered vehicles that are illegally parked are clamped to avoid such vehicles leaving the jurisdiction without paying the penalty for illegal parking. If a foreign vehicle is in Gibraltar and caught speeding by a speed camera, after leaving the EU we are unable to obtain the information of ownership of the vehicle in order to enforce any penalty outside Gibraltar. The same is true of Gibraltar-registered vehicles outside Gibraltar. If an individual driving a foreign-registered vehicle is stopped for speeding by a police officer, their details are taken on the spot and the relevant penalties can therefore be enforced.

470

475 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, I have another couple of questions on the Order Paper in relation to assistance requests made by foreign jurisdictions in relation to Gibraltar cars that have been caught speeding in foreign jurisdictions, but I am going to ask a supplementary. I know it is going to impact on that, but the supplementary is this. I know that there are jurisdictions that will ask for the assistance of the Gibraltar authorities in terms of asking for the names and addresses of anybody who has been caught speeding in that jurisdiction. In fact, I have had constituents who have come to me and said, 'I have received this from Spain,' and, I think, Switzerland as well. I could be wrong on Switzerland, but certainly Spain. So it comes as a bit of a surprise that our authorities appear to have been assisting foreign authorities, but the Chief Minister, in his answer, appeared to indicate that we cannot obtain assistance from those authorities in relation to a foreign vehicle that may be speeding in Gibraltar. Is he certain that that is the position? It comes as a surprise, bearing in mind that I know there are requests for assistance from the Gibraltar authorities.

480

485

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, my understanding is that actually that gateway for information opened for a very short period during our membership of the EU – in fact, after the referendum but whilst we still had obligations under the EU treaties – and then closed when we left, so I think for a period of about five months we were able to seek and receive information and people were able to seek and receive information from us, but after our leaving the European Union that gateway is no longer available to other countries and neither is it available to us at this stage.

495

Q402/2022

Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views – Progress re construction; financial position

Clerk: Question 402/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Mr Speaker: Unfortunately we do not have ... certainly here I do not have Question 401.

500 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Well, Mr Speaker, the only thing I am going to say in relation to Question 401 is that I am going to answer it with Question 402, so if the hon. Gentleman reads it ...

505 Mr Speaker: Please go ahead. If you have Question 401, read it out. The Chief Minister will respond and it will be answered together with Question 402. Then you can read Question 402.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is certainly on our Order Paper. Question 401 reads: Further to the answers provided to Q46/2022, please provide an update as to the progress of construction in respect of the Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views developments.

510 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: I will answer with Question 402.

515 Clerk: Question 402/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please confirm that the Government has the required financing in place to ensure that the Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Counterguard developments can be completed.

520 Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, as explained in answer to Written Question 67/2021, the start of Bob Peliza Mews estate is dependent on the decommissioning and demolition of the ex-Waterport power station and the relocation and demolition of the AquaGib reverse osmosis plant and workshops. The contract for the first stage of the demolition of the ex-Waterport power station was awarded in September 2022. This first stage involves the decommissioning and removal of the mechanical and electrical equipment. This has already begun and is programmed for completion by the end of 2022. The second stage of the demolition works, involving structural demolitions for which tenders will be issued this month, is programmed to proceed as soon as the first stage has been completed. In parallel with this, and following the completion of a series of ground investigations and soil tests, the assessment and definition of any ground remediation measures that might be necessary is currently being finalised. It is expected that the clearance of the area required to commence the first phase of the estate will be completed towards the end of the first quarter of 2023, after which construction can begin. The clearance of the area required for the second phase of the estate is dependent on AquaGib's relocation. They are in the process of designing the new facility, for which a planning application will be submitted. The whole estate is programmed to take 35 months to construct.

525
530
535 In respect of Chatham Views, the clearance of the site began in September 2022 following the award of the contract for the demolition of the ex-Westside School buildings. The demolition works are currently under way and are programmed for completion in January 2023, after which time the site will be fully cleared. There will then be a need to undertake some infrastructure diversion works ahead of the start of the main project to build the estate, the construction of which is programmed to take 27 months to complete.

540
545 No delays are expected to arise as a result of financing.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, if I deal with the answer to the first question first, in terms of the timelines he has given, they are completely aligned with the previous answers we have had, so in relation to Chatham it is 27 months and in relation to Bob Peliza it is 35 months. I think the Chief Minister has confirmed that that remains the position. But is it fair to say – and the answers 550 he has given I think require further analysis – there has been probably very little movement since I last asked this question, back in ... well, May was not that long ago, but secondly that not one brick has yet been laid; in other words that the construction element, the laying of bricks element, has not yet started? In other words, the 35-month period and the 27-month period ... the clocks in relation to those periods have not started ticking? Can he confirm that that is the case?

555

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave a few moments ago, which sets out the position so clearly that I am surprised that that is the question he is asking.

560

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am asking for his assistance by way of confirmation. Can he confirm that bricks have not yet started to be laid and therefore these timelines – the 27-month period and the 35-month period – have not yet started to tick?

Really what I am driving at is that we are looking at quite a lot of delay in terms of getting these projects completed.

565

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, what the hon. Gentleman is trying to do is get me to do his soundbites for him, and I am not going to do that. What I am going to tell him is that we are on target to achieve the timelines that we set out before and which we believe we will be able to complete.

570

When I met the purchasers groups in respect of both of these estates, I told them that the demolitions will be dealt with in keeping with the information I have given this House, and we are keeping to those timelines. We therefore expect to be able to complete the estates in keeping with the timelines I set out to the purchasers when I met them.

575

Hon. D J Bossino: Maybe times when he met them. Does he not accept that his original timelines are way off the wall, that he has not been able to keep to them and that there is immense delay? Can he not acknowledge – and, dare I say, have the humility of acknowledging – that there is immense delay as far as these two projects are concerned?

580

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, of course I have the humility to acknowledge – as I have said before in this House when I last answered the questions and made a statement about this during the course of the Budget – that these projects will not be completed when we wanted them to be completed.

585

There are Gibraltarian families who need these properties and we have not been able to complete them because, as the hon. Gentleman says – with a smile on his face, thinking that he has caught the fish – there has been a small thing called a pandemic that has stopped us from being able to sign contracts in respect of these works. If we had signed contracts, it would have been bad for the taxpayer. It would not have advanced the possibility of completions sooner. The people I met in respect of these matters fully understood what was happening.

590

Does the hon. Gentleman think it is in the interests of the taxpayer or the Government to delay these things? Does the hon. Gentleman think that the Government would, for one moment, have wanted to delay the construction of affordable homes for Gibraltarians? Does the hon. Gentleman think that if he had been in my chair, despite his legendary indecisiveness he might have been able to do things more quickly? Of course he would not have been able to. This is not a question of who is in government. This is a question of being able to deliver as quickly as possible for the Gibraltarian families who need these homes. Of course we wish we had been able to complete them sooner, but it has just not been possible, and if it had been possible, we would not have failed to act sooner to deliver these homes.

595

The people I met had the assurance that I told them I was giving them a timeline that we would keep to, and keeping to it we are.

600

Mr Speaker: Next question. No, next question.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker –

605

Mr Speaker: No, hold on. The Leader of the Opposition. (Interjection) What we cannot do is go round in circles. The answer has been given. Let's allow the Leader of the Opposition to –

Hon. D J Bossino: But hang on, Mr Speaker ... There has been, as usual, a hitting below the belt by the hon. Member, getting personal and casting aspersions as to my character, or whatever. As far as he is concerned, honestly I tell him: water off a duck's back, for various reasons – honestly.

610
Does he not agree with us that the pandemic cannot be prayed in aid, cannot be used as an excuse, because bricks and construction work could have started and in the timelines they said when they first announced these projects these developments were going to start to be built 615 before the pandemic hit? Does he not accept that?

Mr Speaker: This is the final question from the Hon. Damon Bossino, and then we will allow the Leader of the Opposition to ask a question.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have cast no aspersions on the hon. Gentleman's character. To say that he is indecisive is merely descriptive. It is not in any way designed to be an aspersion. I think in his more convivial moments he would tend to agree with me; so would his best friends.

620
What I want to be clear about is that the pandemic is not something that is being prayed in aid. It ill behoves a politician in a mature democracy like Gibraltar to pretend that the pandemic did not happen and had no consequence. It may be very easy to say that in the context of politics today and to pretend that this was not something that affected construction, or, indeed, every other aspect of life in Gibraltar. It is their position that Gibraltar's public finances are in a state which is not optimal because of extravagant spending by the Government and ignoring everything that happened during the pandemic, because I should not be able to pray in aid the pandemic in respect of our public finances either.
625
630

The pandemic was a reality. It was a reality that gave rise to all construction work being stopped. It was a reality that gave rise to construction contracts no longer being negotiated. The hon. Gentleman should know that in addition to the pandemic, the other thing that has been relevant has been Brexit, because Brexit has been making the pound-euro shift wildly. It has also made it very difficult at different times, because of Withdrawal Agreement cliff edge etc., to negotiate contracts, because as anybody who is involved in development will tell him, contractors were hedging against the possibility that the Frontier might be less free-flowing etc. I will tell him that the things which he calls an excuse – Brexit and the pandemic – are actually realities that anybody who is looking at this non-politically and not trying to score points, as he is obviously doing transparently, will realise actually has an effect on the ability to negotiate contracts responsibly. You can sign any contract you like ... If money is no object, you sign any contract, a pandemic can happen and you keep paying. The pound-euro rate goes crazy and you keep paying because you have not hedged against it. The Frontier becomes more or less fluid and you keep paying, even though they might have to bring it round in another way.
635
640

Hon. Members know that they are taking a persona which is political for the purposes of scoring party political points because they believe that the people who are going to be purchasers of these homes will not see through them – I believe, actually, they are very intelligent people, in particular the very mature people who came to see me as a result of the concerns they have – and that people will not understand the reality of a pandemic not being prayed in aid and Brexit not being prayed in aid but properly relevant in the context of this negotiation.
645
650

Do I wish we had delivered these homes already? Of course I do. Do I wish we were about to deliver these homes? Of course I do. Do I wish it politically? Of course I wish it politically, because he knows and I know what the value of delivering an affordable home to a member of the general

655 public and a voter in Gibraltar would be. Do I wish it in my heart, in particular because of the needs that I understand these Gibraltarian families have? Of course I do, and that is why I work every single day to ensure that we can sign these contracts, we can start laying these bricks and we can hand over these homes as soon as possible.

He can smirk and laugh all he likes. For me, this is about more than just politics, as it is for him.

660 Mr Speaker: The Leader of the Opposition.

665 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the problem with that analysis, of course, is that they issued a press release in 2017 which was entitled 'Hundreds of homes will be delivered by 2019'. They talked about these three projects – Hassan Centenary, Bob Peliza and Chatham Views. The clear indication they gave to the electorate and the people of Gibraltar in 2017 – and indeed in the run-up to the 2019 election, but in 2017 when they announced it, with great fanfare – was that, indeed, as the title of the press release says, hundreds of homes would be available by 2019 and well into 2020. It may be that COVID had an impact because there had already been delays, but the Chief Minister has to recognise that the delays came well before, because the original promise 670 they had made had been breached. That is the political point, does he not accept?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, in October 2019, exactly three years ago, we went to the people of Gibraltar and explained at that time why those homes had not yet been delivered. By a margin of two to one, they chose us, not them.

675

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Hon. D J Bossino: And that is not political point-scoring, Mr Speaker? (Interjection) No, that is fine. When it emerges from his mouth, it is fine. (Interjections)

680

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Clerk: Question 403 –

685 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have a supplementary on Question 402.

Mr Speaker: You may proceed to ask the supplementary, but just the one supplementary.

Hon. D J Bossino: I thought we had at least three strikes.

690

Mr Speaker: I think you should refrain from using unhelpful words. Let's keep on and let's be constructive about our performances and our work here.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, may I ask which particular word you took offence at?

695

Mr Speaker: I am not here to give any explanations. If I take a decision, you respect the decision. If you are unhappy with the decision, you later come to see me behind the Speaker's Chair or you would write to me and we will discuss it.

700 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I just wanted to elucidate from you which word you think I have used that is offensive in any way. That is all. Of course I respect the Chair, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: We will discuss this later.

705 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I think the answer to Question 402, if I recall, was that there was not going to be any delay. The question is more focused and specific than certainly the answer that was provided by the Chief Minister. The question was very specific. It was whether the Government had the required financing in place. Does it have it, or not?

710 Mr Speaker: Mr Speaker, I would not have been able to use the language I used in the last sentence of the answer I gave the hon. Gentleman if we did not.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is that because the answer is yes? In other words, that one needs to assume that ... The projects would not be the subject of delay, I think he said, as a result of financing. Was that the answer? Implicit in that is that the financing is currently in place. Is that the case?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the sentence that he has remembered is the sentence that I delivered, and his comprehension of it is correct, although I do not necessarily agree with the way he expresses himself. I have expressed myself as I thought was appropriate.

720 Hon. D J Bossino: With respect, the hon. Member is wrong. I need him to confirm. It is a very specific question that is being asked. Why can't he simply say yes, sir? Is the financing in place? Yes or no? Is it in place now? Yes or no?

725 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is here to ask the questions. I am here to provide the answers. I do not take advice from him on what answers I give.

Mr Speaker: Let's move on to the next question.

Q403/2022
Victoria Keys –
Arrangements with developers

730 Clerk: Question 403/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm whether the financial and/or contractual and/or commercial arrangements with the developers of the Victoria Keys site have now been entered into?

735 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, no, this is still being negotiated.

740 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I will not ask him how long he needs to negotiate, because of his long answer before, but what I will say is the problem with the answer he gave earlier – and, indeed, the answer he has just given – is that he put this centre stage in his 2019 manifesto, with glorious pictures of the lovely project that they had negotiated with the Victoria Keys developers that was going to be provided for the people of Gibraltar. They said in their manifesto that they were going to publish the agreement whenever they reached it. It has been three years, longer 745 since he announced the project.

The problem with the Government, does he not agree, is that they constantly announce projects and it then subsequently appears, despite all their nice glossy pictures, that they still need several years to negotiate the actual agreements that they have told people they had already got in the bag?

750 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am not going to give him the answer about negotiation that I gave him earlier, because I hope that he would have understood that I am not going to set the clock against myself and the taxpayer in Gibraltar to do the negotiations. It appears he is starting to internalise that.

It is true that in 2019 we had an agreement in respect of Victoria Keys which I set out for the general public and the hon. Gentleman was very critical of, but the one that he now appears to want us to have done was the one he appeared to be very critical of at the time.

On reflection, we should have put, instead, in the 2019 manifesto, a photograph of the germ that causes COVID, a photograph of the Moderna and Pfizer vaccines that we were able to acquire, of Gibraltar's empty streets and maybe the Deputy Chief Minister, the Attorney General and myself involved in the negotiations of the new arrangements for a UK-EU treaty. That would have been more honest. Of course, we did not know about that, then.

It is also true that, given that he is going to say I am praying in aid the same things which are, in their view, obviously just excuses, when for everybody else in this community they are realities, they should be for him because I invited him to Convent Place and we were a moment away from a Government of national unity and worked very well together at the time because this was a reality, this was not a pretence.

The other agreement he was asking me about, the £90 million agreement, now means that what some people call the 'rubble mountain' on the Eastside ... It was always a rubble mountain when they were in opposition, then it became Sovereign Bay when they were in government, but when we were elected we found the same rubble mountain with no Sovereign Bay in it. That is now going to be part of the deal for the Eastside development, which means – and I have explained all this in the House, I think they forget – you no longer need to transport the rubble mountain to Coaling Island to create Victoria Keys. You can, therefore, create Victoria Keys in a different way. There is a different financing cost involved in the creation of Victoria Keys, which does not involve ... When we announced it, heaven forbid the movement of trucks we were going to have, which was going to be terrible for Gibraltar, environmentally – were we going to bring it by sea? Then, by sea it would be terrible also. We have found a different solution. There is no movement of all of that rubble mountain by trucks etc.

I think with this Opposition the problem is we are damned if we are damned and we are damned if we are damned, whether we do or we do not, they want to damn us for having done the Victoria Keys agreement. My goodness, we have had exchanges about how terrible the Victoria Keys agreement we had said we were going to do would be. Now they are going to damn us for not having done the agreement they damned. They are going to damn us for not having brought the rubble mountain over in the way that they said was damned. Guilty without a chance of proving ourselves innocent – that is the sort of charge the Opposition puts against us every single time. We are going to carry on negotiating the Victoria Keys agreement to ensure we get the best possible deal for the taxpayer now that the circumstances have changed, now that we do not need to move the rubble, now that there are different options for reclaiming in that area.

I think we will, once again, be able to do a very good deal for the people of Gibraltar, and when we have done it we will publish it. I think that is the right thing to do, to give transparency to the people.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, yes, he is guilty, actually. He is guilty of many things, but does he not see, in particular, the contradictions he is drowning in? He wants the kudos that he has done the Victoria Keys deal and he issues all the glossy pictures to that effect before the 2019 elections. He wants the kudos that he has done the Eastside deal and that he has bagged £90 million. It is the best deal possible since Bluewater, which failed. It was on his watch. But then he says he wants the space, that he has not actually done the deal, 'And don't press me, because I might do a bad deal.' Well, hang on, you have either done the deal or you have not done the deal, but just be clear to the people of Gibraltar.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman and Mr Bossino have decided that the Rules of the House mean nothing to them. One of them gets up and makes comment, the other one gets up and does not even ask a supplementary.

805 Mr Speaker, let's be very clear about something. The hon. Gentleman is neither judge, jury nor executioner here.

Hon. K Azopardi: I have asked a question.

810 Mr Speaker: What was the hon. Member's question?

Hon. K Azopardi: The question is: does he not realise he is drowning in his own contradictions?

815 Hon. Chief Minister: Oh, Mr Speaker, I see, that is the question. A very simple answer: I am not drowning in contradictions, therefore there is nothing to realise.

The hon. Gentleman says that I am guilty. Well, I have news for him: he is neither judge, jury, nor executioner. He is the Leader of the Opposition, who has come to this place to discharge the functions of that office, such as it may be, with the least popular support in the history of this Parliament. He has come fourth on the list of those who stood for office and were not elected to government. (Interjection)

820

Mr Speaker: With respect to the Chief Minister, we are deviating.

825 A Member: Yes, we are.

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you, Mr Speaker, you are right, I am deviating, but the reason I have deviated is this ... In fact, I think the ranking of the Opposition benches is almost set out before me, except those two need to change around. Why am I saying those things? For a simple reason: because the hon. Gentleman is talking about the election. The reason I mention the result of the election is because he is talking about the manifesto, the designs we put in the manifesto and how we performed against that.

830

The hon. Gentleman would be hauling me over his alleged coals if we had entered into heads of terms with developers in Gibraltar for something we thought might be called Victoria Keys and we had not announced it. If the Government does an arrangement with four developers in Gibraltar, we do not announce it because it is not finalised, it is just heads of terms, and we do not publish it, the hon. Gentleman will come here and say, 'You have done a secret deal with developers in Gibraltar which you not telling the people of Gibraltar about,' and he will try to take the kudos for it. If we do announce it but we do not yet have a final agreement, he says, 'You announce something and you do not have a final agreement.' I am sorry to say has he forgotten that between 2019 and 2022, those events that we were talking about happened and they deprived everyone in every economy of being able to progress matters?

835

840

Mr Speaker, I am sorry, you want to say something?

Mr Speaker: I think you have explained the position very clearly and we now need to move on. Do you have another ...? Let's move on to the next question.

845

Q405/2022
Red ID cards –
Difficulties in renewing

Clerk: Question 405/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

850 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, is the Government aware of concerns about difficulties being encountered by registered Gibraltarians seeking to renew red ID cards?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

855 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the process and criteria for identity card renewal has not changed and therefore we are unaware what difficulties are being encountered by applicants. As at 13th October 2022, a total of 5,372 red identity cards had been issued in 2022, and whilst processing times may differ, influenced by the number of applications in a given period, these, on average, take between 10 and 12 working days to process.

860 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am reluctant to speak about individual cases across the floor of the House, but perhaps I can discuss issues with the Chief Minister if there are any particular cases.

865 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman knows that my door is always open, if he has a constituent who has a particular difficulty, to try to assist in any way we can.

I will say that in a number of instances when I have tried to get involved, there have been failures of submission of information etc. and we have been able to resolve it very quickly with the individuals. In fact, I should also say, in praise of this Department, that I do not just hear the bad, I also hear the good. I am told that in many instances the waiting period is much shorter than 870 10 to 12 days.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q406/2022
Minors crossing the border –
Reason for controls introduced by Spain

Clerk: Question 406/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

875 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, has the Government been made aware of why the Spanish authorities have introduced new controls at the border concerning minors wishing to cross the border?

880 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I refer the hon. Gentleman to a recent technical notice issued by the Government, which can be found on the Government website. I am sure the hon. Gentleman has had regard to it.

885 Hon. K Azopardi: I have, but, unless I have missed something ... It explains the new arrangements in mechanical terms but I did not see that there was a clear explanation of why this had come about, and I was wondering if there had been an engagement with the Spanish 890 authorities as to why that was so. The technical notice starts with the words, 'The Spanish authorities have advised the Gibraltar authorities that as from [a particular date] ...' and the purpose of the question was to understand where this was coming from.

Hon. Chief Minister: I can tell him, Mr Speaker, that the contact between authorities was at the very local level, literally at the Frontier between those who discharge these obligations on our behalf and those who discharge obligations on behalf of the Spanish authorities, and that higher 895 up there is no perception of any change in respect of the operation of the Frontier. But this is, in fact, the position for entry and exit from Spain.

I can tell him that there are a number of instances where we would also request this data or information. Our law already provides for that. The fact that our law provides for it does not mean we require it in every instance. Our law is designed to prevent abduction etc. and I believe that is 900 the situation in Spain as well. It is more an issue that would be driven by suspicion of an officer, who would be able to ask for that sort of information in the event that he believed there was a crossing which was not a legitimate, normal crossing.

Hon. K Azopardi: I am grateful for that answer. As I have understood what he has just said, it 905 is not responsive to any particular incident or because they have decided to implement international convention obligations in a particular way as a result of a definitive change of practice.

Hon. Chief Minister: That is how we understand it, Mr Speaker; that is correct.
910

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q407-08/2022
UK-EU treaty –
Referendum; parliamentary debate

Clerk: Question 407/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. D J Bossino: Now you can ask about the treaty.
915

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, does the Government expect to put any proposed EU-UK treaty on a future arrangement for Gibraltar with the European Union to a referendum; and, if so, at what point?
920

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer with Question 408.

Clerk: Question 408/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, will the Government put any proposed EU-UK treaty on a future arrangement for Gibraltar with the European Union to a parliamentary debate in Gibraltar before 925 it is entered into?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I refer the hon. Gentleman to my recent Direct Democracy on Radio Gibraltar, where I dealt in detail with the issue of a referendum on any UK-EU treaty over Gibraltar. During that programme I said this:
930

Well, I think I have answered this question on a number of occasions. I think there is a right moment and a wrong moment for a referendum. People elected a Parliament for the purposes of the parliamentarians giving effect to their manifestos and to make the decisions that we are empowered to make through our representation of the people of Gibraltar. It is also true that this treaty, if it emerges, – ‘emerge’ is the right word to use in a context like that – will change our relationship with the European Union very materially. And the fact that we are in the stage at which we are arises from a decision made in a referendum in 2016, so I do believe that there is a right moment to put the issues that the treaty will give rise to in a referendum. Nobody is going to find me standing in the way of the people of Gibraltar expressing their views, especially on the work product that I have led in the context of a referendum. I am not going to shy away from submitting that work product to a plebiscite, a referendum of the people, but I think it has to be done at the right time, in the right way and in a way that is designed to empower Gibraltar and the Gibraltarians in the best possible way, in the best possible moment, because as you know, and as has been indicated on a number of occasions, this treaty will have a number of phases and Gibraltar needs to be strong and empowered throughout the period of the negotiation.

935 Finally, I do expect to put the future arrangements to a parliamentary debate before it is ratified.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, he will know that I follow his interventions in the media, so yes, I did hear his ... Well, I would not say assiduously. One has to do it compulsorily but not perhaps assiduously (Interjection) when they emerge. For those who are listening and viewing this debate, 940 he has helpfully repeated what he said, but he will understand when I say that he couched that in a manner where it was not obvious whether he was committing to a referendum or the timescale of that, so let me slice my questions up, if I may.

945 Is he saying to this House, by repeating what he said on Direct Democracy, that he has formed the view that there will be a referendum in Gibraltar on the issue of the EU treaty but the only question is when?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not think I have couched my language in any particular way that is nuanced; I think I have been very clear.

950 I want to also ensure that people do not think the Government makes policy at Question Time. Calling a referendum is a hugely serious matter. The United Kingdom has got us into the bind in which we find ourselves and in which the United Kingdom finds itself because of what I can best describe as the flippant use of referenda in order to achieve a party political purpose. I do not think, given the short sweep of history since 2016, that anybody would disagree with that.

955 So I think we all have to be careful in how we approach this issue. We have to ensure that none of us uses the idea of a referendum in a way that is designed to advance our party political causes, and that is why I have been at pains to say that we must have Gibraltar’s best interests at heart in the context of the calling of a referendum in respect of this treaty and the timing of any potential referendum to be called in respect of the treaty.

960 It may be useful, party politically, for the hon. Gentleman to try to push me further, but keeping the best interests of Gibraltar at heart first and foremost, I ask him to dissect very carefully what I am saying. He and I have spoken about these issues more privately. I am happy to have a more private discussion with him if he wishes.

965 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I can be accused of many things, but I hope he does not think that when I raise these issues I do so from any other standpoint than believing firmly, always, that we have the public interests of Gibraltar at heart – both of us, by the way. Nor was I suggesting that I am asking him to make party policy or Government policy at Question Time. Indeed, he has not suggested that that is the case. He has put forward what he said on the Direct Democracy programme as a statement of the Government’s position. I am just trying to understand it by 970 seeking information.

975 What I asked him is am I understanding the position properly, that the Government has taken a policy decision that there will be a referendum and the question is timing, or is it the position that the Government has not taken a position yet that there will be a referendum, and so it is not necessarily about timing? That is all I was asking, so I am not sure if I understood the question. If the answer is they are not yet in a position to decide either way whether there will be a referendum, well, that is the answer; but if the answer is they have decided there will be a referendum but the question is when that will happen, that is also the answer.

980 Hon. D J Bossino: I think it is the former.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, my answer is that I believe I have already given the answer, in particular given that I have repeated the answer that I gave on Direct Democracy, which I think is very clear.

985 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I do not find it clear and I wonder whether other people in Gibraltar might be in the same position as me. I would ask the hon. Member to reflect further on the clarity of it.

Can I ask him, in respect of the other question, which is whether he will put the treaty to a parliamentary debate ...? He said I have asked before it was entered into. He has answered before it is ratified. They are different things, so, again, can I ask ...? My understanding of his answer is that he is saying it will not be put to the House before it is entered into.

995 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker treaties are entered into when they are ratified in international law. Before then, they may have been agreed, but if they are not ratified they are not really formally entered into and they do not come into effect. So what matters is that the House, in my view, should have the right to consider whether the treaty should be ratified, which is what would bring it into effect, and that is the Government's commitment.

1000 If what the hon. Gentleman is asking me is whether I will bring here a draft, for him to mark my homework and send me back to the negotiating table, the answer is that will not happen. The Government will come with the treaty that we propose should be ratified, because if we do not believe that what emerges from the discussion should be ratified we will not bring it here. We will simply not agree it. If the Gibraltar Cabinet does not agree the terms, then it will not come to this Parliament because the Government will not agree it, and then we will not be proposing that it should be ratified; but if the Gibraltar Cabinet is prepared to agree the terms, we will bring it here so that the Parliament sends it for ratification.

1010 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, as I understand what he is saying, the debate would happen after it is entered into but not ratified. By 'entered into' what I mean is signed by the parties but not ratified. That is as I have understood his answer. Am I understanding his answer correctly?

1015 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the agreement treaty, or whatever it is, will not be signed unless it is agreed to by the Gibraltar Cabinet – that is to say the Gibraltar Government – and it will not be ratified unless it is agreed by the Gibraltar Parliament. That is usual in every democracy. Governments agree the terms of treaties, parliaments ratify them. That is what is going to happen here. We are going to, as a Government, agree the terms, if we can agree them. We will continue to brief hon. Members, as we have been doing, and then, once the Government has decided that it can agree something, it will come here. Obviously, if the Government does not agree that it can accept the terms, then there will not be an agreement to bring here, or anywhere else.

1020 Mr Speaker: One final question.

Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, Mr Speaker, and it is this, really: does the hon. Member not agree that the position, therefore, has changed? In January 2021 we had this exchange. I asked him in January 2021 is the Gibraltar Parliament going to debate the treaty before it is signed; are we going to have an opportunity to do so? He replied:

Will there be a parliamentary debate in Gibraltar before the treaty is signed? That is certainly the intention of the Government of Gibraltar ...

That is not what he is saying today. The position has changed, hasn't it?

Hon. Chief Minister: Absolutely not, Mr Speaker. The signature is the ratification. The only thing that the parties do before ratification is indicate that that is what they are taking back to their governments, and it could not be any other way.

Is the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition suggesting that he is in a different position to leaders of the opposition everywhere else in the world, where Governments bring agreements that they have done for ratification by parliament, and that is the moment when it is signed, in the context of the United Kingdom and Gibraltar by the Sovereign or on behalf of the Sovereign, only after ratification? That is the way it is going to work in this context. The ratification is what is going to matter here, because any signature that happens before is subject to ratification. It does not have any effect until there is ratification.

Mr Speaker: Is the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition content with the answer?

BUSINESS, TOURISM AND THE PORT

Q317-18/2022

OS35/LNG vessel collision –

Equipment and resources; lessons learnt and improvements for the future

1040 Clerk: Question 317/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Can the Government state what equipment and resources were found wanting in reacting to the collision of the bulk carrier OS35 with the LNG vessel over the summer?

1045 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 318.

1050 Clerk: Question 318/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state what lessons have been learnt from the collision, so far, and where we can improve our preparedness and response in relation to a reoccurrence of incidents of this nature?

1055 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, no resources and equipment were found wanting in respect of the collision of the bulk carrier OS35 and the LNG vessel.

1060 The Marine Accident Investigation Compliance Officer is currently conducting an investigation. The findings of this investigation may contain recommendations, but these are expected to be more in terms of how we can avoid or lessen the likelihood of reoccurrence, rather than measures on how we improve our preparedness or response.

1065 Additionally, I must reiterate that the Gibraltar Port Authority and its VTS team acted in a proactive and professional manner, which mitigated against a more serious incident occurring.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I do not think anyone in this House would criticise those hardworking individuals who had to deal with this situation, but of course situations arise in emergency situations. Sorry, I did not hear some comment on the other side by one of the Minsters. Obviously, emergency situations occur and we can all learn from these types of incidents.

1070 The reason why I asked the question in relation to equipment and resources was in relation to the speed at which that was delivered. I know some time was taken to respond and I wondered whether any lessons had been learnt as to what we could do to increase the number of resources to cater for this type of incident in the future. The Minister has said that we have enough equipment and enough resources and there is nothing to learn from that, but I would be grateful for a bit more of an answer in relation to that.

Hon. V Daryanani: I think, Mr Speaker, it is still early days because, as I have said, the Marine Accident Investigation Compliance Officer is currently conducting an investigation. We are looking at things insofar as what we can learn, but we are always learning. This is a situation that we found ourselves in and we have handled it in a very proactive manner. The marine industry worldwide has come out and said that Gibraltar handled this situation, in the circumstances, as well as possible. We will have to wait for the next few months while we carry out the recovery of the vessel and we will see what can be looked at after that.

Hon. E J Phillips: Just insofar as the extent of the investigation that the Minister has referred to, does that extend beyond the causes of the incident?

1090 Hon. V Daryanani: Your next question on the Order Paper will ...

Q319/2022
OS35/LNG vessel collision –
Publication of independent investigation report

Clerk: Question 319/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state that it will publish a full, detailed report of the independent investigation into the causes of the incident and our response to the OS35/LNG vessel collision?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

1100 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, under the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Accident Reporting and Investigation) Regulations 2012, the Marine Accident Investigation Compliance Officer is required to make available any safety investigation to the public, and especially to the maritime sector, within 12 months of the date of the casualty. If it is not possible to produce the final report within that time, an interim report shall be published within 12 months of that date.

1105 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, we are grateful for the confirmation that that process has now been engaged under the particular regulations that the Minister has referred to.

Does the Minister have any information whatsoever to provide any update to this House on how it is going and when it is likely to meet that particular target, and any initial conclusions that can be drawn from those interim reports, or, indeed, the report that will be forthcoming?

1110

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, at this moment we are not prepared to make any comment because the investigation is ongoing.

1115 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask who is conducting the report? Is it an independent body? Is it someone who is ...?

Hon. V Daryanani: We have appointed an independent expert in this field.

1120 Hon. K Azopardi: Can we know who that is? Is he drawn from a particular entity?

Hon. V Daryanani: Yes.

1125 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, we took careful advice in respect of this. Because the investigation is ongoing, the identity of the individual should not be disclosed, so that he should not be subject to any attempts to intimidate or otherwise coerce.

1130 The person is drawn from a list of individuals who have experience and who are recommended by the United Kingdom Department of Transport, who have responsibility for the Red Ensign. Usually, the investigating state should be the state of the flag state of the vessel, which is Tuvalu. Tuvalu asked that the Gibraltar Maritime Authority accident investigation should run with the investigation. We agreed to do that, or rather the accident investigation in Gibraltar agreed to do that and to appoint somebody from outside Gibraltar to carry out the investigation from the United Kingdom.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q320/2022

Refurbishment of entry points – Expected timeline

1135 Clerk: Question 320/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Further to the answer given to Question 254/2022, please state when Gibraltar's entry points, particularly by sea and land, will be refurbished from their current deplorable state.

1140

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

1145 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the Government will make an announcement on this when we are ready to do so. Work to add electronic digital systems etc. is being finalised and we expect to do one refurbishment exercise.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have received representations in relation to this. I have received photographic images of the cruise liner terminal, and the external walls really are in a bad way. I have also seen, myself, and I have also received representations to the effect, by way 1150 of photographic evidence, of the pedestrian access on the Gibraltar side of the Frontier. I normally cross over by car, and even the vehicle access is not that brilliant, but I must say the pedestrian access fares worse. I have also received, very recently, complaints about Gibraltar Airport not being in a particularly good state. The toilets there, I am told, are in a really bad way.

1155 A lot of these things, I think, are capable of quick resolution. He says that an announcement will be made. I am assuming that the announcement is a precursor of something a bit more substantive and part of a project to refurbish all these things. Maybe the Minister can ... I invite him to elucidate upon that, but does he not agree with me that at least a quick patch-up job, a quick paint job, would do wonders and at least make Gibraltar's entry points more respectable than they currently look?

1160

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have been very clear with all Ministers that I think we have a responsibility to be very careful with taxpayers' money at this moment. I can already read the question that hon. Members would put to us if we spent a penny painting a wall which we demolished four weeks later. The hon. Gentleman needs to understand that if we are 1165 looking to add electronic entry systems to Gibraltar under one set of circumstances, which should be clear in a few weeks, or not, if we are looking to change flows of people in the Airport if we do a particular deal or not, he would be the anvil with which we would be hit if we had spent money painting that wall four weeks earlier. We do not want to incur a cost to the taxpayer that would be undone a few weeks later.

1170 The hon. Gentleman has talked about the problem with the toilets, which I think neither I nor the Minister were aware of, which does not fall into that category, but all the other instances that he is talking about which we are aware of we are holding back on because we expect clarity, which will enable us to make announcements of projects in one direction or another, depending what result we emerge with from the negotiations in respect of the UK-EU treaty. That is why nothing has been done now.

1175 We are as concerned that we should look as good as we can, but we are also concerned not to spend money unnecessarily. Those are two conflicting situations and I am sure, given that they constantly tell us that we must not be overspent in any head in the Budget Book, they would not want us to paint the same wall twice, which is exactly what I am saying would happen if we were 1180 to move now.

Hon. D J Bossino: I am not sure that reply addresses some of the entry points. If I am kind to the hon. Gentleman, I think that, actually, it is a very weak response. Certainly the cruise liner terminal ... I am not sure that is going to be in any way impacted by the negotiations in relation to 1185 the EU treaty.

Can I just assuage the concerns the Government may have in relation to this? I can undertake that I will make absolutely no criticism should they spend at least a bit of money for a coat of paint to improve those entry points; I think it would be a reasonable initiative on the part of the Government.

1190 In terms of a specific question, Mr Speaker, can I ask the Minister ...? I think he said he would be making announcements soon, or words to that effect, but did he also say there were certain refurbishment works that were going to be a bit more imminent than others? He is shaking his head. Can he elucidate in relation to that? I did ask, during the course of my preamble to my earlier question, whether he could elucidate as to what type of works he is going to be carrying out in 1195 relation to the entry points. I think he has only mentioned some of them.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, what we said and I reiterated is that there would be different types of works done, depending on the outcome of the UK-EU negotiations, and that in some instances we will be adding electronic systems which will do one thing or another, depending on 1200 the outcome of the negotiations.

1205 We have had a number of debates in this House in relation to spending. The hon. Gentleman is saying to us, 'Spend a bit of money on paint,' as if that were, in the context of what he is saying, very little money. The hon. Gentleman obviously does not have experience of government, but it is not very little money to paint an area, in particular an area that you think you may be setting to refurbish in a different way, depending on the outcome of a negotiation that is potentially going to be concluded in a matter of weeks or months.

1210 They tell us it is terrible that we are overspent in respect of the Gibraltar Electricity Authority, even where the overspending deals with the cost of fuel so that we can have the lights on – and that is not a choice; if you want to keep the lights on, you have to pay for the fuel – yet now he is asking us to make the choice to spend on something which we will potentially undo in a few weeks. I ask him to understand that we are not trying to avoid having our entry points as spick and span as we would like them to be. We want them to be totally spick and span, but we think it is worth waiting a little while and having one job done, rather than having to undo a job that might be done.

1215

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q321/2022
Gibraltar Airport arrivals –
Human resources issues

Clerk: Question 321/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1220 Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide an update as to the human resources issues impacting on flight arrivals at the Gibraltar Airport.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

1225 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, this is a National Air Traffic Services (NATS) problem, who are on contract to the Ministry of Defence. The Airport Terminal Director is only informed of NATS human resources issues when there is an operational impact on civilian flights, so that he can manage these, but he has no information on any HR matters, including their manning and sickness levels, or the contractual obligations between them, as there has never been a direct link to HM Government here.

1230 The Government has insisted to the MoD that it must ensure it complies with its obligation to keep the runway open and operating as per the agreement with us.

1235 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am sure he, they, the Government, and certainly we in Opposition, are equally frustrated on this one, and we do appreciate on this side of the House that the legal factual realities are such that the Government, in a direct way, has, in some respects, very little that it can do to resolve this. This is certainly not the Government's fault, but clearly we all agree across the floor of this House, judging by the press statements we have both made as a result of this issue, that the closure so often in recent history is having an impact on flight arrivals. That is an obvious point. The danger then becomes that it could have a more medium-to-long-term effect in terms of our reputation and impact on the efforts the Government may be making to attract more airlines and more air passengers to Gibraltar.

1240

Can I ask him whether he has any further information and any further updates as to a proper resolution to what appear to be human resources issues impacting particularly in relation to sick leave? I imagine there is sick leave and therefore there are not enough people to cover those 1245 unfortunate absences. It is something that, as far as I am concerned, from my own memory, never used to happen before, and if it did, I do not recall the Gibraltar Airport having been closed as a result. Can I ask him for that information?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I had a meeting this morning – because it is my responsibility to meet with the Commander of the British Forces (CBF) once a month – where this issue was broached. I made the position extraordinarily clear on behalf of the Government and people of Gibraltar, as he would expect, and of course the Commander of the British Forces was equally trenchant in his view that the position of NATS has been entirely unacceptable in the failure of their obligations to the Ministry of Defence. There is a chain of agreements here. The Government has an arrangement with the Ministry of Defence and the Ministry of Defence have an arrangement with NATS, which is the UK air traffic control company.

Hon. Members will remember that in all of the difficult exchanges I had with Trevor Hammond, when he was in this House, I always used to say he was an excellent professional in his field, which was air traffic control etc. Mr Feetham will remember that I often berated him for not being an expert on gas, but I said he was an excellent professional when it came to the safe management of our aircraft. It never used to happen when Trevor Hammond was in charge at NATS, and I make that point repeatedly to CBF and to others. I am very concerned that the absence of an understanding of Gibraltar Airport at the management level at NATS may have been lost, and that is one of the concerns that I believe CBF also understands and is communicating to NATS.

I do fear that we are not out of the woods yet and that we are still going to have a number of instances where we are going to see Gibraltar airfield not being able to operate in the hours when it should be operating whilst they train up new people who have been recruited. It is not possible to bring people from the United Kingdom to simply do their job here, because they need to have airfield-specific qualifications or knowledge, which takes time to acquire. So you cannot simply fly people out to fill the gap that you have; you have to recruit people and train them, and that is going to take a number of months.

The position of the Government of Gibraltar and the people of Gibraltar has been made extraordinarily clear to the Ministry of Defence and from the Ministry of Defence also to NATS, and the Government has reduced the amount that we pay under the Customs and User Agreement as a result of the hours of operation of the airfield being reduced. That may not seem like much of a sledgehammer in the negotiations, but if the hon. Gentleman thinks that we have a weapon that we are not using, perhaps instead of asking us to use it he might point us to where it is.

Hon. DJ Bossino: Can I ask him a very specific question? I share the views that he has in relation to Trevor Hammond, quite apart from the fact that he is my first cousin. The specific question is: is the resolution of the problem – and I will go on to the problem now – increasing the complement, if I have understood him correctly from his meeting with the CBF this morning, and is the problem sick leave? Can he confirm that that is what is impacting the Gibraltar Airfield and its operation?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the solution to the problem is recruitment. One of the aspects which requires recruitment, and probably the principal aspect, is sick leave, but not just sick leave on its own. Remember we do have something that they say I pray in aid but which has physical realities that manifest themselves, namely COVID, which has affected every aspect of how we and others run organisations and which continues to affect us because we ask people not to come to work in certain circumstances in order not to infect others. COVID is still there. It is not a killer anymore, in the way that it was. It still, unfortunately, claims the lives of some. With a vaccine we are able to live with it, but it does not mean we want people who have it to come to work, because there could be issues with infecting others.

All of that is happening in the background. Those are the things that I have been told and which I am happy to share with him, and to continue the references of praise in respect of his cousin.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q322/2022
Tourism development –
Measures to encourage private sector investment

1300 Clerk: Question 322/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state specifically how the Government expects the private sector to invest in developing tourism in Gibraltar; and what policy measures, if any, will it introduce to encourage that investment to take effect?

1305

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the Member opposite is asking me the same question that GBC recently asked me in an interview. There are certain ways in which we can see private sector investment taking place: improving their offerings, joint marketing, and new businesses related to tourism. These are a few examples of private sector investment or involvement.

1310

Mr Bossino should know that we are working with the new CEO, Mr Bossino, to establish how best to progress this way of working. I am happy to brief Mr Bossino on the advice we receive from Mr Bossino in this respect.

1315

Hon. D J Bossino: I was waiting for that, Mr Speaker, and it has arrived. So be it. I am sure Mr Bossino, the CEO of the GTB, will do a very good job; I am absolutely certain of that. (Banging on desk)

1320

In fact, the question does not arise from his interview with GBC – although I know he made those comments in that interview, I did not watch the interview myself – but it actually arises from comments he made to the Gibraltar Business Magazine in its last edition. If I may quote just a few of the things he said – this is not him saying it; it is the report of the journalist saying ... I do not know whether he wishes to resile from what he said. I am sure it is in consonance with what he told the public via GBC. He said:

1325

The Minister believes the private sector needs to invest more in tourism, – which is, I think, in essence, what he had told GBC. And then he said, and I think this is a direct quote:

maybe by looking into some sort of partnership with Government. I am happy to discuss ideas with them.

1330

The reason why I ask this question ... and he has given an answer in this House, but I am afraid to say that whilst there may be some more particulars in what he has said now, it is not particularly particular. He talks about improving the offering and marketing and things like that. I asked specifically whether there was a policy and policy measures in relation to this, so is there anything other than a general comment about how he wishes the private sector and his encouragement of the private sector to invest in the tourism product? Is there anything more specific that the Government is doing by way of, let's say ... I do not know ... financial assistance? For example, the 1335 Hon. the Father of the House, yesterday, in reply to questions posed by my learned friend and colleague the Leader of the Opposition, did not provide the specific criteria which would influence him as to whether he would accept new investment or participate in that investment, but he at least gave a bit more information as to what the general guidelines were. I do not see that from the hon. Member.

1340

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, there is a lot of work that goes on behind the scenes, and when I talk about the private sector ... I am always talking to members of the private sector businesses related to tourism because they are key to the whole tourism business going forward.

1345 We need to understand that the Government has invested a lot of funds over the last 10 years in our tourism product, in beautifying the Nature Reserve, the suspension bridge, investment in St Michael's Cave, the Sky Walk ... All these things have been achieved over the last five years, so we have invested a lot of funds in this.

1350 When I use the word 'partnership'... Partnership can be looked at in [inaudible] partnership.
One of the examples I will give you is joint marketing. The Government has certain funds that we can invest in marketing. We need to be careful, the times that we are in at the moment, but if we had a partnership on marketing with the private sector ... I will give you an example. I was at a trade fair recently where Gibraltar had what I would describe as a modest stand, and then we had a jurisdiction next to us, which will remain nameless at this moment, and they had a massive stand with about 20 people on the stand. I thought this was quite impressive. I spoke to some of them 1355 and it showed they had a partnership with the private sector. They had hotels, they had people who had businesses related to tourism, the Government – everybody was together. I think that is what I mean when I say 'partnership' and what I mean by 'involvement'. It is important to have some form of involvement from the private sector, because they benefit too.

1360 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I accept that and I am grateful for the reply. Some form of involvement is right, and there has always been private sector investment in tourism, building hotels and things like that, but he seems to be calling for something different because the words he uses are 'investing more in tourism' and he wants that private sector involvement. His response has been focused specifically on the issue of marketing, which is fine, but in his introduction to 1365 the reply he was talking more about bricks-and-mortar type investments when he talked about the expenditure which I think has come from the Government finances in relation to the Sky Walk and things like that. Is he looking at something like that, as well, whereby the private sector would, perhaps in partnership with the Government, put some money in, in return, presumably, for some profit-making activity which would be of benefit to them? Obviously it has to be of benefit to the 1370 private sector as well. Is that something he is looking at, in terms of bricks and mortar projects he has in mind?

1375 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, as I said, there is a lot of work that is going on behind the scenes. I can tell you there are certain projects I have. I feel reluctant to announce them, because we do not know where we are going. The Chief Minister said we need to see what happens with a treaty over the coming months, so we need to wait a little bit and be a bit more patient, but I can tell him to rest assured that we will be making some announcements because I have some good projects online.

1380 Hon. D J Bossino: One final question, and I am grateful to the Speaker for his leave. Is he telling the House that the announcement, as things stand in relation to the further particularity that I am seeking, is being held back as a result of the conclusion of the EU treaty negotiations? Is my understanding correct?

1385 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Of course it is, Mr Speaker. How could it not? The whole issue of entry into Gibraltar and whether people coming from Schengen areas will pass a passport 1390 control and those coming from outside will pass a different passport control goes to the root of how tourists will access Gibraltar, and that is one of the things he knows and the whole of Gibraltar knows is being negotiated in the context of the treaty. So, of course this is going to be an issue that needs to be determined before people make decisions about which investments to make in Gibraltar. It is not that there is not going to be investment if you do one or the other; it is that there may be different investment geared to different options.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q323/2022
Gibraltar Maritime Day –
Details of events

1395 Clerk: Question 323/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1400 Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide the following details relating to the Minister for Tourism's recently launched Gibraltar Maritime Day: (i) how many events have been held to date; (ii) who comprised the Government's delegation at each event; (iii) the total cost of each trip, broken down into air travel costs, lodgings and entertainment; (iv) who the Minister met at each event; (v) what new business has been secured as a result of each trip; and (vi) the duration of each trip.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

1405 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, no events have been held to date.

1410 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I refer the Hon. Minister to a press release he issued on 18th August. I am sure he is aware of it, and I am sure he has it there, as part of his supplementary preparations. It is Press Release 576/2022. In that press release, which is where he announced his project in relation to Gibraltar Maritime Day, which is described as a new project that will help showcase the Gibraltar maritime product abroad and which talks about bespoke events, there is a specific reference to the first event being held in London on 20th September. Did that event not take place?

1415 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, the event did not take place. The first reason was that we were dealing with OS35. The Captain of the Port was busy, of course. This was going to be a project that was led by the Port Authority and the Maritime Administration; both were engaged with the OS35 incident. We were considering going ahead with it, but then obviously there was also the sad passing of Her Majesty and we decided to postpone the event.

1425 Hon. D J Bossino: What would the event have looked like? He talks about this particular project, which he has described as Gibraltar Maritime Day, which I imagine is activities like those which his Ministry, during this Government's time – and, indeed, the predecessor Government used to do ... It is not something new. I just want to explore a bit further how he thinks this project is going to be different than what was done before. I know in the press release it talks about bespoke events, but nothing much more than that. Perhaps he can expand on that, particularly in terms of what he was planning to do for that event on 20th September.

1430 Hon. V Daryanani: The hon. Member will know that the Port Authority has always been ... We have started this new event in Gibraltar, which is Gibraltar Maritime Week, and in discussions with 1435 the Captain we thought it would be a good idea to go abroad with, as I called it, a bespoke event, where we wanted to showcase the Port, the Maritime Administration – obviously, under that we are talking about ship registration, yacht registration, the bunker facilities, something related to the Port and the specific position of our Port, and to look for more business abroad.

1440 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, if I can drill down a bit further, how is that different to what has been done before? If he is talking about bespoke, is it just going to be focused on Gibraltar selling its wares, so to speak, in terms of its Port activity – and its cruise activity in particular, I imagine? How is that different than what has been happening before, such that he describes this as a new project? It is literally in those terms, a new project called Gibraltar Maritime Day.

1445 Hon. V Daryanani: First of all, Mr Speaker, it has nothing to do with cruising. It was a very important part of this project that we did it in discussions with the private sector, with the Port operators, with the bunker companies, who are all prepared to support this Government-led project. I think that was important. I think that was different. I have been Minister for the Port for just over two years, so for me it was something new. As I said, in discussions with the Captain we both thought this was something good to do for Gibraltar, especially when the Port of Gibraltar has done an excellent job over the last two years, especially during COVID, when other ports were closed and we were open for business, bunker volumes were up, crew changes were up, and revenue was up even when other businesses were not doing well.

1450

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q324-25/2022

Hotels –

Hotel Indigo expected date of reopening; update re new hotel

1455 Clerk: Question 324/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is the Government in a position to state when the Hotel Indigo is expected to open?

1460 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 325.

1465 Clerk: Question 325/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is the Government in a position to provide an update as to the opening of a further hotel by the end of this year?

1470 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, the answer to both these questions is no.

1475 Hon. D J Bossino: That is a very unhelpful answer on this occasion. I normally like to try to improve relations with the hon. Member, but it seems that, despite my offerings, it is falling on deaf ears. I suppose that is a matter for him. He was certainly more explicit in the interview he offered to the Gibraltar Business Magazine, which again I quote because he says two or three 1480 more hotels would help us further. He has identified that because it is well known that, actually, our occupancy levels are quite high, although I have an issue as to statistically why that is not shown in terms of higher averages, as he knows. Not going there, but that is the precursor of what he stated, which was this:

The Hotel Indigo is set to make its debut soon.

If I have the hotel correct, is this the one that used to be the old RBS Eurolife building by the entrance to Laguna estate? It does not look as if it is going to be opening soon, I must say, and that is why I wanted to investigate it further – unless he has a really stretchy definition of what ‘soon’ means.

1485 Then, apart from that hotel, he talks about the announcement of one more hotel, potentially, he says, by the end of the year. That has obviously piqued my curiosity and I wanted to know which hotel it is. He was certainly more forthcoming in his interview, and I wonder if he would reconsider and be equally, or perhaps even more forthcoming in his answer to this House.

1490 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, I cannot say more.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, he said more in the Gibraltar Business Magazine. He talked about, specifically, an announcement of one more hotel by the end of the year. Why can’t he at least confirm that? He may not be able to say which hotel it is, for example, but he said that the announcement of one hotel would potentially be made by the end of the year, and he talks particularly about the Hotel Indigo being open soon. I have put to him that that cannot be right in relation to the Hotel Indigo because of the state, by just looking at it, that the construction is currently in, and there does not seem to be any movement whatsoever in terms of construction in relation to that hotel.

1500 I must tell him, with the greatest of respect to him, that he is being totally and utterly unhelpful and I would ask him to please reconsider and provide more details, or allow the Chief Minister to answer for him, which is what I expect is going to happen in the next couple of nanoseconds.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I think the hon. Gentleman is being remarkably unfair, and, indeed, in doing so, it is he who is being unhelpful.

1505 The Hon. Minister has been asked whether he can say more than he has said in the Gibraltar Business Magazine. He cannot say more than he said in the Gibraltar Business Magazine. We are not yet at the end of the year, the time has not yet come to make that announcement and the information that the hon. Member has from those who are developing the hotel is that there are works ongoing, so it is the hon. Gentleman – who, based just on his observations as he might have driven or walked past the area of the Indigo Hotel – is reaching those conclusions and making those assumptions, and, in doing so, is, I put it to him, being both unfair and unhelpful. For that reason, I get up to set out the position of the Government, which is to stand squarely behind the things the Hon. the Minister for Tourism said in that magazine and which have a life until the end of the year, when we expect to be able to say a little more.

1515

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q326/2022
Airbnb –
Progress re regulation

Clerk: Question 326/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1520 Hon. D J Bossino: Please state whether any progress has been made to regulate Airbnbs in Gibraltar.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

1525 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the Government is currently looking at regulating Airbnbs. With the recent success in increase in overnight tourism in Gibraltar, the time has come to be able to regulate the industry and be aware of the detail.

In a recent meeting with the Hotel Association, we decided we would start work on this and agreed that they would come back to the Government with recommendations. I look forward to receiving these soon.

1530 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am not sure whether it is a recent success and whether by saying that he is wanting to ... I know he is just as sensitive as the Hon. the Leader of the House is, as well as wishing to political point score and attribute that supposedly recent success to his own activity as leader of that particular Department, but can I ask him again for a bit more information?
1535 He says he has gone out to consultation, and presumably he is waiting for the result of that to take its course, but can I ask him what his thinking is? In other words, what does he think the regulation is going to be achieving and addressing?

1540 Again, I do listen and read what he says, and I quote again the interview he gave the particular magazine I referred to earlier. He talks about nothing more than saying it is something he is looking into and that he thinks, as far as Airbnbs are concerned, it requires some form of regulation. I would ask him to expand on that.

1545 Hon. V Daryanani: I think it is important to know what exactly is going on in the Airbnb sector. From that point of view, I think it is important to regulate, especially ... I have to be careful with my words here. When we are trying to sell Gibraltar as a potential investment spot for hotels, people ask us for figures and what is the situation of Airbnb. We are not aware of all that and I think we have seen, as I said, over last year's success in overnight tourism in Gibraltar, that there were a lot of Airbnbs, there were a lot of apartments being rented out, and therefore it is important that we know that. The hotel industry wants, I think, to be aware of what is going on, 1550 so that is why I have asked them to come back with recommendations. I was at a meeting today with the Federation of Small Businesses and they brought up the subject of Airbnb. I told them to come back with what ideas they had and how they thought we should do it. This is a new thing, so I think it is important that we get as much consultation done as possible before embarking on legislation.

1555 Hon. D J Bossino: Can I explore that a bit further? Is the rationale behind the seeking of further regulation simply – and it may be both things that I am going to suggest – to have more control as to how many there are, so that, presumably, that will help statistically, if people are wishing to invest in Gibraltar and opening a new hotel, to know what the current snapshot bed offering is in Gibraltar? Is that the rationale? But is it the sole rationale?

1560 I do not pretend that I have spoken to the hotel industry in relation to this, but I can imagine that one concern would be a level playing field and the fact that the hotel industry needs to comply with certain things whilst these individuals are ... almost basically a free-for-all, because there is absolutely no regulation.

1565 Hon. V Daryanani: I think, Mr Speaker, for statistics purposes it is important to do that. We are not here to control anything; it is more knowledge than anything else. I think it is important to distinguish that a hotel is a hotel and an apartment is an apartment, so if you have people who are going to come to Gibraltar and stay for one night in an apartment, the hotels could consider 1570 that as some form of unfair competition.

I do not know, but having looked at some of the legislation that exists in different jurisdictions, there are certain rules, and one of them that struck me was that you need to stay for certain nights. So if you are staying for four nights, you cannot stay for one night in an Airbnb. If you are staying for three nights, then you can. If not, you should stay in a hotel. That is just one example.
1575 As I said, it is still very early days to go into that detail.

I want to carry on consulting with the Hotel Association. At the end of the day, they are the experts in this field, and our new CEO, Mr Bossino, who is also an expert in the hotel industry, will be advising me on this matter.

1580 Hon. D J Bossino: The new CEO has the hotel industry running through in his blood.

Can I congratulate the hon. Member for what I think was a very full response and in the spirit in which I expect him to be answering the questions, hopefully, from now on? It really was an interesting response and really helpful. Can I ask him when he expects to be in a position to roll out the regulations?

1585

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, as I said, I am waiting for a response from the Hotel Association. As soon as we have that ... and consult with whomever I think we need to consult with. I hope to do this as soon as possible because I think that is what the industry wants.

1590 Hon. E J Phillips: One simple question: is the Government considering short-term holiday letting legislation around this area? That might be one way to afford protections to those who rent accommodation in this way.

1595 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, it is not something that has been brought to my attention, so if you have any further information on that, I am happy to look into it.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q327/2022
LNG vessels –
Exclusion zones

Clerk: Question 327/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1600 Hon. K Azopardi: Good news.

Mr Speaker, does the Port Authority operate exclusion zones around LNG vessels?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

1605 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, there are no specific or extraordinary exclusion zones established around LNG vessels specifically at anchor, particularly when they are not conducting cargo operations.

1610 Hon. K Azopardi: The Minister will, I assume, want to wait for the report on the OS35 and Adam collision, but I would ask him to reflect ... Would he agree with me that, given what has been already put in the public domain, not least by the Chief Minister, as to that information that was available at the time as to the collision, it might be something to consider for the Government in future to reflect on legislation to have exclusion zones around LNG vessels that are anchored within our waters?

1615

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, first of all, I am not an expert in LNG, but having said that, LNG is extremely safe. We will wait for the outcome of the investigation. What I can tell him is that we apply all industry guidelines to LNG operations.

Adjournment

1620 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, given the time and given that hon. Members have another commitment that we want to support them being able to attend, and to express our own renewed condolences to the family of Terry Cartwright, I would propose that the House should now adjourn until tomorrow at 4.30 in the afternoon.

1625 Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Friday, 21st October at 4.30 p.m.

I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Friday, 21st October at 4.30 p.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

This House now adjourn to Friday, 21st October at 4.30 p.m.

The House adjourned at 5.17 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 4.34 p.m. – 7.04 p.m.

Gibraltar, Friday, 21st October 2022

Contents

Questions for Oral Answer	3
Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport	3
Q332-334/2022 Chilton Court – Parking spaces; refurbishment	3
Q335-37/2022 Government rental dwellings – Numbers available for allocation, undergoing refurbishment, and beyond repair	5
Q338/2022 Constituent surgeries – Whether conducted face to face by Housing Minister ...	8
Transport	9
Q339/2022 Bus app – Expected wait for reactivation.....	9
Q340/2022 Park and ride – Government position re implementation	9
Q341-43/2022 Registered vehicles by fuel type – Numbers and percentages re diesel, unleaded, hybrid and electric	10
Q344/2022 Regulation of electric scooters – Current position.....	14
Q345/2022 Road traffic offences in other jurisdictions – Requests for assistance from foreign authorities	16
Q346/2022 Road traffic offences in Gibraltar by non-residents – Requests made to foreign authorities for assistance.....	17
Q347/2022 Bus service – Intention to keep free of charge to Gibraltarians	19
Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education	20
Q373/2022 Littering offences – Number of people reported, warned, prosecuted or convicted.....	20

Q374-75/2022 Dog fouling offences – Number of people reported, warned, prosecuted or convicted; Trees – Number destroyed in last 24 months	21
Q376/2022 Trees – Number destroyed in last 24 months	22
Q377/2022 Refuse collection points – Collection times	22
Q378/2022 Service provision to beaches – Details of providers	24
Q379/2022 Charles V wall – Details of works	26
Q380/2022 Upper Town – Update re redevelopment.....	28
Q381/2022 Schedule of listed buildings – Whether private properties to be added.....	29
Q382/2022 Botanic Gardens – Refurbishment of footpaths and area near main entrance .	32
Q383/2022 St Martin’s School – Review of capacity	32
Q384/2022 Unqualified teaching staff – Whether employed in Government schools	36
Q385-86/2022 North Front cemetery – Condition and works undertaken.....	37
Questions for Written Answer	40
Adjournment	41
The House adjourned at 7.04 p.m.	41

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 4.30 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S Galliano Esq in attendance]

Questions for Oral Answer

HOUSING, EMPLOYMENT, YOUTH AND SPORT

Q332-334/2022

Chilton Court –

Parking spaces; refurbishment

Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Friday, 21st October 2022. We continue with Answers to Questions.

Question 332/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

5

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state when the construction of the car park at the Chilton Court estate is expected to commence and complete.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

10

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 333 and 334.

Clerk: Question 333/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state to whom the parking spaces at Chilton Court will be made available.

15

Clerk: Question 334/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state whether the Government has any immediate plans to attend to the general refurbishment and upkeep of the communal areas, including the external façade of the blocks and external areas at the Chilton Court estate.

20

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, there are currently two sponsored projects, under the National Economic Plan, at Chilton Court. There will be approximately 50 extra parking spaces, of which 80% will be made available to Chilton Court residents for rent and the rest will be for the use of clubs and associations.

25

30 The project currently has outline planning approval and has now been submitted for full planning application to be tabled at the DPC. As soon as the designs are approved I will be in a better position to inform on the dates.

We intend to do a general refurbishment of all housing estates which have not yet been done.
Chilton Court will also have the benefit of having the estate embellished due to the car parks, playing areas, clubs and premises building projects currently under the planning stage.

35 Hon. D J Bossino: Thank for that reply, to the hon. Member. In terms of the numbers, I have here that 50 are being made available to the residents. Out of how many parking spaces?

40 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the answer says 50 extra car parking spaces.

Hon. D J Bossino: And those 50 are being made available to residents – is that understanding correct?

45 Hon. S E Linares: Eighty per cent of them.

Hon. D J Bossino: So it is 80% of the 50 extra that are going to be made available to the residents. Does he have a total number of parking spaces? (Hon. S E Linares: One hundred and eighty) Is that the totality of it?

50 And when he talks about two sponsored projects – I think he said – by the National Economic Plan, is he choosing between the two or it encompasses all of it? There were two projects he was talking about, if I can put it in these terms. Can he provide more detail in relation to those two particular projects?

55 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the first project is going to be the project in which the current space in Chilton Court, which is the middle of Chilton Court, where the playground and the football and basketball area are, will be lifted. Car parking spaces and stores will be underneath and the replacement of the total of what is underneath will go on top. That is one project.

The second project is the one with clubs and associations, and also for the tenants to have their own club. So it is just in the Chilton Court area and that is the second project.

60 Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to the balance of those parking spaces, presumably they are being made available to the general market out there – or is there another residential area that is going to benefit from them?

65 Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker, those parking areas are for where the premises are going to be, so people who are using the premises will have certain parking spaces to put their cars in. So the project in which there are the premises, there are stores, there are the premises for the tenants' association and commercially it is for them. That means that they can have their own recreational area and they can do their own children's parties. It is for them. Obviously, if there 70 are going to be premises there, there are certain parking spaces available for people who attend the premises.

Hon. D J Bossino: I think I know what he means, but in terms of the premises, he is thinking about clubs and sporting activity types of thing? Okay. I think he has made that clear.

75 In relation to the refurbishment, I have seen correspondence that has been sent to him as recently as this summer – 10th July – and in fact, although there is a brief reference to the projects which I think he has now described as sponsored projects, 80% to 90% of the letter is a list of items that I will not necessarily need to go into now for the purposes of this session, where the residents are complaining about a lack of attendance in terms of refurbishment works that need to be done.
80 Can he give us more details as to what he proposes to do in relation that? I think the overall complaint is that there has been absolutely nothing done over the last 11 years. That may be an exaggeration, but certainly very little has been done in relation to refurbishment and upkeep of the area.

85 Hon. S E Linares: It is an exaggeration. We do, on a constant, day-by-day basis, maintenance of the whole estate. I am in constant contact with the tenants' association of the Chilton Court area and we discuss all these things. As and when they bring me things that need to be done, they are usually done. That we have not done the big refurbishment that has been done in other estates is true – yes, we have not done it – but, as I have said in my answer to the question, we are looking 90 at doing the whole refurbishment of Chilton Court as well as all the other estates.

Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to doing the whole refurbishment, which presumably is going to be a bigger project than simply touching up areas here and there, does he have a timeline as to when he expects that is likely to commence?

95 Hon. S E Linares: No, sir, not at this precise moment. I can tell the hon. Member that already within the projects we are doing we are looking at improving certain things around the estates that will help, but I cannot commit myself to a timeline now.

100 Hon. D J Bossino: By 'improving certain things' is he talking about in advance of the major projects? Is that what he is talking about? No?

Hon. S E Linares: In relation the projects we are doing.

105 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q335-37/2022

Government rental dwellings –

Numbers available for allocation, undergoing refurbishment, and beyond repair

Clerk: Question 335/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state how many units are available from the housing rental stock for allocation, categorising the units into size by the number of rooms.

110

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 336 and 337.

115

Clerk: Question 336/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state how many units from the Government housing rental stock have been earmarked for allocation but cannot be allocated as they are currently being refurbished for that purpose, categorising the units into size by the number of rooms.

120

Clerk: Question 337/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Can Government inform the House how many empty government dwellings are being refurbished for allocation and beyond repair?

125

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, as at 13th October 2022 there are 11 government rental properties available for allocation, all of which are currently under offer. These are one 1RKB, one 2RKB, four 3RKB, three 4RKB, one 5RKB and one 6RKB.

There are 28 properties which have already been earmarked to applicants on the waiting list and are in the process of being refurbished. These are three 1RKB, five 2RKB, 11 3RKB and nine 4RKB.

There are a total of 40 properties categorised beyond repair within the housing stock which will be put out to tender, and a further 92 properties which form part of the urban renewal project.

Hon. D J Bossino: We will take a look at the answer just given, Mr Speaker, with a bit more care – how many units are available.

In terms of the 28 properties, which he has then broken down, which are currently basically under refurb – they have been identified for allocation but they cannot be allocated until they are refurbished – can he give an indication as to more or less ...? I know it is difficult, because obviously each flat will have its own particular intricacies which will need to be dealt with, but a broad indication as to when these are likely to be made available?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member rightly said, it is very difficult to ascertain exactly, of the 28, how much time each one of them will take. I can tell the hon. Member that it is in Housing's interest to have it done as quickly as possible, but obviously, sometimes doing things quickly might not be of the standard that people expect, so it is a question of trying to balance whether we take a little bit more time in refurbishing a flat, for example, and also it depends on the condition we get the flat back in. It is very important, because we are now taking steps in trying to see that people at least return the flat somewhere near how they got it. It is incredible how, sometimes, we get flats back.

Hon. D J Bossino: It does strike me, in terms of his reply to Question 335, that the number is pretty low. Does he have a comment to make by way of expansion of his reply to the answer he has given? As I understand it, if my note-taking is accurate, there are 11 units available for allocation, and then he kindly categorises – the question was posed on that basis. Eleven does not seem like a lot if one considers the high number of individuals who are waiting for flats to be allocated, and certainly I think on this side of the House – and I suppose I speak on behalf of both parties on this side of the House – a lot of the constituency work we get is to do with housing and people waiting, in some cases, many years in very dire circumstances to be housed. I make just that comment.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I gave you a date, as of 13th October, because this is a moving number. For example, from the 28 properties I said are being refurbished, we might, next week, get eight or 10, or as many numbers as are ready. It is a moving number all the time. That is why I emphasised, when I answered the question ... to put a date, because that means on that date there were 11, but we do allocation every other week. Every other week, we have allocation meetings where we allocate houses to people. Sometimes we get 20, sometimes we get 10. It depends on how they are returned and how soon they are returned. It is not a fixed science where you can say every week I am going to get 11, it is moving all the time and that is why I specifically gave a date.

Hon. D J Bossino: So basically is the Hon. Member telling me – and perhaps the question needs to be phrased in a different way – that if one takes a snapshot as at 13th October, on that particular date there were 11 flats available for allocation? Is he able to tell me that he has information – or simply from experience, given he has done that job for some time – whether that 180 is an acceptable number for that particular date? How does it change? Does it tend to go up, or is it more or less ...? Is this analysed on a weekly basis? I appreciate I am asking the question perhaps without sufficient knowledge of how the system works, but if he could give some helpful comment in relation to that ...

185 Hon. S E Linares: Again, Mr Speaker, it fluctuates. Sometimes I am very disappointed when I go to the Allocation Committee and I only have 10 houses to give, and then in two weeks' time we have another 20 to give. So it fluctuates. I cannot give a figure. What would I like? I would like to have 40-50 every week, but I have not got them. What I am saying is that it depends on how quickly they are refurbished and turned around.

190 Some people want movement from a 3RKB to another 3RKB and that is the allocation we do, because it is not only allocating people new houses, it is also changing people in new houses. As I have explained in the House before, we tend to do chains, where family A wants to move somewhere in estate B and then we wait for that family, and at the end we get one house back. So there is a lot of movement all the time. These are probably people who might be in the private sector or living with parents ... that we allocate a specific house to a new person, but it is, all the time, moving. One week, we might get one number and ...

195 Like I said, all I am trying to do is to have the turnover of houses quicker and better. That is the only way we can work, so that we can then make inroads into the lists.

Mr Speaker: Does the Hon. Marlene Hassan wish to ask a question?

200 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, this is a bit of a vague question but over the years I have been going around estates, especially during election time and such, and there have been many flats – way more than the numbers I am hearing here – that have been empty, closed off, needing a revamp, and to me 28 seems very little. It is a strange question, I know, but considering how many properties there are, how can there just be 28 that are being refurbished for allocation?

205 Hon. S E Linares: There are two reasons why. The 28 are the 28 that we are refurbishing as from 13th October. That is the first thing, and the second thing is there are a number of flats that are empty and we cannot do anything about it, because they were sold by the GSD to the tenants, who subsequently have passed away and the families are keeping the house, and we cannot do anything at all. That has been, for us, a big mistake, in that the GSD sold houses on estates and these houses are kept empty, so it is a house that we cannot do. Not only that, it is costing the Government a lot of money because we have to create a management company and we have to create the whole of the rigmarole, the whole lot of legality because people own houses on big estates.

215 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you to the Minister for answering that. Can I just ask him is the GSLP Liberal Government selling houses, or not?

220 Hon. S E Linares: As soon as we came into government we stopped the sale of those houses. We are talking about – (Hon. Chief Minister: Post-war.) Yes, we are talking about post-war on the big estates. Of course we sell houses that are in the Town area, where we do the urban renewal, which the hon. Lady asked ... We sell those houses when they are empty, they are beyond economical repair and we put them out to tender, or we sell them to, say, a block of flats that has three or four people living in it, of which two are being sold and the other two are not. We will offer them the sale so that we can get rid of the whole of the stock. But we have stopped, definitely, the sale of flats on big estates because it does not make sense.

225 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: I thank the Minister again, but can I just ask what exactly does not make sense, or what is costly or not costly, because the GSD administration may have sold 230 flats on estates, but in the same way as you see other estates, whether private or public, and some are rented and some are sold. What is the detriment of selling apartments on estates as opposed to not?

235 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, this is something that I have dealt with on a number of occasions and I think it should be clear already. I have said in this House in detail what the issue is, so I am surprised I have to repeat it, but I am happy to.

When we sold, as a Government – and not the GSLP Liberal administration but the GSD administration – a post-war flat in the Government estate, we were selling it, I think, at a rate of £1,000 or £2,000 per square metre, or a lot less than that, even, and when we build, the cost of building is three, four or five times that. So the Government was alienating an asset that had a value four or five times in its hand to be able to rent to tenants, even though the rent we got was nowhere near the cost of development, and was being deprived of having that asset to rent out. The hon. Members' position from opposite was that we should continue to do that and at the same time we should continue to build for rental. So, in other words, you sell for whatever it was – I think it, literally, in some instances, might have been £500 per square metre – and then you go off and build at £6,000 to £10,000 per square metre, depending on what the cost of building might be, to rent out at the same rate as you were renting out the other property. That is economically and financially nonsensical. It is the worst possible use of taxpayers' money and the worst possible use of the assets of the Government – assets, in particular, that we held to house those who needed Government housing. This is not affordable housing; this is government housing.

245 The hon. Lady asks what is the difference with affordable housing. With affordable housing, the Government contributes the land. We then build and we sell 50% at cost and retain 50%, unless somebody wants to buy 100%. The loss is the value of the land alone, but the growth of the value of the asset and the ability of the family to have the asset available to them, first of all creates economic activity, and second has the very important function of enabling a Gibraltarian family to grow and develop within that property. It is a completely different proposition. There is not the loss that you occasion with the sale of these post-war government flats.

I have explained it a number of times. I hope that is helpful.

260 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q338/2022

Constituent surgeries – Whether conducted face to face by Housing Minister

Clerk: Question 338/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

265 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Does the Housing Minister conduct face-to-face surgeries with constituents?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

270 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, this question comes as a surprise to me. I am very proud of not only meeting with constituents in my monthly clinics but I also visit regularly the housing estates and engage constantly with the tenants' associations. I see this as part of my work as a Government Minister and will continue to do so. So the short answer is yes, very often and very many.

275 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker. I was just driving at trying to understand if the Minister could answer the process to obtaining appointments, the typical waiting times and how often they are seen, simply because I have been approached by constituents who want to see the Minister, and I wanted to ascertain this.

280 Hon. S E Linares: Whichever constituents go to the hon. Lady and want to see me, I can guarantee that I will see them. At the maximum it will take a month, but I usually see them within a week, so for anybody who wants to come to see me my address is GE Suite, Regal House in Queensway. They can go there and make an appointment, and I usually do see them at the monthly clinics. If the person has an urgent matter, I usually see them before.

285 Mr Speaker: Next question.

TRANSPORT

Q339/2022

Bus app – Expected wait for reactivation

Clerk: Question 339/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

290 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state why the bus app is undergoing maintenance and how long the public will need to wait until it is reactivated?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

295 Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the bus tracker web app is now fully operational. As the hon. Member may appreciate, the tracking service may, from time to time, falter, as it relies on GPS technology and also telecommunications technology.

Separately, the Gibraltar Bus Company website has been under maintenance. I am pleased to advise the hon. Member that my ministerial office has been working closely with the Gibraltar Bus Company and the website is now up with the general content under review. I am hoping that, once again, all relevant important information and route timetables will be available shortly.

300

Hon. E J Phillips: Can the Minister confirm how long the site was down for – the app?

305 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I believe I was told it was a matter of days. I would not be able to put an exact figure on that. I am not sure, perhaps a week, but if that information is important, I can definitely seek it.

Q340/2022

Park and ride – Government position re implementation

Clerk: Question 340/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state its position on the implementation of a park and ride scheme?

310 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the position of the Government remains that it intends to develop a park and ride scheme at Devil's Tower Road car park after the tunnel under the runway has become operational. Furthermore, the Government is considering the implementation of park and ride at other locations, such as the old air terminal site. These will be announced in the future.

Q341-43/2022

Registered vehicles by fuel type – Numbers and percentages re diesel, unleaded, hybrid and electric

Clerk: Question 341/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

320 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state of all registered motorcycles in Gibraltar, how many are diesel, unleaded, hybrid or electric, broken down into percentages?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

325 Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 342 and 343.

Clerk: Question 342/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

330 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state of all registered cars in Gibraltar, how many are diesel, unleaded, hybrid or electric broken down into percentages?

Clerk: Question 343/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

335 Hon. E J Phillips: Can the Government state of all registered commercial vehicles in Gibraltar, how many are diesel, unleaded, hybrid or electric, broken down by percentage?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

340 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, details are as follows. As regards registered motorcycles, there are zero diesel motorcycles, 15,334 petrol motorcycles, zero hybrid motorcycles and 100 electric motorcycles. The percentages are diesel 0%, petrol 99.31% – obviously, because they are petrol, 0% are hybrid and 0.65% are electric. That relates to Question 341.

The following details are for registered cars: diesel, 6,098, which makes up 24.39%; petrol, 17,289, which is 69.14%; hybrid, 1,482, making up 5.93%; and electric, 115, comprising 0.46%.

345 Finally, when it comes to registered commercial vehicles, there are 1,891 diesel, which make up 66.37%; there are 905 petrol, making up 31.77%; five hybrid, making up 0.18%; and electric, four, comprising 1.58%.

350 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Hon. Minister for setting out those numbers. We asked this Question because obviously we are attempting to test not only our community's appetite for electric and hybrid vehicles but also the success of the Government's policy of moving people towards acquiring hybrid or electric vehicles.

I know the Minister will recall a public statement made by a distributor in Gibraltar. We will not name them here, but they suggested that acquisitions of hybrid and electric vehicles were at 355 around 65% insofar as new vehicles. Would the Minister agree with me that there is a very long way to go for our community to transition to electric and hybrid vehicles? And what is the Government doing further to persuade members of our community to do that, given the significant levels of air pollution in our community?

360 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, this very much depends on what the suppliers bring to Gibraltar. By default, most petrol vehicles that are arriving in Gibraltar now are hybrid by nature, so I expect these figures to increase pretty quickly.

When it comes to electric vehicles, I think there are a lot of things people think about when they are going to buy an electric vehicle. It is not as simple as swapping one sort of vehicle, an I.C.E driven vehicle to an electric vehicle, because you need to take into consideration things like range and size. People may want to use their cars to go away on long distances, so it means you have to factor in the next place where you could actually charge your car and, when you go on holiday, whether you choose a hotel that has electric charging points. You need to research that. When it comes to local use, I think it has a lot more potential because you can get, probably, around 400-500 km per electric charge and it makes things a lot easier locally, but the moment we move out ... I think most Gibraltarians will use their cars in Spain whenever they have a chance to.

370 So there are factors that deter people from buying electric and I think these things need to be taken into account before we start saying there has been low take-up. There are incentives, as the hon. Gentleman knows. People out there cash back, attractive cashback schemes. We have recently reduced the amount of cashback on hybrids and pushed it towards electric. There are also incentives for people to set up their own electric charging points at home. They get a deduction for that. So there are incentives in that respect.

380 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, in my view, those statistics are fairly shocking insofar as the number in terms ... If you look at the commercial vehicles for one, we have debated in this House before the number of commercial vehicles that are pumping out, to use the Chief Minister's phrase, dirty, grimy diesel – in another context; let's not go beyond that. We have 1,891 commercial vehicles that are pumping out fumes onto our streets – that is 66%, and 31% are unleaded, so 95% of commercial vehicles in Gibraltar are polluting our environment.

385 What is the Minister doing to persuade businesses in our community to transit their working fleets from dirty, grimy vehicles, as the Chief Minister has characterised them in the past, to more efficient, more green aspects? Clearly this Government is founded on a child-friendly and green policy. Isn't it right, therefore ...? I would ask him this question: hasn't their policy, insofar as green Gibraltar in respect of vehicles is concerned, completely failed?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have never used the phrase that the hon. Gentleman has attributed to me. The phrase I have used is 'grimy, smelly diesel', the abbreviation for which is GSD. I am surprised he does not remember. The reason why I refer them to that is because they were going to establish not any aspect that might relate to vehicles, they were going to establish a power station that was going to be exclusively a diesel power station. They were going to establish it in the Nature Reserve and it was going to be spouting grimy, smelly diesel into the Nature Reserve at the area of Jews Gate, where people would be looking over one of the attractive views of the Straits of Gibraltar. Instead of seeing the view now – of the Lathbury sports facility, which is open and operating, the fantastic green area there and the Straits – they would be seeing the six funnels spewing out grimy, smelly diesel.

400 Indeed, Mr Speaker – just before I allow the Hon. Minister to deal with other points he might raise – we introduced, in a number of Budgets, different measures to stimulate people buying vehicles which were not diesel vehicles, to stimulate people buying hybrid vehicles and to stimulate people buying electric vehicles. Those measures have been improved since they were first introduced and have attracted a considerable number of people, although not the sort of percentage that would have been attracted if we had provided even more incentives. But hon. Members constantly tell us that we spend too much money, so I am surprised that they are encouraging us to enhance those incentives because those are fiscal incentives – that is to say incentives based on money foregone by the Government; that is money not raised by the Government. The Hon. the Minister for Transport will be able to say more.

Now, just looking at whether a vehicle is diesel or petrol is not enough. You have to look at the characteristics of the vehicle – whether it is diesel and a hybrid, whether it is a Euro 6 engine or whether it is an even more sophisticated engine – and look at the emissions. The Hon. the Minister for the Environment was reminding me the other day, in a meeting we were both attending, that actually the air quality in Gibraltar has never been better since we started to measure it. That is not to say that we do not want it to be even better and that we do not want the traffic to not create problems of air pollution. However much less air pollution there is now, any air pollution is air pollution that we need to be fighting against.

So, Mr Speaker, with that, I just hope that the hon. Gentleman will use today's exchanges to have, now, firmly in his mind that the references to grimy, smelly diesel and the initials GSD remind me always of that.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, should I elaborate further? (Interjection by Hon. K Azopardi) Yes, just to add a few things I have written.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Minister is going to be replying to the Hon. ... and then we will allow you to ask the question, Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, what we also have to remember is that these vehicles attract 0% Import Duty.

The question the hon. Member has asked is based on the total number of vehicles registered in Gibraltar. You have to understand that in Gibraltar there are vehicles which are 10, 20, 30, 50 years old, which means we are comparing something which is a pretty new technology as it slowly diffuses into the population of registered vehicles in Gibraltar. We have only had these incentives for a number of years and there are vehicles out there that are 30, 40 or 50 years old. Obviously, we cannot expect, just because we implement certain incentives, to have, all of a sudden, 50% of our registered vehicles ... It would be different if you had asked the question 'Of the vehicles bought in the past year, how many are diesel, how many are electric and how many are hybrid?' The figures may be more towards what you expected, which was more positive. Remember, we are diluting this figure on a massive scale, so I think it is a bit unfair to say this is not acceptable. I think the question that needs to be looked at is the short term.

Also, as my colleague the Chief Minister was saying, diesel has come a long way. We have Euro 3 diesels. When you are physically behind them – I know when I am cycling behind them – you can feel the heat of the engine and you can smell what is coming out. They all go for MoT, they are all tested for emissions and they have to conform with the emissions that they release as per the date of manufacture, but in those days the requirements were less stringent. Nowadays, we have Euro 6-plus. When we talk about Euro 6 engines, the emissions are extremely low – not that I am saying it is perfect, it is zero, but they are extremely good.

You also need to look at how you generate your source of electricity. We have our LNG, so it is a much greener form of producing electricity, but in other cities, in other countries, you have diesel power stations providing 'fuel' – electrical fuel – to vehicles. They need to see whether, in fact, it is better to have diesel or to have ...

I hope that helps a little bit more with the reply to the question.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, may I –? (Interjections)

Hon. Chief Minister: [Mr Speaker] ... answering one question – (Interjections)

460 Hon. P J Balban: Yes, it has been helpful. We have been – (Interjections)

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have more answers for Mr Phillips.

Mr Speaker: [Inaudible] The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

465 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the Chief Minister clarifying what, in his view, grimy, smelly diesel was. The Hon. Minister gave us the statistics of the registered cars in Gibraltar, of which there were 24% diesel vehicles and 69.1% petrol vehicles. In the circumstances, does he not agree that it is more likely that there is grimy, smelly, leaded petrol – or GSLP, in fact – in Gibraltar?

470 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, given that one of the things we did immediately we were elected was take the GSD's Jaguar that cost, at the time, £85 to fill with petrol, and instead brought an electric vehicle – (Interjection) I am sorry, Mr Speaker, I am afraid that the hon. Member, from a sedentary position, is obviously getting so nervous, having realised that we were the ones who took action to lead by example, and having forgotten that, he wants to try to throw figures which are irrelevant. It cost £80 to fill the Jaguar with petrol at the time, and the cost is in the region of 80p to power the Tesla's battery for a full charge of 400 km. The GSLP Liberals led in demonstrating that electric vehicles worked and that electric vehicles could work in the Gibraltar environment in particular. We made the official vehicle of the Chief Minister an electric vehicle, instead of the vehicle that consumed the most petrol per kilometre of any class at the time.

475 So, Mr Speaker, no, I do not think we will go down in history in that way. I think they will be the ones who will always now have the difficulty of trying to establish themselves as having any environmental credentials, given what their plans were and given how they were going to finance those plans. That is why, as far as I am concerned, grimy, smelly diesel is the way they will be remembered, and that will be their legacy in terms of what they told us they were going to do for our children and their ability to generate electricity. (Interjection)

480 Mr Speaker: Hold on a second. This is getting out of hand, yet again. (Interjection) No. The first person – (Interjection) Excuse me. The first person who used unhelpful language, which has generated this exchange, is not the Chief Minister or the Leader of the Opposition. I leave it like that.

I said before that I would allow the Minister for the Environment to contribute, and then we will ask Mr Bossino, and then that will be the end of this question.

495 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Thank you, Mr Speaker.

I rise in order to add to what my hon. Friend the Minister for Transport has stated, because the Department of the Environment works together with the Ministry for Transport in the transition of forms of transport.

500 I think relying on the Government to do anything is only of limited consequence, because the industry is moving in such a way that it will, within the next decade, be very difficult to get anything other than an electric vehicle, so people will have to respond and change.

505 In any case, the Government, apart from the things my hon. Friend has said, is taking a number of steps. It is encouraging businesses to engage with providers of electric vehicles and a number of meetings and workshops have been held with the private sector introducing some of these vehicles. We are also studying the possibility of the use of hydrogen as a fuel, which seems to be the future of heavy-goods vehicles, where electric batteries may be too heavy to be efficient, so that is another aspect. And finally, if the hon. Members have been keeping aware of the media, the net zero delivery body – which is chaired by my friend and colleague the Deputy Chief Minister, and the Minister for Transport is also a member – one of its sub-committees, which has broad representation within the public service and elsewhere, is actually looking very carefully at the transition of transport in Gibraltar. So any suggestion that we are not doing anything purely shows that the Members opposite are not keeping up with what is actually happening in Gibraltar.

515 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Damon Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful, Mr Speaker.

In relation to the answer he gave in connection with the hybrid cars, I think the hon. Member said that of the general car population 5.9% are hybrid. He may not have this information available to him, but is he able to further particularise that, as to how many of those are plug-in or otherwise? I think they are called mild hybrids. Does he have that information?

520

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, we are talking about private vehicles and the figure encompasses, globally, all the types of hybrid. That could be petrol-electric, diesel-electric, plug-in and those which are not, so I do not have that figure. If it had been asked for, it would have been provided.

525

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q344/2022
Regulation of electric scooters –
Current position

Clerk: Question 344/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

530 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state where it is currently in relation to the regulation of electric scooters?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

535 Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, we have recently completed our discussions with the Motor Insurance Bureau (MIB) in respect of a number of matters that touch on personal light electric transporters (PLET) and other areas. We agreed with the MIB that we would conclude our discussions with them before moving forward, and we are now able to proceed in this respect.

540 The PLETs Command Paper published in May 2020 included a number of safety requirements that e-scooter riders would need to comply with, such as the wearing of helmets and having both a bell, or horn, and lights on an e-scooter. The Command Paper did not include a requirement for mandatory insurance and all the indications are that the United Kingdom will not introduce mandatory insurance for e-scooters. However, since the Command Paper was published we have been considering making third party liability insurance mandatory for e-scooters, as is already the case in a number of European countries. We have interest from one particular Gibraltar insurer to provide such third party liability cover, but the insurer is seeking comfort that there is to be strong adherence of all aspects of the Command Paper and vigorous implementation of the proposed penalties for the misuse of e-scooters. We need to determine if third party liability insurance will be generally available in Gibraltar, as to include such a requirement without a committed insurer would be pointless.

545

550

Hon. E J Phillips: I am grateful for the answer to that question, which is a much fuller response than the last time I asked this question, over six months ago.

555 Just one question relating to this subject matter. My understanding is that the Government has received legal advice in respect of the particular use of e-scooters, because there was an exchange in this House as to the current legality of e-scooters on our streets. I think the last time I asked this question the former Transport Minister was unsure whether it was legal or illegal. I think that was ventilated and we did not really get to the bottom of it. Has the Minister now got 560 to the bottom of the current legal position as to the use of e-scooters in Gibraltar?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, when e-scooters arrived on our shores – in fact, the shores of every modern city in the world – I think no one was prepared for them. Nobody was ready for them, so there was, I think, what you would call – I am not sure if the word I am going to use is 565 actually correct – a lacuna in the law. Is that what you say? Yes, okay, which means whether they were to be classified as a vehicle because they have an engine, a motor, albeit electric, or whether they would be carved out of that particular legislation and would become equivalent to electric bicycles or a bicycles. With the introduction of this Bill, which we will bring to Parliament, we will see the definition of what we call a PLET become what it is.

570 Like it or not, these things have taken us by storm. They are an alternative to modern transport, to mobility. They are greener in certain respects and I think we need to be ... I was extremely sceptical about these devices. I think they are becoming a mainstay in many cities, but many cities are struggling with the sorts of details you are asking me about, and if the big cities are still struggling we may find ourselves chasing. We will be looking carefully at what other cities have 575 been doing and whether they decide to include insurance. I took some details down. For example, in Germany, France, the Netherlands and Belgium they have introduced mandatory insurance for e-scooters. In Spain, for example, the general orders say that there is no need for it, but having said that, the local regulations in a number of cities – Barcelona, Valencia, Castellon and Mahon, for example – have chosen to include insurance.

580 We need to sit down as a Cabinet, as a collective. As I said, we are ready to go, in terms of the concerns that the MIB brought us. In fact, it was the Hon. Daniel Feetham who approached us saying we need to look at this in further detail because he was representing the MIB at the time.
We agreed and we worked together in that respect and thought it was something where we should really pause and ascertain where we should go. In that respect, we have satisfied the MIB 585 and now we have to decide if there is a product that could give us the assurance – which I think would make it even better, although, remember, most cities do not have them – or it is something that we need to consider, regulate, give it some form. Already you cannot use any scooter on the pavement. Many people on social media say they are running wild. We legislate, we have said is prohibited, but if you see a policeman, you are not going to be on the pavement. So it is a difficult 590 cat to skin. But that would give it form and there would be a lot more protection for the use of e-scooters in the future.

Hon. E J Phillips: If I may, there are two questions but I will try to combine them into one, for ease.

595 I am grateful again for the enhanced explanation to my supplementary question. One thing I would say, though, is as part of the consultation process with members of the public as to the use of these vehicles and the question mark over regulation and moving forward insofar as third party insurance, is the Government also considering the level of infrastructure required to handle the volume? As you say, it is becoming a very popular mode of transportation and a cleaner one, to 600 be fair; I accept that and I agree with him. What level of infrastructure will need to be put in place?
I know he is a keen cyclist. We all know that in this House – everyone in Gibraltar, I think, knows it because they see him, often, cycling around our streets. What infrastructure does the Government have to put in place to provide for that? We have limited geography and we have to accept that, but there are things that we need to do, to make sure this is a safe activity on our 605 streets.

The second question relates to the duration. How long does he expect this process to continue before a Bill is brought to this House?

I am grateful.

610 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, if I can answer the latter question first, as I think it is a quicker one to answer – as I said earlier, we will be sitting collectively to discuss where we go with insurance. We just need to prod those who have shown an interest in providing this third party insurance, and if it goes ahead I think we will be ready to go in that respect. If we find that there is no appetite to cover these vehicles, then we will take the decision on how to proceed, but I do 615 not see that taking a long time. Again, it very much depends on the reply we get from the insurance company.

When it comes to infrastructure, one e-scooter occupies very little space, so if we set off from the premise that 10 more or less take the space of one car, the more e-scooters we have on the road, in theory, should mean there are fewer cars on the road if you take into consideration that 620 it could well be that one e-scooter could equate to one car. It is not the way it goes, because obviously sometimes these e-scooters rob pavements from pedestrians and they rob the buses from bus users. It is not just a straight equation. We are committed to providing infrastructure, which will be extremely helpful, whereby e-scooters will be able to share bicycle lanes in the future. We are developing our lanes in terms of a planification. We are extremely advanced now
625 in that respect, and we hope to be able to announce our vision and our plans shortly, so that at least people see where we are going. Again, this is not a plan for a year, this is a plan which will take many years because we cannot just ... There is one thing when it comes to development ... When you are developing a plot of land to build a building, you are just talking about a footprint. Cycling is taking up the whole of Gibraltar, so we are looking at the whole footprint of Gibraltar,
630 every single construction that is going on, starting or planned. It is very difficult to be able to work together to find where the disruption is going to be, or whether it is worth breaking ground – then somebody has to break ground after you.

So it needs a lot of planning; it is not as easy as I was hoping it would be. Having said that, once that infrastructure, over the years, is ready, I am very confident that we will have options to be 635 able to use roads, shared spaces, segregated bicycle lanes or just cycle lanes which are not segregated but part of the highway.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q345/2022

Road traffic offences in other jurisdictions – Requests for assistance from foreign authorities

640 Clerk: Question 345/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, on how many occasions in the last five years have foreign authorities asked for the assistance of the Gibraltar authorities in the identification of the owners or drivers of cars who are alleged to have committed a road traffic offence in their jurisdiction in each of the last five years, detailing the jurisdictions in question?
645

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, these requests were received and processed through the EUCARIS platform. However, the requests would ordinarily be made via 650 the UK with no associating information as to the origin of the foreign authority in respect of the requesting member state of the EU.

655 More specifically, the Driver Vehicle Licensing Department, as the competent licensing authority for Gibraltar, has, in the last five years, received 416 requests for vehicle/owner information via the EUCARIS system. The EUCARIS platform went live in August 2020. However, as a result of Brexit, access to this platform is no longer available as of January 2021.

660 Hon. D A Feetham: So essentially, the position is – and we spoke about it in an earlier set of questions – that as from January 2021, effectively there is no assistance to foreign authorities asking for the identity of Gibraltar owners or drivers of Gibraltar vehicles that are, for example, caught speeding in Spain, France, Switzerland or anywhere else in Europe?

665 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I think it was only yesterday the Chief Minister rose to reply to these questions, and I think he was very clear that what we had before is no longer available, since January 2021.

Hon. D A Feetham: Does he have a breakdown of the 416 in the last five years? He has given me the total – does he have a breakdown?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, no, I do not.

Q346/2022

Road traffic offences in Gibraltar by non-residents – Requests made to foreign authorities for assistance

670 Clerk: Question 346/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

675 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, on how many occasions in the last five years have Gibraltar authorities asked for the assistance of foreign authorities in the identification of the owners or drivers of cars who are alleged to have committed a road traffic offence in this jurisdiction in each of the last five years, detailing the jurisdictions to which the request were made?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

680 Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, as explained in my previous answer, upon checking with the Driver Vehicle Licensing Department, as the Gibraltar licensing authority, I am advised that, at present, we do not share vehicle identification or owner details directly with any foreign jurisdiction. The Gibraltar Licencing Authority shares vehicle registration information with the UK, who may, in turn, facilitate this to other jurisdictions.

685 As the hon. Member is already aware, the Gibraltar Driver Vehicle Licensing Authority shared information up until 31st December 2020 with the UK via the EUCARIS platform. Access to this platform is no longer available.

690 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, with respect, I do not think he has quite answered the question; maybe he has misunderstood it. The previous question was about foreign authorities asking for assistance of the Gibraltar authorities. This is about the Gibraltar authorities asking for assistance of foreign authorities. Whether it goes through London or otherwise is immaterial.

I am asking how many times in the last five years have the Gibraltar authorities sought assistance from a foreign jurisdiction in relation to a road traffic offence committed in this jurisdiction. I have asked the question before and I think the answer was that there had not been 695 any requests. I asked this question a number of years ago, and I just wanted to see what the position is now.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, unfortunately, as I have mentioned, we lost use of this platform a number of years ago, so in that respect there would have been no change.

700

Hon. D A Feetham: No, with respect, you are still not answering the question. My question is about the last five years, Mr Speaker, and I am asking in the last five years.

We exited the system in January 2021 – that is a year and nine months – so there is still a period of time before that when you did have available access to this system. I am asking, in that period – 705 I know that after January 2021 it could not happen, but prior to January 2021, for that balance of those five years – how many times have the Gibraltar authorities asked for the assistance of a foreign jurisdiction.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, and what the hon. Gentleman is saying is that 710 there has been no change in respect of the answer he was given. He said he asked a couple of years ago – I think he might have asked it about then.

Hon. D A Feetham: I said two years ago.

Hon. Chief Minister: You said some years ago, a couple of years ago. I think it might have been 715 about then, and the answer is there is no change. The independent prosecuting authorities, who would be the ones who would have requested this information, do not appear to have requested this information.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, does the Minister not think it is odd that prior to January 2021
720 there had been 416 requests by foreign jurisdictions of the Gibraltar authorities via the UK? Most of those, I know, are Spanish. Doesn't he think it is odd that we have not asked for assistance of a foreign jurisdiction in order to obtain the identities of people in those foreign jurisdictions who have committed road traffic offences in Gibraltar? The answer he has given me is zero. That is 725 what you are saying. So, from foreign jurisdictions to Gibraltar it is 416; from Gibraltar to a foreign jurisdiction it is zero. Don't you think it is odd?

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, frankly, yes, I do. I think it is odd because if the 730 independent prosecuting authorities have a channel through which they can obtain the information about people who have committed offences in Gibraltar, frankly, I think they should. But there are aspects of the mechanisms in play which might make it less odd. For example, in Gibraltar we have a system, as there is in other places, where people are found to be speeding by police officers who use speed guns. Police officers who use speed guns do not need to rely on EUCARIS or any other platform to determine the identity of the person doing the speeding
735 because they stop the vehicle, the person's details are taken and they are fined on the spot, so there is no need to make a request for the information. The same would happen in Spain. If you are caught by a speed gun, a police officer would stop you, you would give your details and there would not be a request for your details through EUCARIS. But of course, through the geography of Spain, there are many more speed cameras than there are in Gibraltar. It is the speed camera 740 that identifies only the registration mark of the vehicle, which then leads to a requirement to obtain the details of the ownership of the vehicle behind the registration mark. Here, we have had many fewer speed cameras for a shorter period, and that might be why the pertinent independent authorities have not had to seek the information and have not sought to seek the information.

Mr Speaker: Next question.
745

Q347/2022

Bus service –

Intention to keep free of charge to Gibraltarians

Clerk: Question 347/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Will Government guarantee in this House that the bus service will continue to be free of charge for the Gibraltarian user?

750

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, it is the Government's intention to keep the bus service free in the future, in line with its green policies.

755

This Government made bus transportation zero-fare for the local population on 1st May 2012 by removing the club card system. In doing so, Gibraltar became the first city in the world to offer an entirely free bus service to its residents upon showing their ID cards – before Tallinn, Estonia, in 2013. Many cities are now moving in this direction, with Malta having just done so at the beginning of this month.

760

Zero-fare bus transportation ticks all the right environmental boxes, putting a free, sustainable alternative mode of transport right into the hands of all residents. Any excuse may now be given for not choosing to use the free bus service, but fare will not be one of those excuses.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I thank the Minister for his answer. Can I just ascertain that this policy is a general party policy going into the future, or is it something just as long as this legislature remains?

765

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, we can only answer as a Government. We are not here to be asked questions as a party.

770

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can I just ask the Minister ...? That was a welcome change, it was a real step in the right direction, and on this side of the House I say that ... but the Hon. Minister will see, as I do, that probably we need to encourage people more. What can we do? What does he think we can do? What has he got planned to do to persuade people? Having had a free bus service for 10 years, people are still very eager not to use it. Some people are, but it does not appear to be as widely used as you would think, given that it is free.

775

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, absolutely right. I would love to see a massive take-up of the bus service. What more can one do? You have a free bus service –

780

Hon. Chief Minister: Pay them to use the bus.

Hon. P J Balban: That is very good!

785

Hon. Chief Minister: A pound every time they go on a bus.

Hon. P J Balban: The bus routes follow very similar bus routes that we inherited. The routes have not changed that much; maybe some buses have changed. What more can one do? I think this is a question of slowly, over time, trying to encourage people by providing ... not so much the bus, because the bus is very well used by the elderly community. It is also very well used by children going to school, and that is a welcome change, because before, children were driven to school and on many occasions you would see mum or dad with one child in the car, whereas nowadays it is becoming something social. My daughter, for example, wanted to get the bus 795 because her friends all go on the bus together and it was how they got to school. So that is something.

790

When it comes to other forms of encouragement, we need to develop our pavements and make things greener, encourage people to walk more. Most of our trips in Gibraltar could easily be done on foot. We have considered all the talk about why can't we have a bus after nine o'clock at night – well, the truth of the matter is there is very little take-up at night. In fact, our night buses during the weekends are much better than they were. I was surprised recently – our statistics are 800 incredible. Some nights in the past there would be zero take-up at night, and now there is never a night where there is no take-up, as far as I have seen in the statistics. But what can we do?

There are things that can be done that other cities do, but I think they are economically unviable. Instead of every 20 minutes, we could have a bus every 10 minutes or every five minutes. 805 That would make the service more efficient. You would not have to wait for the bus, but the bus tracker solved those things as well. In the previous question of the hon. Member it was clear that people enjoy using the bus tracker. It is a very useful tool. It has been down for a while, people have complained and I think that is very positive. Now you no longer have to wait for the bus, you can stay that bit longer in the park or stay that bit longer in the restaurant and just meet the bus 810 when it comes.

I think it is a good offering. I think it is a question of changing mindset. How we do it is a question up in the air, really.

ENVIRONMENT, SUSTAINABILITY, CLIMATE CHANGE AND EDUCATION

Q373/2022

Littering offences –

Number of people reported, warned, prosecuted or convicted

Clerk: Question 373/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

815 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state how many people have been reported, warned, prosecuted or convicted of littering offences?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

820 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, 46 fixed penalty notices have been issued in 2022, so far. Two are pending payment, 22 have been paid, 12 have been passed for prosecution and 10 have been cancelled. Furthermore, approximately 450 people have been warned.

825 Hon. E J Phillips: I am grateful for the answer the Minister has provided. It equates to roughly 10% of the total number warned being eventually dealt with in a more serious way than just a slap on the wrist, Mr Speaker.

I just wanted to refer the hon. Gentleman to littering offences more generally and ask a question about the issue we have been discussing for a number of years before COVID, and that 830 is, of course, the depositing of cigarette butts at Harbour Views Road. I know the hon. Gentleman – as a result of our exchanges in this House, I am sure, but complaints by members of the public in relation to legislating in that area – put forward ... and we warmly welcomed the regulations that were put forward. We are certainly getting representations again about the significant volume of cigarette butts in this particular area, and the Minister is fully aware of how 835 they get deposited into the sea and the dangerous effects of that. What more can the Government do about that? We are talking about thousands upon thousands of cigarette butts being extinguished on the gravel area between the Hospital and Morrisons car park. Clearly the warnings, if they have been happening, are not having an effect, so what can the Government do about that, insofar as pushing the enforcement process a bit further?

840

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, it is difficult because people will insist and persist. We know the problem with littering is not the fact that we do not clear up; it is the fact that it has been deposited in the first place.

845

Obviously, enforcement in that particular area is a challenge. It may be possible that the employer of the vast majority of people who do it may be able to encourage their staff not to do so. I think we will start having to issue fixed penalty notices to more people, now that the warning in some cases works and in some cases it does not. We are in the process of upping the ante, as they say, to try to resolve that particular issue.

850

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q374-75/2022

Dog fouling offences –

Number of people reported, warned, prosecuted or convicted;

Trees –

Number destroyed in last 24 months

Clerk: Question 374/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state how many people have been reported, warned, prosecuted, or convicted of dog fouling offences?

855

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 375.

860

Clerk: Question 375/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state how many trees have been destroyed in the last 24 months?

865

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

870

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, in 2022, 45 patrols have been conducted by the Environmental Agency for dog fouling; 145 samples have been collected; 12 fines have been placed, five paid and seven passed for prosecution; 15 fixed penalty notices have been issued for no licence and registration – three of these were passed for prosecution of non-payment of fines. Furthermore, the Environmental Protection and Research Unit carries out patrols on all beaches two or three times daily, depending on the availability of officers, as they are also engaged in other duties on land and at sea. Eighty people have been warned for not having dog registrations in place.

875

In relation to the trees, 121 have been felled in the past 24 months. Trees may have been felled because they had perished, they posed a health and safety risk, or otherwise following DPC approval. In the case of the latter, trees removed are normally replaced at a ratio of two for one.

880 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, in relation to the patrols that are conducted in relation to dog fouling more generally, does the Minister agree that we need to improve that particular statistic?
We live in a small community and every part of Gibraltar is the shop window to every single tourist.
To have what I can see is a very low statistic in relation to fines – five have been paid, and there 885 have been 12 fines in relation to dog fouling and still the problem persists ... Does the Hon.
Minister agree with me that we need to improve and increase the number of patrols, so that we can continue to prevent this disgusting activity of people leaving their dog mess on our streets?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I always answer yes when I am asked whether things should be improved, so that is a standard; in fact, I have referred to that later, on another question.

890 I think the critical figure here is not the 12 fines, it is the 145 samples collected, which is a lot of samples. Sadly, the collection of samples does not always lead to a DNA identification, and that is perhaps where more samples might improve that.

Clearly, we will try to do as much as possible. The Environmental Agency obviously has a lot of responsibilities, but they now dedicate time regularly to this. I do not want to prosecute more 895 people, I do not want to fine more people; I want people to stop doing this thing, this disgusting habit that people have of leaving dog faeces around.

Q376/2022

Trees –

Number destroyed in last 24 months

Clerk: Question 376/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

900 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state how many new trees have been planted in the last 24 months?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

905 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, 207 trees have been planted in the past 24 months.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I know that this is an area that really fascinates the hon.
Gentleman. I was wondering whether he would have a detailed breakdown of locations and if he might be able to be more helpful for that particular answer. I would be grateful.

910 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I have a detailed breakdown of the trees that have perished and been otherwise removed and of the trees that have been planted. I would be happy to send those to him after the meeting.

Q377/2022

Refuse collection points –

Collection times

915 Clerk: Question 377/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is this the one where he thinks there could be room for improvement?
(Interjection by Hon. Prof. J E Cortes)

Please provide details of the refuse collection times in respect of each collection point.

920 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I just ask the Hon. Mr Phillips if he would remind me, by email or message, to send him the list. I do not want not to see my note and then he does not get it. Thank you, 925 Mr Speaker.

The evening shift starts at approximately 9 p.m. and arrival at each point depends on the route in question and the amount of time the refuse collectors need to empty the trucks. The three large and three small refuse collection vehicles service the following districts. The first, large, truck covers Main Street and surroundings. The second, large, truck covers Queensway and 930 surroundings. The third, large, truck covers South District to North District. The fourth truck, which is a small one – that is what I mean by that – covers the south end of Main Street and south part of Upper Town. The fifth, small, truck covers Europa Point and surroundings. The sixth, small, truck covers Main Street and surroundings for cardboard only.

The morning shift starts at 5 a.m. It consists of three large and two small refuse collection 935 vehicles which service the following districts. The first, large, truck covers the airfield and surroundings. The second, large, truck covers Laguna, Glacis and surroundings. The third, large, truck covers Varyl Begg and surroundings. The fourth, small, truck covers the Upper Town and surroundings. The fifth, small, truck covers Europa and surroundings. The length of time spent at each collection point will vary every day depending on the traffic, the amount of rubbish at that 940 point and other factors such as cars being double parked and obstructing the ability of refuse collectors to remove the rubbish.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the full response given by the hon. Member.

There are occasions when it becomes rather unsightly and I understand that it is because the 945 collection point's time has not yet arrived. I suppose it can be dealt with in two ways, and perhaps both could be deployed by Government. I would be grateful for the Minister's view in relation to what I am about to say. One is to increase the number of occasions the refuse is collected, and the other one would be to regulate when individuals can deposit rubbish.

I know that in other cities – indeed, I think even as close by as La Linea – you cannot deposit 950 rubbish as and when you please. I have seen, on more than one occasion, individuals deposit rubbish, let's say on a Saturday morning, and the rubbish is then not collected until Monday morning. I know he is going to be consulting with the Chief Minister, so ... The final point I made, which he may not have heard me say, is that you do see people depositing their household rubbish on a Saturday morning, knowing full well that it will not be collected until the early hours of 955 Monday morning on most occasions, which is a practice that may be controlled if there was some sort of enforcement in terms of when you can deposit the rubbish and therefore avoid the unsightly mess that can stay there for too long.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, there are already limitations in the law – I believe is the 960 Litter Act; I may be wrong, so I would need to reference that – as to the depositing of rubbish on Saturdays and at certain hours. I think perhaps people have taken it for granted that they can deposit rubbish at any time. In fact, in relation to Main Street, we are in active discussion with the Chamber of Commerce and the Federation as to how they can assist in getting business owners, in particular – who, in Main Street, are the ones who mainly put out the rubbish – to stick to the 965 appropriate hours and co-ordinate better with the refuse collectors. We are looking at various options there.

In relation to doing the trips more frequently, this is not easy. The reason why we have to have an evening and a morning shift is because we do not have enough vehicles to do all the districts 970 in one go. These vehicles are extremely expensive and I think we would hesitate, particularly at this point in time, to purchase more vehicles.

As I said, in relation to the putting out of rubbish, we are in discussion with business in order to try to improve that.

975 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, like me, he is not aware of what the Litter Act provides, and whether it controls this is something that maybe we can check. I wonder whether – given that two Members of the House are not aware and given that people, if those rules and regulations are there, are flouting them – it requires the Government to commence some sort of awareness campaign to try to curb the practice in line with the law, should that be the case.

980 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, what I was not certain of was whether it was the Litter Act or another Act, but there are times set out as to the putting out of rubbish.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): For some time since the change was introduced, which I think was either in their time or in the time of the first GSLP administration, it has been illegal to put your rubbish out on a Saturday evening. I am very surprised he does not know it. We are not allowed because there is no collection on a Saturday night, and for that reason it is an offence to put out your rubbish on a Saturday. You are not allowed to put your rubbish out until Sunday evening.

990 Hon. D J Bossino: It is not a major issue, honestly. I certainly was not aware. I do not do it myself, but it is not a major issue. I will be checking the point, but the specific question that I asked, which I do not think has been answered, is whether there ought to be a greater awareness campaign.

995 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Awareness, as I am going to say later, in another question, is a continuum. More awareness is always good, but the law is the law.

Hon. D J Bossino: I believe these collection times – just to confirm – do not apply on Sundays; there is no collection on Sundays. (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: No.) (Interjections) Oh, I see. (Interjections)

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: There is no collection on Saturday evenings.

Mr Speaker: Let's move on to our next question.

Q378/2022
Service provision to beaches –
Details of providers

1005 Clerk: Question 378/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide details of the private entity or individuals which, or who, provide services to the beaches, to include equipment for the disabled, lifeguards and beach attendants, to include their names, financial arrangements and duration of their contracts.

1010 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, there are two companies that provide services to the beaches in this regard.

1015 The beach lifeguard service is provided by ALS Telematics Ltd. ALS Telematics Ltd has a contract for the beach lifeguard, pool lifeguard and beach attendant services provided by the Department of the Environment, providing beach management and safety standards policies, with the aim of achieving a safe environment and the enjoyable use of public beaches all year round. The current contractual fee stands at £60,000 per annum and is valid until December 2025. All required 1020 equipment related to the lifeguard service is procured by the Department of the Environment directly.

The beach-accessible equipment is provided by the Mobility Care Centre. The Mobility Care Centre carries out assessments, required repairs, calibration and certification of all our departmental beach-accessible equipment prior to the start of the official bathing season. The 1025 company also provides a repairs and maintenance programme covering on-site attendance and service, where required, throughout the duration of the official bathing season. This year has been the first year the Department has purchased new accessible, amphibious chairs, as the ones inherited from the Gibraltar Tourist Board were showing signs of wear and tear and were in need of replacement. These were purchased by the Department of the Environment through the 1030 Mobility Care Centre as the only provider of these locally.

This year's service agreement was broken down as follows: pre-inspection checks of all beach equipment, £600.00; repair and maintenance cover, including call-outs, for all equipment up to the end of September 2022, £1,800; labour costs for making ready all equipment requiring certification, £600; labour costs for certification of patient-handling equipment, including the 1035 provision of the certificates of compliance, £1,300. Upon enquiry, and to the best of our knowledge, this is the only entity that is capable of providing the required overall service to the Department.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to the entity he referred to, ALS Telematics Ltd, he 1040 gave us the duration of the contract – it ends in December 2025 – and, as far as the Government is concerned, that arrangement incurs on the public purse a payment of £60,000 per annum. Can he say when that contract started?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, there was an expression of interest in 2019. Three 1045 companies applied and the Department chose this one as the one they felt could best and most economically provide the service. This would have been either 2019 or 2020 – I am not absolutely sure as to whether the actual contract started in 2019 or 2020 – so it looks like a five-year contract.

Hon. D J Bossino: Would he have with him details of the board of directors and shareholders 1050 of that company?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, but I am sure that that information is publicly available.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is it his view that that commercial arrangement is working well – I appreciate 1055 2025 is still some way away – such that he would consider continuing with that type of arrangement? I do not know what the arrangement was before there was a private entity, whether that was the arrangement which his Government and previous Governments entered into, and it is the first time they have engaged a private entity to carry out these this work. I have asked there for two points.

1060

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Formerly the lifeguards were employed directly by the Department and we were not satisfied with that arrangement. There was not the proper supervision that we could afford and so on. This contract means that the Department can now count on, as a result of training provided through them, two in-house Royal Life Saving Society qualified trainer assessors, 1065 which allows us to keep a much closer eye on the quality and the standards. There are now new beach risk assessment protocols and procedures which are carried out all year round, and we are much more satisfied that the service has improved.

1070 I can give some statistics in that, for example, the number of preventive actions the lifeguards have had to be involved in has decreased since 2019. The need for them to assist has also decreased. It seems that they are much more on top of it, now that they have this structure, than was the case in the past.

Hon. D J Bossino: Do I take it, from that, that it is an arrangement that he would like to see continuing into the future? As he knows, I have accepted that in 2025 things may change, but he 1075 seems to be satisfied that the arrangements are working well.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, yes, fortunately, we have not had any tragic episodes on our beaches for a long time. It could always happen, so I do not want to tempt fate. I think the lifeguard service is much improved on what it used to be. We are of the view that we are happy for the 1080 arrangement to continue until 2025, but I am not going to express a view as to what might happen after that. Hopefully, it will still be Government.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q379/2022
Charles V wall –
Details of works

Clerk: Question 379/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1085

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state when the scaffolding structure by Charles V wall was set up, how long it is expected to remain there, the nature of the works which are being carried out, which entity is carrying out those works and what the cost is.

1090 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I thank Mr Bossino for the opportunity to talk about heritage.

1095 The scaffolding was placed in December 2020 in order to protect the public from falling masonry. Preliminary works have commenced this week with a view to restoration works commencing the week of 24th October – next week; this was obviously drafted previously. The envisaged works should last between four and six months.

1100 The estimated cost is around £50,000 but could be less. It is very difficult to estimate the restoration of heritage assets, as you do not know the extent of the damage until you start the works themselves.

The restoration works will be undertaken by the Ministry for Heritage and Gibraltar National Museum with the support of Electricon, a private contractor.

1105 A Victorian-era pillar was detached from the medieval wall due to the growth of two olive trees. They were exerting pressure on the superimposed construction and are now displacing it towards the outside, with serious risk of detachment of the constituent material. I have to point out that it has got worse since 2020, which is why we have to act now and cannot delay it any further.

Ornamental shields and reliefs have also been damaged. They are made with mortar from a mould. This explains the type of breaks that the lower left shield has, due to its fragility, since it 1110 probably does not have an internal reinforcement frame. Thus, being embedded in the wall, the horizontal crack in the wall has spread over the shield. The shield has several cracks and fissures and some very fragile elements, so it must be removed from the wall for restoration and later be returned to its original location. It is therefore necessary to remove the roots and remains of 1115 vegetation that are causing localised damage in the cracks in the wall and especially, given their severity, between the wall and the pillar.

The works will focus primarily on the pillar and the wall area, including the entire area of the walkway, where the vegetation is causing damage to the structure. The pillar and the surrounding areas of the wall will have to be dismantled in a controlled manner in order to be able to access the tree roots and eliminate them. Once the roots have been removed, the dismantled area will 1120 be rebuilt.

The choice of material for the reconstruction will be conditioned by the material that appears during the dismantling – that is, if any ashlar of adequate size are present, these will be reused.
If, on the other hand, only small masonry and bricks in poor condition are present, these will be discarded and modern construction material will need to be used. In any case, lime and sand-1125 based mortars will be used.

In order to standardise the surface, a mortar based on sand and lime will be applied, and an incised drawing of the ashlar masonry will be reproduced. In order to achieve homogeneity in the surface and eliminate the signs of different repairs carried out on the wall with different materials and techniques, it will also be necessary to eliminate the surface layer of grey cement that covers 1130 the wall and the pillars.

Hon. D J Bossino: Thank you. I think he enjoyed giving that reply, didn't he? It was very interesting to listen to the Minister giving that mini-lecture. I am sure he misses his former role.

1135 May ask why there was what appears to be an initial delay? He gave us the date of December 2020 when there was this urgent need to set up the scaffolding because of the falling masonry, as he was discussing – presumably because of all the things he has just mentioned. (Interjection by Hon. Prof. J E Cortes) It was not, okay, it was separate to the vegetation and the things growing there. So it was basically delayed from December 2020 to 24th October this year – if he can explain why there was a delay.

1140 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, there were various reasons. One of them was the fact that the base of ... The scaffolding and the hoarding were placed as a precaution. It did not look as bad as it looks now, so it was not that urgent, but you always err on the side of caution. Clearly now it has become more urgent because of the passage of time.

1145 We had to determine whether, with the limited budget we know we have available at the moment, it was an emergency, or not, and had to be dealt with. But there is a second reason which is also relevant and actually probably led to as big a delay as anything else, and that is the need to have experts working on it. We needed to identify the experts and work with the Museum to see whether their expert was available, and that has taken quite a number of months because 1150 this is not a job that anybody can do; it has to be done very carefully under careful supervision.
Also, there was a period of time in which the whole arch and the crests and so on had to be assessed and the details that I have read out here prepared.

So it is a combination of all these things, but I am happy to say that the work will start now, and within four to six months we should see it repaired and the scaffolding removed.

1155

Hon. D J Bossino: He has assuaged the concern I had and anticipated the question I was going to ask about the expertise surrounding the work, so I am very happy to hear what he has just said in terms of the expert involvement in all of this, because we are dealing with a very important historical heritage asset.

1160 From what he tells me, these works seem to have been very specific in the sense that it was in response to an issue. Presumably they are taking advantage of the fact that they are there and might as well carry out more wider works. Could this be a precursor to refurbishment – and I appreciate that there is a budgetary constraint – of other historical walls?

1165 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, this was a response. I would love to have millions and millions to spend on restoring our walls. Let's make no secret of that. We have carried out some work in the past few years – the [inaudible], for example. We are about to start work, within the next week or two, on the Tower of Homage, also to remove vegetation. I cannot think of any others we have on the list at the moment, but certainly we will react to any urgent damage or any place which we identify threatens the existence of walls.

1170 In the case of the Moorish Castle, the Tower of Homage has been there for over 1,300 years. We would not like it to start falling to bits on our watch, so clearly, these things are given priority.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q380/2022
Upper Town –
Update re redevelopment

1175 Clerk: Question 380/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide an update with regard to the redevelopment of the Upper Town, and Road to the Lines more specifically.

1180 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, ideally – I say again – I would like to have a budget of millions to completely upgrade and restore the Upper Town and, indeed, other urban areas, such as parts of the Lower South District, through which the hon. Member walks on a regular basis, but we do not, and therefore our strategy is to encourage positive developments and invest strategically in order to do so.

1185 Examples of areas that have been totally restored over the past decade include the old Police Barracks, which were derelict and now are a beautifully restored complex. That was a private development. Nearby, we have the old St Bernard's Hospital, which now houses two primary schools and a music academy. The proactive planning process has ensured that these areas are developed in consonance with the character of the Old Town.

1190 As another example, this time in the South District, we are currently in the process of allocating the area of the former GBC building to a preferred bidder, which will improve the area and should stimulate further urban renewal.

1195 Another example is the creation of Theatre Royal Park and the refurbishment of Governor's Parade, which has revitalised the area and once again encouraged private landlords to up the ante and improve their adjacent properties. This kind of initiative, which is targeted and at relatively little cost to the public purse, will continue.

1200 Meanwhile, the Urban Renewal Committee has resumed its activity and is tackling such issues as concealing of cables and pipes, and facade restoration. The Urban Renewal Officer continues to work on improving the state of many buildings and has successfully engaged in ensuring removal of cables, junction boxes and other accretions from buildings in the Town. Further to that, in the past few years he has issued 48 notices under section 61 – formerly section 37 – of the 1205 Town Planning Act, most of which have resulted in remedial action.

In respect of Road to the Lines specifically, this House was briefed on the proposed redevelopment during the Budget session in June. The Government continues in negotiations with a preferred bidder for the area.

1210 Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to his last points, which really inspired this question on the back of a complaint that was raised by Action for Housing ... The Government responded by way of a press release saying that in fact that area is now going to be the subject of redevelopment, and it was indeed the subject of the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister's Budget address. It was really that I had a particular interest in exploring further, if I may, Mr Speaker.

1215 I think he said they are still in negotiation in relation to that. The Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister, on 20th June, said that the Government was on the verge of concluding an agreement, which he explained would completely reform and refurbish the Upper Town and also the access areas to Road to the Lines and all the rest of it. Is he able to give us a bit more detail as to when he expects that to conclude, and then for the much needed works to commence?

1220 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, yes, there was actually a meeting this week and we are close, but we are not quite there yet.

1225 Hon. D J Bossino: Would he have sufficient courage to say when he expects to be in a position to announce that an agreement has been reached and works will commence?

1230 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Part of the answer to that question is part of the negotiations, so the timescales and all that are also what would be included in an MoU, hopefully, if an MoU is signed. Certainly, the Government is interested in getting this done as quickly as possible, and we are nearly there.

Hon. D J Bossino: Presumably he is not in a position to give any insight as to what the – I think he described it as significant – cash premium for the land is likely to be, or is.

1235 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, not at this stage. It is still a live negotiation.

Hon. D J Bossino: These are still relevant questions, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Final question.

1240 Hon. D J Bossino: [Inaudible]

1245 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: I think it depends on when the agreement is finalised. That would allow concept designs to be produced and then those could be presented to the DPC for the start of the formal consultation process with all the entities represented. So I cannot give him an exact timing until the negotiations have concluded.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q381/2022
Schedule of listed buildings –
Whether private properties to be added

Clerk: Question 381/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1250 Hon. D J Bossino: Please state whether the Government has considered listing privately owned buildings such as Fortress House under the Heritage and Antiquities Act; and if the conclusion was that they should not be listed, why not?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1255

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Heritage and Antiquities Advisory Council has discussed the listing of private properties on several occasions. Indeed, the Heritage and Antiquities Act 2018 expressly envisages the scheduling – that is the listing in Schedule 2 of privately owned buildings under sections 15(4)(e) and 17(3). We are currently in discussion with a number of landlords whose properties we are considering adding to the Schedule.

1260

Hon. D J Bossino: Specifically in relation to Fortress House, I appreciate that it has been a subject of liquidation and it has already been sold. Do the negotiations include Fortress House?

1265

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the discussions, so far, have not included Fortress House. There have been discussions with the proposed developers of Fortress House in relation to their forthcoming planning application and there is another meeting, which we are setting up within the next couple of weeks, at which we will touch a number of issues, which would include this.

1270

Hon. D J Bossino: Is he able to state how many properties he has received advice on in relation to this? And, if I am slightly cheeky, which properties is he looking at?

1275

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not think it would be fair with to the landlord, although the Act gives me the power to include in the schedule without necessarily having the consent of the landlord. I think it is good form to engage with the landlord and try to get agreement, even though agreement is not necessary. This happened when we were setting up the Act and we discussed the places of worship with the relevant denominations and got their acceptance, even though it was not necessary.

1280

I do not think it is fair to give the names. I think we are talking, from memory, about maybe half a dozen, six or seven, as the initial tranche of listed private properties, but we are in discussion with landlords, as I say.

1285

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, to get a sense of what the Minister's thinking is in relation to this, of the half a dozen he is considering, is it possible that he may consider proceeding to enforce even without the landlord's consent?

1290

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, there are a range of views. Some landlords, because this is very new in Gibraltar, tend to feel that, even though they have no intention of damaging their property from a heritage perspective, it would perhaps provide some constraints as to what they can do, and they are worried about the value of the property. However, research in the UK has shown that listed buildings in fact increase in value and do not decrease. That is the kind of conversation we are having. As I said, it varies from those who are keen to those who are less keen.

1295

If there were private properties or artefacts like fireplaces within private properties that I felt, and on advice from the Heritage and Antiquities Council, were under threat, I think my duty to the heritage of Gibraltar would be such that I might be obliged to consider listing them with or without the landlord's consent. I do not think it would come to that because that is not the nature of the conversations we are having.

1300 Hon. K Azopardi: Just on this issue, is there a common theme to this bag of six or seven properties? Is it, for example, that they are all in a particular zone of heritage importance, or are they classified because of their age, even though they are in diverse parts of Gibraltar, or is it because there has been a singular assessment of their own integral value – in a heritage sense; I do not mean value in a financial sense.

1305

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: I have to be careful because I do not want to say anything that might identify the landlords in question.

They are significant properties in the old parts of Gibraltar where, in some cases, there have already been recent restorations which have been very sympathetic to heritage and where I sense that the landlord is particularly sympathetic to heritage and therefore the conversation will be an easy conversation to have.

1310

I think it is important that we should list or schedule the first group and then use that to encourage others to come along and put theirs forward.

1315

Hon. D J Bossino: I was going to ask that question, in terms of his thought process in relation to this, whether this is the first batch of properties he is considering and not the only batch and he already has his eye ... and indeed the Council advising him to list another batch when this process is completed.

1320

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker. Coincidentally, my hon. Friend the Minister for Postal Services, Tourism and the Port and I were at the National Gallery launching the set of Gustavo Bacarisas stamps this morning and we were admiring the works of Rudesindo Mannia, who captured some of the old parts of town. That is the sort of thing that encourages us, and me with the particular responsibility, to try to ensure that we keep the look.

1325

From my point of view, we need to have a few listed buildings that will show landlords that they have everything to gain and nothing to lose, so that others will then come on board much more quickly and much more easily. I think it would be good for Gibraltar and for the future of Gibraltar's heritage.

1330

Hon. D A Feetham: Thank you, Mr Speaker, I really appreciate it.

Can I urge the Minister to actually be more ambitious in relation to this? (Interjection) Sorry, but yes, more ambitious in relation to this. At the end of the day, essentially listing by consent with the owners is a little bit of a cop-out if you really want to preserve the heritage of Gibraltar.

1335

If there is heritage that is worth preserving, then of course all of us who are in Government, or indeed we as a responsible Opposition, have to grasp the nettle and say we have just got to preserve these buildings and list them. It is actually not unusual in other parts, in Europe. In the UK it is obviously the system that applies there, the listing of properties from Grade 1 all the way to Grade 1*, Grade 2 etc., so could I urge the Minister to be more ambitious about this?

1340

I live in a historic house myself. If I were asked – (Interjection) No, I have absolutely no problem at all in listing Ince's Farm. I think it is a wonderful way of preserving heritage in Gibraltar.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, my ambition, not for myself but for what I do, knows no bounds, but I will consider myself duly urged by the hon. Member.

1345

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q382/2022

Botanic Gardens –
Refurbishment of footpaths and area near main entrance

Clerk: Question 382/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state whether the Government has any immediate plans to refurbish the footpath and surrounding area leading to the northern main entrance to the Botanic Gardens. I hope I have described this sufficiently well, so that the Minister has been able to identify where I mean.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, this area was earmarked for improvement as part of the Grand Parade Park and underground carpark project proposed in our manifesto. Sadly, and as this House is aware, this is one of the projects that has suffered a delay due to the economic strain of the pandemic.

Some repairs and maintenance works have been carried out in the area, and there is clearing of excess vegetation carried out as required. The area will be improved as soon as funds allow the project to resume.

Hon. D J Bossino: Given that we are in urging mode here on this side of the House, can I urge him not to wait for the wider project in relation to Grand Parade, which I imagine is going to incur quite a lot of expense, and simply fix that area I have just identified?

As he knows, I walk there on my morning walk to the office, and the Botanic Gardens are looking really good, but then, for some inexplicable reason, because it is not held by the Botanic Gardens but directly by the Government, as I understand it, the look of it is quite bad and quite deplorable. Of course, the tourists coming here will simply not be able to make that distinction as to why that is the case. It really is in a bad way and he appreciates – because he and I have discussed this, albeit by WhatsApp – that it is something that needs to be sorted out. Can I urge him to try to at least fix that area, the vegetation and all the rest of it?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Botanic Gardens as a whole are looking beautiful and much better than when I was in charge, I must say, which I am very happy to recognise.

The area is one that, when I was Director of the Gardens, always frustrated me. It is a difficult area to maintain because it is not fenced in, it is part of the ... There are many reasons, going back 30 years, why it is not – largely financial at the time.

We do carry out clearing of vegetation. A significant section of wall was repaired last year. It does need investment and, as and when we are able to provide the funds, clearly I am very keen to sort it out. I will not deny that.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q383/2022

St Martin's School –
Review of capacity

Clerk: Question 383/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1385 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, will Government be reviewing the capacity of St Martin's School in line with the evolving needs of students and a projection of children likely to be future students there?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1390

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, at the 2015 General Election, the parties that I proudly represent in this House, the GSLP and Liberals, committed to build a new St Martin's, and the GSD, as then constituted, said it was not a priority for them to build such a school, but they did commit, as a priority, to build a new football stadium at Victoria Stadium. We, I believe, got our priorities right. The school we built and delivered was built for the number of pupils expected, according to the advice and projection of our professionals.

1395

The number of pupils we are now advised can benefit from attendance at St Martin's has increased. As a result, the Government is considering several options for accommodating the recent and unpredictable increase in the number of pupils enrolled at St Martin's. These include providing for Early Birds Nursery at a separate site.

1400

I would add that the staff of St Martin's and Early Birds do an excellent job and that their new school is a brilliant addition to our educational infrastructure, delivered very proudly by us and marking the difference in our priorities as parties.

1405

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, in 2017-18 the Government assessed that there were about 1,500 pupils in Gibraltar who were classified as special needs in different ways. The trends in Gibraltar – and, indeed, worldwide, but clearly in Gibraltar – have been that there have been pupils who require greater special needs and greater assistance and so on. When the project of St Martin's was conceived, was no leeway built into the project so that they could deal with issues of capacity going forward? Was there no assessment of capacity projected?

1410

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, the school was designed with the full involvement of the staff and the Department of Education's educational advisers and was projected for an increase in size based on the average entry for the past six, seven or eight years.

1415

I have figures here. If we look at the numbers in our pre-school for Early Birds, in 2009-10 there were seven, the following year eight, then nine, then eight, then seven, then nine, then eight, then eight, then nine in 2017-18, and then eight again in 2018-19, which is when we were dealing with designing the school. Unpredictably, the number jumped to 12 in 2019-20, 17 in 2020-21, a slight decrease to 12, and this year 25.

1420

There is no way that an average going over nearly 10 years of eight or nine could have been predicted as an entry of 25. We have been able to accommodate satisfactorily Early Birds this year, but this was not predictable. It is not that it was not predicted, it is that it was not predictable. Therefore, we are considering moving the nursery provision offsite, which would allow more classrooms for the older children there, and we are looking at other options too. But this, I say very honestly, was not something that we could have predicted.

1425

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask the Minister – he may have a figure in front of him, given all the figures he spouted just now – what is the current number of students at St Martin's? Does he have that?

1430

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, I do, Mr Speaker. At the moment, including the Early Birds Nursery, there are 109.

1435 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, if there are 109 at St Martin's now, and that is a number that is giving us capacity issues, how is it that in their table, published on their website, there is a figure of 124 at St Martin's School in 2017-18? How is 109 a bigger problem than 124 in 2017-18?

1440 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I would have to check the figures on the website because the number I have for 2017-18 is 63. I can go back to 2009-10: school plus Early Birds, 34, 38, 40, 47, 48, 50, 55, 55, then it goes to 63, then the big jump to 73, 84, 94 and 109. I will clearly check the website. I am not sure whether we are looking at the same figures, but if that is the figure he has picked up from the website then clearly I will need to check that.

1445 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I encourage him to do so. It is on the Government's statistics website, in the table which is headed 'Total number of pupils with special needs for the academic year 2017-18', and for 'St Martin's Special' it has 124 in the column of ... That is what it says. It is called that on the table, 'St Martin's Special'. That is what it says on the table. You cut across and under 'Total' it is 124. That is why I could not understand the point. Perhaps the hon. Member can go and check those statistics. They may need amending, but they may also need updating, and I would encourage the hon. Member to update that because there has not been an updated table on the number of pupils with special needs for an academic year beyond 2017-18, which is on the public website. So perhaps the hon. Member can do that.

1450
1455 Can I just ask him, on this issue, so that I can understand the point a bit more ...? He says that, I assume on a temporary basis, some pupils are going to be moved off site or they are considering doing some classes off site? Has he identified those locations? Is it on the basis that there will then be – I am not sure if I captured the entire answer he gave originally – works at the current site of St Martin's to make it greater capacity?

1460 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, of course I will check those figures. I can only give him the figures I have been given by the Department. I just wonder whether those figures might include the learning support facilities in some of the other schools, but I will have to check that.

1465 Regarding the alternatives, the idea is that the Early Birds nursery might move off site. If that is the case, and if we do that, there will be no need for works at the current site because it would release the classrooms that we need to accommodate the children who are not in the nursery.

As regards sites, we are looking at various, but I am not at liberty to discuss that here because we are considering different options.

1470 Hon. K Azopardi: I am grateful for that, but on his supposition that it might be that it includes numbers of pupils in other schools, I can tell him that staring at the table there are plenty of numbers for all the other schools, so it does not seem to me that it must be the answer, but by all means if the hon. Member can check that it would be helpful to have that.

1475 In terms of the Early Birds moving off site, again I ask the same question: has there been an identification of specific places for Early Birds? Not yet. Or any timescale of when that could happen to alleviate the capacity issues? If, as the hon. Member says, there has been some unpredictability about it, presumably the capacity issues may be worsened next year, so it would be important to act quickly. So I would urge him to do that, and perhaps he can give us some input on that.

1480 Can I ask, the Government having been surprised by what he says is the unpredictability of it, have he or his Department now engaged expert advice on a projection as to the future?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I mentioned earlier that we have not yet firmly identified a site. That was one of his questions.

1485 On the projection of the future, I do not think any external expert could have projected the increase there was at the time and I rely on the great expertise I have within the Department and within St Martin's School for advice.

As to when we will work, from September to September, so we will have to be ready in September, when the term starts, to deal with the number of children with learning disabilities we will have to cater for at St Martin's.

1490

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, this is, obviously, a –

Mr Speaker: I understand. That is why I am giving a lot of leeway here.

1495

Hon. D J Bossino: Thank you very much.

In terms of predictability, and he talks about September, is he or his Department able at least to have an idea of how many ...? Children at that age, when they access Early Birds Nursery, or thereabouts ... You will know a good five, six, seven or eight months beforehand that your child needs to access that type of facility. Does he have an idea of how many children he is expecting to receive in September 2023?

1500

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, we will have an estimate quite soon. These things are done on a continuous basis and within the next few months we will already have an idea.

1505

I think it is likely that the levels will continue at the higher level rather than at the old, lower level of six, seven or eight, which was consistent for many years. That is the thing about it. But we will be aware and we will be ready. We owe it to the children and to the families. This is one thing on which I need not be urged. This is a completely different level of commitment and we will be absolutely there for them.

1510

Hon. D J Bossino: Permit me just a final question, Mr Speaker, in terms of one statistical piece of information. But just by way of general comment – and I know I have spoken to some Members opposite about this – this is going to have a huge impact going into the future, because then, obviously, of those 25, some will do well and go into mainstream, but many of them may not and will need access to the second facility after St Martin's, which is St Bernadette's. Whilst I know the intake last year was three, when you are looking at those numbers it is going to have a huge impact.

1515

The specific question I was going to ask is, of the 109 – and that is the figure he needs to check – in the current cohort in St Martin's, which I assume includes Early Birds Nursery, if he can take a snapshot – you had an intake last September of 25 – how many are currently in Early Birds? It is a pre-school year, so we will be encompassing two or three years at least.

1520

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, currently in Early Birds in total we have 41. We had 31 last year and 28 the year before.

1525

I think this is something that we have to deal with as a community and it is an issue that we should work on without trying to score political points, if I may.

Hon. D J Bossino: I agree, Mr Speaker.

1530

This is going to be an unfair question, in the sense that I am sure he does not have the information, but does he have an idea at least of what the main condition is? Is it many children within the ASD spectrum, or is it other issues? I am sure he will not have that information, but maybe he has a flavour of what conditions these children are requiring special assistance for.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: No, I do not have that information. It is something that we work on together with the Ministry for Equality, the Care Agency and so on.

1535

I must say, Mr Speaker, that there are children who start in Early Birds Nursery and then continue in mainstream, so we do not necessarily have to assume that all those will carry on in St Martin's. Increasingly, with the learning support facilities that we have in our schools, we are able to look after children in mainstream much more and it is something we always aim to do, but I do not have the analysis of each child, I am afraid.

1540

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q384/2022
Unqualified teaching staff –
Whether employed in Government schools

Clerk: Question 384/2022. The Hon. K Azopardi.

1545

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, are there unqualified persons teaching subjects in Government schools; and, if so, in which subjects and schools, and on what basis?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1550

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, all persons teaching subjects in Government schools are suitably qualified.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what does he mean by adding the word 'suitably' before 'qualified'?

1555

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: That their qualification is suitable, Mr Speaker.

Hon. K Azopardi: Okay, let me ask it in this way: are they qualified teachers?

1560

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, had that been the question, I would have given him the answer. All the teachers are qualified teachers. There are also instructors who are qualified in their subjects and work under the supervision of a teacher. This is a process that is widespread throughout education, largely in connection with music, where you can have specialist instructors who teach particular instruments under the supervision of the qualified music teacher.

1565

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I hope that the hon. Member ... It is late in the day on Friday. I am not trying to play word games with him. I thought my question was clear, but fine, we can pick on words, and that is okay too.

The hon. Member has given an example. Are there other examples in other subjects and in which schools, and on what basis, which is what I had asked and which was my original intention.

1570

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I believe it is just in music – I would need to check that – and this will be in Westside, Bayside and the Gibraltar College. I do not believe we have instructors other than in music, because remember that in music you can be a qualified teacher but you may not be a specialist in an instrument, in vocals or anything like that. This is why there is a long record of music instructors, always under the supervision of a teacher, dealing with classes in their specialised area.

1575

Hon. K Azopardi: But as I understand the explanation he has given, whenever it is happening it is always under the supervision of a qualified teacher – to be clear on the words, a teacher qualified in the particular subject in which the instructor is instructing?

1580

1585 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: If it is music, it will be a teacher qualified as a music teacher, although I believe in one of the schools we have drama and music together, so it could be the drama teacher, but it would be a relevant subject. Clearly that does not mean that that teacher is present in every circumstance, because the instructor may have two trumpet players whom he or she takes into the studio, working on the trumpet, another instructor might be working on the piano and the teacher supervises in general but may not be in the room at the particular time.

1590 They are qualified in their instruments or speciality and their instruction is supervised by the teacher and has also got to be acceptable, if it is an examination class, to the awarding body. We have to ensure that Pearson or AQA, or whoever, would accept the qualifications of those who are instructing, and that, I am absolutely sure, is completely covered. We would not have it any other way.

1595 Hon. K Azopardi: If the qualified teacher who is responsible ... Let me use 'responsible'. I do not want to use the word 'supervision' because I used it in my supplementary. The hon. Member, in his explanation, has explained that they are not necessarily present at every single moment. The qualified teacher is responsible for this happening, but the instructor is there.

1600 Obviously teachers are professionals and subject to their codes of practice and so on. In relation to what code of practice is the supervisor instructing? Who is responsible for that situation? They are external people, they are not Government employees, as I understand it.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: We expect the standards and the processes and protocols to be identical to those of the teachers.

1605 Hon. K Azopardi: Presumably there is monitoring of that going on by teachers.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: The subject lead and the senior leadership team in the school are responsible for the professional behaviour and standards of their staff, including their instructors, absolutely.

1610

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q385-86/2022
North Front cemetery –
Condition and works undertaken

Clerk: Question 385/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1615 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, is the Government satisfied with the state of the cemetery at North Front?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1620 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 386.

Clerk: Question 386/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1625 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what works at the cemetery have been undertaken by private contractors in the financial years 2019-21 and 2021-22, by which contractor and at what cost, providing in each case a description of the works undertaken?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1630 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, may I just comment that it might amuse the House to know that at one stage in our lives I was instructing the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition to play an instrument, he will recall. I say that with great affection, not with any –

Hon. (Interjection) [inaudible]

1635 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Many years go in the Scouts, I might add, just for explanation. Mr Speaker, as I have said many times, including today, I am rarely satisfied with anything, as I always feel that improvement is a continuum. The cemetery is no exception.

1640 Over the past few years the management of vegetation has improved following the engagement of a horticultural contractor, with complaints in this respect down and those that arise being dealt with quickly.

1645 Since the retirement of the Superintendent, we have been implementing a restructure of working practices at the cemetery in order to ensure greater accountability of contractors and all working practices. This has included a review of the quality of work of contractors, who, incidentally, are engaged largely privately by members of the public and not by Government. We have concerns about some of the quality and so will be introducing detailed protocols and prior assessment of contractors. To this end we will shortly be publishing a call for expressions of interest in order to establish a preferred contractors list for works at the cemetery.

1650 I now hand over a schedule with the information requested in Question 386 in relation to works contracted by the Government but not including private graves etc. The contractor for vegetation management is Greenarc. That followed a competitive process some years ago. The building contractors are Cano Monumental Masons and El Yanito. However, as the information could have commercial implications, the names of these contractors have not been allocated to specific works. The schedule mentions Contractor A and Contractor B. They are these two contractors, but I do not think here I should divulge which is which.

Answer to Question 386/2022

Construction works to North Front Cemetery

Contractor A

FY 2019 - 2021
No payments made

FY 2021 / 2022
30/04/2021	White marble macael with inscriptions engraved and cross engraved and painted in black	£ 350.00
16/09/2021	Broken vaults / marble slate with inscription	£ 1,050.00
13/10/2021	Repairs to Broken Vaults	£ 420.00

FY 2022 / 2023 (APRIL - 22 TO DATE)
07/09/2022	Construction Works to Vault	£ 1,680.00

Contractor B

FY 2019 / 2021
10/10/2019	Repairs to paths entrance for vaults	£ 1,350.00
03/02/2020	Repairs to vault & marble cross	£ 180.00
21/10/2020	Repairs of various vaults	£ 1,950.00

FY 2021 - 2022
No payments made

FY 2022 - 2023 (APRIL-22 TO DATE)
No payments made

Contractor C - Greenarc Ltd (Vegetation Management)

FY 2019 - 2021	£ 206,856.00
-----------------------	--------------

FY 2021 - 2022	£ 86,190.00
-----------------------	-------------

FY 2022 - 2023 (April- 22 TO DATE)	£ 77,571.00
---	-------------

1655 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, may I, for the record, as the hon. Member made that aside before he answered his question, say that the instrument was a bugle and I hope I played it to his satisfaction.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: You did indeed.

1660

Hon. K Azopardi: Thank you. (Interjections) Yes, indeed.

Mr Speaker, certainly on this side of the House we welcome that there should be expressions of interest on a preferred contractors list. That makes sense.

1665 Can I ask him, first, without getting into the granular aspects of this ...? He mentioned that there is a vegetation management contractor and there are also two other contractors in respect of, as I understood it, Government works. Because you are issuing a list for preferred contractors, are they going to be asked to submit a response to the expressions of interest, so that there is then the formalisation of a proper preferred contractors list?

1670 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, indeed, Mr Speaker. These two contractors have been used for what you will see is minor expenditure because the fact that they are in the cemetery already has its economical aspect. They are there already with their equipment and so on. But yes, indeed, the 1675 expression of interests will require the current contractors to reapply, or to apply, and they will be assessed together with anybody else who applies, and then we will select those we feel can best carry out these functions.

1680 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I think the hon. Member acknowledged it, but the reason for the question is because several people have passed me photographs of the state of the cemetery in some respects, and what I have seen, certainly in the photographs, and it is not just hearsay – sometimes people come to see you and they tell you something and then, when you put it to the Government, you get the answer that it is not accurate, but certainly I have seen it for myself in the photographs. What I have seen is broken tombs, the dumping of rubbish, paving issues – some of the paving broken – cement dumping, broken tiles, piping and rubbish or bricks or cement dumped next to graves; pretty disrespectful practices for any family members going to the cemetery. Does he agree that those things are unacceptable, and, to the extent that they are formalising procedures for the application of preferred contractors, that the Government needs to go beyond that and then monitor how those works happen with whatever staff they have there on site, so that these pretty disrespectful practices do not go on at the cemetery?

1690 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the problems that the hon. Member has described, I am familiar with a lot of them. I do visit the cemetery, sometimes because it is my duty to do so and other times, clearly, because of burials in Gibraltar we tend to frequent because we know so many people.

1695 There are two elements there. There is an element of supervision, which he has mentioned, and there is an element of the practices of the contractors. I think both play a part. I think it would not be right for me to go into any specific details as to what steps we are taking in order to remedy both, but what I can say is that in order to remedy one of those we are going to an expression of interest. There will be very strict written protocols, which do not exist at the moment, as to what work practices can and cannot be done, the expectation of removal of rubble, of respecting of an adjacent tomb. Those will be written protocols and failure to adhere to them would result in those contractors not being able to work in the cemetery any longer.

1700 I am very serious about this, I am not happy with the situation and I am doing something about it.

Questions for Written Answer

1705 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions submitted by the Hon. Edwin Reyes and the Hon. Roy Clinton numbered as W29/2022 to W36/2022.

I also table questions submitted orally by the Hon. Mr Reyes, which have now been converted to Written Questions W37/2022 to W63/2022 at his request.

1710 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, simply to lay on the record of the House the understanding that we have arrived at with your good self as to how the answers which are being submitted in written form in relation to the oral questions which my hon. Friend Mr Reyes has submitted can be the subject of further supplementary questions for the next meeting of the House and not ...
[Inaudible]

1715 Mr Speaker: I accept the representations made by the hon. Member. I also know that the Chief Minister is happy that questions can be raised at the next meeting of the House – follow-up questions to those oral answers converted into written answers, and they can be put forward as supplementaries but in the form of a fresh question. I understand and accept that.

1720

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I take it these are the questions which were asked of me, which I have prepared and are now in written form.

1725

Mr Speaker: I fully understand that.

Adjournment

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that this House do now adjourn to Monday, 24th October at 3.30 p.m.

1730

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Monday, 24th October at 3.30 p.m.

I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Monday, 24th October at 3.30 p.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

This House will now adjourn to Monday, 24th October at 3.30 p.m.

The House adjourned at 7.04 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 3.39 p.m. – 4.11 p.m.

Gibraltar, Monday, 24th October 2022

Contents

New leader of UK Conservative Party elected – Statement by the Chief Minister	3
Order of the Day	3
Bills	3
First and Second Reading	3
Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved	3
Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved.....	4
Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	6
Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved.....	6
Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved.....	6
Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	7
Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved.....	8
Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved	8
Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	9
Committee Stage and Third Reading.....	9
Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved	9
Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved.....	10
Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved.....	11

Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Third Readings approved: Bills passed.....	11
Adjournment	11
The House adjourned at 4.11 p.m.	12

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 3.39 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S Galliano Esq in attendance]

New leader of UK Conservative Party elected – Statement by the Chief Minister

Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Monday, 24th October 2022.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

5

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, events in London, which all hon. Members will be aware of, have transpired to produce a new leader of the Conservative Party just before the House sits. In fact, whilst we are sitting, the new leader of the Conservative Party is addressing all elected Members of Parliament for the Conservative Party in the 1922 Committee.

10

Mr Sunak has been Chancellor of the Exchequer. He knows Gibraltar well from his time there and the work we did with him to secure the £500 million guarantee from the Treasury at that time, and therefore I am very confident that we will be able to work with him, as Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, as well as we have been able to work with successive Prime Ministers since we were elected – Mr Cameron, Mrs May, Mr Johnson and, most, recently Ms Truss.

15

I have written to Ms Truss on behalf of the people and Government of Gibraltar to thank her for the work that she did with us at the time when she was Secretary of State for International Trade, Foreign Secretary and, most recently, Prime Minister, and I have written to Rishi Sunak to congratulate him on becoming the leader of the Conservative Party and in anticipation of him being appointed by the King as Prime Minister. I very much look forward to working with the Sunak-led government to ensure the best possible outcome for Gibraltar in the context of the negotiations of the UK-EU treaty and all other matters, bilateral and multilateral, between Gibraltar and the United Kingdom.

20

Order of the Day

BILLS

FIRST AND SECOND READING

Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved

Clerk: Order of business: (ix) Bills – First and Second Readings.

25

A Bill for an Act to amend the Pensions Act. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): I have the honour to move that the Bill for an Act to amend the Pensions Act be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Pensions Act 30 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Pensions (Amendment) Act 2022.

Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Second Reading approved

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): I have the honour to move that the Bill now be read a second time.

35 Mr Speaker, section 6(1)(a) to (f) of the Pensions Act already sets out the criteria for the entitlement to a pension, gratuity or other allowance of officers retiring from public service under the Government and those public officers who have transferred to other public services. This subsection of the Act does not provide for the situation, however, where a public officer under 40 government service and entitled to a pension under this Act transfers to a government-owned company or corporation and then transfers again to another wholly owned company or corporation – what you might call a double bounce. Clause 3(a) of the Bill makes provision for section 6(1) of the Pensions Act to be amended after section 1(e), so that this situation can be provided for in legislation as transfers from the public service to government-owned companies 45 or corporations and a further transfer to government-owned companies or corporations have occurred within the public service. It also provides for the legislation to be given retrospective effect to 2nd December 2019 for the purposes of including those public officers entitled to a pension who have already retired under these circumstances.

Clause 3(b) of the Bill amends section 17(7) of the Pensions Act, which sets out the criteria 50 when an officer who dies in the service of an authority, a statutory authority or an agency or wholly owned company or corporation is deemed to have died whilst in the public service under the Government. The amendment has the effect of including the public officers who have transferred to government-owned companies or corporations and then transferred again to another wholly owned company or corporation – again, that double balance – so that they are covered by the same provision.

55 Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill? The hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

60 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, yes, and can I just say, before I launch into my points of clarification, that we are rather depleted, as you will see, on this side of the House. Unfortunately, the Members we had down with COVID have still tested positive for it. We thought that they might be free today.

This was a Bill that was going to be taken by my colleague Mr Clinton, but on his behalf, and 65 having discussed the matter with him, can I just seek some clarification on it? In going through the purpose of the amendment and comparing the Bill with the original Act, which goes back, of course, to 1961, we did note that at some point – perhaps not now, but certainly ... I just flag that this impacts on the public service in terms of pensionability, but the definition of ‘public service’ is rather antiquated and the Government may want to flag that for their own legal draftsmen, if 70 not now, for another occasion. The definition of public service, for example, still makes reference to the East African Railways and so on and so forth, but that is an issue of detail.

On the principle of the Bill itself, can I ask the Chief Minister to perhaps give us a bit more detail on the implication of the changes? He has explained, I think in his original remarks, that the reason for the date of December 2019 was because you are bringing within scope people who retired at that date who may have fallen within the scope of this proposed amendment. Does he have details of how many, loosely speaking, public officers – if I can use that phrase – would come within the scope of this legislation? And, to the extent that he may have those statistics, how many public officers are we talking about who may have gone not just from the Government to a government-owned company, but have bounced a second or third time into another company? I was assuming, when I was going through this, that it probably is not a big number of people, but it would be helpful to understand how many people we are talking about, so that we can form our own view of the implications of the changes. I do not know whether he has any comments to add as to the financial implications of the changes, not just in terms of the number of people affected but in terms of what the financial implications of those changes are.

In terms of fixing the date at 1st December 2019, is there magic to that date, or would someone then say they have been left out because of that date? Does the Chief Minister have that information?

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, thank you.

The definition of the public service, as the hon. Gentleman says, is now one which is, apparently, of a different age. I do not disagree with him. It is one that I look at sometimes and I do wonder how it is that we have not yet amended it. There are instances when one looks at these things and wonders whether perhaps in future we might have businesses that stretch out as far as they used to in the past, but it is very unlikely that those businesses will be public businesses and therefore I think we are overdue a change of those definitions – and not just the one that the hon. Gentleman points to.

Mr Speaker, the number of people affected by this change is, in fact, as the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has suggested, a handful. There are no more than that, but they are a handful that have to be provided for. From memory, I believe that this is an issue that was raised by the Principal Auditor in order to ensure that the payment of pensions is properly provided for, and, as a result, the issue of the date, I think, is related also to an officer who was identified as not being covered by the rules as they are presently drafted and who transferred on that date. Since then, there may have been one or others.

The reason we have not been able to do this Bill sooner is that shortly after December 2019 – and that is when the transfer happened, not when the problem was identified – most of our draftsmen became occupied with the drafting of the coronavirus legislation and regulations etc. That became very difficult, but we are now bringing the matter to the House in order to tidy up and provide clarity in respect of individuals who are caught in this instance.

I do not have a number that I can give him, Mr Speaker. It may be an issue that he wants to put a formal question on next time in the House, so that those who compile answers can check, but I think there is literally also just a handful of people who would be affected by moving from the government service to an agency or authority and then moving again to another agency or authority or another company. Those who do move should have the protection that this Bill provides for, so that thereafter, when their pensions are paid, they have the correct and full legal cover that there needs to be for the payment of those pensions. I hope that is helpful, Mr Speaker.

If I can just add – sorry – that, therefore, in terms of the financial implications, which was the Leader of the Opposition's other question, in my understanding there will be no financial implications as a result of this legislation, because if people felt that if they were to move they would lose their pensions, they would not move and the liability would be to pay the pensions. They have moved on the understanding that they will not lose their pension entitlement, and therefore this is exactly the same liability to the Government as there would be otherwise.

125 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Pensions Act be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Pensions (Amendment) Act 2022.

Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

130 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken later today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
First Reading approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Crimes Act 2011. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

135 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Crimes Act 2011 and for connected purposes be read a first time.

140 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Crimes Act 2011 and for connected purposes be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Crimes (Amendment) Act 2022.

Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Second Reading approved

145 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill now be read a second time.

The Crimes Act provides, rightly, that offenders who are convicted of particular offences – in particular, sexual offences – should comply with notification requirements under our law. That means that they are on something loosely called the sex offenders register and, as a result, they have to notify their movements in a particular way.

150 It was brought to my attention by the former Leader of the House and my predecessor, Sir Peter Caruana, that the Act did not provide any discretion to the courts, to judges in particular, to shorten the period when an individual has to be on the register of sexual offenders in appropriate circumstances. In other words, there would be no discretion allowed as to the period for which a person should be on the register of sexual offenders, whether that person was guilty of the most heinous of sexual offences or whether that person had been found to be in breach of certain rules 155 but the moral opprobrium that the court might consider should be visited upon the particular crime in question should be lesser than another type of similar offence.

160 Mr Speaker, in our law we are always very careful not to tie the hands of judges. We tend to permit judges to have the ability to determine every aspect of a sentence based on their determination of the culpability affecting an individual who has been found, or has pleaded, guilty of an offence. I think perhaps through inadvertence we had not provided that element of flexibility to permit the judge to be the party that determines whether the period should be shortened or should not be shortened in any particular instance, and so I asked my predecessor, when he brought this to my attention, to draft the piece of legislation that would be necessary to remedy that situation, to ensure that the courts did have the discretion to make those determinations having heard the details of a particular offence in question.

165 In a nutshell, that is what this Bill does. It provides the power to the judge who has heard the case or who has an application brought to him, to permit an offender who has applied to the Magistrates Court to have his or her application removed from the register or have the period when they are going to be on the register, subject to the onerous notification requirements, shortened from the otherwise statutorily provided period.

I commend the Bill to the House.

175 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill? The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, again, for the same reasons, I rise instead of Mr Feetham to speak on these principles.

180 We will support the Bill. As the Chief Minister says, it is right that the courts that deal with offenders should have the discretion to then determine the appropriate sentences and how long those should be carried for, so we will support the principle of the Bill.

185 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Crimes Act 2011 and for connected purposes be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Crimes (Amendment) Act 2022.

Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

190 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

195 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, may I just highlight to the hon. Members opposite that we are supporting the principles of the Bill, but when it comes to the Committee Stage ... We are not putting forward an amendment, but personally I found section 315I(2) a difficult read because of the double negative, so I just put it to the hon. Members – if they are satisfied with the drafting, that is fine, but I found it a hard read.

200 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is really for the Committee Stage, rather than now. I do not know on what basis we are saying anything about this now, but I hear what the hon. Gentleman says and I am happy to have a look at it together, so that if there is a better sort of language we can come up with it.

Hon. K Azopardi: I appreciate it.

Mr Speaker: I would tend to agree with the Chief Minister. It was not the point at which you should have raised this matter. You should have raised it when you were talking about –

Hon. K Azopardi: I was trying to be helpful.

Mr Speaker: – general principles, but you need to raise it now at Committee Stage.

Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
First Reading approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Civil Aviation Act 2009. The Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Civil Aviation Act 2009 be read a first time.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Civil Aviation Act 2009 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Civil Aviation (Amendment) Act 2022.

Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Second Reading approved

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): I have the honour to move that the Bill now be read a second time.

Mr Speaker, this short Bill introduces new powers to make subsidiary legislation for the purposes of regulating vehicular, pedestrian and other traffic on Winston Churchill Avenue. The regulations shall only apply in the area prescribed and will be limited to the part of Winston Churchill Avenue which intersects Gibraltar Airport, including cycle lanes and footpaths.

The need for new legislation in this area became apparent after discussions with the Royal Gibraltar Police, the Ministry of Defence and the Gibraltar Defence Police. This revealed challenges in policing this area when people are invited on to the runway and behave in an irresponsible manner or do not listen to instructions given by the Police, police officers or airport officials. A specific incident last year saw a person enter via the south barrier of Winston Churchill Avenue and refuse to exit in a timely fashion. Such behaviour can cause delays in clearing the runway and risks endangering an aircraft attempting to land.

Although offences preventing trespass on to Gibraltar Airport or entering restricted areas can be found in our Civil Aviation Act and Crimes Act respectively, such offences would not apply to persons who are invited on to the runway and remain within the confines of the road, cycle lanes and footpaths. Therefore, the proposed regulations will create specific offences which will help the authorities to deal with such incidents effectively. Enforcement will also be aided by the ability of police officers to issue fixed penalty notices.

Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill? The hon. Member Mr Phillips.

245 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, the Opposition will support this Bill, but just by way of clarification, was a view taken as to whether the definition of 'Gibraltar Airport', which is referred to in the interpretation section of the primary Civil Aviation Act as including 'Civil Airport and RAF Gibraltar' ... to extend that part of Winston Churchill Avenue? I just want to ask that point of clarification because of the powers it seeks to exercise on that segment of Winston Churchill Avenue, which I assume just leads on to the runway. Apart from that, we will, of course, support this Bill.

250 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

255 This arises precisely when the function of the road changes from being a road to being part of the runway. That is why it was felt that the loophole that exists because of that change in function needed to be closed.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Civil Aviation Act 2009 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

260 Clerk: The Civil Aviation (Amendment) Act 2022.

Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Cortes): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

265 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Mr Speaker: Is the Government going to be dealing with any further Bills?

COMMITTEE STAGE AND THIRD READING

Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Readings. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

270 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House should now resolve itself into Committee to consider the following Bills clause by clause: the Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022, the Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 and the Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022.

In Committee of the whole House

Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved

275 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Pensions Act.
Clauses 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

280

Mr Chairman: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Crimes Act 2011.
Clause 1.

285

Mr Chairman: Clause 1 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 2.

Mr Chairman: Clause 2 stands part of the Bill.

290

Clerk: Clause 3.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Chairman, if I may, the Chief Minister has my point, which I made earlier, on the wording. I will not repeat it because he heard it earlier. If they are satisfied about the wording, then that is fine. If they want to reflect further, again we leave it with them. We found subsection 315I(2), as I said before, a hard read because of the double negative.

295

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Yes, Mr Chairman, I am looking at it. The hon. Gentleman, I think, has expressed it in a way that is exactly right: it is a hard read. It is a hard read that reads right. In other words, it does what it needs to do, but it is a hard read because of the double negative. I am loathe, as a result, to change that wording, which is complex, and think that we are going to be able to make it easier to read if the draftsman, who has a lot of legislative experience, has considered that that is the best way to do it in these circumstances. Not all of our legislation is easy to read – hard reads are what make lawyers necessary in the end – but I do take the hon. Gentleman's point. I do not think that the text leads us to a double negative which makes the sentence nonsensical, I think it does what it needs to do, and therefore I am minded not to make any changes on the hoof, so to speak.

300

305

Clerk: Clause 3.

310

Mr Chairman: Clause 3 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved

315 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Civil Aviation Act.
Clauses 1 to 3.

Mr Chairman: Clauses 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

320 Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Third Readings approved: Bills passed

325 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to report that the Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022, the Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 and the Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 have been considered in Committee and agreed to without amendments and I now move that they be read a third time and passed.

330 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that the Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022, the Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022 and the Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022 be read a third time and passed.

Those in favour of the Pensions (Amendment) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Crimes (Amendment) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

335 Those in favour of the Civil Aviation (Amendment) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Adjournment

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

340 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, just before I move the adjournment, I am sure all hon. Members have heard that one of our number, in the course of exerting herself in pursuing the GHA's advice that we should remain active, has done herself an unfortunate injury. The whole House will want to join me in wishing Ms Marlene Hassan Nahon a speedy recovery from that injury. I know that she will miss being with us today and I hope that, despite the injury, she will be well enough to be able to join us for the House's next session, which I am happy to inform the 345 House I anticipate will be in November. I think we have agreed the 23rd is likely to be the date when we will come back.

I move that the House should now adjourn sine die.

350 Hon. K Azopardi: Would the hon. Member give way?

Hon. Chief Minister: Of course, yes.

355 Hon. K Azopardi: First of all, I join him in those remarks, but because I thought we were going to get on to that part of the Agenda, I just wanted to record my agreement with the Hon. Minister for Health. I have a motion standing in my name, but we have agreed between us to kick that forward while we have discussions on issues of mental health.

I certainly join the Chief Minister in the remarks about the hon. Lady.

360 Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House adjourn sine die.

I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die. Those in favour?

(Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

The House will now adjourn sine die.

The House adjourned at 4.11 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 3.02 p.m. – 9.54 p.m.

Gibraltar, Wednesday, 23rd November 2022

Contents

Prayer	4
Administration of Oath of Allegiance to His Majesty King Charles III	4
Confirmation of Minutes	4
Announcements	4
Tribute to William Scott, former Member of the House	4
Welcome back to Mr Clinton and Mr Reyes.....	6
Personal Statement by Mr Clinton	6
Questions for Oral Answer	8
Business, Tourism and the Port.....	8
Q409/2022 Montague Park project – Update re progress made.....	8
Q410-11/2022 Business Improvement District scheme – Current status; Fees paid re independent ballot	8
Q412/2022 Morocco – Actions to secure tourism and business opportunities.....	13
Q413/2022 Sea Breeze floating hotel – Government support for application filed with DPC	16
Parliamentary exchanges – Statement by Mr Speaker	19
Q413/2022 continued – Sea Breeze floating hotel – Government support for application filed with DPC	20
Q414/2022 Tours and tour guides – Regulation	21
Q415/2022 World Travel Market – Details of recent visit	22
Q416-17/2022 Wizz Air – Update re engagement/developments.....	23

Q418-19/2022 Airport radar – Maintenance checks; assurances received from MoD re flight interruptions	25
Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities	27
Q420/2022 GHA waiting lists – Operations across all disciplines	27
Q421/2022 Radiology – Waiting time for scans.....	28
Q422/2022 Bespoke ambulances – Anticipated cost	29
Q423/2022 Chief Pharmacist’s remarks re wasted prescription medicines – Why no Government comment.....	30
Q424/2022 GHA Director General – Extension of current contract	30
Q425/2022 COVID Response Fund – Costs incurred in three months ended 30th June.....	32
Q426/2022 Gambling Act 2005 – Feedback re replacement Bill and any proposed changes	34
Q427-28/2022 FTX collapse – Impact on DLT licence holders and measures to protect customer assets; proof of reserve re ZUBR Exchange Ltd	36
Q429/2022 Supported independent living – Plans to meet demand	39
Q430-31/2022 Proposed funeral home near North Front Cemetery – Whether to be privately managed; provision of mortuary facilities prior to construction.....	41
Q432/2022 Third COVID boosters administered – Number by resident/non-resident.....	44
Q433-35/2022 Mental health patients – Number attending St Bernard’s Hospital; number seen by GPs at PCC; number given anti-psychotic or anti-depressant medication by GHA .	44
The House recessed at 6.04 p.m. and resumed at 6.20 p.m.	48
Q436/2022 GHA facilities – Digitisation of mental health records.....	48
Q437/2022 Mental Health Act 2016 – Code of practice re interpretation.....	49
Q438/2022 Reporting to FATF – Whether deferred and reason why	50
Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport.....	52
Q439/2022 Europa Sports Complex – Temporary management and manning system	52
Q440 and Q448-452/2022 Employment Tribunal cases – Number of current cases; number awaiting appointment of Chairman and date of filing; appointment of Lead Chairperson; effect of reforms	53
Q441/2022 Youth clubs – Refurbishment works	56
Q442 and Q453/2022 Laguna Youth Club – Update re new premises; residential building on original site.....	57
Q443/2022 Skateboard park – Plans to relocate	68
Q444-45/2022 Government housing stock – Notices to quit and proceedings	68
Q446-47/2022 ETB – Number and nationality of Gibraltar residents registered unemployed; number and nationality of persons not registered but seeking employment.....	72
Q454/2022 Mid-Harbours parking – Plans for unoccupied spaces	73
Q455/2022 Chilton Court – Refurbishment programme	74
Q456/2022 Government estates – Schedule of cleaning of communal areas	76
Q457/2022 Government housing estates – Security cameras	78
Q458/2022 Pensioner flats – Eligibility	81

Q459/2022 Housing stock – Whether sufficient to meet need	83
Transport	86
Q460/2022 Pop-up cycle lanes – Intention to install	86
Q461/2022 Safe cycling in Gibraltar – Whether report commissioned	87
Q462-63/2022 1.5 m rule re cyclists – Consultation; level of fine	87
Q464/2022 Legal assistance – Annual cost to Consolidated Fund	90
Q465/2022 Town Planning Department – When to be fully staffed.....	91
Deputy Chief Minister	93
Q466-67/2022 Northern Defences refurbishment – Spend since 2014; number of visitors since commencement of works.....	93
Q468/2022 Parliament building refurbishment works – Commencement date and cost	95
Q469-70/2022 National Archives – Plans to increase access; permanent exhibition space..	97
Adjournment.....	99
The House adjourned at 9.54 p.m.	99

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 3 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S Galliano Esq in attendance]

PRAYER

Mr Speaker

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF ALLEGIANCE TO HIS MAJESTY KING CHARLES III

Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Wednesday, 23rd November 2022.

Order of Proceedings: (i) Oath of Allegiance.

The Chief Justice administered the Oath of Allegiance to the Hon. R M Clinton and the Hon. E J Reyes.

CONFIRMATION OF MINUTES

5 Clerk: (ii) Confirmation of Minutes – the Minutes of the last meeting of Parliament, which was held on 19th, 20th, 21st and 24th October 2022.

Mr Speaker: May I sign the Minutes as correct?

10 Members: Aye.

Mr Speaker signed the Minutes.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Tribute to William Scott, former Member of the House

Clerk: (iii) Communications from the Chair; (iv) Petitions; (v) Announcements – the Hon. the Chief Minister.

15 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, it is unfortunate that, once again, as the House resumes its business for a new meeting, we must start remembering one of our brethren, one who was a Member of the House of Assembly, in this case William (Willie) Scott, who was a Member between 1980 and 1984 and who passed away in the period of the adjournment, aged 81.

20 Willie was a Member of the Opposition when he was a Member of our predecessor House of Assembly with the Democratic Party for a British Gibraltar (DPBG), which was led by the father of one the Ministers in my Government, Peter Isola Snr. That was in the period from 1980 to 1984.

25 Anyone who knew him would describe Willie as a staunch defender of the rights of the people of Gibraltar, one of those people who was totally against the Lisbon process and the Strasbourg process, and indeed he was, as ever, in good company having walked out of the House with Joe Bossano and Bob Peliza in protest at those agreements.

30 Mr Speaker, I would ask, once other hon. Members have been able to express their condolences, that we mark his passing with a minute's silence. I certainly express the most sincere condolences of the Government – and, indeed, I am sure, of the whole House and the people of Gibraltar – to Brena his widow, to Tracy his daughter and to the rest of his children and family.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, it is my pleasure to join with the Chief Minister in marking the passing of Willie Scott and, indeed, passing our condolences on this side of the House to his family.

35 Willie, as the Chief Minister has said, was a Member of the Opposition during the time of, partly, the closure of the Frontier and he was a Member of this House when there was a partial opening of the Frontier, a crucial period for Gibraltar. I have remarked on other occasions, on the passing of former Members, how difficult it must have been to govern – or, indeed, to be a Member of the Opposition – in Gibraltar at those times, with the extreme proximity of the citizen 40 to the Members and indeed at a time when Gibraltar was in real distress, in particular because of the closed-Frontier situation that put us in a very difficult economic and political situation.

Willie was not just very active in politics, he was a keen cricketer and I know my friend Edwin Reyes, who was a member of the same cricketing side, will remember him fondly and may wish to also say something about that. Willie made a tremendous contribution to Gibraltar politics and 45 sports and we remember him fondly, and certainly our best wishes go to all of his family.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Albert Isola.

Hon. A J Isola (Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities):
50 Thank you, Mr Speaker.

I rise because of my personal engagement with Willie as a very young man, late teens, when he was working with my father in the DPBG, as the Hon. the Chief Minister has already mentioned.
I still can hear his very deep voice bellowing in the party headquarters as documentation, manifestos and sheets were being prepared.

55 Willie was always an absolute gentleman. He was a caring individual. His size belied his tenderness and he was always an absolute pleasure to be with from my side and from the years I spent standing close to him in his political time in this House and other places around Gibraltar.

My sincerest condolences to Brena his widow, and all members of his family on his unfortunate 60 passing.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Edwin Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

65 I concur wholeheartedly with the Chief Minister, the Leader of the Opposition and my hon. colleague Mr Isola.

Willie will be remembered in this House for his contributions to politics and the betterment of Gibraltar as a whole. I simply want to add that I want to thank Willie for the happy memories that he certainly left with people like myself on the sports field. Willie, actually, was nominated Gibraltar Sportsman of the Year some time towards the end of the mid-1970s, but it was during 70 that era of the 1970s – we are talking of some 45 years ago – that Willie was really the cornerstone of what was Grammarians Cricket Club ... on paper – when we were out in the field he did not want the limelight, so he always nominated someone else to be the captain. It was a great experience to share the cricket field with someone like Willie. Believe it or not, on the same side as us, on the Grammarians, we had the late Maurice Figueras playing, so I leave it to your imagination what the conversation was like at teatime at cricket. We talked about everything except cricket because politics, certainly in the days of the closed Frontier in the late 1970s, did dominate the day.

I thank Willie for all his contributions on the sports field and in Parliament, and I am sure the Almighty will reward him for his heart and his love for Gibraltar.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I move that the House should now hold a minute's silence.

The House held a minute's silence.

Welcome back to Mr Clinton and Mr Reyes

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): I am grateful, Mr Speaker. May I also quickly add that it is a pleasure to see Mr Clinton back in the House. I know that he was fit and able to join us at the last meeting but unfortunately he caught COVID just in time. It is a pleasure to see him back. I know he has had a difficult summer and, despite his very difficult questions, it is always a pleasure to see him here, and also a pleasure to see that Mr Reyes has recovered from COVID.

Personal Statement by Mr Clinton

Clerk: (vi) Papers to be laid; (vii) Reports of Committees –

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Roy Clinton has been granted leave to make a short Personal Statement. The Hon. Roy Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker, and I thank the Chief Minister for his kind words on behalf of myself and my colleague Mr Reyes. Fortunately, it was a very mild COVID, so nothing too dramatic.

Mr Speaker, thank you very much for permission to make a statement. If there is one matter that we perhaps all take for granted it is our good health. I was reminded of the fragility of our existence only days after the last meeting of Parliament, which was on Tuesday, 5th July this year. As a result of what was, I thought, a routine medical check-up, it was found that I required an emergency heart bypass operation, despite having absolutely no symptoms. I was admitted to intensive care at St Bernard's Hospital on Monday, 11th July, flown to London on Thursday, 14th July, and on Friday, 15th July, at St Thomas' Hospital in London, I underwent open heart surgery resulting in a quintuple bypass, which I did not even know was possible. I am glad to report that the surgeons and doctors are satisfied with my progress and I should make a full recovery in the coming months.

To say I am thankful is perhaps an understatement, as without the speed of intervention I might not be standing here today. I wish to place on record my most sincere thanks to the medical staff at the Gibraltar Health Authority, including the consultant cardiologist, the team at intensive care, the ambulance staff, the cardiac rehab team, Sponsored Patients, and, of course, the nurse who accompanied my wife and me all the way to St Thomas's. The surgeons and intensive care staff at 110 St Thomas's performed a medical miracle and, without any exaggeration, I literally owe them my life.

Perhaps the most touching and personal care was received while I was staying at Calpe House in London awaiting medical clearance before we could fly home to recover. My wife May, overnight, became my nurse and carer, patiently changing dressings and literally holding my hand 115 as I struggled to perform simple tasks such as crossing the road. I cannot express my gratitude enough. The staff at Calpe House were fantastic. They offered constant support and assistance. Indeed, the other patients resident at Calpe House were uplifting in providing simple words of encouragement in a way that only a Llanito would understand. Until you have to use Calpe House as a patient it is difficult to understand the oasis it offers in London and I cannot praise it highly 120 enough.

Also worthy of praise are the Gibraltar Cardiac Association, who also have offered unconditional advice and support.

I have been asked by many whether my outlook on life has changed and perhaps I should take it easy in future. I accept I have certainly been given a warning shot not to take my health for 125 granted, but I am still fundamentally the same person. In that respect, it is my humble intention to continue in politics for as long as I think I can make a worthwhile contribution and my party and the electorate share that view.

Finally, I would like to thank all my family and friends who have enquired after my health and provided or offered support, as indeed have you, Mr Speaker, and parliamentary colleagues on 130 both sides of this House.

Thank you, Mr Speaker. (Banging on desks)

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I might just, on behalf of the whole House ... As I said earlier, it is a pleasure to see him back. If I can just hope that it was nothing to do with my Budget that led him to the difficulties he had and say how important it is to highlight, given 135 how he has told us he was diagnosed, that people should attend those regular check-ups.

I have been asked by a Member opposite what I am wearing on my lapel. I am wearing the Prostate Cancer Support badge. This month, we are dealing with highlighting awareness of prostate cancer. Whether it is a well woman clinic or a well person clinic, we must attend to our health. There is nothing more important, as we have said.

Can I welcome his remarks about the GHA and Calpe House? I know that none of those give us a free pass on things that might go wrong in the GHA, which we are all here to better understand and improve, but so much goes right in the GHA and I am grateful to him for having highlighted that, and in particular I am grateful for his remarks in respect of the staff of Calpe House. The Government and the Trustees of Calpe House have committed to the new Calpe House, but really 145 it is the staff at Calpe House who give it its heart and I am very pleased to hear him recognise their work in that way.

Mr Speaker, I do hope he is not going to take it easy from now on and that he should take it easy on the Government because we very much welcome having him as a Member of the Opposition in this House for many years. I am very pleased to see him back.

Questions for Oral Answer

BUSINESS, TOURISM AND THE PORT

Q409/2022

Montague Park project – Update re progress made 150 Clerk: (viii) Answers to Oral Questions.

Question 409/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state what progress it has made with its 2020 proposed Montagu Park project?

155 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, due to other financial priorities, Montagu Park has been delayed. Having said that, I am looking at how we could possibly revive this project.

160 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, is the Minister in a position to say whether the delay will just impact on the implementation of the project or whether it will also impact on the actual scheme itself? Will it entail a review of the Montagu Park aspect of it, which was only part of a much wider press statement they issued back in 2020, which included all sorts of things, but just focusing on Montagu Park, which was described as affecting the area between Chatham Counterguard and Montagu Curtain and including a cycle lane the length of Fish Market Lane through the junction, through Market Place and Chatham Counterguard – so that anyone who is listening can remember what the Government was talking about then. Is it going to impact on the actual scheme itself or just the timing?

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, as the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition says, this project was from Fish Market Road, all the way through Montagu to Chatham, and then there was meant to be a cycle lane which would lead us into Reclamation Road and then on to Queensway.

175 Yes, it is definitely going to impact on the timing. We are trying to see how we can get this project going again. There are issues – costs, obviously. This project was first planned before we spent £350 million-odd on COVID, so I think we need to take all those things into account, but as I said, I am looking at ways we can revive it.

180 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q410-11/2022

Business Improvement District scheme – Current status; Fees paid re independent ballot

Clerk: Question 410/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise the current status of the Business Improvement District scheme?

185 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 411.

190 Clerk: Question 411/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise the amount of fees paid to Isola in respect of the conduct of the independent ballot for the BID scheme, and also provide a copy of their engagement letter?

195

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, I refer the hon. Member to the Government's Press Release 790/2022, which sets out the current status of the Business Improvement District Scheme.

200

Isola were paid £14,821.15.

The Government will not provide copies of engagement letters, as these are commercially sensitive and to do so would disadvantage the taxpayer.

205 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I thank the Minister for his answer.

If I can perhaps go back to my first question, Question 410, in respect of the current status of the Business Improvement District, if my recollection of the Government Press Release is correct – and I am happy to be corrected if my recollection is not – the words used were 'moratorium' and that current businesses that had received levies were not being required to pay them, and there was a suggestion that anybody who had paid the levy would be refunded.

210

I would be grateful if the Minister could advise if my recollection is correct; and also, if it is the case that there is a moratorium, can he point us exactly to which bit of the Business Improvement Districts Act 2021, or indeed the Business Improvement Districts Regulations 2021, he is operating that moratorium under?

215

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, insofar as the hon. Gentleman reflects what was set out in the Government Press Release, his recollection is correct.

Insofar as his question about the moratorium, it is very simple. This is a piece of civil legislation. There is a requirement for the Government to activate enforcement in order to bring about the enforcement of those aspects of the legislation and the Government is not bringing about the enforcement of the legislation.

220

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, forgive me, but my understanding of the process – and, again, I am happy to be corrected – is that a ballot was organised under the Business Improvement Districts Act 2021 and in accordance with the regulations under that Act. As a result, a ballot holder was identified, who held a ballot, and I presume that the ballot holder then certified a result. The result of that ballot presumably being in the affirmative, the Government then would have put into operation the Business Improvement District. Otherwise, I do not see how the billing authority would have issued bills. So, as far as I can work out – and I confess I am not a lawyer – everything that is envisaged under the Act has been complied with, and therefore the bid is in operation.

225

230

There are provisions throughout the legislation where there are powers of veto, there are powers to make amendment and there are powers to terminate, but I do not see any power to have a moratorium, so I would be grateful if the Chief Minister could clarify exactly what legal instrument he is relying on to effect a moratorium. Is this moratorium, in effect, a termination of the BID? I am just not clear. Of course, from the point of view of the people who are against it, as opposed to the people who are for it, there obviously has to be some certainty.

235

240 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the provisions the hon. Gentleman is referring to are provisions of our civil law. Our civil law has engaged to make the BID active and what we are doing is not enforcing those parts of that civil law – I want to emphasise that this is not a criminal statute – which enable the Government and the BID to pursue those who have not paid the amount which the law requires that they should pay. So the moratorium is just what we might refer to as a forbearance to sue for the balance that might be due from somebody in respect of 245 the amounts they have to pay.

The Government does not want to, in any way, amend or terminate the BID until we have had an opportunity to hear all of the representations from all of the parties who have wished to engage with the Government as a result of the issues that have arisen with the BID. So we do not want to act to terminate and we do not want to act to amend until we have all of those representations 250 in. At the same time, we will not act to enforce in the civil law – because that enforcement is within our control – the payment of the amounts required under the legislation. And so the moratorium is a self-imposed forbearance to sue for the balance due in respect of those bills.

255 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I beg you indulgence – this is something that we need to develop. I understand what the Chief Minister is saying, but of course he must appreciate that the BID scheme is set up under a corporate structure and, on a voluntary basis, there are directors of the scheme and they have incurred costs in good faith, I would say – office rent, computers, staff etc. He will appreciate that they cannot operate indefinitely under a moratorium if they do not know whether they are a going concern or not. How long do you envisage this moratorium would 260 last?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not entirely accept the characterisation that the hon. Gentleman has made, and I do not think anything turns on it in respect of his question, which is how long will the moratorium last. What we are saying is we want to engage with those who are representing those who are against the BID and those who are in favour of the BID continuing. We want to understand why this controversy has arisen, we want to understand better whether the BID has extended itself beyond the areas which the Government was consulted on, and then we will be able to make a decision. We hope to be able to do that very soon, but it is a reality, as I am sure the hon. Gentleman will appreciate, that we are a small administration. With the negotiations 270 in respect of the future relationship between the United Kingdom and the European Union in respect of Gibraltar ongoing and reaching, hopefully, a peak very soon, it is not possible to prioritise all matters, and so it is not possible for me to give the hon. Gentleman an answer to how long the moratorium will be required to continue, but we do hope to be able to engage on these matters very quickly because we do understand that those who are in favour of the BID and those 275 who are running the BID have entered into contractual obligations in respect of their liabilities.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am going to move on to the second question. I think the leader of ... (Interjection) may want to ... I was going to come back to the second question.

280 Hon. K Azopardi: If my friend is moving on to the second question, can I just ask on this issue: in the press release that the Government issued they said that one of the purposes of the moratorium was that it was able to meet the Chamber, the FSB and a representative, I think they said, of the BID. Has that meeting taken place?

285 Hon. Chief Minister: No, sir.

290 Hon. K Azopardi: I think it has been some weeks now since that meeting, and of course we understand that, for the reasons the Hon. Chief Minister has just given, there may be, obviously, attention being focused on other things, but has a meeting been diarised at least for it to take place; and, if not, does the Chief Minister agree that, for the explanation given by my hon. colleague Mr Clinton, it is important to get some clarity one way or the other for people who are on one side of the scheme or another, and indeed for the scheme itself, which was subject of legislation in this House?

295 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the meeting has not yet been diarised but it is on my officers' list of meetings to be fixed at short notice as soon as we are able to fix them.

300 Priority is something which is always in the eye of the beholder. In most instances, those who want a meeting with the Chief Minister want it because they think that their thing is important and more important than any other thing. I recognise here that there are issues which relate to third-party liabilities which need to be resolved, but it has not been possible to fix the meeting any sooner, as yet, and given the disparate individuals that we have, I do not want to set up a meeting that is going to be likely cancelled, delayed etc. Because my diary is a dynamic one, it is on the list of meetings that might be set at short notice when there is a clear moment when it can be held.

305 Hon. Members should know that it is the Government's intention to have that meeting, to try to resolve this issue, to try to bring our good offices to bear to see whether it is possible to resolve the issue in a way that ensures that those who are against have their concerns dealt with and that the BID can continue, but if that is not possible, the Government was always very clear from the beginning that this was only something we would do if businesses wanted it to happen. That is why we insisted on the vote.

310 There are now concerns being expressed about how the vote was managed, or indeed how the expense of the vote was dealt with and then who the consequences and liabilities of the BID have been visited upon who might not have had an opportunity to vote. I need to get to the bottom of all those things. There are only certain hours in the day. It is impossible to deal with more matters than one tries to deal with – I hope the hon. Gentleman, in all the criticism he will make of me, will not suggest that I am idle any minute of the day – so if it has not happened yet, it is because it has not been possible for it to happen yet.

320 Mr Speaker: The Chief Minister has given a full explanation and full answer to your question. We are now going to move on to Roy Clinton.

Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, he has, but I had a follow-up on –

325 Mr Speaker: I do not think there can be a follow-up because he has explained the reasons why he has not been able to have a meeting. (Interjection by Hon. K Azopardi)

I would ask the hon. Member the Leader of the Opposition to resume his seat and I will ask the Hon. Roy Clinton – 330 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can I just say that there was a follow-up because I wanted to ask him something which is not about the diarisation of the issue but something of public importance in the context of what he has said, as a follow-up question.

335 I think Mr Speaker has said that the Leader of the Opposition can ask a couple of questions on issues raised by other Members, and that is all I am seeking to do. It is a short question, with your leave.

Mr Speaker: You may.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, we can all agree, I think, with the hon. Member when he says that ... Certainly he is not idle, let me just say that. The Government had made clear that it was supporting the scheme because the business community was in favour of it, and I think on this side of the House we also made clear, at the time of the passage of the Bill that became the Act, that we did so on that basis as well because of the assurances that had been given.

The hon. Member says that it is important to get to the bottom of it. Of course there has been a positive vote by a small margin, by a minority of the people entitled to vote for the scheme. So if he were to get to a point in the consultation exercise where he thinks that there was something with the ballot procedure that was unsatisfactory in some way, given that there has already been a vote in favour, is it on the table that the Government would contemplate a fresh vote, a fresh ballot? Otherwise, how do you really determine whether people are in favour or against it?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I think the hon. Gentleman will agree with me that his question is based on a number of hypotheses. He is asking me what I would do 'if I reach the conclusion that ...' and 'if I think, therefore ...' I am not going to ask you to rule that the question is therefore out of order; I am simply going to ask him to accept that I do not know whether I will be anywhere near those determinations, and if I am near those determinations, I do not know whether what he is postulating as the potential outcome is the only logical potential outcome.

I have given some thought to this matter, and I can already imagine that there are potentially other positions that one could take. I do not want to explore those because they mean that I do not have the freedom of action when I am around the table to understand and hear potentially even other options.

I would put it this way: if the hon. Gentleman would like me to be inclusive of the option that he puts, and that is to say that all options are on the table – and I would have thought that that is what all parties would consider to be reasonable ... in other words, that we have the consultation with them now about the shortcomings that appear to have arisen here, with a blank canvas as to potential solutions, I think that is what will be in everybody's interests.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Roy Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker. If I could just move on to my second question, Question 411, I am grateful to the Minister for advising that the fee paid was about £15,000, but he says that the Government will not give us a copy of the engagement letter on the basis it is commercially sensitive. Of course, the Minister will appreciate that the nature of the ballot is not something that happens every day or every year in Gibraltar, so I do not see how it can be commercially sensitive to anyone. And, of course, being a ballot, it is definitely not covered by any form of legal privilege. But perhaps the Minister, if he is not willing to hand over a copy of the letter, would confirm that there was an engagement letter signed by, I presume, his Ministry, and that the engagement letter sets out in great detail – and I expect more than just one page – how the ballot would be conducted by whom and what processes and procedures were to be followed in terms of the independent ballot, such that an independent audit of it would be satisfied that all steps had been taken, as would in, say, the context of a general election, in that the ballot itself would pass an audit test in the way it has been done, the way ballots have been sent out and recorded, that the population has been correctly identified and all necessary contingencies have been thought of. Otherwise, if the engagement letter is not that detailed, then I fear it would be very difficult for the ballot to be deemed to be safe. I would be grateful if the Minister could advise that, indeed, the engagement letter is, as I suggested, as detailed.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is raising with us exactly the issues that are being raised in the context of the discussion, that those who are against the bid are raising with us – the integrity of the ballot in terms of its franchise etc. So, for the reasons I gave the hon. Member earlier and I gave the Leader of the Opposition, the Government does not want to get 390 into the substance of this until we have had an opportunity of meeting with all of the interested parties, not even to comment on what the hon. Gentleman is referring to.

An engagement letter sets out charge-out rates etc., sets out what rates the Government is charged versus otherwise-available charge-out rates of law firms etc. That is what is commercially sensitive about the engagement letter, not the particular work to which it relates. That aspect of an engagement letter would not usually be commercially sensitive. It would say 'to represent you in x, y, z', and that thing would be publicly known, but it then sets out the terms on which an entity is represented, in this context the Government.

400 Given that there is competition between law firms and hon. Members opposite represent some law firms, we think it is not in the interest of the taxpayer that we should be circulating the engagement letter, which contains that commercially sensitive information. We would not do it with an engagement letter that was provided to us by one of the law firms which hon. Members opposite, not just the ones who are here, represent, for that reason. Neither is there any custom of governments, in particular the Westminster government, sharing engagement letters, because they can disclose aspects which are privileged even if they are dealing with the organisation of a ballot.

405 Mr Speaker, a ballot is not a referendum and a ballot is not an election. A ballot, in this context, is more akin to a poll, and so what we need to understand is what the extent of the franchise was at the time, whether that was correct franchise at the time, but whether in fact the extension of the BID which has been referred to – and the hon. Gentleman will have seen that public reference of an extension of the BID area and application – has gone beyond those balloted or entitled to be balloted, whether or not they responded.

410 I do not want to get into that issue at the moment. I want to try to resolve this, not to have a political argument with the hon. Gentleman over it, and I would ask him to give the Government the time to be able to address these issues in order to be able to resolve them in the manner that is in the best interests of those who are representative of those who are against the bid and those who are in favour of the bid – that is to say the traders in Gibraltar, whether they are on one side or the other – to try to achieve the best thing for Gibraltar PLC.

420 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I appreciate what the Chief Minister is saying. As regards commercial sensitivity, we would, of course, accept a redacted form of engagement. We can blank out all charge-out fees, though we know what the total cost of the exercise was. We would happily accept an engagement letter that is so redacted, but if he is not of a mind to give us the letter in a redacted form, could he at least perhaps answer one simple question: was it the Government that signed that engagement letter?

425

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it was the Ministry, yes.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q412/2022

Morocco –

Actions to secure tourism and business opportunities

430 Clerk: Question 412/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: What specifically is the Minister for Tourism doing to secure tourism and business opportunities with Morocco?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

435 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the Government continues to work to re-establish air links with Morocco through contacts in the airline trade. These links fell, due to the pandemic. They represent a great way to establish and maintain links of tourism and a business nature with our neighbour to the south. Separately, the Chief Minister has engaged in a number of visits to Morocco to seek to establish stronger links, and 440 announcements which show those links bearing fruit are expected in coming months.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, apart from improving – well, resuming, rather than improving – the air links, what specifically ...? He did mention it in his Budget speech and he talked about how extremely important it is to have the links with Morocco and that he looked forward to new 445 opportunities after Brexit, especially those linked to tourism and business, but I do not think I have had much in terms of detail, other than in relation to the air links question. Can he be more specific than he has already been in his initial reply?

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, as I said, we will be making an announcement in the coming 450 months.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can he not give me a flavour of what that announcement is likely to entail and involve? As usual, the hon. Member is not being particularly helpful in his replies and he is always very – 455

Mr Speaker: That is unnecessary. Just ask the question. (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) No, you have to ask the question. (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) Ask the question, get an answer.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have asked it, but I think the hon. Member is going to reply.
460

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Yes, I am going to reply, Mr Speaker.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is he replying, Mr Speaker, in relation to all the questions –?

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, I am going to reply – (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) Mr Speaker, I am going to reply because the Hon. Minister for Business has referred the hon. Gentleman to meetings I have had which will relate to the announcements that we hope will be made, but if he does not want an answer ...
465

I think that the hon. Gentleman is almost not wanting answers so that he can get up to say that he is not getting answers, which is in keeping with his style. He goes around places wanting to say that they are dirty and being disappointed when they are clean, it seems to me.
470

The position is –

Hon. D J Bossino: That is entirely irrelevant to the question I have asked.
475

Mr Speaker: Please resume your seat. I chair the proceedings here, not the hon. Member. Chief Minister, will you please continue?

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you, Mr Speaker.
480

The hon. Member cannot give him the flavour of what is going to be said, for reasons which are in the interests of Gibraltar. In other words, the hon. Gentleman knows that we are in the middle of a negotiation. That negotiation involves the United Kingdom, it involves the European Union and it involves Spain, as a member state of the European Union. What the hon. Gentleman is pressing me to do may disadvantage Gibraltar, because what we are hoping to achieve may not 485 be achievable by giving him a flavour of something. Indeed, already by pressing us, those who listen to every word that we say and analyse the transcript of these proceedings even before

Hansard has been published will be looking to see where they have to try to stop us from achieving what we have been trying to achieve.

490 If the hon. Gentleman wants to press us further, I will ask myself whose bidding he is doing. I hope that he is doing the bidding only of the people of Gibraltar, and that he is just too foolish to realise that he is –

Mr Speaker: That is unnecessary and hurtful.

495 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the reason I think it is not unnecessary is because the hon. Gentleman is either unable to see that what he is doing is unhelpful to Gibraltar more widely, or, if he is able to see it, must therefore be pursuing that course for a reason which is not the public interest. It is very simple. There is no way out of the horns of this dilemma. He either understands that what he is doing is not helpful to Gibraltar or he does understand it and does not care.

500

Mr Speaker: I want to remind Members that we are here to deal with the issues and not make comments on one side or the other about other issues which are not connected directly with the questions and the answer.

505 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member made a comment about the cleaning of estates. What has that got to do with anything in terms of the questions I have asked? He has then, in effect, admitted that his hon. colleague to his right was less than open, and he has stated a reason as to why.

510 Mr Speaker: Please ask the question, Hon. Damon Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: I will ask the question. The Hon. Minister said that the Hon. the Chief Minister had made a number of visits to Morocco. Can I ask him the dates of these visits?

515 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I have not, for one moment, indicated anything that suggests that the Hon. Minister has admitted something; far from it. And my comment in relation to estates was based simply on the contradictions that the hon. Gentleman sets up for himself. He seems to ask about one thing when he is appearing to want to achieve the other, and I think that is a perfectly valid comment to make.

520 Frankly, the continued pursuit of these matters, even in relation to the dates of my visits, for the reasons I have already indicated to him, is not particularly helpful. I know that he laughs from a sedentary position and I know that what is happening is that Gibraltar and its interests are getting caught between his ambition to lead the GSD and to try and put himself above the parapet on everything and what are the things that matter to our people.

525 Can he agree with me – we have known each other for many years – that if the senior elected politician of the people of Gibraltar is saying to him that it is not in our interest that I say more, he should not pursue it for now, especially given the very live political context in which we are finding ourselves? Let me just remind him again: we are in the last throes of a negotiation between the United Kingdom ... Mr Speaker, I really do not see what it is that is making him laugh with mirth, 530 (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) but we are in the last throes of a negotiation between the European Union and the United Kingdom involving Gibraltar, and that involves the member state Spain, and this is our other nearest neighbour to the south. If he is not sighted on the politics of Morocco and the European Union – Morocco and Spain – then I do not think that he is doing all of the research that he needs to do before he pursues issues of this type.

535

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: This will be the final – (Interjection) Please! I am the person who presides over the proceedings, not the hon. Member. I am going to ask you to put your final question. Thank you.

540

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have hardly opened my mouth. I am not suggesting I want to preside over the meeting, all I am ... I can make, by way of comment ... just as he has made in relation to me a highly political comment – which I find acceptable, quite frankly. I do not mind that.

545

Mr Speaker: I have commented on both sides that that is not acceptable. I have said it. I have addressed it to you as an hon. Member of the Opposition and also to the Hon. the Chief Minister, so let's leave that aside and ask the question.

550

Hon. D J Bossino: What does the relevance of my personal ambitions in relation to a leader of this party and the leader of this community, which I have said openly on television ...? I have no problem with that. I have said so in the past. What has that got to do with it? Why is that relevant to the question I have asked?

555

My question was a very simple question. In the Hon. Minister's answer – I think it must have been his written answer – he said that there had been various visits by the Chief Minister to Morocco. All I have asked for are the dates. This is why I was laughing. Is he now seriously suggesting that because of my questions in relation to how many times he has visited and on what dates he has visited Morocco, when they themselves have said that they have visited Morocco, he has visited Morocco, I am going to put in jeopardy, at the 11th hour, the negotiations between Gibraltar and the EU and Spain? Seriously?

560

Can he just answer the question? On which dates did he visit Morocco?

565

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman really needs to chill. He needs to chill his attitude here and his attitude to trying to achieve the leadership of his party by any means. He needs to go back and look at what he said. He did not get up and ask me for the dates of my visit to Morocco. He got up and made a preamble, which was party political, designed to achieve a point against the Minister, which it did not achieve. That is the reality of what he did. So then he gets up and paints himself as a saint, to pretend that all he did was get up and ask for a date, which he has not been given. That is not the case, and neither have I said that he is putting in jeopardy the 11th-hour treaty between the United Kingdom and the European Union in relation to Gibraltar. I have said he is putting in jeopardy other things, not that – that that is the political moment, the political moment of the negotiation is where we are, and that is putting in jeopardy other things. But he cannot quite see that because he is really ... For the first time in his life, I see him as the epitome of the person spoiling for a fight. He has spent his life being the person running from a fight.

570

575

Finally, Mr Speaker, the last thing I would do, in relation to his question about dates etc., is refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave a few moments ago.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q413/2022

Sea Breeze floating hotel – Government support for application filed with DPC

580

Clerk: Question 413/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Does the Government support the application for the Sea Breeze floating hotel filed with the DPC?

585 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, as far as the Government is aware, no application has been filed with the DPC.

590 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have the minutes of the DPC in relation to 14th September, as he is being super-technical and trying, again – September 2022 – not to answer the –

Mr Speaker: This is unnecessary. Just ask the question. (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) No, you need to ask the question. (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) Please ask the question.

595

Hon. D J Bossino: I must say, it is going to make these proceedings pretty boring. [Inaudible]
The reference 1/3 80-29 says ‘Sea Breeze small boats marina’ and there was a consideration of the Town Planner’s draft screening opinion. Is that the technical issue that he is relying on – that it has not been a formal application because it has to go through the screening first?

600

The reality is that this issue has been the subject of press comment. He and I ... Well, he did not engage on that occasion because again he was not particularly forthcoming in any replies because he did not give any in the press releases which we issued back in autumn of 2021 in relation to this issue. There was an article which appeared in the UK press with diagrams, pictures and all, showing this floating hotel on the northern side of the small boats marina, and there had been very intensive, proper investigative journalism conducted by GBC which suggested that the Government again was not particularly being forthcoming in its replies – and I can go through them. Can he please tell us openly whether they are supportive of this application, or not?

605

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, I am sorry, but there is simply no application to the DPC.

610

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I think I understand what he is saying, but the reality is it has been discussed by the DPC and it is being reported in the press that this matter is before them, albeit on the basis of a draft screening opinion. Is that the reason for his answer? Is he saying it is not ...? I think the Hon. Chief Minister is going to reply for the hon. Member once again. Is it the fact that there is not a formal application until the screening process is initiated and completed? Is that the answer? Can he not say whether they are supportive of this bid, or not?

615

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I am going to reply again out of utter frustration with the hon. Gentleman because he is really, like never before, seeking to box with his own shadow.

620

There is no application before the Development and Planning Commission. The hon. Gentleman knows, or should know, what the screening process is for and what that will lead to. Until the application is made and is before the DPC, the Government cannot see what the application itself is, the detail of the application, where it goes and whether the Government is engaged to support it or not.

625

I know that the hon. Gentleman will now get up and do another political fandango around this issue, but we are trying to be as forthcoming as possible. This is not a question of there having to be investigative journalism or anything else. This is a question of projects going through various different phases, and at different phases the Government being engaged in different aspects of it. He is asking about the wrong phase – he is jumping the gun again.

630

Hon. D J Bossino: At least, as I have asked him on at least one occasion, if not two, the press reports by GBC, as a result of their investigations, showed that initially when GBC had asked

635 Government whether it had any knowledge – not whether it supported it or not, whether it had any knowledge – of the project, which is the one that we are discussing today, the Government said insofar as it was aware, none of the proposals involved this vessel, and they speak to various people in relation to floating hotels. When GBC learnt who the owner of this particular vessel was, a Mr Richard Hunt, they asked the question again. The Government said Mr Hunt is one of a 640 number of investors who have approached the Government about operating a floating hotel in Gibraltar.

The Sea Breeze ‘floatel’ is the subject of a glossy brochure showing CGI drawings of the vessel berthed in the Mid-Harbour marina at the location that was put out to tender. It is all very specifically set out in this brochure, showing that the location of that particular floating hotel is by the small boats marina. This is a matter of public interest and, yes, it is political. That is what we 645 are here for. We are a political Chamber. I need to ask him whether he supports this or not, whether looking at this is something which the Gibraltar Government would support or not – and not be technical about there not being a specific application for planning under the DPC.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, this is a political Chamber and it appears that their politics is 650 to be against everything, and our politics is to judge things when they are mature. That is why, when there is an application, we will be able to make a determination, based on that application as it is then, of whether or not we support it, because we will make a careful analysis of what the proposal actually is before determining whether we support it on behalf of the people of Gibraltar.

They will apparently be against everything, even though the things that they may be against 655 may be the things that they were arguing for. That is to say Mr Bossino will very happily come here and say, ‘Why haven’t you got more hotel beds in Gibraltar?’ and in the same session ask us why we are supporting the bringing of more hotel beds to Gibraltar.

Being in government is a much more serious business than tying oneself up in contradictions, like the hon. Gentleman is insisting on doing today.

660

Hon. D J Bossino: Frankly, Mr Speaker, that is a bit rich from the Hon. Member, talking about contradictions, just looking at the analysis of the answers that were given to the press in relation to this issue.

But let’s talk about more hotel beds, shall we? Let’s talk about that and an extra hotel. Let me 665 read to the Hon. Minister, if he cares to, on this occasion, reply to me rather than allowing the Chief Minister to reply on his behalf – and it is probably because of the mess that he is making of the Ministries he leads. He says –

Mr Speaker: Again, you are being very ... The hon. Member must stick to a straightforward 670 question and resist the temptation to make unnecessary and unhelpful comments.

Hon. D J Bossino: Then, apart from that hotel, he talks about the announcement of one more hotel, potentially, he says, by the end of the year. Sorry, that is my question to him ... But then he refused ... Sorry, that was my question. So that has obviously piqued my curiosity and I wanted to 675 know which hotel it is. When he said no, he said, ‘Mr Speaker, I cannot say more.’ Can I ask him whether this is the new hotel?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I rise because the hon. Gentleman has made a statement about the Hon. Minister’s competence, and I must tell him that I have seldom worked with 680 individuals who have the commitment and competence of the team that I am surrounded by in Government today. The Hon. Minister for Tourism and Business is one of the most able and competent people I have worked with. Frankly, if all we are going to do is attack each other on the basis that the hon. Gentleman has attacked the Hon. Minister this afternoon, I think it is unfortunate that we are going to allow Question Time to descend to that. Question Time is for 685 something different. We can have debates on issues and motions etc.

I am frankly surprised at the hon. Gentleman, because this is not the Damon Bossino I know. This is not the temperate person I know. What has he done to the temperate Damon Bossino we all thought we knew? Where is that person now? What is this newfound fever that we seem to have found to drill down into minute detail, not on issues of huge substance but on any issue 690 which might enable him to show, in the few Ministries that he has been entrusted with in a way that keeps him away from the serious business of opposition, to try to pretend that he has that level of competence?

To me, it is clear what is happening, Mr Speaker, and it has nothing to do with the magnificent work that Vijay Daryanani is doing; it has more to do with who he wants to be in the future, and 695 the Hon. the Leader of the GSD can see him coming a mile off.

Mr Speaker: Can I –? (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) Please –

Hon. D J Bossino: Is that reply allowable given the control that I am being subjected to? Was 700 that a type of reply allowable under your rulings? (Interjection)

Mr Speaker: Please –

Hon. D J Bossino: I mean, really!

Parliamentary exchanges – Statement by Mr Speaker

Mr Speaker: I am going to read something out which I drafted a few days ago on the basis of 705 how the situation was deteriorating in terms of the relationship between the Members of the Government and Members of the Opposition. I am going to read this out to you because I think it is very apropos.

‘Whilst I fully appreciate that the adversarial style of parliamentary exchanges often gives rise 710 to robust verbal clashes, I have noted that recently,’ and today in particular, ‘there has been a significant increase in the number of instances of words having been spoken which are unnecessary and disrespectful. If the trend is for a higher level of discord to become a notable feature for the remaining part of this Parliament, I urge hon. Members to exercise moderation and continue to conduct parliamentary business in a constructive and meaningful manner in 715 furtherance of their role as elected representatives of the people of Gibraltar.’

I want everyone in this House to bear that in mind. I am not picking on anybody. I am just saying that this is how the business in the House should be conducted, with respect and understanding, and I will not tolerate the use of unnecessary, hurtful words being exchanged between both sides 720 of this House.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, can I, on behalf of the Government, very much 725 welcome your statement? No doubt we will transgress that ruling inadvertently, as will Members on all sides, and I ask you to, please, pull us up when we do. There is a lot of division in society today, and I do not mean just in Gibraltar. Social media, I think, has served only to sow division, to magnify differences in a remarkably negative way. So, if we fail to live up to that standard – and no doubt we will, and no doubt I will be the worst on this side of the House – please, Mr Speaker, we urge you to pull us up on it because we must hold ourselves up to a higher standard.

I have no doubt that I speak for all Members of the House when I reflect in that way in respect 730 of your ruling. As we move into an election year, I know that tempers will flare and we have to maintain our tempers to ensure that we give the best of ourselves for our people, which is what we are here to do. We are not here to score cheap political points. There are plenty of other places where we can do that.

735 Question Time, as I have often been reminded by you and by previous Speakers, is about information, and too often it descends to a political debate. Sometimes that is accepted by a Speaker and you give us the rein to do so, and sometimes it is not, and we must all abide by your rulings in that respect. I, for one, am grateful and I acknowledge if I have transgressed that this afternoon.

740 Hon. D J Bossino: Of course, Mr Speaker, what the hon. Member has said nobody can disagree with. The thing is ... No. It is being suggested to me that I should sit down, but the reality is if, as most of us are, who are politically dedicated and find the art of politics a very interesting art indeed, and activity ... Many of us will watch the House of Commons. They do not fare that much better than we do, but invariably many of the exchanges are allowed because it gives the place a bit more colour and more of a political chamber atmosphere. It is not a question of asking 745 questions and then getting the answers.

There are two things. If the hon. Member says that I am more feverish and asks where is the temperate Mr Bossino, it is because of the frustration that I am experiencing as a result of the answers I am getting. That is all, but I think that is fine, Mr Speaker. That is absolutely fine. (Interjection) No, not at all. It has nothing to do with leadership ambitions. (Laughter) But I do 750 hope that from now on ... Let's see how long it lasts, as he says, but as he himself has admitted, he is normally the biggest culprit in relation to this, so – (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) Amen to that.

Q413/2022 continued – Sea Breeze floating hotel –
Government support for application filed with DPC

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am not sure that he answered this precise question. Is the floating hotel – the subject of this question – the new hotel that the Hon. Minister referred to? I 755 think it was not in the House but on the back of an interview he gave to one of Gibraltar's magazines.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, it was the leader of the party that he represents who used to remind us in this House – and I think, on reflection, probably rightly – that not 760 everything that happens in the House of Commons should be imitated or held to be the best representation of how democracy is run, and that was the mantra on which he stood for election in 2011 behind Sir Peter Caruana.

I do believe that there are elements of the traditions of the House of Commons in London which we should all seek to emulate because it is the mother of all parliaments, and there are 765 aspects of how business is done there which frankly are not edifying and do not lead to a better democracy. The Speaker of the House and the Leader of that House are the first to say that in that respect it requires some reform, and I wanted to address that in what the hon. Gentleman has said.

Mr Speaker, he also is calling on us to adopt a procedure which I think he would find unhelpful, 770 because under that procedure he would have asked me one question, he would have asked the hon. Gentleman perhaps one question, we would have given an answer, the Chair would be unable to influence the answer and he would not be able to ask many supplementaries, and certainly not the number of supplementaries that he is asking now, which are, as I understand it, a million miles away from the original question that he asked. So he brings upon himself the 775 procedures of the House of Commons, I think, either not realising that they would not avail him of assistance to be able to pursue issues in the way that he is pursuing them this afternoon, although it would be more raucous; or not knowing what those procedures are and misunderstanding how that House is run.

780 As to the substance of the question, Mr Speaker, I will allow my hon. colleague to answer, as it relates directly to his Ministry.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, it might be the one that he is referring to, as we said a few months ago when the hon. Member questioned us on this. As we said, there were several parties interested in bringing a floating hotel to Gibraltar, but we also have other parties who are looking to build a hotel in Gibraltar. So, a little bit of patience. 785 The hon. Member will understand that these are all commercial in-confidence. It is very difficult. We cannot, over the floor, give information on names and which hotel might be interested and which hotel might not be interested. So I think we will have to wait a little bit before we can expect an announcement.

790

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q414/2022
Tours and tour guides –
Regulation

Clerk: Question 414/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Let's see if the calmer Mr Bossino returns. (Interjection) Yes, well, it depends what the replies are like. (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) But you are going to be responsible 795 for the other guy returning.

Please state how the provision of tours and tour guides is regulated.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

800

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, all tours provided in Gibraltar have to be operated by a licensed guide under the Transport Regulations Part VI (105-115) Licensing of Guides and Sightseeing Tours. The Gibraltar Tourist Board is responsible for the granting of these licences to successful applicants who pass their written and 805 oral exam. The initial cost of the licence and exam is £50 and the licence is renewable every two years for a fee of £20.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is the Minister able to make some comment in relation to the enforcement of that? I will tell him why I have asked the question, and that may assist him in the reply. It was 810 commented to me down Main Street that somebody had heard a tour guide, in Spanish, giving a tour and talking about historical facts which were completely off the wall. He is nodding his head, so he must be aware of what issues arise.

Can I ask him what his Ministry is doing in order to ensure that the relevant statutory provisions are enforced? I am not sure whether those statutory provisions allow them to enforce anything. 815 He says it is a process of application and regulation in the sense of giving a licence to an individual to call him or herself a tour guide, but I wonder if there is any way of enforcing the thing that I have just described.

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, he says it has been brought to his attention, and actually it has 820 been brought to my attention very recently, too, that we have guides coming in from Spain, but remember, these guides who come in from Spain come in with a transport company, a tour operator that is Spanish. Like I said, it has been brought to my attention and he has now brought it to my attention and I will definitely be looking into it, but the enforcement side is something that ... We need to see how we can do it, but yes.

825

Hon. D J Bossino: And in terms of seeing how we can do it, would that entail the introduction of any legislative initiative in order to address a lacuna in relation to that? Has it gone that far in terms of the analysis, or is he talking more about on-the-ground enforcement?

830

Hon. V Daryanani: It is more of an on-the-ground enforcement. One of the things we were looking at was the possibility of maybe providing a local guide alongside the guide who comes from Spain, so that they do not give out wrong information.

Q415/2022
World Travel Market –
Details of recent visit

Clerk: Question 415/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

835

Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide the following details relating to the recent visit to the World Travel Market. There are five sub-points: (i) who compromised the Government's delegation; (ii) the total cost of the trip, broken down into air travel costs, lodgings and entertainment; (iii) who the Minister or any member of the delegation met at each event; (iv) what new business has been secured as a result of the trip; and (v) the duration of the trip.

840

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

845

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the Government delegation compromised myself, Mr Kevin Bossino, CEO of Gibraltar Tourism, and Tracey Poggio Magnus, Head of Media and Marketing, Gibraltar Tourist Board, London. The cost of the trip was as follows: air travel, £619; lodgings, £1,977.78; entertainment, nil. The duration of the trip was three days. Mr Bossino and I met with people across the whole spectrum of the travel trade, including travel agents, tour operators, airlines, possible hotel investors, event planners, wedding companies and several travel journalists.

850

A lot of hard work goes into these marketing efforts. Competition is fierce and it is extremely important to keep the Gibraltar brand name at the forefront of the travel industry. Our hotels are full, our flights are full, Main Street is busy, cruise calls have recovered very quickly and will grow next year. All this is the business that we are attracting.

855

Hon. D J Bossino: Well, I suspect a lot of that business is as a result of the lessening threat, thank God, that COVID represents. You hear it a lot that there is an extra buoyancy in the travel market, certainly from the UK, as a result of people having saved money during the closed months as a result of the COVID restrictions, and they are wanting to travel.

860

Is there any reason why the hon. Member has not made any public announcements following the visits, as we are normally used to from him, with the nice pictures in the press and interviews?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): [inaudible].

865

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, it is true. No particular reason –

Hon. Chief Minister: [inaudible].

Hon. V Daryanani: No particular reason, Mr Speaker, but the hon. Member has criticised me on many occasions for issuing too many press releases and for photographs with celebrities, he has said, in the past.

870

Hon. Chief Minister: Damned if we do, damned if we don't.

Hon. V Daryanani: Absolutely. Mr Speaker, if he likes, next time I will issue photographs with the celebrities that I am –

875

Hon. Chief Minister: Just send them to him.

Hon. V Daryanani: Yes.

880

Hon. D J Bossino: It is because he has done it so often in the past that I am actually totally shocked that he has not done it on this occasion. I wonder if it is because maybe it was a bit of a flop.

Mr Speaker, this may answer the suggestion I made that it may have been a bit of a flop and that is why he has not made an announcement about this, but can I ask him whether he has the intention of attending the same event next year?

885

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, it is early days, but all I will say is that we have been attending this trade fair for the last 25 years. Consecutive Governments have been attending this trade fair in London. As you know, the UK market is very important to us, but it is very early days to take that decision at this moment in time.

890

Hon. D J Bossino: And in relation to that, can I ask him a further specific question? Has he thought if there is any flexibility in terms of reducing the costs in relation to any future attendance?

895

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, everything that we are doing at the moment we are doing very carefully. There are many events that we are not going to, simply because of the cost, so we are always looking at reducing costs.

Q416-17/2022

Wizz Air –

Update re engagement/developments

Clerk: Question 416/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

900

Hon. D J Bossino: What further engagement has the Minister for Tourism had with Eastern Airways?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

905

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 417.

Clerk: Question 417/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

910

Hon. D J Bossino: Are there any further developments with regard to Wizz Air?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for Business and Tourism.

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, conversations with both airlines are ongoing.

915

Hon. D J Bossino: In relation Eastern Airways, once again I need to ask him if he can be a bit more forthcoming in terms of his replies. It seems to be the usual modus operandi of the hon. Member. I think that is fair criticism and is not breaching any of the recommendations that, Mr Speaker, you have suggested we follow.

920

He said, in relation to Eastern Airways, during the course of his Budget address, that he looked forward to engaging with them – and by ‘them’ it is Eastern Airways – later on this year. This was after an explanation as to why Eastern Airways, which he had welcomed with a lot of fanfare and hosing the planes, as we were used to seeing during the COVID years... I was telling him that he should be a bit more circumspect to suggest that this was as a result of all his efforts and had more to do with the fact that we had the green lane access to the UK ... They said, actually, that flying to Gibraltar was, in effect, not economical unless they had government assistance, which he said he was not willing to provide.

925

Can I ask him, given that he was very specific during the course of the Budget address that he would be meeting with Eastern Airways later on this year, how many meetings he has had and when?

930

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, you do not necessary have to meet people. Nowadays I have all the CEOs on WhatsApp, managing directors of airlines on WhatsApp – that is the relationship that we have built up – so I am constantly talking to all the airlines. You meet some face to face; some you just communicate with.

935

Hon. D J Bossino: But can he tell me how many of those communications he has had with Eastern Airways and Wizz Air, and what his view is as to the progress that those communications are having and whether they will have any fruition and we will have those airlines coming back here to Gibraltar again?

940

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, it is extremely difficult to try to attract a new airline. It is very difficult to maintain routes sometimes, because at the end of the day ... Just to give you an example, easyJet operates 927 routes. Gibraltar is one of them. It just to puts it into perspective. I think the Member opposite, unfortunately, is just trying his best to make political capital out of this.

945

I have told him in the past, and it is really disappointing because I have also told him to be careful on the public statements he makes regarding airlines. These can be damaging for Gibraltar, because all this is commercial in-confidence. I cannot come out here publicly and tell him about the discussions I have. If he wants me to count my WhatsApp exchanges with people from Eastern, I can do that. Is that what it is all about? We are working continuously with the airlines that operate at the moment and the ones that do not operate at the moment.

950

All I can tell him is to be a little bit patient. We are working extremely hard behind the scenes. Myself and the CEO, Mr Bossino, since he has come in, already met with both the airlines that are operating out of Gibraltar, only last month, and we will hopefully have face-to-face meetings with Eastern and Wizz. Just for him to know, next week the CEO of Wizz Air will be in Gibraltar, so that will be a meeting that we will have with him regarding Gibraltar.

955

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I will ignore the usual, quite frankly, political statements that he makes in reply to the answers that I made. (Interjections) I will ignore that, Mr Speaker. Clearly it is causing some consternation to some Members opposite. But let me just ask him ... In fact, I have asked him, but he has not replied. The question has been put in terms of what he thinks are the possibilities of these two airlines coming back to using Gibraltar. On Eastern Airways he said very specifically during the course of his Budget address that they would only be able to do so if there 965 was financial assistance from the Gibraltar Government. I am assuming that the reply he gave to himself during the course of that Budget address, which was that the Government was not able to do that, still applies, so it must be that he is looking at other possibilities in relation to Eastern Airways. But can I ask him specifically whether he is now considering providing government financial assistance; and secondly, what he thinks the chances are of these two airlines returning 970 to Gibraltar?

960

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, it would be very easy to provide that financial assistance and ask them to start flying here, but we are not prepared to do that. We are continuously talking to them to see if we can look at some other form of assistance. We are not in a position to provide 975 any financial assistance, and he is aware of that. Whether there is a possibility for both of the airlines to come back, yes, there is a possibility.

Hon. D J Bossino: He said there is a possibility. I have asked him how he rates the chances of that happening, whether he is confident. I am not asking him to reveal any commercially sensitive 980 information. I am not asking him to do that. All I am saying is what impression does he have ... whether he is able to say that he is confident that these airlines will be coming to Gibraltar, or is it just a question of ongoing discussions which will lead to nothing?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, that question calls for the Minister to speculate.
985

Mr Speaker: May I ask the Hon. Chief Minister, please, to not mention that information?
(Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) It does not help.

Q418-19/2022

Airport radar –

Maintenance checks; assurances received from MoD re flight interruptions

Clerk: Question 418/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

990 Hon. D J Bossino: What further updates can the Government provide in connection with the maintenance checks being carried out to the Airport radar, as reported by GBC?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

995 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 419.

Clerk: Question 419/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1000 Hon. D J Bossino: What assurances has the Government obtained from the MoD in connection with flight interruptions owing to radar maintenance works?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

1005 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the Airport radar is currently fully serviceable. The report made by GBC was as a result of information entered in error on the Airport website, which was corrected.

The only flight disruptions experienced recently have been due to weather.

1010 Hon. D J Bossino: I am not sure whether that answer is accurate. In fact, I have here a Gibraltar Chronicle report. It must have been more or less the same date as the GBC report. It does say that the radar is currently undergoing maintenance checks by Aquila – so it is quite detailed – engineers. It may be the case that ... I think what he was referring to is that that was the reason given for the diversion of a particular flight, but in fact that was not the reason. I think that was amended. I think that is what the hon. Member is referring to. But I am putting that to one side. I am asking him about the reports – which one must assume are true; they are very specific, and I have made my own separate inquiries – that there are in fact radar maintenance issues which are being addressed by this company, presumably on instruction of the MoD.

1015 I understand that this does not fall under his remit. What does concern me – as indeed it concerned me at the time when I asked a question in relation to HR issues which were having an impact on flight landings at Gibraltar Airport, and I mentioned it last week – is the interruption of these flights. I think it connects very nicely with the question and answer session we have had in relation to Eastern Airways and Wizz Air. The Gibraltar Chronicle quotes ... I am assuming it is the MoD. It says it is possible that some flights in the future will be affected by this until the issue is rectified. I would ask him to say what the Government is doing in relation to addressing and minimising the possibility of flight cancellations becoming a reality, now not only as a result of human resources issues but as a result of the maintenance works that need to be carried out on the radar.

1030 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, the question he is asking has nothing to do with the radar. Going back to the radar issue, I think he is referring to the flights that ... This was on Sunday, 13th November, when there were three flights – one from Manchester, which came in, another one from Bristol that came in, and there was another one from Gatwick, which did not come in and was diverted due to low cloud over Gibraltar, not because of the radar. But there was an issue insofar as the radar ... The reason was that it was incorrectly put into the website and GBC caught on to it and reported it, but this was obviously corrected immediately, once it was brought to our attention.

1040 Hon. D J Bossino: But again his response is not accurate. Question 418 says ‘What further updates ...?’ and this is on the back of the yes, it was as a result of an inaccurate reason being given for the flight being unable to come to Gibraltar Airport, but that must have led to the journalists asking the questions and filing this report. I quoted him the Gibraltar Chronicle article talking about maintenance being carried out to the radar and the possibility of that having an impact on flight arrivals. The question is very specific. If he has got it wrong, then that is fine, but I said, ‘What further updates can the Government provide in connection with the maintenance checks being carried out to the airport radar, as reported by GBC?’ I am not talking about the reasons that were given, which were erroneous, in relation to the inability of that particular flight to come to Gibraltar. I am asking specifically about the maintenance checks on the radar. If he does not have the information because he does not understand the question, it is a matter for him.

1050 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, as you know, it is not the Government that carries out the checks. The MoD carry out, continuously, maintenance and the serviceability of the radars. They are continuously doing this. There is an obligation to do it. It is nothing to do with the Government.

1055 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, it impacts on one of the sectors of our economy, which is tourism and flight arrivals. There is a quote from the Gibraltar Chronicle – I am assuming it is quoting the MoD – that says it is possible that some flights in the future will be affected by this until the issue is rectified. All I am asking is whether he has made any inquiries in relation to this and what can be done to minimise that as far as possible, hopefully to zero, so it does not have any impact on 1060 flight arrivals to Gibraltar Airport. Or is the question also having a sensitive effect on some of his negotiations?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is asking the Government about something one entity, which is not the Government, said to another entity that is not the Government. The Government is not answerable here for what the MoD told the Chronicle. What the Government has told him is that we have received assurances that whatever maintenance has to be carried out will not affect flight arrivals in Gibraltar – for the fourth time.

DIGITAL, FINANCIAL SERVICES, HEALTH AUTHORITY AND PUBLIC UTILITIES

Q420/2022

GHA waiting lists – Operations across all disciplines

Clerk: Question 420/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

1070

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state the waiting lists for operations across all disciplines within the GHA?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1075

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Yes, Mr Speaker. Surgical waiting lists as at 15th November 2022 across all disciplines are as follows: Cardiology, seven; Dental PCC, 16; ENT, 123; General, 479; Gynaecology, 136; Minor Ops, zero; Ophthalmic, 17; Dental, 119; Paediatric Dental, 29; Orthopaedics, 468; Paediatrics, two; Pain Clinic, 99; Plastics, 105; Vascular, three.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, does the hon. Member have a schedule that he is about to give me, or has he just rattled off those numbers and thought that I was taking a note? It was at speed and I certainly did not take note. (Interjection)

1080

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, it is a short list and I have just read out what I have been given. I am happy to read it out again a little bit slower, if he would prefer: Cardiology, seven; Dental PCC, 16; ENT, 123; General, 479; Gynae, 136; Minor Ops, zero; Ophthalmic, 17; Dental, 119; Paediatric Dental, 29; Orthopaedics, 468; Paediatrics, two; Pain Clinic, 99; Plastics, 105; Vascular, three.

1085

Hon. K Azopardi: I am grateful to the hon. Member for re-reading his answer. Normally he gives us a schedule. That is why I was not taking a note. He is usually quite diligent with his schedules.

1090

Mr Speaker, can I just look at some of those, if I may, and perhaps the hon. Member can assist us with a bit more information? The question was about waiting lists for operations across disciplines. Some of them are low figures, but I can see that in some specialties – orthopaedics, for example, and in general surgery – they tend to be higher numbers, almost 500 patients waiting for surgery in orthopaedics or general surgery. Can he give us a sense of the kind of waiting time that that translates into, in some of the higher disciplines?

1095

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, no, I cannot. I do not have that information. What I can tell the hon. Member is that, as you would expect, in areas that are high ... Obviously the waiting lists here, as in the United Kingdom and all over the world, as a result of COVID, are far greater than they would have been before. As a result of that, the Director General is taking specific steps in the ones that are higher – which, no doubt, he will easily recognise – to see (1) how we are doing, what we are doing and whether we can do it better; (2) getting in support to clear some of the backlog, and, with the first step that I have mentioned, hopefully it will not arise again once we have cleared the backlog; and obviously the third point is that if there is an emergency operation, then that is not on this list. Urgent operations are dealt with far quicker than those on this list. These are programmed theatre arrangements. Those are the three steps that you would expect me to tell you and are exactly what is being done. For example, in orthopaedics we have two experts coming in January to help us with some of that work and also to help in advising us how we could be working in a more efficient way in ensuring that we do not run into backlogs.

This is a common problem around the world, as the hon. Member will know, and we are working extremely hard to see how we can bring that list to acceptable levels, which it is currently not at, in the future.

Hon. K Azopardi: Is there a sense of how long it would take to take it to acceptable levels? Clearly it has now been 18 months, I suppose – a bit longer – since the last lockdown, so I appreciate that it does not happen immediately, but it has been a while now. How long does the GHA think it needs in the discussions it is had with the hon. Member? How long do the managers think they need to break it down into acceptable levels? There will always be a waiting list, of course, but to acceptable levels.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think that is exactly the point. There will always be waiting lists, but I think what COVID did was massively increase those waiting lists, and that takes longer than it would normally have done to deal with. For example, in cataracts we have moved very quickly to deal with those waiting lists by bringing people in for a week at a time to clear those waiting lists. That has enabled us to be far more efficient.

In terms of by when I think we will recover the waiting lists from COVID, I would not like to even guess. For me, I would certainly like to know within a three-month period what those timescales will be. So within a relatively short period of time, I would like to know by when we will have some normality in waiting lists, and that is where I fully expect to be by February 2023.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q421/2022
Radiology –
Waiting time for scans

Clerk: Question 421/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, in relation to radiology, can the Government state the waiting time for those needing all scans?

Clerk: Answer the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the waiting times for scans in relation to radiology are as follows. X-rays are walk-ins, all of them, so there is no waiting time; ultrasound radiologist, 11 weeks; sonographer, one week – urgent ones are done within two weeks; CT scans, three weeks – urgent ones are done within the same week; for breast screening there is no waiting time, but there is a two-year protocol – in other words, it is the repetition every two years for these to occur; breast symptomatic, one-stop clinic, one week, within the week; MRI routine are three weeks and urgent are within the same week.

1140 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, on the ultrasound, which is the 11-week one, is this also subject to some kind of analysis by the GHA and some kind of COVID backlog which they are dealing with? Or is this within the realms of a normal expected waiting time for ultrasounds?

1145 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, there is a process, and do not forget that these are programmed ultrasounds and they are not urgent. The waiting list used to be between five and six months. It has now been reduced to 11 weeks. I know that because I asked the question when I saw that the answer struck me as being high and I was told that they are working to reduce it further, but that it is on the way down and coming down from a much higher number.

Q422/2022
Bespoke ambulances –
Anticipated cost

1150 Clerk: Question 422/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

1155 Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Government state the anticipated cost of bespoke ambulances for Gibraltar, as referred to by the GHA's Director General in his public presentation on Monday, 14th November 2022?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the anticipated cost of the two bespoke ambulances that had been commissioned by the GHA is £159,188.22.

1160 Hon. K Azopardi: So £159,000, loosely, for each ambulance, or for two? That is the total for the two ambulances? I see. So around £78,000 each? Okay, let's use loose language, £80,000.

Does the Minister know what is the bespoke part of the ambulance? What is the regular cost and what is the additional part that has been paid to make it a bespoke ambulance in accordance with the specifications of the GHA?

1165 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I do not know what that number is. What I can tell him is that, as he has predicted in his question, there is a cost for the vehicle and then there is a cost for adapting it to the needs that we have in Gibraltar. That is the bespoke element of the vehicle purchase.

1170 The need for these ambulances is obvious and the tender process that was followed when it was acquired obviously led to the specifications that led to it becoming bespoke. I think it is very good news that we will have these two new ambulances, as well as a first new responder vehicle that has been sponsored privately; and then one of the older ambulances that will no longer be used as an ambulance is to be converted into a mobile health unit, which I have talked about before in respect of the further advancement of care within the community.

Q423/2022

Chief Pharmacist's remarks re wasted prescription medicines –
Why no Government comment

1175 Clerk: Question 423/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Government state why it has not picked up on what the Chief Pharmacist has characterised as shocking and a tragedy, the nearly £1 million of wasted prescription medicines?

1180 I think it is that there are £1 million of wasted prescription medicines.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1185 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the first point I would make is that the up to £1 million was an estimate based on the two-week exercise that was carried out by the GHA, where they found some £40,000 worth of medication being dumped back.

1190 The reason why this has been referred to and made public is precisely because the Government and the GHA are focusing on the pharmacy, prescriptions, excess use of antibiotics and wasted medicines. As the hon. Member should know, the GHA has co-ordinated a 'DUMP' campaign as part of this process to remove outdated medicine and raise awareness on this.

Q424/2022

GHA Director General – Extension of current contract

Clerk: Question 424/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

1195 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state whether it intends to extend the current Director General's appointment beyond the 18-month interim period due to expire in July 2023 and whether it has yet identified a permanent successor as stated in its Press Release 916/2021?

1200 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1205 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the Government would like to extend the Director General's contract. Discussions are currently ongoing, but the Director General has always been clear that he views his tenure here at the GHA as interim.

Hon. K Azopardi: Sorry, I missed the end part. I do not know what ...

1210 Hon. A J Isola: I will read the answer again. Mr Speaker, the Government would like to extend the Director General's contract. Discussions are currently ongoing, but the Director General has always been clear that he views his tenure here at the GHA, as Director General, as interim.

Hon. K Azopardi: From that observation, which is really to pass on what the Director General views his role as, when he says that he views his role as interim he means that he does not view 1215 himself as sticking around on a permanent basis forever. But ‘interim’, of course, is a word that can be defined in different ways. It does not necessarily mean that he is going to stay only until July 2023. If he is extended beyond that period, I suppose you could take the view he is still here for a short or interim period, so I am not sure whether the observation really adds much to the answer.

1220 Is it the desire of both the Government and the Director General that there should be an extension beyond that period of July 2023?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I started off in the answer by saying Government would like to extend, and I then qualified it by saying the Director General sees his appointment as interim. The press release that announced his appointment in December 2021 specifically stated he was an interim Director General of the GHA on an 18-month contract.

1225 Government would very much like to extend that contract. The question is whether the Director General is prepared to or not, and those are discussions that we are currently having. There are many other issues in the life of the Director General that are not relevant to this, but are certainly relevant to his personal position as to whether he is able or wishes to carry on for an extended period after that. I would very much like to extend this contract, I think he is doing an incredibly good job for the GHA and for the community, but we shall see how successful I am, or otherwise, in respect of persuading him to stay.

1230
1235 Hon. D J Bossino: Is there a time period within which that determination will need to be arrived at? I am not sure whether contractually there may be something there. In other words, what I am trying to drive at is that it is not that we will find out in July 2023 whether it is going to be extended or not. Is he able to shed some light in relation to that?

1240 Hon. A J Isola: There is no possibility of that happening, because if there is not going to be an agreement reached – and my answer specifically says that we are having discussions – then in the short term the hon. Members would see an advert coming out for that position, which is what there would have to be to ensure that by next July, or before, we are in position with either a deputy in situ or someone else coming in to replace at the end of that period. Discussions are ongoing and I hope to be able to report back long before July 2023.

1245
1250 Hon. K Azopardi: But just on that point, if I may, the Director General was brought in on a specific programme of reforms and he has been quite vocal and associated himself very personally with the reform process that he has taken charge of. So clearly the hon. Member will agree with me that if he is not going to be the person carrying on that reform process, you would want to know that pretty quickly. When you are recruiting someone at the top of the tree it is not something that can be done in a short period of time. Even if you were to recruit the right individual in, say, March, the person might need to give a three-month notice period, for example, which would take you to June. So really, if you are going to start advertising, it seems to me it would need to happen pretty early in 2023. So does the Minister agree that those discussions he is having ...? I know he wants to persuade the current incumbent to stay, but does the current incumbent also know that a decision would need to be taken in principle pretty soon to enable a process to be followed, and does the hon. Member agree that that needs to be given a sense of urgency, so that there is finality in the New Year?

1255
1260 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, we are 10 months into his 18-month contract, and, as the hon. Member has alluded to, the Director General is fully embedded into the desire to carry out the reforms, to see through the vision that we had in appointing him and in supporting him all the way through introducing the project that he is working on. Of course it is critical that we have an early decision on this, and I think the hon. Members will see the results of the discussions that we are already having with him in very early 2023, if not before, because if I am not successful in extending, then, as the hon. Member has said, we will be wanting to move very quickly to give us time to ensure that we have the best possibility of the best possible replacement should we not be successful in persuading him to stay.

Q425/2022
COVID Response Fund –
Costs incurred in three months ended 30th June

1270 Clerk: Question 425/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide a detailed analysis of the Gibraltar Health Authority costs of £1,124,422.65 incurred in the COVID-19 Response Fund in the three months ended 30th June 2022?

1275

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, as has been the practice since the COVID-19 Response Fund was first established, the detailed information requested by the hon. Gentleman will appear in the annual Estimates Book, as it has done in the past.

1280

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I think either he has misunderstood my question or I have misunderstood the operation of the COVID-19 Response Fund. Of course we are talking about this year, and he already knows the Estimates Book for 2022-23 has zero budgeted for the Gibraltar Health Authority. In the COVID Response Fund gazetted for 30th June this year, there is a number there of £1.2 million. All I am asking him is can he please give us a breakdown of that number. It has nothing to do with the Estimates.

1285

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, that number that we would give him at the moment would not be reliable. It would potentially move between the heads, and therefore, for that reason, we do not provide information across the floor of the House until it is final, which is when it is in the Estimates Book.

1290

The hon. Gentleman receives from us more detailed information than we publish, and I am very happy to agree that the Ministry of Finance should provide him with that information on the basis that it is not published but he has it, and on the basis that it may change, because at the moment what we have is not fixed. There are sometimes moves between subheads of where expenses will have been incurred, but I am quite happy to let him have it on the 'behind the Speaker's Chair' rule. It is not fixed and final until it is in the Book. (Interjection)

1295

1300

Hon. R M Clinton: This is like university ... We can consult ... Sorry, Mr Speaker. I appreciate what the Chief Minister is saying, in terms of the potential fluidity of these numbers. We have always known from day one that these are subject to audits and they are subject to change, and we accept that.

1305

He knows that I am generally loath to things that happen behind the Speaker's Chair, as much as other Members may accept it, and I think – consulting my colleagues – that we will probably be happy to accept them on this occasion, but I just have to ask what is it that has caused such a ...? Is there a number? Is there something in terms of recurring costs that we just did not think about when the Estimates were presented in the Budget in June/July that has cropped up, which has necessitated the GHA to incur cost that is likely to reoccur for the rest of the year? Or is it something ... an invoice that was forgotten and found and therefore attributed to the COVID Fund?

1310

1315 I am just trying to get a sense of where this expense is going to go in the future. Is it something that has a fixed parameter in which we can say it is not going to grow much beyond this, or is it something that just was not identified at the time of the Budget and is likely to be a recurring cost for the rest of the year?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has used the word 'audit', which I think is the wrong word to use.

1320 Of course some of my young constituents might have referred to it as audit, but the audit is what the Principal Auditor does. It is the checking that would be the issue. At the moment what you have is a reporting and almost a live management account, if I can loosely call it that, which will be subject to internal checks to make sure that things have been booked under the right heads, and he might know that sometimes there are fluctuations in that respect. It is very unlikely, but possible, that the £1.2 million would change, but where in the subheads the allocation of the 1325 £1.2 million might be different. But it is possible that the £1.2 million might change because things may have been allocated to COVID which are being used for COVID purposes but are acquired more generally, for example, or are simply badly booked at this stage, and that happens. As he will know, in every financial year before the Book is cast there are those issues.

1330 I think I said to the House at the time when we published the Estimates Book last year, when we had the debate, that the Government's approach was to say we have had two years of pandemic, and together, in this House, we have all tried to work out what the cost of that should be in the Health Authority and we had an Emergency Budget and we provided for PPE on the go with a sort of open cheque book to the Health Authority. What we do not know is what the cost 1335 of dealing with COVID as an almost background virus – another one of the viruses that is active in our community – would be. Therefore, it was not possible to estimate what amount could actually properly be attributed to that. Indeed, one of the issues was should we have a specific cost attributed to COVID, a virus, and should that be for another year or should that be ongoing? For example, we do not have a head in the Estimates for the GHA that says cancer. We have different
1340 disciplines, many of which deal with cancer, but we do not have a cancer head. We do not have one that says flu, apart from perhaps the acquisition of the flu vaccine, but we do not have all of the costs of dealing with the flu. So this is almost a transitional year – and that is what I thought I had explained at the time that I presented the Estimates – where we are coming out of pandemic. It does not feel like we are living in a pandemic at the moment, but of course, until the World
1345 Health Organization says the pandemic is over, you are still legally in a pandemic situation. COVID is in the background. It is a virus. This year is almost a test bed for what estimate we might have to have in the future, if any, specific to COVID.

What he is going to see are very live numbers with decisions not yet finalised as to whether those costs should be attributed to the general heads throughout the GHA, or whether in fact they 1350 will have to be attributed to COVID. That is what I would say to him in the context of where we were when we cast the Estimates Book and where we may or may not go at the end of this year in a way that is designed to do two things: first, to ensure that the GHA has the ability to continue to deal with the COVID virus even after the pandemic and during the last throes of the pandemic; and second, that there should not be any suggestion that there is a blank cheque – however big 1355 or small, it should not be blank in any way – for any spending to be attributed to the head 'COVID' as if anything goes in respect of that head.

I think he would agree with me that that is the prudent way to deal with the matter and I think I have summarised what I tried to say and what the hon. Member said when he presented the 1360 Estimates for the Health Authority at the time of the Estimates last time. That is why I am suggesting that he should have these numbers round the back of the Speaker's Chair, because decisions still have to be made. I do not want him not to see what it is that we are being told should be charged to that head at the moment, but I do not want to be fixed with publication of 1365 that in the detail that is provided for. Of course, in terms of the COVID Fund, he has had the number because I thought it was appropriate that people should see that we were providing this amount and we were being told it was COVID, but the COVID Fund can be adjusted should we make a different decision going forward.

1370 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the alternative to having it behind the Speaker's Chair that I was just discussing with my hon. colleague is to understand a bit more how long the Government needs to get clarity. If the Government says, 'We are going to get clarity fairly soon,' well then we would rather wait and get the figures officially, even if we have to ask again. Or they can send us the figures. They can just undertake to send us the figures on an open basis. If, however, it is going to take much longer, then of course we would take a view on it.

1375 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government will make final decisions about this – and this is what I hope I clarified now – as we come to the end of the financial year and we are casting the Book, because then we have seen a full-year effect and we understand what has happened and how things should be provided for going forward. That is why I thought it would be helpful to hon. Members to at least see the numbers, so that we can continue to have one of those much 1380 more convivial conversations that we have when the microphones are not on and we have to be a little bit Llanito with each other, so that perhaps we could even make decisions about this, going forward, together. We have made decisions about the COVID Fund together. Making decisions about the treatment of these costs going forward together is not something that would be anathema to the Government, but without fixing these figures as they are today with the 1385 legitimacy of publication and giving them the that oxygen of legitimacy which we might all agree is not in the interest of the taxpayer going forward.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, it is not a question, but so there is clarity for the Chief Minister, we will, in view of that, accept it behind the Speaker's Chair.

1390 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q426/2022
Gambling Act 2005 –
Feedback re replacement Bill and any proposed changes

Clerk: Question 426/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

1395 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise how many responses it has received in respect of the Command Paper on the repealing and replacing of the Gambling Act 2005, and are any changes to the proposed Bill envisaged as a result of the feedback received?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1400 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the number of written responses received is small in number – single figures – but this is because the industry consultation response is primarily being co-ordinated by the Gibraltar Betting and Gaming Association. We have also had direct engagement with firms on the proposals and these are ongoing.

1405 I have no doubt that changes will be made to the draft as a result of this consultation process.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister for his response. When he says single figures, could he tell us exactly how small a number that was? And in terms of timeframe, does he have a view as to when the amended proposed Bill would come to the House?

1410

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I actually do not have the number. I know it is less than 10.

To put this into context, we started this work in 2015. Then Brexit came along and it was put on the back burner and we focused on other things. Then we brought it back. All during this time we have been talking to gambling operators, both B2Bs and B2Cs, and so when this document came out, it was by no means the first time that firms had seen it. The approach is basically to enable the Gambling Commissioner to have teeth in terms of how he regulates businesses. Under the current legislation, which has been there for over 20 years, you had an Exocet missile, if I can call it that, or nothing, and so the ability of the gambling regulator to take proportionate action is something that has not been there in a sufficient volume. What we are looking to do is to give, like the financial services regulator has, a proportionate mechanism to deal with regulatory breaches. So the teeth will be put in. This will not be a shock and has long been discussed.

1415

1420

We are also changing who requires to be licensed. For example, we are policing the periphery. In the past, a gambling firm which was not carrying out gambling activity but was involved in gambling – for example, a marketing firm – was outside the net. We are now going to bring that within the net, so anything that touches the reputation of Gibraltar as an online gambling jurisdiction will be within scope, and it was not before. At the same time, we are also looking at whether firms that purport to be gambling firms but are not carrying out that activity in Gibraltar should also be caught – again, those that can affect our reputation.

1425

The scope we have long talked about with businesses, so I am not surprised by the small number of firms that are directly writing. And, of course, all during this period we have been talking to them directly. I myself have, the regulator has, as have the people supporting us with this work. I hope that by the end of this year – latest, early January 2023 – we will have concluded our consultation process and I would very much like, within Q1 of next year, to bring the final Bill to Parliament for consideration by Parliament.

1430

1435

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister for his comprehensive response. What I am about to say, I can assure the Minister, is not in any way barbed, but I have to use the word FATF. Would he see this legislation as being a necessary part of the Government's response and will assist in getting us off the grey list?

1440

Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Speaker, absolutely not, and the reason for that is simple. Under the Proceeds of Crime Act, the gambling regulator, the Gambling Commissioner, is already nominated as, for AML purposes, the supervisor in respect of that work, and so the teeth in respect of AML work is in the Proceeds of Crime Act and he is the appointed supervisor. So it has absolutely nothing to do with it.

1445

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q427-28/2022

FTX collapse –

Impact on DLT licence holders and measures to protect customer assets;
proof of reserve re ZUBR Exchange Ltd

Clerk: Question 427/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

1450

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise if the collapse of FTX has impacted on any FSC DLT licence holders, and what measures has the FSC taken to protect customer assets?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1455

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 428.

Clerk: Question 428/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

1460

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise whether any proof of reserve was or has been requested of ZUBR Exchange Ltd, an FTX-owned company and FSC DLT licensee?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1465

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the GFSC has reached out to licensed firms to ascertain any potential impact and their current exposure. Permissioned firms have confirmed they have little direct exposure to FTX or related companies.

1470

As part of the regulatory regime, firms are required to have appropriate measures in place for the custody and segregation of customer virtual assets. Customer moneys are required to be segregated.

ZUBR has not been operational in Gibraltar, as they had matters pending regulatory approval. Therefore, it has no customers and thus there is no risk to customer funds. Consequently, there has not been any proof of reserve, as they have none.

1475

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister for his answer, and I am glad to hear that there would appear to be little exposure in Gibraltar, but I would bring a couple of matters to his attention, whether he would like to comment on them or not. The first of them is, as he is fully aware, ZUBR – the correct name of the exchange – has formed part of the Delaware bankruptcy proceeding and is listed and identified within the bankruptcy administrator as being part of the dot com silo of FTX. Gibraltar has not, obviously, as yet been mentioned in any of the reports. You probably have noticed, as I have, that there is an article on this practically every day in the Financial Times, if not the financial press in general.

1485

My concern – and again, in a completely constructive way – is that I have just literally searched the FSC website now and ZUBR is showing is a live licensee with a live licence. The FSC has issued no comment whatsoever about this and there is no restriction against that licence. I just wonder whether it would be opportune for the FSC to perhaps make it clear what the Minister has said, that it has no clients and there is no risk. However, looking at the licence, it does not mean to say that it could not acquire clients or assets, and given that the entire structure is subject to bankruptcy proceedings and certainly regulatory scrutiny in the US and other jurisdictions with certain allegations of moneys being missing, it would be prudent for the regulator in Gibraltar to issue its own statement to pre-empt any suggestion that Gibraltar is in any way implicated in anything that may have happened in the group elsewhere, and to reassure outside observers that the FSC is doing its job as it is, as the Minister has said. I would be grateful if the Minister could comment on that, because I cannot see it happening in any other industry – in banking or insurance, for example – where a group goes bust in this spectacular way and a subsidiary entity is allowed to continue to hold its licence and operate as if it were business as usual. As you say, it has no clients and it is not doing business, but the licence on the FSC website does not say it cannot do business.

1495

1500 Furthermore, Mr Speaker, if you do a search at Companies House on ZUBR Exchange Ltd, the directors are still listed and one of them is still Mr Samuel Benjamin Bankman-Fried, whom I imagine the FSC will no longer consider a fit and proper person to hold a licence. So either the Companies House information is out of date or something has not quite joined up, but I would have expected that some action would have been taken to remove this individual as a director, 1505 or, having been removed, the records updated and a note, if necessary, attached to its licence on the FSC website to that effect, because otherwise it would appear that this entity could continue trading as if nothing had happened.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the regulator requires to act in accordance with the law. As he may 1510 know, the law has a set process and procedure to follow to revoke the licence of a firm, and that requires them to issue a warning notice, allow a period of time for representations to be made, submitted to the decision-making committee, and then they are the people who have the ability to revoke or suspend the licence. I would fully expect the regulator to be doing that, and that is a process that takes a little bit of time, because it can be expedited – there is short notice and there 1515 are things that you can do to respond quickly. I have no doubt whatsoever that that is being done.

So let's take a step back. I would not expect today to see the directors having resigned, because those can be filed within a period of time; they do not have to be filed on the same day. With respect to the licence still appearing on the FSA website, well, it is going to keep appearing until the licence is revoked, having followed the legal process that the law in Gibraltar requires the 1520 regulator to carry out. I have no doubt whatsoever that that is what they will be doing and that is what they will do.

Is the individual fit and proper? No assessment requires to be made at this moment in time, but I have no doubt that if it was, he would not be deemed to be fit and proper for the reasons we read about every day in the world international press.

1525 In respect of the company itself, the fact that its licence is on the website does not mean that they are authorised to trade. They are two different things. ZUBR was a firm that applied for a licence promoted by other people. FTX then acquired that licence and that required them to do a number of things: change of control and a change of business. Those have not been done yet, so the company is not authorised to trade because its change of business is pending approval, and 1530 consequently, until those processes with the regulator have been seen through, they are not authorised to trade – which is why they have no clients, which is why there is no business, which is why there is no need for proof of reserve, because they have not started trading, because they are not authorised to trade. If they did trade before that authorisation had been approved by the regulator, they would be committing a criminal offence under the Financial Services Act.

1535 I hope I have made myself clear. What I would say is that the regulator has a law in place. It is following that law to be able to get it to the appropriate place, which will lead to, I assume, a revocation or suspension, or whatever it is that the DMC, the decision making committee, comes to after the process is followed.

1540 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I fully appreciate what the Minister has said, but given the unusual circumstances of the collapse, this is not a run-of-the-mill licence suspension or revocation. This is something that is as serious as it gets in this type of industry. Personally, I would have expected a much faster reaction from the regulator. I must say that the suggestion that somebody has a licence on the FSA website does not necessarily mean that they are authorised 1545 to trade seems counterintuitive because if you look on the FSC website and you see 'Is this firm licensed or regulated? Enter the name here for consumers,' and you find out if it is regulated ... If I were a consumer, I would say, 'Well, it is obviously licensed and regulated.' There is nothing to 1550 indicate that it is conditional. Certainly what I read in the press – maybe I read it wrong – was that this deal had been completed. Maybe the law firm that issued the press release jumped the gun, but the acquisition by FTX seemed to me as having been an approved and done deal. I do not recall it saying ‘subject to regulatory approval’.

Hon. A J Isola: Change of business.

1555 Hon. R M Clinton: Ah, so it is a change of business as well. Sorry. I will let you in.

Hon. A J Isola: Yes. They acquired it – change of control approval – and then the change of business requires to be approved before they can start taking on business. So any consumer who goes on to the website and sees ZUBR as being there is not able to do business with them because they are not open for business. This is the point I make. That is why I can tell him that they have not got a single client, because they are not open for business until they have regulatory approval.

1560 With respect to the first point, if I may answer now the other point he made about moving slowly, you will recall at the time of the Financial Services Bill being discussed in Parliament, Mr Feetham, the hon. Member who talked about it, welcomed the introduction of the DMC because the DMC removed from the regulator the ability to suspend or revoke licences. This was a checks and balances exercise that we did precisely to deal with it, and everybody in this House welcomed that step.

1570 Perhaps we should revisit emergency cases like these, because my concern is not so much this case where there are no consumers, my concern is where there are consumers. But the regulator does have the power, where there are consumers, to move a little bit quicker. In this case it is simply a process that the regulator would require to go through in order to comply with the law. I do not see any issue in going through that process and nobody is in harm’s way and nobody is being impacted upon, and nobody is saying internationally that they were regulated in Gibraltar, so those issues become less relevant. It is clear where the company was being managed from. I do not think anybody is disputing that, and so we are out of harm’s way, thankfully.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I thank the Minister for his explanation, and again I assure him that I am approaching this from the point of view of protecting Gibraltar as a jurisdiction, as I am sure he is.

1580 If I can move on to my second question, or rather my first question, in terms of contagion risks he says as per the relevant protection of client assets and money rules, which I have a copy of, they are required to comply with certain requirements. I had a quick look at the number of DLT providers over the weekend, and again he can correct me if I am wrong but I count 15 providers, of which I noticed, going through each one individually, 12 have the ability to custody assets, so that would mean 80% of licensees have the ability to custody licences. There was a comment made by, I think, the Deputy Chairman of the Bank of England. It says in normal circumstances most exchanges in the old world, as it were, would not custody assets, there would be somebody else. What we have is the scenario where exchanges are not just trading whatever the object is – call it crypto assets – but there may also be custody, and that obviously creates a much bigger risk in the event where even if they follow these procedures ... They could actually have ticked the boxes and held the assets in custody with another exchange, like FTX, and then suffered a meltdown which probably could not be avoided. But my concern is whether they are self-custody. To what extent would the Minister see that as a risk?

1595 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the comment by the Deputy Governor of the Bank of England, Sir John Cunliffe, whom he referred to, was calling for regulation. He was saying that we need to have regulation for digital custody holders and providers and for the firms in this space, and that is precisely what we do. I actually think that the reason why we have not been impacted upon is because we have the regulatory standards and we have the principles that we have.

1600 The different core principles that we have address specifically the issues that FCX has suffered from: lack of corporate governance, segregated assets – they did not have them, they were all 1605 mixed in together and everyone did what the hell they wanted and they moved money in and out without care for any of the issues that we provide for. Market manipulation – the 10th core principle specifically prevents firms from doing what these guys appear to have been doing. It is early days yet, but I think we should be looking at our core principles and asking why are the firms we have so little impacted by what has happened when other firms in other places been hugely impacted upon.

And so, instead of looking for the little tiny black spot on a piece of white paper, I think we will be saying actually we have done pretty well, and although there are lessons learnt in everything 1610 that happens and we need to revisit some of those – and the point he has just mentioned could be one of them – the question is what can we do to better protect consumers in our jurisdiction, and that is an exercise that I know the regulator is very alive to and currently doing. I think the fact that we have done as well as we have done in limiting the contagion from this business is something we should congratulate our regulators on and see how we can do even better to 1615 protect consumers in the future than we currently have done.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q429/2022
Supported independent living –
Plans to meet demand

Clerk: Question 429/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1620 Hon. D J Bossino: Please state how the Government intends to meet the demands for supported independent living for those living with dementia, mental health issues and special needs.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1625 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
Mr Speaker, Government continues to believe in providing sustainable care and support for the most vulnerable in our community. This includes holistic development care plans, improved communication and integration across services, so that packages of care can also be tailored to 1630 meet individuals' specific needs. The overall aim is to provide appropriate care and support to enable individuals to live independently and safely in the community, whilst also promoting choice and autonomy.

Hon. D J Bossino: As the hon. Member, I am sure, is aware, this issue is one ... It struck me, 1635 actually, that it does cross, as I identify them, these three distinct groups ... people who suffer from dementia ... I know that it is a demand which is continuously made by Daphne Alcantara on behalf of GADS. I do not know if the hon. Member saw the really good video done on behalf of those people who have mental health issues, led by Conchita Triay.

There is also a very big issue which I think we are going to be facing as a community into the 1640 future. We heard, I think in the last session, the number of children who have been admitted to St Martin's School in this academic year. I think it numbers 25, and that is going to have a huge impact down the road when those children then become adults and their parents pass away and they will need to be cared for. With the greatest respect, he talks about appropriate care and support and packages of care, but what I am thinking more is something along the lines of a bricks 1645 and mortar approach in terms of having a centre – whether the Government has plans in relation to this, to have a centre to house and to address the needs of these three disparate and individual groups.

1650 One of the complaints that I hear, one of the issues that I hear, is that whilst you may have a carer or a nurse who visits person X, she or he then needs to visit person Y in a different flat in a completely different place in Gibraltar, and that causes issues. It causes issues of delay, transportation, all the rest of it. So I wonder if, dare I say, the Government has more ambitious plans in relation to addressing the needs of these three distinct groups.

1655 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the truth is we can never do enough – that is the truth – in providing the care that the hon. Member is referring to. But I think at the same time as I say that, we also have to recognise the enormous steps that have been taken since we came into government. At the moment, we have, for example, 21 people living in care – supported independent living. When we were elected there were three. We have increased that by 19 – 19 out of 21. But can we do more? Yes. Should we do more? We would like to. And so the areas the hon. Member is touching upon in terms of a specific facility to be able to care, the answer is yes, we are looking at that. We are looking at all the different areas in which we can co-ordinate across the various providers of these services to improve the level and quantity of care that we provide. But of course, as the hon. Member knows, there is a cost and there are competing causes for that increased cost, and so what we are doing is seeking to evaluate how best we can make use of that budgetary allowance, 1660 if I can call it that, to provide better care across the different services, not just now, but more importantly in the future.

1665 I think the demands on our service providers are increasing and when I meet with the Head of the Care Agency, he always tells me about the increasing numbers that he is facing. That is something that we are very alive to, very aware of and seeking to see how we can do that ourselves by working closely together with the Ministry of Housing, my hon. Friend at the GHA, 1670 the Care Agency, looking at how we can all, together, provide different care to what we have been doing in the past by more and new. And so yes, we are alive to that and we are determined to see how we can do something significant to achieve that.

1675 Hon. D J Bossino: Can I press him a bit further? When he talks about the possibility of doing something new, he says we can never do enough and you are evaluating how to make best use of the funds and that we are looking at this and that. Is there anything specific that I can ask him to commit to at this stage, in terms of addressing these needs? It is a pressing issue, and what struck me at the time of the issuing of the video is how it is something which does really cut across these 1680 three different, distinct groups and it is a demand which all three different groups are making. I think that we, as a society, need to address this in terms of our medium- and long-term plans.

1685 I have not crystallised my thinking in relation to this, and I would want to discuss it with the groups further, but I think that something that may need to be looked at is building, dare I say, a centre with sufficient rooms in a centrally located place. It may not be the ideal solution, but I think it is something which needs to be considered and looked at, unless the hon. Member is able to tell me that he has considered it but has discarded it as a possibility. I am trying to get him to commit further as to whether he has considered what specific initiatives he can come forward with in order to address these concerns.

1690 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am not going to commit to anything further at this stage, for the reasons I have already given.

1695 We are looking at what we can do more. I have mentioned the work with my colleagues and I am also looking at how the GHA and the Care Agency – who each have their own ideas, and at the end of the day all of these desires are based on the advice that we receive from the professionals in each of these areas, and so it is a question of pooling those.

1700 For example, a permanent facility is one of the matters that is being considered as one of the issues. It is way too early to see if the different agencies themselves agree on whether we should do that or not. There are many different bits of the jigsaw that are being discussed, both with the ministerial colleagues working on this and the different agencies, so there are too many moving parts for me to be able to commit to anything more than I have said, other than we are alive to it, looking at it, and I hope to be able to come back within a reasonable period of time – do not ask me what that is – with something further.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q430-31/2022

Proposed funeral home near North Front Cemetery –
Whether to be privately managed; provision of mortuary facilities prior to construction

1705 Clerk: Question 430/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, is it intended that the proposed funeral home near the North Front Cemetery will be privately managed?

1710 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I will answer this together with Question 431.

1715 Clerk: Question 431/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can Government confirm what arrangements will be made to provide mortuary facilities to bereaved families before the construction of any new funeral home near North Front Cemetery?

1720 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the proposed funeral home near the North Front Cemetery has not been either commissioned or managed via the GHA.

1725 With regard to mortuary facilities for bereaved families, the GHA has already made alternative arrangements within St Bernard's Hospital.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the Minister says it will not be managed privately. Is that how I understood his answer?

1730 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I said the proposed funeral home near the North Front Cemetery, which is, I gather, where the question originated from, has not either been commissioned or managed by the GHA.

1735 Hon. K Azopardi: I see. Well, the question was will it be privately managed? I was not asking whether the GHA were going to manage it. Is there any other public body that is going to manage it, or is the answer to my question yes – in other words, it will be privately managed?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the Government has issued an expressions of interest in respect of providing that service. Until we receive those proposals, we will not know whether it is intended 1740 that they be outsourced, done at Government cost ... We just have no idea until we see what the results of that expression of interest are. The point I am making is that that proposal, that expression of interest, has not been either commissioned or managed by the GHA. It is being done by Government, not by the GHA.

1745 Hon. K Azopardi: I understand that. Neither of my two questions, if the hon. Member looks at them again, mentioned the GHA. The first one is directed at finding out whether it is going to be privately managed, and he answered it is not the GHA. That is not the answer; it is either yes or no. And the second asks the Government to confirm what the arrangements for bereaved families are. He has answered that question by saying the GHA has made alternative arrangements.

1750 In respect of the first question, if we go back to that, the hon. Member reminds us of the expressions of interest process, which we are aware of, hence the question. But is it not the case that the expressions of interest process was started on the basis that there must have been at least an in-principle view taken that you either want there to be private management or not of this facility? I just do not follow the circle that he is trying to take me round.

1755 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am not trying to take the hon. Member in any circle. The Government issued an expressions of interest for reasons that it did. Those could be, for example, that somebody made a proposal to us and it was therefore felt that we should put it out to an EOI before any further steps were taken. But the expressions of interest is issued by Government in the normal way, and then people are free to submit whatever proposals they wish, whether that be that they are privately managed and licensed or leased to Government or whatever that may be. So that is the first aspect.

1760 In respect of the second aspect, Question 431/2022, I said, with regard to mortuary facilities for bereaved families, the GHA has already made alternative arrangements within the Hospital.

1765 Hon. D J Bossino: But presumably the Government has made a policy decision to privatise this aspect of a service which was originally provided by the GHA. Is it the case that if and when this does go ahead ...? I know he has explained that it needs to go through the EOI, and presumably that decision will not become final until some point in the future. Is it the case that should they go down that route, the services which have traditionally ...? I am not sure about currently being provided at St Bernard's Hospital as a result of COVID. That may have changed; I am not too sure. Will that come to an end? I have received expressions of concern as to the ending of that facility within the Hospital facilities. Some people have come to me with the suggestion that it is culturally something that we have been used to for so long, that that service is provided by the GHA within GHA premises in the Hospital.

1775 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the GHA at the moment is carrying out a space utilisation exercise to understand what areas they are using, what they could use better, who has more space, who has not enough space. Before we reach any formal conclusion as to whether it is the mortuary service as opposed to a funeral home, I think they are two ... You could argue they are the same thing, but they have, in my view, two potentially different outcomes. So we are looking at whether, within the framework that the GHA currently has, the space it currently has, we are able to provide adequate mortuary services or not. At the same time as that is happening, there is a funeral home – potentially, depending on the EOI that is being issued by Government – which could meet some or all of those requirements separately. So at this moment in time, the Government's intention is to ensure that there is provision of that service somehow and we are just not yet concluded on who, how or where, as a result of these two exercises ongoing. The place where the original mortuary was, since COVID has been used for other services, and I would hope that once we have that space utilisation survey back with us, which I expect to have before the end of this year, we will be far better placed to understand what we can and cannot do within our own areas which would meet the needs that we wish to service.

1795 Hon. K Azopardi: There was a slight delay in my supplementary and I am grateful for the hon. Member asking because I was trying to pull up the expressions of interest on it, but can I just ask on that last point that the hon. Member made? Does the Government accept then, or is it considering the possibility, that the mortuary might go back to its original location? That is my first question, and I will just roll up with my second question, if I may – even though it is on the other question – so we will go quicker.

1800 I am staring at the expressions of interest process. It is an invitation and it simply says, ‘The Government invites expressions of interest from developers, investors, organisations interested in developing a funeral home’ and then it has the specifications. By virtue of doing that, surely the Government in principle has decided that it is interested in receiving expressions of interest in relation to that, but that cannot ... Surely the Government has decided already that that home would be privately managed or that it might not be, but hasn’t it taken an in-principle decision that it will be privately managed by virtue of the expressions of interest? I am trying to square that circle.

1805

1810 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member says obviously it should be privately managed or it might not be. This is precisely why we do an EOI, to understand what proposals may be forthcoming. What are the people who are interested in doing something offering to us to provide that service within the land that we have identified? I think the purpose of an EOI is to understand and to gauge what are the kind of things that could happen and how could it happen. Could it be that somebody builds it for us and we lease it from them, or license it from them? There are many ... I am not going to begin to limit the breadth of what an EOI provides and will give us because it could give us a very extensive range of ideas, some of which we may be more tempted towards than others, and I am not going to pre-empt that now.

1815

With respect to the Hospital, I do not believe that going back to where they originally were is the preference, but let’s await the space utilisation survey to give us a better idea of how and where we can make maximum best use of the space that we currently have.

1820 Hon. K Azopardi: And my final question, if I may, Mr Speaker: what is the difference that the Government sees between that? The reason I put these questions – and he has bunched them together in answer, so we see it almost as the same thing but it might be that the Government does not see it as the same thing. If the Government were to take an in-principle decision to return the mortuary to where it was originally within the GHA premises, does the Minister think still that there is a need for a funeral home elsewhere? Is this funeral home for which you have invited expressions of interest the place to which grieving families will go when someone passes away, i.e. a mortuary, or are we talking about the possibility that there might be two locations of services? And if so, why? We would like to understand a bit more why there would be two locations.

1825

1830 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think it is too early to answer the question fully, but let me say this. We do not know what is going to be proposed, and therefore, how can I begin to share any opinion on whether we believe it is right or wrong, better or worse? I would say also that in other countries – for example, in Spain – you have funeral homes and you have mortuaries. They are not exclusive of each other, you can have both. That is why I said at the outset that there is some overlap but they are not exclusive of each other. It may well be that we have both, it may be we only have one, but until we know what is being offered, how can we possibly discount the other?

1835

1840 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q432/2022

Third COVID boosters administered – Number by resident/non-resident

Clerk: Question 432/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1845 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many third COVID boosters – fifth COVID vaccines – had been administered by the GHA by 15th November 2022, broken down by residents and non-residents?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1850 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, by 15th November 2022, 3,362 third COVID boosters, which is the fifth vaccine, had been administered, of which 3,268 were to residents and 94 were to non-residents.

1855 Hon. K Azopardi: As I understand it, this fifth vaccine, the third booster, they started offering it, I think, about two or three months ago, so the take up is slow – would the Minister agree?

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, I would agree, Mr Speaker, and that is the reason why, on 18th November, the GHA issued a further press release publicising the introduction of the flu vaccine and the ongoing availability of the third booster, the fifth vaccine.

1860 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q433-35/2022

Mental health patients –
Number attending St Bernard’s Hospital; number seen by GPs at PCC; number given anti-psychotic or anti-depressant medication by GHA

Clerk: Question 433/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1865 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many attendances were there at A&E at St Bernard’s Hospital for mental health reasons in the calendar year 2021?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1870 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 434 and 435.

Clerk: Question 434/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1875 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many patients were seen by general practitioners in the Primary Care Centre for mental health conditions in the calendar years 2020 and 2021?

Clerk: Question 435/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1880 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many people were administered anti-psychotic or anti-depressant medication by the GHA in the calendar years 2020, 2021 and 2022 to 31st October 2022, giving a breakdown by each year?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, there were 370 attendances at A&E for mental health reasons in the calendar year 2021.

1885 The number of patients seen by general practitioners at the Primary Care Centre for mental health conditions was as follows: 2020, 4,031; 2021, 4,221.

The number of people who have been administered an anti-psychotic or anti-depressant medication by year is as follows: 2020, 4,007; 2021, 4,182; 2022, 3,939.

1890 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can I just ask ...? On the first question, which is how many attendances were there at A&E for 2021, he said 370. In 2020 there were 1,047 attendances at A&E for mental health reasons. Can the Minister comment on the difference, why there is such a lower number in 2021?

1895 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am not sure where his number has come from, but from the information I have, the number I have given is the accurate number, and I am certainly not going to guess as to what the reason could be for any change in that number.

1900 Hon. K Azopardi: I think the Minister has misunderstood my question. I asked him for the stat for 2021, he said it is 370, and I have said to him that in 2020 there were 1,047 attendances at St Bernard's Hospital for mental health reasons. So can he comment on the difference, why there is a marked drop in attendances being logged as mental health reasons in the next year? Is that a logging issue, or is it that there has been some kind of analysis within the GHA or a shift of patients into another service?

1905

Hon. A J Isola: My response was where is that 1,000 number?

Hon. K Azopardi: From the Mental Health Strategy that the GHA has produced.

1910 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member will recall in the last sitting of Parliament that he referred to a number of 1,846 people being prescribed medication for mental health conditions by the GHA, and the number he said in that press release on 20th October ... that he had asked to check why there had been a drop from 4,000 to the one five ... I know it is not the question, but I will come to the answer. In that press release in October, the day after we had the meeting of 1915 Parliament, he said, 'How could it have been 4,000 and now it is 1,846?' The reason is simple. The reason is because the question that was asked was receiving medication at that date. There was no time span. The answers that he has asked for today are for a 12-month period, which gives you the 4,000, but the 1,846 that he referred to in his press release – in my view, totally wrongly – confused one number with the other.

1920 The reason I give that information, the reason I say this, is because I am loath to comment on difference on numbers, like the one the hon. Member has mentioned, in case, as happened in the press release they issued last time, you are not comparing like with like, and the result of that is you give a distorted impression of the reality. This is something that is far too serious for me to bring this down to a numbers game, and so I am not going to comment on what the difference is, 1925 but I will certainly go back and seek to understand, based on the hon. Member's question, why there is a discrepancy, because the numbers in 2020 – in total patients – 2021, 2022 are actually very similar and therefore consistent. So if the hon. Member's question and the numbers he is using are consistent, then there is something to look at, but I need to be sure that we are comparing like with like, and that, at this moment in time, I am not able to do.

1930

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, that was quite a roundabout way of saying he does not know the answer. (Interjection) No, Mr Speaker, if I may – (Interjections) He started with not the 1935 question that I was asking, because I was actually asking him to comment on the difference between the stat that had been given in their own Mental Health Strategy of 2021-2026. He asked me where I derived the information from. I derived it from their own document, which says that 1940 in 2020 there were 1,047 attendances at A&E for mental health reasons, and it went on to comment on the analysis. They published the Mental Health Strategy, so when I ask what is the number for 2021 and he says it is 370, my question is: is there a reason behind the fall? The reason might be something to do with the strategy, so I was giving him the opportunity to comment on it.

1945 If he says he does not know, then I would be grateful if he does obtain the answer and perhaps he can write to me on that basis, because I do agree with him that it is not a numbers game and nor am I, in my questions, seeking to play a game. Indeed, the reason for my question, which was Question 435, about how many people were administered anti-psychotic and antidepressant 1950 medication, was because there was a discrepancy – he knows that we had that discussion about it, last time we were in Parliament, when he gave that number of 1,800, but that was Mr Phillips’ question, which I was fielding for Mr Phillips because he was absent from the Chamber – I thought that I would table the question in exactly the same format which I had tabled originally when I got that number of 3,900. It is pretty much the same one that – (Interjection) No, not for the 1,800.
1955 He needs to understand what I am saying. I am saying that he answered 1,800 in respect of a different question – I accept that – and that is why I have tabled a question now, Question 435, based on the same wording that I tabled when he originally gave an answer, which I said to him last time was out of sync with the 1,800, which was closer to 3,900. Those stats I can see are similar for 2020, 2021 and 2022. The numbers of people receiving anti-psychotic or antidepressant medication are within the frame of 3,900 to 4,100 – loosely speaking, 4,200 people.

1960 Does he agree with me that that is a statistic that the GHA needs to analyse and factor in, in their strategising on the issue of mental health? My view – personal view only – would be that I would be concerned to see those figures, but of course I am not an expert and I would want to seek expert advice. Will the Minister agree to seek expert advice on these numbers?

1965 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the Minister does not agree with the premise of the question, and the reason why is really quite simple. The hon. Member has said that last time in Parliament, fielding Mr Phillips’ question, he asked a question that was different to the one he has asked today. Yes? I agree it was different, but his press release did not say it was different. His press release said:

A statement continued: ‘While that in itself is a number of concern the Leader of the Opposition Keith Azopardi asked the Minister to check how that answer had been prepared because of possible inaccuracy of the statistics. In a previous answer given to him in January 2020 the Government had said that almost 4000 people were on antidepressive and antipsychotic drugs.

‘It is important to get to the right number ...

Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, it is.

1970 Hon. A J Isola: Yes. So the Member opposite, the Leader of the Opposition, is telling the community that he needs to check the number because Government said 1,846 and 4,000 to the same question. He has just accepted now that they were different questions. I agree with him, we have to get the right number, so I am not going to accept the premise of the question, which is that we are comparing like with like, for the reasons I said before. What I also said to him was that 1975 if the numbers that he is referring to are like with like, then I most certainly will go into detail to understand why there is a difference, but I am not accepting it at this moment in time, like I did not accept it last time, but it did not stop them issuing a press release the day after, comparing one answer with another answer which had got nothing to do with each other, because the first one said medication on a particular day and the second question – the 4,000 this time is correct –

1980 is for a 12-month period. If we are going to compare one with the other, let's please compare like with like.

1985 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member really needs to listen to my question and see through the red fog in his mind, because on the one hand he says let's not play political games, and then he basically starts making political points about press releases. None of what I said in that press release, by the way, which he has quoted, was inaccurate. It reflects accurately the debates that we had in this House before, where we both agreed – I thought we had both agreed – that there needed to be accuracy in the numbers, and we had had that exchange. That is all that press release did. It reflected that exchange, where it is important. I thought we had both agreed that it was important for there to be accuracy in the numbers because we both agreed that mental health is an important issue.

1990 That is not the question that I am asking today. I am asking him a question which he has not answered because he has gone off on a tangent answering something else which he thinks I have asked, but I have not asked. What I asked him to comment on is the statistics he has just given me on Question 435, where there are between 3,900 and 4,200 people having anti-psychotic or anti-depressant medication. Does he think that is a serious thing that requires analysis by the GHA, on which he will seek expert advice?

2000 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I have already answered the question. What the hon. Member needs to understand is that he is asking me questions about numbers and all I am saying to him is I am not going to accept that we do not compare numbers that are like for like, which is exactly what he did on 20th October in issuing a press release where he compared one number, which is for a totally different period – it is a non-existent period – to one that was for a 12-month period.

2005 If we are going to compare numbers and if you want me to take responsibility for those numbers, I have no problem at all, but let's compare like with like, because the evidence on the record is that the press release of 20th October does precisely the opposite. I know the hon. Member does not want me to go back to that press release, but it is not that long ago. It is actually a month and two days, or three days ago.

2010 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): They are embarrassed by it.

2015 Hon. A J Isola: He says himself it is important to get the right number, having just put two numbers together ... that is like two and two make 12. They have nothing to do with each other. All I am saying to him is if, when I look at the numbers, there is a discrepancy and we are comparing like with like, I will look at it. That is what I am saying to the hon. Member, but I am not sure if they will, because from the track record I suspect that we may not be looking at like with like. That is all I am saying. Are the numbers 4,000 in 2020, 4,000 in 2021 – and I am guessing it will be 4,000 in 2022 with the month and a bit that we have left – concerning? Yes, and that is why we are doing the work that we are doing to address that and see how we can provide support to all of those people.

2020 Mr Speaker: I think the question has been thoroughly aired (Hon. K Azopardi: Well –) and the answer has been given to the Leader of the Opposition (Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker –) regarding whether the Hon. Minister is prepared to look at those figures again –

2025 Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, but I –

Mr Speaker: – to clarify and confirm the accuracy.

2030 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, with all due respect, can I just say this? I wanted to ask one final question on this, because they bunched up these things. First of all, he has gone back to my press

2035 release. That is not the question I was asking. I was not asking him to – (Interjection) I know he likes that point because he thinks it is an attractive political point from him, but that is not what I was asking. I was asking him to comment on the stats he has given me, the like-for-like stats that he has given me on Question 435, 2020 and 2021. And yes, you have 10 months for ... But this is the supplementary that I want to ask him, because I do not want him to go round the edges again like he has for the last two questions. He has accepted that they are serious numbers and he said that they are doing something about it in the context of their work. What is it that they are doing precisely in relation to that?

2040 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, he would have to ask me that question specifically, rather than the statistical question that he has asked me. If he wishes me to get a comprehensive response from each of the professionals engaged in that provision of service, I would be very happy to provide that to him, but to be clear, the question he has asked me in Questions 433 and 434 is not the 1,000 number that he seeks to compare the 370 that I have given him to. (Interjection by Hon. K Azopardi) Of course you are. (Interjection by Hon. K Azopardi)

2050 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am very conscious of the fact that you have been in the Chair for three hours and listening to all of us with varying degrees of patience, so I wonder whether this might be a convenient moment to pause, if only for 15 minutes, and then come back with the temperance that you said you expected of all of us.

Mr Speaker: The House will now recess for 15 minutes, to return at 6.15.

The House recessed at 6.04 p.m. and resumed at 6.20 p.m.

Q436/2022
GHA facilities –
Digitisation of mental health records

2055 Clerk: We continue with Answers to Questions.
Question 436/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what steps are being taken to digitise the paper notes of patients at Ocean Views and any other mental health records that are not digitised in other GHA facilities?

2060 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the plan is to digitise all GHA medical records, including Mental Health. In the interim, some of the new pathways, including the Crisis pathway, and Children’s Services have already been set up on EMIS.

2065 The GHA has programmed to commence the full digitisation process in March 2023 and the entire project, including legacy files, should be completed within 12 months.

2070 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, to be clear on what they are trying to achieve when he says that the plan is to digitise all – which we welcome on this side of the House – does that mean that they are digitising all historical records, or is it historical records up to a certain point and not beyond that?

Obviously, the GHA must have a vast number of paper records, and if they are digitising, can he give us information as to the digitisation process? In other words, is it simply records from a 2075 certain date, or is it that they are going far back in time? Obviously we would welcome the widest possible exercise, but we are just seeking an assurance as to the width of it.

2080 Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, the process has started and is ongoing. For example, paediatrics is complete and the GHA is currently working through St Bernard's Hospital outpatient activity. The intention is that by 12 months after March 2023 – in other words, February 2024 – all medical records, including legacy files, should have been completed. So the answer is everything, including legacy records, by March 2024.

2085 Hon. K Azopardi: And just on that, can I ask: all medical records, presumably, of all living patients on the GHA register, but not ...? What does he mean by legacy files?

Hon. A J Isola: Historical.

2090 Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, historical, but in respect of what, living patients but presumably not deceased patients – is that right?

Hon. A J Isola: Legacy files in respect of patients' historical records, who are still alive. I think it is what the question was aimed at. Yes.

Q437/2022
Mental Health Act 2016 –
Code of practice re interpretation

Clerk: Question 437/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2095 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, is the code of practice to help the interpretation of the Mental Health Act 2016 ready?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

2100 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the code of practice, which is a very extensive document, is in draft form and in the process of being finalised.

2105 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, that is no different to the position as it was when the National Mental Health Strategy 2021 document was published, where, in that document, on page 4, it said:

the Code of Practice to help interpret implementation of the Act needs to be finalised and implemented

Can the hon. Member explain to us why it is taking so long, given it is such an important document?

2110 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think for that very reason. The document is over 300 pages long. It has been the subject of consultation with all stakeholders. That takes time. It is in its fourth draft at this moment in time. It is in the process of final evaluation before it comes for a policy steer on a number of issues where decisions are required to conclude the draft, by which time I would then hope to be able to finalise and publish the code.

2115 It has been the same answer for a very long period of time, but a huge amount of work has gone into it since that time.

Hon. K Azopardi: I certainly had not appreciated it was a document of that order, so I can see that. Does the hon. Member have a sense of when he would hope ...? I am not going to hold him to it, obviously; I will not be issuing any press releases on this issue, on the timescale. But does he have a sense of when he would like to aim to get this code of practice out there?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I do not mind if he issues a press release, provided it is accurate. That is my only complaint.

2125 I would hope and I am requesting that it be ready for publication in Q1 of 2023.

Q438/2022
Reporting to FATF –
Whether deferred and reason why

Clerk: Question 438/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, has – and, if so, why has – Gibraltar deferred reporting to the FATF?

2130

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, Members will recall that the FATF report and action plan were dated June 2022, as ratified by the FATF plenary of that date. The next FATF plenary was held in October 2022. If Gibraltar wished to have reported in time for consideration at the October plenary, we would have been required to make written submissions in August, a few months after the June report. Realistically, no meaningful progress on the action plan could have been made in that time. Interestingly, it was the FATF secretariat that actually suggested to us that we could delay any submission to a later plenary once significant progress could be demonstrated. This is exactly what we are doing.

2135

2140

Hon. K Azopardi: I think the hon. Member has indicated to the House before – and he will correct me if he has not precisely said this, but I thought in my recollection he had said that they were aiming, within 12 months, in effect, to try to get us off the Grey List, which would put us somewhere in May/June next year. Are we still on target for that? Is there going to be a plenary before that, for us to be able to manage to get across that line on the ...?

2145

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the process is not quite that simple. We are in the process of finalising, this week, our written submissions to the FATF in respect of the significant progress that we have made since June 2022. Those will be submitted next week to the FATF, following which there will be a consideration of those written submissions. There is likely, then, to be a questions and answers in respect of that written representation, which we will be required to answer within a very short timescale. There is then an acceptance of those written submissions, which takes you to the next stage of a Q&A, face to face in Paris, like we did last time, which would be in the second week of January 2023, and if that progresses well, there would then be a recommendation to the plenary – the next one after that, which I think is in April – to proceed with recommending ... Sorry, not the plenary ... the recommendation that in the June plenary Gibraltar should come off the list if they are satisfied with the progress that we have made during that time.

2155

2160 So we are on track for continuing to progress in the way that we have previously stated. There is a huge amount of work ongoing now amongst the relevant regulatory authorities and law enforcement agencies. We are only reporting in respect of the two recommended action points, not everything else; it is simply on those two action points. As I have said in my answer, the reason why we did not ... and we were very surprised to have read the commentary because it was 2165 actually FATF that said, 'There is no point reporting now, it is too early, you have not had enough time to show any progress.' So we are doing it in the way that we have to, to be able to make an application to be delisted in June of next year, because there is a very detailed process that is followed when you have to go through plenaries before you get to the plenary in June by this process of written representations, answers to further questions, face to face, and then a meeting 2170 that approves that, and then you go to plenary for their ratification on that decision.

Hon. K Azopardi: And just finally, can I ask – and I am grateful for the hon. Member giving us a description of the process – is the Minister going to take an interest in that process? Let me put the question in a different way, because obviously he is taking an interest in the process, but it 2175 just took me back a bit to ... Clearly, it seems to me, in the description of the process, that the face-to-face meeting in Paris will be hugely important for Gibraltar, and so I was going to ask the Minister who will lead the Gibraltar delegation in that. I only ask that because I do recall from my time on that side of the House when we were trying to persuade the FATF to put us on the White List, on one of the original White Lists that we had ... we did have a delegation go to Paris, which 2180 was led by me when I was Minister for Financial Services, and it was important to show governmental support at that level. Is that something that he intends to do at that face to face, or is somebody else going to head the delegation?

Hon. A J Isola: As the hon. Member will know, because he has been there, these sessions are 2185 very factual and deliberate. By that, I mean that there is no time for chit-chat. I led the one to Paris earlier this year and I was allowed to speak for three minutes, which I did. I just set the context in terms of the political commitment that the Government has not only to meet, but to comply with what was being proposed and anything that happens in the future. I fully intend to do the same again at the next one, if I am allowed to. They are factual and deliberate. They are 2190 not interested in politics; they have politicians walking out of doors promising the Earth and they are not delivering. Fortunately, I was in the position, last time, of being able to demonstrate that we delivered 73 of the 75 recommended actions, or 75 of the 78 recommendation actions. I agree it is important, and so, if I am allowed to be there I most certainly will be.

I have every confidence in the work that the team has done. When I was there last time at the 2195 Q&A, where they answered questions for about five hours, the professionalism in the team answering the questions was really incredibly impressive. I have said this before and I will never tire of saying it. I was hugely proud to sit behind them and listen to them deal with very intrusive questions and detailed and specific questions across the whole array of AML and [inaudible] activity, not just in Gibraltar but elsewhere. I fully expect we will go through that same process 2200 again in January.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

HOUSING, EMPLOYMENT, YOUTH AND SPORT

Q439/2022

Europa Sports Complex – Temporary management and manning system

Clerk: Question 439/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2205

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given to Written Question W37/2022, can the Minister for Sport explain the temporary management and manning system currently in place at Europa Sports Complex whilst we await a final long-term agreement?

2210

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the answer remains the same as my answer to Written Question W37/2022.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, the answer given to Written Question W37 did not actually explain [inaudible] the temporary manager. It said there was some arrangement in place, but I am asking for an explanation of who or what is running the place on a day-to day-basis, who oversees what. What is the management system?

Hon. S E Linares: In relation to the current management, it is a continuation of the people who used to do the project management. Therefore, the company that was doing the project management of the whole of the complex, we are continuing with them running the place. But I can tell the hon. Member that I have had meetings this week and I am sure to have one more meeting next week, where I will see the end of the Europa, as in to do with the management arrangements, which I have explained before will be run by basically the three sports it is the home of, and a trust and all that, which I have already explained in the House.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, that helps a bit.

2215

In the other part, in respect of the manning of the place, am I correct in concluding that the same people who have been employed by the project managers and so on are the ones who continue in situ – confirmation that there is not either GSLA or any other Government-related body that are actually manning the premises on a day-to-day basis?

2220

Hon. S E Linares: Well, as I have just said, the GSLA have nothing to do with it. It is an extension of who were the project managers that are still running it, as in to do with employees. Once we have the management agreement, it will be up to the trust to employ people, and if they feel that they want to re-engage the people who are now the employees of the project manager's company, and if they want to carry on with them, it is up to them. I would not intervene in that. It is up to the trust to run the place after, and therefore I would not be ... A government should not say, 'Well, you have to take on those who are there,' because those who are there now are employees of the project management team.

2225

Q440 and Q448-452/2022

Employment Tribunal cases –

Number of current cases; number awaiting appointment of Chairman and date of filing; appointment of Lead Chairperson; effect of reforms

Clerk: Question 440/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2230 Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government update this House if there have been any changes to the number of cases currently going through the Employment Tribunal process since the last answer provided to Question W39/2022?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

2235 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 448 to 452.

Clerk: Question 448/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

2240 Hon. E J Reyes: How many claims filed with the Employment Tribunal are awaiting the appointment of a Chairman?

Clerk: Question 449/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

2245 Hon. E J Reyes: Of those claims filed with the Employment Tribunal that are waiting for the appointment of a Chairman, please state the month and year the claims were filed?

Clerk: Question 450/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

2250 Hon. E J Reyes: During his 2022 Budget speech, the Minister for Employment committed to a 'Lead Chairperson, who will be appointed shortly and will also be carrying out the functions of President of Chairpersons' in relation to the Employment Tribunal. Has that occurred?

Clerk: Question 451/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

2255

Hon. E J Reyes: Does the Minister for Employment believe, as he said in his 2022 Budget speech, that the Government's reforms will also ensure that all Employment Tribunal cases are heard in a timely and judicious manner?

2260 Clerk: Question 452/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. E J Reyes: Does the Minister for Employment still stand by the statement he made in his 2022 Budget Address that the reform of the Employment Tribunal in recent years has delivered an effective, modern tribunal system?

2265

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

2270 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 440, the changes to the number of cases currently going through the Employment Tribunal process are as follows: awaiting appointment of Chairperson +3; awaiting appointment of mediator +2; awaiting mediation outcomes -3; awaiting response +4; undergoing hearings or directions +3; and awaiting judgments -3. It is important to note that the status of these claims is extracted from live data and is constantly changing as cases progress across the various stages.

2275 In answer to Question 448, the total number of claims filed with the Employment Tribunal which are awaiting the appointment of a Chairperson stands at 59.

In answer to Question 449, awaiting appointment of Chairperson by date claim received are as follows: 2020 – January 1, October 3, November 1, December 1; 2021, January 1, February 2, March 1, April 1, June 1, July 3, August 5, September 3, October 4, November 3, December 3; 2022 – January 1, February 1, March 2, May 5, June 9, July 7, September 1.

2280 In answer to Questions 450 to 452 – which includes Question 451, obviously – I stand by what I said in my Budget speech. Since the introduction of the Employment Tribunal reforms in 2016 there have been an average of 50 cases filed per year. The total number of outstanding cases for 2020 and 2021 stands at 33. The hon. Member – and I am referring to the hon. Member Mr Feetham – may recall that services across Gibraltar and beyond were halted, with facilities reduced, in compliance with COVID-19 restrictions. Given the above, this shows, in my opinion, the success of these reforms.

2285 The Employment Tribunal reforms were undertaken in consultation with the stakeholders and have successfully introduced rules which are straightforward, making the Employment Tribunal accessible to all, whether they be employers or employees, without added financial burden.

2290 Mediation services are provided to parties in dispute and the majority of cases settle instead of proceeding to be heard at formal Tribunal settings. This has made the Employment Tribunal more accessible and less costly for the parties involved, thus delivering a more flexible, effective and modern Employment Tribunal system that meets the needs of Gibraltar's modern-day economy.

2295 The recruitment process for the position of Lead Chairperson is currently ongoing. The expectation is to conclude the recruitment process by no later than the end of January 2023.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

2300 If I may, the Minister made reference that the figures he was giving us were live statistics, that they were obviously constantly changing. Can he give us a date as to when these figures are valid? Is it something that was valid as of yesterday, or perhaps at the end of a previous quarter, so we have an idea for comparison?

2305 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I am not going to go into the debate that there has been with the Hon. Mr Feetham when he has asked previous questions in relation to this, because most of the statistics are given on a quarterly basis and therefore, because they are live, it is impossible to give him, at one precise time, a number.

2310 As I understand it, it has been given on a quarterly basis, a generic number which deals with the issues of quarterly ... and this has been a debate in this House with the Hon. Mr Feetham because there have been issues, like the hon. Member is now asking me, as to what date is this live from. This might have been live because things are being given quarterly, it might be live before, but these, I can tell you, were the figures that we brought out as soon as the hon. Members put the question. So this is what is now. Maybe some have changed from when he asked the question to today. I cannot verify that, but this is live as from when the question was asked.

2315 Hon. E J Reyes: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, that the Minister is trying to explain, which is why, in the prelude in my supplementary, I asked were the figures quarterly or not. But I am not clear. If these figures were as at the end of the third quarter of the calendar year 2022, then it would be as at the end of September, but the Minister ended up saying that the figures were updated as when I posed the question. So would that be sometime in mid-November? Sometimes I even hand in the question before the day – it could even be a day before the deadline, so I am not even sure what date it is the Minister is referring to. He may have been provided with the dates by whoever compiled the statistics for him.

2325 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the answer I gave out is what is current, which, in fact, is exactly the same as when the question was posed last time, which is that I said, in answer to Question 449, 'awaiting appointment of Chairperson by date claim received are as follows', and I spelt out the whole list, which I can give him, if he wants, later on – 2020 January 1, October 3 ... These are 2330 what the figures are. The issue is now these are live then and they are still current because that is the information that I have been forwarded.

Hon. E J Reyes: I am grateful, Mr Speaker. I look forward to receiving shortly ... but the figures he is going to give me are a reflection based on what data? I do not know if I am making myself understood. Is it –?

2335

Mr Speaker: I think you are very clear.

Can you give a date? When were those figures prepared for you?

Hon. S E Linares: They were prepared last week, Mr Speaker, when the question was posed.
2340 Last week when the question was posed, all the questions from Mr Feetham and the hon.
Member, the statistics he has asked for were brought out and put to him today.

Mr Speaker: Would that satisfy you?

2345 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, yes. Give or take 24 hours, one could more or less say it is of the 16th November deadline. I have to ask, because the Minister made a reference to it. In wanting this side of the House to accept that some numbers may be much higher than he would like and so on, he makes a reference to COVID pandemic system and so on. However, there are statistics he has produced of appointments to be made for a Chairman dating back to January 2350 2020, which is certainly well before the very first ever lockdown. So, even if I take on board that there have been inevitable delays beyond ministerial control on the appointment of a Chairman, can those waiting from early 2020 have a ray of hope by having an approximate estimation date?
Will they have a Chairman appointed by the end of this calendar year? Is the Minister in a position to be able to at least give them that Christmas present?

2355

Hon. S E Linares: Well, I am not Father Christmas, but we can try our best. I can tell the hon.
Member that the post did come out. There were people who applied; I think there were two or three candidates. When they came back, they were not sure about whether they were going to take on all the cases or some of the cases, so we are in the process of going back. That is why we said January 2023 when we were hoping to have the full-time ... Again, it is because it is very 2360 difficult to get somebody to be a full-time Chairperson of the Employment Tribunal. It is very difficult. We are having issues with that and therefore we are trying to overcome those issues in order to get the person as soon as is possible, and we are hoping that by January we will be able to get a Chairperson.

2365

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can I just ask a couple of things? I will just ask them together, if I may, both things, because it might make it easier. The hon. Member, in the original part of the answer he gave when he was giving statistics, got to two points in his list where he gave minus numbers when he was reading. He said 'awaiting judgment -3'. I can understand the positive 2370 cases. I do not understand how there can be anything on his list that says minus. I do not understand it, so perhaps he can explain – (Interjection) I will give way.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, this is in relation to the question that was asked previously, and therefore whatever the number was previously, it is now minus three that number.

2375

Hon. K Azopardi: I am grateful. That clarifies, because I was not following.

2380 In relation to Question 448, which says ‘How many claims filed with the Employment Tribunal are awaiting the appointment of a Chairman?’ he said 59. That is exactly the same number he gave, I think about a month ago, when there was a written question of a similar statistic. That suggests there has been at least no progress – when I say no progress, statistically – in that about a month ago there were 59 and there are 59 now. There may have been some cases where there has been an appointment, but there have been new cases added to the list. I do not know if that is the case or if these are exactly the same cases that are still awaiting the appointment of a Chairman. Is this linked? Is the Minister saying that there will be no cases where a new Chairman 2385 will be appointed until you appoint a full-time Chairman? Or is it that some of the cases will be dealt with? And, if so, when will the Minister expect that there should be some progress, because clearly in the last month there has not been any?

2390 Hon. S E Linares: Well, precisely why I have said that we were having issues in the appointment of a Chairperson and therefore the number of cases is still static. These are the numbers of cases that we have, and until we appoint a Chairperson – and I understand the hon. Member might say there are more cases coming, or fewer – we try to lower it down to see if the cases can go to mediation as well. But it is obvious that these 59 want to go to the Employment Tribunal and it is fixed at that number.

2395 Hon. D J Bossino: What are the issues which are impacting on the decision in relation to a permanent Chairman?

2400 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, it is very difficult to get someone to do the job full time. That is one. And two, it is to do with the funding. It is to do with the remuneration, how we remunerate each case and how each case ... because some cases, as the hon. Member must understand, are more complex than others. These are the issues that are pertaining to trying to get a Chairperson.

2405 Hon. I Azopardi: Is the intention to offer remuneration on a case-by-case basis or on a salaried basis?

2410 Hon. S E Linares: This is what we are actually looking at, to see which is the best one to do, depending ... In a way, it is a formal negotiation with the one candidate who might want to take on the responsibility.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q441/2022
Youth clubs –
Refurbishment works

Clerk: Question 441/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2415 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Youth provide details of forthcoming planned refurbishment works in respect of all our youth clubs?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

2420 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the Youth Service has always had a very strategic refurbishment programme to ensure that premises are always up to standard. The team will continue to assess the needs of all premises, so that we ensure that any refurbishment requirements are acted upon in a timely manner, as the management team and staff are very conscious of their health and safety obligations.

2425 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I heard the Minister's answer, but I was requesting details of the forthcoming planned refurbishment works. I would at least attempt to say this particular youth club is scheduled to have the premises painted, another one is now at a stage in life where it needs its plumbing or electrical works done, or whatever. That, I thought, would have been covered by saying 'provide details of the forthcoming planned refurbishment works' as opposed to an 2430 emergency repair because there has been a water leak. If – I do not doubt – as the Minister says, the Youth Service plans ahead and within the budget says 'These are the refurbishment works we would like to do at this stage in the financial year,' I think by now we could have had some information in respect of the details of those forthcoming works.

2435 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I asked for information about that, but it is difficult to have details forward looking because of the refurbishment we have done before. So what I am going to tell the hon. Member is that in 2017, our temporary home in La Laguna Youth Club went to the Glacis estate and was refurbished to meet the needs of the premises as a youth club. The Dolphin Youth Club underwent a major refurbishment programme that included the repairing of the roof in 2020, 2440 and the Youth Centre underwent a significant refurbishment programme in 2021. The Plater Youth Club has just recently had its refurbishment programme completed. We are satisfied that at least the four youth clubs that we manage are up to standard, so now what we do is continue maintaining them and when things crop up we will fix them. But the last one was 2017, which was the Laguna, and we are looking at different options from what is now the Glacis Estate Youth Club, 2445 which is the Laguna.

Hon. E J Reyes: I am grateful, Mr Speaker, that the Minister tries his best to provide information, but the information that he is providing is not what I have requested in my question. My question is any forthcoming ... in other words, what is planned for the future? Grateful as I
2450 am – and I am sure the youngsters are even happier than I am for the works that have been done in the last few years, such as the Minister has stated – if he has asked for the information and that has been provided to him, in all honesty the Minister would have to stand up and name and shame whoever is the Government official who has been paid and has not provided information to this House. Can we have some clarification? Is there something planned? Or perhaps he is completely 2455 satisfied and there is no need to incur in any other programme, at least for what remains of this financial year. But we cannot have our cake and eat it. I need that information, if it is available.

Hon. S E Linares: There are no forthcoming repairs, as the hon. Gentleman is asking, because we have done them all before.

2460

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q442 and Q453/2022
Laguna Youth Club –
Update re new premises; residential building on original site

Clerk: Question 442/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2465 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Youth update this House in respect of providing premises for the Laguna Youth Club within their own housing estate?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

2470 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 453.

Clerk: Question 453/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

2475 Hon. D J Bossino: Please state who the new residential building at the site of the Laguna Youth Club is expected to house.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

2480 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the Youth Service will soon be getting a new, purpose-built youth club at Laguna estate. Already, discussions have been had between the Youth Service senior team and the developers, who have met to discuss the design of the new youth club. At present, the project is at the stage of obtaining planning permission. Once this has been obtained, there will be further meetings between the developer, contractor, architect and the youth work team. Further meetings have been held with the Laguna Tenants' Association and they have been made 2485 aware of the project. The youth club will be an asset to the neighbourhood.

The residential building at Laguna Youth Club is a purpose-built facility to accommodate pensioners. To date, these types of apartments have only been made available for locals who were eligible to apply under the housing scheme. These apartments will initially be offered to local pensioners who, in their day, purchased affordable homes from the Government and now wish to 2490 downsize and relocate to purpose-built facilities that will cater for their needs. This is an initiative to cater for our youth and pensioners alike, and thus has the full support of our Government.

Hon. D J Bossino: I assume, so that we are completely on the same page, this relates to the notice under the relevant section of the Town Planning Act which was dated 14th November and 2495 signed on behalf of – it does not have a name on this occasion – Community Supplies and Services Ltd, where it says that the development is at the Laguna Youth Club, Winston Churchill Avenue, details of who the applicant is, and it says that it is to construct a new residential building with apartments, day centre, elevated playground and a car park on the ground floor class E3 and so on and so forth. Is that the same one? Are we talking about the same one?
2500

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, sir.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can he advise who the developers and contractors are?

2505 Hon. S E Linares: As stated in the application.

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, we have a company, which is Community Supplies and Services Ltd – presumably that is the developer – but can he identify what that company is and who the other one is? Can he just give that information?
2510

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, it is in the application to the planning. The notice of the application gives you the information of who is doing it.

2515 Hon. D J Bossino: It gives you the information of one entity, but there are two. Is he saying that that entity represents both the developer and the contractor? We only have information in relation to one.

Hon. S E Linares: We only engage with the developer, not the contractor.

2520 Hon. D J Bossino: Fine, but he has referred to a contractor. Does he not have the name of the contractor?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, it would be unusual to have the contractor before the planning permission because you have not got permission to build the thing yet. The engagement with the contractor is once the planning permission is provided, because a lot of that will be about the internal layout etc.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is he saying that at this stage the Government does not know who the contractor will be?

2530 Hon. Chief Minister: Not that we do not know who the contractor will be, but that we are not engaging with the contractor. We are engaging with the developer until the developer formally engages the contractor. That formal engagement has not happened yet, and so it would be premature to talk about the contractor at this stage. (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) Potentially – very unlikely, but potentially.

2535 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, coming back to my original question, it is certainly good news that the Laguna Youth Club is moving back to premises within its estate. Can I ask: in comparison to the size of the premises that the youth club used to previously operate from, is the new building – which has to incorporate, now, houses and parking and so on ... will this actually give more internal and secluded external area to the youth club users, or will they lose out in favour of the flats and the parking spaces?

2540 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I can guarantee the hon. Member that what has been planned will be big areas outside and a big area inside, which the Youth Team, the Tennis Association and everybody we have engaged with are very satisfied with, the excellent youth club that will be there at the Laguna.

2545 Hon. E J Reyes: I am glad to hear that, Mr Speaker. I know perhaps I am being a bit liberal, but does the Minister have any information in respect of the temporary premises that are being occupied by the Laguna Youth Club, which actually is physically inside the Glacis Youth Club? Will those premises remain as used, for youth services, or does he have any other plans envisaged for them?

2550 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member remembers that used to be the St Theresa's Parish Hall, which used to belong to the Church – or at least the Church used to hire it out, or whatever. It used to be Father Charlie's storeroom, where he used to store every single piece of furniture he could find, and it was full up to the brim with furniture.

2555 What we did, because of the demand for schools, which we are so proud of having – two magnificent schools, which are St Anne's School and Notre Dame School – is we moved the Laguna from where it was originally ... I always was of the opinion that whilst we were doing construction and all the schools, it was imperative that we had, at least, premises for the youth club. That is why we moved the youth club to the Glacis estate. I am pleased that at least during the years that there has been construction, there has been a lot of work being done by the Youth Service in that youth club.

2560 Now I am happy to say that they are going to get a purpose-built youth club which will have all the amenities that they need, and it will be obviously much better than the Glacis estate one. What will happen to the storeroom, or whatever, as in where it is now, I do not know. The hon. Member will probably have to put a specific question on that, to find out what is going to happen after we leave the Glacis estate old Parish Hall.

2570

Hon. E J Reyes: I am grateful for that. The Minister has been as informative as he can be. I am sure, given the way the Minister finished his answer, Mr Speaker might allow me, say in four months' time, to ask the question as a follow-up because the Minister is obviously saying he does not know at this particular stage what is going to happen with those premises.

2575

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I would assume they would go back to Father Charlie, who is the original owner, but again, I am just speculating. It used to belong to the Church, so ...

2580

Hon. E J Reyes: I accept that. Just a small clarification for the record: it does not belong to the Church. I am talking as a primary source of evidence in that respect. Going back to the 1980s, it was something that was licensed out to the Church. We are grateful to Father Charlie, the current parish priest, or priest in charge of St Theresa's, for his co-operation with Youth Services. I do not think there would be a major uproar if it goes back to community use, even if under the management or chairmanship of Charlie, but technically it does not belong to them. It is a Government property within a Government housing estate, which the Government is legally entitled to use for whatever purposes the Government of the day may decide.

2585

Mr Speaker: Next question.

2590

Clerk: Question – (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino)

Mr Speaker: He has a supplementary.

2595

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes – a supplementary, though, Mr Speaker? There is a lot of information that I think requires quite a number of supplementaries in the answer that the hon. Member has given. There is a way of doing this. I will have something like four or five, but I think it is in the public interest to have this information coming out here today, rather than wait until the next session of the House.

2600

Mr Speaker: Is the hon. Member not pre-empting the replies? Remember that a supplementary flows from a reply given to an earlier supplementary. Please continue with the supplementaries.

2605

Hon. D J Bossino: Thank you, Mr Speaker. This clearly has Government support. The hon. Member has provided us with the answer in relation to this development. This is a company which is featuring in respect of many other developments and is the subject of further questions on the Order Paper, Community Supply and Services Ltd. Can I ask him, firstly, who is going to be paying for this development?

2610

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Minister with responsibility for the National Economic Plan is not here today. I do not think it is something that the Hon. Minister for Youth should be dealing with. If the hon. Gentleman wants to ask when Mr Bossano is here, he will be here tomorrow. He has just landed in Gibraltar now.

2615

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I do not have the power or authority to organise how the Government answers the questions. The question has been laid. I do not think it identified any particular Minister, but the Minister for Housing is the Minister who has given the answer. If, with Mr Speaker's permission, one can be allowed to ask that question when the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development is present in the House, then I am willing to take that route.

2620

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, what he can do, which would be in order, is lay a question in respect of that company, and then the person with responsibility would be able to answer it.

2625 This is arising out of an answer because the hon. Gentleman has referred to the application to the DPC which is signed by that company, but the question is about the youth club, not about the company that is developing it.

Hon. D J Bossino: With respect, the hon. Member has answered two questions. My question is not in relation to the youth club, it is in relation to the new residential building, and I think, given that the hon. Member has not provided that answer, it flows from that answer that I am entitled to ask who is going to be paying for it.

2630 I am surprised that neither the Minister nor the Minister responsible for Finance are able to answer this question in the House and they need to wait for Sir Joe to land in Gibraltar and answer the question for them.

2635 Hon. Chief Minister: That is not what he has been told, Mr Speaker. First of all, he does not have to wait for Sir Joe to land in Gibraltar because Sir Joe has landed in Gibraltar. Second, it is not that we cannot answer, it is that the person with responsibility for that is not here. The issue that is being raised, about a youth club and about the building in which the youth club is going to be housed, has been answered by the Minister with responsibility for youth, but he is asking about a particular company and the person with that responsibility is not here. If the hon. Gentleman wants to be formalistic about it, he should simply file a question at the next meeting of the House about that company.

2645 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, let's try ... (Interjection) Yes, the cost of the development, which I think arises from it, but we have the answer we have had, and I suppose we need to accept it.

Mr Speaker, what type of construction will it be? Is it a modular type of construction, like in relation to the other developments at Coaling Island?

2650 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, it is going through the planning stage and the Chief Minister has just said that we still do not know the contractor. How can I now state what type of building the construction is going to be?

2655 May I also say, in relation to the previous thing the hon. Member has asked who the building is expected to house, so the question is specific to who it is going to house, not who is going to build it, how much it is going to cost and all that. The hon. Member can put all these questions, but it says who is it going to house. I said it will house pensioners and I read out who it is going to house, so I have answered the question.

2660 Hon. D J Bossino: The hon. Member has not answered the question as to the type of construction. He does not have that information available, and that is fine. (Interjection)

Mr Speaker, all these questions are supplementary. I am entitled to ask them and they arise from the answers given. You would have expected the Minister to be properly briefed and not to have to pray in aid another Minister who is obviously the individual who is the architect behind all of this, and not any of them here present.

2665 But anyway, Mr Speaker, the third question. Third time lucky, maybe. How many units are envisaged to be built?

2670 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is a bit rich, coming from an Opposition where we have seen many of the Members asking questions in respect of individuals who are not here, that they should be referring to a Minister who is not here because his questions were not listed for today and he was travelling because he is out doing his ministerial business.

It is not a question of the hon. Member being briefed or not being briefed, it is a question of what are the questions that they asked. Now he is going off to ask us about the type of construction. Well, they could ask me about any of the projects that I am responsible for. I could be entirely properly briefed on any one of those subjects and I might not be able to tell them

2675 which type of joist the engineers are going to use in the context of the particular building. The hon. Gentleman is asking a question that can be said to arise because it relates to the same subject matter, but which goes to the engineering aspects of the development. I cannot think that it is appropriate to criticise a Member for not being properly briefed simply because you do not have that level of detail and simply say it is because another Minister is the architect. That is, frankly, 2680 not fair and I do not think it is conducive to elucidating information – which the hon. Gentleman has not been told he will not have; he has just been told to ask for it and then we will bring it. If the hon. Gentleman asks what type of construction is going to be used, the hon. Member will get from the relevant individual what type of construction is going to be used, and it might, if it were to be modular, not be simply the type that is going to be used in Coaling Island; it might be the 2685 type that have been used in many other places.

Therefore, Mr Speaker, I think that we have provided the answers. We are properly briefed.
There is no question of the hon. Gentleman being able to suggest that we are waiting for another Minister to be able to provide the answers because he is the architect. It is that they are asking about an area of responsibility which he has said, already, publicly, and they know he is dealing 2690 with because we are the only ones with a post-Brexit National Economic Plan and he is the Minister with responsibility for it.

Mr Speaker: I do not think that the Hon. Minister could have anticipated all these rather technical questions, but I do understand you want an answer, so either you speak to the Minister 2695 and give him the questions that you wish to put and he can provide that in his own time, or you wait to tomorrow, or you submit the questions in the December meeting of the House. Those are the three options.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I will wait until tomorrow. If I am allowed to do that, I will wait 2700 until tomorrow, but I think we need to be careful about one thing. We need to be careful about not being lulled by the Hon. the Leader of the House into the characterisation that these questions are in any way so detailed, going into the engineering of it, that the hon. Members opposite, any of them – how many of them are there in the House today? – are not able to answer and that they need to wait for Sir Joe.

2705 I had no intention of pointing out, as he suggested earlier, Sir Joe Bossano's non-presence in the House. I had absolutely no intention of doing that. (Interjection) No, I asked the question and he, the Hon. Minister for Housing, has decided to answer it. That is not anything to do with us. So he should have been here ready to answer the obvious questions which arise from the answer that he has given. It is not correct for the hon. Member –

2710 Hon. Chief Minister: Point of order. (Hon. D J Bossino: No –) Point of order, Mr Speaker. My point of order is this. You, Mr Speaker, have ruled that the Hon. Minister could not have anticipated the question, and the hon. Gentleman, in what he is saying now, is, in my submission to you, challenging your ruling. You have already ruled on whether that was an issue that arose 2715 from that question, and you have ruled it was not.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in response to the point of order, may I ask for your confirmation that what, in my view, was simply a remark and an opinion over the dicta, and not a ruling, as he again is trying to characterise it, to put you on the spot ... That was not a ruling, Mr Speaker, as far 2720 as I am concerned.

Mr Speaker: I could very easily call it a ruling, but in this instance I think I have to come back to what I said earlier on, that the Hon. Minister could not possibly have anticipated the supplementaries. Of course, one piece of information that he gave was the name of the developer, 2725 which is what you, hon. Member, were hoping he would disclose, which meant that you would then press for all that information, but I think it is rather unfair to ask the Hon. Minister to respond in that respect.

2730 I do not want to make it a ruling, but you must understand what I am saying, and if you want the information you have the option. I am sure the Hon. Minister would not mind providing the information if you give him the supplementaries behind the Speaker's Chair and he can give the information to you in due course. Or, although it has never been done before, we might change the practice and allow in this instance for the hon. Member to ask the Hon. Minister responsible. Or, ideally, you can come back in December and ask the questions afresh in the form of individual questions which are the supplementaries which you have prepared for this particular question.

2735

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, thank you.

2740 The practice has built up in this House – I know not under which rule – of hon. Members in the Opposition frequently saying to you, 'Can I go back to a Question 405?' the day after Question 405 was answered, or hours after Question 405 was answered. So they can avail themselves of the latitude that you have given them in that respect. I am surprised the hon. Gentleman feels otherwise.

2745 Secondly, Mr Speaker, I am surprised at the approach that the hon. Gentleman has taken, referring to your rulings as being potentially not deciding a particular issue. The practice under Erskine May is that when the Speaker speaks, his word is law. That is to say you do not have to be asked to make a ruling on something for what you have decided to have been decided – that is to say res judicata, Mr Speaker – and therefore you have decided that what the hon. Gentleman was being asked for did not arise from his question. There is no obiter element to that. It is a ruling, whether you call it a ruling or not. And when you tell us to sit down, you do not get up and say, 'Well, Mr Speaker, can I ask you to rule that you are asking me to sit down?' Your word is law.

2750 That is the way that this match is run.

2755 Mr Speaker: I have to say again that in all the time that I have watched the proceedings of the House of Commons, I rarely have ever seen a Member of Parliament challenge the Speaker. Rarely. Here, it has become a matter of course. This is not something that has happened during my time, this has been going on for years, but it is now coming back to haunt this place.

The reality is that if I say something, you should not challenge unless I made a rather big error – then I am quite happy to listen. But frankly, you should not be challenging. I have given you, now, options. So let's refocus, choose the option and then hopefully we will get where you want to get.

2760 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, there was absolutely no intention of challenging you. I was simply getting up because of the characterisation of the Leader of the House's remarks. That is the only point I made, and I stand by it, with all due respect.

2765 There was a question in the melee which had nothing to do with what the Hon. Chief Minister describes as a technical question that he is unable to answer and the Minister could not possibly have thought I was going to ask. But the question was asked, and I think surely that is a question the hon. Member can answer, which is how many units? The question was asked. Is that something which the hon. Member does not have available to him?

2770 Mr Speaker: If the Minister is unable to answer the question because he does not have the information, that is his answer – full stop. And if later on you wish to pursue it, then you can ask the question in December. It is very simple, with respect.

2775 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, no challenge on my part, but was there an answer? Is the answer to the specific question as to how many units we are talking about here given? Is the answer 'I do not have this information with me – the Hon. Sir Joe Bossano will answer'?

Mr Speaker: We are not even going to go down that stage now.

What you are going to answer is his question. Do you have the information? No. Then what we do is next time round, in December, they ask the question first.

2780

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: We are not even going to go down tomorrow now. This man, the Hon. Minister, will give an answer. The answer is that he does not know, or he has not got the information. He has not got the information: fine.

2785

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you.

Mr Speaker, I want to record, because this is hugely important, that in standing up, the hon. Gentleman once again, as Hansard will show, has challenged that your ruling is your ruling, and I think that it is hugely important, whether we are on the receiving end of rulings or not, that we accept your rulings are rulings – full stop. We might sometimes not like them, but my advice to the hon. Gentleman is that in the run of play we usually get 50/50 each, and just to accept that.

2790

Hon. D J Bossino: But, Mr Speaker, no. Why is the hon. Member doing your job? That is what he is doing. He is doing your job. (Interjections) No. He is putting –

2795

Mr Speaker: I have to say that that is below the belt.

To you. You cannot say that. You cannot accuse the Speaker of toeing the line or accepting what the Chief Minister has said as the way forward. It is absolutely out of order. It is out of order.

2800

I am going to try to refer to you what I told Members – if I can find it – in October. I have not got it here, but one of the things I said – and it was as a result of the issue we had with the Hon. Daniel Feetham – was that you cannot challenge the Speaker. It is disrespectful and unacceptable. You just cannot do that. It is not done in the House of Commons; it should not happen here. I know it has been happening for years on end. I know it happened with the last Speaker, Speaker Canepa, and he had difficulties because there were challenges left, right and centre, and even before that, but frankly it is not acceptable. No challenges.

2805

What I am saying is that if you have an issue with any decision I take, then please come and see me. We will deal with it behind the Speaker's Chair, or you write to me. We are here for a purpose and the purpose is for the Government to be held to account by the Opposition for its actions, the answers that it gives, its policies etc. I allow that. That is how it should be. The Government have got to account for what they do in this Parliament. That I allow, but if an hon. Member is unable to answer the question because, in his estimation or anticipation, that potential question was not brought into play – (Interjection) then you need to accept and not try to build something out of virtually nothing.

2810

As I said, there are the two ways forward now – not three, two. (Interjection) No, because you ... Either you speak to the Hon. Minister and seek the information behind the Speaker's Chair, and then I will give you the opportunity in December to ask further supplementaries on it, or you come back in December and ask those supplementaries as questions. I think that is pretty fair.

2815

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, simply to make the point that there is absolutely no intention on my part to challenge you. That was not the intention. I do not think, in fairness, that that is what I did. But if I may ask one –?

2820

Mr Speaker: I am grateful for that.

2825

Hon. D J Bossino: May I ask one question? I think there can be very little doubt that arises from the answer he has given, and let's see if this, now, on the fifth occasion, he is able to answer. He said, as I understood it, that the policy in relation to the allocation of these pensioner flats is now going to be relaxed, opened to include those individuals who are benefiting currently from the 2830 Government's housing scheme. Can he tell us what the policy is going to be in relation to the sale of those flats? Presumably they would be downsizing. Does he have that information available to him on what the policy is and can they sell at market prices, things like that, or will that be subject to some control?

2835 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave before, which I am going to repeat. The residential building at Laguna Youth Club is a purpose-built facility to accommodate pensioners. To date, these types of apartments have only been made available for locals who were eligible to apply under the housing scheme. These apartments will initially be offered to local pensioners who, in their day, purchased affordable houses such as Montagu 2840 Gardens and all the others from the Government and now wish to downsize and relocate to purpose-built facilities that will cater for their needs.

It is very clear who we are targeting, the people who are going to have the opportunity. I hasten to say the hon. Member Mr Reyes will be able to buy his house because he came to this House and said, 'I would like to buy a pensioner flat as well.' He came here and he said it. He will be able 2845 to buy, if he wants to. This is the type of market that we are looking at.

Hon. D J Bossino: With all due respect to him, he has read out the answer again. I paraphrased in my introduction to my supplementary question what I understood to be the answer, and I think I have understood it correctly. What I am talking about are the sale terms, whether there is going 2850 to be any control in relation to the sales. And so, when those individuals want to – as he puts it and I set it out for him in my preliminary to the question – downsize, how can they do it? Is there going to be any control in relation to that? That was my question. He has not answered it.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, if that is his question –
2855

Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, it is.

Hon. Chief Minister: – then the characterisation that he made of the answer was not, in our view, accurate.

2860 First of all, the apartments will be available for sale, so this is a different situation to the situation where we develop housing for rental for pensioners, where somebody is renting from us a larger property and we move them to a smaller rental so they release the larger property. This is a property that will be made available for sale. The criteria of who they will be sold to will be published, so that people understand what the opportunity is. The price will be published. The 2865 resale price and any potential entailment of the obligation to sell back to the developer will also be published and is being developed as we speak. Whether that entails the potential to hand to the Government a property in ownership of the pensioner rather than sell, or whether there will be restrictions on to whom the pensioner's property will have to have been sold ... All of that is to be developed and published in the same way as we published the criteria for eligibility for 2870 purchasing affordable housing, which hon. Members will have seen in the press releases that we issued at the time, which set out the priorities and who would have first priority etc. All of that is to be settled and published, so that anybody who is interested will see objectively what that criteria is.

2875 Hon. D J Bossino: One further supplementary. I am grateful for the reply. I understand that this is full criteria which will be set out in writing when the appropriate time comes, and on that basis perhaps the Minister's reply was simply an overview of what may happen, but he specifically mentioned those who currently enjoy affordable housing. When he talks about the possibility – and that piqued my interest in terms of those individuals who may surrender their ownership of 2880 the privately owned flats – would that be limited to those who perhaps own on a 100% basis those schemes in the affordable homes, or can it be anybody else?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is giving an overview and I am giving an overview because the specific criteria will be set out.

2885 It is potentially not something that will be limited to people who are in affordable housing. Affordable housing comes into play as the manner in which a lot of our community ended up as homeowners rather than as renters from the Government, or renters from third parties, because if you are renting from the Government or if you are renting from a third party, you are eligible to be on the housing waiting list and therefore you are eligible for a pensioner flat. We have a large rump of people since the what we might call Bossano home ownership revolution of the late 2890 1980s, who, instead of relying on the Government to rent, bought, and those people who bought are getting just as old as the people who rented. The people who rented are able to move to a pensioner flat because they release a larger flat to the Government, and those who buy are sitting on potentially a very attractive capital gain but they then cannot sell to downsize without using all of their capital, or potentially, in an unattractive way, tying up all of their capital late in life. So the 2895 opportunity is to provide something for those types of people who unencumbered the Government from housing them by buying privately and who now would not be able to put all of their capital gain to work to buy something smaller.

This is not an easy criterion. I think we have debated it a little bit in this House; we have debated it a lot internally. We are trying to set it out in a way that is fair. Talking about affordable housing 2900 is the shorthand, but it is actually something that is likely to be available to anybody who is of pensionable age, is a homeowner and is downsizing, but the Government may need to curtail how the gain is realised or may be advised that we cannot curtail how the gain is realised on affordable property which you own 100% or which you own 50% of, non-affordable property that you own entirely, etc.

2905 So it is a moving feast. The policy is being developed. My view is that the only way we will be able to have a policy is if we have an imperfect policy, because there are no perfect policies. As we know from the criteria for affordable housing, whenever you finally think that you have made the right decision and you put it out in writing, 30 other instances come up which you considered but you had to deal with and you had to put another group in priority. So we will do that. We will 2910 set it out as the manner in which these properties will become eligible for purchase by pensioners. I hope hon. Members will agree that we will be doing our best to ensure that these types of persons are able to purchase these properties with the right level of priority and in the right way, as we have debated in this House in some instances, which I hope, when we set it out, will not curtail the very generous offer that the hon. Member made across the floor of the House that 2915 certainly Edwin Reyes will be able to buy. We are talking about that type of purchaser of affordable housing in the past.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, there is one question which I think is also of public interest, and when people hear the reports about this question and answer session will be asking themselves. I appreciate that the Government may not be able to have that information available to them.
2920

Simply to add an aside, I think it was the Canepa administration that started with home ownership, but it was at the tail end. But anyway, that is a historical point. Clearly, Sir Joe Bossano, in his first administration, went ahead with that policy with much greater vigour.

The question is this: does he have an idea as to timings as to when these still unknown units 2925 will be completed and available for sale? Presumably, around about that time is when we will know what the criteria will be in terms of actual access and purchase of these units.

2930 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I was talking about affordable housing. We can have a debate, if the hon. Gentleman likes, about Brympton and vineyards and when they were brought into the affordable housing net, when the bankruptcy of Brympton happened and how it was saved and all the rest of it. I think anybody who looks at the history of Gibraltar will say that even though in his mid-century he has become extraordinarily arisco when it comes to Sir Joe Bossano, his initial approach when he was in his teens, which was to praise him for the affordable housing revolution in Gibraltar, was the right one.

2935 As to timings, I have an idea of timing but I do not want to commit. I do not want to say it is going to happen in three months because if it happens in four months I will be told I was trying to mislead the House.

2940 This is something we have to get right. The process of application to the DPC has already commenced. I would actually venture to say that we are likely putting our toe in the water with this because I think we are going to find that this is an area of potential growth. I think that we need to ensure that with this we also provide for circulation. So I will put out there that I think what should happen is that people should buy for their lifetimes and that the estate of those individuals should be made whole once they no longer need that property, which is likely to happen either because they go to a nursing home or they pass away. They get back what they invested with some, perhaps, cost of money, but that property then becomes available again for 2945 the same type of individual. Otherwise what you end up with is that you have developed properties for pensioners to buy that, when the pensioners die, are filled by the teenage grandsons of the pensioners. So, in order to ensure that it is always a pensioner flat, when the pensioner dies the flat has to be once again put into the pool of pensioners. But the pensioner's family and estate should not lose out, so they should have the money back that they invested in 2950 there, plus, perhaps – and I am giving hon. Members my thinking; we may end up with something completely different – either the cost of money over that period ... Say, for example the pensioner has had that flat for 20 years. You look at what interest rates or inflation have been in that period and you say, 'You bought it for £100,000, the estate now gets £160,000,' although the market value of that property might then be £½ million. Or you say, 'You get 5% a year for every year that you live here, and if you live here for 20 years somehow ...' But it then has to come back into the development estate, so that it is then available for the next pensioner, because that is what is going to create the circularity.

2960 Hon. Members might or might not recall the, in many respects excellent, speech that the former Chief Minister gave as his valedictory in the Budget for 2015, I believe, where he said one of the things that Gibraltar needs to resolve is that at some stage you have to stop building affordable property because you run out of space. Even if you reclaim to – forget the three-mile limit – the 12 mile limit, you eventually run out of space. So how do you create that circularity in the market? This is not a perfect way of doing so, but it is a way of putting our toe in the water to start to create an element of circularity in the market. If you are offering something which is the sort of one-bedroom which we would otherwise be renting, so that people are releasing their properties and perhaps not at top market capital value, perhaps they can get less All of those are 2965 the things that we have to put into the equation.

2970 I am giving the hon. Member, very honestly, my thinking. He has seen my policy guts on this, but we have not yet fixed on any particular issue to be able to deliver something that we think is important. I think both sides of the House would agree, even if we then disagree on the priorities and how you would set out the criteria. But I think we have all agreed that this is something that needs to be addressed in some way, not just for the Hon. Mr Reyes.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q443/2022
Skateboard park –
Plans to relocate

2975 Clerk: Question 443/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Does Government have any plans to relocate the skateboard park which was previously open at the north-east end of Victoria Stadium complex?

2980 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, His Majesty's Government of Gibraltar has plans to relocate the skate park to the park that will replace the existing Romney Hut car park. I am sure the hon. Member knows where that is. The Skate Park Association is already aware of this and is working with Government.

2985 Hon. E J Reyes: Does the does the Minister have a timeframe by when we should see this actually happening?

2990 Hon. S E Linares: Since it is in conjunction with the park, I cannot ... They are together, so whenever the park is going to happen – which we are all hoping is soon – it will be done.

Q444-45/2022
Government housing stock –
Notices to quit and proceedings

Clerk: Question 444/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

2995 Hon. E J Reyes: How many notices to quit has the Government issued to tenants, licensees or trespassers of Government housing stock in the last six years, identifying (a) the category – that is tenants, licensees and trespassers; and (b) the year?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

3000 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this together with Question 445.

Clerk: Question 445/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

3005 Hon. E J Reyes: How many proceedings have been issued by the Government to tenants, licensees or trespassers of Government housing stock in the last six years, identifying (a) the category – that is tenants, licensees and trespassers; (b) the year; (c) which court proceedings were issued in; and (d) the outcome in brief terms?

3010 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 444, notices to quit can only be issued to tenant or licence holders. Trespassers are simply trespassers and can, therefore, not be issued with a notice to quit.

3015 Nonetheless, the information being sought by the hon. Member going back so long is a very laborious and intensive task, and it would not be possible to provide accurate information to the House for anything over three years. The information I can provide is as follows: 20 notices to quit were issued to tenants and licensees in 2020; 18 notices to quit were issued to tenants and licensees in 2021; 17 notices to quit were issued to tenants and licensees in 2022.

3020 In reply to Question 445/2022, I now hand to the hon. Member a schedule with the information requested.

Answer to Q444/2022

Year	Category Tenant/Licensee	Proceeding Location	Outcome
2020	24	7 proceedings withdrawn
		15 were successfully completed without the need to go to court	Tenancy Terminated
		1 in the Magistrates	Court Eviction
		1 Tribunal	Restoration Notice issued was Upheld
2021	18	7 proceedings withdrawn
		10 were completed without the need to go to court	Tenancy Terminated
		1 to the tribunal and later to the Magistrates	the magistrates overturned the tribunals decision
2022	28	3 proceedings withdrawn
		13 were completed without the need to go to court	11 Tenancies Terminated & 2 repayment agreements reached
		3 to the tribunal	x2 are ongoing, x1 Termination of Tenancy Notice issued was overturned by the tribunal
		1 referred back to the Tribunal by the Magistrates	Ongoing
		8 ongoing	7 Evictions ongoing & 1 rent recovery proceeding ongoing

Year	Category Trespasser	Proceeding Location	Outcome
2020	3	3 Magistrates	Eviction
2021	7	5 were completed without the need to go to court	Evictions
		1 currently under Judicial Review	Ongoing
2022	0	1 Magistrates	Ongoing

3025 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can I ask, in the meantime, why is it not possible to provide the figures requested under Question 444 beyond the three years? I am presuming that the Housing Department must keep some records – at least a copy in their file – of who has been issued with a notice to quit, even if the Minister has to add that there could be a small discrepancy, but at least an indication ... I do not know – I am not legally trained – so perhaps one of the colleagues on that side can enlighten me.

3030 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I was very interested to see the answer to the question the hon. Gentleman asked, so I was very pleased to see that we had a schedule which provided it, but I understand that the difficulty in providing it for earlier years is that it has to be done on a file by file basis. There is not a file ... This may sound peculiar, but there was not one in Adolfo Canepa’s time, in Joe Bossano’s time or in Peter Caruana’s time that is the file of notices to quit or eviction notices. The notices go into each of the relevant files, so if Roy has been given notice to quit, it goes in his file, and if Fabian has been given notice to quit, it goes in his file. You would have to literally go through all the files to find the relevant notices to quit.

3035 I think what we can agree to do, if it is helpful – and I think it will be helpful to everyone – is if hon. Members are interested in this information – I certainly am – I think we could agree to keep this information going now and add it to the Government statistics page from now on, so that it continues to accumulate and we have a statistic going forward, even though we cannot have it going back.

3040

Hon. E J Reyes: I am extremely grateful for that explanation. Yes, I concur wholeheartedly with the Chief Minister. I think we should ensure that this statistic is now being kept properly.

3045 As the Chief Minister will appreciate, although I had a bit of information on this question ... Due to his absence from Gibraltar, Mr Feetham is not able to be here today. Should it so happen that Mr Feetham has a particular case, or something, I am sure the Chief Minister and the Minister for Housing would not mind if Mr Feetham then wrote to them directly if he wanted to pinpoint a particular case.

3050

Hon. S E Linares: No problem, Mr Speaker.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have a question. Presumably, following on from the Hon. the Chief Minister's reply, we are able to have that information from 2020 because the filing system has changed. I think that is the implication of what he said, and maybe they can confirm whether that understanding is correct.

3055
3060 Secondly, when he talks about it being too laborious to obtain that information over the period we sought, which is the six-year period, is it laborious in the sense that you have to provide the answer within the limited time period from when we file the questions to when you need to prepare the answer to this House? Would it be less laborious if the Department had more time to look into that and provide that information?

Hon. Chief Minister: The hon. Gentleman, I think, needs to reflect on the answer that I have given him. Certainly in the time available it becomes impossible, but to have somebody just going through files, pulling them out of storage and going through files just to obtain a statistic going back ... We would have to do a cost-benefit analysis and I think we would probably all agree that we want people to be doing the work that needs to be done today – and to maintain this statistic, I agree, because I think it is a helpful one to have, but to have somebody just going back for the statistical purpose, unless there is a very good reason to do so I think would not be the best use of public resources.

3070
3075 As Mr Reyes has said, if Mr Feetham believes that there is a good public interest reason for doing so, then we will consider it, but at the moment I would have thought that we have provided. We have employed the resources in the time available and we will have the information going forward.

Hon. D J Bossino: Does he have a comment to make in relation to the numbers that he does have? And perhaps he may be aware anecdotally, given the portfolio he holds as the Minister for Housing ... are these numbers average numbers which do not raise an eyebrow? Can he comment on the numbers?

3080

Hon. Chief Minister: I have been involved in housing for 10 years. Hon. Members on this side of the House have had different responsibilities. I can tell him that there is a fairly regular drumbeat of people telling us of properties that are empty and us going to check them. At the same time, without relying on what people tell us – and I assume it was the same in their time – we also get the opportunity to check through meter readings, which we do every couple of years, because you need the meter readings to accumulate and you need to also then discount people who are genuinely away from Gibraltar for good reasons.

3085
3090 The principal reason for eviction is people not using the home, but then of course you might find that somebody has not been in the home because they have been in Calpe House for eight months, so you then withdraw the eviction notice. Or there may be other reasons why there have been difficulties with the meter. In some instances, the meter may be blocked and we have not been able to charge amounts due, but the meter reading is coming up as zero and there is a problem with the meter.

3095 Then there are instances of people who are staying in a property that they are not entitled to stay in – for example, a grandchild in a property that is in the name of a now deceased grandfather. As Hon. Members will know, the law provides that a child of a person who is a tenant is able to not inherit but be registered under the Housing Act as a tenant. So a child could, in some instances, stay – or be moved to a more appropriate property, if that property is too large – when the parent is deceased, but a grandchild or a nephew, or somebody who is not related but who was living there and did not have permission to live there would not be able to continue to live there. In some instances, that has been with notice to the Department, so they are not trespassers and they have to be given a notice of eviction. In many instances, that is resolved by adequately housing that person in the right size property, not in the size of property that they were in.

That is the drumbeat of things. You then have periods where you have, as the hon. Gentleman knows we are dealing with now, instances of large numbers of anti-social behaviour, so you have perhaps a spike of eviction notices related to that, but even that evens out over the years, so you are not seeing huge spikes.

I would say, ironically, that it is in the years when affordable housing is developed that people are leaving government tenancies to go to affordable homes, that you are then left with people behind in government tenancies who should not be staying in that government tenancy, where you then have more eviction notices and you are producing the churn that you need to produce, which you might not otherwise be able to produce.

I hope that is helpful.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

I believe that the Hon. Edwin Reyes had a supplementary, which I did not see.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, it is a very short thing.

In the table that the Minister kindly provided in the answer to Question 445, most of it is self-explanatory, except for in the year 2020 when it says ‘Proceeding location 1 Tribunal’. Then the outcome is ‘Restoration Notice issued was upheld’. If it is a government property restoration notice issue by Government itself, there is no straight logic. If the Minister does not have the answer now, I can wait for it at some other stage in the proceedings of the House, and then, with Mr Speaker’s leave, he can provide us with the answer.

Mr Speaker: May I suggest that in the future the principal questioner should complete all his questions before allowing a colleague to come in and ask their questions? Otherwise, we get the issue here, where I decided no more questions, when you were the principal questioner. Okay?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I think if I remember correctly, this was a case that went to the Tribunal. The client, I think, wanted to take it further as an appeal to the Magistrates Court. The judge ruled that it had to go back to the Tribunal and the Tribunal just upheld the restoration notice. It was to do with something that you are knocking down, that you are actually 4.40.42 Before you do anything in a government house, you have to go to a Lands panel and there is a process. I think it was something ... If the hon. Member can write to me, or whatever, I can give him exactly what it is, but if I remember correctly, it was something to do with that. Somebody had done a wall or something, or knocked down a wall, and they were taken to the Tribunal. Then they wanted to take it to court and then they wanted to come back. So it is one of those.

Q446-47/2022

ETB –

Number and nationality of Gibraltar residents registered unemployed; number and nationality of persons not registered but seeking employment

Clerk: Question 446/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

3140

Hon. E J Reyes: How many Gibraltar residents are registered with the ETB as unemployed, and what are their nationalities?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

3145

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this together with Question 447.

Clerk: Question 447/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

3150

Hon. E J Reyes: How many people, if any, are registered with the ETB as searching for a job but not registered unemployed, and what are their nationalities?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

3155

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, with respect to Question 446/2022, the hon. Gentleman is well aware – when I talk about the ‘hon. Member’ I talk about the hon. Member who asked the question, as opposed to Mr Reyes – that it is the practice of successive Employment Ministers to relay the unemployment figures on a quarterly average. In accordance, therefore, with this established practice, I am happy to advise you that the quarterly average at the end of the third quarter of 2022 was 22.

3160

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I understand the Minister was trying to explain his answer and he says at the end of the third quarter there was an average of 22, but the original question asks for nationalities. Does he have a breakdown of those?

3165

And whilst I am on my feet, is there any answer to the question that was joined up, which was Question 447?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I have a note here – because I remember asking about the nationalities but there was an issue on that – and it says persons registered with the Department of Employment who are searching for a job are registered as unemployed, as the register is kept in accordance with Regulation 15(2) of the Employment Act. The Department of Employment provides services to any person in registered employment in Gibraltar who may wish to seek alternative employment, who requires support and guidance in CV writing, interview skills and application. But it does not answer the hon. Member’s question, which is the nationality. I remember asking, but there was an issue why they did not want to give the nationality and it is to do, I think, with the issue of quarterly ... At one given point are we having a French person on the list or a Spanish person on the list?

3170

3175

Hon. Member: It is an average figure.

3180

Hon. S E Linares: Because it is an average figure, it is very difficult to ascertain the nationality at one given point of the list, yes.

Q454/2022
Mid-Harbours parking –
Plans for unoccupied spaces

Clerk: Question 454/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3185

Hon. D J Bossino: Does the Government have any plans to deal with parking spaces which lie unoccupied in the Mid-Harbours estate?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

3190

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, once the review of the Housing Act is complete, together with the Housing Allocation Scheme and tenancy agreements, the available parking spaces from households who do not need parking, do not want parking or do not meet the requirements to be allocated a parking space, will be rented out to tenants of the estate who wish to have a second parking space, at a higher level of rent. The same policy will apply in other housing estates going forward.

3195

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the question was more specific than that. It arises, as I understand it from residents there, that there are empty parking spaces. The question was in relation to that.

3200

I understand what he wishes to do once the relevant legislation – and subsidiary legislation, presumably – and the tenancy agreements are reviewed, but the question was the current ... If you take a snapshot now ... I do not have the number, maybe he does, but there are parking spaces which remain empty, unless the intention is that those will be dealt with after the review of the various legislation and agreements he mentioned earlier.

3205

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, again, I asked that question because I know the issues. The Housing Department only issues monthly licences for the second parking space. That means the ones that are empty for whatever reason that I stated before ... if they are empty, they would want to have a second parking space, and there is only one parking space per household. It is likely that those which are available because the tenants do not require them or may do so in future ... Therefore, the licence agreement issued to those for the second parking space – this is especially appertaining to Mid-Harbours, by the way – would have these terminated and allocated to the tenant now eligible. So it becomes an issue where, for example, as the hon. Member knows, people who are in arrears will not have a parking space and therefore there might be an empty parking space which we then allocate to somebody who is ... The second parking space has to be on a monthly licensing basis because somebody might come and say, 'I am paying, now, my arrears and I want my parking.' So these are the issues that crop up, but we are now trying to clear it and make it clear when we do all the reviews that we are doing.

3210

3215

3220

Hon. D J Bossino: I suppose the more coalface type of document that I can imagine in the list he gave me would be the tenancy agreements. Can he confirm – because I may have misunderstood him – that the intention is to review the tenancy agreements to fine tune those aspects, presumably to give the Government more power to address these issues? Is that understanding correct?

3225

Hon. S E Linares: That is one of them.

Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to the Housing Act – I know it has been the subject of questions in the House before – can he give us an indication as to when he thinks that is likely to be ready to be put before the House?

3230

Hon. S E Linares: I could say the lifetime of this Parliament, which is very short already, but yes, very soon.

3235 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask on the parking spaces, does the Minister have an idea of how many parking spaces we are talking about? And in terms of the process that he was indicating would be followed to give people an option of how to do that, how will that process be done? Is that going to be some kind of invitation to a ballot, or something like that?

3240 Hon. S E Linares: I would guess that it would be people coming to the Department, showing interest, and obviously, if we have more interest than we have parking we would have to do a ballot or a raffle or whatever, to try to give the people the parking. It depends on the number. We might have one parking space and 20 wanting the same parking space, and then that creates a problem.

3245 Hon. K Azopardi: He did not answer the first part, which is does he have a number.

Hon. S E Linares: I do not have a specific number, but I would reckon ... Does the hon. Member want the number in Harbour Views only?

3250 Hon. K Azopardi: Mid-Harbours.

Hon. S E Linares: Mid-Harbours, sorry. I would like to say a specific number, but it is a very small percentage of the people who live there because usually we are talking about people who are in arrears, mainly, and we are following the arrears very hard and very seriously and we want to get ... So there is not a lot, but if the hon. Member wants, I can give him the specific number when I can get it.

Q455/2022
Chilton Court –
Refurbishment programme

Clerk: Question 455/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3260 Hon. D J Bossino: Further to the replies given by the Minister for Housing with regard to the refurbishment of Chilton Court, please provide a detailed commitment as to when the refurbishment programme is to start and what it will entail.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

3265 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the refurbishment of Chilton Court is something to which the GSLP Liberal Government is committed and on which we did not enjoy support from the Opposition. The refurbishment will require spending public money, something the Opposition repeatedly ask us not to do, but we will proceed with the refurbishment of Chilton Court in coming months.

3270 Additional maintenance is also being deployed in estates to make up for degradation during the pandemic period. We have been visiting estates for some time now, to see for ourselves the works that have to be done and how to prioritise these works. We will continue to do so and ensure that all our tenants have the living environment we would wish for ourselves.

3275

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, if that was not ... It is a legitimate political response that he has given. We certainly do not agree with it, we certainly say it is absolutely not accurate, but I think it was a very shallow attempt on his part at making a hitting-below-the-belt type of political statement. But that is fine. I have no issue with that, just simply to point out that it is totally and 3280 utterly inaccurate that we do not support any initiative by the Government or that we would not do it in Government, in terms of refurbishment of that estate.

That estate, I am told by residents, is one of those which are completely and utterly forgotten, if I may say, by this Government. There has been, they tell me, not even a lick of paint in most of the estates. I know there are some sections of the external walls of some of the blocks which have 3285 been painted. I saw that for myself and some of my colleagues, but certainly the inside of many of those blocks and the external areas of many of those blocks, the playground area and all of that, the communal areas, are in a really dire state. Many of the tenants there are at the end of their tether and they are desperate.

But I welcome some aspects of his reply. He says that in coming months the refurbishments are going to be commencing, but may I ask him specifically, because I do not think he has been sufficiently detailed – I asked him for the detail – what exactly he intends to do? At least, if I can put it in these terms, can he simply arrange for the blocks, both internally and externally, to be painted?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has given an answer which I find really quite remarkable. He said earlier that this is a place for political debate, and then he is surprised when he gets an answer that is a political answer, which is the sort of thing that he was treating us to before.

He says, 'I am told by the tenants that there has not even been a lick of paint,' only to correct himself in his very next sentence and say, 'although I saw that some of the buildings had been painted'. So I do not know whether he is giving the lie to the things that he was told, because what we have said is that Chilton Court has not benefitted from a refurbishment but will benefit from a refurbishment.

The problem we would have is if we took the attitude that they took in government, which is to say a lick of paint is a refurbishment. We happen to think that this requires much more than a lick of paint. A lick of paint is, as people say in Spanish, pan por hoy y hambre por mañana – bread today but hunger tomorrow – because it is just a lick of paint. What these buildings need is what we have done in the other estates, where we have added longevity to the buildings by a full and proper refurbishment. That is what we are intending to do in this estate, which is not a forgotten 3305 estate, it is an estate we have not been able to deal with yet because the Government, when it was elected in 2011, found itself in possession of every estate in Gibraltar needing a refurbishment. That includes Bishop Canilla House, which they built, but which was having serious problems of water ingress. That includes the largest estates in Gibraltar – Moorish Castle, Laguna estate, Glacis estate, Alameda estate. We are now moving to continue with the others, but we had the hiatus of the pandemic and we had the gutting of our public finances through the pandemic.

They, in one breath, say, 'Stop spending, do not perform your manifesto commitments,' which is what they say, and if they say they do not say it, they just have to look at Hansard to see the number of times they have said it – in particular, Mr Feetham – and at the same time, 'Why haven't you done this?'

We are going to continue with our timetable of delivering things, which includes delivering for the people at Chilton Court. I am delighted that they are taking an interest in the people of Chilton Court. We are taking an interest in the people of Chilton Court and the people of Chilton Court will have the benefit, like everybody else in government tenancies, of a Government that is investing in the government housing stock, not selling it, in particular in respect of the post-war stock, which is what they did.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, that was a political reply. That was a highly charged political response. We are not going to have a debate about the public financing issues. We are not going to have that debate.

3330 What he has not answered is the detail of the type of refurbishment that is going to be undertaken.

And secondly, if I may ask, when does he think that the entire refurbishment programme, and whatever that may entail in terms of the detail, is likely to be completed?

3335 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not understand what it is that makes my statements highly charged political statements and his anything other than the same. He was defending, a few hours ago, that this is a place for highly charged political statements, so I do not know which persona he is adopting right now. (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) Well, Mr Speaker, his question is a highly charged political question.

3340 I want to be very clear. I do not understand how the hon. Gentleman thinks that he can say – and this is not about politics, this is about logic – that we are not going to have the public finance debate, but is asking me what type of refurbishment we are going to do and when it is going to be completed. Does he think that we pay for refurbishments with oranges and bananas? We pay for refurbishments with taxpayers' money from the public finance pot, which is severely depleted because of the pandemic. If they do not accept that the depletion of the public finance pot is from the pandemic, they would have to say it is because of the projects. The projects that we have done, which they call extravagant and lavish, were in very great measure inclusive of the refurbishments of the estates, on which we spent over £100 million. So, by having the debate about the refurbishment of Chilton Court, we are having a debate about the public finances.

3350 What I am telling him is that we are ensuring that with less money we are continuing to do a less ambitious programme of refurbishment and that Chilton Court is one that is coming up for refurbishment. When we have a timetable and a programme which we can say we will pursue, we will announce it, and that will include a commencement date and a termination date.

3355 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, again, I am not going to enter into the debate.

When the hon. Member to whom the question was posed, who is the Minister responsible for housing, was asked this question, he said 'in the coming months'. Is 'in the coming months' the commencement, when he expects the thing to start, or does he expect it to commence and also finish in the coming months?

3360

Hon. Chief Minister: It is the commencement, Mr Speaker. That is what it says – it says 'commence in the coming months', and as the Minister with responsibility for paying for the refurbishment, I am delighted to answer him.

Q456/2022
Government estates –
Schedule of cleaning of communal areas

Clerk: Question 456/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3365

Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide the cleaning schedule for communal areas in government estates.

Clerk: Answer. the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

3370

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the cleaning schedule for the communal areas known as 'El Turno' takes place under a contract with Britannia Cleaning Ltd, servicing government rental blocks eight hours once a week during the whole year. This is in keeping with the contract that was in place with Master Services and which Britannia took over.

Hon. D J Bossino: Sorry, I do not know how this works. Eight hours every week, did he say, during the whole year? Is that in respect of each block? He mentioned El Turno. Can I take it, from that, that it is in relation to each block in each government estate? Is that correct? He is saying yes. Thanks to the Hon. Minister for saying yes from a sedentary position. The question is: is he satisfied that that is sufficient in order to keep the estates in a proper state of cleanliness?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I can tell the hon. Member that I am, if not micromanaging it ... I have to micromanage it because I am really interested in the contract being done, and therefore I visit the estates with the owner or the directors of Britannia to make sure that they do their work. If they do not, we will follow it up, but if they do, they do. Sometimes it happens that they do their job very thoroughly and people actually then foul the place that has just been cleaned. That happens quite a lot. Therefore, we are trying to do a sort of – and I am probably going a bit too far – campaign in which people have to have civic pride in where they live. We can do as much as we can in El Turno, cleaning the stairs, cleaning the patios and cleaning everything, but then if you get ... And we have had it while I have been there, where somebody comes out with a dog and the dog does all its business where it has just been cleaned, and therefore it is virtually, sometimes, impossible to keep it 100% clean. It is called civic pride. But look, when the contract is not being fulfilled, the Housing Department, the Housing Works Agency, myself, my Ministry will go there and we will call the directors and say, 'Why hasn't this been cleaned? Go and clean it.' So we are on top of it, until we are satisfied that it is as clean as it should be.

Hon. D J Bossino: I hear what he says in relation to civic pride, and he is absolutely right, but there are other things that we have witnessed, which suggest otherwise, things that suggest that it is somewhat more permanent, and it seems to be an endemic problem in some of the areas. From his answer, I detect that he needs to be intensely reviewing the contractual arrangements with this particular company, but he is shaking his head and I will give him an opportunity to reply.

The basic question is: why is there a need for the Minister for Housing to have to, as he puts it, micromanage a contractual relationship?

Hon. S E Linares: Because I care for the tenants and therefore I go there regularly to make sure that the tenants are living in the places that they should be living well, clean, without anti-social behaviour – because I care about my tenants. I do not go once in a blue moon when there is an election coming round. I am there constantly, making sure that all the tenants have what they deserve. That is why I micromanage it. I am the sort of person ... I feel for them, I go there, I see if there is something wrong. I meet the Tenants' Association very regularly and all the issues that have come in Chilton ... I am already aware of them all and we try to action them. We make sure that we go there. We are doing the parking areas. All the parking areas – we are looking at how best to do it for the people who live there. That is why I have to micromanage, and if I have to continue micromanaging, I will do.

Hon. D J Bossino: And that is commendable on the hon. Member, if what he tells us is true. One of the issues which have come through loud and clear in the meetings that I have been recently having is that there seems to be, in many of these things, a disconnect between ... not just necessarily directed at him, but certainly his Department. As I understand it, there should be housing managers who should be listening to people's concerns and addressing them.

3425 I know it goes slightly outside the scope of this question, which deals specifically in relation to cleanliness, but there are other issues that I am sure he is aware of – lifts broken and lights broken in communal areas, which take absolutely ages to be fixed. Despite his laudable approach to this and despite his micromanaging, as he says, which is never necessarily a good thing, is there something which systematically needs to be addressed in order to have these issues addressed and dealt with more efficiently and appropriately?

3430 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, let me take the hon. Gentleman up on the issue of the lift. I was in Mid-Harbours last week. I hold my clinics there in the social centre, and last week I did not just want to help my clients, I wanted to see some of the areas which the hon. Gentleman had asked me to come and check and to ensure that I would approve certain changes that are required to make the cleaning of areas easier – for example, tiles in the lift halls, which will make the area easier to clean, because when they built it, they did not build it with tiles, so you end up with a painted wall which is almost impossible to clean.

3435 One of the comments to me was ‘When is the lift in Bow Wave House going to be fixed? It takes ages.’ So I said, ‘What is going on with the lift in Bow Wave House?’ Usually, when lifts break, we have a contract and they can be fixed immediately. Well, when hon. Members developed it, the saltwater tank is above the lift. It leaks into the lift, so it is impossible to operate the lift or even repair it until it dries out, every time. So, one of the ways to ensure that we do not have lifts that have that problem is never to have them in government property again.

3440 Hon. D J Bossino: Again, a political point, and that is fine. That is absolutely fine – and you are not being called to order. That is fine. But can I just – 3445 Mr Speaker: Excuse me. Please resume your seat. I expect an apology because it is the second time that you have had a dig at me, and that is wrong, absolutely.

We are now going to proceed to the next question.

Q457/2022
Government housing estates –
Security cameras

3450 Clerk: Question 457/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Who monitors the security cameras installed in housing estates to ensure that anti-social behaviour is dealt with?

3455 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

3460 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, CCTV cameras situated in lift cabins at Laguna estate and Glacis estate are not monitored by way of live feed. The footage recorded on them is retrieved when there is a need by the Housing Department for the purposes of crime prevention, anti-social behaviour and/or prosecution. This footage is subsequently provided as supporting evidence when reported to the relevant authorities for their action.

3465 CCTV cameras in pensioner blocks are also not continuously monitored, but a feed is provided to the warden’s office for security purposes at Bishop Canilla House, Albert Risso House and Charles Bruzon House. The footage of these would also be retrieved by the Housing Department when there is a need for the purposes of crime prevention, anti-social behaviour and/or prosecution.

The ones at Seamaster Lodge are fully managed by the Mons Calpe Mews estate managers. Access to these is provided to the Housing Department as and when required.

3470 With regard to Mid-Harbours estate, these CCTV cameras provide a live feed to the Royal Gibraltar Police and are not under the remit of the Housing Department.

It is important to note that the Department of the Environment also places time-lapse cameras in housing estates on an ad hoc basis in order to tackle fly tipping.

3475 Additional cameras with additional monitoring are, unfortunately, having to be considered in some estates. The Government will make announcements about such additional camera feeds as soon as it is able to.

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful to the hon. Member. In some respects, that encapsulates the point that has been made to me, that it all seems rather bureaucratic and confusing. In other words, I think the result that we all want to achieve is that anti-social behaviour of whatever kind is dealt with, but I am told that enforcement becomes an issue because of that confusion, in the sense that one department or one authority says, 'It is not me, it is Environment,' and Environment says ...

3480

I am grateful for his reply and I know that each estate will have its own separate systems, but is there ...? I do not know whether the way that I have put it to him in this question ... This is the question: would he agree that it is accurate, or would he deny its accuracy in terms of what I have been told when I visited the various estates?

3485

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I hope that I will be able to strike a more concordant note with the hon. Gentleman now. He and I, I think, will be equally saddened at the thought that we need to apparently live in a society, today, where we have constant CCTV camera monitoring of common areas because people are unable to act in community in those areas. That is why the hon. Gentleman has referred to him a pilot project that he and I are working on together to bring CCTV to some of our estates in a permanently monitored way.

3490

The CCTV that is there now is there to deal with problems when they occur. The Minister for the Environment has static cameras that take pictures, but it is not video, and you have some other video in some other areas, but I do not think that any of us want to live in a society where we need to be permanently monitored all the time, not for the prevention of serious crime, where, of course, it would be an important evidential tool, but simply so that people do not allow their dogs to do their business, or throw things etc.

3495

Let me give him the example I have been dealing with. There is a rubbish dump in Laguna estate. That rubbish dump is cleaned regularly. It is clean, almost, as a whistle. Inside, it has the rubbish receptacles. Responsible tenants go into the rubbish dump and put the rubbish into the receptacle. Irresponsible tenants, whether it is full or empty, do not even bother to open the door; they dump their rubbish outside. So the place has just been cleaned, it is clean as a whistle, and the tenant, with his rubbish bag, instead of opening the door, going up two steps – it has no more than two steps – and putting his rubbish in the rubbish receptacle, puts his rubbish outside of the door. The seagull, the monkey, the stray dog or the stray cat comes and opens the rubbish receptacle: rubbish all over the place. The whole area was clean five minutes ago, and now it is strewn with rubbish because a tenant decided to simply put his rubbish bag outside the door.

3500

3505

The Laguna Estate Tenants' Association says to us, 'We are working with Britannia. We know it is clean, we know it is clean inside. We see the person come and put this out there, and this needs to be monitored,' It is for that sort of issue that we are having to consider permanent CCTV in all the estates – because of the guy who comes and decides that he is going to urinate in the brand new lift. A dog is bad enough, but that a human being should do it and that we should require in society, the community that he and I were brought up in, that so many of our great Gibraltarian counterparts out there have been brought up in ... that there are a few who do this, who require us all to be subjected to constant CCTV monitoring – which we are going to have to do a pilot programme on – is really worse than a disappointment. It is worse than a disappointment, and I

3510

3515

3520 do not think that the 99% of people who behave properly in the community deserve to be constantly monitored on CCTV, although many of them say, 'We give up – we are going to have to,' and that is what we are going to try to do.

It is a huge deception, because of course people then come to the estate, see rubbish strewn everywhere at four o'clock in the afternoon and say the estate has not been cleaned. The estate was like a whistle at 10 o'clock when this irresponsible person decided to do that. It is shocking 3525 that we are going have to do that in relation to dog poo, dog piss, rubbish left outside rubbish dumps, human excrement and waste and other littering, graffiti of brand new, refurbished estates, where people think it is sensible to waste money that they say they do not have buying a can of spray to paint male genitalia on a wall. What is funny or positive about that, and what contribution to Gibraltar do you make if you do that? We are now going to have to set up a camera 3530 to monitor that person, to ensure that they can stick their hands in their bleeding pockets instead of littering, fouling or graffiti-ing, to make the environment which we have spent hundreds of millions of taxpayers' money ensuring is to the standard that the Gibraltarian deserves.

I hope there is – and I am sure there is – concert around this House that this is unacceptable behaviour because there is concert in the estates, in the vast majority of good Gibraltarians who 3535 live in those estates, that this is a small minority that is ruining it for everyone, that they do not deserve the homes that they have and they will be evicted from those estates, and those who remain behind appreciate what they have and I am sure that we appreciate that they realise that and they do not deserve to be put through what they are being put through. (Banging on desks)

3540 Hon. D J Bossino: Can I just say, Mr Speaker, that he can be assured that there is absolute concert, in the way he put it, around this House in relation to the points he has just made and he will recall that the question arises precisely because of what has been put to me by the 99.9% of the individuals who are law-abiding, good residents and want to go about their lives in a normal way and not behave, in effect, like vandals – well, they are vandals; it is not effectively vandals, 3545 they are vandals and I concur wholeheartedly with what the Hon. the Leader of the House has just said.

He mentioned a pilot scheme. I must say I did not catch it from the prepared reply from the Minister. I may have missed it, but can I ask him, as a supplementary to that point, Mr Speaker, when he thinks that pilot scheme is likely to start? And is it going to be set up in all of the 3550 Government estates, or are there particular estates which are giving rise to particular problems?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for his agreement on this. I think it is important that the whole House should be united on this and we should not allow party politics to interfere here.

3555 The reference is in the last line of the prepared sentence – I am surprised he missed it:
'Additional cameras with additional monitoring are, unfortunately, having to be considered in some estates. The Government will make announcements about such additional camera feeds as soon as it is able to.'

The hon. Member and I are going to one of the estates for this purpose, in order to be briefed 3560 on what is proposed, and we do not know yet whether we will be able to agree it. There are civil liberties issues that we have to consider and there are issues of cost that we have to consider. All of those things will be relevant. It is not going to be done in all the estates – it would not be a pilot otherwise. It gets rolled out in one, to see whether it works. And then, if it works, potentially it gets rolled out to the other estates.

3565 If I may take all of his questions in relation to this together, in one estate, eight hours per block per week is more than enough for that block to be looking fantastic, sparkling – spick and span, as the hon. Gentleman says from a sedentary position. In another block, 80 hours a week would not be enough, not because the 30 tenants in the block are pigs, but because one or two tenants in the block are utter pigs, ruining it for everyone. In some estates you do not need CCTV at all, and 3570 in some estates, in some areas, you need more CCTV than you have in central London.

Those are the issues that we are grappling with, and I invite the hon. Gentleman to grapple with them with us, rather than in competition with us, because the only ones who win are the vandals if they think that they can push us in one direction or another when we should all be united for the 99.9%.

3575

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q458/2022
Pensioner flats –
Eligibility

Clerk: Question 458/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3580 Hon. D J Bossino: I think this question may have been answered in relation to the Laguna estate one, but please provide details of the Government's policy with regard to eligibility for pensioner flats.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

3585 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): No, it has not been answered, because the hon. Member asked about the other. This is the eligibility of government – (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) Okay, yes.

An applicant who is on the housing waiting list and is over the age of 60 automatically becomes eligible to be allocated a flat in a pensioner block.

3590

3595 Hon. D J Bossino: The reason why I referred to the question in relation to the projects being carried out in Laguna estate is because, there, there has been flexibility in terms of some of the policy as just outlined by the hon. Member – the Hon. the Chief Minister is shaking his head, so I may have misunderstood the Government's position – because it has been widened, just to finish the point, to those who are in the 50/50 housing.

3600 It is an issue which has been brought to my attention some years ago ... but only recently, and I am raising it on behalf of one particular constituent, but I think it applies across the board. In other words, if you have an individual like in this case, she made inquiries, I think probably of his Department – and if I may, Mr Speaker, just read a very short ... The point that was being made to me ... This is the information that she was provided with, and it says 'Allocation of pensioners' housing for someone who currently resides in a non-government dwelling ...' She was informed that 'pensioners flats are only allocated to those persons who will vacate a government house. Others will have to go on the allocation list,' which I imagine is the housing waiting list.

3605 I hear that the Hon. Chief Minister, from a sedentary position is saying that that is absolutely not true, but I will just give him or the hon. Member an opportunity to reply to the points I have raised.

3610 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman needs to forget about the issue of the Laguna estates pensioner flats that we were talking about earlier. That is the development of pensioner flats for sale to people who are eligible because they are pensioners who own property in Gibraltar. That is what we were talking about there. That is different. This question he has asked (Interjection) is about tenancy. Exactly. It is about Charles Bruzon, Sea Master Lodge, the ground floor flats at Gib 5, Sir William Jackson Grove and the other ones that we have – Albert Risso House, etc. I can tell the hon. Gentleman that there are a number of instances of which we are private sector, have gone ... They are renting in the private sector, they are on the housing waiting list, they are over 60, so they become eligible for a government property and the government property they get is an over-60, as long as their family composition is in keeping with a pensioner flat. Why? You can be over 60 and still have a child who is age six or seven. You might still have a growing family, so you do not have to have a pensioner flat, but you are eligible for a pensioner flat if you are on the housing waiting list and over 60, which is what this tells him, whether you are in government accommodation or not in government accommodation.
3615 aware where people who have not been government tenants, who have been renting in the

The reality is that the best management of the housing waiting list also involves offering people who are pensioners and are in large government properties as rentals a move to a pensioner flat so that you then release the five-bedroom that they are sitting in, sometimes alone or just with one partner, to a family that has three or four children. The trickle-down that that means is that if they were in a three-bedroom, the person who has two children goes into the three bedroom etc. and you see all of that trickling down. But there are many instances ... I remember when the hon. Lady was Minister for Housing, when the hon. Gentleman was Minister for Housing, where we have seen people move from private sector renting to a public sector pensioner flat. You cannot go from the private sector, owning, to a public sector pensioner flat, because you are not eligible to go on the housing list. You are the owner of private property, so you are not eligible. You have to be in the private sector, renting and eligible, or in the public sector, renting and eligible, and then you go into a pensioner flat.

That is the criteria and that is how it works, but forget the Laguna issue because that is for a different issue that we were dealing with earlier, which is people who have bought in the private sector and want to move and downsize again through purchase, rather than through rental. I hope that is helpful. I will give him an example with the names and surnames of people he will know who moved in that way from private rental in College Lane to government pensioner rental at Sea Master Lodge, I seem to recall.

Hon. D J Bossino: Actually, I had a recorded conversation with somebody who suggested that this was the case, which I found a bit odd, but never, ever a situation where somebody privately is a title holder, privately owns a flat. I think, though, the way it was put to me is that there is some sort of arrangement where they would sell the flat to the Government – that is what I was told, just hear me out – and then, as a result of that exchange, that individual is entitled to the pensioner flat.

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, in the context of somebody who has been in the private sector as an owner and therefore not eligible to go on the government housing waiting list, in I think one or two instances – maybe just one at the moment – the Cabinet was asked to consider a policy because of certain circumstances, but we could not make it limited to circumstances where the person donated the property to the Government.

In this instance, we were dealing with a large property in an affordable housing estate of the Government, where the person had bought. The person, because of their personal circumstances, had no heirs and therefore had no interest in leaving the property, and said, 'I am prepared to gift the property to the Government, which the Government can then sell to a family that fits the criteria for eligibility for affordable housing, if the Government will give me a pensioner flat, for which I will pay rent.' So, on top of that, it was not a question of ... they will pay the established rent. In that circumstance, what the Cabinet decided was that, as a matter of policy, if we are going to get an asset which is an affordable property, which we can then sell to the people who would be eligible for affordable property, and this person gets a pensioner flat, that is fair enough and in those circumstances it would work. When we put that to others who have come to us, who have said, 'I want to sell and give the money to my children, but you house me,' it does not work, and that is why we are developing the alternative criteria of purchasers who sell but who purchase, not who are then given a tenancy.

Hon. D J Bossino: Then that flat is sold on, on affordable housing terms – is that understanding correct? It is not on a pure market ...? No? He says they only did it on one occasion, but is it government policy to do it in respect of others? Or is it just on a case by case basis?

3670

Hon. Chief Minister: No, the Government felt very uncomfortable in making a decision which was specific and not having a policy position, so what we took was the policy position that if you were prepared to hand over a property, at no cost to the Government, which the Government could put into housing stock or could sell through tender in the appropriate way – as the hon. Gentleman will know, there are people who are eligible for housing who would be prepared to buy from the Government if the Government could sell to them – then we would permit people, in those circumstances where they forgo ownership – and there are very limited circumstances where this would be relevant – to have a pensioner flat because the value to the taxpayer is great. You get to house someone, potentially you get to realise the value of the asset for the taxpayer as well, and they pay the rent because they could not expect not to pay the rent – the rent is not exactly the highest rent in the world and therefore it makes sense that the person should be committed to paying the rent.

3675

3680

In those circumstances, the policy decision was made by the full Cabinet because we considered all of us together. The relevant Minister for Housing at the time, I think, was the hon. Lady and she wanted a policy decision from the whole Cabinet. We took that decision and I think it is the right decision. I am sure it will enjoy the hon. Member's support.

3685

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q459/2022

Housing stock –

Whether sufficient to meet need

Clerk: Question 459/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3690

Hon. D J Bossino: Does the Government have enough housing stock to meet the needs of all applicants on the housing waiting list?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

3695

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, the Government is confident that there are enough houses in the current housing stock to meet the needs of our community despite the former administration having sold part of the post-war stock of property at rock-bottom prices when they needed to raise money. This was a particularly bad mood by Members opposite – move, sorry. (Interjection) Bad mood? We are all getting there! (Laughter) Once all the affordable homes have been built, those prioritised to purchase will be releasing a number of rental homes, which will go a long way to tackle those who are in real need of government accommodation.

3700

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, this question arises from, I am sure he will know, a letter which was published by Action for Housing dated 26th October. There, Henry Pinner, the Chairman of that organisation, NGO, says:

3705

In April 2021 we shared a radio programme

– this is a letter addressed to the hon. Member – which was presented by Ros Astengo Stengel of GBC and you said that you had enough housing stock to meet the needs of all those applicants on the waiting list.

3710 Putting aside the initial preamble, the remark that he made, does he not agree with me – and I am sure he will not – that he was ... how shall I put it ... less than frank in the comment he made, because anybody listening to that programme would have come to the conclusion that Mr Pinna certainly arrived at, which was that ...? In effect, he was saying that there is sufficient housing stock to house people now. That was certainly the implication of what he was saying. What he is 3715 saying is that once the affordable housing estates which the Government announced some time ago ... In respect of one of the phases in one of them and in respect of two of them, not one brick has yet been laid, and he knows that that is a subject of criticism on this side of the House. It is going to take many years before those people are able to ... I would ask him to comment on that, and I have one specific question which arises from the comment that Mr Pinna said in his letter.

3720 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, Mr Pinna, in the programme, was under the impression that I had the houses to deliver the next day. That was his issue. I have always argued that even if we were to build government rental accommodation, it would take four years to build. So whatever problem he says – and I have had this argument with him publicly and he wants me to have more 3725 programmes with him for me to argue the same point ... This is the issue that I have, that he writes to me ... I do not have any problem with Mr Pinna writing to me, but every time he writes to me, he writes to me on the same issue, which I have already answered publicly with him and everywhere.

We believe that we have enough government housing stock and we will have more and we will 3730 deal with the list because we have prioritised the selling of the affordable homes. The Cat 1s are the people who are releasing houses in government. Therefore, yes, it is going to take that little bit of time, but we will have to wait then, because then we get homes back to us, and we have to encourage young people to buy homes as well. That will help, as well, our housing stock, where if there is a family that is ... three smaller families living within one household, they will move to the 3735 affordable homes and they will be living in better conditions and they will not need housing.

All these issues we have discussed with Action for Housing. Like I said, I do not mind talking to Mr Pinna, answering Mr Pinna, but he is always on about the same argument. The previous 3740 administration, like I stated, sold flats for peanuts – yes, for peanuts, nothing, hardly anything – and the people ... Now there are flats that are empty, which are inherited by people who have already got a house and we cannot do anything because they are lease holders. We cannot do anything. People come to me and say, 'There is an empty house in Alameda estate,' and I say, 'I cannot do anything. The GSD sold it.' So there are flats like that and I think it is also bad because ...

In answer to the question I said it is a bad move. Of course it is a bad move. Imagine trying to create a management company of an estate, where the Government has to pay everything about 3745 the management company of a block, just because you have three tenants who have bought the house. It is nonsensical, that. What we are doing is if it is a whole, full block that is half empty and I can relocate people in that block, then it becomes available for the Government to sell. But I am confident that the current stock that we have is enough for our needs.

3750 Hon. D J Bossino: I am not going to come here and make a value judgement as to whether what he is saying is correct or not, because without figures and without numbers ... He is almost suggesting that the horrible, evil GSD is responsible for the housing problems in Gibraltar because we sold ... I am told, anecdotally, that there are not that many, so for him to use that as the excuse for the problems we are facing is, quite frankly, not acceptable. But be that as it may ...

3755 I must tell him also, by way of remark, that I am told by Mr Pinna that he does not answer these letters. He says that he has no issues in replying to him, or listening to him or meeting him, but this is what I am told by him.

Can I ask him a specific question, which arises from his letter and is relevant to the availability of housing stock? In his written answer to my question last month he talked about a further 92

3760 properties forming part of the Urban Renewal Project, which I imagine is to do with the Upper Town project that is going to impact on the Northern Defences and Road to the Lines and all that. I imagine that is what he meant. Mr Pinna asked for more clarification in relation to what he intends to do with these 92 properties. Is he able, here and now, to provide that clarification?

3765 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, it is important that we clarify what the position here is, because the hon. Gentleman, I think, needs to go away with the facts. He needs the facts in order to be able to deal with the issues.

The fact is that the question he asked the hon. Gentleman a moment ago cannot be based on any semblance of logic or reality. He said Henry Pinna and anyone listening would have believed that the hon. Gentleman was saying that he had the homes available to house people immediately, not having to wait until the affordable homes have been built. That is what he said. How can anybody have believed that? It is impossible. It is not even improbable, it is impossible, because otherwise what Henry Pinna, he says, believed and what listeners to the programme, he says, believed is that we have houses available and, for the sake of making people suffer, we are not giving them to them. Nobody believes that. Nobody believes that we have the houses available today and we are not giving them to people. Everybody understands that this is about creating a churn of homes.

The hon. Gentleman says he does not want to deal with the issue of the post-war houses sold, but this is fundamental because there is a dividing line between us and it is an important policy decision that people need to understand. We say we will build for rental for pensioners, so that we can create the churn in the rental estate of the Government. They took the view that they would sell the rental stock – the good rental stock, not the pre-war rental stock that we cannot afford to maintain, the post-war rental stock – at peanuts. For example, something like a property sold at £35,000 for 70 square meters is being sold at £500 per square metre when it costs in the region of £3,000, £4,000, £5,000, £6,000 or £7,000 to build that same property again. So their policy is to say to Mr Pinna – given that he has put these issues in his mouth – ‘Yes, we will build more for rental. We sold the post-war stock at £500 and we will replace it at £7,000 per square metre.’ That is absolute madness.

Our policy is to build affordable homes where people are given priority if they release tenancies, to build for pensioners who are in the government housing stock and release the larger properties, and in that way provide the homes for people for rental, and, in the urban renewal system that we have, hopefully also be able to provide affordable rentals in the Upper Town in the renewal scheme. Those things taken together are our policy. We think that works. There is a clear policy division between us. But what we cannot do is have the same dispute every month about the same issue. They have a policy, we have a policy; in the General Election will defend it. We hope to be able to show that when the churn happens, it deals with the housing waiting list as it has dealt with it before. The churn is delayed now because of the pandemic, which is what none of us want, but we certainly do not have or have ever given the impression knowingly or unknowingly that we have the housing stock available and we are simply not releasing it, in order to make people suffer. Nobody can pretend that we have ever said anything that could lead them to believe that.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, just one more point, please. The hon. Member says that I do not answer Mr Pinna’s letters. He has just stated that Mr Pinna is saying ... Every single letter that Mr Pinna has written to me has been answered. If he does not like the answer, that is up to Mr Pinna, but every single letter ... He does not send us an email, he does it in printed form, he brings it by hand to my office and we do likewise to him and send emails to other people on the committee. So every single letter has been answered. The thing is he does not like the answer. It is not the answer he wants to get, but that is up to him. But I do answer every single letter.

3810 Mr Speaker: Next question.

TRANSPORT

Q460/2022

Pop-up cycle lanes –
Intention to install

Clerk: Question 460/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

3815 Hon. K Azopardi: Sorry, I was under the impression we were adjourning, so I ...

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I thought we would have been finished by eight, but hon. Members ask the questions they want to ask ... There are four questions to the Minister for Transport, two to the Deputy Chief Minister and two to the hon. Lady, so our intention was to 3820 finish them today – we thought by eight, but it is taking a little longer.

Hon. K Azopardi: It is fine, we can be here as long as is necessary. I just thought there was a cut-off that the Chief Minister had indicated earlier, that is all. That is fine.

3825 Mr Speaker, can the Government state whether it will be installing pop-up cycle lanes in Gibraltar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, there are a number of proposed 3830 locations for pop-up bicycle infrastructure. Pop-up bicycle lanes are used mainly to gauge the effectiveness and permanency of proposed bicycle lanes. Before a pop-up cycle lane is set up, there would have been reasonable study of the given area to check the viability of the location.

3835 Pop-up cycle lanes are a cheaper way of providing safe infrastructure, which can then be built upon and made permanent. Pop-up cycle lanes in small cities invariably mean that some parking spaces may need to be relocated, and this will always cause a backlash but the environmental and mobility benefits outweigh the inconvenience caused.

Hon. K Azopardi: Does the Minister have a sense of how many of these pop-up cycle lanes he would like to see around Gibraltar?
3840

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, it is a difficult question to answer, but off the top of my head, potentially every single area we look at within the scheme of things could become a pop-up bicycle lane before it becomes permanent infrastructure. So really it very much depends on how we wish to proceed, but I would envisage that there would be at least three different locations that we 3845 would consider.

Hon. K Azopardi: Would he advance where those three locations would be?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, as I said, potentially any of these locations could become pop-up 3850 bicycle infrastructure. For example, Bayside Road could be one we would consider. The reason why we would consider Bayside Road is because there is potentially a lot of development in that area, with the GFA stadium and with the other buildings going up shortly, so it would be futile and probably impractical and not worthwhile to lay down permanent infrastructure which then may need to be dug up.

Q461/2022

Safe cycling in Gibraltar – Whether report commissioned

3855 Clerk: Question 461/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state whether it has commissioned a specific report on safe cycling in Gibraltar, given our unique road infrastructure?

3860

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, the Ministry for Transport has now completed its strategic document for mobility in Gibraltar, specifically cycling and walking, and continues to work on a complete blueprint for bicycle lanes throughout Gibraltar.

3865

These documents build upon the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan. The ultimate aim of the strategic plan is to provide the necessary safe infrastructure that will help promote and encourage a greater uptake towards more sustainable modes of transport within our community. These documents are tabled for the next Cabinet meeting, where a presentation will seek the collective approval of Government. We hope to be able to make further announcements in due course.

3870

Hon. K Azopardi: If it is tabled for the next Cabinet meeting, would the Minister expect thereafter – subject to approval, obviously – that it would be published relatively soon after that?

3875

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, yes, once Cabinet approves the documents, then one thing I intend to do is to actually offer to share these across the House, so that we can ... I believe that cycling infrastructure and the future of mobility in Gibraltar lies in us working collectively, and in respect of being aware of our aims I would loathe to see something that we produce and publish being gunned down because there are things that could have been done differently. I wholeheartedly believe that what we have done is the best we can do in Gibraltar, and for that reason I am hoping for support on this plan and I am hoping to be able to share them before we make these documents public.

3880

Hon. K Azopardi: Certainly we would welcome that process because from this side of the House we are also committed to there being as much cycling as there can be for environmental and health effects.

3885

Clearly, it is difficult sometimes because of the unique features of Gibraltar, but I certainly welcome the Hon. Minister's invitation and we will take it up. I know this is not a question, Mr Speaker, but with your indulgence.

3890

Q462-63/2022

1.5 m rule re cyclists –
Consultation; level of fine

Clerk: Question 462/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state the nature and breadth of its consultation on the 1.5 m rule in relation to cyclists?

3895

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 463.

3900

Clerk: Question 463/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Philipps.

3905

Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Government state the rationale for the imposition of a £300 fine for a contravention of the 1.5 metre rule and why it is significantly higher than the UK and other European countries?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

3910

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman asks questions and makes statements suggesting he cares about the safety of cyclists, so I do hope he supports our laws on overtaking.

3915

The 1.5 m rule is a well-established law in many countries of the world and it applies to large metropolitan cities, as it does to smaller cities and towns. In fact, the smaller the size of the city, the more critical it is to guarantee the safety of one of the most vulnerable groups of road users, as street space will be limited as a result of size.

3920

A distance of 1.5m allows for an adequately safe, clear space between a faster-moving overtaking vehicle and a slower-moving bicycle. It conforms to the principles of road safety and public health and helps to encourage cycling by providing a safer urban environment for what is without doubt a green, sustainable and healthy alternative mode of transport, one that we need to embrace collectively as politicians, as political parties and indeed as a community.

3925

There is, in our mind, no need to consult on whether we should adopt the 1.5 m rule for cyclists, just as there should not be a need to consult on other public health measures such as banning smoking in enclosed public spaces. If we are really committed to a green Gibraltar, our climate change strategy and believe in the climate emergency, encouraging cycling and indeed walking should be a natural step in that direction.

3930

Gibraltar regulates laws and fines as deemed appropriate for this jurisdiction. The £300 fine is the standard fine used for all fixed penalty notice offences and is presently at this level following a recent and extensive overhaul of the financial penalty levels. Representations were made by the Commissioner of Police, in that the current penalty levels were not proving a sufficient deterrent to persons committing traffic offences. This was stated in our press release at the time when the increase of FPNs was announced.

3935

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, does the Minister accept that while that may be a general rule, there are obviously places around Gibraltar where it is impossible, really, to safely overtake and give a 1.5 m ambit to some cyclists? Does he accept that, given the narrowness of the roads and the oncoming traffic?

3940

Hon. P J Balban: It is exactly for that reason that it was felt necessary to implement this 1.5 metre rule, because there are drivers ... If I give an example to illustrate the point, in Lovers Lane, for example, and Line Wall Road, I do not think there is sufficient distance for a car to overtake a cyclist. Having said that, if the cyclist is not confident and is worried or feels threatened by a car following close by, they could cycle even closer to the wall. In doing so, the car will undoubtedly overtake and in doing so it will risk, potentially, the life of the cyclist. So it is for this very reason. Clearly, on the roads where a car cannot overtake, in theory, you should not need to apply the 1.5 m rule because there is not a 1.5 m distance to overtake.

3945

Another example is Price Edward's Road. I heard comments on social media: 'How are we supposed to overtake bicycles down Prince Edward's Road?' Well, the whole point is that you do not overtake a cyclist on Prince Edward's Road unless you can put the car on two wheels, as we have seen in the past.

3950

Hon. K Azopardi: But of course the logical consequence of that – and I am not arguing against the safety issue, because clearly there is a safety issue there, but it requires a cultural change, and clearly it will lead to backlog of traffic in certain respects if there are people cycling around.

3955

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I think we need to put into perspective, as well, what our priorities are and what we are trying to achieve. If we want a green Gibraltar, if we want to encourage sustainable alternative modes of transport, then I think we need to support people who walk, people who cycle, even people who catch the bus, and if it means that you have to stay behind a cyclist for a little bit longer because it is safer for the cyclist, and that invariably means you are going to be held up in traffic a little bit longer, then I think it is well worthwhile. At the end of the day, with the size of Gibraltar, we are going to get there five minutes later. Sometimes I wonder, where are we going? Where do you expect to be going so fast? Eventually we will get there. I think that is an important point to make in that respect.

3960

3965

As the Chief Minister was saying, which I will totally agree because I will cycle at a good speed because I find I am quite fit ... I could be cycling down Line Wall Road at 30 km per hour and a car will overtake me, regardless of what speed I am doing, because the notion is 'It is a bicycle and I will overtake because it cannot be doing the speed limit.' They are not looking at their speed limit. I think it is important to put things into perspective, and I think in a small town like Gibraltar there is no rush to get to places and we should give preference to the most vulnerable on our roads. That was the purpose of the Highway Code, to entrench and start that change – more than a cultural change; it is a change in mindset. You are right, and people I think already ... I experience this on a daily basis. I think cars predominantly have always been respectful, but even more so now. I see cars overtaking with greater distance. That gives us a lot more confidence and I think it gives especially parents with children and other groups who are not so confident on the street confidence perhaps to try cycling.

3970

3975

3980

Hon. K Azopardi: Finally, Mr Speaker, if I may, the Hon. Minister mentioned that he had had some discussions with the Commissioner of Police, who had made representations on the issue of the fines. Has there also been a conversation with the Commissioner of Police about the enforcement of the 1.5 m rule? I imagine it is a bit of a nightmare to enforce something like that evidentially. Has there been a discussion?

3985

3990

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the 1.5 m rule we do not expect ... You cannot actually physically go out there and measure the distance and say, 'You have overtaken that bicycle by 1.49 m and you are going to be fined.' Clearly it is something that is at the discretion of the law enforcers. I think if you consider 1.5 m is more or less ... In fact, 1.5 m is more or less the height of a person, so you need to leave that reasonable distance in overtaking. But if a law enforcer sees that a cyclist has been overtaken by ... I will sometimes be overtaken and I can physically touch the car with an open palm. That clearly is going to be no more than 30 cm. That is easy to police and I do not think we are going to be splitting hairs and saying, 'This is 1.35 m, as opposed ...' I think what we are looking at is a reasonable overtaking distance which we set, as other cities set, at 1.5 m, and it is up to the Police to use their discretion in this respect.

3995

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I could just be of assistance here because I have seen this debate raging on social media.

Let's be very clear. If you have overtaken on Lovers Lane, you did not have 1.35 m. It is not a difficult thing to prove. What happens is that the matter is not really likely to be taken any further unless you have hit the cyclist, but if you have hit the cyclist on Lovers Lane it does not require a tape measure to show that the person broke the rule that they had to have at least a 1.35 m berth.

4000 If you overtake at Water Gardens, where the cyclist is on one lane – there is a two-lane highway there – and you do not hit the cyclist, nobody is going to say, ‘Oh my God, he passed at 1.46 cm. Nobody is going to be prosecuted. But in instances where there is an accident and where the accident scene-of-crime people can come and measure, it will make it easier to prosecute these people.

4005 The question of reasonableness, the question of carelessness, the question of dangerous driving and the question of 1.5m are all questions of fact in evidence in any case, as the hon. Gentleman knows, and this will make it easier, not harder, to prove cases in certain circumstances which people might not be thinking of. This is not about whether you passed on Rock Hotel Hill, where you potentially have a clear lane one way or the other. So when you actually hit somebody on Lovers Lane ...

4010 I invite him to come with me in the mornings to cycle around Gibraltar. The Upper Rock is lovely. There is great respect between the cyclists, the monkeys and the people in cars – (Hon. Member: Barbary partridges.) There are more Barbary partridges than there are cyclists, that is for sure, and that is down to you – well done. But you try going round the Rock during the week at 7 a.m. and on Lovers Lane, te estas jugando la vida because people are whizzing past you – (Interjection) well, yes, but in cars and on electric scooters and all the rest of it – to stop at the roundabout by Trafalgar, where the cyclist who was passed will pass them.

4020 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, also it is very important that the Police have the tools required because, as you have said yourself, here the main issue and the word in question is respect. I think there has been a loss of respect on our roads, and I think for the Commissioner of Police that is one thing that he is very concerned about and we, as a Government, are very concerned about, as I am sure you are across the floor of the House as well. I think we can see this daily in terms of cars, motorbikes, e-scooters, cyclists, everyone. We see people passing red lights and not waiting for the light to turn red. It is happening more with this rush to get to places when really we live in a town. So again, I think the key thing is respect.

Q464/2022
Legal assistance –
Annual cost to Consolidated Fund

Clerk: Question 464/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

4030 Hon. E J Reyes: What is the total legal assistance cost to the Consolidated Fund in each of the last six years divided by areas of the law – for example, family law?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality, Public Standards and Regulations.

Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the total legal assistance cost to the Consolidated Fund in each of the last six financial years, including the expenditure for the current financial year to date, is as follows: 2016-17, £453,275.01; 2017-18, £514,542.39; 2018-19, £642,880.85; 2019-21, to cover two financial years, £1,098,382.54; 2021-22, £903,117.78; and in the current financial year it is £612,670.94. I am not able to provide the hon. Member with a further breakdown by areas of the law, as this information is not kept in this way by the Supreme Court.

4035 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am going back in my mind for my recollection. I cannot give you a precise date, but I do remember there was some debate internally in the Bar some years ago when we considered the issue of legal assistance reform, and there was some historical work

4040 that divided the legal assistance into practice areas. It may have been because at the time there was some special work done by the Registrar of the Court – or not; I am not sure. But does the Government agree – if they are not collating records at this time, and it may be a complex exercise to go backwards – that it makes sense to try to categorise the work going forward? And if it is a time-consuming exercise to go backwards, perhaps we can go backwards at least slowly, because it would be useful when you plan legal assistance reform. For example, an obvious question that would arise is why the increase in 2021-22? Of course, if the hon. Member does not have a categorisation of the work, it would be impossible to answer that question, but does she agree 4045 that it would be useful to do that?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, indeed, I agree. In fact, I confess that I was surprised to be informed that this breakdown has never been categorised in this way, so needless to say I have already given the instruction that this be done going forward and that we start looking 4050 retrospectively, as and when this is possible, going back. But certainly going forward, this has already commenced.

Hon. K Azopardi: And so it has commenced for future periods, meaning from the next financial year, or from the current financial year going forward? There is no retrospective exercise that the 4055 Minister has commended should commence. Is that right? Have I understood her correctly?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I do not think the hon. Member heard my reply. I said that I have already given the instruction that they commence going forward and that they work on it retrospectively as and when they can. So, as of last week when I realised that this is not being 4060 broken down, I have already asked for it to be broken down in the future as and when they can, and obviously they will start retrospectively with this financial year. As soon as it is possible to have it broken down for this financial year, then it will be. I am hoping that the information, at least for this financial year, will not take that long, but it is obviously a very onerous task because each financial year on average will relate to 250 to 300 submissions of legal assistance bills, so it 4065 is something that is quite laborious and needs to be undertaken properly.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q465/2022
Town Planning Department –
When to be fully staffed

Clerk: Question 465/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

4070 Hon. D J Bossino: When will the Government employ the full complement of staff at the Town Planning Department, to include the Town Planner?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality, Public Standards and Regulations.

4075 Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the recruitment of senior vacant posts, which includes the Town Planner, has already begun and is ongoing. Recruitment for less senior posts can only commence once the recruitment for the senior posts has been finalised.

4080 Hon. D J Bossino: As I understand it, the information I – (Interjection by Hon. Miss S J Sacramento) Is she able to advise ...? The information I have is that the complement has gone down from seven to three. Are those the numbers we are talking about in terms of ...? I think that is the entire complement, excluding the Town Planner.

4085 Secondly, does she know when the process that she has kindly explained to the House is likely to complete and have those positions filled?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, insofar as the complement, the hon. Gentleman will need to look at the Estimates Book, which is where the complement is established. There is no point in us having this debate here. The complement is the complement that was approved by both sides during the Budget debate earlier on this year, so I do not understand the preamble to that supplementary.

4095 In relation to the recruitment, as far as we are concerned, recruitment has commenced and that is an operational matter for the Human Resources Department of the Government. That is not a political matter.

Hon. D J Bossino: Surely, as the Minister in charge you will have an idea of when such an important post as the Town Planner is going to be substantively filled.

4100 I did look at the Budget Book at the time of preparing the question. What I am giving her is information that I have received, information which I can rely on as to the specific numbers. I have asked her to comment, she does not want to, and she takes me to the Budget. What I can tell her is that from my reading of the Budget Book the complement does not change. What I am telling her is how many positions are required to be filled. If she does not want to answer the question, that is up to her, but can I try again? Can she at least give me some indication as to when she thinks at least the Town Planner is going to be appointed on a substantive basis?

4105 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I am the Minister with responsibility for the Civil Service and the Human Resources Department. The practice that we have is that we do not get involved in how a vacancy is filled, because if we did, hon. Members would be telling us that we were interfering with the running of the Civil Service. The involvement that we have is at Budget time, to approve the complement and we approve the complement. The complement is the complement that this House has approved. Now it is up to the Human Resources Department, with the Human Resources Manager and their interaction with the Public Services Commission – which we most certainly do not interfere with – filling the posts. That is a process. If I ventured to suggest that it is going to be done by next month, I would be accused of interfering with the PSC. If we do not, we are told that we are failing in our ministerial responsibilities.

4115 All of us in our respective Departments seek that the Human Resources Department should deal with the vacancies that we have, which are approved and which are in the Book, as soon as possible. There are vacancies all the time; it is normal. There are retirements, there is more than one retirement in one Department etc. People then move up, they act, that creates vacancies. That is the issue we are dealing with. But there is nothing that the Government is doing to impede the filling of the vacancies as soon as possible, in keeping with the Human Resources Department interaction with the Public Services Commission, which is entirely independent of Government, at least whilst we have been in government.

4125 Hon. D J Bossino: Can I ask him about information which came to me, which I certainly found alarming – maybe they do not, because they have a policy decision in relation to this – and give the hon. Members opposite the opportunity to put paid to the information that I have received, which is that there is a company called Wonderworks Media Ltd, which employs individuals and is offering, on hire, employees, 10 in particular in the Department which is impacted by this question. Can he make a comment in relation to that?

4130 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I can confirm that when they were in government during a period when there was a lot of development, they outsourced from the Town Planning

4135 Department some of the work that the Town Planning Department did, to ensure that there were no delays in the DPC. I am not able to give him any information about who and how, but certainly we have said to the Town Planning Department that they can avail themselves of that assistance from the private sector in the period whilst the vacancies are filled, exactly as they did in the time when they were in Government, when they had a problem with the numbers of applications that there were before the DPC and they had a difficulty in the Town Planning Department.

4140

Hon. D J Bossino: What does he refer in particular to outsourcing – if I may ask him that? And secondly, if I may, Mr Speaker, when he talks about the private sector, can he confirm that the company name I gave him is a company which is providing labour to this particular Department?
Wonderworks Media Ltd – the entire ownership of the shares is held, dare I say, once again, by 4145 Community Supplies and Services Ltd. Directors are Giovanni Bagu and Caine Sanchez, both of whom I understand are government civil servants.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, let's be very clear. This is about clearing backlog. We are doing it in exactly the same way they did it when they were in government, so given that he told 4150 us that the things they did should be regarded as a golden legacy, in this respect we are pursuing their golden legacy, which is to say in the period whilst the vacancies are filled, if there is backlog, in particular in relation to issues which relate to building control, if there is backlog in relation to issues for preparation of projects for DPC, we are permitting the Town Planning Department to use the private sector for those purposes to clear the backlog, exactly as they did.

4155 I do not have information about the precise company they are using, whether it is one company or whether it is many companies they are using. I believe that they are using more than one company. From what I know of projects that have come to me, I have seen that there are a number of entities, in particular engineering practices, that are providing this assistance in respect of building control – perfectly proper when they were in government, and something apparently 4160 nefarious now that we are in government. As usual, what was good for that goose is not good for this gander, according to them.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER

Q466-67/2022

Northern Defences refurbishment – Spend since 2014; number of visitors since commencement of works

4165 Clerk: Question 466/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: How much has the Government spent on the refurbishment works in respect of the Northern Defences since 2014?

4170 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 467.

4175 Clerk: Question 467/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: How many visitors have there been to the Northern Defences since the Government started its refurbishment?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

4180

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member will know, the sum spent on the refurbishment of the Northern Defences since 2014 is a matter of public record with the information available in the Approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

4185 The Northern Defences has not formally opened as a tourist site because works are still ongoing. Therefore, there is presently no record of the actual visitor numbers.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can he give me some information as to when he expects the site to be opened to tourists? I am not sure ... I phrased the question as 2014, because I think that is the date when the refurbishment work started. Maybe he can assist me in confirming that, or otherwise, and giving me the precise date as to when the area was refurbished. But can he give me a precise date, and is the opening date in any way going to be impacted by the other works that he mentioned in his Budget speech and was a subject of questions in the last session of the House?

4195 Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, I am told that effectively the date when clearing works actually commenced in earnest was 2016, not 2014. Though it may have been announced and some minor works may have been done, it was around 2016.

4200 The Government is in negotiation with an interested party. The hon. Member may recall that the management of the site in this context was put out to expressions of interest. I believe I am correct when I say there were three entities that replied and the Government is in negotiations with one of them to establish whether we can now formally set up that process of people actually being taken for tours in a formal and organised way – although I have to say the Heritage Trusts, I know, have taken a considerable number of people around.

4205 I am also told that a number of school groups ... for example, today, one of them was there visiting the site. The College of Further Education, which is carrying out work there now as part of a module on tourism and business, their students are regular visitors to the site. So this is not in a tourism context, but it is in terms of people going there and visiting. The other educational establishments – Bishop Fitzgerald School, St Bernard's, St Joseph's, St Anne's – have all gone to visit the site to learn more about the history and what the site actually offers. From overseas, we have had students and professors from University College London also very interested, groups of Danish students from Spain have also come over. NGOs, like I said – the Heritage Trust, the Nautilus Project. Military units – the Royal Engineers, the Royal Gibraltar Regiment, the Scots Guards, the Royal Irish Regiment, all these have been to the sites recently. Employees have also organised visits through their product manager, so we have, for example, Hassans, Bassadone Motors, the Gibraltar International Bank, PriceWaterhouse, Deloitte – all of those have organised visits through my office. And more recently we had the representatives of the American Battle Monuments Commission, who also were able to visit and enjoy what it offers, and Subterranea Britannica. And in June, obviously, His Royal Highness the Earl of Wessex, Prince Edward also visited Gibraltar, accompanied by His Excellency the Governor, myself and the project director, and I am asked to extend a visit to Members of the Opposition if they are interested in visiting.

4215 So the site is obviously open. People are free to go and visit and to walk across. We do not have a formal, official number of tourists because it is not open officially as a tourist site yet.

4225 Hon. D J Bossino: He may have slightly answered the question at the end, but my question was not tourists, it was visitors, and it would have been nice to have had those statistics, given the long list he has just read of people who have visited. My question was about visitors, so I think it would have been appropriate to have included them in a list.

4230 Just so I understand it, I think his initial answer is that the site has not been formally opened for tourists. What is preventing that, given that there was a refurbishment, as he corrected me, in 2016? That is now six years ago. No? Okay. And why is it that it has not been opened, basically for visitors to visit as and when they wish? I understand from what he tells me that that is the position in any event, but for whatever reason I just do not understand why it requires a formal opening. Is it a health and safety issue? Is there an access issue? Should that have been thought of before the refurbishment started? I am not sure.

4235

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, in a tourism context – normally in the context of our surveys, for example – the reference is to visitors, visitor arrivals, how many visitor arrivals by land, visitors by sea. His use of the word ‘visitors’ was taken in that context, but obviously the person who drafted the answer thought they would include more information in terms of visitors in general and not just visitors in the sense of tourism.

4240

I think it is fair to say the Government, from the moment we started work on that site and we took it on board as a project, some of which has been very much welcomed by the Heritage Trust and by the DPC when it went to planning in March, we said very clearly this is going to be a slow process. It may take years or indeed it might even take decades to happen in full – that is to say a full, entire refurbishment of the site.

4245

What has happened so far is that there have been some 11,000 square kilometres – tunnels, vaults, not just flat land, obviously – which have been cleared. There was a huge amount of rubbish – rubble, fridges, washing machines, mattresses and all sorts of utensils – which had been flung over the wall and which appeared on site, so the first task was a huge clearing exercise and that took some time. Bear in mind also that the site is restricted, that access is very difficult and that you cannot just take in three lorries and load. Things have to be done by hand and effectively by wheelbarrow, and Carl Viagas, who is the project director, and the team there have done a fantastic job in making sure that happens.

4250

The hon. Member may recall that in March the planning permission was also given by the DPC to allow the installation of some temporary stairs from Casemates, which allowed access into the site. Those stairs were not available before. The temporary stairs are still in place and people use them. The intention is to replace that with a more permanent, more fitting stone stairway, which is something that is in hand but actually has not happened as yet.

4255

So, to answer his question, the site is open. Tourists can visit. Formal tours organised by the Heritage Trust have happened. It is simply not open in the context of, for example, Moorish Castle, where somebody pays an entrance fee and they go in to visit it. This is open and people have access to it.

4260

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q468/2022

Parliament building refurbishment works – Commencement date and cost

4265 Clerk: Question 468/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide an update as to when the refurbishment works to the Parliament building will commence and what the costs will be.

4270 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

4275 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, works to the Parliament building are expected to commence next week. The estimated cost for the external works is approximately £260,000. It is expected that this will be met by a contribution already agreed with the Parasol Foundation.

4280 Hon. D J Bossino: I am slightly surprised by that answer. The works are going to commence next week, he says. What effect will that have in terms of the sittings of the House expected in December? I think the answer is we will carry on here.

4285 Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, this relates to external works. What they are talking about is developing some kind of scaffolding around the building to allow them to carry out intrusive investigations into the state and condition of the building. It is not something which is expected to interfere with meetings of the House.

4290 Hon. D J Bossino: I think the project envisages some internal works, not necessarily to the Chamber but from the meetings that some of us have had in his office when he has explained to us, now some years ago, that it will have an effect on the antechamber and, I think, where the cafeteria used to be. Can he confirm that that understanding is correct? He is nodding his head – for the sake of the Hansard.

In terms of the cost, which he has spelt out as £260,000 – and that is only in respect, I assume, of the external works, I think his answer was – can he give us information as to what contribution the Parasol Foundation is going to be making to that?

4295 Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Yes, Mr Speaker, £260,000 in respect of the external works. Then, as he rightly says, there are different phases – so this is not something which will happen all at once, there will be phases – and the next phase after that would be probably the installation of the internal lift. I think the works they want to do at the beginning will establish exactly the order and the speed with which everything else will follow.

4300 Hon. D J Bossino: The entirety of the cost is going to be met by the Parasol Foundation?

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: In relation to the external works, yes.

4305 Hon. D J Bossino: And in relation to the internal works?

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: We have not yet got to a detailed costing and design of those external works, so we will need to produce that first before we can take a decision on how to proceed with them.

4310 The hon. Member may recall that there is an entry, if I remember correctly, in the I&D in respect of the actual lift phase of the project, but we need to see whether we actually get to the stage where we do that, or not.

4315 Hon. D J Bossino: Does he expect that to start and commence within the remaining lifetime of this Parliament?

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: The way it was described to me is that really depends on what they find when they start the external works, and that may or may not delay everything else.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

4320 Hon. K Azopardi: Sorry. Can I just ask on this, so that we are understanding the scope of the works? Are the works that are being considered, the internal works, the same as the hon. Member consulted us on, or are these different works that we are talking about?

4325 Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member will recall that we met in 2021, I think it was, when we gave them copies of the document on the internal designs that were being proposed. There were some alterations which they suggested, which were incorporated in future designs, but they were not anything which we could not take account of. Those designs went to Planning and received full planning permission in March of this year. Those are the internal works that we are talking about, so it is the entirety of the internal structure of the building, including the ground 4330 floors. This, as I said, is something that would happen in phases as the funding is made available and as the external works determine.

Hon. K Azopardi: The hon. Member will recall our conversation when I said to him that those works were only meaningful if there was then reform of the practices of the House, so perhaps he 4335 can take that also on board and I would invite him to do so.

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, yes, the hon. Member did say that, but that is a different debate, I think.

4340 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q469-70/2022
National Archives –
Plans to increase access; permanent exhibition space

Clerk: Question 469/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what plans are there to increase public, physical and online 4345 access to our National Archives?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together
4350 with Question 470.

Clerk: Question 470/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, does the Government intend to create a space to allow some of 4355 the so far temporary exhibitions on local history organised by the National Archives to be on permanent exhibition?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, yes. The intention of the Government remains to use Duke of 4360 Kent House for this purpose in relation to the exhibitions.

There are plans to provide a larger reading room at the new, expanded archives at Duke of Kent House. In addition to this, the Government will continue with the digitisation programme, which has seen more information provided online, already, than ever before.

4365 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, does the hon. Member have some kind of timescale for the Duke of Kent project? It has been talked about for some time. Obviously people do have access to the archives on request at the moment, but it would be much more useful and it would be a great resource for this community if people could have a place they could go to, to do their research.

4370 Secondly, Duke of Kent House for exhibitions strikes me as ... From the last time I went there, it does not strike me as a building that is big enough to host a lot of these exhibitions. There have been quite a number of these exhibitions, and I have to say they have been excellent, but it would be good to just keep those alive because I think it could be quite a tourist focus if we could find somewhere where you could locate these things.

4375 Hon. Dr J J Garcia: Mr Speaker, yes, I agree. The archivist and his team, and indeed the volunteers, have done a fantastic job with all the exhibitions that have taken place. I always felt myself, as the Government, that these needed a permanent home and I think in our manifesto we set out that we would like that home to be Duke of Kent House. It is actually much bigger than it looks from the outside because there are several levels to it and there are some behind also in a courtyard. It is all that area that we are looking at, which is half of that patio, if you like.

4380 Obviously, the more information you have online, the less people will need to go there in person. I accept at the moment there is a kind of dual arrangement. There is an arrangement where people make an appointment and they turn up at the archives. That is mainly exercised by people who come from outside Gibraltar, researchers or whatever who are going to be here for a limited period of time. And then there are others, mainly the people who usually make use of the archives, and there are some of them too, regulars, who simply turn up, so it may be that somebody turns up one day and there is no space because it is occupied by people who have appeared before them. When I asked for figures they told me that there are about 400 people – and they keep a record – who attend in person every year. That, if you remove weekends, would be one to two persons a day. There are six places where people can sit properly and comfortably and conduct their research. The intention is that the Duke of Kent facility will at least double those, with space available in other rooms in case it becomes necessary.

4390 As I said at the beginning, the more there is online, the less people need to turn up in person, but there are, I am told, at the moment, 8.59 terabytes of material online, which sounds huge to me. That includes population records of the civil population from 1301 to 1921. It includes military records. It includes all the evacuation section, which allows people to search for names, whether they were embarked on certain vessels and where they went and all the rest of it – surnames by ships, by addresses and by destination. There is also the video in honour of Her late Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, with parts of the exhibition that was used at that time. The Centennial City Council is also available online. The oldest document held at the archives, which is something called the Acta de Cabildo 1577 – an actual document – is also available online. People do not need to touch it or access it in any other way because it is already there. General Bland's Court of Inquiry of 1749 is all there and a 1911 Gibraltar film, the history of the Archives itself, the Referendum of 1967, a collection of vintage images, a timeline, the 50th anniversary of the Archives. The Victory in Europe, World War II, 1945 is also there. An exhibition on the closure of the Frontier can be viewed online as well. The 40th anniversary of the Falkland Islands exhibition can also be viewed online, and the ability to register as a member and get a history card which allows you to access the archives and then to have your favourites listed on that section is also available online. There is also a huge amount of statistics as well, which I will not go into.

4400 In terms of what comes next, which I think was actually his question, the priority plan, I am told, now is to digitise 18th and 19th-century records and collections, so that is 1700s and 1800s, all the local press that they hold at the Gibraltar National Archives. They also want to digitise that as the next step. That answers the question, Mr Speaker.

Adjournment

4415 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, what an excellent and historic note on which to seek to now recess the House until tomorrow at three o'clock in the afternoon, where I can give hon. Members an indication that my intention is to take, of course, my questions first – three o'clock on the third Thursday of the month – and then deal with questions to the Minister for the Environment and the Minister for Economic Stability and the Savings Bank.

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Thursday, 24th November at 3 p.m.

4425 I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Thursday, 24th November at 3 p.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

This House will now adjourn to Thursday, 24th November at 3 p.m.

The House adjourned at 9.54 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 3 p.m. – 6.25 p.m.

Gibraltar, Thursday, 24th November 2022

Contents

Questions for Oral Answer	3
Chief Minister	3
Q509/2022 Company Tax – Amount collected in September 2022	3
Q510-11/2022 Treasury rent and service charges – Breakdown of estimated costs for 2022-23; rationale and how rental income used by Government-owned companies.....	4
Q512/2022 Company COVID charge – Whether abandoned.....	11
Q513/2022 Legal claims settled at over £50,000 against Government, its agencies or companies – Number settled in last six years	13
Q514/2022 Housing estates – Whether instruction given to clean in advance of Chief Minister’s visits	14
Q515 and Q519/2022 Hassan Centenary Terraces, Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views – Number of units unallocated; estimated construction cost.....	17
Q516-18/2022 Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views – Number of purchasers wishing to discontinue purchases; reason for purchase agreements not yet being signed; whether advertised purchase price to increase;.....	17
Q520-21/2022 Public counter services – List of Government providers, including opening hours; list of those not providing	23
Q522/22 Extension of reciprocal healthcare arrangements with Spain and the EU – Progress	31
Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education	34
Q471-72/2022 Gibraltar College of Further Education – Students registered as Year 12 and Year 13 equivalent	34

Q473/2022 Special Educational Needs and Disabilities – Reconciliation of totals given in answer to W30/2022	35
Q474/2022 Pearson BTEC Level 3 in Music Performance – Reason why not delivered on school or College premises	37
Q475/2022 Dropping off and collecting children from non-school premises – Alternatives offered to parents	39
Q476/2022 Vandalism on school premises – Updates re efforts to curtail.....	40
Q477/2022 Speech therapy facilities – Availability in Government schools	41
Q478/2022 Repayment of scholarships for uncompleted courses – Updated details	42
Q479/2022 Vacant teaching posts – Details	49
Q480/2022 Greenhouse Gas City Inventory 2020 – Expected date of publication	51
Q481/2022 Renewable energy – Gibraltar’s share	51
Q482/2022 Commonwealth and Champion Parks – Smoke-free designation	53
Q483/2022 Walk the Wall project – Progress.....	53
Q484/2022 Upper Rock – Measures to protect against fire	54
Q485-86/2022 COP27 – Government attendance; implementation of recommendations ..	55
Q487/2022 St Mary’s School – Signing of underlease and financial terms	56
Adjournment	60
The House adjourned at 6.25 p.m.	60

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 3 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S C Galliano Esq in attendance]

Questions for Oral Answer

CHIEF MINISTER

Q509/2022

Company Tax –

Amount collected in September 2022

Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Thursday, 24th November 2022.

We continue with Answers to Questions. Question 509/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

5 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise the amount of Company Tax collected in the month of September 2022?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

10 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, a total of £42.5 million was collected in Company Tax in the month of September 2022. This information is now available on the Government website.

15 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Chief Minister for that answer. Does he have any concerns about the level of Corporate Tax paid in September of this year, compared to the prior year?

20 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, in the prior year the figure was £42.3 million in that same collection period, in September 2020 it had been £69 million, which was a high figure, but in September 2019 it had been £27.3 million.

25 Hon. R M Clinton: Sorry, Mr Speaker, I seem to have a different number for last year. I have a number of about £63.3 million. Is there something I am missing? Or perhaps this number has been amalgamated with the following month ... I cannot see. I do identify the £27.3 million for 1920. I see £69 million for 2021 and £63.3 million for 2021-22.

30 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the figure that I have is £27.3 million for 2019, which is the figure I gave him – and I am going back to the numbers – the £69 million that I gave him for 2020 and the £42.3 million that I gave him for 2022. I do not know whether the figure he has for 2021 is the full-year figure or an amalgamated figure for that year, or the February figure, which is sometimes higher.

35 The question he asked me was whether I had concerns. I am told by the Commissioner of Income Tax that we expect to be on target for the amount estimated. That is his concern and, as he knows, the figures tend to come in ... Principally February and September are important months in terms of how the spread usually happens, but in the context of how the whole year is likely to develop I am still being advised that we expect to be on target.

40 The question he has asked me is for September 2022. I have actually been given a figure also for October 2022 – if he is interested in having that, I can let him have it – which is £36.37 million.
For example, Mr Speaker, the number I gave for 2020 was £69 million for September, but that was followed by £4 million in October and nothing in November – just £¼ million in November – so, as he can see, the figures ebb and flow depending on the end of year. In 2019, the figure had been £27 million in September, £34 million in October and £1 million in November. So the indication is that the annual collection is expected not to deviate materially from the estimates we set out in the Estimates Book.

Q510-11/2022

Treasury rent and service charges –
Breakdown of estimated costs for 2022-23;
rationale and how rental income used by Government-owned companies

45 Clerk: Question 510/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, further to Q392/2022 can the Government provide a similar schedule giving the breakdown of £10,700,000 of the estimated office rent and service charges for the Treasury Department for the year 2022-23, detailing the same information but identifying 50 the lessor and grouping the information into (a) Government-owned lessors with a subtotal and
(b) private sector lessors with a subtotal?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

55 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): I will answer this question together with Question 511.

Clerk: Question 511/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

60 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise what is the economic rationale for previously public buildings to be rented from Government-owned companies – for example, GAR Ltd – by the Treasury Department at a built-increase of 3% per annum for 20 years; and what are these companies doing with the money, estimated at around £9 million per annum?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

65 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, in relation to Question 510, I now hand over a schedule with the information requested by the hon. Gentleman.

Answer to Q510/2022

ANSWER TO QUESTION 511

ANSWER TO QUESTION 510

Private Sector Lessors	Rent	Ground Rent	Service Charges	Lessor
323 Main Street	£ 109,584.80	-	-	Southport Properties Ltd
Blake House	£ 67,424.12	£ 432.26	£ 1,896.40	Barnsbury Properties Limited
Leanse Place	£ 223,780.00	-	£ 59,214.96	Ryhall Limited
Unit 35, 71 & 72 New Harbours	-	-	£ 11,683.44	Land Property Services Ltd
World Trade Centre	£ 193,709.20	£ 939.60	£ 22,837.28	World Trade Center Services Ltd
Suite 6, 57/63 Line Wall Road	£ 123,858.00	-	£ 19,004.00	Gibcorp Limited
Suite E, Regal House	£ 87,696.00	-	£ 7,018.00	MB Development Company Ltd.
Eurotowers, Europort Road	£ 28,647.36	-	£ 2,239.68	Bentley Eurosuites Limited
John Mackintosh Hall	£ 125,000.00	-	-	Pyrmont Ltd
ICC Units 9.7, 9.8 & 9.3a	£ 79,798.52	-	£ 11,637.28	Bari Properties Limited

Government Owned Lessors	Rent	Ground Rent	Service Charges	Lessor
206-210 Main Street (Gibraltar Savings Bank)	£ 430,669.41	-	-	GSBA LTD
14 Governor's Parade & Library Street (DSS)	£ 63,861.97	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
37 Town Range (Environmental Agency)	£ 125,965.29	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
331 Main Street (Income Tax)	£ 173,029.26	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 35 Harbours Deck (Treasury)	£ 26,300.45	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 61 Harbours Deck (Technical Services)	£ 13,842.32	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 69 Harbours Deck (Health Authority)	£ 17,995.03	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 71 & 72 Harbours Walk (Treasury)	£ 47,063.97	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 75 - 79 Harbours Walk (Employment)	£ 171,644.99	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 83 - 86 Harbours Walk (Human Resources)	£ 119,044.13	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 87 & 90 Harbours Walk (Technical Services)	£ 54,677.22	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 91 Harbours Walk (Department of Environment)	£ 16,610.52	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 93 Harbours Walk (Procurement)	£ 40,142.77	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
Unit 99 Harbours Walk (Car Parks)	£ 33,221.61	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
32 John Mackintosh Square (City Hall)	£ 377,365.97	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
23 Queensway (Education)	£ 214,556.25	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
16 Governors Parade (Social Agency)	£ 173,029.26	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
31 Town Range (Buildings and Works Department)	£ 89,975.18	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
16 Europa Flats (Bleak House)	£ 228,398.61	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
12-14 Library Street (ITLD)	£ 141,827.21	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
40 Town Range (Ex Department of Education)	£ 163,339.61	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
1 Johnstones Passage (Care Agency)	£ 91,238.98	-	-	GCP INVESTMENTS LTD
11 Cathedral Square (Duke of Kent House)	£ 129,527.23	-	-	GAR LTD
19 Cemetery Road (Offices - Stores & Mess Room)	£ 10,491.71	-	-	GAR LTD
6 Convent Place (Government Offices)	£ 313,694.26	-	-	GAR LTD
10 Governor's Lane (Ombudsman)	£ 113,336.33	-	-	GAR LTD
104 Main Street (Post Office)	£ 224,082.15	-	-	GAR LTD
4 North Mole Road (Port)	£ 97,514.55	-	-	GAR LTD
31 Rosia Road (Police Headquarters)	£ 563,536.75	-	-	GAR LTD
32B Rosia Road (Offices & Store - Nelsons Anchorage)	£ 53,588.00	-	-	GAR LTD
2 Secretary's Lane (Joshua Hassans House)	£ 272,007.21	-	-	GAR LTD
2 Winston Churchill Avenue (Customs Office)	£ 135,589.10	-	-	GAR LTD
21 Hospital Ramp (Ex-St Bernards Hospital)	£ 2,249,176.59	-	-	GAR LTD
Winston Churchill Avenue (Old Airport Terminal)	£ 176,714.15	-	-	GAR LTD
32 - 36 Town Range (Law Courts)	£ 1,344,008.67	-	-	GAR LTD
18 Windmill Hill House (H.M. Prison)	£ 1,019,111.60	-	-	GAR LTD

The rationale that the hon. Gentleman asked about was established by Members opposite when in government. The current Government has continued the practice, which was established from 2010, of reflecting public buildings in Government-owned companies, as this allows the Government to keep a record of properties, as these are not otherwise reflected in the annual accounts of the Government. This practice, which the GSD established and we continued, allows the companies to charge rent for the premises and therefore generate income for the companies to repay the costs of building or purchasing any assets. The 3% increase set into the rates is to combat annual inflation, although obviously this year the rate of inflation is higher.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful, first of all, for the schedule requested under Question 510, but unfortunately there does not seem to be a subtotal. Obviously, I can add up myself, but it means I cannot really talk intelligently about the total amount under Government-owned lessors as opposed to private sector lessors. I think, just glancing at the schedule, we can see that the bulk of the £10.7 million rent and service charges seems to be going to Government-owned lessors. Most of these agreements which have been signed, and in fact continue to be signed by the Government have the 3% inbuilt but compounded for 20 years. If, as the Government is saying, the money is going to the companies to be used for ... I cannot remember the exact word he used, but something to do with capital ... Yes.

Hon. Chief Minister: To help him, just to read that bit of the sentence again: to generate income for the companies to repay the costs of building or purchasing any assets.

Hon. R M Clinton: Right, so we pay the cost of building or purchasing. Again, from my own calculations, all I did was look at those properties that had had a 3% compounded increase between 2018-19 and 2022-23. Of course, in the private sector I think we would find it extremely rare that any lessee would agree to those terms – 3% compounded for 20 years. I think any lessor would be lucky to get those kinds of terms.

I guess what I am trying to get at is nine million quid a year – on a general estimate, when I can eventually arrive and the right number when the schedule is added up – is a lot of money, and looking at the actual ... at least one example of registered deeds, one deed that is registered, the Government is responsible for maintenance of the buildings anyway, so what you have is an outflow of money for rent going to these various Government companies – GAR, GCP etc. – increasing by 3% every year. Unfortunately, I do not have sight as to what GAR or GCP are doing with this money. If we had published accounts, I would not be bothering the House with this type of question.

I have one question which might perhaps answer as to the purpose, or where this money is going, in terms of what it is being used for in practice. The annual housing allowances paid to Gibraltar Capital Assets Ltd. – which in 2018 was £10.4 million, in 2019 was £10.7 million and in 2020 was £11 million – seem to increase by 3% every year, each time. My question is: is the relationship between the money that is being paid on the rental of Government properties to Government companies being used towards the annual housing allowances paid to Gibraltar Capital Assets Ltd?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, let me start by saying that the hon. Member's question talks about previously public buildings. To the extent that the buildings are in companies owned by the Government, they remain public. They are not alienated to a private landlord, they remain public ownership through Government companies, so I would not accept the hon. Gentleman seeking to characterise the buildings as being anything other than still held for the public, although through a company structure.

The hon. Gentleman has to remember that there are different types of contract in the private sector. He said you would never get, in the private sector, this type of contract. Well, you might not get a contract with a 3% compounded interest rate, but you might get increases in rent which exceed 3%. What the hon. Gentleman will know is that in the private sector, many clauses on rent are upwards-only rent reviews, and the rent reviews operate on the basis of reviews every three years or every seven years and the increase can amount to an increase which would be more than, for example, 21% over seven years, or it can increase by more than 9% if it is over three years. That is to say if you check your rental agreement and you review the rent after three years, in many instances it may go up by more than 9% after three years. I am surprised that the hon. Gentleman thinks that is not the case. I have acted for many landlords where the rent has increased by more than 10% over three years, and therefore that is not unusual.

The hon. Gentleman is right to say that the 3% increase is the same increase as was provided for in the investment by a number of entities that invested into the public housing estates, because we told him. He came to my office and we gave him a presentation and told him that was how we had fixed the increases on an annual basis. But why was that fixed in that way? Well, looking at the amount that had to be repaid and looking at inflation over periods where sometimes it can spike, sometimes it can be low, the average agreed, which would be agreeable to all parties, was 3%. That is why it was agreed at 3% there. For that reason, when we have started to look at these arrangements, which they put in place and we are formalising, we have provided for the same increases per annum.

The hon. Members will know that one of the issues between us has been the amount of cost in the company structure of the Government and how you get cash into the company structure of 140 the Government – in particular, where the Government companies do not produce income in their interface with the public, with third parties. The Bus Company is one that we have discussed before. The Bus Company is part of the company structure. The Bus Company has expenses, but the income which the Bus Company has is very low compared to its expenses. From memory, I 145 seem to recall we discussed, during the course of the Budget debate, costs in the region of £9 million to £10 million a year to run the Government Bus Company and income of less than ... I was going to say less than £1 million, but about £350,000. So, the wider Government structure requires an injection of capital from the Government from the taxpayers' pool in some way.

150 Insofar as the Government company structure requires that injection of capital in an unmitigated fashion, then at the end of the year there has to be an adjustment to provide that income to the Government structure of companies, which we inherited from them, as the hon. Members may recall, in 2011 with what I called a black hole of £100 million. That is to say there were liabilities in the Government company structure of £100 million, which were unfunded. So what we are doing through these structures, which they established and we are continuing to put in place, is to ensure that there is income into the Government company structure – in particular, in respect of those Government companies that relate to companies where we have had cost.

155 I want to be clear that when we have transferred assets into the Government company structure we have done it in the way that we have been advised is the proper way to do it – and I think the hon. Member would agree. That is to transfer assets at value on to the Government corporate structure, whilst at the time that they did it ... the one thing we have not pursued which they did was that they transferred Government property into the Government corporate structure at nil value. So we have enhanced the structure and we have ensured that the costs that the 160 Government companies have – in particular the cost of building and the cost of acquiring assets etc. – is being provided for by creating this injection of capital on a regular basis through the payment of rent, which rent increases by 3% a year.

165 Mr Speaker, I hope that is helpful to the hon. Gentleman and that it helps to further elucidate these issues. He said he does not have the accounts of GAR and GCP investments, but he will. They are in the process of being finalised and as soon as they are finalised he will be able to obtain them from Companies House in the usual way.

170 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Chief Minister for his answer. I will reserve comment about what is a normal rental clause since I am not a lawyer and I have no real expertise in negotiating leases. But it is a curious trait of all of these leases with Government companies that they all go up by 3% and for a period of 20 years. I do not know why 20 years.

Hon. Chief Minister: Will you give way?

175 Hon. R M Clinton: Yes, of course.

180 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, there is a reason for that. It would be a curious trait perhaps, if you were dealing with different landlords and different lessors in the private sector, to find that pattern, but here you are dealing with one landlord, who is also the owner of all of the lessor companies, and therefore it would be fictitious to have one at 2.5%, one at 3.5% and another one at 3% when what you want to achieve is that you are growing the income into the Government company structure through the rents by an average of 3% a year, so that you are getting the rent and the increases and you are creating that cash in the company structure. There is no magic to the pattern, other than you are dealing always with the same party and counterparty.

185 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I think we can take that as read. A trait is a trait. They all have the same 3% increase. That is all I was saying.

I have not heard yet whether this money is going towards the annual housing allowance that is paid to Gibraltar Capital Assets Ltd, which is being used to pay what I call a mortgage, what he 190 calls an investment of £300 million the housing estates. I would be grateful if the Chief Minister could advise whether any element of this is going towards that.

I would remind the Chief Minister, when he talks about the Bus Company, that when we had that conversation in this place we were talking about the contribution from the Consolidated Fund to Government-owned companies in the region of, in the past, £25 million, now in the region of 195 £30 million. So it is in the context of that.

I did not expect to find, looking in the expenditure of the Treasury Department, under a head called 'Rents and Service Charges' what he is now describing to us as a contribution to the running costs of Government companies across the board. I would have expected, in all honesty, although we disagree as to the contribution element in the Consolidated Fund, that that is where the money 200 should have appeared. If an extra £10 million was needed to fund Government-owned companies, it should have come from there, but not described as rent and service charges under the Treasury Department.

I would ask the Chief Minister another question, and that is what would happen if these rental agreements were terminated? What would happen if these companies did not get the cash? What 205 would be the consequence? Is there something at the end that is sucking up this kind of money, which is contractually required? If a future government came in and said, 'This is not actually achieving anything because all you are doing is moving money out of the Consolidated Fund into Government companies. Why don't we just do it directly from the Consolidated Fund and describe it as such?' ...

210
Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, these contracts will not be terminated unless the Government decides that they should be, because we are both sides here. As I said, we are the landlord and we are the lessor, and the only way that this could happen is if a future Government makes a decision to pursue a different structure. But let's be clear, it would be a little remarkable 215 if the future Government that were to change the structure were the Government that we inherited it from. In other words, we inherit this from the GSD, we continue it and we enhance it because we do not believe that it is right to have a continually growing black hole in the Government companies and we want to do something about addressing that. If what he is saying is that he would go back to a situation where he would either reduce this or he would undo it completely and he would completely fund the companies in a one-off payment from the 220 Consolidated Fund ... It is another way of doing it, there is no difficulty, but it is a very large amount of money to pay in one swoop. In other words, by doing it in this way we are further structuring the amounts that are provided by the companies and we are providing it in a measured monthly way, so that that kitty builds and you do not have to do the adjustment at the end of the year. I think it is just different ways of doing the same thing. Let's just use some random figures. If the 225 liability in the companies is £50 million, you either, at the end of the financial year, give the companies £50 million, or, through the year, give the companies enough money through the rental that we are discussing and reduce the amount that they need to have – sorry, rather you grow the amount that the Government has to give them.

230 So it is, in our view, two ways of achieving the same thing. I do not think that much should turn on it. There is not a third party that can come in here and terminate these arrangements; it is the Government on both sides. The hon. Gentleman's question was is this being used to fund the £300 million investment, which he calls a mortgage. The answer is no, that is not funded from here. If it is helpful to him, there is a clear answer there. The question was yes or no: the answer
235 is no. I hope that that is helpful to him and I hope that he can further consider what his policy position is, now that he has the information.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Chief Minister, but if I could just say that his rationale for funding Government companies in this way is, from an accounting point of view, 240 somewhat simplistic, in that he seems to suggest that the £30 million that is funded to the Government-owned companies goes in one lump sum at the end of the year. I would find it hard to believe that that is the case. And to suggest that putting some money aside every month or every year is easier, again I find that to be trying to stretch my imagination somewhat.

245 But anyway, if I can ask the Chief Minister to recognise one point: when he says, 'I inherited this,' he may remember that some time back, when I asked about a large property transaction with GAR Ltd where some properties to the value of about £40.2 million were transferred into it by this Government, I asked him where did the money come from and he said, 'I do not really know.' But if we were to look at the schedules to these properties, apart from any new property transferred into GCP, there was actually a second schedule which showed that there were existing 250 leases created dating back to 1st March 2013, which is fairly squarely in the term of this Government. So to say that he has inherited this picture is to somewhat, perhaps, exaggerate it, because if we were to do the exercise of going through every single property on this list, I would venture to suggest that the vast majority are during the term of his Government.

I think we are going to have to agree to disagree as to (1) is this a logical way to fund the 255 companies, and (2) I still do not know where the money is going. Perhaps, Mr Speaker, I could ask the Chief Minister when the accounts of GAR and GCP – and especially GSBA I am very interested in – are produced, if he could give us the full accounts and not just the balance sheet, because he knows, as I know, the important thing for me is the P&L. I would like to know how the money is spent. The balance sheet would not tell me that. Would he at least commit to giving Members of 260 this House the full accounts and not just the balance sheet?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I did not pretend that they had put all of these properties into these companies. I told him that we had continued the practice that we had inherited from them and we had added more. I was very clear about that in what I have said. If he does not 265 believe me, he should look at what GCP did. GCP, in December 2010 – when we were not in government, we were in opposition – took a loan of £20 million and transferred a considerable number of properties into GCP. The Government then transferred a considerable number of properties into GCP at no consideration, which I believe was not the correct way to do it. That is why I have told him that when we have done it, we have done it at real value. I believe he will 270 agree with me that it makes sense, when you are transferring property into a company, to transfer it at real value, not at nil value. That is what I said we were doing differently to what they were doing, but they established the principle of putting property into companies and paying rent to that company for the property that otherwise belongs to the Government, to pay the liabilities that that company had incurred to develop property. That was Gibraltar Car Parks Ltd. We have 275 had this debate a number of times in this House.

What the Government wants to do as we further develop this structure is to ensure that we match liabilities to the income of the company so that we better provide for the income that the company receives as rent from the Government against the liabilities of those companies, something that I am sure he will also think is prudent in the context of pursuing the way that the 280 GSD set up this company structure for the Government to pay rent to itself through a Government structure and in that way provide for the liabilities of the Government companies.

Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman says that I am stretching his imagination. Well, there must be many more things in life than are alive in his imagination, as was said to Horatio in one of the great Shakespeare plays, because the reality is that this is not a structure that Ministers or I have 285 devilishly one morning come up with. It is the advice from Government accountants that this is a good way of ensuring that we are providing for the liabilities of the companies. Indeed, it must have been the advice that they had – I do not know whether he was advising then Government – because other than the transfer of the properties at nil value, which we do not do and we are told was not the right way to do it, and the transfer at full value, I think we are continuing exactly the 290 same thing that we inherited, and that is clear.

As for the accounts, this Government will continue to publish the accounts of the companies. We are now in the process of, I think, having published many of them with very few still left to go, and we will ensure that we comply with the law in this respect, something which the previous administration did not do. In case people have forgotten this part of the debate, hon. Members, when they were in opposition, used to say that it was terrible, first of all, that there was a Government company structure, and second, that the Government companies did not publish accounts. True to their word, in 1997, a year after they were elected, they published the Government company accounts for some of the companies but not all of them, and after 1997 they put their money where their mouth was and they legislated to make it a legal requirement that every company in Gibraltar should publish their accounts. But what they did not do was publish the accounts of the Government companies, ever, after 1997. That is to say they went to an election saying they were going to undo the company structure, and in fact they grew the company structure. They went to an election saying they would publish the Government company accounts and they published them in some instances once and in some instances never. They then required by law that this should be done by everyone in our economy and the trades in this jurisdiction using a company, and then promptly failed to comply with their own law.

We will comply with the law and we will file the company accounts, and those that are left will be finished – and I hope they will all be finished very soon, Mr Speaker.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, with your indulgence – I appreciate it may be getting a bit tedious – I do not want to go into a debate about filing of accounts, but when he says, ‘I will do what is required by the law,’ he knows that some of these companies probably have no employees, or very low turnover, and will file, as required by law, an abbreviated sets of accounts, which may be just a balance sheet. I am asking him to produce the full accounts. Would he commit to this House to provide the full accounts, not to Companies House but to this House?

And finally, he says, ‘We are paying money to the companies so they can pay the liabilities.’ Perhaps he could give us an idea of what are the liabilities of GAR Ltd?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I think the hon. Gentleman either does not want to understand what I am saying to him or simply wants to ask me again. I have given him an answer about what accounts we are going to publish. We are going to publish the accounts that are filed with Companies House and required by law. That is what we are going to publish. Full stop. We are not going to publish anything else. (Interjection) They did not publish anything. We will take a huge step forward for this community in transparency and accountability, in complying with the law and ensuring that everything that the companies have to file by law will be published.

He says, ‘Now give me everything – give me the guts of the company, give me every single part of the P&L,’ and when they were in government they did not even publish the parts that the law requires that they publish. The hon. Gentleman will forgive me for saying that there is something that smells of political hypocrisy about the position the GSD take. That is why I explained to him that when they were in opposition they said they would undo the company structure; when they were in government they grew the company structure. When they were in opposition, as they are now, they said they would publish the company accounts; when they were in government they failed to publish the company accounts. Then they made it a legal requirement to publish company accounts (Hon. R M Clinton: Repetition.) and they promptly failed to comply with their own rules.

Mr Speaker, if the hon. Gentleman is going to get up and say ‘repetition’, before we have any adverse effect on his health can I just remind him this is not Just a Minute, this is Parliament, and if the hon. Gentleman has not understood what I have told him, then I am going to repeat it.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, finally – (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) Yes, but I asked a simple question – ‘Are you going to give me the full accounts?’ – and I have had my answer. The answer is no. My second question was what are the liabilities of GAR.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, to give him an answer which I can assure the House is accurate, I would need notice of that question. The question that we are dealing with does not, for one moment, lead to what the liabilities of GAR are, and in this moment I do not have the 350 details. I can tell him the amounts that I do know GAR is paying, but that would not be a complete list. For example, the cost of building HM Prison and the Law Courts was put through GAR and the rent is used to pay for the costs of the building and renovation of the Prison and the Law Courts. GAR was also used to purchase a number of properties from third party entities, including the Queen's Cinema, the Queen's Hotel, Britannia House and No. 1 Jetty, so the rent on non-vacant properties is used to repay the cost of those purchases, but I am not confident that those are all the liabilities of GAR and I would not want it to be said that I have inadvertently misled the House by suggesting that those are all of the liabilities of GAR. Those are the liabilities of GAR that I have with me today.

355

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Hon. R M Clinton: Do I have [inaudible]

360

Mr Speaker: The question must flow from what –

Hon. R M Clinton: – he has just said.

Mr Speaker: Okay, but just a very short question, and we will require a very short answer to it.

365

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Chief Minister for what he has just said, but the implication is that there are capital transactions going through these entities which obviously – and I am happy to be corrected – have never appeared through the Improvement and Development Fund. Is that correct?

370

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not think that the hon. Gentleman has discovered America. If something goes through the company structure, it does not go through the Improvement and Development Fund. That is how they used to do it; that is how we have continued to do it. Gibraltar Car Parks, for example, did not go through the Improvement and Development Fund because they put it in a company in 2010. They put assets of the Government, government buildings, into Gibraltar Car Parks Ltd at no value in 2010. They took a loan from Barclays Bank, I think at 6%, in 2010 and they funded it through there; it did not go through the Improvement and Development Fund. So the hon. Gentleman is really asking me a question that is clearly established by the structure that we inherited from them.

375

Mr Speaker: Next question.

380

Q512/2022
Company COVID charge –
Whether abandoned

Clerk: Question 512/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

385

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm that it has abandoned the introduction of the £25 per week company COVID charge announced in the Chief Minister's 2022 Budget speech?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

390 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, this continues on hold whilst the Government meets with various representatives of the business sector.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, if I can ask the Chief Minister: can he give the House an indication of how much he had hoped to raise with this tax at the time he announced it at the Budget session?
395

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I could give him that indication, but it would not necessarily be rocket science because you are just multiplying the number of companies on the register by the amount of the weekly charge.
400

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask the Chief Minister ...? I think he said in his original answer that it was still subject to the discussions he was having. How many meetings has he held with representative organisations, and who is he consulting specifically on the issue?

405 Hon. Chief Minister: I have held a handful of meetings already. Mr Isola has held a number of meetings as well. We are consulting with those who represent trust and company managers in particular, and we are consulting with the wider business community.

Hon. K Azopardi: The Chief Minister will know that there was some concern voiced quite soon after the measure was announced, which caused the Minister for Financial Services to come to this House and, in his own Budget contribution, make the announcement that indeed the measure would be – I am not taking a word from his speech, but for want of a better word – ‘suspended’ until there was representation, and the Chief Minister will be aware there is concern in the industry out there at the significant effect that such a charge would have. Will the Chief Minister bear in mind that concern? In particular, I am sure he shares the view that it is important to give clarity to the industry going forward, so that the Government lands on the issue, one way or the other, relatively soon. Does he agree with that?
410
415

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I obviously agree with that. I do not know whether he is just getting up to make the statement so that people hear him saying it, because although he is saying it, I am the one doing it. I am the one who has not given effect to the measure because of the concerns that have been expressed to us. I am the one who has listened to the concerns and does not want to push people over the edge. I am the one who wants to make sure that we continue to help businesses in Gibraltar. I am the one who is doing what we can do in not proceeding with the measure at this stage to give the clarity that people need, and we are looking to try to ensure that we do not have to go down this route if it has a materially adverse effect on business in Gibraltar, as some suggest to us that it does.
420
425

We are working to help the business community to get out of COVID, as we helped the business community in COVID, and what we are trying to do is avoid the business community being used as a political football and deal with this issue under the radar in a proper way and in a way that delivers the result that will ensure the greater prosperity of all sectors that rely on the corporate register in Gibraltar, in particular the trust and company managers.
430

Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, Mr Speaker, he is the one who is consulting the industry, he is the one who is sitting down with them and he is the one who can take the credit for rowing back on the measure, but he is also the one who came up with the brilliant idea and announced it, and all I am saying ...
435

On this side of the House we are elected to also express concerns, so that the Government is aware of those issues. I am sure the Government is also aware. He says he is aware. It is four months after the Budget. It is appropriate and in the public interest for us to raise the issue with the hon. Member because the industry also speaks to us and wants clarity. That is the issue that we are bringing to his attention. That is why we ask him again to consider the issue and give clarity, and I am glad he agrees with that in his remarks.
440

445 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has just got up and given a speech at Question Time, which is really, frankly, unacceptable, and what he is going to get from me is to say it is all very good that he gets up now and says that, but in his Budget reply to me he did not express concerns. (Hon. K Azopardi: I did.) No, Mr Speaker, I will check again, but I cannot recall him expressing concerns. They were asking us to raise money to deal with the cost of COVID 450 because that had affected the public finances. That is what they were asking us to do. Then we bring measures and the measures cause an issue.

I am always going to be the one to take responsibility for my actions. I am not going to say I did not come up with the measure, whether I did or whether I did not. I announce the measure, it is my responsibility, but if genuine concerns are expressed to me which I believe have a reason, in 455 fact, to persuade us not to proceed with the measure, we will not proceed with the measure, because we are listening and because all of the measures that we take are designed to deliver prosperity, are designed to make Gibraltar a better business environment, which also, of course, requires us to have our public finances back to where they were pre pandemic, and when we agreed that we should spend the money during the course of the pandemic across the floor of the 460 House – although again it appears that I am the only one still prepared to accept the responsibility for that spending.

Given that there was no question, Mr Speaker, he must not assume this is an answer which would lead to a supplementary.

465 Mr Speaker: We are now going to continue with the next question.

Q513/2022

Legal claims settled at over £50,000 against Government, its agencies or companies – Number settled in last six years

Clerk: Question 513/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. DA Feetham.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, how many legal claims or threatened legal claims against the Government, Government agencies or Government companies have been settled in the last six 470 years where the claimant has been eventually paid more than £50,000?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, a total of 42 legal claims or threatened legal 475 claims of over £50,000 have been settled.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I do not know if the hon. Member has the total of what those 42 claims would come to. Obviously the question asks for payments over £50,000, so they might vary from £50,000 to bigger sums. Does he have a total of the sums that have been settled?
480

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not have a total, but I have some subtotals. Without adding anything other than the millions and hundreds of thousands so that I do not get into any difficulty, it is £5.4 million – over, because I am not adding the tens of thousands. I am only adding the millions and the hundreds of thousands, so £5.4 million.

485 Hon. K Azopardi: Again, I do not know if he does have it, but among his subtotals – the question asks for Government, Government agencies and Government companies – is there a split between Government, Government agencies and Government companies?

490 Hon. Chief Minister: There is, Mr Speaker, but I am not sure that it is accurate because I have only been given it in respect of supplementary information. I can tell him that I can see the Gibraltar Health Authority obviously is one entity on its own and that accounts for 17 of the claims. Eighteen of the claims are GHA and Care Agency. Fourteen are Government companies, from what I can see here. I hope that is helpful. Then the breakdown is other agencies and Departments.

Q514/2022

Housing estates –

Whether instruction given to clean in advance of Chief Minister’s visits

Clerk: Question 514/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

495

Hon. D J Bossino: Did the Chief Minister, Ministers or any public servant give instructions for the cleaning of the housing estates ahead of the Chief Minister’s recent visits?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

500

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, no, sir.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, that was a predictable reply. (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) Yes, it was. The reality is – and we have, as a party, shown to the press evidence – that there was substantive cleaning to one particular estate, in this case Mid Harbours, the day before the hon. Member visited. We have also been told, directly on the ground by residents, that there has been cleaning in advance of the Chief Minister’s visits with a retinue of press and him giving him interviews and all the rest of it. Does he not agree with me that if that is the case – and I put to him that it is the case – this is cheap electioneering on his part?

510

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman does not seem to know what comes out of his mouth or what flows out of his pen. The question the hon. Gentleman has asked me has nothing to do with his supplementary contribution. The question was did the Chief Minister, Ministers or any public servant give instructions for the cleaning of the housing estates ahead of the Chief Minister’s recent visits? The answer – the truth – is no. If he knew the answer to that question, his question is out of order because he should not ask a question which he knows the answer to. If he knew the answer to that question, I wonder why he asked it.

515

The reality is that the things he has said happen do not flow from the things that he asked us. When I go to a housing estate on location, I ask that the people who should be with me are the people who represent the Department of the Environment, the cleaning subcontractor to the Department of the Environment, the people who represent the Housing Works Agency and the people who represent GJBS. I also have people from my staff present. We also have members of the Royal Gibraltar Police present. If he had asked me did the people who run the cleaning company that has the contract for the cleaning of the estates know that you were going to the estates, the answer would be yes, sir. If the people who run the cleaning company know that I am going to the estate and decide to clean the estate before I go to it ...

520

The hon. Gentleman can accuse me of many things but he cannot accuse me of cheap electioneering when an election is not due for another 11 months. Somebody might accuse them of waking up, Rumpelstiltskin-style, to the needs of the Government’s tenants and our

525

530 constituents only once every four years, but you cannot accuse the Government and this Chief Minister, who has been going on location since 2015 to do his clinics on location, who has been going to visit housing estates since we were elected, to ensure that the refurbishments were done – the very same refurbishments that they did not want, the very same refurbishments the cost of which they would not have incurred and they criticised – of cheap electioneering.

535 I did not need him to put video evidence of somebody cleaning an estate to be told that the estate had been cleaned before I arrived. It was, in the French vernacular, bleeding obvious because the guys who were doing the cleaning were still there when I turned up, the floor was wet and they were still sweeping, and the people from the estate were saying to me, ‘You know, 540 this does not happen every day. Maybe this is just because you are here.’ My answer to them was,
‘Don’t worry, I am going to keep coming. If it is just because I am here, I am going to keep coming.’
In fact, I am going to keep going to the estates to ensure that the standard of cleanliness that I have seen in the estates is the standard of cleanliness maintained and, indeed, given the things I have seen for myself which are not up to standard, that the standard is exceeded, because, in the way that the Hon. the Minister for Housing said, we expect the performance of our subcontractors 545 and we expect the compliance of our tenants and people who reside in the estates. That is what I am elected to deliver, that is what the Hon. the Minister for Housing is elected to deliver, and if the hon. Gentleman thinks that we are not going to deliver it so that they can ride a wave of misery, anti-social behaviour and lack of cleanliness into No. 6 Convent Place, they have something else coming because, first of all, there will be no such misery, there will be no such 550 anti-social behaviour, there will be no such lack of cleanliness and it will take more than a wave to get them into No. 6 Convent Place.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, so long as the estates are going to get cleaned, quite frankly I am very happy. I am very happy that that should be the case, (Interjection) but the evidence clearly 555 suggests that what I said in my original supplementary is absolutely correct. He is being very technical in his reply. All I say is it is not that I knew the answer, I am not suggesting that I knew the answer; it is the answer that I expected from him, which was a simple no. What he is telling me is that he did not give any instructions for the cleaning of the estates – or any other Member of his Government – in advance of his visit. What he is, in effect, telling me – and I would ask him 560 to confirm this by way of the question, whether he agrees with the way that I am putting it to him – is that the cleaning companies were aware that he and his Ministers and colleagues were going to be visiting, and then, out of a frolic of their own, on their own initiative, waving the magic wand, indirectly, they cleaned the estates before the arrival. Does he agree with that proposition
I am putting to him?

565 Can I suggest he has taken (Interjection) a long time in his response and come up with, in effect, a party political broadcast? And then he says he is not electioneering, he is doing it 24/7 and the elections are not for another 11 months. But can I suggest to him that he keeps his visits absolutely secret, that he keeps his visits away from the cleaning companies, so that he sees the reality on the ground, so that he sees the endemic problem that these estates suffer day in, day out – despite 570 what they are wishing to tell us here and the Minister for Housing getting all excited (Interjection) – and the reality of what they live day in, day out?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is remarkable. Hell hath no fury like a leadership candidate caught out, obviously. The hon. Gentleman asks a question and is then disappointed when he gets 575 the answer that he expects, which is the answer that of course he should expect – that is to say the truth. Now he is dancing on a pinhead to try to get himself off the hook that he has created for himself. I have never seen anything quite like it in this Parliament. I must say the GSD really does need to stick with Mr Azopardi because perish the thought that they fall into the trap of a Bossino leadership.

580 The evidence suggests, he says, that what I have put to him is the truth. Didn’t I just get up and say to him that I did not need to see a video from him to be told or see that the estates were being cleaned before I arrived? I did not, because I told him – (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino)

Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is – 585 Hon. D J Bossino: This point of order arises from your suggestion and ruling, I think it was, in relation to political discourse and discourse in this Chamber. The hon. Member has come up already, as it is, within an hour, with three or four gems. The last one was ‘into the trap of a Bossino leadership’. He talks about ‘hell hath no fury like a leadership candidate ...’ I did not take a full note. He says, in relation to answers given to my hon. Friend Mr Clinton, ‘it smells of political 590 hypocrisy’. He even, dare I say, talks about the deficits in relation to the company as ‘a black hole’.

All of those things ... it depends on what standard we are expected to reach. Just to repeat the point that I made yesterday, I am fine with them, but I simply raise it as a point of order to seek the Chair’s guidance in relation to this, because then we can do the same.

595 Mr Speaker: The Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: In reply to that point of order, Mr Speaker, it is quite something to see somebody who is taking his nascent steps into an attempt to lead this community and his political party, seem so afraid of the political debate. The hon. Gentleman needs to understand there is a 600 difference between political discourse and taking the Parliament down the road of the invective and starting to create an ambience which means that tempers flare. That is what he was doing yesterday. All I am doing today is reflecting the political reality as I see it. For example, Mr Speaker, I will accept whatever ruling you make today. I did not hear the Hon. Mr Bossino yesterday apologise to you, as you suggested that he should when you made your ruling. I believe Mr Bossino 605 needs to understand that there is a difference between a lack of temperance and being political and dealing with matters in a normal parliamentary manner. That is what he is failing to understand, and today he is raising a shield, I assume to avoid me giving the answer I am going to give to the latest supplementary, which will once again demonstrate how wrong he is in the approach that he is taking to these things and how foiled he feels in respect of the campaign that 610 he was obviously seeking to launch.

Mr Speaker: I think both sides are guilty, in many ways, of bringing politics into play – both sides. I have read a lot about judgments made in other jurisdictions, and one thing which comes to mind I think is quite appropriate to be used now. It says here:

The whole idea of supplementary questions is not to make a range of political statements about an issue but to dig into an issue to test a Minister’s answer.

615 I have to say with all due respect to the Opposition that they fall foul of this quite often. I also have to say that the Government falls foul because it also, when it replies, makes political statements.

Another explanatory note that I have here, which again I have picked up from my looking at other administrations, says:

Ministers should not commence an answer to a question with a political attack on the person asking the question.
That is totally outside Standing Orders, but where Members asking questions make a political statement, they are likely to get a political statement back.

620 Again, this is what is happening. It happened yesterday, it is happening today. My answer is stop bringing in political issues. But it is very difficult; everybody wants to do that. It is part and parcel of what transpires in Parliament because that is the nature of the beast. You understand that? Okay. So that is my ruling.

625 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, it is a massive tension, but at the end of the day – I think I mentioned it yesterday – this is a political Chamber and it would be odd that, for example ... But both sides can ... In fact, in relation to this issue, I think we exchanged press releases and we talked about ... I said things like ‘electioneering’ and then they said whatever it was that they said, but 630 you can have that type of discourse out there ... It is the type of discourse that those who elect us are having and yet somehow that should be muted here.

As far as I am concerned, I repeat the point that I am fine with the things that he has said today because I think those are political issues, but then I need to be able to make political comment in the questions, and ultimately, whilst it may be that technically we are the ones who start this because we are the ones who pose the questions, sometimes they start it because sometimes we 635 file a question, a very –

Mr Speaker: Please resume your seat. I know that the Opposition’s role here is to hold the Government to account; of course this is allowed and this is part and parcel of the process. But yesterday – and I am going to bring this up because the hon. Member brought it up – everything 640 that came from your good self was tinged with ... not aggression, but unhelpful comments as a preamble to a supplementary. That is the way I interpreted the matter yesterday, and it is beginning to creep in again. I do not think Parliament is set up for that kind of behaviour.

People in the street comment about the way we do our business here. Do you know what they say? Not everybody, but some say it is like trying to keep children in a classroom under control.
645 And it is true. To a certain degree, it is true.

I think we are going to move on from this question and this answer, but I am going to ask all Members to hold back and let’s make this a meaningful Parliament, a Parliament where legitimate questions are made and truthful answers are given. We are going to move on from here, and I am going to ask all Members to pipe down.
650

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you, Mr Speaker. As I told you yesterday, I think that is excellent advice.

The hon. Gentleman asked me a question. He extended himself over that question with very partisan remarks – some of which I am sure they will now seek to extract in the video and portray 655 to the world, to try to extract support – and then interrupted me when I was starting to reply. You have ruled that you want us to move on. I do not know, Mr Speaker, whether you want me not to answer the question that he put, or whether you simply want me to answer it without falling into the trap of the partisan invective which the hon. Gentleman was laying.

660 Mr Speaker: We just need to move on to the next question.

Q515 and Q519/2022

Hassan Centenary Terraces, Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views –

Number of units unallocated; estimated construction cost

Q516-18/2022

Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views –

Number of purchasers wishing to discontinue purchases; reason for purchase agreements not yet being signed; whether advertised purchase price to increase;

Clerk: Question 515/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: How many units in the Hassan Centenary, Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views developments remain unallocated and why is this the case, considering the continuing and 665 high demand for housing?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer with Questions 516 to 519.

670 Clerk: Question 516/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: How many people of those initially allocated homes at Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views have now requested to discontinue their purchase?

675 Clerk: Question 517/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Why have prospective purchasers of Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views not yet signed any purchase agreements, given they were allocated homes some years ago?

680 Clerk: Question 518/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is the Government considering increasing the selling price to purchasers of Bob Peliza Mews and/or Chatham Views from that originally advertised?

685 Clerk: Question 519/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what is the current estimated projected construction cost of each of Hassan Centenary Terraces, Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views, and how does the current projected construction cost compare with the original contracted construction cost and the original tendered construction cost, if different?

690 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, all units for all three estates are now allocated.
695 The requested figures are as follows: Bob Peliza Mews – 18 flats have been handed back; Chatham Views – nine flats have been handed back.

Construction contracts have not yet been finalised with the contractor for Chatham Views and Bob Peliza Mews. Once these contracts are signed, the Government will be in a position to start entering into purchase agreements with prospective purchasers.

700 The Government is not considering increasing the selling prices of properties already sold at either Bob Peliza Mews or Chatham Views.

As for projected construction costs, can I ask the hon. Gentlemen to ask me again February, to avoid disclosing information that is currently commercially sensitive but I hope to be able to answer by then without any concern?

705 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can I just take my supplementaries on Question 519 first, if I may? And can I just say, before I do that, that if I have any supplementaries on the other questions, with Mr Speaker's leave, in accordance with your usual ruling that I can sweep in at the end, if I have any comments I will, but I am not going to take those first, in deference to my colleague who put those questions?

710 On Question 519, as I understood the Chief Minister's answer, on Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views he is saying they have not got to a contracted situation as yet – that is how I have understood that – and towards the end he said, 'Ask me in February.' That is fine, we will, and there is no issue with that. I understand the reasons behind the comment and we will do that. But 715 insofar as Hassan Centenary Terraces is concerned, presumably that is a different position because – (Interjection) Well, I will finish the question, then you can answer. Presumably – I was going to say – it is a different position because the project is well under way and the blocks are rising, and therefore I would have assumed it is a different situation. But I can see him shaking his head, so I will give him the opportunity to answer.

720

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Hassan Centenary Terraces agreements have been concluded both for phase 1 and phase 2, but if I disclose what we have agreed there, then that potentially affects the contracts that we are hoping to conclude in respect of Bob Peliza and Chatham Views. That is why I do not want to give the information at this stage. That is why they are linked. I am happy to give the hon. Gentleman the figure in respect of Hassan Centenary Terraces confidentially at this stage, and I am happy to give it publicly in February, but I do not want to give it publicly now because it could affect our negotiations in respect, I think, of one of the contracts.

725

730

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, February is around the corner, so – as the hon. Member has said several times now, the election is not for a while – we can easily wait till February and I can put that question, with Mr Speaker’s leave, of course, so that it does not infringe the six-months rule, given the invitation of the Chief Minister.

735

Can I ask, though, before I sit down, the magic of February is what? That they have some kind of understanding with the contractors that they are going to land on this issue by then?

740

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the timetable I have given to the House is I expect the demolitions to be finished by December in respect of Chatham, and at the very latest by March, in respect, I think, of Bob Peliza, and therefore the expectation I have is that the contractual negotiations for the start of works will be finished by December/January in respect of each of those projects respectively. Therefore, by February I expect we should be in a position to disclose the information because I expect we will have concluded the negotiations and signed the agreements, or at least concluded the price, and be in the process of finalising the JCT or whatever other elements of the construction contract will have to be in place. That is why I think that February is the prudent period at which to pitch it, because although we expect to finish the construction contracts in respect of Chatham earlier, there could also be linkage which would make it disadvantageous to disclose that publicly until we have nailed the Bob Peliza building contract. I believe it will be done by then because we will want to be commencing construction at the end of the following month. That is why I think February is relevant. In February I might say to him I need another 30 days, but again, he needs to rest assured that the election is not going to be in March either, so there is no problem there.

745

750

Hon. K Azopardi: Okay. Maybe I should just ask him point blank when the election will be. It would be very helpful for us to understand that.

755

Hon. D J Bossino: March 2023. (Interjection)

Hon. Chief Minister: I am happy to tell him if he will give way. Next year, Mr Speaker.

760

Hon. K Azopardi: All right, well –

Hon. D J Bossino: It will be March, then.

765

Hon. K Azopardi: I think I could have worked that one out, but anyway, I will ask him behind the Speaker’s Chair. I think I will be as unsuccessful, though.

My final question, Mr Speaker, on this issue: is the contractor of those developments – Hassan Centenary, Bob Peliza and Chatham – the same one, or are they different contractors? And can he name them?

770 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, we are in negotiation. I think there are two different contractors involved in the negotiation. At this stage, I do not want to name them because we are just in negotiation and that negotiation could still come to nought. In any negotiation one has to be willing to walk away in order to do a good deal. That applies in the international arena as it applies in the construction arena.

775

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in terms of my questions, the underlying thread, if I can be helpful to the hon. Member, is this. We have the economic situation that we are in – Ukraine, rising inflation. This is not my area of expertise by far, but that, I am told, and we know from news reports, is having an effect on construction prices to the tune, I am told, of 30% to 35%. The information I was getting was that there was a resistance on the part of the Government to allocate flats which had been returned because it would then have an impact on the purchase price – in respect of the question I have raised, which includes Hassan Centenary and the other two projects. In relation to the other two projects I have specific questions about the disturbing of the purchase prices. Given that the Hon. the Chief Minister is not willing to divulge information in relation to the construction costs in connection with the Hassan Centenary project, and given also the fact that he has already committed himself not to disturb the purchase prices down the line with the purchasers, is it fair at this stage to assume that, given the background I have just set out by way of preamble to this question, ultimately there will be a cost which the Government will need to assume as a result of the increased construction costs?

780
785
790 I have information which has come to me from out there in relation to Hassan Centenary, where I am told that because the price was not locked in, there has been an increase. I understand the domino effect that that could have in relation to the two other projects, why the Hon. Chief Minister may be circumspect in terms of answering any questions in relation to that, but can I ask him to comment in relation to the point that I have just raised?

795

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has said a lot, so you will forgive me if I try to deal with everything that he has said.

800 I am going to start at the end. The price for Hassan Centenary Terraces phase 1 was fixed before the pandemic. The price for Hassan Centenary Terraces phase 2 was fixed before the war in Ukraine. How can it be anything other than fixed? I do not know where he gets his information from and I do not know what filter he distils his information through, but a construction contract is for a price. It cannot be anything other than fixed. I do not know what it is that the hon. Gentleman has been told that he has believed.

805 Hon. D J Bossino: I will tell you now.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, in the context of the estates, he needs to listen very carefully to what I have said because I have said it for a reason. I will read it for him again: the Government is not considering increasing the selling prices of properties already sold at either Bob Peliza Mews or Chatham Views. That is to say any property that has come back to the Government is not a property already sold. Anybody who has bought from the Government, whether or not they have signed the agreement is not relevant. The agreement is not yet signed because we have not got a date when we can say we are starting construction and we can go for it, but the purchase price is agreed. But if you pulled out of the purchase, then the Government holds that property now to sell again, and those sales will be done on 50/50 terms, but they will be done on what the cost will be to the Government at the time we execute the contracts in respect of those properties. That will affect only, in respect of the numbers I have given him, 27 flats. The Government is going to absorb the increased cost that those who are purchasing are going to benefit from, but those who have relinquished the purchase and where the Government is going to sell, there we must, in the interest of the taxpayer, say, 'Now the project is going to be so much. This is so many square metres. Fifty per cent of this cost, now this amount.' That will affect 27 purchasers, but that is a fraction of the number of properties available and that increased cost that we are talking about, such as it may be – the hon. Gentleman has come up with a figure, but such as it may be – would still make these properties massively affordable because the prices that are in the private sector compared to the prices at which we are going to be selling are going to make these properties sold, let me be clear, almost at a 75% discount against the market. I think hon. Members will agree that we should, in respect of these properties to new purchasers, put the actual price that it is going to cost the taxpayer to produce as to the fraction that the party buys. Somebody might want to buy 100%, so they buy at the cost of 100% of the cost per square metre for that flat, or at 50% of the cost per square metre for that flat.

820

I think that deals with the issue of the purchase price, it deals with the issue of the fixed contracts in respect of Hassan Centenary Terraces, and I do not know what else it was that he said in his very long introduction but I just want to be very clear that the contracts that have been entered into – or the agreements that have been entered into, even if they have not been contractually signed yet because we have not offered the contracts, because we have not entered into the building contract – will be honoured at the price at which they were agreed.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, yes, and I think he mentioned, perhaps in the context of a reply that he gave to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, a fixed price. I do not want to go into absolute numbers, but the information that I have received, if it is helpful – not to him, necessarily – in terms of this question and answer session, is that there has been an increase to the tune of, I am told, about £40 million. He is telling us that that will only have an impact – despite the things he has said about 75% of the market value – on 27 of those apartments, which he has said have been allocated and which have been reallocated. (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) There may be other things that I am getting wrong, and then he can answer them all together. (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) No.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, if the hon. Gentleman will give way – because he is going to continue to get things wrong – there are none in respect of Hassan Centenary Terraces, so he is talking about a price increase in respect of Hassan Centenary Terraces and there are none pending allocation at Hassan Centenary Terraces. All of those have been sold and we are honouring the price. The ones I have told him – in fact it was him, it was his question – which have come back are Bob Peliza and Chatham Views, so the £40 million has nothing to do with these two.

Hon. D J Bossino: I do find that helpful, but this question which I was going to go on to is still relevant despite his explanation. In relation to those 27 – I think the number is right – when he talks about allocation, how far down the line has it gone? Are they fully allocated in the sense that those individuals have signed, not necessarily even a reservation agreement, but have those individuals signed a deposit based on a price that the Government has set for those 27 prices, and is that price an increased price in relation to the ones which have previously been allocated, if he understands the point I am making?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, in trying to pursue your ruling I must tell the hon. Gentleman, with affection and respect, that I think what he is talking is nonsense. I do not understand what 27 prices he is talking about in the context of his question, and the £40 million that he referred to earlier is a figure that I do not recognise in any event. Let me try to explain it to him so that he has a better understanding.

In respect of Hassan Centenary Terraces, all of the properties are sold. If any come back now – if any come back now, and it is possible that they come back before completion – there will be a recalculation of the cost per square metre of producing Hassan Centenary Terraces, and whoever is able to purchase that flat which might become available will purchase on affordable housing terms at a square-metre fixed cost which will be higher because of the increased cost of construction, but at the moment that affects zero people (Hon. D J Bossino: For Hassans.) for Hassans.

875 In respect of Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views, we have a number of flats returned. The people who have not returned flats have their price and it will be honoured. People who come to purchase these flats which have become available will have a new price given to them, which will be based on the cost, such as it may be, of completing these flats and on affordable terms. So you calculate the cost per square metre now with the increased cost, and you either sell 50%, 60% or 880 100% on the basis of that eligibility requirement. That is what we are talking about doing. The figures that represent the other flats at Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham views are the ones that are considered to be sold subject to executing the purchase contract and subject subsequently to completion of the agreement of the conveyance at the end, and those have their price honoured.

885 Hon. D J Bossino: So that I stop thinking nonsense and rubbish, as he has suggested, can he put me out of my misery and explain this point, then? This is what I was driving at, actually. When he talks about allocation of the 27 flats in relation to Bob Peliza and Chatham, which presumably have been returned or for whatever reason have not been allocated, in respect of the first question he said that all the flats have been allocated. Ergo, the 27, the 18 and the nine have now 890 been allocated. I think he then said, 'When the purchasers of those flats come to purchase, then we will agree.' How does that work? I thought that the moment that you allocate to Mr and Mrs X, you allocate at a price. (Hon. Chief Minister: Yes.) Is that –?

Hon. Chief Minister: We allocate at a price and we respect the price, but when the person to whom that property has been allocated withdraws, the Government is the only party left to the 895 contract. The purchaser says 'No lo quiero, I do not want it,' and so (Interjections) those 27 have come back to the Government and the Government has not yet allocated those 27 because we are waiting, before allocating those 27, to get the new price. (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino)

900 Mr Speaker: Now can we allow the Hon. Edwin Reyes ...? He might clarify the position. (Interjections)

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Chief Minister. Our understanding is – you have now made it clear – 27 have been returned, still to be allocated. Can I simply ask: given that we now have a figure of 905 27, which could end up being more, will those be offered to people who are, at the moment, on a reserve list, or will a new tender notice be issued? Can the Chief Minister confirm what I think we all now finally understand? The actual price will not be determined until that offer is made, because it is subject to fluctuation of the cost, which they still have to finalise, hopefully by February.

910 Hon. Chief Minister: Can I thank the hon. Gentleman for helping us. That is exactly the position, and the moment of being able to proceed to allocation at the new price is only now safely once we have done the construction contracts – as I said to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, one hopefully before the end of the year, the other one by February, so that we can start one by the 915 beginning of the new year and the other one by April, which is the first month of the next quarter of the year, in 2023. Those 27 properties will potentially increase. There may be more that come back and we can handle in that way as well. I am grateful he has understood it and he has paraphrased it in a way that I think is helpful.

920 Mr Speaker: The hon. Member completed his supplementaries because I believe the Leader of the Opposition wants to ask something. (Hon. K Azopardi: No.) (Interjection, laughter and banging on desks)

Next question, please.

Q520-21/2022

Public counter services –

List of Government providers, including opening hours; list of those not providing

Clerk: Question 520/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

925

Hon. K Azopardi: Further to Questions 203 and 204/2022, can the Government provide an updated list of all Departments, public authorities and agencies which are providing public counter services and the times of operation?

930

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer with Question 521.

Clerk: Question 521/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

935

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide an updated list of all Departments, public authorities and agencies which are not currently providing public counter services?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

940

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I now hand over a schedule with the information requested.

Answer to Q520/2022

Department Name	Opening Hours
Aquagib Ltd	Monday to Thursday: 08:30 to 15:00 Friday: 08:30 to 14:30
Civil Status & Registration Office	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 14:30
Department Of Social Security	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 14:30 Cash Payments: 10:00 to 13:00
Department Of The Environment Upper Rock & Beaches	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
Driver And Vehicle Licensing Department	Monday to Friday: 08:30 to 12:30
Economic Development Employment Company	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 15:30
Environmental Agency Limited	Winter Hours Monday to Thursday: 09:00 to 16:15 Friday: 09:00 to 16:00 Summer Hours Monday to Friday: 08:15 to 14:15
Gibraltar Air Terminal Ltd	Air Terminal Operating Hours
Gibraltar Bus Company	Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 13:00
Gibraltar Courts Service	Both public counters share the same opening hours. Winter Hours Monday to Thursday: 09:30 to 16:00 Friday: 09:30 to 15:45 Summer Hours Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 13:00
Gibraltar Electricity Authority	Monday to Thursday: 08:30 to 15:00 Friday: 08:30 to 14:30

Answer to Q520/2022 cont.

GIBRALTAR HEALTH AUTHORITY - ST BERNARD'S HOSPITAL
ACCIDENT & EMERGENCY	24hrs
MAIN RECEPTION	24hrs
MEDICAL RECORDS / RELEASE OF RECORDS	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
SPONSORED PATIENTS	Monday to Thursday: 08:00 to 16:30 Friday: 08:00 to 16:15
PHARMACY	Winter Hours Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 16:30
	Summer Hours Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
REHABILITATION (PHYSIO)	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 16:30
PPAU	Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 11:45 & 13:00 to 14:45
ACCOUNTS	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 15:30
GENERAL STORES	Monday to Thursday: 08:00 to 14:30 Friday: 08:30 to 14:00
INCONTINENCE DISPENSARY	Tuesday and Thursday: 09:00 to 14:00
PATHOLOGY	Monday to Sunday: 08:00 to 20:30
RADIOLOGY	Monday to Friday: 08:45 to 16:30
OPHTHALMIC UNIT	Monday to Thursday: 08:00 to 15:30 Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
ENT	Monday and Thursday: 08:00 to 15:30 Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
ORTHOPEADICS	Monday to Thursday: 08:00 to 15:30 Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
MEDICAL INVESTIGATION UNIT	Monday to Thursday: 08:00 to 15:30 Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
SURGICAL OUTPATIENT DEPARTMENT	Monday to Thursday: 08:00 to 15:30 Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
ONCOLOGY	Monday to Thursday: 08:00 to 15:30 Friday: 08:00 to 15:00

Answer to Q520/2022 cont.

GIBRALTAR HEALTH AUTHORITY - PRIMARY CARE CENTRE
REGISTRATION APPLICATIONS BY APPOINTMENT	Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 13:00
REGISTRATION QUERIES	Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 12:00
GROUND FLOOR	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 18:30 Saturday: 09:00 to 13:00 and 17:00 to 20:00 Sunday and Public Holidays: 10:00 to 13:00 and 17:00 to 20:00
FIRST FLOOR	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 15:30
SECOND FLOOR	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 14:00
GHA CHILDRENS HEALTH CENTRE	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 18:30 Weekends and Public Holidays: 08:00 to 11:00
Gibraltar Joinery & Building Services Limited	Monday to Thursday: 08:00 to 15:30 Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
Gibraltar Maritime Administration	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
Gibraltar Port Authority	Monday to Thursday: 08:30 to 15:00 Friday: 09:30 to 14:30
Gibraltar Regulatory Authority	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 17:00
Gibraltar Sports And Leisure Authority	Monday to Sunday: 08:00 to 23:00 NB: It becomes a reception area after 16:00
GIBRALTAR TOURIST BOARD
The Main Guard	Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 16:30 Saturday: 10:00 to 14:30
Frontier	Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 16:30
Coach Terminal	Monday to Saturday: 09:00 to 16:30 Sunday: 09:00 to 13:00
Gov.Gi Eservices The Hub 323 Main Street	Monday to Thursday: 09:00 to 15:00 Friday: 09:00 to 14:30

Answer to Q520/2022 cont.

HM CUSTOMS
Customs House and Cashier	Monday to Thursday: 08:30 to 15:00 Friday: 08:30 to 14:30
Entry Processing Unit (Commercial and Private Importations)	Monday to Friday: 08:30 to 15:00 1. We then have a 24 hour service entering Gibraltar for Commercial importation on a on-call service after hours. Private importation via land border/airport in which people are attended have also a 24 hours officer presence in which import duty can be paid. 2. Lastly Control Unit is open from 8am to 9pm to attend the commercial exportation of vehicles into Spain collecting export licenses on the counter.
HM Prison	Monday and Wednesday to Friday: 09:00 to 16:30 Tuesday 09:00 to 16:30 and 17:30 to 19:00
Housing Department	Monday to Friday: 08:30 to 14:00 (appointments only)
Income Tax Office	Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 13:00
6 CONVENT PLACE
Reception	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 21:00
Sale of Publications	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 16:30
Office Of Fair Trading	Monday to Friday: 08:30 to 15:00
Procurement Office	Monday to Thursday: 08:30 to 15:00 Friday: 08:00 to 15:00
Royal Gibraltar Police	24hrs Manned by staff Monday to Thursday 08:30 to 15:00 Friday: 08:30 to 14:30
ROYAL GIBRALTAR POST OFFICE
Main Street	Monday to Thursday: 09:00 to 16:15 Friday: 09:00 to 16:00
Parcel Post	Monday to Thursday: 08:30 to 15:15 Friday: 08:30 to 15:00
Irish Town	Monday to Thursday: 08:30 to 15:15 Friday: 08:30 to 15:00
Town Planning And Building Control	Monday to Thursday: 08:00 to 16:30 Friday: 08:00 to 16:15
TREASURY DEPARTMENT / GIBRALTAR SAVINGS BANK
Treasury / GSB	Monday, Tuesday and Thursday 08:30 to 15:00 Wednesday 09:00 to 15:00 Friday 08:30 to 14:00
Payroll	Monday to Friday: 08:00 to 15:30
Human Resources Department	Monday to Friday: 08:30 to 15:00
CARE AGENCY
Johnstones Passage	Monday to Friday: 09:00 TO 16:30
16 Governors Parade	NB: Shortly to move to Suite 7, Floor 3 Europort Monday to Friday: 09:00 to 16:30

Answer to Question 521/2022

Department	How a Service User Can Access These Services.
Department of Education	Telephone, emails, online forms, through appointment and without appointment on a daily basis when customers ring the 'staff bell'.
Government Law Offices Gazettes	Notices for the Gibraltar Gazette are sent to us via email.
Housing Works Agency	The public can access these services via phone or email. If for any reason they need to attend the department, they would be provided with an appointment. An intercom system is also available for any deliveries, messenger drop offs etc.
Technical Services Department	These services can be accessed via email or telephone.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the schedules. I asked this question some months ago. As the hon. Member knows, at the time I asked it cast in pretty much the same terms, but in supplementaries we had a discussion because some Departments, agencies or authorities 945 had been left out. I am just glancing through and I can see that this list is more comprehensive and it does include the Gibraltar Health Authority, which was a glaring omission last time.

Obviously we will need to study the schedule compared to the last one, so I am not going to put the Chief Minister to a test of telling me whether the hours have changed in any particular Department, but can I ask him are there plans to change the hours beyond this schedule, the 950 opening hours of the counters?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, that is very much a Department-driven issue. In other words, some Departments may suggest that they should open at different hours and we will, of course, listen to the rationale of that and assess whether it is in the public interest that they should change 955 the hours. To be fair to civil servants, when they propose a change in hours it is usually not designed to suit them, it is usually designed to suit the public that they serve, so there would probably be good reason for that.

What is not here is that we have added, as the hon. Gentleman knows, a hub service – the counter down at the area which is known as the Hub, opposite John Mack Hall – and that tries to 960 assist people generally.

The hon. Gentleman will see that there are four Departments that are not operating a counter, but they are providing the service to the public simply because they now have a bell on a door, rather than a counter, and the door is opened and they give the appointment.

Mr Speaker, I think the hon. Gentleman and I have been able to deal quite collegiately with this question when he has put it. The answer to this question may be an interesting guide for 965 people to see, when it is up on the Government website or on Hansard, what the opening hours are for all the Government counters. There are no Departments of the Government now not operating a service to the public. All of the counters are open and the counters that are not open have been replaced with appointment services so people can attend and see a person – which is 970 what a counter usually does in a different form – instead of at a counter, in an office where they can sit down with someone and have the issues that they have dealt with. I thank him, therefore, for having put the question in a way that we have been able to answer, as we agreed last time that we would.

975 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask, on the hub service that he mentions, what the opening hours of the hub service are – if he has that information? I do not know if he has that information.

Can I also perhaps say to him, in response to what he has just said, clearly there continues to be quite a lot of chatter on the issue of the public counters, and concerns. The hon. Member says this will be uploaded on their website as an answer, but I would ask him probably to go further and try to take measures to give some publicity to the fact of the counter service, because otherwise people will continue to feel that they cannot speak to physical civil servants.

980
985 Can I just pick up an example, just to test the point that he has mentioned? For some time, if you wanted to apply for a passport ... I have not applied for a passport in the last couple of years, but certainly I know that the last time I did that – it might have been during COVID – we had to fill in a form and deposit the application form and so on. Have those processes changed? Put better, those processes might still be there for you to follow that procedure, but can someone who has difficulty in filling in a form now speak to a civil servant about that issue?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am enormously grateful to the hon. Gentleman for his question in this respect, because it enables me to say that people should not believe chatter, people should not believe rumour and innuendo. I will take him up on his suggestion that we should go further and that we should give publicity to this schedule, and I will do so with alacrity in the local press and, working with the Office of the Deputy Chief Minister, I will ensure that we publish an advertisement that reflects this.

995
1000
1005 Physical civil servants – and I know of no other type – are, therefore, available at all of the times set out in this schedule. In the Civil Status and Registration Office, which happens to be the second one on his list, he will see that from 8 a.m. to 2.30 p.m. they are available. The question of putting the passport application in a box is just the modern way in which it is done. That is the way it is done in the United Kingdom as well. If you need to ask a question about the form, you can now attend at the counter; you can ask a physical civil servant to assist you. This is a representation that we are back to normal. Certainly, people should not believe or come here or in any way act in keeping with, as the hon. Gentleman said yesterday, which I found amusing ... on the basis of ‘something that somebody in Main Street is said to have heard and they have said to me that they think the person said’, because very often that is what – (Interjection) It was, absolutely, but very often in Gibraltar – (Interjection) no, not you – third-hand hearsay is what people rely on – forget about counters – in order to tarnish people’s reputations irreparably with the worst sorts of allegations.

1010 So I entirely agree with the hon. Gentleman: the chatter is wrong, the chatter should be ignored, the physical civil servants are available, the counters are open and we shall give that a lot of publicity. Gibraltar is open for business and back to normal. (Interjection)

Clerk: Question 522.

1015 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Edwin Reyes would like to ask a supplementary.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker. I was originally going to raise a concern with you, but my colleague the Hon. Roy Clinton has saved the day. The handout that I first received had a page missing, so just for the record, when we come to Hansard, we have to make sure it is five and not four pages.

1020 I have a question. Can I ask two simple things of the Chief Minister? One is on the third page, on the Gibraltar Health Authority. Right at the top it says ‘Registration Applications by Appointment’ and gives from 0900 hrs to 1300 hrs, and then ‘Registration Queries’. The first one, by saying ‘by appointment’, does it mean you have to make an appointment in order to be able to attend during those times, or can one simply turn up? That is where I know some confusion has arisen amongst some members of the public I have met. They have said, ‘I have come here at the allocated time and I have been told no, that I need an appointment. Does he want to deal with that one first, and then I will come to the second, very short question?

1025

1030 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman reminds me of a fantastic Monty Python sketch where somebody knocks on the door that says 'Arguments', and when the door is opened and he asks, 'Is this Arguments?' the person the other side of the door says, 'No, it isn't,' to which he replies, 'Yes, it is,' and the argument ensues.

1035 As the name implies, 'Registration Applications by Appointment' is an office that takes appointments to help people through the process of registration, but you need an appointment. You can turn up there and get an appointment for the same day, if possible, or you seek an appointment and then the time is given to you to take you through the process. These are usually registrations that are unusual or are first registrations of people registering for GHA services etc. Registration Queries is where you would go initially, and if your query cannot be dealt with there, then you can have an appointment for a full registration application by appointment.

1040 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker. For the other one I am looking at the very front page. Civil Status and Registration Office is an entity that one takes for granted is manned wholly by public servants, and so is the Department of Social Security, and they have the same opening hours, but a comment that goes a lot around town is another Department that should be manned, or we think is manned wholly by public servants – the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Department. They have a half-hour-later-starting day and they close by 12.30, which does not even give chance to some employees to attend during the lunch break, like those who need to pop in quickly to hand in a passport application to the Department of Social Security. There seems to be a great discrepancy in the hours of availability, certainly not catering for those who have to be at a place of work and cannot make use of the lunch hour, because lunch hours are normally round about the one o'clock mark, and here, by 12.30 they seem to be closed. Perhaps it is an issue that can be reviewed, if the Chief Minister agrees he will just looked into it and, if possible, make life as easy as possible for the poor working people who have to turn up to this Department.

1055 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am all for helping poor working people who have to turn up at Departments, as the hon. Gentleman said. One of the best things about the DVLA now is the electronic system: the digital system for booking appointments, which I am told works very well; the digital system for renewal of licences, which I am told works extraordinarily well, which you are told online will take x number of days but actually you tend to receive the document in a much shorter period of time. But if you do have to turn up, you already know that when the hon. Member was a Minister, that Department used to open at 9.30 and close at 12.30. Today, it opens an hour earlier for poor working people, the sort of people I care about and he has expressed concern for. It already opens an hour earlier, but I am happy to look with the Hon. Minister to see whether we can extend the closing time even further. Although we have already added an hour to the period of operation from when he had ministerial responsibility, we will look to see whether we can make it even more accessible, but it would be the first complaint we have had since the reopening of that counter given the excellent digital system that is in place for this Department, which was one of the guinea-pig Departments. Lots of teething problems in the beginning, but now, actually people are very pleased with how the DVLA works.

1070 I have had my own experience of doing stuff online, and once the teething problems are dealt with and once one has cursed the name of Minister Albert Isola a thousand times and got through that, one is very happy with how the system works thereafter.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q522/22

Extension of reciprocal healthcare arrangements with Spain and the EU –
Progress

1075 Clerk: Question 522/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what progress has there been in securing the extension of reciprocal healthcare arrangements to people resident in Gibraltar when they visit the EU or Spain under the existing European Health Insurance Card or Global Health Insurance Card schemes, or 1080 any other arrangements?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, reciprocal healthcare arrangements between 1085 Gibraltar and Spain came to an end as from 1st July 2022 on the termination of a Spanish bridging measure. The Government is in discussions with the United Kingdom and Spanish governments in relation to the potential renewal of these reciprocal healthcare arrangements.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, yes, we know that. The purpose of the question was not that, 1090 although that is, of course, included and I will ask him a supplementary on that. But if I step back from the Spanish bridging measure issue, I first asked about this in March 2021 and the answer that I got then again jumped straight into the bridging measure issue, when I was making a much broader point. So I just remind the hon. Member of the question that I asked. I asked about the Global Health Insurance Card and I asked about the entitlement of Gibraltarians and British 1095 residents of Gibraltar in respect of the Global Health Insurance Card. I filed this question in January 2021, and the purpose of it was ... I pointed out to the Government ... and the Hon. the Minister for Health, Miss Sacramento, who was then the Minister for Health, answered the question, but the Deputy Chief Minister then assisted with supplementaries. The point that I made then was that there was NHS information about people being entitled to use a Global Health Insurance Card 1100 or UK-issued European Health Insurance Cards. What I said then was that there was information that said, and I quoted it then:

UK-issued European Health Insurance Cards (EHICs) are still valid and offer the same cover as GHICs

– in other words, Global Health Insurance Cards – in the EU. Once your EHIC has expired, you'll be able to replace it with a GHIC.

That information is still the information being put out by the NHS. In other words, you may 1105 have an EHIC, an original one under the scheme as it was then under the relevant decision of the European Union, and when it expires, if you fall within a certain category you might be entitled to a renewal, but in any event you are entitled to get a Global Health Insurance Card under the UK scheme.

The purpose of my question originally was will the Government make enquiries about 1110 extending that regime to Gibraltar or claiming that the British citizens of Gibraltar are entitled to access that regime within the European Union for healthcare purposes. At the time when I put that question I think the Government was arguing that while the agreement that had been reached with the UK was territorial and therefore did not extend to Gibraltar, there might be personal rights in it that extended to British citizens in Gibraltar – Gibraltarians – and as I said and 1115 is reflected in Hansard of March 2021, I was asking the Government to examine whether that issue could be looked at. I am reading now from that Hansard. What I said was:

If there are benefits in the current UK-EU agreement that are in respect of health rights across the EU, can I ask the Government perhaps to [...] investigate the possibility that we may already be able to claim those personal rights in relation to healthcare ...

1120 The Deputy Chief Minister at the time said that the matter would be under consideration. I am sorry for the long preamble, but the purpose of my question was to ask about the progress of that macro issue, not about the Spanish bridging measures, although I would like to ask a supplementary in respect of that.

Hon. Chief Minister: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

1125 I fully understand the point the hon. Gentleman is making. This is not a right that attaches to British citizens. This is a right that attaches to contributors to the United Kingdom National Insurance Scheme.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, all right, so if that is the conclusion of the consideration of – (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) It is not the conclusion?

1130 Hon. Chief Minister: The point I am making, Mr Speaker, is the hon. Gentleman asked me ... The upshot of his question was about rights which the TCA might give to British citizens simpliciter, absent a geographic somehow categorisation of residence of that British citizen. This is not such a right. This is a right based on being a contributor to the United Kingdom's National Insurance Scheme, regardless of nationality. Gibraltar has its own Social Insurance Scheme, which entitles 1135 us to care by the Gibraltar Health Authority but not to care under the NHS, other than through the NHS GHA arrangements that there are. What we are pursuing is that GHA Social Insurance contributors – those entitled persons under our Group Practice Medical Scheme etc. – should have rights in Europe in some way, as part of the negotiation.

1140 Hon. K Azopardi: That is helpful, and of course that is dependent on a treaty being possible and emerging as a result of that. Is there, without affecting the delicate discussions that are happening ...? Two aspects, if I may. Is the Government considering the alternative, which is in the scenario of perhaps a no-deal being done there might be alternative arrangements being reached so that our citizens – who are, in European terms, a drop in the ocean, really – can access those 1145 healthcare arrangements in Europe beyond Spain? Spain is the obvious first port of call for a lot of people accessing healthcare, because most people will be going to Spain more frequently than they would be going to France or Denmark, so that is an important aspect, but are there active considerations of those issues?

1150 As the Chief Minister will appreciate, the fact that Spain ceased the bridging measure – and that announcement came in July – gave quite a lot of concern to people; general concern, but also, in particular, concern voiced to me by perhaps more elderly citizens of Gibraltar who cannot get insurance arrangements. It is an issue of concern for people, and I think that is an important issue to resolve – I am sure he would agree with me – so it would be important to understand what the Government is doing in respect of that.

1155 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, this is certainly an important issue and it is an issue that we are pursuing. It is an issue which is in the negotiation. I do not want to comment about the detail of the negotiation, but there are some things which are obvious and therefore those things which are obvious and which are in the public domain I am, of course, happy to further put on the table 1160 for discussion.

It is very clear that the widest interest is in reciprocal healthcare arrangements between Gibraltar and the United Kingdom and Gibraltar and Spain. That is where the majority of our people travel to at any time. Some of our people holiday in Portugal and some of our people go wider afield in Europe – not as often as the numbers of our people go to Spain.

1165 This is not an easy issue and it may be that we find that other member states – ironically, not Spain – do not have an interest in having Gibraltarians as a field of people they also provide care to, and we will then have to deal with that. This is not an issue where what we are experiencing comes from a desire not to reach an understanding that assists Gibraltarians in Spain, Gibraltar residents in Spain and Spaniards in Gibraltar or Spanish residents in Gibraltar, but Poland may not 1170 want to go through the administrative arrangements of extending to 30,000 Gibraltarians healthcare in Poland, because there will be very few instances of Gibraltarians in Poland. That might cause a difficulty for Gibraltarians travelling in Poland, but mathematically Poland might have to deal with 30,000 of our people and deal with the administrative costs of sending us a bill once in a while if one of our 30,000 was ever in Poland and was ill, but there are many millions of 1175 Poles, so we are more likely to have to deal with a Polish person who requires care and we are more likely, then, to have to invoice them through the European system, which is laborious, rather than invoice them directly, as we would be able to do.

The hon. Member will be aware of Bentham’s concept of the felicific calculus, and here the felicific calculus may mean that actually not having a European-wide deal is in our interests, but 1180 we do recognise the importance of having a deal with our nearest neighbours and with the United Kingdom. With the United Kingdom it is already dealt with, with Spain and Portugal I think it is something that we will be dealing with, but it may not be a European-wide issue. Health is European but in some instances can also be delegated to the member states for arrangements. I do not want to say more than that, but I am just highlighting what the issues could be 1185 mathematically, given the geographic distance of some places from Gibraltar, the population issues that we are dealing with and where our economic interests may lie in the context of such arrangements.

Of course, in the concept of European travel, going to Spain is likely to be something that can happen on a day basis, a non-overnight basis. Even going to Portugal could potentially happen on 1190 a day basis. It is unlikely to be happening in respect of France or further afield, and their insurance is easily provided for most people at all ages because it is overnight insurance, it is not just day insurance.

I hope that is helpful, Mr Speaker.

1195 Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, Mr Speaker, and of course I take the mathematical point – 30 or 40 million poles and our small population. I get that, but that is no different to the situation when we were in the EU because that was the case then, so it should not necessarily be a daunting thing; we have survived all these years.

I think people would appreciate the widest health protection that could be negotiated in any 1200 future treaty. I will leave the point at that. He will understand that issue and I take from the comments he is making that it is an issue that is actively being negotiated by the Government as part of the arrangements that are being negotiated, and that in the event that there was not going to be an agreement, then the Government would have to seek, I suppose, piecemeal arrangements with individual states.

1205 Can I ask, though, on the issue of the UK and Gibraltar – because I am making the assumption that in the treaty, UK-EU in respect of Gibraltar, the arrangements between the UK and Gibraltar will not be taken into account – what arrangements are being envisaged in relation to reciprocal healthcare arrangements between the UK and Gibraltar?

1210 Can the Chief Minister also comment, in respect of the Spanish bridging measures, whether he thinks he can persuade Spain to reinstate those Spanish bridging measures pending the treaty negotiations concluding?

1215 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, of course we are trying to achieve the widest possible coverage for people, but like everything – that is a benefit that we are seeking for our people – we would have to assess what the price on the table would be, and that is the process that we are undertaking generally.

The issue of the arrangements between the United Kingdom and Gibraltar have long been settled. They have not changed. We continue as we were when we were Members of the European Union.

1220 In the context of what I may or may not be able to persuade Spain of, I do not want to venture anything into the public domain because anything I venture into the public domain will be used by those who are negotiating with us. If I say I think I can achieve it, then they will up the price because I have said publicly I think I can achieve it, so now I have to achieve it. If I say I do not believe we can achieve it, they might withdraw it from the table, if it were on the table, because I have already said publicly I think I am not going to achieve it, so they will try to extract prices for whatever it is they are trying to extract somewhere else. I am not saying that because that is the reality of what is happening in the negotiation, but that is how negotiations work. That is why I do not want to be drawn on public comment, not because I do not want to inform the people of Gibraltar – I cannot wait to tell the people of Gibraltar the conclusion of the negotiation, one way or the other, and give them all of the detail – but in the middle of the negotiation I create hostages to fortune for Gibraltar as a negotiating entity if I give indications of what I think I can and cannot achieve, because it ups the price if I say I can achieve it.

1235 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, finally, can I just ask ...? He says the UK-Gibraltar arrangements have not changed. It is some time since I was on that side, and a much longer time since I was Health Minister. I certainly remember that we had UK-Gibraltar reciprocal arrangements in respect of healthcare for pensioners. I cannot remember wider arrangements, but if there are he will jog my memory. I just wanted to get an assurance from him that there were wider arrangements that have kicked in. Certainly when we were both in the EU, that was less relevant, but there may be historic ones.

1245 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, there have historically been such since 1972. When he was Minister for Health the arrangements were not just for pensioners, and they continue. Anyone in Gibraltar who is a Gibraltar resident and is a contributor to our Social Insurance Scheme is entitled, if they are in the United Kingdom and they have an accident, to emergency care; anyone who is a contributor to the UK scheme, if they are in Gibraltar, is entitled to emergency care; and Gibraltar has the right to send elective or other surgeries to the United Kingdom and at no cost. Those arrangements have been announced more recently after we left the European Union. I think if the hon. Gentleman goes back, he will see that there was a Government Press Release, a Government Statement, and we debated it in this House – perhaps before he was a Member.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

ENVIRONMENT, SUSTAINABILITY, CLIMATE CHANGE AND EDUCATION

Q471-72/2022

Gibraltar College of Further Education – Students registered as Year 12 and Year 13 equivalent

Clerk: Question 471/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

1255 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, further to the answer given through Written Question W29/2022, can the Minister for Education explain why there are no students as Year 12 equivalents at the Gibraltar College of Further Education for the academic year 2022-23?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1260 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 472.

Clerk: Question 472/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

1265 Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer given through Written Question W29/2022, can the Minister for Education explain the high number of students registered as Year 13 equivalents at the Gibraltar College of Further Education when compared to students attending Bayside and Westside Schools?

1270 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, there was an element of double counting and pooling with the figures with which I was provided, for which I apologise. The correct figures are: Year 12 College, 36; Year 12 Westside, 149; Year 12 Bayside, 144; Year 13 College, 30; Year 13 Westside, 145; Year 13 Bayside, 139. To assist further, I can say that 102 students from Westside access courses from the College, as do 58 from Bayside, across these two years.

1275 Potentially – if I may add, Mr Speaker – one of the things that happened was the Westside and Bayside students who were in consortium and were also going to the College had been double counted.

1280

Hon. E J Reyes: I think the Minister gave a low figure of 20-odd students who are solely attending the College therefore registered there, [inaudible] for what is Year 12. In other words, it must be the intake for this year. Can he repeat that number, so I have an idea, please?

1285 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker – Year 12, 36.

Q473/2022
Special Educational Needs and Disabilities –
Reconciliation of totals given in answer to W30/2022

Clerk: Question 473/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

1290 Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer given through Written Question W30/2022, can the Minister for Education explain why the total number of pupils listed under the heading ‘Main Area of Need’ does not coincide with the total number of pupils then further listed under the subheadings of needs? This non-reconciliation of totals equally applies to statistics given for all the four academic years requested in the original question.

1295 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, children and young people with special educational needs and disabilities – SEND, as we call them – who require extra help and support to learn are placed on the school’s SEN register. The UK SEND Code of Practice sets out four broad areas of SEN, and those are the four which the table subdivides into: communication and interaction; cognition and learning; social, emotional and mental health difficulties; and sensory and/or physical needs.

1300 When a child is placed on the SEN register, their main need is listed under one of these four broad areas of SEN. In reality, many children and young people do not solely have needs in one of these areas and they may present with co-occurring conditions, which can also be described as comorbidities. For example, a child may present with both autism and ADHD, or may have dyslexia and fine motor difficulties. This is why the number of pupils listed under the heading 'Main Area of Need' does not coincide with the total number of pupils listed further under the subheadings of needs. This is the same across all academic years.

1305

1310 Even when two pupils have the same medical diagnosis, like autism spectrum disorder (ASD), their profile and presenting needs can be very different. For example, one child may be overly sensitive to sounds and textures, whereas another child may be sensory seeking. One child may have expressive language difficulties, whereas another may have anxiety and mental health needs. When you meet one child with autism, you have met one child with autism. The same can be said for any SEN need or diagnosis. Therefore, adding up the columns will result in a greater total number of conditions than the total number of children.

1315

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

1320 Following on from that, the Minister clarified that the figures given in the first four columns under the main areas of need ... those four subtotals, if we call them that, end up ... If I take the academic year 2022-23, they end up coming to a grand total of 1,929. Can the Minister, first of all, confirm that these 1,129 are different individual pupils and that none are double counted?

1325 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the figure I have been given today is 1,930, but because there could be another one added since the question was asked, our figures are, we can say, identical. That is the total number of children, but obviously if you add the different conditions – because each child can have more than one condition – the total column is not correct. There should not be a total column, because that is confusing.

1330 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you. That does help to clarify a bit.

Now let me take you to the other half of the table, the subheadings of needs. If I take the academic year 2022-23, my total there of all those sub-columns is 1,470 – the Minister may differ by one. Can the Minister, first of all, confirm that those 1,470 are already accounted for within the 1,929 – I see the Minister kindly nodding yes – and therefore the number missing in between are people who fall under the main area but not necessarily then falling into that bracket, so those are just those with some other condition?

1335

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is correct. The total number of children on the register is 1,930 – 1,929, perhaps a week or two ago when those figures were compiled. As you will know, we do get children who are added after being assessed by a panel, which was another of the questions I answered last time in writing because the hon. Member was not here because of COVID, I believe.

1340

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, statistically that has cleared a lot of the air.

1345 With your leave, sir, can I invite the Minister ...? He may have some information that perhaps he wishes to share or shed some sort of light on. If I take the total for the year 2022-23, we have identified 1,929 children, which is an increase from the previous year, when there were 1,881, but then the figures start to become more alarming. If one looks back two years, in the academic year 2020-21 there were only 1,647 and the year before that 1,600. So we seem to be from the mid-1,000s, now just about starting to touch upon 2,000. Is the Minister receiving any feedback? Is this because there is a greater analysis and that has led to better identification of people's needs? Or is it because it is a tendency that unfortunately more people with special needs are coming into our main school or into our education system?

1350

1355 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, we have dealt with this before when we have mentioned the unprecedented increase in children in St Martins, for example. Now we have children with special needs, obviously, in all the schools, we have learning support facilities in some of the 1360 schools; there has been a tremendous increase. Whether we are better at identifying conditions ... I think there is something there. I think there is some of that, but I do believe that genuinely, for whatever reason – and we cannot be sure – there are more children with special needs now in our schools. We are having to provide more learning support assistance, we are having to expand our LSFs. I think this is a reality and it is not an artefact of statistics.

Q474/2022

Pearson BTEC Level 3 in Music Performance – Reason why not delivered on school or College premises

Clerk: Question 474/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

1365 Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer given through Written Question W43/2022, can the Minister for Education explain why the Pearson BTEC Level 3 National Extended Certificate in Music Performance is not being delivered within our secondary schools or the Gibraltar College premises?

1370 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, because it is being delivered on the premises of the body delivering the course. This multi-campus approach is common practice in further education establishments. This is in much the same way that the Technical Certificate in Hairdressing City and Guilds course makes the most of professional offsite premises available in close proximity to the College. This arrangement allows the College to offer a wider range of courses in a manner not limited to their physical footprint.

1380 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I can understand the logic behind what the Minister has given me in the example of hairdressing because the student is offsite due to the facilities available in a particular location, but here the subject in question is music performance, and given that they are brand new schools which I think have been well thought out and planned to cater for the existing and immediate future needs, I do not quite understand why a pupil needs to ... 'commute' is too strong a word ... why pupils need to go out of the school environment, not within the consortium arrangement of Westside, Bayside and the College, but to an entity that does not come under the control of the Director of Education because it is an independent body. One would have thought that, if need be, because the teacher resources may not be available in Bayside, Westside or the College, the qualified individual could be brought in as an instructor and the lesson delivered within school premises, which is where parents would rather their children be, rather than having to go to an outside location which has totally no need to account for anything to the Director of Education.

1395 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not subscribe to that at all. The course provided by the accredited provider for Gibraltar, which is the Gibraltar Academy of Music and Performing Arts, is delivered by GAMPA on behalf of the College, so it is part of the consortium. There are hundreds of children and young people who make use of GAMPA premises after hours. In fact, I believe one of the private schools uses them during school hours. Their facilities are suitable for what they are used for, for this course.

1400 Gibraltar is smaller than certainly some university campuses, and we have had no feedback of any complaints from the students themselves about having some of their lessons at the GAMPA premises, so I do not think this is an area of concern any more than it is for the hairdressing students to go to a hairdressing salon, despite the fact that we do in fact have hairdressing facilities in Bayside School.

1405

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, for the record, I disagree with the Minister. I would rather the lessons were done there. But can I ask: in the past, through other questions the Minister has told us that when we have a subject like music, when we have an instructor coming to, for example, Bayside or Westside School, that instructor is instructing but under the overall supervision and under the overall care and observation of a qualified teacher. Are those delivering the Pearson BTEC Level 3 qualified teachers, or are they simply classified as instructors? And if that is the case, is there someone with QTS status also there, under whose ultimate responsibility the pupil comes?

1410

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not know whether this is some kind of veiled attack on the reputation of the Gibraltar Academy of Music and Performing Arts – because it looks like that is what it is becoming – which is highly regarded, is producing excellent results and excellent qualifications throughout all the age ranges. I think that we have to be careful how we question their ability.

1415

Let me just say that the BTEC was not possible in Bayside and Westside at the time we initiated it, just over a year ago. It was not possible for them to give this course. GAMPA was able to do the Pearson BTEC and was accredited by Pearson, and therefore is accepted to be qualified in order to deliver it. There are no concerns whatsoever, nor have there been any concerns that I am aware of, about the level and the standard that is being achieved. So I am completely satisfied that this is all done bona fide. In fact, we have been able to bring back into education some young people who had given up on education. They did not feel they could do the more academic A-Level music. They have come back and now they will be able to achieve a Level 3 qualification.

1420

1425

I think this is a wonderful initiative and having to walk a little bit of a way up the hill to GAMPA premises I think is not a disadvantage at all. I know the hon. Member and those who are briefing him will not agree, but we beg to differ.

1430

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I must begin by denying completely any insinuations that could be interpreted that I have no trust or confidence in the ability or the professionalism of those within GAMPA. I am proud to say that I have seen them in many public performances and I have been quite impressed with what they deliver. So, if that thought did momentarily cross the Minister's mind, it was certainly not what I was aiming for.

1435

I am basically getting down to what the Minister has partly answered. He said that when this course began ... I think he was careful in his words by saying at the time it could not be delivered within our secondary schools. That situation may have changed for the academic year 2022-23. It may or may not have changed. I still have to disagree. If we have spent millions of pounds in building new secondary schools, why can the students not remain within the school premises? And if needs be for human resources purposes, we can bring someone – who may be part of GAMPA, may be part of whatever other organisation – into a school, but it remains under the immediate juridical control in the school building that comes from the head teacher delegated down to teacher and so on, all those who act in what is known in educational terms as in loco parentis. That is why we insist on having qualified teachers. The Minister has not answered whether – although I have no doubt of their ability – the person delivering within the GAMPA premises has qualified teacher status or is just a highly reputable, well-vetted person. But still it begs the question: do they act in loco parentis when push comes to shove?

1440

1445

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the millions of pounds that this Government has spent on the schools is money extremely well spent and I am glad that by implication the hon. Member opposite has recognised that. Those facilities are being used. There are music courses being delivered in Bayside and Westside, but these students do not have to be there; they are perfectly well accommodated at the GAMPA premises. Remember that the course is being delivered by

1450

1455 GAMPA for the Gibraltar College and therefore the professional supervision and the overseeing of the course is done by the teaching professionals at the Gibraltar College. They are not left out in the wilderness. It is a course which has the total support of the Gibraltar College, which is being extremely well delivered and which will open and has opened opportunities for young people, and I really have no problem at all in stating that I am very comfortable with the way it is being 1460 delivered. I know we disagree, but so be it.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q475/2022

Dropping off and collecting children from non-school premises – Alternatives offered to parents

Clerk: Question 475/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

1465 Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer given through Written Question W44/2022, can the Minister for Education explain what alternatives the Department of Education offers to any parent who, for a variety of reasons, finds it extremely difficult to drop off or collect children for educational activities at a location other than the school premises where they are enrolled?

1470 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, schools try to be as flexible as possible when it comes to making alternative arrangements. One of the arrangements they put into place is a staggered drop-off and dismissal 1475 which allows parents a half-hour window to enable them to take or collect other children to school and then have time to manage a drop-off or collection for a trip.

Parents within the school communities also know that the Gibraltar Bus Company offers a fantastic service, and many parents rely on this.

1480 Schools do their best to limit trips which require parents' input, and where this is necessary they limit the parental input to drop-off or collection. Schools take a considered approach and when they feel the value of the trip warrants the parental inconvenience and cannot be replaced with a trip closer to the school setting, they go ahead.

1485 Some schools also appeal to parents in their letters about a trip, encouraging parents to consider supporting other families via a car-pooling approach. For example, school letters might include a phrase such as, 'We thank parents who offer lifts to other children who may struggle with the drop-off required for this trip. It is testament to the strong and collaborative school community we have here at [such and such a school].'

1490 As far as the Department of Education is aware, schools have reported very few concerns with reference to this issue. As previously mentioned, as far as is humanly possible, schools try to walk to a trip from school and return to school for collection. However, schools recognise the immensely powerful impact of educational visits and sometimes they feel they need to ask parents to support schools with either a drop-off or collection. On many occasions, teachers walk pupils there and back from the school setting so children get dropped off and picked up from school, whenever possible, as per the normal routine. In summary, schools do the best they can 1495 but are extremely mindful of the inconvenience to parents.

Distances in Gibraltar are much smaller than those in other communities, so we are lucky that children and young people can gain the benefit of access to a wide range of locations with minimal inconvenience to parents.

1500 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, the Minister in his reply has repeated a fair amount of what was given through the original written answer, but my question here was what alternatives does the Department of Education offer? If I use an example, if you have a single parent who has a child in lower primary and another one in upper primary, that person already has certain daily 1505 adjustments to make to their personal lives and unavailability of working hours to be able to drop off and collect the children at the appointed times, and even if one gives notice or whatever, it is highly inconvenient. The Minister admits that there have been very few concerns, but even one concern is one too many, and we cannot pick and choose when we do concerns, in the same way as in a previous answer the Minister wanted to throw in the example that certain private schools 1510 use the GAMPA facilities and says all we are doing is following suit in what has been available for private schools.

Is the Minister aware of and has he considered doing something similar to what private schools do? The children report to school as normal and then transport is provided by the school – and here it would come under the wider umbrella of Education – to actually take and return from the school premises the children for those activities. That would make life a lot easier. It would even 1515 contribute to the lesser need to bring out vehicles where some parents have to then bring out a car. Despite the bus service being there and suitable for many things, you are subject to the bus timetable in what time you get there and so on. So it would actually even curtail traffic if children were just put on one bus – like the Minister for Transport said yesterday, use a bus instead of having to bring out all these private vehicles.

1520 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, my good friend Mr Reyes – and I say that most sincerely, we are good friends, but for this conversation he seems to have lost touch with reality. Private schools are individual schools that might want to hire a bus for one particular occasion. The Department of Education is responsible for 15 schools with thousands of children. How many buses would we 1525 have to own or hire on every occasion when we want to take children back and forth? Or is he suggesting that we provide a taxi service, which would make our already large estimates – because education is expensive in Gibraltar – even larger, in order to provide this? Unfortunately, that is not realistic and I would love to ... In fact, it is interesting because, as I said earlier, children are often walked to or walked back, and one complaint I get from people very close to me – I have 1530 two grandchildren in school – is ‘angelito’ they have to walk all the way. Why couldn’t we pick them up from there?’ So there is to-ing and fro-ing.

I think that if any particular parent ... and clearly there will be parents who cannot do it. I would have thought that if they make contact with the school, they would be very happy to talk to other parents to provide some kind of car-pooling arrangement. I know for a fact that some phone, and 1535 because they are all in this SeeSaw group, they can contact each other. So I think the problem is not as big. I realise that it will be a problem for some. We will do our best to help, but certainly we cannot provide a bus or taxi service for seven or eight thousand children – it is just not realistic – and I do not think we should deprive them of the possibility of these school trips, which educationally and socially are very beneficial to them.

1540 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q476/2022
Vandalism on school premises –
Updates re efforts to curtail

Clerk: Question 476/2022. The Hon. EJ Reyes.

1545 Hon. E J Reyes: Further to the answer given through Written Question W45/2022, can the Minister for Education provide updates in respect of the success or otherwise of their efforts to curtail vandalism within our school premises?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for the Environment and Education.

1550 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the schools have seen a marked improvement since the installation of the additional CCTV cameras in more circulation spaces. This, together with increased monitoring and more strategic supervision, seems to have deterred many would-be perpetrators as the school is able to identify those who vandalise and follow up appropriately with consequences, as relevant.
1555 The additional CCTV helps school staff to respond to any supervisory issues that arise within what are very large buildings.

Schools feel further work can be done in this regard and will continue working with young people and their parents or carers in order to enhance young people's sense of belonging and their feelings of school pride, as well as to ensure the continuing development of civic pride.

1560

Hon. E J Reyes: May I start by saying I am glad that the Minister started by saying that there has been marked improvement. I hope we are successful in getting a full or much more improved curtailment of vandalism.

1565 The Minister has gone on to mention this co-operation between parents and students and so on. Can I ask, have the Royal Gibraltar Police, as an example of an entity that could provide good professional advice, been engaged, and are they engaged with the schools and helping with those provisions? And has there been any case where a particular pupil has been identified as being one of those unfortunate vandals, and what course of action does the school then take from there?

1570 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I cannot speak for individual cases, I am not aware of the detail, but as I have said, the schools do identify them and they take appropriate measures. This might involve talking to the child – depending on the age of the child, of course – bringing in the parents, discussing, and in some cases they will have to take some action with the child in whatever manner they see fit. They are the ones who have to judge that in situ.

1575 In relation to the Royal Gibraltar Police, yes, indeed, whenever there are any major incidents, there is involvement of the Police. I, myself, met personally with the Commissioner of Police on this very matter probably around three weeks ago to discuss co-operation, so yes, we are engaging with them. Obviously, we want to keep the Police away, if we can. We do not want to involve the Police directly within our school premises if we can avoid it and if it is something that is nowhere 1580 near the criminal, but obviously we are in communication and should that be necessary, well, then it is necessary.

Q477/2022

Speech therapy facilities – Availability in Government schools

Clerk: Question number 477/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

1585 Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government provide details of the speech therapy facilities currently in place and available for students of all Government schools?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1590 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, with regard to facilities from a schools perspective, some schools, like St Martins, have a designated therapy room which can be used by speech and language therapists to see pupils. Other schools make a room available if a therapist is going to visit to see a child within the school environment. This room would not solely be for speech and language therapy; it may be used by the occupational therapists, the physiotherapists, the BEST team, a school counsellor or social worker if they need to see a child on a one-to-one or small-group basis within the school environment.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, I am glad to hear that.

1600 In respect of the human resources ... Let's talk about speech therapists and such. Are they housed within the school or are they brought in as an when requested by the school from a Department like the Health Authority?

1605 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, speech therapy is a GHA service, so Education do not decide which pupils will be seen by speech and language therapists. Some pupils are seen by the therapist within the school environment when therapist requests to see a pupil. Other pupils see the speech therapist in an alternative setting, like the Children's Health Centre or other setting as identified by therapist.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

1610 A little bit of confusion arises from something the Minister has just said. Can he confirm, can the schools' teaching staff raise a concern and therefore make a request for a speech therapist to come in, or is it just an outside body that can identify them?

1615 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, clearly. Usually, children who need this therapy are identified in the assessment process for special educational need, which I explained in one of the written questions, so it would be picked up by the school. If it has not been picked up and the child is not technically registered but the teachers feel that there may be some advantage, then obviously they will refer this to the speech and language therapy team and then they will do the assessment and come in, or call the child to the clinic, as may be necessary.

Q478/2022

Repayment of scholarships for uncompleted courses – Updated details

1620 Clerk: Question 478/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

1625 Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government provide updated details of repayments outstanding from pupils who have not completed any courses for which they were granted scholarships, indicating the dates from which such repayments were due, frequency and amounts to be paid, together with the date by when individuals' repayments are expected to be completed?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1630 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I am handing over a schedule with the information requested.

Answer to Q478/2022

AS AT 30TH SEPT 2022

DATE OF AWARD	GIBRALTAR GOVERNMENT SCHOLARSHIP FUND		OUTSTANDING AS AT 30 SEP 2022	CURRENTLY PAYING	HELD IN AGREEMENT	FREQUENCY OF PAYMENT	PROJECTED COMPLETION DATE
1989/90	STUDENT	1	£788.99	No	No
1990/91	STUDENT	2	£164.00	No	No
1996/97	STUDENT	3	£546.59	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-25
1997/98	STUDENT	4	£1,614.80	No	No
1997/98	STUDENT	5	£81.60	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Feb-23
1998/99	STUDENT	6	£71.50	Yes	Yes	Monthly
1999/00	STUDENT	7	£356.61	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2000/01	STUDENT	8	£5,790.20	No	No
2000/01	STUDENT	9	£4,947.81	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Mar-29
2000/01	STUDENT	10	£1,374.60	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jul-30
2000/01	STUDENT	11	£1,012.59	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jun-24
2000/01	STUDENT	12	£3,587.03	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-52
2000/01	STUDENT	13	£6,007.40	No	No
2000/01	STUDENT	14	£9,568.19	No	No
2000/01	STUDENT	15	£532.80	No	No
2002/03	STUDENT	16	£2,592.81	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Dec-25
2002/03	STUDENT	17	£823.80	No	No
2002/03	STUDENT	18	£1,782.41	No	No
2002/03	STUDENT	19	£2,873.69	No	No
2002/03	STUDENT	20	£1,573.80	No	No
2002/03	STUDENT	21	£1,260.19	No	No
2003/04	STUDENT	22	£11,540.82	No	No
2004/05	STUDENT	23	£4,211.41	No	No
2004/05	STUDENT	24	£70.00	No	No
2004/05	STUDENT	25	£4,472.41	No	Yes	Monthly
2005/06	STUDENT	26	£1,547.41	No	Yes	Monthly
2005/06	STUDENT	27	£8,411.33	No	No
2005/06	STUDENT	28	£5,149.40	No	No
2005/06	STUDENT	29	£4,937.41	No	No
2005/06	STUDENT	30	£1,304.41	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-25
2006/07	STUDENT	31	£2,130.73	No	No
2006/07	STUDENT	32	£247.40	No	Yes	Monthly
2006/07	STUDENT	33	£5,526.60	No	Yes	Monthly
2006/07	STUDENT	34	£4,097.40	No	No
2006/07	STUDENT	35	£2,100.48	No	No
2007/08	STUDENT	36	£92.65	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2007/08	STUDENT	37	£1,715.99	No	No
2007/08	STUDENT	38	£1,335.37	No	Yes	Monthly

GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT, THURSDAY, 24th NOVEMBER 2022

2008/09	STUDENT	39	£3,072.26	Yes	No		Feb-33
2008/09	STUDENT	40	£7,113.81	No	No
2008/09	STUDENT	41	£208.57	No	Yes	Monthly
2008/09	STUDENT	42	£2,845.19	No	Yes	Monthly
2008/09	STUDENT	43	£1,193.60	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Nov-24
2009/10	STUDENT	44	£916.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-23
2009/10	STUDENT	45	£2,482.46	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Mar-33
2009/10	STUDENT	46	£2,032.06	No	Yes	Monthly
2009/10	STUDENT	47	£916.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2010/11	STUDENT	48	£3,936.86	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-31
2010/11	STUDENT	49	£3,181.20	Yes	Yes
2010/11	STUDENT	50	£3,052.81	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jun-25
2010/11	STUDENT	51	£1,239.79	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-25
2010/11	STUDENT	52	£84.27	No	Yes	Monthly
2010/11	STUDENT	53	£620.06	No	No
2010/11	STUDENT	54	£1,014.26	Yes	No		Feb-27
2010/11	STUDENT	55	£3,333.41	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-36
2010/11	STUDENT	56	£2,600.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Apr-24
2011/12	STUDENT	57	£4,410.81	Yes	No		Feb-35
2011/12	STUDENT	58	£1,812.13	Yes	No		May-30
2011/12	STUDENT	59	£5,430.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2011/12	STUDENT	60	£5,136.41	Yes	No		Jun-31
2011/12	STUDENT	61	£3,110.81	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jul-31
2011/12	STUDENT	62	£3,901.80	Yes	No		May-29
2011/12	STUDENT	63	£7,569.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2011/12	STUDENT	64	£2,479.79	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-27
2011/12	STUDENT	65	£4,292.10	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-40
2011/12	STUDENT	66	£8,699.66	No	Yes	Monthly
2012/13	STUDENT	67	£2,362.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2012/13	STUDENT	68	£750.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2012/13	STUDENT	69	£5,725.50	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-26
2012/13	STUDENT	70	£1,162.15	No	Yes	Monthly
2013/14	STUDENT	71	£4,928.93	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Feb-31
2013/14	STUDENT	72	£6,925.29	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2013/14	STUDENT	73	£90.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2013/14	STUDENT	74	£9,719.30	No	Yes	Monthly
2013/14	STUDENT	75	£200.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2013/14	STUDENT	76	£1,120.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2013/14	STUDENT	77	£3,585.00	No	No
2014/15	STUDENT	78	£4,468.81	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-29
2014/15	STUDENT	79	£2,848.55	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Aug-34
2014/15	STUDENT	80	£8,093.64	No	Yes	Monthly
2014/15	STUDENT	81	£635.80	Yes	No		Dec-23
2014/15	STUDENT	82	£5,197.82	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Mar-27
2015/16	STUDENT	83	£259.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Apr-23

GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT, THURSDAY, 24th NOVEMBER 2022

2015/16	STUDENT	84	£7,955.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	May-35
2015/16	STUDENT	85	£133.20	No	Yes	Monthly
2015/16	STUDENT	86	£5,915.81	No	Yes	Monthly
2015/16	STUDENT	87	£10,392.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jul-57
2015/16	STUDENT	88	£12,655.40	No	Yes	Weekly
2015/16	STUDENT	89	£1,611.68	No	Yes	Monthly
2015/16	STUDENT	90	£6,458.13	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Apr-28
2015/16	STUDENT	91	£11,651.05	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Aug-28
2015/16	STUDENT	92	£19,924.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2015/16	STUDENT	93	£15,849.00	No	No
2015/16	STUDENT	94	£18,000.00	No	No
2016/17	STUDENT	95	£11,270.20	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Aug-34
2016/17	STUDENT	96	£1,772.16	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2016/17	STUDENT	97	£313.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2016/17	STUDENT	98	£4,176.60	Yes	Yes	Monthly	May-26
2016/17	STUDENT	99	£1,225.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2016/17	STUDENT	100	£9,739.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Feb-39
2016/17	STUDENT	101	£11,290.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Sep-41
2016/17	STUDENT	102	£5,325.41	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Nov-25
2016/17	STUDENT	103	£1,398.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2016/17	STUDENT	104	£3.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2016/17	STUDENT	105	£1,865.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Nov-25
2016/17	STUDENT	106	£8,027.60	No	Yes	Monthly
2016/17	STUDENT	107	£1,165.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Feb-26
2016/17	STUDENT	108	£13,896.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2016/17	STUDENT	109	£1,180.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2016/17	STUDENT	110	£11,364.80	Yes	Yes
2016/17	STUDENT	111	£2,194.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Sep-24
2016/17	STUDENT	112	£9,538.55	No	No
2017/18	STUDENT	113	£11,685.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Aug-32
2017/18	STUDENT	114	£12,281.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2017/18	STUDENT	115	£5,295.60	No	Yes	Monthly
2017/18	STUDENT	116	£3,454.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Aug-28
2017/18	STUDENT	117	£1,093.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Sep-24
2017/18	STUDENT	118	£16,159.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2017/18	STUDENT	119	£9,625.80	Yes	Yes	Weekly	Apr-30
2017/18	STUDENT	120	£1,590.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Apr-27
2017/18	STUDENT	121	£5,200.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2017/18	STUDENT	122	£1,662.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2017/18	STUDENT	123	£9,149.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2017/18	STUDENT	124	£4,014.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Aug-39
2017/18	STUDENT	125	£10,358.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jul-31
2017/18	STUDENT	126	£4,066.40	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2017/18	STUDENT	127	£2,576.30	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Feb-27
2017/18	STUDENT	128	£50.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly

GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT, THURSDAY, 24th NOVEMBER 2022

2017/18	STUDENT	129	£10,379.40	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2017/18	STUDENT	130	£15,765.80	No	No
2017/18	STUDENT	131	£12,894.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Mar-38
2017/18	STUDENT	132	£550.00	No	No
2017/18	STUDENT	133	£16,025.60	No	Yes	Monthly
2017/18	STUDENT	134	£9,460.00	No	No
2017/18	STUDENT	135	£2,928.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	136	£7,284.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-35
2018/19	STUDENT	137	£31.55	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	138	£982.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jun-24
2018/19	STUDENT	139	£418.80	Yes	Yes	Weekly	May-24
2018/19	STUDENT	140	£12,184.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	141	£15,897.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	142	£1,621.30	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	143	£11,925.60	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-23
2018/19	STUDENT	144	£15,004.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	145	£16,688.20	No	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	146	£8,918.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	147	£15,964.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	148	£5,425.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	May-27
2018/19	STUDENT	149	£15,452.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-35
2018/19	STUDENT	150	£1,159.40	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Mar-23
2018/19	STUDENT	151	£5,990.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Nov-27
2018/19	STUDENT	152	£17,275.20	No	No
2018/19	STUDENT	153	£16,729.60	No	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	154	£600.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2018/19	STUDENT	155	£6,704.80	No	No
2019/20	STUDENT	156	£11,975.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Nov-32
2019/20	STUDENT	157	£20,819.60	No	Yes	Monthly
2019/20	STUDENT	158	£14,714.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2019/20	STUDENT	159	£15,754.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2019/20	STUDENT	160	£15,148.80	No	No
2019/20	STUDENT	161	£9,400.40	No	No
2019/20	STUDENT	162	£1,326.46	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Dec-23
2019/20	STUDENT	163	£2,081.43	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jul-24
2019/20	STUDENT	164	£3,164.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jun-25
2019/20	STUDENT	165	£2,305.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-24
2019/20	STUDENT	166	£11,115.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Feb-32
2019/20	STUDENT	167	£13,464.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Feb-34
2019/20	STUDENT	168	£6,616.80	yes	Yes	Monthly	May-28
2019/20	STUDENT	169	£161.71	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-21
2019/20	STUDENT	170	£15,664.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2019/20	STUDENT	171	£6,568.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2019/20	STUDENT	172	£3,520.60	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-24
2019/20	STUDENT	173	£6,001.30	No	Yes	Monthly

GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT, THURSDAY, 24th NOVEMBER 2022

2019/20	STUDENT	174	£15,289.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	May-31
2019/20	STUDENT	175	£6,631.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	May-28
2019/20	STUDENT	176	£6,844.46	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jul-28
2019/20	STUDENT	177	£80.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2019/20	STUDENT	178	£13,349.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Dec-33
2019/20	STUDENT	179	£10,775.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Nov-28
2019/20	STUDENT	180	£16,924.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2019/20	STUDENT	181	£888.00	No	No
2019/20	STUDENT	182	£1,660.00	No	No
2019/20	STUDENT	183	£3,120.00	No	No
2019/20	STUDENT	184	£4,590.25	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-40
2019/20	STUDENT	185	£16,298.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jun-36
2019/20	STUDENT	186	£9,959.15	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jun-27
2019/20	STUDENT	187	£15,762.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jul-36
2019/20	STUDENT	188	£15,251.65	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jun-28
2019/20	STUDENT	189	£16,472.40	No	Yes	Monthly
2019/20	STUDENT	190	£15,678.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2019/20	STUDENT	191	£7,397.13	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Dec-26
2019/20	STUDENT	192	£5,271.46	No	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	193	£2,080.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jul-24
2020/21	STUDENT	194	£3,878.63	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Feb-26
2020/21	STUDENT	195	£17,786.20	No	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	196	£9,959.15	Yes	Yes	Monthly	May-28
2020/21	STUDENT	197	£15,807.80	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-36
2020/21	STUDENT	198	£9,250.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	199	£9,462.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	200	£11,772.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	201	£15,790.40	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jan-36
2020/21	STUDENT	202	£6,700.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	203	£9,719.30	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	204	£16,550.00	No	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	205	£16,100.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Oct-31
2020/21	STUDENT	206	£16,350.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jul-36
2020/21	STUDENT	207	£11,618.20	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Sep-28
2020/21	STUDENT	208	£16,496.00	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	209	£16,635.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	210	£10,802.90	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	211	£8,390.40	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Nov-29
2020/21	STUDENT	212	£11,835.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2020/21	STUDENT	213	£3,319.13	No	No
2020/21	STUDENT	214	£17,830.80	No	No
2021/22	STUDENT	215	£6,665.46	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Jun-28
2021/22	STUDENT	216	£5,289.46	No	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	217	£14,202.46	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	218	£4,696.65	Yes	Yes	Monthly

2021/22	STUDENT	219	£5,303.63	No	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	220	£1,283.33	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	221	£5,208.13	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	222	£5,253.63	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Apr-27
2021/22	STUDENT	223	£12,867.80	Yes	Yes		Jan-30
2021/22	STUDENT	224	£14,623.46	No	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	225	£5,403.63	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	226	£1,478.32	Yes	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	227	£16,635.80	No	No
2021/22	STUDENT	228	£17,690.40	Yes	Yes	Monthly	Sep-32
2021/22	STUDENT	229	£16,635.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	230	£17,840.40	No	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	231	£17,830.80	No	Yes	Monthly
2021/22	STUDENT	232	£16,635.80	No	No
2021/22	STUDENT	233	£14,476.46	No	No

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I have the schedule. Unfortunately, it is rather smallish printed. I think in the past we have made the request ... Because, as the Minister divulged before, we have been very good friends – actually pupils in the same school, in the same class – for well over half a century, one is honest. If he does have it in an Excel format or whatever, if I can have that link then I can enlarge it.

1635

On my very first quick look, on the projected completion date in some cases there are no dates at all. That is something that the accounts clerks would have to do from the amount outstanding, but I do not have a column that says how much has been paid. What it brings to mind is, towards the top, one of the projected completion dates is October 2052. There are still 30 more years to go before that date. If the debtor is a 20-year-old, he will probably be knocking on the door of retirement and cashing in his pension and still have outstanding debt from a scholarship. It could be a typographical error. It could be something that the Minister is aware of and he may have a simple explanation for why that odd date of 2052 ... I know 2040 comes further down the line, later, but if one owes £4,000 and still has 20 years to pay, it means you are only paying, what, £500? I do not know – mathematics is not my forte – but it seems to be a very slow payback rate.

1640

1645

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I would have to find the information. I can say that I will certainly send the information in Excel. If the hon. Member does not receive it tomorrow, I would appreciate it if he just sends me a WhatsApp or an email to remind me and I will send it to him.

1650

These are contracts entered into by the Department with the student and/or the student's parents, and therefore no two cases will be the same. I will certainly check whether that date is typographical or real, and if it is real, then I am sure there is a reason for it, which I will be very happy to share with the hon. Member behind your Chair, Mr Speaker. There could be sensitive personal details that I do not think we should share, because in Gibraltar people could be identified. But this is not secret at all, and I would be very happy to do that with the hon. Member.

1655

Hon. E J Reyes: That is acceptable to me, Mr Speaker, and I look forward to that information.

Q479/2022
Vacant teaching posts –
Details

Clerk: Question 479/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

1660 Hon. E J Reyes: Can the Minister for Education provide this House with updated details in respect of all vacant teaching posts, identifying the school/establishment where these may exist, together with the grade they pertain to, and further indicating how many are being covered in an acting capacity and by when it is expected these posts will be allocated on a substantive basis?

1665 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1670 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Yes, Mr Speaker, once again with apologies for the small print but likewise I am happy to share the digital file. The information is provided in the schedule being handed over. I can assure the hon. Member that I find it as difficult to read as he does, so he is at no disadvantage in that respect.

Answer to Q479/2022

ANSWER TO QUESTION 479

SCHOOL:	TYPE OF VACANCY	TIERING	TITLE OF VACANCY	CURRENTLY BEING ACTED	PRIORITY FOR VACANCY RELEASE	TIMEFRAME
BFUP	TLR	TLR 2B	Year Coordinator & Foundation Subject Leader	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
BS	TLR	TLR 1B	Pastoral Lead	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
BS	DHT	N/A	Deputy Headteacher at Bayside School	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
BS	TLR	TLR 1B	Subject Leader English	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
BS	TLR	TLR 1A	Senior Teacher	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
BS	TLR	TLR 1A	Senior Teacher	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
GC	TLR	TLR 2A	Coordinator for Continuing Education & Professional Courses	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
SBUP	TLR	TLR 2B	Year Coordinator & Foundation Subject Leader	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
SJUP	DHT	N/A	Deputy Headteacher at St Joseph's Upper Primary School	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
SPLP	TLR	TLR 2C	IT Coordinator	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
SPLP	TLR	TLR 2C	Music and Expressive Arts Coordinator	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
WS	TLR	TLR 2A	Subject Leader Textiles	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
WS	TLR	TLR 2A	Subject Leader Music	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
WS	TLR	TLR 2A	Subject Leader IT	Y	Currently being recruited	We intend recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2
BS	TLR	TLR 2A	Admin and Resource Coordinator	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
BS	TLR	TLR 2A	Assisant to Post 16 Coordinator	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
BS	TLR	TLR 2A	DT Coordinator	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
BS	TLR	TLR 1B	Science Coordinator	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
BS	TLR	TLR 2D	Assistant to Head of Department Art	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
BS	TLR	TLR 2D	Teacher in charge of the Library	N	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
GC	TLR	TLR 1B	IT Coordinator	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
GMLP	TLR	TLR 2B	Year Coordinator and Foundation Subject Leader	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
HPS	TLR	TLR 2B	ICT and Foundation Subject Leader	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
SJLP	TLR	TLR 2B	Year Coordinator and Foundation Subject Leader	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
SJLP	TLR	TLR 2B	Year Coordinator and Foundation Subject Leader	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
SPLP	TLR	TLR 2D	Early Years Coordinator	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
SPLP	TLR	TLR 2B	Year Coordinator and Foundation Subject Leader	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
SPLP	TLR	TLR 2B	Year Coordinator and Foundation Subject Leader	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
WS	TLR	TLR 1B	DT Coordinator	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
WS	TLR	TLR 2A	Subject Leader Drama	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
WS	TLR	TLR 1B	Science Coordinator	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
WS	TLR	TLR 2B	Assistant to Year Coordinator (KS3)	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
WS	TLR	TLR 2B	Assistant to Year Coordinator (KS4)	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
WS	TLR	TLR 2B	Assistant to Post 16 Coordinator	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year
WS	TLR	TLR 1A	Key Stage Coordinator (KS4)	Y	Under review	Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, thank you, and of course I can look at it further at another stage. I am glad to note in the column under the heading 'Currently Being Acted', they all indicate yes except for one particular post, which is 'Teacher in charge of the Library'. Is there a specific reason why they have decided not to allocate this post, even in an acting capacity?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, this is one of the posts that we are reviewing, but it is not acted upon because it is teacher in charge of the library in the secondary schools, where we have now employed a librarian and the discussion is whether we need a specific teacher in charge of the library or whether that role is adequately filled by the post of librarian. That is a discussion we are having both internally with Human Resources and, obviously, with the staff side.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.
Because of the Minister's answer it is now clarified that it is just a teacher of library as opposed to ... Just over 20 years ago, when I personally had a post within Bayside School, part of the duties was the library, but it actually encompassed more things and encompassed all learning facilities.

May I move on to the last column here? The Minister is being honest, saying 'We intend the recruitment process to have been completed by the end of Term 2,' so your recruitment process will have been completed by then. One could safely say, despite delays, by term 3. Then the incumbent would have been settled. However, a bit further down is 'Decision on way forward to be determined by the end of this academic year.' That could take us anywhere to June or July, and you determine a way forward but then the whole selection process does not commence until September. Can the Minister allay any fears that although it is work in progress, it seems in a year's time we could be talking about the same thing and still have a vacant position?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I think that is unlikely. We are advancing in discussions on whether some of these need to be reviewed. Because the schools are larger, we had to give a bit of time to see whether responsibilities were adequate. I could go case by case, but obviously it would take too much time. The intention is that we finalise and agree with the teaching side what those posts should be, whether they need a change in title, whether they need a change in TLR, so that we would then advertise next term with a view to recruiting the following term, so that the teachers could be in place by the beginning of the next academic year. That is realistic because these things cannot be done overnight and the selection process normally – in many cases there are a lot of candidates – takes a long time, but that is the intention. I hope and I certainly undertake that we will not be in the position next year that these are pending. He will note, Mr Speaker, that a number of them are actually advertised and are currently in the process of being recruited – just under half of the total.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, thank you.
One small thing: because those towards the bottom say decision on way forward to be decided, are we talking about a decision that mainly, if anything, would affect the column 'Tiering', whether it be a TLR 1B or 2B and so on? Is that what the Minister is saying could be the main area to be decided on a way forward?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is a possibility. If the responsibilities have been increased because of the changes in the school, then the TLR may have to be a higher one; if they decrease, it may have to be a lower one. I suspect that if that happens they will more or less balance out, but this is a discussion that has to be considered very carefully and has to be done including the teachers' union.

Q480/2022
Greenhouse Gas City Inventory 2020 –
Expected date of publication

1720 Clerk: Question 480/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state when it is to publish its next greenhouse gas emissions declaration?

1725

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the 2020 Greenhouse Gas City Inventory will be published in mid-December this year, in a couple of weeks' time.

1730

Hon. K Azopardi: I am grateful for that. As it is imminent, has the hon. Member seen a draft of that, and how would that compare with the previous ...?

1735 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker. May I also add that the requirement for producing these inventories is every two years, so we will publish the 2020 now and then we have to publish the other within two years' time; it takes time to develop the inventory.

From what I remember, the greenhouse gas emissions have dropped from the previous term. Clearly, there is a little bit of an artefact there because the 2020 figures will be expected to be lower because of lockdown. I think the indication is that even without lockdown the figures would have been smaller, but that will all be explained when the report is published. I believe the news is good, but obviously with the caveat that lockdown will have had an effect.

1740

Hon. K Azopardi: This is going to cover what specific period, just to remind us?

1745

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, from memory I think it is the preceding two years. I have not got my supplementary notes with me, for some reason, but I believe it is two years. I stand to be corrected and I will certainly inform the hon. Member if I find that I am mistaken.

1750 Hon. K Azopardi: Just finally, so that I understand the point of 'the preceding two years' – meaning the period 2020-22 or the period 2018-20?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, again, my notes seem to be missing from the file. The 2020 inventory will have covered, I believe, the two years up to 2020, so the previous one would have been the two years up to 2018. Again, I stand to be corrected.

1755

Q481/2022
Renewable energy –
Gibraltar's share

Clerk: Question 481/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state what Gibraltar's share of renewable energy is?

1760

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the installed capacity of renewable energy projects is about 3 megawatts. This constitutes about 10% of Gibraltar's daily average peak power demand, which is about 30 megawatts.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what is the aim, in terms of the percentage that the Minister would like to achieve in terms of renewable energy?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, our published aim was 20% by 2021. That was delayed because of the inability of contractors to carry out projects during the COVID period. There are a number of other projects in hand which I believe within the next 12 months should take us very close to 20%. I would like to have much more than that, and we are working on ways of achieving it, but I am fairly confident that we will be very close to 20% in about 12 months' time. I am very pleased that we are now at 10%, which is obviously a lot more than it was 11 years ago when we were at not just zero but probably minus something because there was not a lot of interest.

Hon. K Azopardi: And when the hon. Member says they are working on projects to make it rise from 10% to 20% ... Obviously it was 20% by 2021, so clearly we have not got there and that could be due to other factors, but what is the kind of project that he is talking about that will make us get to that percentage?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: There are a number of projects that were planned and already have planning permission. In fact, there are one or two projects and I believe that one of the new stadiums is one which is producing energy, but we need to tweak the recording facility, so we may actually be producing a little bit more. There is already planning permission for a number of projects, and from memory I know that the University is one. I know that the solar panels were delivered there this week or last week. There is another plan for St Joseph's School and there are one or two others that were already part of a tender process, were allocated, went to planning but had to be halted and they are now taking off again. There are discussions with other, private, entities for themselves to install solar panels on their own roofs and there are discussions between the Department of the Environment, the Gibraltar Electricity Authority and these entities looking into the possibility of expanding further. This is why I believe that we can be close to 20% in a year's time.

Hon. K Azopardi: And so am I right in understanding from his explanation that the way we are achieving that jump in renewable energy is focused primarily, if not exclusively, on the solar panel route? Is that right?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, indeed, Mr Speaker, this is actually the cheapest and it is getting cheaper all the time, and, for Gibraltar, the most effective. Clearly we do not have land area for sizeable wind generators. Offshore is a possibility that is not being discarded and there are various studies looking into that. I think I have mentioned in here before we had an assessment of current speed to look at marine currents, which was done by the University of Highlands and Islands, and the preliminary studies suggested that our currents, surprisingly enough, within BGTW were not strong enough using present technology to make the marine current generators viable. In other words, it would take too long to give us the investment back. However, we are on their radar and they are leading in research on this, and as the technology improves it may well be possible for us to harness the power of the sea in our waters. But at the moment it is solar that is clearly well in the lead. There are still plenty of spaces where we can we can put them, and they are getting more efficient all the time.

Q482/2022

Commonwealth and Campion Parks – Smoke-free designation

Clerk: Question 482/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

1815

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state whether or not Commonwealth Park and Campion Park are designated as smoke-free zones; and if not, why not?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1820

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): No, Mr Speaker, Commonwealth Park and Campion Park are not currently designated as smoke-free zones. The original legislation for playgrounds and parks was designed for children's play parks specifically. However, new regulations designating these two parks as smoke-free zones are being drafted. I have seen a very advanced draft only this week, so it may be that we are able to publish as early as next week. I am not committing 100%, but I am quite hopeful that we will see it before Christmas.

1825

Q483/2022

Walk the Wall project –
Progress

Clerk: Question 483/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition on behalf of the Hon. E J Phillips.

1830

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government state what progress it has made with its 2020 proposed Walk the Wall project?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1835

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Government has produced a detailed design and costing of the Walk the Wall project which divides it into phases. This project will not be proceeded with until it is financially prudent to do so, or private sector funding has been identified.

1840

Hon. K Azopardi: Can the Minister give us a bit more information about the phases? For example, when he says it will not be proceeded with because of the financial aspects, how many phases, what is the implementation timescale of the phases and what is the cost?

1845

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Deputy Chief Minister is working on this with me and he may have more information. I think it is at least four phases. My hon. Friend suggests it is more. I think, from our last discussion, which is some months ago, we would start in the north and work our way southwards, heading from the American War Memorial towards the Catholic Community Centre as a first phase and taking it from there.

1850

I have no indication as to costs, but I think whatever costs we will have had by the time the phases are rolled out would obviously have to be reviewed, so I cannot assess that one.

Hon. K Azopardi: Just to understand that ‘no indication of costs’, is it that you have no indication of costs with you today?

1855 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes.

Hon. K Azopardi: All right, so it is not that you have no indication of costs?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: I have no indication of costs with me today.

Q484/2022
Upper Rock –
Measures to protect against fire

1860 Clerk: Question 484/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. E J Reyes: Is the Government taking any extra measures to protect against fire in the Upper Rock?

1865 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Yes, the Department of the Environment works with colleagues in the GRS and Civil Contingencies to protect the Upper Rock against fire. Recently we have stepped up preparedness and have carried out a series of desktop exercises in order to be ready for such an eventuality. A live exercise is being planned for the near future involving all stakeholders. Practical steps, such as widening of firebreaks and repairs to water tanks, have also been carried out and more is planned.

1875 Hon. E J Reyes: It is amazing how nature interfered with this question. We did have a little bit of rain yesterday, but obviously by the time this question had been posed it had not rained for a very substantial time. If one brings to mind what used to happen years ago, when we had what seemed to be annual occurrences of fires in the Upper Rock ...

1880 The Minister has, in his answer, explained that the fire breaks and so on will be kept. Is there a scheduled programme, now that we are at this time of the year and more so, so that when spring comes we do not start to get, again, new growth in areas that have traditionally served as firebreaks? I am thinking of those that come to mind like behind the Bruce’s Farm area and so on.

1885 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the firebreaks are cleared before the summer. The new growth between now and the end of spring will be green, and because the woody vegetation is all removed it will all be herbaceous and not a danger to fire, so it is unlikely that fire would spread across firebreaks. It clearly depends on wind conditions and all that sort of thing, but the programme, I think, works well and the firebreaks are being extended. The plan is that every year they will be extended by a little bit more, obviously within limits, in order to increase the gap should fires arise.

1895 We are reviewing water supplies to the Reserve. You will be aware that there are works ongoing by AquaGib to take water up to Jews Gate to improve on the MoD supply there. All these things are happening and there are now a series of meetings being held with stakeholders to discuss and carry out desktop exercises as to how we will respond in different wind conditions and so on. So I think we are really upping the ante, hoping always that it will be a waste of time because we will not have to deal with a fire.

1900 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I am glad to hear the Minister confirming that AquaGib is working on the extra provision, or improved provision of water and so on. Things may have changed. I know at one time the only supply of water in the Upper Rock was actually fresh water; there was a total lack of brackish water. Are these works being undertaken by AquaGib exclusively fresh water, or brackish or non-potable water, because that influences the demand on the town, as unfortunately we had a few months ago when we had to be careful and ration our use of water?

1905 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I cannot answer that question. I know fresh water is involved. Whether they are putting in saltwater mains as well, I am not certain. I am glad to say, on behalf of my hon. Friend the Minister for Public Utilities, that water stocks at the moment are very healthy. I do not think that having the ability to have more pressure on our water supply on the Upper Rock is necessarily going to increase the consumption there. We are not going to suddenly provide more people with water, for instance; it is just that the water will be more reliable for 1910 those who live there.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q485-86/2022

COP27 –

Government attendance; implementation of recommendations

Clerk: Question 485/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1915 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, did the Government attend COP27?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1920 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): I will answer this question together with Question 486.

Clerk: Question 486/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1925 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how will Government respond or envisage implementing the recommendations emerging from COP27, and what impact will this have on its own Climate Change Strategy issued in 2021?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1930 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Government did not attend COP27 in person, although Government officials did attend a number of sessions virtually.

1935 The main outcome is the setting up of funding for developing nations, which I wholeheartedly welcome, but the need for stronger commitment for the reduction of the use of fossil fuels was not met. This is both disappointing and worrying. The Government will discuss the outcome with the Net Zero Delivery Body tasked with achieving our targets and will also take advice from the independent Climate Change Committee on if and how the Climate Change Strategy should be reviewed, although it is unlikely that this will be necessary.

1940 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the part that it is unlikely to be necessary I suppose is added by the Minister because he has preceded that by the statement also that he is going to consult the Net Zero Body and the Climate Change Committee. So I guess he is adding that from his own personal view – is that right?

1945 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, the Net Zero Body, chaired by the Deputy Chief Minister, will consider, as will the totally independent Climate Change Committee, whether our strategy has to be changed. My view is that nothing significant has happened at COP27 that will need our Climate Change Strategy to be changed because I think it is a good strategy, challenging as it is, but I do not believe ... I may be wrong, and if the delivery body or the Climate Change Committee
1950 advise that we need to change it, then obviously that will be considered. My personal opinion is that COP27 was so disappointing that we were well ahead. Let's hope that COP28 is better, because we are running out of time.

1955 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I certainly agree that we are running out of time, meaning the globe is running out of time. (Interjection) Yes, indeed.

The Climate Change Strategy is a chunky document, and while it may not be impacted by COP27 in his view, although that is subject to those discussions that the Minister has pointed out, does he have a view on when the Government would want to amend that strategy? Clearly it is a chunky document, so it is not something that will be done immediately, but is there an aim to replace it with a further document in the future? And if so, would it be at the five-year point or a shorter period?
1960

1965 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: It has to be a dynamic document, and I think when we launched it we said it was a dynamic document which will be reviewed. We have the ideal body to review it, or to recommend changes, because that is what the independent Climate Change Committee was set up to do, made up of experts from Gibraltar and the majority, I believe, from outside Gibraltar, so it is totally independent and they are experts in the field. They report to me on a regular basis and as and when they recommend changes we will consider them, but I do not think we need a new document; I think this document has to be flexible and amendable, and so it should be.

1970 Hon. K Azopardi: And then just my final question. The Minister mentioned that at COP27 there had been some kind of agreement on the accessing of funding for developing nations. Is there any possibility of accessing funding for us to make any environmental changes, or is this very targeted to poorer countries?

1975 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I would say there is no possibility. This is aimed at poorer countries who are large emitters, who feel, as we see from news reports, that the developed nations were able to do it as they were developing and contaminated the world, and now we in the developed world are asking them not to and they feel there should be some redress. Fortunately, COP decided that there should be, but it is not something that we would be able to 1980 lay our hands on, and probably nor should we because there are bigger problems elsewhere when we are talking specifically about emissions from developing countries, which have their own social and other problems.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q487/2022
St Mary's School –
Signing of underlease and financial terms

1985 Clerk: Question number 487/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1990 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm when it would expect to sign the underlease in respect of the future St Mary's School and what the financial terms of the agreement entered into with the developers dated 30th September 2021 in relation to that school are, and in particular what the annual rent or fee payable in relation to the school will be and what amount has been fixed in respect of the option to purchase?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

1995 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): My apologies, Mr Speaker, I almost left – I thought we had finished – as I have been invited to attend the Gibraltar Heritage Trust Annual General Meeting, but I have told them I will be a little bit late.

2000 I refer the hon. Gentleman to Question 245/2019. The Government expects to sign the underlease only upon completion of the works and the handing over of the site and post-snagging. Completion is presently anticipated for late spring/early summer 2023.

The financial terms are a rent of £29.75 per sq. foot internal, plus a fit-out rent of £4 per sq. ft internal and £2 per sq. ft external. The exact square footage will be set out in the lease once signed.

2005 The Government has also secured a right to buy the property at defined intervals. The buyout valuation is based on a 4% yield at year 14 and a 6% yield at year 21 and every seventh anniversary thereafter. Assuming RPI at 2.5%, LPS calculated the valuations to be £28.9 million and £20.25 million respectively.

2010 Hon. K Azopardi: Thank you for that, although I think the Minister went a bit fast on some of these stats – (Interjection) yes – and I may have to go over some of that ground. So let me be clear on what he is saying. That square footage had, in fact, come from a previous answer, although I had asked ... The hon. Member knows that I had put a similar question last time and we had a discussion between us as to whether the information had been received by us, or not. I went back to look at the 2019 question that I had asked the then Minister, Mr Licudi, who was dealing with it, and he had mentioned that once there was an agreement, it would be clearer to have the appropriate view of actual costs.

2020 As I understand the figures he is giving us, the assessment is that the buyout price is £28.9 million – is that right? – at year 14, but then he gave a different figure at 21, and that was (£20.25 million.) £20.25 million. That would be a buyout price. Before the buyout, there is rental paid at the figure of £29.75 per square foot – is that right? – and obviously there is a fit-out. But is the hon. Member in a position to tell us what the rental charge would be? The last time I asked this, in 2019, Mr Licudi said at that stage that what they had were conceptual drawings of the plan, so it was difficult at that very early stage of the building works to calculate the square footage, so really it could not be one, but that that would emerge. Now that there has been an agreement with the developers, is there clarity of the square footage and therefore there can be a precise calculation of what the rental will be per year?

2030 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: I do not have that available. Until the lease is drawn up we will not have certainty. I believe there is some adjacent property also involved in parallel works. But I think that if we consider the cost per square foot of £29.75 ... Buildings built perhaps 25 years ago would have attracted a rent of £28 to £31. New-build now is attracting between £35 and £40 per square foot, so I do think, considering that, it is not a bad deal for the Government at all.

2035 Hon. K Azopardi: I am reminded by my hon. Friend, who is, of course, much more on top of the figures, that ... I think it is in the public domain and would he agree that the rental cost is in the region of £1.1 million per year? Can he agree that?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, if it is in the public domain, it is in the public domain, but I could not comment because I do not have that figure in my head or in my notes. But if it is in the public domain, there it is.

2040

Hon. K Azopardi: And then, Mr Speaker, he has mentioned a fitting-out cost, which I assume is over and above the rental cost. So does he have a figure for the fitting-out cost?

2045

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, I do not. The actual fit-out is being finalised now. These are for the loose items and other fixtures and fittings and we do not have that available at the moment.

Hon. K Azopardi: Does the hon. Member know how much the works are costing to refurbish the building?

2050

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, the hon. Member does not know. This is being run by a developer. We are keeping a close eye on the development to ensure that it is being built to our specifications. The schools are very closely involved, and have been, in the design and in keeping an eye on works. It is important for us that it be finished on time. We are confident it will be, but I do not have those figures.

2055

Hon. K Azopardi: Obviously we need to look at those figures, but assuming that calculation of the rental cost, which is in the public domain, appears to be ... and you then add it to the figures he has given, if the Government were to opt to purchase at year 14 and waits 14 years to do it, and you are paying a rental cost of £1.1 million to £1.2 million per year, I have not done the maths but it looks to me as a figure well in excess of maybe even £45 million. That seems like a very large figure for a relatively small school.

2060

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am not going to speculate on figures that I do not have at hand, so I cannot comment any further on that. We are speculating on a calculation on the back of an envelope without any substantive figures to go on, and I do not think that is correct. Certainly I cannot comment on figures that I do not have available.

2065

Hon. K Azopardi: With respect to the hon. Member, I am using his figures to a very large extent because he said at year 14 it is going to cost £28.9 million to buy the building. So you have at least to pay £28.9 million and then you have to pay whatever the rent has been for 14 years. Assuming it is at least £1 million, then it is £14 million plus £29 million, so you are looking at £43 million or £44 million, maybe 45 million. It seems like a very high figure. They are not figures that he does not have to hand, they are largely to hand; most of those figures are there.

2070

2075

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, as the hon. Gentleman is saying, we do not accept those figures. That is his calculation of what the figures are, but let's just assume that they are right. That is what he is saying. He is saying, 'Assuming that I am right, this is what you would be paying and that would seem like a lot of money for a school.' Well, Mr Speaker, not necessarily, because if the hon. Gentleman thinks of what the costs of developing schools are today ... Let me just give him the figure for the two schools down by Europort, the cost of development of which, on a brownfield site – that is to say on an empty site – is in the region of £15 million for each school. On a heritage site and building in the centre of the city the cost is always going to be higher. The rental which he is adding to the purchase price is in 20 years, so in 20 years ... Let me just see, given the numbers that he has used ... In 20 years, that school for £40 million is probably a steal because you would not be able to build for £40 million in 20 years and obtain that building at that price. You just need to see the argument that we were having with the hon. Gentleman before, when he was telling us that the cost of construction of Hassan Centenary Terraces, he had been 2090 told, had gone up in the region of £40 million to £50 million in three years. So calculating the increase – which I did not confirm – in the cost of construction, the increase in the cost of money and the value, in that we are going to have a new school as from today, if in 20 years we acquire it for £20 million and we have paid another £20 million in rent, that means a total of £40 million. In 20 years that will seem like the bargain of the century. Inflation just in this period has been 10%, so inflation in 20 years – assuming not 10% inflation, assuming, to go back to Mr Clinton’s first question this afternoon, compound inflation of an average of 2.5% ... Let’s say we go back to the Bank of England target, which is to 2.5%, over 20 years that is 40%, plus this year’s 20%. That is 50% inflation.

2080

2085

2095 If he is Chief Minister in 20 years’ time – I certainly will not be, Mr Speaker – I only ask that on the day he exercises the option to purchase that property for £20 million, having paid a total of 2100 £20 million more, when that property will seem like a steal and dirt cheap, he invites me only for a coffee, a chat, to pat me on the back and say, ‘I said everything you did was wrong, but on reflection this one was not bad.’

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I will tell him one thing – (Interjection and laughter) in 20 years’ time ... at least I can say that I will have stood down as GSD leader by then. (Laughter and interjections) There may be a leadership election in 20 years’ time.

Mr Speaker, I am not sure I see how the hon. Member is putting it, because I just do not think you can use the example that he has. He is saying this is a really good deal because you could not build a school like this in 20 years’ time, you could not build this school for £45 million in 20 years’
2110 time. Well, of course that is right. You could not build this school in 20 years’ time for £45 million, but nor would this school, built today, be in the same state as it would be brand new in 20 years’ time. So you cannot say the school that I have in 20 years’ time is a bargain because you are comparing a 20-year-old school with a school that is brand new.

2115 Hon. Chief Minister: Will the hon. Member give way?

Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, I will give way.

Hon. Chief Minister: I think what he is failing to consider in that context, in the analysis that 2120 he is making, leading to a question, is that that does not consider the acquisition cost of property. There is no title at the moment; there is tenancy. In 20 years’ time, if you exercise the option, you get title to the land. That plot, then, with that building on it is what I am saying would be the bargain. You then also have the school developed and you have had the benefit of it, but you do not have title of it today. What you are acquiring when you exercise the option is title, and what I 2125 am saying is given where we are ... Just look back 20 years to the value of property in Gibraltar, and look at where you are today. I will tell him for nothing I bought my home 20 or 30 years ago, in 1997, from the GSD for a half of a fraction of what it is worth today. If you extrapolate from the property values that we all know, what each of us bought a home for 20 years ago and what you sell it for 20 years later, in the context of property value of course there is going to be a huge 2130 appreciation in capital value of property, and therefore the option will seem like the deal of the century. That is what I am saying to him.

Hon. K Azopardi: Well, I am glad that he can at least thank the GSD for something. (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) Mr Speaker, what I am saying is this, in essence. You have a rental deal, which seems like a high rental deal, leading to an option to purchase, which is quite significant – 2135 £20 million at year 21, but of course at year 21 you have paid 21 years of that £1 million, so it is £40 million, and at year 14 it is £45 million.

I asked the Minister does he have the costs of the fit-out. Doesn’t it make sense to understand what those costs of fit-out are, so that it might be that the Government wants to accelerate the 2140 option to purchase? And if that is something that the Government thinks is cost expedient for the taxpayer, is there a mechanism to accelerate the option to purchase? He has given me the year 14 and year 21 ones, but is there something in the agreement that allows the Government to accelerate the option to purchase – to, say, do it in seven or eight years?

2145 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, every option to purchase gives a landlord and a tenant a defined point at which they have agreed a price, which does not prevent them from agreeing other prices at different times. So you can agree to purchase the property at any other time, as long as you can agree the price – (Interjection) as a mutual agreement at any time. What this does is set out the parameters on which we have done deals now. We have done a number of these 2150 deals, as the hon. Gentleman knows, and what you are doing when you negotiate an option is negotiate property prices for the future based around the property prices that you know today. Therein lies the opportunity to make a lot of money for the taxpayer in a way that is going to produce what we believe is a very advantageous situation for the taxpayer in 20 years' time, even though you have paid the rent for 20 years and had the benefit of the building for 20 years –
2155 because, of course, as he knows, in a tenancy you have exclusive possession for a rent for the period and the benefit of that for the children who are going to go to the new St Mary's School, and the opportunity of acquiring the property at what we think will be a dirt-cheap price in 20 years, which will make the whole thing, when you add the rent paid and the option price, a great deal, cheap for the people of Gibraltar.

2160 These are large numbers and I fully get it that when you look at these numbers it is very easy to inflame people to think 'que poca verguensa £40 million', when actually, in the context of the property world – which may not be the world in which most people operate, which may not be the sorts of figures that most people bandy about, but which are the figures the Government has to deal with because Government is in the property market – this will likely be one of the best 2165 deals that the Government of Gibraltar has done for Gibraltar taxpayers.

Adjournment

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister Hon. F R Picardo: Mr Speaker, I now have the honour to move that the House should recess to tomorrow at 4.30 in the afternoon.

2170 Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Friday, 25th November at 4.30 p.m.

I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Friday, 25th November at 4.30 p.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed. This House will now adjourn 2175 to Friday, 25th November at 4.30 p.m.

The House adjourned at 6.25 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 4.33 p.m. – 8.22 p.m.

Gibraltar, Friday, 25th November 2022

Contents

Standing Order 7(1) suspended to proceed with Government Statement	3
Remarks of Spanish Foreign Minister, Jose Manuel Albares – Statement by the Chief Minister.....	3
Questions for Oral Answer	9
Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB	9
Q488-89/2022 Construction and Engineering Trades Training Centres – Courses to be offered; vacancies for currently non-Government employees	9
Q490-91/2022 Public finances – Public debt and General Sinking Fund figures as at 1st October 2022	14
Q492-95/2022 Community Supplies and Services Ltd – Whether activities directed by any Minister; Government financial or other interest; source of finance; civil servant involvement	17
Q496, Q500-02 and Q504-05/2022 Coaling Island temporary housing development – National Economic Plan; intended residents; alterations, demolitions and urban remodelling referred to in planning statement; relocation of current occupants; planning and aesthetic considerations re proximity to Victoria Keys.....	17
Q497/2022 National Economic Plan – List of projects sponsored	17
Q503/2022 Module blocks – Plans for further developments.....	17
Q498/2022 Unemployment Benefit – Number of recipients and nationalities	36
Q499/2022 Disability Benefit – Number of recipients and underlying conditions	36
Q506-08/2022 Census – Online and paper questionnaires; publication of report	37

Questions for Written Answer	38
Order of the Day	39
Bills	39
First and Second Reading.....	39
Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved	39
Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved	40
Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	40
Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved	41
Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved	41
Fur Trade (Prohibition) Act 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting.....	42
Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved	43
Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 – Second Reading approved.....	43
Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Act 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting.....	45
Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Act 2022 – First Reading approved	45
Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Act 2022 – Second Reading approved.....	46
Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Act 2022 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting	48
Committee Stage and Third Reading	48
Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved	48
Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved	48
Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved	49
Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Clauses considered and approved	49
Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022 – Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 – Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Bill 2022 – Third Reading approved: Bills passed.....	50
Adjournment	50
The House adjourned at 8.22 p.m.	51

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 4.33 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S Galliano Esq in attendance]

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDERS

Standing Order 7(1) suspended to proceed with Government Statement

Clerk: Suspension of Standing Orders. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I beg to move, under Standing Order 7(3), to 5 suspend Standing Order 7(1) in order to proceed with a Government Statement.

Mr Speaker: Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Remarks of Spanish Foreign Minister, Jose Manuel Albares – Statement by the Chief Minister

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the House for agreeing to a 10 Government Statement which comes in the middle of Questions. I informed you only a few minutes ago that I would need to make this Statement.

His Majesty's Government of Gibraltar has noted statements made this afternoon by the Foreign Minister of Spain, Jose Manuel Albares, in the context of a meeting with mayors of the neighbouring municipalities that make up the Mancomunidad de Municipios of the Campo de Gibraltar. The thrust of those remarks is to set out Spain's view of an overview of the current 15 proposals put by the EU and Spain in the ongoing negotiations.

The United Kingdom and Gibraltar also have proposals on the table which are designed to deliver benefits for the people of the whole region. Our proposals provide for the removal of trade barriers and the protection of the integrity of the single market in a manner that would not compromise our fiscal or wider sovereignty concerns. Our proposals also address the issue of 20 personal rights of fluidity across the Frontier. These are achieved in keeping with the provisions already agreed between us in 2020 and in keeping, of course, also with considerations which concern the European Union in respect of the protection of the integrity of the Schengen Area.
We have also identified areas for enhanced co-operation for mutual benefit. All of these are clearly drivers for potentially huge economic growth for the whole region, driven principally by 25 Gibraltar and its people as well as by the municipalities around us and the people who live around Gibraltar. Our proposals, therefore, also provide for cross-Frontier workers to continue to enjoy equal treatment with resident workers in respect of in-work benefits. Additionally, the thrust of this growth is delivered through the engine of these new arrangements and the support of the European Union and the United Kingdom through this potential treaty.

30 I am, therefore, very pleased to welcome the statements from Jose Manuel Albares saying that Pedro Sanchez's government is also working to achieve a positive outcome to treaty negotiations.

We are all on the same page in this objective. There are ways to achieve that objective now by concluding the negotiation successfully and with all sides' relevant longstanding positions being preserved. These options are on the table and can be pursued to a successful conclusion for all parties. I am, therefore, confident that we will be able to find the route now to fashion our respective positions around agreement. In the unlikely but possible eventuality that we are unable to do so, with a heavy heart we continue to diligently plan for a no-negotiated-outcome situation. Happily, however, we are already working towards agreement and have a further UK-EU negotiating round fixed for London next week, on 28th and 29th November. We all want agreement this year and continue to work towards that.

My key objective and the key objective of the Government is to achieve a safe and secure agreement for our people which benefits us and benefits the people around us also. We are committed to a win-win outcome in which no one loses and no one has to concede on the issues we consider fundamental, though compromise in areas we each consider we can compromise on would be acceptable, and that works also, of course, for the UK and the EU, who are the high contracting parties to any such treaty. I am convinced we can achieve this.

The United Kingdom has provided massive Whitehall resources to help us achieve our objective. Prime Ministers Johnson, Truss and Sunak have demonstrated their commitment to this process in that way, as have Foreign Secretaries Truss and Cleverly, all of whom I thank, as well as their respective teams officials who are with us at the coalface of this negotiation. The same is true of the European Union and Spain. Both have deployed considerable resources and expended as much negotiating time as we have to achieve this. I want to thank President von Der Leyen and Vice-President Sefcovic for that investment of resources. I thank the EU negotiators also for seeking to understand our positions and the logic of them and how we propose to interface with EU law in a manner designed to assure them of the integrity of their own legal order. I also want to thank President Sanchez and Foreign Secretaries Laya and Albares of Spain for their commitment to the success of this process, together with their teams officials.

This has not been easy and what is left is not easy either, but we remain committed to a positive outcome. A positive outcome can now be achieved. A positive outcome must now be the result.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, we too have seen the statements and we welcome the Chief Minister making a Statement on the issue. I think it is important for there to be a Statement because clearly ... The communiques that have been issued by the Spanish government had reached me already – before the Chief Minister gave the Statement – several times from different people. Clearly they are circulating in Gibraltar and it is important for the Government to therefore make clear what is its position and its view of the statement and indeed of the negotiations as they are happening. Therefore, we welcome the fact that the Chief Minister has made a Statement.

Before I ask perhaps some questions of clarification on the Statement, I would preface my remarks by stepping back from the more incendiary or slightly more provocative statements in the Madrid statement. Clearly there are aspects of that statement that are provocative in nature, suggestive of far-reaching proposals that can affect us in a way that traditionally might cross lines in Gibraltar, and there would be concerns by anyone who reads the Spanish statement that that is so – for example, the phrase 'las fronteras exteriores de Gibraltar would pass under control of Spain', so control of our frontiers, suggestive of a new legal framework which suggests that a proposal made by Spain and the EU has an effect to affect our status. Those are significant issues. There is phraseology, once again, of money laundering and things like that in the statement. I say all that because I think it is important that I make those comments, but of course I recognise that this is a political communique, it has no legal effect and it is important to measure our words, therefore, in that context. There are ongoing negotiations and those of us who have been involved in politics for a long time, and indeed the population generally, will have become accustomed to 85 the fact that in an ongoing discussion between Madrid, London, Gibraltar or indeed Brussels, there have been often many communiques that we have found objectionable in Gibraltar.

The Chief Minister has our support, the Government has our support in seeking a safe and beneficial agreement for Gibraltar. We have said that that is our position. He has our support and indeed he would have our support if he gets a safe and beneficial agreement and we judge it to be safe and beneficial, and indeed in the context of a no-deal scenario he would, of course, have our support because it would produce a significant challenge for our community. I have said often that on matters of public interest we would stand side by side with the Government and he knows he has our support on our sovereignty, jurisdiction and control red lines. He has all that.

90 Can I ask him to comment, though, and clarify a number of things? First of all, the statement issued by Madrid talks about the submission by Spain and the European Commission to the United Kingdom of a proposal. Is this a new proposal in writing? Does he have notice of that proposal? Has he seen it? Or is this something that, to his knowledge, is not a new proposal? Is it a proposal in writing? Is there a text? This comes relatively shortly after comments made to the media by the Spanish Foreign Minister last week suggestive that there was a text, followed by a clarification by the Gibraltar Government that said there was no text yet, although, as I understood the press release, there was text around the more problematic clauses, but not a consolidated text. Is the position different, or is the fact that they have issued this statement today some kind of upping of the ante on the basis that there are difficulties in the negotiations? He may he may or may not wish to answer that question.

100 It is slightly peculiar timing, I would say, to emerge after almost a year of intense rounds of discussion for there to be an official Spanish press release from the central government to say this a week after the Foreign Minister was suggesting that they were crossing the t's and dotting the i's, and then suddenly you emerge from this forest of negotiation to up the ante in this way. I found it slightly peculiar. Also, I found a bit of the language provocative and suggestive of bilateralism, which is undesirable, of course, to us on both sides of the House and is something that we have traditionally disagreed with.

105 Can I ask him to comment on all those things to the extent that he can in the context of the Statement that he has made, which sets out the objectives of the Government in respect of the negotiations generally? I know that in his Statement he has not been drawn into a detailed commentary on the Spanish statement, but the people of Gibraltar are listening to this, to whom this will be reported later, and will no doubt wish assurances to be made as to the position not only in relation to these questions but the talks generally. So we would be grateful for there to be general clarifications on all those issues.

110 Can I ask him, finally, to comment on the next round of discussions that he says he will have on 28th and 29th November? That is only next week. Is that a round at which this proposal that Spain has put will be discussed? Is he expecting a specific discussion on these new proposals, if they are new, or is it a normal round at which there is a continuation of the process that has been started and has been discussed in this House before?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, can I start by thanking the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition for indicating his support for the Government's position, which I appreciate, in particular in the context of our seeking a safe and secure agreement for Gibraltar.

125 It is no secret that we have been negotiating now for over a year. It is no secret that both sides want to bring that negotiating process to a conclusion. It is no secret that the two sides are the United Kingdom and the European Union. And as we come towards the end game of that negotiation, it is perhaps unremarkable that the parties that are commenting are neither the United Kingdom nor the European Union, but Spain and Gibraltar.

130 In terms of the timing, I do think that one of the key factors to keep in mind in the context of the communique that is issued today is that the Spanish Foreign Minister had some weeks ago convened a meeting between him and the mayors of the region around Gibraltar in Madrid, and the statement today is as a result of his briefing of the mayors as we are coming towards the end of the year also. When we sometimes reflect on the concerns there are in Gibraltar about the absence yet of a treaty between the United Kingdom and the European Union in relation to Gibraltar, we must not ignore that there is also deep concern in the area around us that there is an absence of such a treaty, and Mayor Juan Franco of La Linea has expressed that on a number 140 of occasions, in the same way as we have expressed that concern on a number of occasions.

I think one of the things we need to keep in mind is that as we come towards the end game of the negotiation, the parties are obviously going to start to up the ante a little for the purposes of finalising the negotiation in a way that they might consider more or less advantageous to them and the other side respectively, and the public process of engagement is obviously going to be 145 more relevant in the end game.

What I wanted to do in the Statement I have made today is not delve into the detail, as the Leader of the Opposition has recognised. For the reasons I have indicated previously, I think it is important that for the negotiation to be successful – and in particular my job, to ensure it is more successful for Gibraltar – we need to ensure that the detail remains in the negotiating room until 150 we are able to say that there is an agreement, or until we are able to say that there is not an agreement and then explain what the detail of that inability to reach agreement has been and why we have felt that it is not possible to reach agreement.

Mr Speaker, I would say this: the position of Gibraltar – and I am only empowered to talk for Gibraltar – in respect of the role that we play in this negotiation with the United Kingdom across 155 the table from the European Union is that the positions that are being put by the United Kingdom and Gibraltar are reasonable, they are positive and they are agreeable, and they would lead to being able to finalise this process in a way that is safe and secure for Gibraltar, that is beneficial for Gibraltar, and of course, for the reasons I have already indicated in my Statement, would not require any of the parties to lose or concede on the issues that each of the parties consider to be 160 sacrosanct. Those are not just the positions of Gibraltar and Spain on issues related to sovereignty, jurisdiction and control. The European Union here has an important stake. They are the high contracting party and they see issues which relate to the integrity of the single market, the integrity of the Schengen Area. The United Kingdom has political issues also in play. And so we need to ensure that all parties are satisfied that they have not been required to concede on issues
165 that they consider fundamental. The issues that we consider fundamental, of course, are sovereignty, jurisdiction and control and then the other issues which relate to the prosperity and the levers of prosperity. Nobody should want us to compromise in respect of the levers of prosperity because, of course, Gibraltar will be creating prosperity if there is a successful treaty that emerges, and therefore we must have those levers of prosperity to continue to produce 170 prosperity for all parties.

The statement that is issued from the Spanish Foreign Ministry is a matter for the Spanish Foreign Ministry. As the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has himself identified, that is a political statement in the context of it being the statement of a Ministry in Spain. It is not a text of anything that will potentially bind Gibraltar. It is a statement of what Spain says is its position in respect of 175 matters that the European Union is the high contracting party for with the United Kingdom. There is no question of anybody controlling Gibraltar's frontiers other than Gibraltar. There is absolutely nothing to indicate that the United Kingdom or Gibraltar would be prepared to concede that anybody should control Gibraltar's frontiers other than Gibraltar. We will never concede that. There is nothing to suggest that Gibraltar seeks to control the Schengen frontier. The Schengen
180 parties would not concede that anybody should have control over the Schengen frontier other than a Schengen high contracting party or an emanation of the European Union. That led us to the New Year's Eve Agreement and the careful balancing act that was provided for in that framework.

The positions of the Government of Gibraltar have not changed. The positions of the Government of the United Kingdom have not changed. The position of Gibraltar and the position 185 of the Government of the United Kingdom are entirely ad idem. There is nothing between us. We do think it is possible to accommodate the concerns of the European Union in this respect and we do think that our proposals do that, without getting into any of the detail of them. There is, therefore, even less of a question of any change to the status of Gibraltar being in play, let alone agreed or agreeable. The status of Gibraltar will not change as a result of a commercial agreement that deals with matters relating to immigration and the movement of goods. There is no question of a Government that I lead or that is made of by any of the Members of the Cabinet that are represented by the GSLP Liberals, or indeed, I am sure, by any Member of this House, that would lead to the status of Gibraltar being 100% British in all of its territorial extent coming into play, let alone being agreeable. And, indeed, the provisions of the double lock that the United Kingdom has advanced as its political and legal position since 2006 under the new Constitution, if not earlier, provide that the United Kingdom itself would not engage in any such negotiation or discussion without the consent of the people of Gibraltar, which could only be provided either by its Government or this Parliament advancing any such consent, and neither its Government nor its Parliament has advanced or will advance any such consent.

So if the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has detected any aspect of the statements made today as indicating that the status of Gibraltar, as he has said, is somehow in play, I can assure him, and anyone who has read any such implication into anything said, that not only is it not going to form part of the negotiation or an agreement, it is not even in play because, as the former Secretary of State of Spain for Europe, Marco Aguiriano, said, they know that if they raise the issue of sovereignty – that is to say status – of Gibraltar, ‘the Gibraltarians, and, indeed,’ he rightly said, ‘the British’, which includes the Gibraltarians, of course, ‘close their files and go.’ This is not a negotiation with Spain, this is a negotiation between the United Kingdom and the European Union and I can give the hon. Gentleman the confidence that in all of the discussions we have had and have attended the issue of sovereignty has not been raised by the European Union, the issue of status has not been raised by the European Union and I will never sit down with anyone to negotiate the sovereignty of Gibraltar. The sovereignty of Gibraltar is of the people of Gibraltar only. It is not negotiable. If anything, it is something we discuss with our sovereign, His Majesty the King.

That is not to say that there are not potentially wide areas of agreement in areas which do not relate to status, which do not relate to sovereignty, jurisdiction or control. If you are doing an agreement that relates to immigration, that relates to movement of goods in a particular manner, you are not engaged in a negotiation on sovereignty or status and you have to be careful to ensure that none of the ingredients of sovereignty, jurisdiction or control percolate into the aspects of how you deal with immigration or trade in a way that could somehow affect fiscal sovereignty etc. We will be very careful to guard against that and we will only present an agreement if we are satisfied that it is safe and secure in those respects, and, of course, beneficial also.

Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman says that there are references to money laundering etc. in the statement. I want to be very clear about this. We will only do a deal if we are satisfied that the entity we are dealing with is also an entity where there are no risks of endemic or systemic money laundering. The European Union has its system to prevent money laundering and we are therefore happy to enter into an agreement with the European Union – and Spain is a member state of the European Union – with the anti-money laundering structure that they have. We have the same anti-money laundering structure because we were the first of the territories of the European Union, when were part of the European Union, to have a lot of the provisions of the Anti-Money Laundering Directive in place and operating. Indeed, the European Court of Justice has recently struck down one of the limbs of the anti-money laundering provisions of one of the directives of the European Union on an open register of beneficial ownership. Gibraltar still has it because we were the first to implement it, and we need to ensure that we consider very carefully the jurisprudence of the Court of Justice, which may affect not just member states of the European Union, because it may be obiter but relevant consideration for all entities that have open registers of beneficial ownership if the issue in play is human rights. We need to look and consider that very carefully. But anybody who looks at Gibraltar’s corpus juris and analyses it in respect of anti-money laundering will reach the same conclusion that Michel Barnier reached when he was the 240 commissioner with responsibility for the internal market, in particular for banking and financial services. He said there were absolutely no concerns with Gibraltar's anti-money laundering legal structure, and Gibraltar's anti-money laundering legal structure has just got stronger since then – 245 avant garde when were in the European Union and unchanged since then. When it comes to any issues that might arise in respect of money laundering, the other thing I would say is that I think Gibraltar has a great story to tell there, and if anybody's narrative passes through pretending otherwise I would remind them that 'narrative' is also another word for a story.

On the issue of proposals, the hon. Gentleman has rightly picked up that there is a reference to a global proposal being put and that recently the Spanish Secretary of State for Europe, Pascual Navarro, said that there was a global proposal pending dotting i's and crossing t's. The hon.
250 Gentleman has rightly picked up that we countered that suggestion. It is important that people who agree on things do not disagree simply because they express things in a different way, and we must not be keen to snatch disagreement from the jaws of agreement. If somebody says, 'We have made proposals to you on all of the issues on which we are talking,' I would say yes, that is true, and so have we. That is not to say that there is a global proposal. That is not to say that there 255 is a text of a treaty on the table. Far from it, there is not. There are different ways of resolving areas of disagreement and there are many ways on the table of resolving different areas of disagreement, and there is not an agreed way of resolving those areas of disagreement in some areas, but we are pursuing having an agreed way of resolving those areas of disagreement.

There is not a Spanish text proposal. There was not a UK text proposal. There are many 260 different proposals to resolve the issues. Could somebody express that as 'Because we have talked about everything that we disagree on, we have given you our mind on everything that we disagree on, and we have therefore put on the table the way that we think we can resolve these, and that is our proposal'? Could somebody express it that way? I am not the guardian of how people express things, I am the guardian of how my Government expresses things and we are trying to 265 be very careful in how we express things. We are trying to be very precise in how we express something. We are trying to be very Anglo-Saxon in the way that we express things, which is to be precise in how we represent what is actually happening, and we believe that we are being so precise. There is not, therefore, by any stretch of the imagination, a text to dot i's on or cross t's on. And it was not, Mr Speaker, if I may say so to the hon. Gentleman, the Spanish Foreign Minister 270 who said that; it was the Spanish Secretary of State for Europe, who was door-stepped on the way into the Foreign Affairs Council last week. I think it is important to put that in context.

Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman has said that there are elements of bilateralism in the way that the Spanish text is expressed. Well, I think he is right. There are always elements of the Spanish pen that tend towards bilateralism, unfortunately. It is really quite remarkable that that 275 is still the case. As he knows, that is not the reality of what is manifesting itself on the ground, and I do hope that, soon, reality will be reflected in text, too. But we have to understand that the United Kingdom and the European Union are the negotiating parties here for the treaty. What matters here is the treaty and it will have to high contracting parties, not because there will be lower contracting parties, but because in public international law the entities that sign agreements 280 are called high contracting parties, and there are two: the United Kingdom and the European Union. That is the relevant bilateralism here. There may be ancillary documentation and there may be other things that we can do in the context of things that cannot be covered by a treaty and we decide that we want to also achieve, but that will not be bilateral as far as we are concerned, although we also recognise – and this is an issue of common ground between the 285 parties because it was also expressed in this way by them when they were in government – that the Government of Gibraltar is not able to enter into international legal instruments because we do not presently have international legal capacity, and that is a legal fact.

Next week there will be a round between the United Kingdom and the European Union, which will continue to explore the areas of negotiation for the treaty. The work is around different 290 proposals – it is not around a global text, it is not around a text, it is around different proposals and different positions – trying to still agree issues of principle to then move to the sort of text that the parties might agree once the principles have been bottomed out. Having seen how these matters moved in the context of the Trade and Co-operation Agreement, I think if we are able to bottom out the principles, text can follow quite quickly because there are not many ways to express in international law the things that would potentially be agreed, and so we could get to a text quite quickly and then, given the sensitivity of the issues that we are dealing with, in the context of Gibraltar, dotting i's and crossing t's and putting in the right Oxford commas and apostrophes could be very important, but we are not at that stage yet. I do welcome our friend Pascal Navarro's optimism in respect of dotting i's and crossing t's and I sincerely do hope and believe that we can get ourselves to a stage where we have a text, where we are looking at dotting i's and crossing t's very soon, but we are not there yet and we are not any closer this week than we were last week when we said that we were not there yet. But then again, I am not the guardian of the Ministerio de Asuntos Exteriores' pen, in the same way as they are not the guardian of my pen, and we express where we think we are in the way that we each consider is appropriate.

I hope that is helpful, Mr Speaker, and I am happy to deal with anything that arises from that answer.

Questions for Oral Answer

SOCIAL SECURITY, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT, ENTERPRISE, TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND THE GSB

Q488-89/2022

Construction and Engineering Trades Training Centres – Courses to be offered; vacancies for currently non-Government employees

Clerk: Answers to Oral Questions. Question 488/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can Government provide details in respect of training courses which it intends to offer at the Gibraltar Construction Training Centre and Engineering Trades Training Centre for future applicants, together with details of starting dates and qualifications to be obtained upon successful completion of said courses?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Question 489.

Clerk: Question 489/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Does Government intend to publicly advertise any instructor or management posts for applications by persons not currently Government employees in respect of existing or future vacancies at both the Gibraltar Construction Training Centre and the Engineering Trades Training Centre?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

330 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, as stated in answer to Q302/2022, the Government is not proposing to introduce any changes in the current range of skills which are being provided by the Construction Training Centre and the Engineering Training Centre which the hon. Member already has been provided with.

335 As regards the qualifications to be obtained on the successful completion of future courses, these will be the same qualifications being obtained for current courses, as there is no intention to introduce a new syllabus.

The starting dates for new entrants in 2023 have not yet been identified.

340 As has been previously stated publicly, the policy of the Government is to seek to fill existing vacancies from candidates already employed in the public sector given the number of employees in the public sector, which is 1,800 more than in October 2011.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, there are two questions there, so I will obviously have to separate my questions.

345 The Minister has said through the answer that he more or less intends to continue with the same courses as are being offered now. Unfortunately, he does not have dates for when the next intake is going to happen. Can I ask the Minister has he considered, or would he consider ...? In his answers he has said that they are offering courses where, instead of being specific to one trade, they train the trainee in several trades, which is a skill that the hon. Member had identified was requested by some of the site construction companies and so on. However, if one takes it from there, when a youngster has obtained that initial qualification and goes out to work on site, as happens a lot in life they take a special liking to one particular trade or another. There is an opportunity to get an accredited qualification under the nomenclature 'accreditation of prior experience and accreditation of prior learning', whereby a youngster who has been out on construction sites for two or three years, as an example, and has shown a particular skill – and therefore the employer uses that youngster mainly to either do carpentry work or plumbing work or whatever – can then pursue a particular accreditation with an NVQ certificate and therefore become a fully fledged craftsman in a particular trade with the advantage of providing us with an expert in a particular area. My question was aiming at has the Minister considered, or would he be willing to consider that as a way forward, as a step in further enhancing the skills and qualifications held by the individual? Let's start with that first question, Mr Speaker.

365 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, my understanding is that the Training Centre can only provide training for the qualifications which they have contracted to deliver with City and Guilds, and anything that is not contained in that relationship would require a submission from us with evidence of the fact that there are people able to deliver the new skills. My knowledge of what has been happening there is that when we have moved from one type of skill to another, we have had to go through a fairly long process of negotiations with the awarding body in the UK, with them sending inspectors out here, so I do not think that it is possible to initiate something new that will get an NVQ from an awarding body in the UK unless we have been previously certified and accepted and had a negotiating process with them.

370 What we do, which is not contained in my answer, is we are able to certify that people are qualified as craftsmen if they have previous skills and they can be trade tested. That happens quite often with Frontier workers who come here and claim that they have the skills and trades in their own country and the employer here wants an independent confirmation that that is so. They can come to the Trades Centre, and that has always happened, to my knowledge, in the Construction Trades Centre in particular, and continues to happen but is driven by the labour market and the request by either the person coming looking for work or the person willing to engage somebody who has applied for a job in the construction industry but wants to have more than a piece of paper produced from somewhere in Morocco or Spain, where sometimes it is not too difficult to obtain a piece of paper.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, what the Minister is saying is almost three quarters of the way to what I was getting at.

385 First of all, let me say that it is not the introduction of a new course. I know that 20 years ago it existed, and perhaps because of the demand it was a more common occurrence. It is certainly not the introduction of a new course. It is that instead of a youngster who has zero experience in anything starting from the bottom rung of the ladder and making their way up, this individual who perhaps has been through the Training Centre and has come out with that initial qualification and then gained onsite experience goes for a topping up, a sort of revision or polishing of skills, a very 390 short instruction period, and then undergoes a test, for which the candidate is pretty well prepared even before receiving the other. It is just an idea that I think could help the local indigenous workforce up their qualifications. I know the Minister does take an interest in this.
Perhaps we can have a coffee behind the Speaker's Chair at some stage and continue further, so as not to bore the other Members on this.

395 Coming more specifically to Question 489, yes, the Minister is right, he has explained to us before what the Government policy is. However, my understanding is that there were, relatively recently, advertisements put out for instructor posts and even for Training Centre Manager posts.
Applications were only open to existing Government employees and I do not think there were any takers. Hence my question is seeing that those posts are vacant and therefore someone is not 400 delivering, because there is no instructor in the particular topic – or someone is not managing the centre because, I think there is no replacement for the Training Centre Manager who recently retired ... My question asked: given that you have tried in house and there are no takers, is the Government now considering extending that to non-existing Government employees? I do not know what the Minister's thoughts are on that.

405

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: As regards the first part, I am certainly prepared to investigate the possibility of what he is saying if it means that people who have previously acquired but not finished their training could finish their training without having to start at the beginning. It makes sense to me. If he gives me information that I can investigate and it is possible to do it, then I will 410 certainly introduce it and I am grateful for the information. The policy of the Government is to train for employment, not to train for unemployment. If somebody is unemployed because they are three-quarters of the way, then it makes more sense and it is more economical to provide the quarter that is missing than to start from scratch, so I welcome that, and if it is possible to do it I will certainly discuss it with the professionals in the Training Centre and try to persuade them to 415 introduce it as an addition to what we are already doing.

There have been a number of interviews and I have not had feedback yet on the selection process. Our preference is not to increase the size of the public sector given the problems we have, as the hon. Member is well aware, of paying every month. If there was no other way of doing it, we would have to go out and seek candidates from the private sector, but if we can avoid 420 it, it will not happen.

Hon. E J Reyes: I thank the Minister for his answer to that. The Minister can only talk based on the feedback he has had. In some respects it is slightly different to what I have had. What I have had is that there was actually no applicant for a post, but it is up to the Minister to seek the 425 information. However, understanding what he is saying and having to accept that he would rather advertise the post internally because of the number of employees in the public service and so on, what I am told is happening in the meantime is that they seem to be employing, on a short-term contract, someone to cover, on a part-time basis, the manager's post. So it does not quite fulfil 100% the aim of the Minister because he has had to employ, albeit on a short-term contract and 430 not on a substantial long-term placement, someone from outside. He may have been a Government employee once upon a time, but he certainly retired, receiving his occupational pension, receiving his old-age pension, from what I can gather, and on top of that having to be employed, whereas there are people outside who, unfortunately for them, not being Government employees, cannot aspire to be an applicant for this post.

435 Really, I think this House should support the best candidate for the position that is vacant. If it is already an existing Government employee it fulfils the Minister's wish, but if it is not, are we going to sacrifice what is best for the trainee because an individual has not quite, somehow or other, managed to get a job within a Government-owned company because it is only open to those who are employees of Government-owned companies? I was going to extend myself by 440 saying it does not even fit with the philosophy that we give scholarships to young men and young women who are able to obtain a place at an accredited place of further and higher education in the United Kingdom, and yet here we have individuals who wish to obtain further qualifications from what they did up to GCSE level in schools, and some cannot follow the courses because, for example – I believe it is painting and decorating – there is no instructor in place. There is the labour 445 market in Gibraltar, people with qualifications who could become very good instructors, but their applications were rejected and sent back to them saying, 'No, sorry, the criteria is we can only accept this if you are already a Government employee, a public servant or an employee of a public-owned company,' a discrimination against certain people within the global Gibraltar labour market.

450 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Everybody in the private sector feels discriminated against when they compare themselves with the pay and conditions in the public sector, and everybody in the private sector I know of our age wants either his son or his grandson employed in the public sector. I give them the same answer. The answer is it is irresponsible to keep employing more people when we 455 have difficulty every month in finding the money to pay the people we already have. That is the reality. In addition to my responsibility for delivering training and my responsibility for trying to get more economic activity going, even though people seem to be displeased by my efforts I am also charged with trying to restore financial stability, and therefore I am trying to square all my different responsibilities to produce the best result, so the answer is that ...

460 I think the skills of the teacher are important, but the most important thing is the commitment of the people who go into the Training Centre to achieve a result. Those people who do not make it do not make it not because of the quality of the teachers we have – and some may be very good and some may be normal. The ones who fail all fail because they have been given innumerable chances after not turning up and missing ... When people come in two days a week, clearly they 465 cannot come in regularly two days a week and expect to acquire the level of knowledge that is supposed to be provided in five days a week. So when people do not make it to grade 2, in 90% of the cases it is because they have shown no real interest and they are there because ... it is not really what they want to do, it is not really what they want to finish up doing, it is rather that since we pay them the Minimum Wage to be apprentices, which is higher than the UK does, they might 470 as well get the Minimum Wage while they are there and then finish up maybe doing a different job. That is what is actually happening. That is the truth of where the failures come. The failures do not come because ...

In Gibraltar we have a much lower ratio of trainer to trainees and the trainers take a personal interest in each individual. It is not a rigid system where somebody can go very fast and then the 475 people who do not go fast enough fall out. They do not. They get all the help they need and each one is given individual attention. The ratio is one teacher to eight in an intake. But there are people who fail, and invariably it is with a heavy heart that the instructor comes to me and says, 'Look, Joe, I think we are not going to be able to make it with this guy because we have given him lectures, we treat him like part of the family, we tell him ... He says he is going to change, but he does not 480 change.' I think you need to understand that we have good people and they are doing a good job, and they cannot get 100% results, much as they would want to.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for that answer. I know that the Minister has even added new material. I do not think I was talking about failures, successes or otherwise of trainees 485 per se. What I am saying is I find I cannot balance that equation. We do not want to employ, one takes it, wherever possible, new people in the public sector, so a vacancy is advertised only internally for those who are fortunate enough to already be working in the public sector or a public-owned company. We can agree to disagree on how many people from the private sector would love to get a stable job within the public service, but I do not know if the Minister 490 understood me when I said it does not tally with the equation. He is currently employing a retired person to cover a vacant position there, so you are paying someone already in receipt of an occupational pension, someone already in receipt of an old-age pension to cover a post which you could, because you had no internal applicants, advertise and allow someone else to pursue a career as manager of the Training Centre. Perhaps the Minister has not been briefed on that 495 particular aspect.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The only person who was being retained on a part-time basis after he retired, or was due for retirement, was somebody who was needed for the completion of some courses that had been studied under him that are not the same as the ones we are doing now. I 500 think he was coming in two days a week to finish those. In fact, he is not shown on the complement of the Training Centre. I think he is shown in the complement, in the Book, of Human Resources, as somebody who is surplus, is only covering. He is not doing the job of a full-time person. What he is doing is a job that will terminate when the people who are doing that particular course terminate, because he is the only one who can certify them.

505
Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, the Minister is correct. Particular trainees following a course ... if the instructor who was well acquainted with the course has retired, you then take him back, but that is a completely different person to the one covering for the post of manager. The manager of the Training Centre retired, the post was advertised only internally and there were not any 510 applicants. I do not know whether the Minister has been briefed or not. Is he aware of who is the manager today? The information certainly that I have on this side of the House is that a retired person who was not working within the Training Centre, was working within a wider, more specialist educational field and is employed despite his having an occupational pension, old-age pension and so on. So we are not saving the money, we are actually bringing in a non-Government 515 employee to do a job, and I said why not advertise that to all non-Government employees? Let's make it fair in the Gibraltar labour market.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [Inaudible] the correct thing to be doing, to discuss one individual ... I do not know who he is talking about. Obviously, he knows more about who is employed and not 520 employed than I do. All I can tell him is that if it is a manager who is covering a job which has become vacant, then probably he is covering a job that has become vacant because the job is in the process of being filled, has been advertised and people are being interviewed. I do not think the function of this Parliament is to discuss one individual who may be retired. There are more than one of those in the service, I can tell him.

525
Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker –

Mr Speaker: Let's make this the final supplementary.

530
Hon. E J Reyes: I just wish to clarify to you, Mr Speaker, I am not talking about any individual, I am talking about a particular post. I have not named the individual. I can talk about a post that is vacant.

I do not blame the Minister, because he only has the feedback that he is getting, but my logical conclusion today – and I hope he can prove me wrong – is he is not being kept fully up to press.
535 There were no applicants for the vacancy that was advertised for the post at the Training Centre, so what do we do now? Do we just leave it vacant and let's employ a retired person? There is nothing wrong with the individual. For all I know, he could be a good friend of mine, maybe someone I have coffee with. I do not know the name of the person, I just know the feedback I get. None of the existing instructors have been told 'Because there is no manager, go and act as manager,' so they are there, they turn up and they have no immediate boss. This person comes probably on a part-time basis, because they are not there from eight to three thirty, or whatever time they are working, and whatever heading he may come under it certainly comes out of the Government and taxpayers' pocket to pay his salary at the end of the day. If there were no applicants, then the next logical step is ... The Minister has tried to achieve what he wanted, not increase the public sector, but there was no one interested, so let's go ...

There are other areas, and I know I am pushing it, Mr Speaker, but there are some cases where, in order to be able to deliver the product in the best interests of the trainee ... We have had JBS employees who have been told at eight o'clock in the morning, 'Don't come to JBS, go to the Training Centre and help them out there, and when you finish at 3.30 then report for duty to JBS,' and JBS pays them overtime. At the end of the day, the trainee is receiving his training and that fits into the model that the Minister has – he is already an employee of a Government-owned company, he is not increasing the workforce and so on – but to employ someone not currently on the register as an employee of a Government company is unfair on those who are not Government employees and could well do a very good job, at least equal to, if not better than the person who is retired and has been taken on.

I will give the Minister an opportunity perhaps to get himself up to date with the information and we can then meet up again and share this further.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [Inaudible] entirely on one point. We have enough of the entitlement culture without saying it is unfair if we do not employ people from the private sector. If that is unfair, then we are 1,800 less unfair than they were up to 2011.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q490-91/2022

Public finances –

Public debt and General Sinking Fund figures as at 1st October 2022

Clerk: Question number 490/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Can the Government please provide the total gross debt, aggregate debt after application of the Sinking Fund to gross debt, cash reserves and net debt figures for public debt for the following date, being 1st October 2022.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Question 491.

Clerk: Question 491/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise the balance on the General Sinking Fund on the following date, being 1st October 2022?

580 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The gross debt and aggregate debt after the application of the Sinking Fund to gross debt, cash reserves and net debt figures on 1st October were as follows: gross debt, 585 £872.7 million; aggregate, £846.3 million; cash reserves, £87.7 million; and net debt, £758.6 million.

The balance on the General Sinking Fund on 1st October stood at £26.4 million.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister for his updated numbers for the 590 gross debt, but if my calculations are correct – and I am happy, of course, to be corrected – the last number I had for gross debt, at 1st September, was £847.7 million, and the number he has just given me is £872.7 million, which would imply a £25 million increase from the last number he gave me. Is that correct?

595 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, there has been a further drawdown, but as the hon. Member we will see at the end of the equation where the net debt is, it has not gone up by £25 million.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful. If the Minister could confirm that this extra 600 £25 million borrowing has been drawn down from the guaranteed facility from NatWest, and would the Minister confirm that, in effect, that would mean that the budget for borrowing for financial year 2022-23 has been exceeded by £25 million?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: As far as we are concerned, Mr Speaker, the important thing is not 605 whether we exceed what we borrow, it is whether we exceed what we spend, and if we are able to borrow at favourable rates, then the logic is that we borrow at favourable rates, not because we would need to have borrowed at this particular point the £25 million.

Hon. R M Clinton: Yes, but, Mr Speaker, the budget for gross borrowing was £50 million and 610 he has told us that effectively, as at 1st October, is now £75 million. The number he gave me for net debt is obviously, as a result, lower, but nevertheless he has drawn down more than was anticipated. Would the Minister at least recognise that on that basis there is £25 million more borrowing than was envisaged under the Estimates?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Twenty five million more borrowing – there is no question about it, we 615 have borrowed it this month, but what I am saying is that we could have gone through the month without borrowing, but we decided to borrow the money because the money is available. We are negotiating the extension of the time. It does not make a lot of sense to be negotiating the extension of the time to repay and not have drawn down the whole of the facility. We want the facility. We want to have the opportunity of having 29 years to repay money which we are able to 620 borrow at below the rates we will be able to borrow at when the facility is no longer there beyond the £500 million.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, that is a very interesting remark from the Minister, but on that 625 logic why has he not, for example, borrowed the remainder of the balance of the facility now, in one go? I think under the Estimates we would have gone up to £400 million. This takes us to £425 million, in which case he has £75 million of headroom left, if my maths is correct.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The purpose of the question and answer session is to provide information. 630 People make choices and people take decisions. Of course, if he were employed by us as the Financial Secretary, he might take a different decision than the person who is there now, but I do not think it is for me to go back and cross-examine the people in the Treasury because he wants

635 to know why they chose to draw down a certain amount on a certain date instead of a higher amount or a lower amount. He is entitled to have information, I gave him the information, but what I cannot do is search the brain of the person responsible for taking this decision to find out why he has taken a decision on a date to do something which might not be the decision the hon.
Member would have taken if he had been doing the job, or that I might have taken if I were doing the job. Officials decide what they do and when they do it on the basis that they are responsible for doing these things and are perhaps in a better position to make decisions as to what should happen when than those of us who are policymakers instead of civil servants.

640

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, the reason I ask that question is not hypothetical, it is because he himself said that the idea was to draw down on the facility as much as possible, to take advantage of the best rates, so that we can pay it over 29 years. I must say 29 years is not a timeframe I have heard before.

645

Is the Minister in any way concerned that the officials who have drawn down this £25 million have done so when the budget approved by his Government was for only £50 million?

650

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: What the Budget does, as it did when the GSD was in government, is project an estimate based on a judgement about what is going to happen in the future over 12 months. During those 12 months, as costs come in at the expected rate and other costs come in at unexpected rates ... For example, the amount budgeted for fuel in the generating station as reflected in the Budget may no longer be the amount that is being paid today, so there are decisions that are being taken by the people whose job it is to run these things.

655

I have given the hon. Member information. He does not want to have information, he wants to have an explanation of motives as to why decisions are being taken by the people who are employed to take those decisions professionally. I will not go back and say, 'I want to know why you did this and not do something else, so that I can go back to the Hon. Mr Clinton and tell him why you did it.' I do not think that is the function of Question Time. Question Time is to obtain information. I have given him the information. He has asked me why they have done it. I think the logic is that we want to be able to draw the money between now and the end of the time in which we have the money, and it is the people who are employed to run the ship for us who recommend certain decisions or take certain decisions as to when it is best to do one thing or the other, and that is it. We do not ask them, 'Why did you do it this week and not last week?' or 'Why did not you wait until next week?' That is not how this Government works. I do not think it was how the previous Government worked either, but that is what he seems to be asking me to do.

660

665

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask on this, what was the purpose of the extra £25 million borrowing? Was it to pay recurrent expenditure? Is that what the money will be used for?

670

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I was asked to provide figures as to what is the level of debt on a particular day, 1st October, and I am now being asked whether the money that we drew was spent or not spent on a particular something. How does the hon. Member think I should know an answer to a question like that? He has been in government. (Interjection) Well, it is not only ... How does he think I could possibly know? If something is being paid by the Government, whether it is being paid out of the £25 million or not depends on whether we have £25 million more in the kitty, or not.

675

680

Hon. K Azopardi: First of all, I asked because it is a sizeable sum. I am not asking the hon.
Member to say how £1,000 was spent, which obviously he would not know, but given the fact that – he explained it to me last night, in fact – he has been charged with financial stability and control and it is £25 million, and it is quite a big sum, I thought he would actually know. That is why I asked him the question.

Do I take it, then, from his answer, that he does not know how the £25 million has been spent? If so, we will file a more specific question, and then he can give us the answer.

685

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I do not know how it has been spent. I do not know whether it has been spent.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q492-95/2022

Community Supplies and Services Ltd –
Whether activities directed by any Minister; Government financial or other interest;
source of finance; civil servant involvement

Q496, Q500-02 and Q504-05/2022

Coaling Island temporary housing development – National Economic Plan; intended residents; alterations, demolitions and urban remodelling referred to in planning statement; relocation of current occupants; planning and aesthetic considerations re proximity to Victoria Keys

Q497/2022

National Economic Plan –
List of projects sponsored

Q503/2022

Module blocks –
Plans for further developments

690 Clerk: Question 492/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise if any Minister directs the activities of Community Supplies and Services Ltd?

695 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Questions 493 to 497 and Questions 500 to 505.

700 Clerk: Question 493/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker.
Can the Government advise if it has any financial or other indirect interest in Community Supplies and Services Ltd?

705 Clerk: Question 494/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise where Community Supplies and Services obtains its financing from?

710 Clerk: Question 495/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise if any civil servants have been seconded to or in any other way provide services to Community Supplies and Services Ltd?

715 Clerk: Question 496/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise if the proposed Coaling Island modular unit temporary housing development is sponsored or to be sponsored under the National Economic Plan?

720 Clerk: Question 497/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government provide a list of projects sponsored under the National Economic Plan, together with an explanation as to why they have been so sponsored?

725 Clerk: Question 500/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: The good thing about bunching so many questions together, Mr Speaker, is we may get to watch the football at eight o'clock.

730 Please state who it is intended to rehouse in the Coaling Island temporary housing development.

Clerk: Question 501/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

735 Hon. D J Bossino: Please state which neighbourhoods are subject to alteration and demolition and which urban remodelling is being envisaged, as stated in the planning statement filed in connection with the Coaling Island temporary housing development.

Clerk: Question 502/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

740 Hon. D J Bossino: Please state what is being built on the neighbourhoods earmarked for alteration and demolition, as scantily outlined in the planning statement filed in connection with the Coaling Island temporary housing development.

745 Clerk: Question 503/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state what plans the Government has to build further developments using module blocks.

750 Clerk: Question 504/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Where are the current occupiers of the Coaling Island site going to be moved to make way for the Coaling Island temporary housing development?

755 Clerk: Question 505/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: What planning and aesthetic considerations have been taken account of in respect of the Coaling Island temporary housing development, which will be very close to a site which the Government has earmarked for high-end residential living, namely Victoria Keys?

760 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I am the only Minister engaged in the delivery of the National Economic Plan, in which Community Supplies and Services Ltd (CSS) is participating in the projects.

765 The Government has no financial or other interest in CSS.

CSS provides different services, for which it may charge fees, not necessarily to us.

Members of the staff of the Ministry for Economic Development provide support to CSS where the company is involved in the delivery of a sponsored project. This does not entail any additional payment to the members of my Department.

770 The proposed modular housing development is sponsored under the National Economic Plan.

Current projects are the Jewish Home, elderly residentially home, Eastern Beach sheds, Etioca, Studio Housing, the stadium and the Chilton Court project. All the sponsored projects are sponsored because they contain elements that are relevant to the National Economic Plan and/or will create assets that will, in future, provide revenue to the Government and hence contribute to my responsibility for restoring financial stability to the public finances.

775 The current occupiers of the site identified for the construction of studio flats using modular construction methods are Government stores, which will be relocated, and car parking, which will move to the reclaimed area created by the Government.

780 Other than sponsoring the project under the National Economic Plan, at this stage the Government is not involved in any of the areas mentioned in the Hon. Mr Bossano's other questions.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I thank the Minister for his answer. I beg your indulgence as I unpick his answers.

785 If I understand the Minister correctly, he, as Minister for the National Economic Plan, effectively is involved in CSS. I would ask him was he the mastermind behind the creation of CSS and its parent, Gibraltar Community Initiatives Ltd and its subsequent application for charitable status, and what is the rationale for the creation of this structure?

790 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, he is not ... [Inaudible]

Hon. R M Clinton: I am not suggesting that he was actually the lawyer who incorporated the entity; I am asking was he the brains behind the creation of the structure, i.e. was it his idea?

795 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Creating the structure is something that I cannot answer. I can tell him that the concept of having a charity involved in delivering the parts of the plan which can be delivered in the private sector, which is the majority of it, is that it should prove more efficient in terms of costs to have a charity than to give the activity that we need to use to existing people in the field of property development.

800 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I would like the Minister to explain how that could be so, especially as Community Supplies and Services is not itself a charity but a subsidiary owned by a charity, and, as he knows, CSS is the applicant as developer on the Rooke Nursing Home site and the other sites he listed, many of which are in his National Economic Plan. How does that make it more efficient?

805 Also, Mr Speaker, if I may add another question to it, if I understand correctly, Community Supplies and Services, for example in the specific case – just so we understand how this works – of the Rooke Nursing Home, will effectively be the owner and the operator of the Rooke Nursing Home site, I assume. I am happy to be corrected.

810 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I cannot stop the hon. Member assuming things. He assumes a lot of things a lot of the time and mostly his assumptions are off the mark.

The home will eventually be privately owned, as will other assets, and privately operated. CSS is involved in the process that has taken place so far in the planning applications and administrative work in relation to doing things connected with the home, but not in terms ... It is not impossible that CSS might decide they want to provide that kind of service, but at the moment there is no indication that I am aware of that they are planning to branch out into running elderly people's homes.

820 Hon. R M Clinton: Again, Mr Speaker, I am just trying to understand how this works in the context of his National Economic Plan. If we use the specific example of the Rooke Nursing Home as a template for the structure, CSS applies for the planning permission. I presume it then contracts the builder, in this case GBIC, for the nursing home. But where does the money come from to actually build the structure? Does CSS borrow the money in its own name, or is a third party, of which I am not aware, involved in the structure?

825 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Structures are not being financed by the Government, as he knows. That is to say it is not an I&D project. The National Economic Plan will all be done in partnership with people in the private sector. It can be at the beginning or it can be at the end when we complete. There are people who are interested, in the private sector, in working in partnership with us and we are interested in working in partnership with them. Therefore, at the end of the process there may be some things that are retained by some of the partners we have now. There may be things that will be completely outsourced in their entirety and the Government will only be involved in the use of that facility, in the case of the residential home, to the extent that some of the people for whom the Government has responsibility finish up taking up accommodation there. So the entity – which has not yet been selected, because the thing has to be finished before you can have people looking at what is there and making proposals as to the costs – would be a private entity running it and a private entity owning it, offering the services to the Government but also offering the services to people who fund themselves and are not funded by the Government.

840 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, again I beg your indulgence as I try to put this together in my mind.

I can understand, and I think the Minister has alluded ... that it is obviously a lot easier to sell to the private sector something that has been completed and is there for them to see and they can perhaps express an interest in owning it and running it, but from the point of the plan to the construction and finalisation, how is that being financed? Is the financing is coming from the ultimate purchasers, from the private sector, or is there some sort of interim financing in place from, I just say by example, the Savings Bank? How is this working in operation? For example, on the Rooke Nursing Home site we can see the concrete has gone up and you have already told the House that the modular units should be arriving from China in the next few months, but there is obviously cash involved in this. Somebody must be providing money up front in order to pay the contractors, the containers etc. and the assembly. Is that financing coming from a third party in the private sector of which I have no knowledge, or is there some sort of interim financing arrangement with the Savings Bank?

855 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, in the initial stages some of the funding is provided by some Government companies. That is when it is more difficult to get people to put money in, because there is nothing there, so in those initial stages some of the companies buy loan notes from the developer and provide money, but then, as the building progresses, they are able to access other sources. At the end of the day, when the building is completed, it will be sold and then we will get the money back to the extent that we put in. The only one that is being 100% funded by us at this stage is the proposed stadium.

865 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, again, your indulgence. I think I am beginning to understand the mechanism, so if the Minister ... Again, I crave his patience. The Minister says the developer will issue loan notes that may be bought by other Government companies. If we again use the example of the Rooke Nursing Home, is it that Community Supplies and Services has issued loan notes to a Government company that is providing the finances? Is that correct? And is there any particular Government company providing this finance?

870 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I do not think I have to produce answers about whether they have issued loan notes or not, because we are talking about something that is not a Government entity. But on the Government side I can tell him that we have bought some loan notes with some of the companies, but they may have issued other loan notes to other people, about which really I do not see why I need to know or tell him.

875 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I appreciate the Minister's candour, but he will also appreciate that I am trying to understand what is a fairly unusual structure for Gibraltar and for this House. I asked him is there any specific Government company buying these loan notes that he can identify to assist us?

880 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the Government companies, as the hon. Member well knows, have a collective pool where the companies transfer money to each other as they need. They all come under the heading of Gibraltar Investment Holdings or the GDC and the money is treated as one pool, but it may come from one particular company that has a surplus. It would come from one that has a surplus. I can find which one it is and let him know.

885 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I understand what the Minister is saying, but again I am not talking about the physical movement of cash, I am really after who is the counterparty to the loan note with Community Supplies and Services. If he can just give me an indication, I would be grateful.

890 Again, if the Minister does not have the information I fully accept that, but does he have an idea of how many loan notes have been bought by Government companies so far, in terms of the value?

895 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, not with me.

900 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, given the structure is, as the Minister said, part of the National Economic Plan, and given that under certainly the objects ... I am probably showing my age now, since it appears there are no longer objects clauses, but under the articles of Gibraltar Community Initiatives Ltd, on the income and distributions they are restricted in terms of donating or applying income to advance programmes which benefit Gibraltar and the Gibraltarian community on human, social, economic, education and medical matters, reinvest income and investments as carried out by the company's wholly owned subsidiaries, provide funds or other benefits, make any contribution to sports, endow funds, other charities, each of which would require the permission of the Charity Commissioners. For how long does the Minister envisage the structure will exist? Is this structure meant to exist in perpetuity, indefinitely, or does he see an end to the need for the structure?

910 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: He is not only asking me, now, to speculate about things, he is asking me to see the future. How long will it take for Russia to move out of Ukraine? To my knowledge, most lawyers, when they incorporate companies, put an entire list of everything on the planet. All the companies I have ever seen in Gibraltar, even if they were only £10 companies, included everything from running airlines to running railways, even though they do not exist. This is standard procedure, as far as I can tell. I think the system will continue as long as there is an 915 activity in which it can participate, but as I have said, at this stage it does not mean that we are the only ones who can co-operate. There is nothing to stop CSS having engagements with people other than us, either because they want to or because some other party may want to have a relationship with them on a particular project. If the hon. Member is asking do they cease to exist when the National Economic Plan is exhausted, the answer is not necessarily.

920 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I really appreciate the answers the Minister is giving. I just have one final question. The loan notes that Government companies are buying – what sort of security are they receiving in exchange for the loan notes? These are presumably building sites that CSS is involved in. From the search and the information I have, and these entities have only been set up in the last two years, but Community Supplies and Services only has a share capital of £100 and 925 the last accounts were filed for its parent. I do not think I have accounts yet for CSS; there are no accounts filed yet. How is the Government ensuring that it has good security for the loan notes? What sort of security has it obtained, if any? Certainly from a cursory search of CSS I did not see any charges registered against it, as I would expect to see if it has issued loan notes.

930 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member needs to understand that many of the questions he raises are about things that are announced and five minutes after they are announced the hon. Member wants to have lots of answers about things that have not yet happened and are not yet happening.

He needs to understand that we are talking about a process that has been in existence with a 935 number of very small projects for the last few months, and that the one big project, which is the stadium, is not being done with CSS but directly with the National Stadium Company. The National Stadium Company, as I said yesterday, will be transferred to the Savings Bank. When I give him the list – as I also said, he is the only who has ever asked for it and I am the only one who has ever given it, and I will continue to give it to him even though he thinks I am fiddling the books – he will 940 see that it will appear there now and that there will be issues of purchase by the Savings Bank of loan notes which will appear in the list that I will give him, just like it happens with Credit Finance. When Credit Finance needs more money for some of what it is doing, it gets the money from the Savings Bank but it appears in the Book. In this case, the ownership will appear because it will be transferred to the ownership of the Savings Bank until we have been repaid whatever the closing 945 amount eventually is. When we get all our money back and we get the profits back in the Savings Bank, the agreement we are discussing with the Football Association is that the GFA will get its company back on the basis that the agreement is that they relinquish ownership to the Savings Bank for the period. So every penny that the Savings Bank invests will be in a company that it temporarily owns. That is to say at the start of the business when they have not put in a penny, 950 they will be getting a company that owns a plot of land which has a value, and then, as they advance money for the project, the creation of assets with that money will belong to the company, which technically is temporarily owned by them, and the money that is being provided will appear monthly. As I gave the hon. Member the list, I think if he wants to keep track of that he will find it easy to do.

955 Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister for his explanations, but there are two different things coming out of this and I really do beg your indulgence. One is about the stadium structure and the other one is the CCS structure, and they seem to be two different financing methods, if I am correct.

960 On the CSS one, the Minister said, if I deal with that one first, I want to know about stuff that has just happened, but with respect to the Minister, he will appreciate that the Rooke site has been ongoing for quite a while, and as I said, I am using it as a generic example for how this will work. I was asking, in respect of the Rooke site, whether loan notes had been issued by CSS. I just find it strange that CSS had no charge against it as a general mortgage against the company. That 965 is just one question on that side, which we can park.

970 The other one is, coming to the stadium, if I understood the Minister correctly, they will effectively take control of GFA National Stadium Ltd. I do not know whether there will be a legal transfer of ownership to the Savings Bank, so that effectively it will become a company owned by the Savings Bank, which in turn ... I have not checked the register. I presume the land is registered in the name of GFA National Stadium, which would be logical. As time progresses, it will, as I think he described, require money to build the stadium, and if I understand the Minister correctly, it will then issue loan notes which the Savings Bank will reflect in its list of assets as a loan note issued by the Gibraltar National Stadium Ltd. Is that correct? Perhaps if he answers the second question first it will be easier, then address the first.

975

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I am explaining to the hon. Member what is proposed will happen. The problem I have is that he is asking me questions on something that currently has not yet happened. This is what we are talking to people about. I do not want him to come back later and say, 'You said on such and such a date this was ...' so he needs to understand that I am trying to give him an indication of the direction that I see the process developing, which gives us, in effect, as he says, control of it, and of course we will also have involvement because GBIC will be involved with the specialist companies that are involved in the project. It is not as if we were giving money away to somebody and then we did not know what he was doing with it. That is to say there is an involvement with every aspect of the project to make sure that the money is going where it is intended to be, and in some cases it means that some of the money is being paid back to a company which is a joint venture, where we have people who are there as directors who are in my Department.

980 It is an approach of trying to maximise the fact ... When the previous Government announced the £1½ billion development plan they told us that they were going to engage Mr Nigel Pardo to run the £1½ billion plan because he would be able, as somebody who has been in the industry in the private sector, to get better prices for the Government than if the Government tried to do it for itself, and that his services, in effect, came free because what he would be paid was less than what he would be saving for the Government compared to the prices that the Government would be charged. That was the rationale. I believe that an important element of engaging activity in the private sector with private sector players is more in terms of the speed of decision making, which costs money and causes delays, and therefore I believe that one of the advantages which will make the generation of wealth and the creation of assets proceed at a faster speed with the way we are doing it and make the thing self-financing ... In almost all the projects there is an element of a benefit to the community which is part of the package, which is something the Government might have had to do out of public funds, had it had the public funds to do it, which it has not.

990

995 In effect, so that the hon. Member can understand what I am trying to achieve, I am trying to achieve the results of what the programme envisaged in 2019, which did not get off the ground because of what happened in 2020. We were supposed to be starting all this in January 2020, and then in February 2020 we closed down. So I am trying to achieve as much of that ... but without the resources we had in 2018 and 2019. Those resources do not exist anymore. The hon. Member knows the gap there is between the annual revenue there was in those years and the annual revenue there is now. So to be able to get to where we were and to be able to deliver what we promised to deliver we need to have a new model which involves substantial involvement of private sector initiative and speed of delivery, and therefore some of the things in the package we will finish getting at cost or less than cost, as part of the way we spread the cost to the things that eventually are sold privately, managed privately and run privately.

1000

1005 The rationale then is that there will be an element of contribution to Government coffers from the activity that will help us in trying to restore financial stability, and thus it will be an attempt to do as much as we would have done had we not had the misfortune to have Brexit and then COVID, at a cost that will be self-financing, because everything that is included in the package has to have with it things that will be producing a profit and a surplus to compensate for the things that will not. If we are doing, for example in Laguna estate, a club, the club alone would cost money, for

1015

1020 which there is no resource in the I&D Fund, from which we might have borrowed money had we not borrowed the money already for COVID. So what do we do? We try to do a package which involves that we get the playground done and that in the process other things are done which pay for all or part of the playground. So we get the playground done and the private initiatives that are involved in partnership with us make their money and we get payment in kind as well as payment for the land on which it is.

1025 It is new, I accept that. The way we are trying to put this thing together is new, just like what they tried to do before, when the £1½ billion was announced in 2010 was new. Unfortunately, some of the things that they tried to do did not have the results that were expected. People were expecting that the Airport would be overflowing with planes and customers and it was not, because the Spaniards did not keep their side of the bargain. The tunnel is still not finished, even though it was supposed to be finished a decade ago.

1030 All I am telling him is I am very confident that this will work and produce results, and the results will be good for Gibraltar and good for the public finances. But we are at the beginning of a process and I can only give him an indication of the rationale and the direction. No doubt he will be monitoring it by asking me questions every step of the way, and I hope that I will be able to produce answers that show that it is working, but at this stage we are only at the beginning and there are things that we are learning as we go along.

1035 The relationship with CSS and the charity is so that there is no question of people being given privileged treatment by working alongside us in the National Economic Plan and making a fortune for themselves. To make sure that that is not a possibility and that nobody can accuse us of doing that, the situation is that it is a charity that owns CSS and any money that CSS makes with a profit will go to the owner, which is a charity. I hope that at least gives him an idea of what it is that I am doing.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, yes, that was extremely helpful.

1045 Back to my original question, which, although he gave us a very long explanation as to what the thinking is, he did not quite answer. My simple question is having taken ownership – or control, shall we say – of Gibraltar National Football Stadium Ltd – (Interjection) No, when and if he does, or the Savings Bank does, and it requires money, the mechanism would be, I assume – and the Minister can correct me if I am wrong – the same as he did, for example, with the National Mint; it will issue a loan note, which the Savings Bank will buy, which will be in the name of Gibraltar National Football. I can see he is nodding. That is fantastic.

1050 The second question I have is in terms of how the Minister will envisage this growing from now – not from the CSS point of view of issuing loan notes, but from the Savings Bank point of view of its appetite and capacity for funding projects under the National Economic Plan. Does he have a limit in mind in terms that Savings Bank will participate in £x million value of projects, or is it an open question and may be too early to answer at this stage?

1060 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: When dealing with the Savings Bank, the appetite depends on the profitability. We have over £400 million in cash in local banks which is giving us minimal returns. The £200-odd million we have in the Stock Exchange every year ... When the hon. Member sees the results, they always have capital losses, partly because they buy above par and then the market changes. This is strictly business. We are not a charity. We are there to make money for the Savings Bank and the Savings Bank is there to have enough money to continue to give a good return to the depositors and to be able to continue delivering the purchase of pensions from civil servants who want to commute 100% or whatever percentage they want. Therefore, the flow of cash ... At the moment – I think he heard me saying this on GBC when I was off air – on the basis that we have £1.5 billion and that we make £5 million of profit ... That is to say roughly, in broad terms, we pay depositors £50 million and we receive from our investment £55 million. That £5 million net profit is one third of 1% of the amount of cash that we are handling. Clearly, I would want to see a better return than that. That may not mean there is an unlimited movement of 1070 money going in, because we are going to be predominantly in the constructions stage and not retaining assets, so that we are not ... I would possibly be tempted to retain some assets if they were assets that were producing a very good return and it would make more sense to keep them than let somebody else make the money. We are putting the money in the creation of assets, so 1075 there will be a point when in fact there will be a flow of money coming back, which we will be reinvesting if there are opportunities, or we might not be reinvesting. So we might get to a point where we actually put up a couple of hundred million and then start declining, for example, because projects are finishing and they are being sold off. It really will depend on maximising the potential in the market for increasing the returns on the money that we have, a big chunk of which is yielding very little at the moment.

1080

Hon. R M Clinton: Sorry, Mr Speaker, I will try and wrap up now. Just two more questions. One is obviously I understand what he is saying and he will understand, of course, that any project, especially involving building construction, is always prone to delays and overspends etc. To what extent is he developing a specialist team to assess and stress test any proposals that may come 1085 forward for him to consider for funding? These are necessarily complex arrangements and unless he has an in-house team of property developers – I do not know if he has – that has the expertise to be able to analyse the projections and estimates, there could be a gap in expertise. I do not know whether he is addressing that point or it is too early to say, or if he is just looking at concepts at the moment, but has he got a team in place that has the necessary expertise to assess the 1090 viability of these projects?

My last and second question is he mentioned GBIC for the stadium. Is that in any way going to be modular, or is it just to be a mix of construction methods?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: It was contracted with Portuguese architects who had done the national 1095 stadium in Portugal, and of course GBIC has a parent that has done the biggest stadium on the planet in Beijing, so we have access to people in the partnerships that we have. For example, we used UK architects for our modular building and, as I think I have mentioned previously, when the buildings need to be erected in Gibraltar we will be bringing people from the UK who happen to have been trained by the Chinese to do modular buildings in the UK. We are making sure not just 1100 that we are doing it to British standards, but that in fact we have UK workmen who will understand the rules here because they are the same as in the UK. In any event, it so happens that with the lockdowns in China it is almost impossible to bring the expertise from China anymore because until very recently, if somebody came from China he could be here for three or four days, there is a huge cost in bringing him here and then, when he goes back, they make him stay in a hotel for 1105 two weeks before he can come out of the room, all of which would have to be paid for. So today it is more cost effective to bring somebody from the UK than it is to bring somebody from China, and that is what we will be doing, hopefully in February when the stuff starts being unloaded and erected.

In the other areas we are talking to many people – but not always the same people – in 1110 different projects and therefore where we can get advice from people with expertise without having to pay for it, we do, and when have to pay, we pay, but each project ... The stadium is in a field of its own, but when we are building something in Laguna, which is some flats and a club, and we are talking about producing flats for pensioners where there is a demand that has been brought to our notice that there are people who bought in the 1980s when we introduced the 1115 first co-ownership scheme – people who bought homes then for £38,000 and now have an asset that is worth £350,000 and have now got grandchildren and their children are now grownups and are living in other 50-50 homes ... They are not able to access pensioner flats that are rented because the rule is that you cannot be a homeowner, sell your home and then rent. So what we have devised is that the charity will be, in this case, selling the homes, which will be less costly 1120 than if they were to try to do it in the private sector. I can tell you that there are quite a number of people who have made representations to me that it is unfair that they are being prevented from applying for the pensioner flats that we rent because of the rule that you cannot be a homeowner and then apply for subsidised rented accommodation because otherwise you could sell your home for half a million and then say, 'Rent me something for £50 a month.'

1125 What we have tried to do with the new conditions, that the charity will do and not the Government, is that they will buy this home, they will sell it to somebody who is selling his property which he bought before, for more than he is buying the new one. He may be selling a two or three bedroom and he only needs a one or two-bedroom now. So he will be paid less because the size is less, but he will be paying an unsubsidised price and he will be paying cash –
1130 because they are not of an age that they can get a mortgage, and in any case they will be selling an asset that is producing more cash than they deploy. But in addition, because this is something we do not want to see finishing up where it was intended at first for people who could not afford anything higher and it has finished up, in many instances after a number of years, in the open market being sold to outsiders ... We do not want the same thing to happen to this, and I think it
1135 will be more difficult for the Government to do more restrictive conditions, but the charity will be offering to people who qualify, which will be people who are homeowners who are now past retirement age and want to downsize ... They will be able to buy, but they can only sell back to the charity, they cannot sell it to a third party, and it will be guaranteed that when they sell eventually, or when their descendants sell eventually – because it will only be for pensioners – they will be 1140 paid the lower of the market value or inflation. So they are guaranteed that the money they put into the property will not lose its value, but they will not be using the property to make capital gains, and then the property will only return to the pool.

That, for example, would be an activity that the charity would expect to continue for many years into the future as more or more of these flats are built. It is an experiment. The first ones 1145 are going to be in Laguna. I can tell the hon. Member that from the number of enquiries I have got, it looks as if they are all going to be sold before they are even finished. (Interjection) I have not got the details of the thing, but I think it is in the planning thing that was submitted, yes.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1150

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, let me see if I can get something clear. In relation to Community Supplies and Services Ltd, who is directing the decisions of CSS? It is him?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The people who work for me provide support to CSS. They are not employed by CSS and they are not paid by CSS. So my employees – most of them are civil servants, some are GDC employees – provide the work that needs to be done, free of charge, for them in my working hours, so there is no extra payment. The decision making – they have people they employ themselves. Sometimes they come for help or advice on things and they get the advice they need. Sometimes they come to discuss things with some of my people, to see whether they 1155 think it is a good idea to do it one way or the other, but then they decide what to proceed with. They may say, 'Can you submit it for me?' or 'Can you prepare it for me?' and we do the paperwork for them. They do not have a sufficient number of resources of their own, but with the passage of time presumably they will be getting bigger and better equipped themselves and may need less help. At the moment, we are available to give them a hand on anything they need because the 1160 whole thing is something that we very much want to be a success because it is an integral part of what we put together.

1165

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, CSS, we have heard, is now involved in a number of projects. I will not rattle them off, we have heard it: Eastern Beach and Coaling Island, which my hon. colleague will have questions about, Laguna and others. CSS ... a lot of the applications it is filing before the Planning Commission are signed by civil servants. Someone must be giving instructions to those civil servants to go ahead and file those applications, presumably, as civil servants would not sign documents unless they had instructions. Is the hon. Member saying he is giving instructions to those particular civil servants to do so?

1170

1175

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I run a rather more informal system than the one the hon. Member is describing. Sometimes my typists give me instructions. Sometimes the guy who is the messenger tells me to get him things. In my outfit, which is in a separate building from the rest of the empire, we are more of a happy family and we do not have the kind of hierarchy the hon. Member is talking about. Anybody can be asked to do anything. From the Minister to the cleaning lady, a civil servant or the head of Department, we are all one big, happy family.

1180

Hon. K Azopardi: I am delighted that it is such a great and happy family, but presumably the civil servants ... Civil servants are employed and paid as Government employees, and normally they would act in accordance with duties, powers and requests made by the Government in accordance with Government policy, directed by Ministers or directed by senior officials and so on. A civil servant is not going to decide to sign a private company's planning application unless there has been some kind of direction by the Government that they should do so.

1185

Really what I am getting to – it is not a difficult question and I am not trying to catch the hon. Member out – is someone must have given ... asked ... if the objection is to the word 'instructions', asked the member of the happy family to sign the planning application, and I just wondered who is doing that. Who is telling these civil servants yes, go ahead and sign these planning applications?

1190

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the staff of my Department work to provide assistance to the people who are engaged in the delivery of the sponsored project of the National Economic Plan. They provide the assistance that is requested without having to go through a hierarchy of decision-making processes, which means the structure goes up a long ladder and then it comes down, by which time probably the issue is over and done with and should have been resolved. We do not work like that. If somebody asks one of my civil servants for something, unless a civil servant has a doubt about its ... that it might have some negative repercussions, he is free to do it and he does not have to clear it with anybody.

1195

1200

Hon. K Azopardi: Well, let me ask the question in another way. Is he saying that he did not ask the civil servants who signed those applications to do so?

1205

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I am saying that I did not ask them to do it, and if they had come to say to me, 'Can I do it?' I would have asked them, 'Why are you asking? You've been long enough in this Department to know that you do not need to ask.' The people who work in the Ministry for Economic Development know what we are supposed to be doing and have the freedom to make decisions on their own initiative and get things done. They only need to come back when they have doubts about something and they feel uneasy or worried. Then they come back to me, to make sure that it is what should be happening, because they might think maybe somebody has given them one version that is not 100% accurate, but other than that ...

1210

The system that he describes is a system that I think accounts for many of the problems of delivery of decision-making processes, where everybody in the system is risk averse for a very simple reason, because if you are in the private sector and you take decisions and the decisions are very successful then you get rewarded, and if they are not successful you might lose your job. In the public sector, if they are not successful you do not lose your job, and if they are very successful usually somebody else higher than you takes credit for it, so it is a system that ...

1215

I have always worked on the basis that we are all equal and we all can do anybody else's job. That includes me. I am no different from anybody else – I make tea for other people, the same as other people make tea for me – and they only come to me when they need my advice because they are uncertain about something and they do not want to do something that might be bad for me. When they come to me, more than anything else it is because they are not too happy about 1225 something that somebody has asked of them and they think it might be bad for me. They care about me and they come and ask me. They say, 'Joe, this is what they are saying. Are you sure it is okay to do it, that you will not find somebody from the Opposition attacking you?' and I say, 'No, you do it.' That is how it works – really; I am not making it up.

1220

1230 Hon. K Azopardi: As I understand what he is saying – because he is getting a bit caught up, I think, with all due respect, as to whether there was an instruction or whether he had specifically asked them or asked them not to sign it – I think what he is describing is that there was an understanding in the Department that because they are involved in these transactions, he is expecting people to take decisions and get involved, get on with it and sign these things.

1235 Can I ask him about CSS, though? Did he or the Government give instructions for the creation of CSS?

1240 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The creation of CSS? CSS has been created by the charity Gibraltar Community Initiatives. How could we, as a Government, give instruction to a private charity to create a subsidiary? I have talked to the people who are with me in the Government and with the people outside the Government about how we would develop a mechanism to deliver the things that we want to deliver, and the mechanism that has emerged is the one that the people in brainstorming have thought was the best thing to do.

1245 The hon. Member, although he is in the private sector, seems to have an instinctive view that things have to work with somebody giving an order at the top of the chain and the thing going all the way down. It does not work like that. You discuss what it is you want to achieve and then somebody might come back and say, 'I think it would be a good idea to do it like this,' and you might say, 'No, I think it is a better idea to do it like this.' That is the way we work with the people in the team, some of whom are employed in the Government, some of whom are not employed in the Government.

1250 The structure was created by the people who are there now. The people who contributed the guarantee are the people who created the entity. Their names have been published in that thing that has been floating around.

1255 Hon. K Azopardi: So the hon. Member is saying that – I am not going to mention names, but it is the names of the individuals that are on the profiles of these companies; those are the individuals who are actually behind these entities, and it is not the Government in any way behind these entities?

1260 At the end of it, we have spoken about high-profile projects where the Government has very clearly taken an initiative in all these areas, whether it is at Laguna or whether it is at Rooke or whether it is at Coaling Island or whether it is the stadium project. Indeed, the hon. Member made the announcement himself, and so you have clearly got involved in all of that, and yet I think you are saying, although it is hard to believe, that this creation has nothing to do with the Government and the Government is not in any way influencing the structure. Is that what the hon. Member is saying, that you are not behind it?

1265 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: By telling the hon. Member in the first question that the only one involved was me. There is nobody else involved. Okay?

1270 Hon. K Azopardi: The reason for my question was because I had understood – maybe I have not heard it right, so I am giving him the opportunity – that what he had said is that he was the only one involved in the National Economic Plan. What I am asking very specifically is about CSSL.

1275 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: CSSL would not exist if there was no National Economic Plan and if I was not the one doing it. It is as simple as that.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Damon Bossino.

1280 Hon. D J Bossino: That was a jaw-dropping moment on this side of the House, and a lot of head scratching because I must say that it is all rather odd and weird. This is almost like extra-institutional things that he is talking about. I took a note – Yes, sir, the question will come. He runs a less informal system, a separate building from the rest of the empire, but at the same time there is – 1285 Mr Speaker: May I ask the hon. Member to commence his supplementary question? I do not want to hear any more preambles. Why don't you take the lesson of the Hon. Roy Clinton, who very respectfully asks supplementary questions straight to the point? Can I ask you to do the same?

1290 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I do not need to take lessons from anybody, but I will ask the question.

I did not quite catch the last comment he made in answer to all the questions that we posed. As far as all my questions are concerned – I think that is the position and I ask him to confirm the position – he is not answering any of them because he said something about ... This is the note 1295 that I took – something about all the other areas and the Government is not involved. It was literally the last sentence that he read out in his prepared answer. I just want to understand whether I have understood the position correctly and that he, in fact, has not answered any of my questions.

1300 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: He understood correctly, Mr Speaker.

Hon. D J Bossino: But in what way is the Government not involved? The planning application submitted to the DPC on behalf of Community Supplies and Services Ltd – the notice of which was signed by one of the civil servants who, I assume Mr Caine Sanchez, works in his Department; I am 1305 assuming he is one of the individuals he has been referring to – says:

The purpose of the current intervention is to temporarily

– it is a misspelling; 'rehouse' I think it is meant to say –

[rehouse] the populations from neighbourhoods subject to alteration and demolition foreseen in urban remodelling to be carried out and which will result in the need for housing units.

Many of my questions were predicated on that, and we have issued press statements asking for clarification on this. But is he saying that this is completely distant from the Government, that he does not know what the applicant is saying when it says this? If that is his answer, it is very odd 1310 and weird that that should be the case when clearly this is something in respect of which there is a public and Government interest, surely, when it is talking about rehousing neighbourhoods and urban remodelling. Can he provide some further information in relation to that?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I cannot tell you more than I have told you already. Mr Speaker, I have 1315 told the hon. Member we have not been involved in the drafting or in committing ourselves or intending to do any of the things that he put in his ... The hon. Member asks how many modular buildings. We are not doing a modular building. This is being done by the private sector as part of the delivery of the National Economic Plan. Whether this gets through the DPC and whether it gets built, and whether when it gets built it finds customers on the basis of rehousing or not, is all 1320 speculative. What I am telling him is that it is not as a result of an input from me, in that I have said I want somebody to build this thing in order to decant people from anywhere in Gibraltar.

That has not happened, and that is why I am telling him that the involvement is the involvement only of assisting the people. I do not know whether there is a market for doing any of those things or not. I have got, clearly, an interest, in that it should be approved because it is going to be a modular building.

1325

We have already been contacted – that is the joint venture company has already been in contact with a potential supplier in China. The nature of the building is one that is available at a very favourable price because it is based on the designs that were produced for student accommodation in Glasgow in 2016. If he goes to the internet and looks at the student accommodation of Glasgow in 2016, those are the building units that are still available, which would be a modular building that can actually be transferred and re-erected somewhere else at a later stage.

1330

If it goes ahead, it means that the joint venture company will be doing that work. The actual potential usage of it ... well, I think it is too early to say where the market for that is going to be, but clearly there are many possibilities because we do not know, in a year's time, where our labour may be coming from or not coming from and to what extent we may need a place for labour or to what extent there are people living in very bad conditions who would be able to go there, or to what extent there are people living now in hostels who would be better off living in studio flats.

1335

The hon. Member needs to understand something that I have been trying to get them to understand from the beginning. This is the beginning of a process. People put things about what it is possible they may do. As far as I am concerned, some of the things that are there I do not think are very likely, but there has been no input from me in any of those. That is why I am telling him the only Government involvement is the one I have said, and all the other things he has mentioned which he has picked from this have not been put there by the Government saying we want to be using the building for any of these things. That is what I am telling him.

1340

1345

Hon. D J Bossino: I must admit I am trying to be as objective as I possibly can about this. I am not taking a partisan view on this, (Laughter) but I still find it very difficult to follow.

1350

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I take it he believes me when I tell him.

Hon. D J Bossino: I am taking everything he says at face value. Belief or not is a different matter. (Interjections) It is everything at face value, but I just find it very odd and very strange that there is this conflation. This is not a distant arrangement when you have public servants signing off applications on behalf of these companies that are wanting to do things on land in Gibraltar that, as part of that process, states that certain other things are going to happen in relation to other neighbourhoods and land in Gibraltar, due to urban renewal, and that the Minister, in his mind, distances himself from that to the extent that he cannot provide any information to the House in relation to that.

1355

His initial answer was no, and then he has given an explanation as to the thinking process, but here there is a very specific application for a specific project for a very specific type of apartment. I think there are 300 fifty-square-metre apartments. He has talked about the Glasgow student accommodation. Surely, as the Government Minister who is pulling the strings, he is telling us from the National Economic Plan perspective ... Presumably he is just looking at the profit element of it and not thinking about whether there is indeed ... For example, I think anybody down the street would say, 'Well, wait a minute, is there a social need for this? Is there a public policy need for Gibraltar to have 300 fifty-square-metre apartments in that location?' Let's forget the location – irrespective of where the location is. And when you have – supposedly, from what he is saying, and if one believes what he is saying – an independent entity, owned ultimately by a charity, saying 'I think this is a good idea,' and he does not even ask them why that is the case, but in his very friendly environment a civil servant who is under him in the Department signs off the application form ... The whole thing, even when I am setting it out, just does not sound right, I must say, Mr Speaker.

1360

1365

1370

1375 Furthermore, as part of the DPC application – and maybe this assists him, or maybe he has not read it; I do not know ... As part of the design statement it says ... some of which gives us a bit of information, which I think he may have been alluding to in his reply, where it talks about ‘providing adaptable accommodation’, which is what I think he was talking about, ‘for key workers within the located site’. That design statement cites the client as CIMC, which I think is the Chinese entity 1380 which is providing the modular blocks in respect of the old people’s home, and GBIC Ltd, which is the joint-venture company in which the Government is involved. It is a joint venture with the company, so the Government is directly involved in that one. So is he really expecting us to accept that what he is telling us is that he has no involvement or understanding of the wider thinking behind this particular project, in terms of the social needs, etc?

1385 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: If the question is am I asking him to accept that I am telling the truth, he should have known me well enough and long enough to know that I do tell the truth. If I have told him what I have told him, then that is the truth. If he does not understand it, if he finds it surprising and all the rest of it ... He is supposed to be asking about information. The information I have given him is that the only involvement ... and that is in the original answer, and that there has been no 1390 involvement in the rest, and everything else since is his emotions about the surprise of the answer that has been given. It is still the same answer. If you want to believe it, you believe it; if you do not want to believe it, you do not believe it. It is a free world.

Hon. D J Bossino: It is a specific question: is there a need, in his view – given our interpretation 1395 of what must be clearly a governmental involvement through him in these projects – for 300 fifty-square-metre apartments? Is there a social need for it? I am asking him for that information. And, if so, why? But he is expecting us to accept that the answer is not even no – it is blank, it is nothing:
 ‘Nothing to do with me.’ That is what is bizarre.

1400 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I do not expect anything from the hon. Member. He has asked a question, I have given an answer, and then his supplementary is do I expect him to believe the answer I have given him. Well, look, he can either believe it or he can lump it, I do not really care. He wants information and I have given him the information. If he does not want to believe it, I am quite happy that he should not believe it. (Interjection)

1405 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, a point of order. I think the way that the hon. Gentleman ... I say this with the utmost respect – I have known him for many years, he is of a certain age; he is my mother’s age and indeed there is a family connection – but I think the expression ‘Well, he can lump it’ is unparliamentary and he needs to be called to order, in my view, in my respectful 1410 submission. The Speaker can decide as he as wishes, but that is the point of order I am raising.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, addressing that point of order, the Hon. Mr Bossano has more parliamentary experience, dare I say it, even than you, although you have much, and he certainly has more than anybody else on this side or that side of the House.

1415 He has summarised accurately the position, which is that when the Government gives an answer, it is given in keeping with the rules of moderation and in keeping with the words that Erskine May considers are parliamentary and not parliamentary. He has said, ‘I am here to give information. I give the information. Issues relating to the hon. Gentleman’s emotions as to whether he believes or does not believe the answers given are really a matter entirely for him’ – 1420 which can be accurately summarised as lumping it, (Laughter) and as long as the hon. Gentleman does not get up and say that he does not believe what another Member has said because he believes that that hon. Member is misleading the House, then there is not really an engagement of the Rules in that respect.

1425 Mr Speaker, in this House one has sometimes to accept things that are said by other Members, whether hon. Members like it or not. I have to accept the questions that hon. Members ask, whether I like them or not, and they have to accept the answers, whether they like them or not. To a very great extent, we are very often dancing on a pinhead. We are in agreement on 99% of issues and it is just a question of how we speak about issues, how we represent issues and how we address them.

1430 The Hon. the Father of the House is doing something that he enjoys the full confidence of the Government in doing and the full confidence, in my view, of the community, although some people sometimes take more time to understand what he is saying and why he is saying it, and in particular why he is saying it in a particular way. I leave that there and say that there is nothing unparliamentary in the way he has expressed himself and that I do not think the Rules prevent 1435 him from telling hon. Members that if they do not like it, they should lump it.

Mr Speaker: Certainly, if I had been answering the question I would not have used that word. Having said that, I think you have been pushing the Hon. Minister to a degree which has resulted in the Hon. the Father of the House reacting in that manner. I am sure he does not really mean it 1440 and that it was just a reaction to your pushing him and the preamble that you used to get to the point of asking the question, which may at times ... not infuriate the Member, but you have to take into account that this gentleman has been working here, has been a parliamentarian, for many years and he really thinks Gibraltar and – Sorry?

1445 Hon. R M Clinton: Sorry, Mr Speaker, you are meant to be completely impartial, I would point out, as a point of order.

Hon. Chief Minister: I do not think that Mr Speaker, for one moment, is lacking impartiality by saying that the Hon. the Father of the House thinks Gibraltar. All of us stand up in this place and 1450 address each other as 'honourable' because the Rules actually set out that we are all honourable. And so, saying that the Father of the House thinks Gibraltar ... I might disagree often with the hon. Gentleman, but I was pleased to see him back here yesterday and I think he thinks Gibraltar, even though he does not think Gibraltar like me. We are all here to think Gibraltar, Mr Speaker, and we have agreed, on issues relating to foreign relations – as I said today in my address – that whoever 1455 from this Parliament was in the negotiations would take the same approach. So it is hardly impartiality to address that. Absolutely, and the Rules say we are all honourable, we all think Gibraltar, and there is no element of partiality in that respect. (Interjection)

Mr Speaker: Why doesn't the hon. Member rise and explain why you think I am not being 1460 impartial?

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, with the utmost respect, because you are describing the hon. Member ... for whom I too have great affection, but it is one thing for us, on either side of the House, to express a view as to a person's attributes; in my humble submission, it is an entirely 1465 different thing for the Speaker to do so. You should not have a view as to a person's attributes. You should be there to chair the meeting and that is it.

Mr Speaker, I must say I think it is really strange that every time somebody on this side of the House raises a point of order, it seems to be the Chief Minister rising to make a submission. That is not the way points of order are meant to happen. It does not happen in the House of Commons.
1470

A Member: Yes, it does.

Hon. R M Clinton: It does not.

1475 A Member: Yes, it does.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, that is my submission. I will sit down.

1480 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman may only have seen some instances of the House of Commons where a person gets up, makes a point of order and the Speaker rules. Of course it is possible in the House of Commons, as elsewhere, when somebody makes a point of order, for a position in respect of that point of order to be expressed by other individuals. Of course it is.

1485 What the hon. Gentleman is saying is that the Speaker cannot express an opinion as to the 'honourability' of Members. What the Speaker would not be able to do is express an opinion about the 'dishonourability' of Members, unless he was making a ruling in that respect. What I am saying to him, Mr Speaker, is that you regard us all as being honourable and thinking Gibraltar, because that is what the Rules say. What the Speaker is saying is what the Rules say, and that is where the hon. Gentleman is wrong in his point of order.

1490 Mr Speaker: My answer to all this is that I cannot force the Minister to give an answer to a question and I do not have any responsibility for the quality of the answer that is given, nor its content. That is my answer to that.

1495 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, you have ruled. So be it.
I think all the questions I had highlighted ... two questions which I thought he had not ... not that he had not answered, in the sense ... Put it this way: the answer he had given, for me, is a non-answer, but there were two questions which I had identified in respect of which he had not even attempted a non-answer, but it may be that it may be whittled down to one because he may have answered the point in respect of one of the questions raised by way of supplementary by one of my hon. Friends.

1500 I think it is in relation to Question 503, when I asked, 'Please state what plans the Government has to build further developments using module blocks.' I think what he said is that the Government is not making these decisions, these decisions are being made, if I can put it in these terms, on the private sector side, and then the Government considers, presumably – this is what I think should happen – whether it is a good project or not.

1505 But I think the question which has not been answered at all, not even with a non-answer, is Question 505, which is my final question in that list, which talks about planning and aesthetic considerations and the fact that this particular modular block is going to be so close to the Victoria Keys project. I may have missed it, but I do not think so.

1510 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The answer I gave was that we were not involved beyond the one that I said yes to, and I said that in respect of all the others, there is no involvement. So what is it that he says I have not answered? I have answered that there is no involvement in any of the other things he has quoted from the submission.

1515 Hon. D J Bossino: Just so I can understand, that final sentence in his prepared reply applies to all of the questions that I filed and applies also to the question about the planning and aesthetic aspects? Have I understood him correctly? If that is the case, that is the case.

1520 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I do not know whether the hon. Member has difficulty understanding things unless he is told the same thing 10 times, because he keeps asking the same thing. The first answer to the question was that other than in the specific area that I mentioned ... in respect of all the other questions there was no Government involvement. He has spent I do not know how much time asking me the same thing about all the other areas where I said there is no Government involvement. If, as he says, he finds it difficult to believe, he can not believe it. If he finds it difficult, he should stop struggling with his conscience and accept that he does not believe it, and that is it. I am telling him, he does not believe it. I do not mind him not believing it; what I mind is him asking me 20,000 times to say something different, which I am not going to do.

1530 Mr Speaker: We move on. The Leader of the Opposition would like to ask question? Yes.

Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, can I just ask two questions, if I may? I think they are short, so hopefully I will get short answers.

1535 Can I just ask the Minister whether he is saying, really ...? I understand the creation of this is under the National Economic Plan, so is he saying that all the projects that CSSL are involved in or would be involved in must be sponsored under the National Economic Plan? Is that the rationale of this?

1540 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The projects that are in the National Economic Plan up to now are the ones that I have listed – that is at this point in time. I also said that CSS was not obliged to only work on our projects and work with us. That is to say they are free to be involved in other projects and put in submissions for other people, in which we have no involvement.

1545 Our involvement is sometimes initiated by us and sometimes initiated by somebody who comes to us with a proposal asking that we should incorporate it in the National Economic Plan. I can tell him that there have been some proposals made to us by people who have a design, an idea, something they want to develop and they would rather do it in partnership with us than on their own, and I have said no, because I could see that it was of no benefit in what I have described I am trying to do. That is to say it was simply a development to sell on the open market, to make money. We are not in that business and we would not want to be in partnership in that business, 1550 because in everything we are doing there has to be a social element as part of the exercise because we want to be delivering things which are funded as part of a bigger project that contains other things. So where there is simply another building going up in order to be sold, because there seems to be an insatiable appetite for apartments nowadays, then we are unlikely to get involved. We might get involved at some point because it is a very good return now, and then we can use that 1555 money for something else, but it is unlikely.

Hon. K Azopardi: And then, from that and related to it, if I may – let me understand it – if profits are generated by CSL, where do they go? Does the Government get some kind of cut of the profits? At the end of the day, this is a National Economic Plan, projects you have identified –
1560 where there are social and/or economic needs, but always economic needs, as I understand it, because it is part of the National Economic Plan – to generate growth and so on and so forth. But it is also about creating this structure, which will also, as I understood the explanation – I may be wrong – derive not just an indirect benefit to the economy of Gibraltar, but a direct benefit to the Government's coffers. If I am wrong, I am wrong, but the hon. Member will correct me. If it is 1565 about a direct benefit, how does that work? If there is a generation of profits because CSSL are involved in these, is there an understanding and agreement with the Government as to the divvying up of profits? How does it work?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Well, that would depend on the ... that is to say in the projects I mentioned 1570 until now the profit element is insignificant when you take into account ... For example, if you take the Laguna project, what is being produced there is that there will be homes in the way I have described. Those homes will be sold. So at the end of the day, the only profit there would have been the profit that the construction company, of which we are 50% owner, might have made. The buildings would be sold at cost, basically, and the money would then go back. If there had 1575 been any funding, it would go back to the funding entity, if it is us or somewhere else, and there would be interest payments coming in, obviously, from that. If it was something more lucrative, which I do not think there is in the ones we have at the moment, then it would probably be because there would be less of an element of something being sold below market prices or something being provided free. So where we have something free or where we have a need that 1580 we have identified but we are not able to satisfy, and this is being satisfied on terms which we think are favourable and we have feedback from the people looking for it that is favourable, then it ticks enough boxes for us to want to be supportive and get involved with it.

1585 If it came to a point where there was something that made a lot of money, then clearly we would not be saying the charity can keep all the money. There would have to be an agreement, if 1590 we were going to be supporting it, as to what was in it for us for the effort we were making, but so far, in the ones I have mentioned that is not the case. These things are being done on the basis that they cover the costs of everything and there are no losses, and there would only be a relatively small profit for the construction company because the joint-venture construction company is not dealing with this project on the basis of trying to maximise as much profit as it can, because we are controlling that as a shareholder. We do not want the company to lose money, but it gives us an entity in the private sector which we can use to compare what other people are asking for in terms of construction prices. If it came to a point where there was a lucrative contract which was going to produce a lot of money, then at that point, if we decided we were going to be involved, we would not be involved without getting a share of the cake.

1595

Hon. K Azopardi: Just a final question, with your indulgence, Mr Speaker. I understand from that explanation there is no agreement as to the divvying up of profits because of the explanation the hon. Member has given, that certainly on the list of projects envisaged at the moment you are not looking at major profits, but if something were to happen in the future there might be, but at the moment there is no drawn-up understanding or agreement on the divvying up of profits.

1600

Can I ask if he can confirm that, firstly, but secondly, on the CSSL structure itself, is there some kind of board of charity trustees? The charity is Community Initiatives, not CSSL, so is there a board of trustees behind the corporate structure, or are the people, in effect, fulfilling that function, those that are set out in the company profile?

1605

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: There may be and I may not know it, but as far as I know, there is not, and of course the charity has nothing to give to anybody anyway at the moment because it has not been in existence long enough. The charity's income will come from any money that may come from the subsidiary. It has no other source of income at the moment, other than that of the subsidiary. The subsidiary, I have told him, is involved in things with us which are not likely to produce much surplus, if any, when everybody's costs are met, so whatever money is made, if there is any money made, will not be very much, and of course that money would go from CSS to the charity, because CSS cannot do anything else with the money other than give it to the parent. What the future may be will depend on how successful this is and how big it becomes, but at the moment it is not there.

1615

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, as part of the structure, from what we have been able to gather, the company at the very bottom of the tree ... In other words, CSSL Ltd is the parent of another company called Wonderworks Media, which was the subject of a question yesterday that I posed in relation to employment within the Town Planning Department. Is he able to tell me whether that is another of CSSL's activity – the provision of labour-hiring services to the Government? As I understand it, Wonderworks Media Ltd is the employer but is providing labour not just to the Town Planning Department but also to other different Government Departments. Can he confirm what the position is in relation to that?

1625

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: We do not hire labour from CSS. We may give them work to do with their labour for us, but we do not hire labour from them as a Government.

Hon. D J Bossino: The 'we' is the Government and 'them' is CSS Ltd, but I am talking about a different company: Wonderworks Media Ltd. Is he aware that Wonderworks Media Ltd ...? Or was that left to CSS as to how they organise themselves and provide labour?

1630

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [Inaudible]

1635 Hon. D J Bossino: Okay.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q498/2022
Unemployment Benefit –
Number of recipients and nationalities

Q499/2022
Disability Benefit –
Number of recipients and underlying conditions

Clerk: Question 498/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

1640 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.
How many people are in receipt of Unemployment Benefit and what are their nationalities?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

1645 Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): I will answer this question with Question 499.

Clerk: Question 499/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes on behalf of the Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. E J Reyes: How many people are in receipt of Disability Benefit and what are their underlying disability conditions?

1650 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

1655 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, there are 14 people in receipt of Unemployment Benefit, of whom 13 are British citizens and one is Belgian.

There are currently 457 people in receipt of Disability Benefit compared to 162 in 2011. The benefit is granted following an assessment of the applicant's inability to deal with normal everyday living requirements, so the underlying condition is not a relevant factor.

1660 Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.
I know the Minister is trying to say that those who are entitled to Disability Benefit are entitled ... it is not an underlying factor of what it is, but we were trying to gather information. Is it perhaps like ...?

1665 I know it happens when I do the questions on Education – we have a general theme or heading and how many people fit in that column. Could it be that because there are physical disabilities ...? There are many types of disability. I do not know if the Minister has now or perhaps can work on that one for future statistics and we can perhaps have a dozen general headings trying to identify the type of disabilities – especially, as the Minister has highlighted, we have seen the big increase in number in the last decade, when it has more than doubled. It would be interesting and, I think,
1670 beneficial for both sides of the House to have that style of statistics. I hope the Minister can agree with me that that would be useful information to acquire for the future if he does not have it at this particular stage.

1675 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I do not agree that it would be beneficial. I am informed that there are 164 different conditions. If you have a situation where one person with one particular condition gets Disability, I can tell you that everybody else who has that condition will ask, 'Why is he getting it and I am not?' The answer is it has nothing to do with the disability, it has to do with the consequences that are being suffered by the individual.

1680 From what I can gather of the new system, which was announced here on 24th June 2015 and explained then ... Before 2015, there were certain disabilities, illnesses or conditions that were accepted as being, if sufficiently severe, eligible for an applicant to get Disability Allowance. If I told him how many there are, the hon. Member would understand that if we actually said everybody who has one of these 164 gets it, we will have half the population, not just 457.

1685 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q506-08/2022

Census –

Online and paper questionnaires; publication of report

Clerk: Question 506/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1690 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm how a judgement is being made as to whether to send households a 2022 census form requesting online completion of the questionnaire to some people and paper questionnaires to other people?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): I will answer this question with Questions 507 and 508.

1695 Clerk: Question 507/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1700 Hon. K Azopardi: How many households have received 2022 census letters seeking online completion of the questionnaire, and how many paper questionnaires have been sent to households?

Clerk: Question 508/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1705 Hon. K Azopardi: When would it be expected that the report on the 2022 census would be published?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

1710 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I am informed that the paper questionnaires were initially sent to senior citizens aged 70 and over and all residents of Bishop Canilla House, Albert Risso House, Charles Bruzon House and Sea Master Lodge, although all these citizens have the option of completing the census questionnaire online. Paper questionnaires are also made available to 1715 any citizen upon request. As a result, 17,722 letters were sent to households seeking online completion of the questionnaire. Of these, 4,164 were also sent a paper questionnaire and 13,558 only received the letter.

It is too soon after the census completion to say when it is likely to be published.

Mr Speaker: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

1720 Indeed, the reason for the question was that when I got my own letter I was struck by the fourth paragraph, which said, 'For the first time, the Gibraltar census will be conducted primarily online, although paper questionnaires will be made available to those who may be unable to complete the census online.' I contacted a family member who is elderly, because I thought he might not be able to do the online bit, and I was told, 'I have had a paper question and I have already done it.' I was wondering how people were doing that, so I am glad to see there was a 1725 rationale behind it and that people who were of a certain age were given this.

I have also heard anecdotally that some people have not received the questionnaire, so can I ask the Minister – because I have seen in the press that enumerators will do physical visits as from now, I think, from the week of 21st November – if there is anyone out there who has not yet completed it, or has not received an online or paper invitation, how can they do that? I am sure 1730 he will agree with me that this is an important exercise in terms of our future planning.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I agree entirely that it is important. This is information that gives us a snapshot every 10 years of the changes we are having demographically which affect a lot of other decisions, because it will produce, eventually, an evaluation of how our population is changing in 1735 age and composition and probably will confirm what is happening everywhere else – that there is an ageing population and a shrinking working population in comparison. Every census that everybody else is doing is showing that and Gibraltar is likely to show the same result, but the degree to which we are more or less than others can only be accurate if everybody is included.

I am not able to tell him if there is an automatic method for this to be happening, but what I 1740 will tell him is that I will contact the office on Monday and find out if they are already doing something about it, and if they are not, ask them to do something about it, because we do not want anybody to be deprived of the opportunity of being included. I suppose in a thing like this there is always a handful of people, somehow, who drop out, but I agree entirely that it should not be permitted.

Questions for Written Answer

1745 Clerk: Answers to Written Questions.

Hon. Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions W64/2022 to W69/2022 inclusive.

Order of the Day

BILLS

FIRST AND SECOND READING

Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 – First Reading approved

Clerk: Order of the Day. (ix) Bills – First and Second Reading.

1750 A Bill for an Act to amend the Financial Services (Moneylending) Act. The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Financial Services (Moneylending) Act be read a first time.

1755

Mr Speaker: There is some confusion, which I need to clarify.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, ever since I was first elected to this House, I had to bring my Bills with me – in the old days, we did not get any notice of which Bills might be dealt with – just in case a Bill was dealt with. Now they are available online and hon. Members can access them, I am surprised that we have a service whereby we are provided with the Bills. I am all in favour of modernisation, it is all very helpful and everything, but I am surprised that we should pause for that purpose.

1760

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker –

1765

Mr Speaker: No, let the Leader of the Opposition speak.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, let me just clarify. When I was elected back into this House in 2019, I used to bring my Bills all the time, but it became clear that the practice was that the clerical staff would come out and give us all the Bills, so I have stopped doing that. It is more environmentally friendly, instead of printing them all off like I used to do. That is the reason. It is not an awkward point. That is all. It is evolved practice, at least in the last three years since I have been here. I am happy if the practice should change – we can bring our Bills – but that is how it has been.

1770

1775

Hon. Chief Minister: I am very happy, Mr Speaker, that that practice seems to have arisen in the time we have been in government and that hon. Members are extended that facility, with which the Government does not intend to interfere, but we have never been stopped in proceeding with Bills before for that reason.

1780

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I –

Mr Speaker: Resume your seat, please.

1785

I think I would agree with the Leader of the Opposition. Certainly since I have been here, since 2019, the practice has always been to provide Members of the Opposition with the Bills.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, could that be extended to Members of the Government? We bring our own.

1790 Mr Speaker: I shall ask Mr Clerk.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, in terms of environmentally friendly, Members will know they are already printed. As long as there is no additional cost in producing them, they are already available, so I do not see why we cannot just have them available to us.

1795 Mr Speaker: I can confirm that the Chief Minister has certified that this Bill is urgent. I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Financial Services (Moneylending) Act be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

1800 Clerk: The Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Act 2022.

Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Second Reading approved

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Thank you, Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill now be read a second time.

1805 The purpose of this short Bill is to amend the Act in order to raise the moneylender's licence duty set out in section 33, and that is in keeping with commitments made in this year's Budget to raise fees across Government in line with inflation. However, instead of inserting the new duty in section 33, a new reference is made to a new Schedule 5, which will house the amount of the duty going forward and subsequently it will not be necessary to bring primary legislation to make this particular Government fee a new one. We will just be able to amend it by notice in the Gazette, which is in fact the way we are able to deal with most of the Government fees and charges. Hon.
1810 Members will have seen that after my announcement in the Gazette a notice was printed with all the increases in charges across the board in keeping with the announcement, but this particular fee required a change to primary legislation.

1815 The reason for the urgency is that the moneylenders' licences all renew in December and therefore the fee would have to be raised in December and we would not have the benefit of the new fee if we do not make the amendment now.

Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

1820 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, it seems, on the face of it, a fairly simple Bill and I do not see that we would have any problem in the Opposition in supporting it in its entirety.

1825 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Financial Services (Moneylending) Act be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Thank you, Mr Speaker. I have the honour to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

1830 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022 –
First Reading approved

1835 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to make provision for the prohibition of keeping animals solely or primarily for slaughter for the value of their fur, to prohibit the importation, exportation and trade of animal fur and items containing animal fur, and other connected matters. The Hon. the Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education.

1840 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to make provision for the prohibition of keeping animals solely or primarily for slaughter for the value of their fur, to prohibit the importation, exportation and trade of animal fur and items containing animal fur, and other connected matters be read a first time.

1845 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to make provision for the prohibition of keeping animals solely or primarily for slaughter for the value of their fur, to prohibit the importation, exportation and trade of animal fur and items containing animal fur, and other connected matters be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Fur Trade (Prohibition) Act 2022.

Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022 –
Second Reading approved

1850 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

1855 This Bill prohibits the buying, selling and commercial importation and exportation of fur. The only jurisdictions in the world to have taken such a pioneering step to ban the trade of fur are Israel and a number of US states. Gibraltar will once again show that it can lead the world by joining this leading approach in animal welfare law. The aim of the Bill is to help reduce the cruelty to animals and the risk to human communities associated with breeding, farming and production of fur and fur products by significantly limiting the legal market for such items in or through Gibraltar.

1860 Some members of the public may consider that when farming animals, all parts of the animal may be used and fur is a mere by-product of agricultural farming. This is not the case, and the production of fur is quite unlike farming animals for agriculture. Firstly, the types of species farmed for their fur include foxes, mink, chinchillas and rabbits. These are wild species which have not been bred to be kept in captive environments. Secondly, in order to preserve the skin, animals are killed in particularly inhumane ways, such as gassing and electrocution. In addition, the production of fur has potentially catastrophic consequences for human health and the wider environment. The crowded, stressful and unhygienic conditions on fur farms make them a breeding ground for infectious diseases – COVID-19, for example. Fur production is also intensely toxic and energy consuming, with pelts being dipped in toxic chemical soups, and animal waste runoff from fur factories polluting soil and waterways.

1865

1870 Whilst, thankfully, in Gibraltar we do not have any fur farms, the Bill also prohibits the farming of fur in Gibraltar, to ensure that this activity never finds a home here.

Finally, the fur ban will demonstrate that Gibraltar does not consider commercial activities in any fur to be acceptable and sends a message that similar actions should be taken internationally.

1875 The Bill makes it an offence for any person to keep animals or allow another person to keep animals for slaughter for the value of their fur or for breeding progeny for such slaughter. This is the offence which prohibits fur farming.

The Bill also makes it an offence to deal in fur, meaning buying, selling or hiring, offering or arranging to buy, sell or hire, keeping for these purposes, importing for sale or hire, exporting for sale or hire. It does not include possessing, inheriting, gifting or bequeathing.

1880 The Bill provides limited exemptions to the prohibition on dealing in fur. These are for the purposes of scientific research, education and for religious belief or tradition. The latter is a limited exception necessary to preserve the constitutional rights of persons who use items containing fur as part of a religious tradition.

1885 Besides police and customs officers, all authorised persons being persons representing the Department of Environment and any other person appointed by the Minister have certain law enforcement powers under the Bill.

In the event of a conviction under the Bill, the court may make a forfeiture order in respect of any fur or any animals relating to the offence.

Customs officers have all the powers under the Import and Export Act 1986 for the purposes of this Bill.

1890 Mr Speaker, this is a trailblazing animal welfare law that will be an example to others, and I therefore commend the Bill to the House.

1895 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill? The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am glad to see the hon. Member has so much energy emanated in the reading of his speech on this issue at this stage of a Friday evening. I am glad to say that we entirely endorse and support his comments and we will support the Bill.

1900 Hon. D J Bossino: He has much vigour.

Mr Speaker: Does the hon. Member, the mover of the Bill, wish to respond?

1905 I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to make provision for the prohibition of keeping animals solely or primarily for slaughter for the value of their fur, to prohibit the importation, exportation and trade of animal fur and items containing animal fur, and other connected matters be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Fur Trade (Prohibition) Act 2022.

Fur Trade (Prohibition) Act 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

1910 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, with equal energy, despite the time, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 –
First Reading approved

1915 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Traffic Act 2005. The Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Traffic Act 2005 be read a first time.

1920 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Traffic Act 2005 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Act 2022.

Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 –
Second Reading approved

1925 Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill be now read a second time.

This Bill amends the Traffic Act 2005. Following representations made by the Commissioner of Police regarding his grave concerns about their ability to deter traffic offenders in a truly meaningful way, a wholesale review of the level of penalties across traffic legislation was conducted. The Commissioner was of the view that the current, then, level of penalties as a result of not having been increased over many years was proving to be insufficient to deter offenders, especially repeat offenders, resulting in a notable decline in road safety.

1930 Our new Highway Code reflects the changes as seen in the UK which create a hierarchy of road users based on their vulnerabilities, pedestrians being at the forefront of these changes as the most vulnerable within the roadscape. We are all pedestrians each and every day, and offences ranging from the inconsiderate to the outright dangerous all have a potential effect on the safety of other road users, regardless of their means of transport, but especially pedestrians and, even more so, children.

1935 The review into the increase in these penalties was conducted paying close attention to the gravity of different offences, as well as the potential serious consequences of such behaviour. This legislation increases the number of penalties contained within the Traffic Act 2005 from level 1 to levels 2 or 3, and in some cases from level 3 to level 4, and disqualification would also be possible.

1940 This is the second phase of the work referred to in presenting the Bill for a Traffic (Amendment) Act earlier this year, setting out to increase the general penalty for offences under the Traffic Act prior to increasing the levels of fixed penalty notices as requested by the RGP in order to ensure that the penalty for the underlying offence is not disproportionately lower when compared to the FPN.

1945 Furthermore, the increase in the penalty for the offence under section 63A of the Traffic Act, of driving or being in charge of a motor vehicle with an alcohol concentration above the prescribed limit, reflects the seriousness of the offence and mirrors the penalties for this offence.

1950 Mr Speaker, I commend the Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill? The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1955 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, we, of course, support the principle that there should be penalties and harsh treatment for offenders in respect of traffic matters, but we have not been privy to that consultation or indeed had any discussions with the Commissioner on those issues and we are going to abstain on this Bill.

1960 Mr Speaker: Does the hon. mover or the Hon. Chief Minister wish to respond?

1965 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if I may say so to the hon. Gentleman, it is disappointing that they will not take it from the Minister that the Commissioner of Police has made the representations he has made. To put it this way, the hon. Gentleman feels a little like a legislative doubting Thomas in the sense that he is saying, 'If I am not in the consultation myself, I will not accept it from the Minister that the consultation results in that representation being made by the Commissioner.' I think it is something that has been said publicly by the Commissioner himself in a number of articles in the local press where he has been interviewed and he has given this indication. We want to see the legislation be able to have the deterrent effect that is necessary, and I think this is the point the Commissioner was making and is being 1970 echoed by the Minister, so it is disappointing that we are not going to have hon. Members' support. I do know that there are people around Gibraltar who say the Government has spent so much money on extravagance – not on putting food on the table during COVID but on extravagance – that now it is trying to fill the public finance hole by upping fines. I assume that hon. Members are not going to try to play to that constituency, because this is far too serious for anybody to play to that sort of nonsensical constituency. 1975

What is happening here is the Government is reacting to law enforcement's requests to ensure that fines have the deterrent effect they need to have. I will give the hon. Gentleman an example of something that used to happen in Rome. During a period of great inflation in Rome, the fine for slapping a centurion had remained at something like 10 denarii, and 10 denarii was something that was very affordable. A rich man, to demonstrate the lack of deterrent effect that the fine had, went around slapping centurions and giving each of them 20 denarii so that the prosecution did not happen. We have to ensure that we do not put ourselves in that situation. It is unfortunate that, in light of that, the Opposition is going to abstain from ensuring that the deterrent effect is there on the fines that are provided for, because we have anti-social behaviour not just in our 1980 estates, we have anti-social behaviour on our roads. This is what has to be dealt with, and this is why it has to be dealt with in this way. Having said all that, what the Government would most like to see is no income from fines under the Traffic Act. What we would like to see is no offending under the Traffic Act because that would be the best result and that would demonstrate the deterrent effect that we have. 1985

1990 Mr Speaker, obviously on this side of the House we are disappointed not to enjoy the Opposition's support for this Bill. They say they want to support the deterrent effect of the fines in the Traffic Act but they do not want to support the Bill that is going to deliver that, and it is unfortunate that they are going to take that attitude.

1995 Mr Speaker: Does the Hon. Minister wish to make a comment?

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, yes. I am also disappointed because I thought this was something that would be accepted across the floor of the House.

2000 Over time, fines become inconsequential. This is what we were seeing and what the Police were seeing. We were seeing that people felt, 'Well, it is just £25,' or 'It is just £50 if I pay within two weeks and it does not really matter.' We have seen a lot of people really jeopardising the safety of our roads, especially when we are trying to aim for a child-friendly city and a better 2005 environment for us all. I really thought that this would be accepted across the board because it provides the tools not only for the RGP but also for the courts of law to be able to give fines and make people aware that the consequences can be extremely serious.

2010 For completion, I would like to mention one thing that has happened – just for reasons of transparency. There has been one occasion, and I think not more than five occasions, when there has been an issue because we updated the fixed penalty notice list of offences and at the point of fining, the officer should have moved them to £100 until this Bill went to Parliament. Because during COVID we set up a direct debit system for offenders, there has been one occasion where the person has paid the £300 before time, so when this is passed in Parliament today ... As from next week, this will become £300, but until then the fine will remain at £100. I just wanted to make that clear because that person – I just know of one case – will be contacted and the correct fine level will be applied.

2015 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Traffic Act 2005 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? The Opposition are abstaining. Carried.

2020 Clerk: The Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Act 2022.

Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Act 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

2025 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Act 2022 –
First Reading approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) Act 2006. The Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulation.

Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) Act be read a first time.

2030 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) Act be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Act 2022.

Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Act 2022 –
Second Reading approved

2035 Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for an Act to amend the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) Act be read a second time.

The Act would amend the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) Act 2006 to prohibit the sale of vaping products to young persons in the same way as tobacco sales are banned.

2040 The Bill legislates for the first time on vaping products. Vaping products come in two forms, those which deliver nicotine to the user and those which do not. This Bill is based on Public Health advice. Vaping products are still relatively new and the inhalation of chemicals in a vapour, whether or not there is nicotine present, is not risk free, especially for young people or those with certain pre-existing conditions. The negative impacts and risks vaping products present are not fully understood and cannot be quantified. In spite of vaping products possibly being a useful tool for some to stop smoking, the scientific understanding of both the short- and long-term effects of vapour is, so far, inconclusive, and this uncertainty justifies taking a precautionary public health approach to them.

2050 Vaping products are sometimes referred to as electronic nicotine delivery systems (ENDS). A variety of types have alternative names for the whole device or parts of it, such as tanks, e-cigarettes, vapes, or e-shisha. Vaping products normally contain a carrier liquid of propylene glycol and vegetable glycerine. Nicotine is included in the majority of products, but not all, and most products contain flavouring.

2055 Clause 3(4) amends section 2 of the 2006 Act to introduce a definition of ‘vaping product’. The Bill provides that a vaping product is ‘(a) a device which is intended to enable the inhalation of nicotine-containing vapour by an individual; (b) a device which is intended to enable the inhalation of other vapour by an individual but is intended to resemble and be operated in a similar way to a device within paragraph (a); (c) an item which is intended to form part of a device within paragraph (a) or (b); (d) a substance which is intended to be vaporised by a device within paragraph (a) or (b) (and any item containing such a substance)’. The Bill expressly excludes medicinal products or medical devices, as well as tobacco, which is already provided for.

2060 The term ‘vaping product’ is intended to include all devices known as electronic cigarettes, as well as all related products such as refills, liquids, chargers and other components such as e-liquids. The decision to include products which do not contain nicotine is on the basis of a number of factors. One is that it would be impractical for enforcement authorities to take action against individuals and have to test products. This provides a clear and consistent approach. Secondly, the risks of devices and liquids, whether they contain nicotine or not, are not understood. Thirdly, even products which do not contain nicotine are used in a way which resembles smoking and so pose a risk to the renormalisation of smoking. Fourthly, many products have refillable tanks; they could be sold and initially used with a liquid that does not contain nicotine, but could later be used with nicotine-carrying fluids.

2070 Clause 3(6) amends section 9 of the Act to make it an offence to sell a vaping product to a person under the age of 18 years. The new subsection (1B) will also make the licence holder liable, so that it is not only the shop assistant who commits the offence. The defences available to those selling tobacco products also apply to this new offence.

2075 Clause 3(7) creates a new section 9A and prohibits the hire of vaping products to persons under the age of 18. This is to prevent the use, particularly in catering establishments, of vaping devices by persons under the age of 18.

2080 Clause 3(8) amends section 10 so that the confiscation powers of the Police in relation to tobacco are extended to vaping products in the same circumstances – that is where a police officer has reason to believe that any person under the age of 18 is using a vaping product in a public place.

2085 Clause 3(9) amends section 10A of the rules on access to tobacco, to ensure that retailers selling vaping products ensure that any vaping products are stored in the same way as tobacco, behind a counter or in a locked container.

2090 Clause 3(10) amends section 11 to make it an offence for a person aged over 18 to procure a vaping product for a person under the age of 18. The offence mirrors the offence of procuring tobacco for a person under the age of 18. It is a defence for a person charged with such an offence to prove that he believed the person to be over 18 and that relevant evidence had been produced of the age which a reasonable person would have been convinced by.

2095 Clause 3(11) amends section 12 to introduce a requirement for retailers to put up a notice making it clear that it is prohibited to sell vaping products or procure vaping products for anyone under the age of 18. This replicates provisions relating to notices in respect of tobacco.

2095 Clause 3(12) amends section 13 in relation to the offence of not displaying a notice in accordance with the requirements of section 12.

Clause 3(13) amends section 14 to ensure that if any vending machines selling vaping products are in use, it is clear that they are not permitted for those under the age of 18.

2100 Clause 3(14) amends section 16 in relation to the offence of permitting the use of a vending machine in contravention of provisions of the Act.

Clause 3(15) inserts a new regulation-making power after new section 17A, giving the Minister for Justice power to amend the definition of ‘vaping product’ in section 2. This is designed to futureproof the legislation in the event that new technologies create products which cause harm but in some way fall outside the definition.

2105 Clause 3(16) amends section 21A to reflect the provisions made earlier in the Bill on the offences by licensees.

Finally, clause 3(17) amends section 22 to extend the provisions on the suspension of licences to sell alcohol or tobacco to any licence to sell vaping products.

2110 Mr Speaker, I commend this Bill to the House.

Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill? The Leader of the Opposition.

2115 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, we will support this Bill for the reasons – and I will not prolong the session, but for the reasons that the hon. Lady has indicated. We think this is a Bill that makes a lot of sense and therefore it has our full support.

Mr Speaker: Does the mover of the Bill wish to respond?

2120 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I thank the hon. Gentleman for agreeing that this Bill makes a lot of sense.

2125 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) Act be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Act 2022.

Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Act 2022 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

2130 Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

COMMITTEE STAGE AND THIRD READING

2135 Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Reading.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House should now resolve itself into Committee to consider the following Bills clause by clause, namely the Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022, the Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022, the Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 and the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Bill 2022.

In Committee of the whole House

Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Financial Services (Moneylending) Act. Clauses 1 to 3.

2145 Mr Speaker: Clauses 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

Mr Speaker: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved

2150 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to make provision for the prohibition of keeping animals solely or primarily for slaughter for the value of their fur, to prohibit the importation, exportation and trade of animal fur and items containing animal fur, and other connected matters.

Part 1, clauses 1 to 3.

Mr Speaker: Part 1, clauses 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

2155 Clerk: Part 2, clauses 4 to 7.

Mr Speaker: Part 2, clauses 4 to 7 stand part of the Bill.

2160 Clerk: Part 3, clauses 8 and 9.

Mr Speaker: Part 3, clauses 8 and 9 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Part 4, clauses 10 to 15.

2165 Mr Speaker: Part 4, clauses 10 to 15 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: Part 5, clauses 16 to 18.

Mr Speaker: Part 5, clauses 16 to 18 stand part of the Bill.

2170

Clerk: The long title.

Mr Speaker: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved

2175 Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Traffic Act 2005.
Clauses 1 to 3.

Mr Speaker: Clauses 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

2180

Mr Speaker: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Clauses considered and approved

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) Act 2006.
Clauses 1 to 3.

2185

Mr Speaker: Clauses 1 to 3 stand part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

2190

Mr Speaker: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022 –
Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 –
Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Bill 2022 –
Third Reading approved: Bills passed

2195 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to report that the Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022, the Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022, the Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 and the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Bill 2022 have been considered in Committee and agreed to without amendment. I now move that they be read a third time and passed.

2200 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that the Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022, the Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022, the Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022 and the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Bill 2022 be read a third time and passed.

Those in favour of the Financial Services (Moneylending) (Amendment) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Those in favour of the Fur Trade (Prohibition) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

2205 Those in favour of the Traffic (Amendment No. 2) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? The Members of the Opposition have abstained. The Bill is carried.

Those in favour of the Children and Young Persons (Alcohol, Tobacco and Gaming) (Amendment) Bill 2022? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Adjournment

2210 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, it looks like we have really put a nail in the coffin of the ape fur for business for the National Economic Plan this afternoon, but I hope not for human fur, given that tomorrow I am going to shave off all mine – and I have not given up persuading the Hon. Mr Balban to come and shave himself too – in aid of Prostate Cancer Gibraltar, at Casemates at 11 o'clock tomorrow.

2215 Mr Speaker, I am rising to move the adjournment. In doing so, I am conscious that our next meeting will be due in the third week of December and that by then either England or Wales may have qualified for the World Cup final and maybe will have won it. They will go certainly with the support of this side of the House. Given that the GFA is not playing in this World Cup, I am sure the whole House will join me in wishing England and Wales all the best.

2220 Mr Speaker, before I move the adjournment, I thank you because you have been in the Chair almost for four hours straight to enable us to get through the business.

2225 If I may say so – which he will hate – the hon. Gentleman sitting next to me, who has been described as being of advanced age by the Hon. Mr Bossino, has this week travelled for Gibraltar, then arrived and done Viewpoint, and no sooner was he out of that studio, he was with me this morning at 7 a.m. at Father Charlie's soup kitchen and then has come here to field questions from all of the Members of the Opposition who are present. If that is not a tour de force, then let me take him to dinner straight after finishing, to the Med Rowing Club, to finish off.

Before I sit down, the hon. Gentleman is asking me to give way.

2230 Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, and not for any reason other than simply to record, like I did last time, my agreement with the Minister for Health. We are now convening a meeting between us, so that the motion standing in my name will formally stand over to the next meeting.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am very grateful for that being recorded, which is what we had understood, and for that reason the motion was not called.

I now move that the House should adjourn sine die.

2235

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is at this House do now adjourn sine die.

I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die. Those in favour?

(Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

The House will now adjourn sine die.

The House adjourned at 8.22 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 3.04 p.m. – 8.46 p.m.

Gibraltar, Wednesday, 21st December 2022

Contents

Prayer	4
Confirmation of Minutes	4
Papers to be laid	4
Questions for Oral Answer	5
Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport	5
Q523/2022 GSLA swimming pools – Timetable allocations	5
Q524/2022 Government rented flats – Publication and contents of promised booklet	6
Q525/2022 Review of Housing Act – Reason for delay	6
Q526/2022 Government rental housing stock – Number of units released when affordable flats available to tenants	8
Q527-28/2022 Mid Harbours estate – Water penetration in garage; illegal parking of motorbikes	11
Q529/2022 Arengo’s Palace – Refurbishment	13
Q530/2022 Chilton Court Committee – Outstanding replies to correspondence	14
Q531-32/2022 Chilton Court youth club – Source of funding for proposed development; intended membership	17
Transport	23
Q534-35/2022 Active Travel Strategy – Cost of commissioning Strategic Document for Mobility; cost to deploy Cycling Strategy	23
Q536/2022 1.5m rule re cyclists – Representations received re level of fine	25

Q537/2022 Vehicles in Gibraltar since 2016 – Total number registered; number of new vehicles registered since 2016	25
Business, Tourism and the Port	28
Q538/2022 Coach park – Refurbishment of toilets	28
Q539/2022 Wizz Air – Minister’s meetings and expected date of return to Gibraltar.....	29
Q540/2022 Expected flight disruption during Christmas period – Update	31
Q541/2022 Landport tunnel – Upkeep and cleaning.....	33
Q542/2022 Cruise liner terminal – Refurbishment.....	33
Q543/2022 Aviation conference – Breakdown of costs	35
Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities	36
Q575-76/2022 Ambulances – Ambulance fire; date of arrival of new ambulances.....	36
Q577/2022 Prescriptions – Number of people paying due to change in policy	37
Q578/2022 Verbal or threatening physical abuse of GHA staff – Number of complaints.....	38
Q579/2022 Children aged 16 and under seen by GPs at PCC – Number in 2022	39
Q580/2022 Radiology scans – Number of people waiting over three months.....	39
Q581/2022 Gibraltar residents receiving treatment for cancer – Numbers by type of cancer	40
Q582/2022 Gibraltar residents receiving treatment for heart or respiratory disease – Numbers by type	40
Q583/2022 Defective PPE – Progress to recover sums expended.....	42
Q584/2022 Mental health budget – Breakdown of spending	43
Q585/2022 Withdrawal of cheques – Reason for implementation in Gibraltar.....	45
Q586/2022 GHA clerks – Employment company.....	46
Q587/2022 GHA vacant posts – Number filled	48
Q588/2022 COVID self-isolation periods – Review	49
Q589-90/2022 Strep A – Number of cases diagnosed; measures to increase awareness and actions when cases arise	50
Q591/2022 Emergency response – Measures under consideration re Coroner’s recommendations	51
Q592/2022 Digital services – Money spent in each year from 2017 to 2022.....	52
The House recessed at 6.15 p.m. and resumed at 6.32 p.m.	53
Q593-95/2022 AquaGib – Plans re staffing levels; permanent solution re supply; maintenance of reserves following Power’s Drive tunnel fire.....	53
Q596/2022 Ocean Views – Structured activities	56
Q597/2022 Vaccination programme – By whom delivered this season.....	57
Q598-99/2022 Primary Care Centre appointments – Number of new appointments and whether being filled	58
Q600/2022 Rheumatology and orthopaedics waiting lists – Current status.....	59
Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education.....	60
Q601/2022 Learning support assistants – Number and distribution	60

Q602/2022 Wellbeing Support Team – Number of teachers accessing services.....	62
Q603/2022 Alternative learning programmes – Number of pupils accessing in mainstream schools	63
Q604/2022 Drama-related studies – Provision of non-traditional courses	64
Q605/2022 Courses delivered at non-secondary school or College sites – Breakdown of expenditure.....	64
Q606/2022 Provision of hot meals for school pupils – Update.....	65
Q607/2022 Governor’s Lookout Scout Activity Centre and Campsite – Update re works undertaken and costs incurred.....	66
Q608/2022 Gibraltar University courses commencing in February 2023 – Availability of discretionary funding.....	67
Q609-10/2022 Dust emissions – Number of complaints received; actions taken re breaches of regulations.....	68
Q611/2022 Public Health Bill – Payments to Benzaquen Associates	70
Q612-16/2022 Dog licences and dog fouling – Checks, fines and convictions; DNA testing .	72
Q617/2022 Mid Harbours garage – Accumulated rubbish.....	73
Q618/2022 Museum – Updated visitor numbers.....	76
Q619/2022 Tourism levy – Amounts received since introduction	76
Q618/2022 Museum – Updated visitor numbers – Supplementary questions	78
Q620/2022 St Martin’s School – Number of new pupils expected in 2023-24	79
Q621/2022 Programme of events – Planned events for 2023.....	81
Q622-23/2022 Household waste – Process re exportation, recycling, collection and treatment.....	82
Q624/2022 St Mary’s School – Annual rental cost.....	84
Procedural – Question 625/2022 to be asked at tomorrow’s sitting.....	86
Deputy Chief Minister	86
Q626/2022 Rosia Bay expressions of interest – Reason for short period allowed for submission	86
Q627/2022 Old airport terminal – Plans	88
Q628/2022 Midtown car park rooftop residential development – Expressions of interest ..	89
Adjournment.....	90
The House adjourned at 8.46 p.m.	90

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 3.04 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[ACTING CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S Galliano Esq in attendance]

PRAYER

Mr Speaker

CONFIRMATION OF MINUTES

Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Wednesday, 21st December 2022.

Order of Proceedings: (i) Oath of Allegiance; (ii) Confirmation of Minutes – the Minutes of the last meeting of Parliament, which was held on 23rd, 24th and 25th November 2022.

5

Mr Speaker: May I sign the Minutes as correct?

Members: Aye.

10

Mr Speaker signed the Minutes.

PAPERS TO BE LAID

Clerk: (iii) Communications from the Chair; (iv) Petitions; (v) Announcements; (vi) Papers to be laid – the Hon. the Chief Minister.

15

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to lay on the table the Ombudsman's Report for the year ended 31st December 2021.

Mr Speaker: Ordered to lie.

Questions for Oral Answer

HOUSING, EMPLOYMENT, YOUTH AND SPORT

Q523/2022

GSLA swimming pools – Timetable allocations

Clerk: (vii) Reports of Committees; (viii) Answers to Oral Questions.
Question 523/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

20

Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government provide details of the timetable allocations for all the swimming pools falling under the auspices of the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority?

25

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, all information related to allocation for the swimming pools under the GSLA's remit can be found on their website, gsla.gi. If the Hon Member is unable to get the information, I am happy to provide the link via email.

30

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

35

Yes, I would appreciate it if the Minister gave me something because I did look – in fact, I even have it as a Written Question – and try to find on the statistics page the allocation of facilities by the GSLA, and they certainly were not updated on my page because it appeared to be blank, so I had no option but to pose a question. If the Minister does have something, I would appreciate it because I am lacking that information and I cannot pursue further.

40

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, just as a matter of information, the link is to the answer to the Written Question. It is there, the link, I have put it in the Written Question, but if he has any problems, I am willing to sit with him to see where he can get the information.

45

Hon. E J Reyes: May I, Mr Speaker, ask the Hon. Minister ...? I know we change from winter to summer timetables and so on, but more often than not, from one year to another most activities tend to be more or less at the same times as in the past. I am informed that recently there seems to have been a quasi-major shift in the allocation of the pools, which has changed people's routines considerably, people who had got accustomed to fitting it into their work or other schedules, including some comment made by those with children with special needs that the allocated times do not seem to be as good as they were before to allow them time to collect children from school and then go to the pool. Perhaps there are certain factors that have forced the GSLA to make those adjustments. I do not know if the Minister has any information that could help to enlighten those people as to why those changes have been necessary, rather than keeping to traditional slots as in past years.

50

55

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I am not aware of any changes that have been made, but if there have been any changes I will consult with the GSLA to see why and, if those changes have affected any sector, give me a reason why they have changed.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q524/2022
Government rented flats –
Publication and contents of promised booklet

Q525/2022
Review of Housing Act –
Reason for delay

Clerk: Question 524/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

60

Hon. D J Bossino: When will the Housing Ministry publish the promised booklet setting out the policies regarding Government rented flats, and what will it contain?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

65

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 525.

Clerk: Question 525/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

70

Hon. D J Bossino: What is causing the delay regarding the review of the Housing Act?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

75

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I am currently reviewing the latest updates and will be presenting the Housing Act in Parliament in the early part of next year.

80

Regarding the booklet, this is the work that has not been done for many years – inclusive of the time the GSD was in Government – which I have taken on board during my time as Housing Minister. I am working in tandem to update all documents, which includes housing policies and guidelines for applicants and existing tenants. I would like to make the hon. Member aware that the booklet is not to be published but printed and provided to applicants and existing tenants.

85

Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to the Housing Act, the question is what the cause of the delay was. I think he said he has the latest draft. I am sure he has a valid reason for the delay. I think at one point during the course of his Budget address he said he expected to have the legislation ready for Parliament before the end of this calendar year and I think in the last House he said before the end of the lifetime of the Parliament; now he is saying he expects it to be done in the early part of next year. But putting all of that to one side, can I ask him to answer the specific question, which is what specifically is causing the delay, if anything?

90

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I am really proud to be in charge of a whole team that has taken on revising the Housing Act, which has not been done since the time when the old GSLP was in government. It has been my goal, as the Minister for Housing, to review all aspects. There have been small amendments to the Housing Act during that period, but I thought it was time that we reviewed the whole of the Act. At times, I think we are near to a conclusion and when we go back to all the officials sitting round the table they bring up different issues which we have to take on board. On top of that, we have liaised with landlord, we have liaised with tenants' associations and we have liaised with many stakeholders of the Act in order to get it right. I would rather wait that little bit longer. As I have told the hon. Member, I am confident that I will be able to do it in the early part of next year and present all the amendments to the Housing Act which will bring the Housing Department into the 21st century, because the thorough look at the Housing Act that we are doing has not been done for a long time.

100

105 Hon. DJ Bossino: He has provided an explanation as to the reason for the delay, which I accept, and he has said he is confident that it will be ready in the early part of this year, which obviously I accept. In the early part of next year I will keep tabs on those timings because it is an issue which is raising concern. He is right and I am sure there is a lot of backlog and a lot of issues that need to be covered.

110 In relation to the booklet setting out the policies, he mentioned certain items which will be included in it. Can he be more ... how shall I put it? Not more specific, but can he say exactly what ...? Not exactly the wording, obviously, but all the various topic areas the booklet is going to be covering in terms of policies. It is not going to be available for public production but it will be available to tenants, I think he said. Can he provide a fuller explanation as to what is going to be included in this?

115 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, when you are reviewing all the documents pertaining to the Housing Act you have to see it in conjunction with, for example, the tenancy agreement, the policies, the booklet, the Housing Allocation Scheme. All these go in tandem, they go together, and therefore what we are doing is ... First, we go to the major one, which is the Housing Act, and from there flow all the rest going down.

120 The booklet is an idea we have had in order to give applicants who get housing – and, as I said, we will be giving it to all tenants – what is expected of them. For example, they are expected to pay their rent, not to have anti-social behaviour and keep their houses in order. All these are the specific things that will be in the booklet. It will be a normal, user-friendly booklet. The tenancy agreement might be a little bit more complex. It is a booklet you give to a housing tenant and that tenant then can follow what is expected of them.

125 I will give you one example. If there is a relocation, we are tending to see the person or the family leave the house in a state that costs a lot of money just to clean up, let alone paint, and there are tenants who do not even leave a socket behind. So we are now putting in these rules, which we can then implement and say to the tenant, 'We have given you a house in this condition and if you are going to move out of it, these are the conditions we expect you to leave the house in.' It is basically the rules. In the private sector it is done a lot, where a tenant gets a set of rules on how they can use the house or the flat.

135 Hon. DJ Bossino: In terms of timings in relation to the specific booklet, he has linked it, and in fairness to him I think it is a similar reply he gave in the last session of the House in relation to other questions I had – I cannot remember what it was ... in relation to parking or CCTV cameras, it may have been – and he talks about the three-pronged approach in terms of the Housing Act, the booklet and the tenancy agreement, all of which are documentation which his Department was reviewing. Can I glean from that and can I give him the opportunity to confirm that the booklet is expected, therefore, to be ready shortly after the Housing Act is ready to go and to be presented to Parliament? In other words, are the booklet and the tenancy agreement – if I can push him; I know it was not the subject of the question asked – going to be ready in the early part of the next calendar year?

145 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, as I have just said, I am working with them all together. That means that what I am hoping to do is once we have the Housing Act in place we present it to Parliament and thereafter will follow all the others. Timeline? I gave him a timeline last time and now he is calling back to ... that I am delayed. I can tell the hon. Member that I have already given him an indication that it will be the early part of next year and I am hoping that the rest, because we are working in tandem, should be ready together, and therefore you present one and then the other. Basically I am saying to him that it will probably be on the same lines as the Housing Act.

150 Hon. K Azopardi: The hon. Member gave a helpful outline on what the booklet will contain. Will it contain also the eligibility criteria, the allocation scheme rules? Will it do that? I did not

155 understand that it would. I am seeing him shake his head, so if I just move on to ask him this, if I may: in connection with the review of the Housing Act, is it part of the review that you are also reviewing the eligibility rules, the allocation scheme rules?

160 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, that has been a subject of questioning before and I said yes.
It includes, for example, the Housing Allocation Scheme. In the booklet, no, you would not have the rules of reallocation or allocation, you have the rules of how you live in the house, how you are supposed to be dealing with the way you live in your house, not reallocation, parking or other things. It is basically how you live in your house.

165 Hon. K Azopardi: On the scheme rules which are being reviewed, will those be available online once they have been approved by the Government as a matter of policy?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I am hoping that would be a public document.

170 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, thank you. In relation to the booklet – just one final question – is he able to tell the House now whether, if there were to be a breach of them, there are going to be any teeth in them in terms of what effect any breach of any particular policy may have on a tenant himself? Is it going to have that type of ... or is it just a guideline and an aspiration for people to follow? He talks about how people are, in effect, if I can put it broadly and paraphrase 175 what he said ... meant to be a broad, general guideline as to how you are meant to behave. If you do not meet the bar, the question is what happens?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, you put the rules in the booklet and the Housing Department can and will notify tenants that should they breach certain rules there are consequences.

180

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q526/2022

Government rental housing stock – Number of units released when affordable flats available to tenants

Clerk: Question 526/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

185 Hon. D J Bossino: Please state how many units will be released to the Government rental housing stock, broken down to the number of rooms, when the affordable flats become available to tenants.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

190 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, a total of 161 flats will be released back to the Government housing stock. The breakdown is as follows:
three 1RKB, 17 2RKB, 90 3RKB, 45 4RKB, four 5RKB and two 6RKB.

195 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for the very detailed response I have received from the Minister.
The reason why I asked the question is it follows from the question that was asked, I think, in the last session in relation to whether the Government felt it had enough housing stock to meet the needs of all applicants. This arises from, I think, a debate we had with Action for Housing on the radio and it has been the subject of public correspondence. In his initial reply he said that the release of the affordable homes 'would go a long way to tackle those who are in real need of 200 Government accommodation'. What comment can he make in relation to this number? It does not seem a particularly high number when one considers that, I think, the sum total of the affordable homes that are going to be coming on stream is in the region of 1,500 in relation to the three developments that are being or will be shortly constructed. Does he have any comment to make in relation to that?

205

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am really delighted that I will have 161 houses once one part of the affordable homes ... because this is only encompassing the affordable homes. There are many other aspects which will take people off the housing list – for example, people who are buying are still on the housing list. For example, someone who is living in Varyl Begg or Humphreys 210 and is still in the housing reallocation but they want to buy. So we have suspended that, but they are still on the housing list. That will help. That is another aspect. We are also doing pensioner flats. We are also concentrating on pensioners giving us even more flats back, so that we can have more of the stock to give. Basically, this is only one aspect of the whole argument when we say we do have enough housing stock currently.

215

Hon. D J Bossino: He needs to forgive me, because I have not understood the Minister's reply.
I am willing to give way to the Hon. Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the other point is that when the hon. Gentleman 220 sees the numbers of homes that are coming back, he should not think that that will represent the numbers of people who will be able to get a home who are waiting on the housing list, because of course if you have 160 you might have a three-bedroom, that three-bedroom will become available to somebody who is in a two-bedroom and the two-bedroom will become available to somebody who is in a one-bedroom. So there is a connection, there is a domino effect.

225

Properly managed – and the hon. Lady was magnificent at properly managing the stock in the way that she did it during the last allocation of affordable homes – 160 properties coming into the hands of the Government through this route, and as the Minister said, this is just one route, can result in multiples of that being allocated to people on the housing waiting list as the domino effect is seen through.

230

In most instances you see up to three or four movements in respect of one property. So, if you have a four-bedroom, that four-bedroom will go to somebody who is in a 3RKB and waiting for a 4RKB, the 3RKB will go to somebody who is on the list in a two waiting for a three, the two will go to somebody who is in a one who is waiting for a two, and then you will have a bedsitter available.
So you can move up to four people in respect of one. If you then have 60-odd 3RKBs, you can 235 multiply that three times as you move people from the other lists, and so the 161 is multiplied sometimes by up to three or four. That is in addition to the other routes that the hon. Gentleman has identified result in different properties becoming available, like the development of pensioner flats or people moving in to elderly care etc. That is why we take the view that we take.

240

Hon. D J Bossino: If I can give the other side the opportunity to confirm whether I have understood ... In other words, the 161 is not an absolute number. It is going to have, as the Hon.
Chief Minister said, an overall cascading effect and therefore ends up in an overall reduction in the list. So the answer – the information I have requested – is that he is satisfied that 161 will be a number which will have a positive effect on the reduction of the housing waiting list?

245

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I find it very difficult when the hon. Gentleman gets up and says 'Can he confirm ... as the Hon. the Chief Minister has said?' because the answer to that is yes, the Chief Minister and Minister can confirm, as the Chief Minister has said, exactly what the Chief Minister has just said, and therefore – (Interjection) Yes, but ... Mr Speaker, Question Time is not 250 a question of the Government correcting the comprehension by the Opposition of the Government's answers.

Yes, we believe it is a consequential number for the purposes of allocation of homes to those waiting for homes, for all the reasons we have already explained.

255 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask on this number of 161 – the Minister has given the reply 161 in relation to the question in respect of the affordable flats coming online, but of course the affordable flats coming online will span a number of years, indeed maybe until 2026. Does he have a sense of the 161 being correlated in terms of time? Does he have a sense of that?

260 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, the first lot will be coming very soon, in July, so it is not going to be three or four years like he is suspecting. (Interjection) No, this is it. As we build, houses will be returned. The 161 will not come all on one date. For example, Hassan Centenary Terrace will be allocated in July. As from then, from the 161 we will get a batch back and we will then start, like 265 the Hon. Chief Minister has just said, the chain process. So one flat might solve four, five, or even six turnarounds. Somebody who wants to move from one estate to another and wants a three for a three is on the list for reallocation, and it even includes them. So there is quite a lot of movement and the first lot will be as from July.

Hon. K Azopardi: But can I ask very specifically, of the 161, how many are going to be delivered 270 as part of this first phase in 2023? Does he have a sense of that?

Hon. S E Linares: No, Mr Speaker, I do not.

Hon. K Azopardi: Okay, but if there has been a calculation of 161, officials must have done that 275 assessment, so it must mean that the number is available but not with the hon. Member. Is that right? And if that is the case, could he provide us with that number?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I do not have that number here because the question has not 280 been asked, but yes.

Hon. K Azopardi: Let me repeat the question because perhaps it has not been understood. The officials have calculated that 161 flats will be released as part of the affordable flats being bought, over a number of projects over a number of years. Clearly, those will be released over a number of years. I appreciate he may not have the specific number of flats that will be released as part of 285 the July 2023, or whenever it is, first batch of housing being allocated at Hassan Centenary, but I am asking him if he does have that number – not with him today, but if the officials have that number – could he provide us with that number?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the short answer is yes, but not because anything has been 290 calculated. The hon. Gentleman needs to understand this is not something that we calculate. We do not think that we are going to get 161 properties, we are going to get 161 properties. This is an empirical figure. We are given the information against an allocation, the individual will surrender a figure. So it is not something that is calculated. It is not a guess that we will get about 161. We do have the figures against which flat, each property will be handed over, but the hon.
295 Gentleman does not have them here today. That is the point. But it is not calculated. That is why – (Interjection) Yes, that is the point. That is why the first answer I gave was yes – (Interjection) and that is why ... What I am saying is that this is not a figure that is calculated. (Interjection)

Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman says from a sedentary position we are at Christmas.
(Interjection) Yes, we may be, but that does not mean that I want the hon. Members to go away 300 under a misapprehension. I am trying to assist them. When somebody says something is calculated, they are perhaps thinking that we are reaching an approximation of what we think.
That is not the case. Here, you have an empirical number; you know what the number is. What I am saying to them is that yes, we do have the breakdown of what we will get in respect of each 305 phase of which estate, but we do not have it here, because I think that has not been provided to the Minister, and therefore we will happily give it. If the hon. Gentleman writes to the Minister or to me, we will provide it.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q527-28/2022
Mid Harbours estate –
Water penetration in garage; illegal parking of motorbikes

310 Clerk: Question 527/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: When will Government fix the significant issue faced by users of the Mid Harbours garage regarding water penetration?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

315 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 528.

Clerk: Question 528/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

320 Hon. D J Bossino: How does the Government propose to deal with the ongoing issue of motorbikes which illegally park at the Mid-Harbours estate parking?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

325 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 527, the Mid Harbours podium, the source of the water penetration into the garage, has had issues since it was built by the GSD Government. The development was handed over to the Gibraltar Government circa 2010 under their watch. Since then, 338 reports have been registered related to the podium issues and water penetration in the garage. Approximately £120,000 has already been spent due to the inherited GSD problem.
330 In recent days, over 10 reports have been received in respect of water penetration in the garage. Unfortunately, when issues such as leaking podiums are encountered, there is no manner of repair that will eradicate the water penetration completely, other than having the whole podium membrane replaced. This will cost the taxpayer in excess of £1 million, when this, in truth, should have been done properly at the time the estate was constructed. Despite this, we will be moving 335 the playground again, at a cost, which will alleviate some of the created problem which has been subject of various questions by the hon. Member. This will then allow us to tackle some of the problematic works that were done by the GSD when in government.

In answer to Question 528, in respect of illegal motorbikes, the Tenants' Association brought this to my attention when we last met, and the Housing Department is liaising with Gibraltar Car 340 Parks Ltd in order to have them reissue the necessary permits. The Tenants' Association will be informed about the enforcement of these permits in due course.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to the first point, we can have a rather futile exercise
345 blaming each other, as if the GSD was there building things themselves. It would have been, presumably, the contractor and the experts who did it wrong. I do not know whether there was any litigation considered or embarked upon against the contractor when these problems arose. But I think as far as the residents are concerned ...

350 It is the kind of reply I expected from him, but I felt duty bound to raise it fully cognisant and knowledgeable of the fact that he was going to raise it. We can talk about other things that they have done wrong in terms of building estates, going back as far as the mid-to-early 1990s with Harbour Views, but I repeat I think it would be a futile exercise. In terms of seeking information from the hon. Member, which is what we are here to do – and that was the subject of various comments and rulings made by the Hon. Speaker at the last session – I am going to focus on that today.

355 He says that just to get a sense of what can be done in order to alleviate the problems, the Government's position is that, in effect, it will cost £1 million in order to fully 'eradicate' – using his word, I think – the problem, but then presumably the 338 reports that he has been receiving, some of which presumably have been attended to and have been fixed, have cost around £120,000, and now, hopefully, as a result of the movement of the positioning of the playground, 360 it may also alleviate further. Is he able to say, at least in percentage terms, how far he thinks he will be able to go without going down the route of the significant expenditure of £1 million to fix the problem in relation to the podium? And secondly, if I may ask as well, is he completely discarding the possibility of fixing the problem even at that price?

365 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, you cannot have the cake and eat it. In one breath he accuses us of spending money like confetti, and in another he is now encouraging us, or at least hinting that we might be able to spend £1 million on something which ... Yes, and I mention it again because I have been in this Parliament for nearly 22 years, and I can remember when the GSD used to hammer people in Gibraltar about the state of other estates that the GSLP used to build.
370 Even 16-20 years after, they still remind us. Well, I am going to remind the hon. Member that in this case it is under their watch that the podium is in the state it is.

In answer to his question would we spend £1 million, unfortunately we do not have £1 million to spend at the moment and therefore what we will do is try to mitigate, like we are doing now ... I have stated and he has said that I have had 338 reports and we have spent – yes, I said, but you 375 repeated that we had had 338 reports and we have spent circa £120,000.

We will try to continue, slowly and as we can, to fix it. The playground will go a long way, we are hoping, because if you move the playground ... Some of the inherent problem came from where the playground was placed because they made holes to put in the equipment, and that, apparently, we are hoping, is filtering elsewhere, and probably by putting a membrane on top of 380 that one, we will go some way. But we do not know that. We know that there is an inherent problem in the whole of the podium, but that might fix part of it.

Hon. D J Bossino: Again, focusing on the issue at hand, I understand that presumably it is a suck-it-and-see situation. In other words, until the move is done – not presumably, he has actually 385 said that – he says it will go on. I have been shown photos of the flooding that there has been in the garage, and it seems quite extensive as a result of the heavy rains we have had. But is he able to tell me – and he may have answered this question in previous sessions in the House – when he thinks he will be in a position to carry out those repairs which would have to be carried out as a result of moving the playground?

390 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, it is Christmas, so I do not think many people are going to do the playground now, but I am hoping that during the first two or three weeks of January there will be movement. What we want to do is, first, move the playground down. When you are moving the playground down, you have to prepare where the playground is going to go. That is the first thing you do, and I am hoping that in January that will be the first move, where you prepare where the 395 playground is going, and then the move of the playground, and then the fixing of the water penetration.

400 Hon. D J Bossino: And if he would be so kind, by way of assistance in relation to the ongoing issue of motorbikes – he, as well as I, has visited the estate and I am sure we both have regular meetings with the Tenants’ Association, who have raised this in the past. It was certainly raised with me on the last occasion I visited. Can I ask him when he thinks ...? I think he said he was going to be issuing badges, so some sort of licensing system. That presumably will lead to greater control. Does he have an idea of a timeline as to when that is going to be concluded?

405 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, because as I understand it, there were not any motorbike permits and people used to just go in. Only a few people had permits and with a motorbike it is easy to go in and out. We had the barrier fixed only this week. People just break the barrier and go in, so we are having these issues. But basically, we should not take too long in issuing permits to households. We have to make sure who we issue the permits to, as well, and when it is motorbikes, it can be a little bit more problematic because of the logbook, who owns the motorbike, who is allowed. It is a process where you have to make sure that the person who gets the permit is a person who is living in the estate and has a motorbike.

415 Hon. D J Bossino: Just so I can formulate it in order to keep within the rules, is he aware that the point was made to me that what is happening is that because bikes, as he rightly points out, are able to easily access even when the barrier is working, what happens is, because there is a slow movement of the whole operation, they get in. The main issue there – which could be resolved with the issue of the permits, hopefully, because there will be greater enforcement – is 420 the fact that it is being used, I am told, by many of the construction workers, because there is so much construction going on in the area and they are the ones who are abusing the system. Is aware of that?

425 Hon. S E Linares: Yes, sir, I have been made aware of that.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q529/2022
Arengo’s Palace –
Refurbishment

Clerk: Question 529/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

430 Hon. D J Bossino: Does the Government have any plans to refurbish Arengo’s Palace?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

435 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, yes, an in-depth external refurbishment of Arengo’s Palace is scheduled to commence as part of a programme to refurbish other buildings such as Tankerville House, Macmillan House and Willis House, etc. Until then, works to improve parts of these estates will commence in the New Year.

440 Hon. D J Bossino: And presumably those works are going to impact on all of the various blocks he has referred to, because the question was in relation to Arengo’s Palace but the Minister has been kind enough to widen the answer to include the ambitions that the Government has in relation to the other blocks.

He says next year. Can he give us a precise timeline – he did say, I think, next year – as to when he thinks that is going to be happening?

Hon. S E Linares: Yes, Mr Speaker, during the time of this Parliament.

445

Hon. D J Bossino: Of course, the timeline of this Parliament is going to be in the gift of the Hon. Chief Minister as to when he decides to call the election. As he may know, there are many rumours that the election is going to be called sooner rather than later, but that is a matter for him. Let's say the House is dissolved in January and we have an election in February, is he optimistic that he will be able to fix those blocks within a period of a month, especially when one considers that we have the Christmas period intervening? Maybe the Hon. Chief Minister can add some further information to elucidate this House.

450

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Yes, Mr Speaker, I too hear many rumours about when I am going to call the election, but there was a huge clue in the answer that the hon. Gentleman gave. We have told him that we are going to start a lot of work during the lifetime of this Parliament. That is to say an election is not going to be called before those works start, despite the fact that people are acting as if it were.

455

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, he talks about an in-depth refurbishment. I think in relation to Arengo's he was talking about the external façade, but what does he mean by an in-depth refurbishment?

460

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, you can have a refurbishment where you just do a coat of paint and you can have an in-depth refurbishment, which is exactly what we have done to the estates forgotten by the GSD, which we have built and we have done. We have cladded Glacis estate, Moorish Castle, Laguna estate and we are in the process of doing all the other estates. That is what is meant by an in-depth refurbishment.

465

Q530/2022
Chilton Court Committee –
Outstanding replies to correspondence

Clerk: Question 530/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

470

Hon. D J Bossino: Why does the Minister for Housing not reply to letters sent to him by the Chilton Court Committee?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

475

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, could the hon. Member be more specific and advise what letter he is referring to? Neither the Housing Department nor my Ministry appear to have any outstanding replies in relation to Chilton Court. May I add that the Housing Works Agency and the Housing Department engage with the committee and tenants of Chilton Court frequently to attend to their needs and concerns.

480

Hon. D J Bossino: My late father used to tell me never answer a question with a question, but I am more than happy to elucidate for the purpose of the Minister's assistance. I have the letters here and the various emails, if it does indeed assist him.

485

I am surprised, actually, that he should have given the reply he has given. Something, somewhere, is not going right if, by the answer he has given, he is, in effect, confirming that he – and not just him personally, but he and his entire Department are ignorant of the correspondence which I am told by the committee remains without any response.

490 I can tell him that I have seen a letter In respect of this particular letter, and I can give him a full audit, but in respect of this particular letter I do not have the cover email and I do not have any other evidence that I can show to the House which confirms that he or his Department, or indeed – let’s widen it further – any other relevant Government Department, if it receives a letter or an email addressed to the Hon. Mr Linares, would at least ... I would have thought the machinery of Government is sufficiently fine-tuned to pass the letter on to him.

495 There is one dated 10th July 2022 which refers to a meeting on 18th January 2022, where they say that they had a meeting in his office and that the Chairman says he attended with another committee member, and he copies, by way of distribution, the letter to the Chief Minister and another individual whose name I do not need to mention, but I imagine he is a civil servant.

500 Then there are emails. I will not bore the House with all the details, but there is another email here which goes to this individual and it says, in brackets, ‘HSE’ – presumably it is Health and Safety Executive – but also there is another one with an acronym which says ‘MHEYS’, which I understand is the Ministry for Housing. I asked my hon. Friend Mr Reyes for assistance, given his experience, and he tells me it is the Ministry for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport, which is his Ministry. It does not have a name, it just says MHEYS. It was sent to him on 7th October 2027 505 and the letter introduces itself by saying, ‘I am writing to you hoping I can obtain a reply this time,’ and at the bottom it says, again, the Hon. Mr Linares. So if he has not received it at that particular address, surely the individual who describes himself as ‘HSE’ would have passed it on to him. I do not know if he can ...

510 It seems that he replies to all letters. He says he replies to letters from Action for Housing and Mr Pinna, he says he meets constituents whenever they ask for meetings, so everybody is wrong except him, and now he almost challenges me to come up with the goods. I am surprised that he has answered in this way.

515 Hon. S E Linares: Well, don’t be so surprised because I do answer all the emails. I checked when the hon. Member sent me this question and I went through all the emails, all of them, the MHEYS, which, you are right, is the Ministry for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport. That is the generic email that we have. People can write to me via that email because my officials get it.
I do not know, because we will probably need to check which email the person is either sending it to, or which email has been put. The person who is supposed to be receiving that email is not 520 receiving it, because these are individuals and sometimes the emails are not correct – they change emails or whatever.

All I can say to the hon. Member is I was surprised when he asked this question because he knows that I do answer all my emails. I answered it as a question in relation to Action for Housing.
I do answer all my emails, and in fact we answer emails really quickly. The response is very quick.
525 The least anybody would get is a holding reply – that is the least, and then there is a substantial reply.

530 If the hon. Member wants to pass to me all those emails, because if somebody in my Department or the Housing Works Agency, or somebody within the agency ... because there are many aspects of the Housing Department and there are many emails in the Housing Department and if that person is writing to an email which somebody is not answering, I would like to know who is the person not answering those emails because we do take a lot of trouble and we are very conscientious in answering emails. So if the hon. Member wants to give me the list of all the emails that he says somebody within the housing institution has not answered, I would appreciate that because I will go back and say, ‘Why hasn’t this email been answered?’
535

Hon. D J Bossino: Various points arise from that, Mr Speaker. The first thing is it is slightly worrying at various levels and I think we need to get to the bottom of it. We may not get to the bottom of it across the floor of the House. Maybe it is just a question of having a discussion with him and showing him the emails.

540 But he has not addressed one point. Before I get to it, he says that he answers letters. He knows that there was a further letter sent in by Mr Pinna on behalf of Action for Housing, which was made public and published in the letters column of the Gibraltar Chronicle after I raised this issue with him in the last session, where he says ... This is a letter addressed to him but published in the Chronicle, so we were all able to read it:

On the first issue, you said

545 – in other words, the hon. Member – that you always answer letters.

Mr Pinna says:

Our reply to you is that you do most of the time, but not always. You did not reply to our open letter of 26th October.

Maybe he can comment on that, and also on the fact that ... Let's say mheys@gibraltar.gov.gi, which I think he has implicitly confirmed is his Department, is not reaching not just him but his Department ... He has said that nobody in his Ministry has received any correspondence from Chilton Court, but it has also been sent to somebody else – I will not mention his name – who is 'HSE', it is the same individual. It has also been sent to the generic email address of another HSE in brackets, and it says 'SMST', and then another one, again I will not mention his name but it is different to the HSE individual, which has 'EMP', which I assume is the Employment Department. Does he not understand that I find it very difficult to understand how it is that other Departments are not passing this information to him when these are letters on at least two occasions that are addressed to him?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the last time I checked, this was the Parliament of a nation that is negotiating its way out of a relationship with the European Union after 50 years, that has just come through a pandemic and is dealing with very challenging circumstances. If a Minister is saying he has not seen an email and he has confirmed that the email address is his correct email address, the hon. Gentleman is right, the resolution is to, behind your Chair, give us the address from whence it is coming, so that we can check on our servers whether potentially the email is being rejected by all our addresses because it may be coming from a POP server that is not working – not for us to go through, across the floor of the House, the email address at which it is supposed to be received and the email address from which it has come. We are very happy to assist the hon. Gentleman to assist his constituent in order to determine where that letter is. Full stop.

Mr Speaker, we have got through eight questions in an hour. That would be abnormal for any Parliament in the world because if what we are going to do is check the email address of every email that every Minister is alleged to have received, we are not going to be getting anywhere. We are very happy to work with the hon. Gentleman to address that point.

Mr Speaker, I think if the Hon. Minister has not been able to reply to a letter from Action for Housing, which happens to be an open letter – which then is not a letter, it is more in the way of a press release – we will address that too, but I think we need to start understanding what the role of Question Time in the Parliament is and start to move on. But very happy to work with the hon. Member to see if there is an issue with email addresses.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can he please comment on why it is that different Departments are receiving these emails, unless there are difficulties in the sending aspect of it? I do not know, maybe that is the issue – it has just occurred to me.

585 These are important issues. The Hon. the Chief Minister rightly points out that Gibraltar has gone through a pandemic and is in the midst of negotiating a very important deal with the EU, but the reality is there are 10 ... well, now nine Members in the Cabinet, and these are still very live and important issues that people come to us and raise, and it is important that ... It gets to the point that they are so desperate that one feels the need to raise these issues – which for them may not be that important – across the floor of the House.

590 I take the olive branch that the hon. Member has just extended, and in fact I suggested to him when I posed the question or in one of my supplementaries that I will sit down with him and show him the email addresses.

595 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, that is the point, isn't it? There are 10 Members on the Government side; there are nine Ministers. The hon. Gentleman is saying we think we have replied to all the letters, we just do not appear to have received that one. I am not saying that I should be replying to it, that the Deputy Chief Minister and I, who are dealing with the negotiations, should be replying to it. The person who has responsibility for replying to it, who is the alleged addressee of the email, is the one who is saying, 'I did not get it.'

600 Of course he is entitled to come here and, across the floor of the House, ask as he has asked, but usually you would do that after you have picked up the phone, called your parliamentary colleague and said, 'Look, I've got an issue with an email that it is alleged you haven't replied to. Have you got it?' And then we might say, 'Oh, yes, it slipped through the net,' or, 'There is a difficult issue that we are trying to deal with.' Here, the hon. Gentleman is saying, when confronted with the issue across the floor of the House for the first time, so clearly done for a political purpose, a partisan purpose, not to resolve the issue – (Interjection) That is fine. You can do as many partisan purposes ... If you want to achieve a response to something, if you want to resolve an issue, you can resolve it in any way you want as a parliamentarian. You can pick up the phone and try to fix it, you can write a letter and try to fix it, or you can ask a question in this House, but the reality is that for the past hour this Parliament has been dealing with issues of this sort. Therefore, I am very pleased that the hon. Gentleman has said he is going to take our olive branch and I invite all of them, in the event that somebody ever comes and raises with them the fact that we may not have answered a particular communication ... Of course, if they wish, they can first raise it in this House, but if they first raise it with us directly by picking up the phone, by emailing us directly, by WhatsApping us directly – God knows they do enough of it when they want to – we may be able to solve the problem for the individual sooner. That is all I am saying.

615

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q531-32/2022

Chilton Court youth club –

Source of funding for proposed development; intended membership

Clerk: Question 531/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

620 Hon. D J Bossino: Who is funding the proposed development at the Chilton Court youth club?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

625 Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 532.

Clerk: Question 532/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is the development of the Chilton Court youth club exclusively for residents of Chilton Court; and if not, who will be able to access and use its facilities?

630 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Industrial Relations, Employment, Housing and Sport.

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, there is no youth club at Chilton Court.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have taken that information, I think ... I would need to go through it very quickly now, but I thought it was in relation to the ... If the hon. Member wants to be unhelpful in his response, that is fine, but the ... In fact, I have just come across it. I am assuming he is not being partisan, I am assuming he is not being political, I am assuming he is not just being nasty in his reply, but can I just point out to him, so that we can get over this hurdle as to the identification of the development, that there is a notice, which was presumably published on site and then certainly published as part of all the planning documentation, which talks about proposed development at ... And there are two. When I drafted these questions I did not appreciate that actually there are two. I thought there were competing developments, but in fact, as I understand it, there are two projects which are going to be conducted in that area. One is where the playground currently is and one is what I thought was the existing youth club, because it says here 'Proposed development at existing Chilton Court youth club site and Chilton Court estate playground site'. That notice was filed on 2nd December on behalf of – yes, there it is again – Community Supplies and Services Ltd. Can he assist me and can we agree that we really both know what we are talking about here?

650 Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, first of all, he asks a question which he already knows the answer to. Yes, because you have just said that it has been filed by ... I have it here as a supplementary because I wanted to answer and be helpful, because the hon. Member has asked the wrong question. That is the issue. He has asked about the youth club. There is not a youth club there. There has not been a youth club there. Anyway, if that is being called 'the youth club', it is being done by CSS, where the funding is coming from. What I am saying is we can talk about the project, but he got the wrong place, so I have to correct it.

To be helpful, I can say to the hon. Member that the facility will be for the use of all registered clubs and associations. This will be free for the Government to allocate to the list of all clubs and associations. The project is funded by CSS. Also, the Tenants' Association and the tenants would have a specific social club there, so it is incorporating a social club. It is incorporating parking, may I add, because it is in the project. He has got it there, Mr Speaker. He knows what the project is all about because he has told us about it, so I am now answering what he has got in front of him, which begs the question: why is he asking the question? But never mind, I am trying to be helpful, and in view of being helpful I have already stated that there will be a social club for the tenants, there will be parking spaces, there will be stores, which we have already consulted on, together with the Tenants' Association, and they are really happy about the whole of the project.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, this information that I have asked for ... He says I asked the wrong question. If it is information that was publicly available, how could I have asked the wrong ...? It just does not make sense, anything he is saying.

670 He says that the funding is going to come from Community Services and Supplies. That was his answer. In relation to the youth club, can he comment on this: in the planning application it says the full planning design statement has been prepared following the principles of approved outline planning developed by GBIC, which I understand is the Chinese joint venture, if I can put it in those terms, on behalf of Community Supplies and Services Ltd. So can I dig further and can he provide further information to this House as to whether any funding has been drawn from GBIC Ltd?

680 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, that is not a question that is relevant to the work that the Minister is doing. That is a question that is relevant to the individual who is going to be involved in the development. We had this discussion last time, in almost exactly the same terms, in relation to Laguna estate and the youth club there. So the answer in relation to Chilton Court is the same as the answers were in relation to Laguna estate, which I seem to recall took us about an hour last time.

685 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, it takes a long time because the answers that we are given are not satisfactory. (Interjection) If what he is telling us is that it is – (Interjection) Once again, I agree with him, we went through the same thing. Let's try not to take as long as we did in relation to Laguna estate with this one.

690 He said it was the Hon. the Minister for Economic Development who would need to answer these questions, but again I need to repeat the point I made last time. The question is posed. Then I assume they decide, under the leadership of the Chief Minister, who answers which question. The Hon. the Minister for Housing has decided to answer this question and it is highly relevant. It is the question itself. It says very simply 'Who is funding the proposed development at Chilton Court youth club?' I think that is deserving of an answer.

695 If the answer is that the answer is best supplied by the Hon. Sir Joe Bossano, well, I suppose we will have to live with that and he does not have the information. Once again, none of the Hon. Ministers, or none of the Government Members who are opposite – it is the entire Government, save for two; one notable absence being the Minister for Economic Development – can answer this question, which is rather surprising because at the end of the day the Chief Minister is also 700 the Minister for Finance.

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman seems, to me, to simply want to make particular statements, probably for the purposes of extracting them out of context and seeking to take some political benefit from them, which is a matter entirely for him. I do not 705 complain; I am just analysing.

The question the hon. Gentleman has put is who is funding the proposed development. The Hon. Minister has answered that question. He has said it is CSSL. The hon. Gentleman has then asked us about the detail of that funding and whether there will be another, additional source of funding from a subsidiary or from another entity. As we told him during the course of the 710 discussion in relation to the Laguna estate, these are projects which come under the National Economic Plan. The National Economic Plan is being run by the Minister for Economic Development, so if he wants more detail about particular funding, that is what he has to ask the Minister for Economic Development. Not because we are not aware; we run something called a Cabinet Government and it is a collegiate Cabinet Government, which means that on Mondays we meet – and we miss Mr Licudi a lot because he no longer attends, but the rest of us meet – we 715 discuss what we are doing and we share the information. So I have, as hon. Members have from the discussions we have had, a lot of information about that, but it is not my responsibility and therefore, when I refer to that here, I want to ensure that the House gets accurate information, and to ensure that the House gets accurate information we usually ensure that the Minister with 720 direct responsibility for a particular area is the one who provides that information. For that reason, we are not going to venture to give information which may be accurate but not precise in respect of a particular area.

I hope that is helpful to the hon. Gentleman and that he does not think we are doing anything other than providing the information in the proper way, because the answer has been given by 725 the Minister in respect of Chilton Court and in respect of the funding, clarifying that this is a much wider development than just a youth club and explaining that he has consulted with the tenants of that estate and they are very happy with that.

Mr Speaker, I hope that – which is all the information we have and which we think is helpful – will assuage the hon. Gentleman and that he will, in future, if he wants more detail about the 730 National Economic Plan and how it is funding its projects – in particular this project – ask the Minister with responsibility for the National Economic Plan. The answer may not be one the hon. Gentleman wishes to hear – because it is accurate and it may not enable him to be as combative as he appears to want to be in relation to answers – but it is the truth.

735 Hon. D J Bossino: But he is not being helpful. (Interjection) No, he is not being helpful. With respect to him, he is not being helpful.

Two points: the first one is we file the questions, we do not decide who answers them. The question is very simple. The question is: who is funding the youth club? (Interjection) The answer is not a full answer. I then raised with the hon. Members GBIC Ltd, and then immediately we get the answer that it is the Hon. Sir Joe Bossano who needs to answer. That is not a matter for us, it is a matter for them.

And then, secondly – it gets worse – he says, ‘It is not because we are not aware.’ Well, it begs the question – if you are aware, then why didn’t you provide the answer now? It cannot be for the Opposition Member to determine who is going to answer the question. You have to come fully briefed, prepared with answers. It is clear that there has been an obstructive approach from the first moment I asked the question.

Mr Speaker: Can we ask a question?

750 Hon. D J Bossino: Who is funding the proposed development at Chilton Court youth club and what comment can he make in relation to GBIC Ltd? That is a question which, with the greatest respect to the House and to you, Mr Speaker, has not been answered by the Hon. Ministers – in the plural.

755 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, in fact the question has been answered. (Interjection) The hon. Gentleman, in his first answer to a supplementary, provided him with the answer.

The hon. Gentleman says we are not being helpful. It is clear that whatever we do, we will be deemed by the hon. Members not to have been helpful. We answer more questions than any Government has ever answered. We publish more information than any Government has ever published. The response we get from hon. Members for publishing all of that information without prompting and providing all of the answers that we provide here in more question and answer sessions than have ever been held in this House is that we are not transparent.

I understand that they want to create an impression and that is why they will say that in response to anything that we say, and that the only thing they think would be helpful is if we were simply to ask them to take over government, because that is what they want. For us to provide the answers to the questions they ask, however full and proper our answers may be, is not helpful to them because what they want is to be able to take over government. I understand that, but in fact the answer was helpful, the answer did give the information. In fact, the answer has been provided by the hon. Gentleman in answer to the hon. Member’s first supplementary. The further breakdown that the hon. Gentleman now seeks is what we are telling him he should refer to the Minister with responsibility for the Economic Plan. And it is not that, because we are aware of aspects of this, we should therefore now provide the information, failing which we are either falling at the hurdle of unhelpful or falling at the hurdle of lack of transparency. That is not correct, Mr Speaker. The individual with ministerial responsibility is the individual who would provide the detail of this answer. However much we may be aware of things, we may fall at the hurdle of inaccuracy because it is not our specific ministerial responsibility, and out of respect for the House and for hon. Members we would therefore ask, if he wants more detail than has been provided directly in answer to the question that he sought the answer to, a further breakdown, he should seek it from the Minister with responsibility for that particular area, for the National Economic Plan. That is what we are saying.

In any other Parliament, Mr Speaker, that would be considered to be a more than forthright, more than open, more than transparent answer. Here, one is subjected to various layers of cross-examination, which is perfectly proper – it is the practice in this House. We are not for one moment seeking to avoid that, and we are not for one moment seeking to be anything other than entirely transparent and open.

Mr Speaker: Let's have this as the final supplementary from you, and then we will allow the Leader of the Opposition to ask a question.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, it is very difficult because we have spent ... I appreciate that a sense is created that we spent a long time on one particular supplementary, but at the end of the day it is really one supplementary on two formal questions which have been put, so in terms of supplementary numbers, one has not been given the opportunity to ask that many. It is just that we feel obliged to continue to press the Government because, despite everything he says – and the manner in which he says it comes across as reasonable – the fundamental substantive truth is that he is not being helpful and that this is a perfectly legitimate question to which an answer – and we maintain that position – has not been provided.

Moving on, and I know that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition will have a supplementary arising from the exchange we have had now, but in relation to I think it was the second question, where I asked about exclusivity as to availability of the facilities at the Chilton Court youth club, which he initially said does not exist, has he answered that question? In other words, is he telling the House – because I may have missed it – that all the parking spaces, all the storage facilities etc., office spaces included, are going to be for the exclusive use of Chilton Court, or is it going to be shared?

And in relation to that question – it is not a second question, but it arises from the same point, just extending it and to give him the opportunity – I think, according to the planning papers that have been filed in relation to the youth club, specifically it refers to 26 parking spaces. He told me, in answer to a question in relation to the playground one, I think it was, where there were 50, 80% of which were going to be made available to the residents ... What is the position in relation to the 26 parking spaces?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, as I said last time, from the first project ... I did not say 80%. I said that the parking spaces would be offered first to the tenants, and the same is the case here. If there are 27 parking spaces, the parking spaces will be offered first to all the tenants.

Hon. D J Bossino: Maybe that was in his brain, but it was not set out here. I suppose it is open to that possible interpretation. What he said was there will be approximately 50 extra parking spaces, and I would ask him to confirm that he was talking about the project which is going to be built on the playground area, as opposed to the where we understand – although he objects to it – which is where the current youth club is, of which 80% will be made available to Chilton Court residents for rent and the rest will be for the use of the clubs and associations, just to clarify that point. But what is going to happen to the 26 parking spaces?

And has he answered the point about exclusivity of facilities which are being provided in the new youth club into the future, once it is built?

Hon. S E Linares: Mr Speaker, I do not think he has noticed what he has just read. He has just read that 80% was for what? For the club users, therefore it was not for part of the playground. (Interjection) Yes. Where?

Mr Speaker, I could go on and on answering this question. I have answered the question. I feel satisfied that I have answered the question. If the hon. Member does not like what I have answered, he does not like the answer. All I am saying is the answer that I have given remains and

I will not engage in answering the same question again because he does not like the answer. That is my answer, and I stick to my answer.

835 Mr Speaker: The Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, thank you.

The Chief Minister spoke about addressing questions to the appropriate person and my hon. colleague has made the point already that we are not in control about the Members on that side.
840 He talked about respect to the House and the accuracy of the information and so on, but of course, out of respect to the House we could see it the other way, which is that perhaps if they knew and it was reasonably foreseeable – we had this exchange last time – perhaps the hon. Member would have been present today to supply the information.

My hon. colleague asked from the perspective of other companies being involved; I want to 845 ask about the other perspective, arising from the original answer, which is, I think, where the supplementaries need to be directed to. He says that the funding is going to be provided by CSSL. Is the Government or the Savings Bank going to provide funding to CSSL so that CSSL does the project? At the end of it we know that CSSL is owned by a company that is in itself a charity, so what is in it for CSSL? Is CSSL getting the funding indirectly from the Government or the Savings 850 Bank?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman starts by saying that if we knew – because we control who answers the questions – that the supplementary was going to be about the further breakdown of the funding, why isn't Minister Bossano here today, or why didn't we 855 ask Minister Bossano to answer the question? Well, we do not put ourselves in the minds of hon. Gentlemen to determine where their supplementaries are going to take them, because of course we can have an element of likely-to-arise information for supplementaries, but not all of it. That is why the Hon. the Minister for Housing was charged with responding to the questions, which actually, when taken together, from the Hon. Mr Bossino, appear to be about use, not so much 860 about funding. That is why the Hon. Mr Linares provided the answer. The Hon. the Minister for the Savings Bank and with responsibility for the National Economic Plan is finalising answers to his questions, and for that reason is not here. He is continuing to attend to his parliamentary responsibilities by finishing the answers to hon. Members' questions.

The issues which relate to the funding of CSSL are issues that were ventilated during the course 865 of the last Question Time in this House, which is merely three or four weeks ago. In that context, the Hon. the Minister with responsibility for the National Economic Plan and for the Savings Bank gave hon. Members quite detailed answers, so if the hon. Members want to ask supplementaries about this issue, they should direct them to the Hon. Minister when he is answering his questions, if they arise in the context of one of his questions in this session of the House – I believe they 870 probably would – or at the next session of the House, which will be in January, when they can then file other questions specifically about this subject.

Hon. D J Bossino: By way of – 875 Mr Speaker: Excuse me, no, we are not going to continue, with respect to the Hon. Damon Bossino.

The Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: I was just going to ask, Mr Speaker, and I am not sure whether I am directing 880 this at you or the hon. Member; it partly it is both, if I may. Given what he has just said, and in light of the six month rule, is the Government accepting and would Mr Speaker accept that we file questions in January if we are not going to –?

Hon. D J Bossino: Not just January, but –

885

Hon. K Azopardi: Well, there are two options he has put: first, that when Sir Joe is in the Chamber we can put supplementaries and it may be possible to do so in connection with other questions. I have not memorised all the questions Sir Joe will have, but if that is possible, clearly we are happy to do that, but if that is not possible because it does not fall under any of those questions, then of course we would be free to file a question in January, notwithstanding the six month rule.

890

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, what I have said is that if they arise in the context of Minister Bossano's questions, they may be able to ask supplementaries, which is my interpretation of the rule, but it is a matter entirely for you. From my knowledge of the questions they have asked Sir Joe, it would appear to me that they are on the same set of issues and therefore are likely to be covering the same set of questions and supplementaries, but that is a matter for you, for them and for Sir Joe when he is answering his questions.

895

The rule as to questions and whether they can be repeated in respect of any six months I have never understood to be in relation to supplementaries; I have always understood it to be in relation to questions filed. The question we are dealing with at the moment in respect of what Mr Bossino is seeking information on is not a question that has been filed. The question that has been filed has been answered. He is seeking to go beyond that and obtain information about the sources of funding that CSSL itself will be pursuing. That is not the question that was on the Order Paper. In my interpretation, that is a matter for you, and luckily, Mr Speaker, I only have to concern myself with Government business, not with the interpretation of Erskine May and all those issues. But in my interpretation it would not be a question that would fall foul of the six months rule if what he was seeking as a supplementary were to become his first question next time.

900

905

Mr Speaker: The situation the Chief Minister has explained will be my position too, in that if the Hon. the Father of the House is unable to answer, or rather if a question does not have information which will allow supplementaries on the basis of those outstanding queries that the Opposition have ... If those questions cannot be posed when the Father of the House is here tomorrow, then I will permit further questions to be asked in relation to the topic of unanswered supplementaries. Is that clear? (A Member: Next time?) Next time, yes.

910

915

TRANSPORT

Q534-35/2022

Active Travel Strategy –

Cost of commissioning Strategic Document for Mobility; cost to deploy Cycling Strategy

Clerk: Question 534/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, further to Question 461/2022, can the Government state how much the Strategic Document for Mobility cost to commission?

920

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 535.

925

Clerk: Question 535/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, further to Question 461/2022, can the Government state how much money it will place at the disposal of the Ministry for Transport in order to deploy its cycling strategy?

930 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the Gibraltar Active Travel Strategy has been prepared in house by our technical team and has therefore come at no cost. As I have explained to the hon. Member ahead of Government officially publishing the document, there have been aspects of the strategy 935 which have been outsourced to specialist engineering companies. As of yet, we are unable to provide a final figure in respect of the aspects of the strategy that have been outsourced.

The strategy has been conceived from the Sustainable Traffic, Transport and Parking Plan. We therefore intend to charge any associated costs from the said head and item of charge. As the hon. Member will know, the question of the money available for this purpose will not be decided 940 by the Government but by the Parliament when we consider the next draft Estimates of Expenditure.

Hon. E J Phillips: I am grateful for the answer to that question. I am also grateful for the presentation that the hon. Gentleman gave us in relation to the plan that the Government has in 945 relation to cycling. I know he offered it to the Leader of the Opposition and the Hon. Lady as well, and I think it is fair to say that we all found that project to be one that might well change the way in which our people move around our city and we look forward to working more closely with him in respect of that; certainly from my perspective, I do.

Just in relation to the presentation itself, if I may, because I know it formed part of the answer 950 to Question 461/2022, the Minister confirmed that that presentation will be put before the Cabinet for approval. Is it the case now, and subject to what he has obviously said about the outsourcing of certain aspects of this project ...? Has that presentation, that three Members on this side of the House have seen, gone before the Cabinet, and has it now been approved by the Cabinet?
955

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, yes, the whole point was that this had to be approved by Cabinet first, and it was as a result of the decision made in Cabinet that I said I would present this to the hon. Members across the House.

Just to come back to the first point the hon. Member made, I appreciate the comments made, 960 and as I said to them all when they did come and visit us to see the presentation on the strategy, this is something that will only work for Gibraltar if we see eye to eye in that respect, because it is extremely important for the environment and for the future in Gibraltar, and so I am very happy with the comments made by the hon. Member. Thank you.

Hon. E J Phillips: Just one further question that arises from this very helpful and constructive exchange in relation to the Cycling Strategy for Gibraltar. Not to disclose too much of what we discussed, but we are very keen for this project to escalate. I know he has a time in mind and we are, I think, joined on the question of this particular strategy. We might have differences of opinion
965 as to where certain lanes go, or in terms of the rollout, and there may be disagreements in the future, but when does the Minister believe we might start rolling out these particular lanes in Gibraltar? I know we have had a general discussion, but I think he will pique the interest of our community once this presentation is released to the public, particularly those who use different modes of transportation and those who know our streets well. They will have their own queries and questions about that, so it will be very helpful if he could perhaps elucidate a timeline for us 970 and, indeed, the population.
975

980 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the intention, once we have shown the strategy to the Members across the floor of the House ... We have now shown the strategy and we are showing sections to certain stakeholders who have shown interest in it. The idea is, now, that we will be rolling out, as we explained, pop-up cycle infrastructure, especially in certain areas where there is bound to be imminent development, so at least we can start seeing how the strategy works vis-à-vis users and cyclists getting used to the infrastructure.

985 The stakeholder consultation has already happened. This will be made public. It will all be in public. It will also be presented to the DPC for their information so that they know about it, because remember, this is not a project like a building, as such, which would need planning permission; mainly it is improvements to the road. For us, it is important to let the stakeholders know, and there will be that process.

990 Once we are satisfied that we have managed to do these things, it will be announced, and the plan is to roll out pretty soon, at least in certain sections. As we explained, Bayside Road will be the first section to be tackled in terms of pop-up infrastructure, and we are hoping that very early in the New Year the people of Gibraltar will be able to see the fruits of that work in that respect.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q536/2022
1.5m rule re cyclists –
Representations received re level of fine

995 Clerk: Question 536/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, further to Question 463/2022, can the Government state how many representations were received and by which group, organisation or agency?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

1000 Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I refer the hon. Member to Press Release 695/2022, which states that representations were made by the Commissioner of Police stating that the current penalty levels had become insignificant, as they had not been increased with the rate of inflation and as a result had lost their value as a deterrent to persons committing traffic offences.

Q537/2022
Vehicles in Gibraltar since 2016 –
Total number registered; number of new vehicles registered since 2016

1005 Clerk: Question 536/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: How many registered vehicles were there in Gibraltar each year since and including 2016, and how many new vehicles have been registered each year since and including 2016?

1010 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Transport.

Minister for Transport (Hon. P J Balban): Mr Speaker, I now hand over a schedule with the information requested.

Answer to Q537/2022

	Registered	New
2016	35,247	2,331
2017	37,569	2,322
2018	40,080	2,511
2019	42,269	2,189
2020	44,746	2,477
2021	46,769	2,023
2022	48,641	1,872

1015 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, seeing as the trend seems to be that there is an increase of about 37% in the last seven years, of registered vehicles, would the Minister say that his STTP Plan, which was launched almost six years ago, has been a failure?

1020 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, I do not think we can say that because numbers have increased – I am assuming 37% is the right figure – it has been a failure. It just means that Gibraltar has grown. I would say Gibraltar has got busier. There is more commercial activity in Gibraltar. Remember that the figures I am presenting to the hon. Lady are not just cars, but they include motorbikes, lorries, vans and all sorts of vehicles of a commercial nature. I would love to see fewer vehicles in Gibraltar – that is something we all know – but the fact that we have increases maybe shows that there is more commercial activity and maybe the population has grown as well, so it is a result of that.

1025 I will not accept that it is a failure of the STTPP because we are trying as much as possible to encourage people to adopt other sustainable modes of transport and the Cycling Strategy will be just one of those ways that we will try to encourage people to walk more and cycle.

1030 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker. The Minister says many ‘maybes’ – it could be this or it could be that. Is the Minister able to give us any more information, or does his Ministry seek more information to find out why the trend has gone up so sharply, so that he can provide remedies and different trends in the future?

1035 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, one thing that also has to be looked at in terms of this data, and it is something which is extremely difficult for us to provide ... This does not give any idea of how many vehicles have been disposed of. In fact, this just shows registered vehicles in total. But a number of these vehicles may not be there at the time. I cannot say why there is no ... ‘Maybes’ – I can only assume and give the best possible answer to the question, but I would not be able to say that this is a result specifically of one or more of those things.

1045 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, if I may just ask the Minister for Transport: there is a spike in the new vehicles in 2020, quite a big spike – would he attribute this to the Government’s anti-green policy, during COVID, to sell vehicles at 0% tax?

1050 Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, the result of the initiative was that there was an increase. In fact, there should have been a displacement of vehicles that were more polluting with vehicles that are hybrid and electric at the time, but more so hybrid, because of the fact that more new vehicles came on to the market. If you look at the pattern, 2018 saw a greater spike in new vehicles, but then if you look at the years after 2020 and look at 2021 and 2022, there is a decline. What seems to have happened here is that, obviously because it was attractive to buy vehicles at that time, those who perhaps felt that their vehicles were getting older and wanted to move them on did so, and now you see the reverse happen. So if you look at the average of all these, I think Gibraltar generally has remained fairly constant, regardless of the policy at the time in 2020.

1055

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, if I could just ask for some clarity on that – in 2020, with the COVID deal that customers had of 0% duty for any vehicle, be it diesel, unleaded or hybrid, is the Government Minister telling me that the 2,477, which is a high number, and a peak number, had nothing to do with this zero duty incentive?

1060

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, if you look at the figure for 2018, you see that it was higher. Clearly – let's be realistic – if there was 0% Import Duty, those people who were thinking of purchasing a vehicle would have done so, I would assume. But then it reflects that, after, there has been a decrease. If you look at 2018 and 2020, had this been such a great thing that everybody rushed out to buy a car, why was 2018 even higher? I could agree with the hon. Lady if we had seen 3,000 being sold a year when the peak was above every other, but there is this other peak in 2018 which cannot be attributed to any decrease in Import Duty.

1065

Hon. E J Phillips: I am grateful, Mr Speaker. That was an excellent question by the hon. Lady insofar as this is concerned. It builds on a question we asked in relation to hybrid cars and electric vehicles.

1070

Just one question I have for the Minister. We are looking at a difference of 13,000, from 2016 to 2022, with the same road infrastructure. The Government was very proud, during the 2019 election, of their Green Gibraltar and Child-Friendly City. Would he not agree with me that these numbers show that we are moving, as a community, in the wrong direction? And whilst I will praise him for his efforts in relation to cycling, because he and I are joined on this question, would he not agree that that vision for the future is looking very shaky indeed?

1075

Hon. P J Balban: Mr Speaker, if we look at the actual results published recently by my hon. colleague the Minister for the Environment, we see that air quality has improved as a result of purchasing newer vehicles – and people have been purchasing newer vehicles, Euro 6-plus, hybrids and electric. The result of this is that emissions have reduced and, in terms of tailpipe emissions, have been cut down statistically. Those results do reflect that reduction in emissions in Gibraltar.

1080

When it comes to looking at vehicles, whether the increase seen in Gibraltar is something which shows any trends as the hon. Member has mentioned, unfortunately this is happening in many cities. We do see more people buying cars throughout. It is not just something which is typical of Gibraltar. We have a certain population. This does not mean that there are more cars on the road because Joe Bloggs with one driving licence can only drive one vehicle at one given point in time. I think people are buying or have bought vehicles or are failing to get rid of vehicles, and that is something that does happen in Gibraltar. You have a vehicle and it has sentimental value and stays on the road, but it is not being used. But the cars of choice being used tend to be the newer ones, and hence emissions do come down.

1085

Again, yes, I would have liked to have seen a reversal, but I think it is going to take us a lot longer. I am hoping that with this initiative and trying to encourage more people to walk and cycle, and having the infrastructure actually laid down physically, we will see a trend and see people adopting those other modes of travel, be it walking or cycling. Again, this cannot be seen short term in what is going to happen, this needs to be looked at in the long term and that is what I aspire to and am hoping for.

1090

1095

1100

Mr Speaker: Next question.

BUSINESS, TOURISM AND THE PORT

Q538/2022

Coach park –

Refurbishment of toilets

Clerk: Question 538/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: When does the Government intend to refurbish the toilets at the Coach park?

1105

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, this is currently in progress.

1110

Hon. D J Bossino: Is he able to give us more particularity as to timeline? This is an issue which has been brought to my attention and it really runs through the various questions I have filed for this session of the House which deal with the various entry points. I think I have identified one which is not going to be answered by him, which relates to the Frontier; I suspect it will be answered by the Chief Minister.

1115

He did say in relation to a question that I previously posed in relation to the entry points more generally, that all efforts are being made to maintain our entry points. From the photographic evidence I have seen, it is not just one toilet, it is various toilets. It is an entry point because it is possibly one of the first things that people see when they get off the bus here, and they are in a really bad and dire state. It is not the welcome one would expect to be met with when you come to a destination. So can he answer the question? I am sure he agrees with the comments I made. I encourage him to make sure that this is done as soon as possible, but I ask for the further information.

1120

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, I have informed the hon. Member that the refurbishment is in progress. When they will be fully refurbished ... I cannot really give him an exact date, but they will be refurbished. They are being refurbished as we speak.

1125

Hon. D J Bossino: By saying 'in progress', he is saying it has started already. Is he seriously telling me that he is not able to tell me when he expects that refurbishment to be done, dusted and completed? Is that what he is telling this House? Does he have no indication whatsoever as to when this is going to be completed?

1130

This ought to be dealt with as a matter of urgency. He has been in office now for a number of years, in excess of three, and this is a matter which has not been there the last few weeks; it must be an endemic problem that has been there before and needs to be sorted out as soon as possible.

1135

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, if it makes him feel better, I will inform him that it might take anything between four and eight weeks, when the project will be fully refurbished.

Hon. E J Phillips: It does make me feel a lot better.

1140

Mr Speaker: Thank you. Let's move on.

Q539/2022

Wizz Air –

Minister's meetings and expected date of return to Gibraltar

Clerk: Question 539/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1145 Hon. D J Bossino: Who, precisely, is the Minister for Tourism meeting when he refers to the 'wider Wizz team' when is he meeting with them, and when does he expect to welcome the airline back to Gibraltar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

1150

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, I am meeting with senior executives of the airline. A first meeting was held virtually on 14th December and discussions are ongoing.

1155 Hon. D J Bossino: Can he say which senior executives? I do not expect him to give me names, but what positions do they hold, and how many?

Hon. V Daryanani: I am not willing to provide that information at this moment in time.

1160 Hon. D J Bossino: Is it because he does not really have that information, Mr Speaker? As usual, he comes up with these press releases and a lot of drivel, quite frankly, but he is unable to provide (Interjections) particulars that are highly relevant. He should have had this information.

1165 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, as you can see, he has found it very difficult to control his language, but anyway, if he looks at my press statement on Wizz, he will see that I met with the CEO of Wizz, the highest senior executive of the fastest-growing airline in Europe. There is no more I can tell him.

1170 I am meeting different levels. We are trying to see whether we can we convince Wizz to come back to Gibraltar. I would like to think that that is what he wants too, but that is not the case because we know that the hon. Member is only interested in scoring cheap political points when it comes to airlines.

1175 I have told him on many occasions and I will keep on repeating it. The people understand the work that I am doing and the people understand the work that he is doing – the negative work that he is doing – so all I will say is that every time he speaks about airlines, instead of ... I am playing up Gibraltar and he plays down Gibraltar and damages Gibraltar every time he opens his mouth.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker –

1180 Mr Speaker: This is the final supplementary.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have asked two supplementaries. It may – (Interjections)

1185 Mr Speaker: I know, but I think the hon. Member has answered the question. He has told you that he has met with the CEO. If you can be brief and keep your supplementaries to the minimum ... Thank you.

1190 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the supplementaries are being kept to the minimum. We have not reached a point where I think it calls for an element of control on me, because all I have done is ask two supplementaries. The hon. Member makes what are clearly barbed party-political comments, which he seems to be entitled to make, but it seems that I am being controlled. I have no intention –

1195 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, will the hon. Gentleman give way on a point of order? The hon. Gentleman said to the Hon. Minister that his press releases and his statements were a load of drivel. That is what led the hon. Member to respond in the way he did.

1200 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, it is because they are a load of drivel, because they say nothing, (Interjections) and this is why I need to ask the questions. (Interjection) This is why I need to ask specific questions. (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) No, he needs to grow up and he needs to calm down. (Interjection) He has been getting up at every possible opportunity because his Ministers are not able to defend themselves. (Interjections)

Mr Speaker, the question – (Interjection) and I will continue to ask it –

1205 Mr Speaker: All right, let us have the supplementary. As I said before, keep the supplementaries to the minimum because we are just dragging on and on and not getting very far. So with respect, just ... (Interjection)

1210 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, it is true that he met the CEO. There is photographic evidence to the effect. I must say the body language is not particularly impressive. It looks like a photo opportunity, which presumably ... There is another question on the Order Paper to find out how much it cost the taxpayer to bring this gentleman over. He met him in Gibraltar presumably as a result of an invitation by the Government of Gibraltar, but he will answer the question.

1215 Mr Speaker, just as the Hon. the Chief Minister used to bandy about, as he used to describe it himself, a tatty, yellowing Gibraltar Chronicle article on the cost of the Airport, which he was very keen to wave around when he was in opposition, I also have one which I keep in my office because I do want the hon. Member to succeed, but in respect of this particular airline – there have been many and he has presided over many things which have failed, and this is one of them – it says:

Gibraltar hotels at full capacity as Wizz Air cancels August flights.

1220 At the time – this is the Gibraltar Chronicle edition of 14th July 2021 – he said, and it is a very short quote:

This is an unprecedented situation for Gibraltar to be in ...

which it was, and I fully acknowledge that; what I do not acknowledge is that ... He pretended he was bringing all these airlines as a result of his efforts. They were coming here because the airlines needed to be in the air in order not to lose money, and Gibraltar was a perfect opportunity because we had the green corridor. He goes on to say:

I will continue working

1225 – this was in July 2021 – with Wizz Air and all other airlines to maintain capacity to Gibraltar. I look forward to the return of the flights in September 2021.

Why didn't it happen? Why is he still, I am afraid to say, imparting the drivel and nothingness that he thinks he can invite them to come to Gibraltar again? Why does he think he is being more optimistic now than he was in July 2021?

1230 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, first of all, the only drivel that we are hearing is that which is coming out of his mouth. He speaks of 2021: 2021 was an unprecedented time. We managed to convince Wizz to come to Gibraltar and they took the decision, after a year of being here, that it did not make commercial sense to them. That is fair enough. They are a business; they are entitled to take these decisions. We have now engaged with them once again. We have been doing this for the last few months, and now at a higher level, to see whether we can convince them to come back to Gibraltar, and they are interested in doing so.

1235 Instead of supporting us – supporting Gibraltar ... It is not a question of supporting us, because at the end of the day this is about Gibraltar. Instead of supporting Gibraltar and Gibraltar's intentions, he plays down Gibraltar. I do not know what the speech he has given has to do with the question he has actually asked.

1240 Hon. D J Bossino: It is a very specific question: why did the –? (Interjection) No, why did the airline not come in September 2021, as he said it would? And why is he more confident that they are likely to come in the future? He has not answered that question. He has come up, again, with a party-political point, just to criticise me.

1245 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, first of all, he should do his homework when he comes to Parliament, because he is absolutely wrong. Wizz did come back in September, so you need to get your facts right. Wizz did come back in September and then they pulled out at the end of the year.

1250 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q540/2022
Expected flight disruption during Christmas period –
Update

Clerk: Question 540/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1255 Hon. D J Bossino: What update can the Government provide in connection with the expected disruption in flights from the UK due to industrial action in the UK over the Christmas period?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

1260 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the industrial action will affect inbound flights to the UK. This disruption is aimed at the UK market. We have no updates from the airlines, only that of extended queueing times on arrival in the UK.

1265 Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, Mr Speaker, and in fact what prompted the question was an article which appeared. I then could not locate it. It has actually become topical again because there was an article Monday's Times, talking about airport strikes and Border Force walkouts. In fact, there is a full entry on the UK government's website which talks about the planned industrial action which is being conducted by the Public and Commercial Services Union. It talks about the dates in respect of which there will be disruptions experienced, and unfortunately it is from this Friday, the 23rd, all the way through to the 31st, which is basically the Christmas period. It does affect a long list of airports and two of them are ones that we travel to, Gatwick and Heathrow. There is a comment both in this document that I have just referred him to and also in the Times article, which says:

1270

Flights impact of industrial action

We will work with operators and ports to understand the impact of industrial action on inbound flights.

I wanted to know whether there had been any contact with Gibraltar and, in particular, with his Ministry in relation to this. What are the operators telling him in relation to this? And is there information that he can then pass on to travellers and be of general assistance to travellers here on the ground?

1275

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, the delay that is expected, as I said, is really in queuing inbound into the UK. We have not been approached by the operators and we have not been approached by the airports, so there is no information that we have been given that we can pass on. Really we are just privy to what we read in the press, like he does. I read in an article that the UK government was drafting in military personnel to see whether they could speed things up at airports, but we have not heard anything directly.

1280

Hon. D J Bossino: I understand that in very large measure this is action which is being undertaken that is going to be outside of his hands, clearly, but what I am really focusing on is what dialogue he can embark upon – and I would encourage him to do so – in order to then try to basically provide information to users, because the article also refers to the potential ... It is not just long queues, which seems to be the main effect of the industrial action, but potentially also – which is where the danger comes, as far as Gibraltar Airport is concerned – flight disruption. I think it is important ... I would have thought that the Minister can use his influence and his position to pick up the phone and speak to the operators and any other relevant authorities, so that information can be imparted to users when the time comes, which is now in the next 48 hours.

1285

1290

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the information that the Government has suggests that it is unlikely to be Gibraltar that is affected by the flight disruptions, because those who are going to be on flights that are disrupted have received notices telling them that their flights are disrupted and those who are on flights to Gibraltar have not received such notices.

1295

The government of the United Kingdom appears to have averted the possibility that people will have to wait in aircraft, which could then have knock-on effects delaying aircraft. For that reason, as the Minister has already told him, we have no information to impart to travellers and we have not had to pick up the phone to try to assist, but we would if we felt it was necessary. It has not been necessary yet to do that, because no such information has been brought to our attention.

1300

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for that helpful reply from the Hon. the Chief Minister.

1305

I appreciate that the Speaker may not allow this question because it may not directly relate to it, but does he have any comment to make in relation to there not being on-ground staff, I am told? It is slightly related because if we did have on-ground staff from the various airlines that operate to and from Gibraltar, it would assist in terms of imparting information, which is really the main topic of this question-and-answer session in relation to this issue. Does he have any comment in relation to that? We do have flight handlers, but I understand that Gibraltar Airport no longer has on-ground staff, which would, I think, assist quite a lot in giving out useful information to travellers when they are here.

1310

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the position in relation to on-ground staff has been established in Gibraltar, as I understand it, since we came into office in 2011, something that pre-dates us. Having on-ground staff is something which is now unusual in many airports. Airlines use ground handlers for all their on-ground needs. That is the case sometimes even in airports as large as Malaga Airport in respect of some very large and established airlines. That seems to be the way the airlines are moving and the Government has no comment in that respect, Mr Speaker.

1315

1320

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q541/2022
Landport tunnel –
Upkeep and cleaning

Clerk: Question 541/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1325 Hon. D J Bossino: When will the Government upkeep and clean the entry point into the city centre, namely Landport Tunnel?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

1330 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): The Landport area is swept daily and flushing takes place monthly. Furthermore, as and when it is required or when we are notified, cleanliness in the area is tackled.

Hon. D J Bossino: Once again, Mr Speaker, I have seen it myself and there is also photographic evidence which suggests the contrary.

1335 I appreciate that the hon. Member, in answers to questions that he has provided to this House in the past – and, in fact, I think it formed part of his Budget address – is wanting to refurbish, as part of a wider refurbishment, the whole area, which is actually the answer I thought he was going to give, but can I tell him that it is not quite what he is telling us? In fact, it is far removed from the answer that he has just given us. There are walls which require a lick of paint, I am told even 1340 of cobwebs that are very visible, and indeed, clearly as a result of the heavy rain – certainly as a result of rain – there is actually water seeping through one of the lights in the tunnel. So, like in relation to the toilets, it may seem like a not particularly important matter to raise, but actually our view is that it is highly important because it is, again, a sight which greets people on their almost first entry through our city walls.

1345

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, as the hon. Member said, there is a wider refurbishment plan there. I must say I have not been down to see the leaking walls that he is referring to, but it has been brought to our attention now and I will have it looked at, but there is a wider refurbishment and there are other financial priorities at the same time.

1350

Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for the conciliatory tone in which he has responded on this occasion, and I simply encourage him and ask him to deal again with this as a matter of urgency, fully acknowledging the fact that there is going to be a wider refurbishment. We had this type of debate in relation to the Frontier entry points, but it really ... I appreciate that there are other 1355 priorities, but I think a lick of paint would go a long way.

Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, I am keen, more than anyone, to have that area and all the areas in Gibraltar looking spick and span, so I can tell him that he has my word that I will look into it.

Q542/2022
Cruise liner terminal –
Refurbishment

1360 Clerk: Question 542/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: When will Government, as a matter of urgency, refurbish the cruise liner terminal and surrounding area?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

1365 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, this is currently being assessed and plans are being prepared for this purpose.

1370 Hon. D J Bossino: Again, as I mentioned in respect of my first question in relation to the coach park, it is the same theme. He said, in relation to the coach park, that the refurbishment programme was in progress. In relation to this, can he please advise this House when the cruise liner walls ...? It is the external walls particularly. They are in a really bad way. I have posted photos on social media, I think. If I have not already, I certainly will now because I need to make the point that this is something which really requires urgent and immediate action, particularly when we are getting, hopefully, more cruise liners coming through. He says he is doing a lot of work in terms of marketing and bringing them here, but then if, again, this is the first thing they see in Gibraltar, it does not really greet them with a particularly attractive sight, so can I urge him to do that as quickly as possible? Then, specifically, by way of further information, can he tell me when he thinks it will start and when he thinks the painting project will finish? He said refurbishments. I am focusing on the painting of the external walls, but maybe he can also answer what type of refurbishment will be carried out.

1385 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, maybe next time he can vote in favour of a higher budget so I can spend and refurbish the cruise liner terminal. I can see Mr Clinton getting a bit nervous about that.

1385 The hon. Member asked a very similar question on the cruise liner terminal on 20th October, two months ago, and I refer him to the Hon. the Chief Minister's extensive reply on this because he raised the outer walls and he is raising them once again. I suggest he goes to Hansard and brings out that extract because the question he is asking me now ... the answer was given to him by the Hon. Chief Minister two months ago.

1390 Insofar as the refurbishment, there are refurbishments – (Interjection) There are different –

Mr Speaker: Please carry on.

1395 Hon. V Daryanani: We need to decide whether we want to carry out a full refurbishment or a part refurbishment, what is it that we want to do. At the end of the day, it all boils down to finances and that is why we are taking our time before we make a decision on how we want to progress this.

1400 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, this drills slightly further. I have looked at the responses that were given in relation to this particular issue. My comment to the Hon. Chief Minister following his response was that the issues in relation to the negotiations with the EU and Spain may, I understand, have an impact in respect of the Frontier entry, but I could not understand why it would have necessarily any impact on the cruise liner terminal.

1405 I am not sure that he has answered the specific request for further information, which is when does he think he will be in a position to start and then finish the works, or is he nowhere near that position as yet?

1410 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, I am working on this, so it will be during the lifetime of this Parliament.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q543/2022
Aviation conference –
Breakdown of costs

Clerk: Question 543/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1415 Hon. D J Bossino: What was the cost of the recent aviation conference held in Gibraltar, to include the amount that the Government paid in respect of it broken down into the following headings: accommodation, travel, entertainment and use of conference facilities?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Business and Tourism.

1420 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, the cost of accommodation was paid by the delegates. Their travel was also paid by themselves. Entertainment and use of conference facilities were paid by CAPA. There was, therefore, no cost to the Government.

1425 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for that answer, and I need to congratulate the Minister that the taxpayer has not had to incur any expense.

1430 Can I ask the hon. Member what comment he makes in relation to the timing of this? Presumably, given that there is the possibility of the shared use of the Airport and the benefits that we may derive – shall we put it in those terms? – in respect of the EU treaty, would it not have been better to have had certainty in relation to that aspect before holding this conference in Gibraltar?

1435 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, CAPA has, I think, seven or perhaps even eight conferences a year in all sorts of destinations around the world. They decided that they wanted to hold this, their most important conference, in Gibraltar and it was supposed to take place in December of this year, but they took the decision over 12 or 14 months ago. For me and for the Government it was all about exposure for the jurisdiction and exposure for Gibraltar Airport, of course.

1440 Hon. D J Bossino: I appreciate that. I also appreciate that the event only occurred, I think, in the last month or two. Is he able to say whether he has been able to secure anything in the way of progress following from that as a marketing exercise? He rightly points out it certainly would have put, I imagine, Gibraltar on the map with these various airlines, but is he able to say whether there have been any substantive, positive developments arising from it?

1445 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, I am not prepared to make any comments at this stage because that would lead to speculation. I will only make any announcement once the ink is dry on the contract.

1450 Hon. D J Bossino: I had another question, but given the answer, this question certainly arises from that answer. When he is saying when the ink is dry on the contract, is he telling us that there is a possibility of something substantive happening but he is in the throes of negotiations? That in itself, I think, is information which he can disclose to the House and to the public. Is he saying that there are negotiations in place in respect of something substantive coming through, or is he not even prepared to tell me that?

1455

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, if we make an announcement that we are pursuing a particular objective and then that objective does not materialise, hon. Members accuse us of creating hype and then it comes to nothing. If we do not make an announcement about something that we may be trying to pursue before it is fixed, hon. Members ask us to give them

1460 information about each stage of the approach. So the approach that we are taking, on the advice of the Hon. Mr Clinton, is that we are not going to make announcements about things until the ink is dry on the paper of the arrangements that are to be announced. They cannot advise us to do both of those things – they can advise us to either make announcements when things are fixed 1465 or they can advise us to make announcements as we are ongoing in discussions of things – and so we are taking the advice to wait until things are fixed before we make the announcements.

Hon. D J Bossino: Fair enough, Mr Speaker. I do not intend to pursue the matter further. I think that question was more than capable of a shorter reply. I offered to him the answer he could have given me, and now I get – (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) Yes, fine. We can leave it – 1470 (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister) Mr Speaker, we can leave it there.

This is my final question. In relation to costs, can he say whether there is anything beyond the four subheadings that I provided which has incurred a cost to the taxpayer?

Hon. V Daryanani: Nothing in relation to this conference.

DIGITAL, FINANCIAL SERVICES, HEALTH AUTHORITY AND PUBLIC UTILITIES

Q575-76/2022

Ambulances –

Ambulance fire; date of arrival of new ambulances

1475 Clerk: Question 575/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government explain why an ambulance caught fire in late November 2022?

1480 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 576.

1485 Clerk: Question 576/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state when the promised new ambulances will arrive in Gibraltar?

1490 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am informed that an ambulance had an issue with a battery overheating but at no time did the ambulance catch fire.

1495 As the hon. Member will be aware, there are delays with the delivery of all vehicles for reasons unrelated to Gibraltar. Notwithstanding, I am pleased to report that we expect the arrival of the new ambulances in the first quarter of 2023.

1500 Hon. E J Phillips: Thank you for the answer. Just in relation to Question 576 and the answer the Minister gave, have there been any concerns expressed by paramedics or drivers of these new ambulances in relation to the technical aspects? The Opposition are reliably informed that they have expressed some concerns to the Ministry, or at least those who are responsible for this area.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am not aware of any concerns being expressed by anyone in relation to these ambulances.

1505

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q577/2022

Prescriptions –

Number of people paying due to change in policy

Clerk: Question 577/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health confirm how many people are now required to pay for their own prescriptions in light of the change in prescription policy at the GHA?

1510

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):

1515

Mr Speaker, the GHA have no data and no method of collecting data with respect to patients who have elected to continue with medicines the GHA no longer supports. The vast majority of patients have transferred successfully to alternative medication which both clinicians and patients have been content with.

1520

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I receive a number of representations almost on a monthly basis, and I am sure the Hon. Minister does as well, in relation to those particularly vulnerable individuals from low income families who are very concerned about the escalating costs of some of these prescriptions that they require. I know there is an internal debate as to whether they are a requirement or more generic medicine can be supplied insofar as the ailment. What can the Minister say, in terms of reassuring those members of the public who come to me, and indeed must come to him, about their access to these things? They are finding it very difficult to make ends meet when it comes to some of these prescription costs, which are very significantly different to what they were before.

1525

1530

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, again, to put these things into context, there are 67 people who have made an application to the committee to have their cases reconsidered. Thirty of those have been approved and accepted, there are 30 that have not and there are seven that are pending. So before we create this huge turmoil in relation to this issue, there are actually very few. Obviously, as time goes by, we may get a couple more. Most of them have been dealt with and mostly in the more senior members of our community.

1535

In order for the committee to accept the change, there has to be the support of the clinician. It is not just a case of saying, 'I prefer that one,' or 'I like this one.' There has to be a clinical reason as to why you cannot change. There are instances where people have accepted the medicine and then had an adverse reaction, it has gone back to the committee, they have reversed it and it has been accepted; so it is fluid – and there are some that have not been accepted for good reason.

1540

If you look at the formulary which is being used to decide which medicines are on and which medicines are off, it is a very extensive amount of work that went into deciding which ones were and which ones were not. It was not a simple mathematical with a pound sign on it calculation. The guidance from the NHS was used, the UK formulary was used, NHS guidance and NICE guidance, in particular technology appraisals were used. The British National Formulary editions 82, 84 guidance notes have been used. Three major reference formularies in England have been used; consultation with local – in Gibraltar – medical consultants, both visiting and based in the

1545

1550 GHA; consultation with other key health professionals, local practice preferences; and another factor, the cost of alternatives and availability. So the cost is one of eight or nine different points that were considered in arriving at this formulary.

1555 So my answer would be the vast majority, 99%, have transitioned with very little difficulty. Some have ... we are dealing with those, and where there is a genuine problem, we are seeking to help and support them either transition or revert and stick to the medication that was working better for them. At the end of the day, it is the patient's needs that count and that is what the committee is very much focusing on. I hope that helps.

1560 Hon. E J Phillips: That is an extremely helpful answer and I think it will reassure members of the public – particularly the senior members of the public who have difficulty with paying for these, which sometimes amounts to £100-£150 a month and for those in their senior years on limited pensions it can be the difference between ... I am only [inaudible] but there is a difference, so I am grateful for that answer.

1565 Just one aspect. It appears from the statistic that the Minister helpfully gave me that just under 40% have already been approved insofar as dispensation is concerned over that cost. Is there a discretionary element to the approach as well? I know that there are seven pending, for instance. Is there a discretionary element that takes into consideration means, as well as the other clinical tests that the hon. Gentleman set out?

1570 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, there is a Drugs and Therapeutics Committee which considers each case. They look at the recommendation of the consultants or the GP who is looking after the patient, as well as representations from patients themselves. So, yes.

Q578/2022

Verbal or threatening physical abuse of GHA staff – Number of complaints

Clerk: Question 578/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

1575 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state the number of complaints received in respect of verbal or threatening physical abuse occasioned by members of the public towards GHA staff in 2022 so far?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1580 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, there have been 66 complaints received in respect of verbal or threatening physical abuse recorded in 2022 across the entire GHA and its services. Forty seven of these complaints were in respect of verbal abuse and 19 in respect of physical abuse. The location of the incidents of physical abuse was as follows. Community Mental Health: Coaling Island, one; Ocean Views, eight; and St Bernard's Hospital, 10.

1585 There were four occasions when police were called. Two were for physical abuse and another two for incidents where the patient made threats towards staff. As the GHA and Government have publicly stated, any form of abuse to our dedicated staff at the GHA will not be tolerated and will be reported for process.

1590 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I think everyone in this House will not tolerate abuse of our medical professionals, and there should be zero tolerance of that.

1595 Just one question that follows from that. Of course we have had incidents in the past where very significant physical harm has been attributed to a medical professional. I think we all know that particular case. I just wanted to know whether any security measures had been reviewed, particularly given the fact that the majority of those physical abuses seem to happen at St Bernard's Hospital. I appreciate that some of the situations arise in the context of mental health, where it is very sensitive and very difficult, but mostly people are trained to deal with these incidents. Has the Minister undertaken a review of the security arrangements at this particular institution so that we can try to mitigate the potential for physical violence against our GHA staff?

1600

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, this is one of the issues that we are looking at in terms of the current incumbents as porters, as to whether there can be better, more effective use made of them, as well as potentially an entry system, some form of registration system. These are part of the plans in the review that we are working our way through, and this is one of the areas that is also being looked at, yes.

1605

Q579/2022

Children aged 16 and under seen by GPs at PCC –
Number in 2022

Clerk: Question 579/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, in 11 months in 2021, 11,900 children aged 16 and under were seen by GPs at the PCC. Does the Government have the statistic for 2022 so far?

1610

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
Mr Speaker, the number of children aged 16 and under seen by GPs at the Primary Care Centre between January and November 2022 was 10,488.

1615

Q580/2022

Radiology scans –
Number of people waiting over three months

Clerk: Question 580/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Minister for Health confirm how many people have waited over three months in 2022 for radiological scans, namely (i) X-rays, (ii) ultrasound, (iii) CT and (iv) MRI?

1620

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
Mr Speaker, I am informed that currently there are no patients who have waited over three months for a routine or urgent radiology investigation. If a patient has been scheduled beyond three months, it is because the scan is planned and intended to be performed at a specific interval, for example a follow-up scan.

1625

1630 Hon. E J Phillips: This question might slightly go out of the remit, but insofar as MRI ... If the Minister cannot answer it, I am happy to maybe deal with this separately with him in correspondence, or indeed raise it as a different question next time, but is the Minister aware of the potential donation of an MRI scanner from the prostate cancer charity and whether or not that has been accepted or rejected? It is just something that came to me from a constituent.

1635 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I do not believe that information is correct. I am happy to have a discussion, because I know some parts of what the hon. Member is referring to, but I do not believe that is correct.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q581/2022

Gibraltar residents receiving treatment for cancer – Numbers by type of cancer

1640 Clerk: Question 581/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state how many people registered with the GHA and normally resident in Gibraltar are receiving treatment for cancer locally or with tertiary providers abroad, broken down into cancer type?

1645

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the number of people currently receiving treatment for cancer locally and in tertiary centres is as follows: brain, two; breast, 86 – if the hon. Member wants me to slow down, I will; gynaecology, 29; head and neck, 10; lower gastrointestinal, 49; lung, 31; melanoma, six; sarcoma, three; skin, non-melanoma, five; unknown primary – which is the place the cancer began is not known – four; upper gastrointestinal and hepato-pancreatic biliary, 12; urology, 42; and haematology, 11.

1655

Hon. E J Phillips: To clarify, those are individuals treated locally and by tertiary providers abroad, so that is the total combination of figures?

I am grateful for that answer. I think we will digest those and probably come back with further questions next time. Thank you.

Q582/2022

Gibraltar residents receiving treatment for heart or respiratory disease – Numbers by type

1660 Clerk: Question 582/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state how many people registered with the GHA and normally resident in Gibraltar are receiving treatment for (i) heart disease, or (ii) respiratory disease locally or with tertiary providers, broken down, in respect of heart disease, to acquired or congenital heart disease, or in respect of respiratory disease type?

1665

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):

1670 Mr Speaker, 974 patients are receiving treatment for heart-related diseases and 1,596 patients are receiving treatment for respiratory-related diseases, broken down as follows: asthma, 1,254; chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), 414; bronchiectasis, 68; emphysema, 44; pulmonary hypertension, five; pulmonary fibrosis, one.

1675 It is important to note that there are a number of patients who are under more than one of the disease groups described and therefore the numbers will not add up.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister. I think these are extremely interesting statistics about the state of health of those being treated by our providers, but also tertiary providers in Spain. I think the alarming figures in relation to heart disease and particularly 1680 respiratory disease are very significant.

One of the things we have debated in this House is the risk in the quality of our air and the impact it has on young lungs and the adult population. I wonder, has there been any assessment? There have been recent cases in the United Kingdom that have gone to the High Court and have attributed young deaths, for instance, to air pollution. Is there any data or any assessment as to 1685 the epidemiology of these particular diseases and how they have come about? It would be helpful to understand where respiratory disease ... Is it connected to, for instance, diabetes, which is a significant burden on our Health Service? But is this also related to lifestyle, particularly smoking, prevalence of smoking or indeed air pollution? I wonder whether the Minister might be a bit more helpful as to that. I know the Health Lifestyle Studies document is yet to be published in this 1690 regard, but it would be helpful just to have a bit more data in relation to that.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think on the basis of this number, in both heart related and respiratory related, I would not jump to any conclusions, for the same reason that we discussed in this Parliament before, which is that 970 patients for heart-related diseases ... we immediately 1695 jump to the conclusion that those are the more serious ones. It could be somebody having a statin because they have a heart disease which requires a statin pill to be taken every day. So I think yes, at first shot they would appear to be high. We are doing, as part of the review to understand exactly what are the issues and whether they are not just high this year but where have they been in the past, so a comparison to understand what the normal levels are, because we do not know
1700 what they are to be able to compare them to these. Also, in doing that, you have to dive deeper into what the actual ailments are, to see whether we do have an unusual problem or this is normal.

Do not forget that when you talk about numbers of people using the GHA, we are not just talking about the 32,000 resident population. We are also talking about other entitled people who work here but do not live here and are also entitled to have GHA treatment. These numbers cover 1705 those too, so you are not talking about 32,000, you are talking about 45,000. All of these things have to be put into context before we can arrive at any conclusions as to what the impact is, or is not.

I would say what I said to the Hon. Leader of the Opposition last time we discussed numbers in this Parliament: great care needs to be taken with numbers not to jump to the obvious 1710 conclusion, which may be wrong. Work is going on to better understand the numbers, with the first step of diving deeper into what those actually are, how many of these heart diseases are serious, and the same with respiratory, and then what are the things that are causing them and can we do anything to help in that cycle.

So there is work going on. Obviously, the Director of Public Health is also involved on the 1715 respiratory side, in terms of the environment and everything else, which is important work too. What I would say is that we are fully aware of the numbers and there is work going on to see what, if anything, we should be doing more of now.

1720 Hon. E J Phillips: I am very grateful for that answer. Again, I think these are important questions for our community and I am grateful for the answers from the Minister.

1725 I think insofar as respiratory disease in particular and the high level, the significant proportion of those afflicted with this condition – 1,254 – have asthma. Potentially, and we are not experts but it is likely to be driven by environmental factors so far as those figures are concerned. You have mentioned the environment insofar as the Director General’s position and what he is doing within our community to drive that down, but isn’t the answer in Public Health? The only way our community can drive down the cost of health – and I am sure he will agree with this position – is to attempt to deal with lifestyle, health and the environment, so that we ultimately drive down the cost. Otherwise, healthcare will continue to escalate for many years to come and become uncontrollable. I know the Minister understands that and I know that his predecessor, Mr Costa, 1730 in his time in this House, understood that. I wonder what the Government is doing – my question is really focused on asthma prevention treatment – and, in particular, what is the Director General advising in respect of asthma?

1735 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I would not be able to answer that question now because I do not want to give an answer that is in any way inaccurate. From my recollection of my regular meeting with the Director General, I may well fall foul of that, so I will be happy to write to him and give him more information in terms of what is being planned and programmed, not just with the DG but also with the Director of Public Health.

1740 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q583/2022
Defective PPE –
Progress to recover sums expended

Clerk: Question 583/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

1745 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state what progress it has made to recover the sums expended on defective or otherwise faulty PPE in respect of Gibraltar’s COVID-19 response?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1750 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, as my colleague Minister Balban confirmed in July 2020, all PPE purchased by the GHA was compliant, with the exception of two consignments. Although the two consignments were not compliant with the FFP3 standard for use by clinicians, they were appropriate to be used by visitors to the Hospital and were consequently deployed at the entrance for this purpose. The cost of both consignments was reduced by over 70%, ensuring that the GHA paid the cost of 1755 normal face coverings and not FFP3 standard.

Hon. E J Phillips: So to be clear, 70% of the cost that was paid out for these face masks was recovered by the Government directly from their own arrangements, never paid?

1760 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q584/2022
Mental health budget –
Breakdown of spending

Clerk: Question 584/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

1765 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, further to Q282/2022, the Minister confirmed to me in writing that £1,483,238.47 of the total mental health budget was attributed to counselling/psychologists and psychiatrists. Can the Minister now confirm how the balance of the £5.7 million mental health budget, less the £1.4 million-odd, is spent?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1770 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I am now handing over a schedule to the hon. Member.

Answer to Q584/2022

GIBRALTAR HEALTH AUTHORITY - MENTAL HEALTH EXPENDITURE (excluding Consultants)	ESTIMATES 2022/23
	£
Recurrent Payments
Personal Emoluments
(1) Salaries	2,516,749
(2) Overtime:
(i) Conditioned	13,451
(ii) Emergency	0
(iii) Manning Level Maintenance	6,724
(iv) Discretionary	0
(3) Allowances	182,131
(4) Gratuities	0
(5) Employer's Social Insurance Contributions	181,440
(6) Employer's Pension Contributions	304,043
Industrial Wages
(7) Basic Wages	290,388
(8) Overtime:
(i) Conditioned	0
(ii) Emergency	0
(iii) Manning Level Maintenance	0
(iv) Discretionary	0
(9) Allowances	805
(10) Employer's Social Insurance Contributions	37,580
(11) Employer's Pension Contributions	12,860

Answer to Q584/2022

GIBRALTAR HEALTH AUTHORITY - MENTAL HEALTH EXPENDITURE (excluding Consultants)	ESTIMATES 2022/23
	€
Other Recurrent Expenditure
(12) Relief Cover	0
(13) Visiting Consultants Fees and Expenses and Other Contracted Medical Services	0
(14) Recruitment Expenses	0
(15) General Expenses	0
(16) Electricity and Water	136,061
(17) Telephone Service	0
(18) Printing and Stationery	2,468
(19) Computer and Office Equipment Expenses	0
(20) Postage Expenses	0
(21) GPMS Prescriptions	0
(22) Drugs and Pharmaceuticals	0
(23) Medical Departments	7,520
(24) Medical and Surgical Appliances	0
(25) Uniforms and Protective Clothing	0
(26) Patients Appliances	0
(27) Dressings, Aids, Medical Gases and Tests	0
(28) Provisions	7,955
(29) Laundry Expenses	0
(30) Cleaning Expenses	49,320
(31) Transport Expenses	0
(32) Fuel and Gas	0
(33) Compensation and Legal Costs	0
(34) Official Visits and Functions	0
(35) School of Health Studies Expenses	0
(36) Insurance Expenses	0
(37) Sponsored Patients	179,116
(38) Dialysis	0
(39) Rents and Service Charges	0
(40) Registration Board	0
(41) Repairs and Maintenance	0
(42) Disposal of Clinical Waste	124,673
(43) Techno-Medical Services provided by GEA	0
(44) Other Maintenance Agreements	144,413
(45) Contribution to Gibraltar Development Corporation - Staff Services (i)	0
(46) Fire Prevention	0
(47) Ex-Gratia Payments	0
Rentals:
(48) Europort Paediatric Centre	0
(49) Europort PCC - New Build	0
(50) Information Management & Technology - Europort	0
(51) Finance & Procurement Europort	0
(52) Hospital Rental	0
Contracted Services:
(53) Security Services	0
(54) Upkeep of Planted Areas	0
(55) Radio Communication System - Gibtelecom Ltd	0

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, if I can perhaps digest the schedule and, if I have a question, come back to it, and we can get on with the rest of the questions, I would be grateful.

Q585/2022

Withdrawal of cheques –
Reason for implementation in Gibraltar

Clerk: Question 585/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

1775

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm that the Gibraltar Bankers' Association consulted it on the withdrawal of cheques by 31st December 2023; and, if so, why does it agree this should occur in Gibraltar before the United Kingdom, where this was shelved due to objections from stakeholders?

1780

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, His Majesty's Government of Gibraltar has indeed been consulted by the Gibraltar Bankers' Association on this matter and I can confirm that the Government fully supports this initiative. HMGoG will continue to work closely with the Gibraltar Bankers' Association on this matter in order to ensure a smooth transition over the next 12 months and to work with any sector that requires assistance during this period.

1785

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the Minister's answer. Is the Minister aware of the House of Commons Treasury Committee having opened an inquiry in February 2010? The result was that the idea that had been floated to abolish cheques by 2018 was actually shelved and that, I quote, 'cheques will continue for as long as customers need them'.

1790

To what extent is the Minister satisfied that all stakeholders have been consulted? In the United Kingdom, charities in particular were vocal against the abolition of cheques because that would affect their cashflow. We have all seen in the local paper that whenever there is a charitable donation there is a great big cheque prepared, which everybody stands in front of. To what extent is the Minister satisfied that that sector will be protected? And can the Minister comment as to what the motivation for this is? There are now image-scanning and processing systems which speed up the clearing of cheques, so what is it that is driving the banks to abandon the cheques, whereas obviously in the UK they have not been able to?

1795

1800

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, obviously the hon. Member is aware, as a former banker, that those big cheques presented on GBC Open Day are not taken to the bank and money given in value for them. Well, they could be, but I think they are not, and I think he would accept that they are not. (Interjection)

1805

There is an enormous difference between the United Kingdom and Gibraltar, especially in this. Why? Because in the United Kingdom, cheques are cleared by a central clearing agency on behalf of all of the banks. That same clearing system was withdrawn in Gibraltar, so today there is no clearing system for cheques in Gibraltar. The only way that banks that issue cheques can clear them is by physically sitting around a desk with representatives from each bank once a week, twice a week – every day, as it used to be – to clear those cheques by swapping cheques with each other.

1810

The Bankers' Association has long sought to move away from cheques. Cheques are used less and less frequently. They are not accepted in most places, and certainly most retail shops in Gibraltar – I have not seen one presented there for a very long time – and so it was the obvious step in terms of going to the next level. Let the banks work more efficiently through the more traditional methods of payment, primarily through cards.

1815

As I said in my answer, if there are specific associations – for example, charities – that require help, we will sit down with the banks and find a solution that works for them, but to keep a system going within our banks that does not work for the banks and requires them to go to extreme cost

1820

on a regular basis, every week, to sit round a table and pass cheques from one to the other, does not appear to be the right way forward.

1825 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, of course I understand what he is saying and I am happy to be corrected, but I thought cheque clearing had long since left Gibraltar ... than they have done in the UK, in any case, certainly in terms of electronic scanning of images, so in that sense I do not see any cost or great efficiency gains. I can appreciate the banks will want to abandon what is a very old system of payment going back to Victorian days, but can the Minister advise ...? The GBA
1830 did say in their statement they had consulted stakeholders. Is he aware of whom they consulted?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I know they engaged with a number of different associations. I am not sure which ones those were. I would not be able to say with any degree of certainty every single association they talked to. I believe they made some public statements as well, inviting 1835 comments from the general public at large, and I think they also obviously consulted with Government on the proposed steps and the timeline. There is 12 months until this happens, so there is plenty of time to find the problem areas and seek to address them.

Hon. R M Clinton: If I may, one last supplementary, Mr Speaker, just to bring to the Minister's 1840 attention a comment that was made to me by a signatory to an association. I would interested to hear what the Minister's thoughts would be. Most associations require two signatories to a cheque. I appreciate in bigger organisations, where there are more sophisticated banking payments, you can have somebody who sets up the payment, somebody else who releases it and somebody else who authorises it, but in a small club or an association where they rely on the 1845 control of two signatories on a cheque ... What comfort are the associations going to be able to get without having to obtain an expensive banking system?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am sure that electronic banking has facilities to enable two people to authorise or approve. It may not be by co-signing a cheque, but I am sure there are electronic 1850 means of signifying consent to a payment transfer. I am sure that is already in place. But again, we will look at it with those affected or impacted by it over the next 12 months.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q586/2022
GHA clerks –
Employment company

1855 Clerk: Question 586/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Which company is employing clerks at the GHA?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1860 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the GHA has contracted specialist skills support through a local firm. This is specific and temporary. The GHA is not subcontracting clerks.

1865 Hon. D J Bossino: Can I drill down a bit further on the answer? He mentioned a specific firm. I said which company. Is it a limited company? And if so, can he provide details of the name of the limited company?

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker, it is MBS, which is a limited company.

1870 Hon. D J Bossino: I have done research on a company called Micro Business Systems Ltd. Is it that one? Is MBS the trading name? Could I have the name of the company?

Hon. A J Isola: I assume; I do not know. I have been given the name MBS. I assume it is one and the same – I assume.

1875 Hon. D J Bossino: Maybe if I write to him, he can confirm the position.

Why is this arrangement being entered into? He referred to a specialisation, I think, but the information that has come to me is that it is not a specialised service which they are providing. Basically, there are young individuals who are acting as clerks specifically – and I put it to him so I can give him an opportunity to answer – in the children PCC. Can he comment in relation to that?
1880 I have some further information which suggests that one of them was then assumed as part of the employment core of the GHA – started off with this company and then employed by the GHA.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, if somebody applies for a position – and I do not know this to be the case – and is working for someone else and then is successful in the position and moves over ...
1885 I do not know, but that would be a simple and logical explanation.

My information is that the people providing the support are doing things like scanning of medical records. There is a huge amount that requires to be scanned and that is why MBS – which is a technical company, I guess – is providing that support. That is my information.

1890 Hon. D J Bossino: So I imagine it is a bespoke service that they are providing. Can he provide further information as to ...? I assume there is some sort of contractual arrangement between the GHA and MBS. Can he provide details in relation to that – how long for, what the cost to the GA is, how many individuals are being employed to do the scanning jobs and for how long?

1895 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I said in my answer that it was specific and temporary. I do not have any more details on that, but I will be happy to find out and write to the hon. Member to inform him of those details.

Hon. D J Bossino: I did not quite catch the last bit, Mr Speaker.

1900 Mr Speaker: He will be writing to you with the details.

Hon. A J Isola: I do not have [Inaudible] there is a contract in place for what period. I will write to him and give him those details.

1905 Hon. D J Bossino: What is the rationale behind this? Is it because – I think I offered it to him in one of my supplementaries – that expertise is not available? Scanning documents does not seem to be a particularly arduous task – or is it that the complement of individuals they have there are busy doing other things? What is the thinking behind employing the services of this company?
1910

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the GHA does not have people who have free time on their hands to scan medical records, and obviously, rather than employ people and then have to keep them on after their job is finished, it makes much more sense to bring people in for a specific purpose for a short period of time under a contract and then move on.

Q587/2022
GHA vacant posts –
Number filled

1915 Clerk: Question 587/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many of the 54 vacant posts in the Gibraltar Health Authority arising from the answer to Q293/2022 had been filled at 13th December 2022?

1920 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I am informed by the GHA that further to Q293/2022, nine of these vacant posts had been filled. Additionally, a further nine posts have been advertised and 36 posts remain vacant with a view to progressing these in January 2023.

1930 Hon. K Azopardi: I am grateful to the Minister for giving me that answer. He gave me a long list, a helpful list – because he did not have it last time when I asked him that question – broken down by speciality. I am not going to go through all of those, because of course they are quite detailed. I just wonder how much he has got in front of him. For example, one of the pending vacancies on the list that he gave me in the letter in November was a diabetes nurse specialist, and I understand that ... Obviously, all of those posts are important functions, but in particular there is quite a need for that. Is that one of the posts that has been filled now?

1935 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am delighted to say yes, one vacancy has been filled and two vacancies have interviews scheduled for 10th January 2023.

1940 Hon. K Azopardi: Do I take it from that answer that the GHA intends to have three trained diabetes nurses in post by January 2023?

Hon. A J Isola: I am talking about within the Department. I am not sure if they are all diabetes nurse specialists. The diabetes nurse specialist vacancy has been filled and there are two others being interviewed on 10th January 2023.

1945 Hon. K Azopardi: I see, but does he have further information on that? On the list of 54 I could only see one diabetes nurse specialist. It was not obvious to me that anybody else fell into that category – although there might be, obviously. Does he have any information that would expand on that answer? And does he have any other information in relation to the filled posts that would help me also understand what exactly is being filled right now?

1950 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, if the hon. Member wants me to write to him with which of them have been filled, I will happily do that.

1955 In respect of the diabetes nurse specialist, that position has been filled, but there are two others, which may have been called something else within that Department, that are being interviewed on 10th January. I think that is the answer.

Hon. K Azopardi: And do I take it from the original answer he gave me that the plan would be that all these vacancies would have been filled by January 2023?

1960 Hon. A J Isola: No, Mr Speaker. The GHA, by the very nature of its size, with over 100 employees, will always have vacancies. People move in and people move out. The vacancies that the GHA believe are necessary for them to fill will be the first ones they move in on, as they 1965 have done since we spoke last, when 18 of those have been ... not removed, because nine have been filled and nine are pending interviews, but the balance of those will continue to be recruited in the order of priority the GHA has set for them. So they will get on with that in January. Will they finish them all, the 36 pending, by January? I do not know, but progress will begin in January on those pending ones.

1970 Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, that is what I was asking. I was not making the point that there will not be vacancies in January. I appreciate that with an entity as large as the GHA new vacancies will arise. I was just asking the question whether by January they are expecting to fill the vacancies or they are putting the motion in place by January for the rest of the 36 posts but do not expect them to be filled until later. That is really what I was asking.

1975 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think if one reflects in the context of what we are talking about – we are talking about a GHA with over 1,100 people employed – to have 36 vacancies at any one time is actually a very small percentage and one that most HR people in respective businesses would think is quite a low number of vacancies or positions open.

1980 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q588/2022
COVID self-isolation periods –
Review

Clerk: Question 588/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

1985 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, does the Government intend to review the current COVID self-isolation periods?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

1990 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the next Strategic Contingency Group meeting will take place on 31st January 2023, where a review of the current COVID self-isolation periods will be undertaken.

1995 Hon. K Azopardi: We will await, obviously, that review, but can I ask him, in advance of that review ...? There have been changes – for example in England, which now has quite distinct ... there are different periods now, clearly. That review took place months and months ago. What was the advice that was being received by the Government in relation to the factors in Gibraltar that withheld that review until late January next year?

2000 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am not familiar with the exact details of what those may or may not be, but the hon. Member may be aware that, for example, we have reintroduced masks to be worn within the Hospital. I think the situation, especially now, with the traditional winter, with the blend of influenza, the traditional influenza, with COVID and with other elements which we will discuss shortly ... there is reason to be a little bit cautious, and so I think the timing of this Strategic Contingency Group, on which I do not sit ... will consider all of the advice of the professionals and come back with their recommendations to Government as to what they think should be implemented. I do not want to pre-empt what those discussions may be by opining that we should or we should not. I think it is very much up to them and for us to be driven by what they advise us to do.

2005

Q589-90/2022

Strep A –

Number of cases diagnosed;
measures to increase awareness and actions when cases arise

Clerk: Question 589/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2010 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many strep A cases have been diagnosed in Gibraltar by Gibraltar Health Authority personnel at 13th December 2022?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

2015 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 590.

Clerk: Question 590/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2020 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what measures are the GHA taking to make the risks and symptoms of strep A better known in the community and what is it doing to deal with any cases that arise?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

2025 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, as at 13th December 2022 the Gibraltar Health Authority has diagnosed 55 cases of strep A.

2030 All strep A information has been made public by the Director of Public Health in relation to the signs and symptoms of streptococcal infection, including advice to parents. Information has also been sent to head teachers of schools, so that they are also aware of the signs and symptoms and exclusion periods required from school. The Care Agency have been briefed by the Director of Public Health, so that those caring for children in care are aware of the signs and symptoms also. The Director of Public Health has been working closely with many Departments across the GHA to ensure that all staff are aware of the signs and symptoms of group A streptococcal infection. This includes staff working in A&E, 111, the Primary Care Centre and Paediatrics.

2040 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am sure the hon. Member has seen there has been quite a lot of discussion in the UK about strep A, and some cases are mild but there have been a minority of very serious cases and, indeed, fatalities. I am sure he will join me in wishing that we ensure that information is disseminated in the community on the issue and that we do the utmost possible to make sure that all these cases are diagnosed and kept under control as much as possible.

2045 Can I ask him, does he have information about the age groups of the 55 cases? Does he have that information? Can he say whether, in addition to the steps they are taking, perhaps a campaign of public awareness on the symptoms would be useful?

2050 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think it is important to recognise that strep A is a common bacterial infection. Its impact on children is more regular because of the mixing that the natural children's behaviour will lead to, social mixing, and also because of the climate – we are in the winter. But I think, again to put it into perspective, there are zero cases in Gibraltar of invasive group A streptococcal, which is the infection that is so dangerous, and a key part of that, as he will know from what he has seen in the United Kingdom, is early intervention, looking at this and catching it early, which is why I mentioned earlier that the Director of Public Health has taken the steps she has to engage directly with all the different agencies, including the Department of Education and the Care Agency, that deal with children, to ensure that we can spot this early. In addition to that,

2055 press releases have already been issued informing the public and raising awareness within the public of what those symptoms are, so that parents also can be aware of what these are, to make sure we spot it early and ensure that we carry on to enjoy the good record of zero cases of invasive strep.

2060 I think we are doing well. I do not have any of the details of the ages, but most of them, I think, are younger. From January to August, so eight months of this year, there were 31 cases, and from September to December, a far shorter period, there have been 24, so the propensity in the cold of winter is far higher than it is in the rest of the period. I hope that helps.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q591/2022

Emergency response –

Measures under consideration re Coroner's recommendations

2065 Clerk: Question 591/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what measures are being considered by the GHA in response to the recommendations made by the Coroner in relation to the recent case of an emergency response in a case where a 36-year-old man died?

2070

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):

2075 Mr Speaker, as confirmed by the Director General in his interview with GBC last Friday, I can confirm that further to the Coroner's recommendations, these have been welcomed and will be adopted by the GHA. The Director General is currently considering the steps required to give effect to these recommendations.

2080 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am sure the hon. Member will agree that this was a serious case. Some of the facts that emerged in the Coroner's inquiry were that the first responders sent were not trained to fully assist the patient in cardiac arrest, the second ambulance was dispatched and sent to the wrong address, and then, by the time paramedics attended, 22 minutes after the collapse, the person had suffered irreversible brain damage. I am sure everyone in this House joins me in saying that this is an incident we would not want to be repeated and we would want the recommendations of the Coroner to take effect as much as possible. With the seriousness of the case in mind, has the Minister spoken to the CEO about the importance of the immediacy of any recommendations being implemented?

2090 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, as I mentioned in my answer, the work the GHA will do and the strategy they are preparing will go beyond the recommendations of the Coroner.

2095 I think ever since this incident happened, the GHA has been working very closely with the Gibraltar Fire and Rescue Service to make improvements immediately, but of course the improvements are more fundamental than at first blush. It will require a number of steps to be taken to get to where we want to get. Hence my mention of the strategy being designed by the Director General, because we are going to be working in a slightly different way moving forward with GFRS, with the GHA, with those answering the phones and those responding, as well as the use of technology in how these are recorded, to ensure that there is a more efficient system of communicating with ambulances to avoid, precisely, wrong addresses being given. So there are a significant number of steps that require to be taken, which the GHA is working with the GFRS and 2100 the Police to put in place, which will address all of the Coroner's recommendations and go beyond them as well.

At this moment in time I do not want to go any further than that in terms of what those details could be, but I would be very happy to share them with the hon. Member as and when we are in a position to firm these up in very early January.

2105

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Marlene Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

2110 I would just like to pick up a point that the Hon. Minister just made, that obviously they are talking and working with the GFRS, because clearly the GFRS is the agency that takes the calls initially, from what I understand. My question is: is it on the cards that they might extract this extra layer of GFRS? From what I understand, this extra layer can tend to cause inefficiency, so if we did not have this extra layer, would we be more efficient and more robust as an emergency service?

2115

2120 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the system we have in place has been operating well for many years. I do not think anybody should draw any conclusions from what the hon. Lady has said, that anybody has or has not done a good enough job or has not been doing what they are meant to have done. What I am talking about is accepting the recommendations of the Coroner and going beyond those to revisit everything in how we manage, from the call to the collection of that patient in an ambulance and delivery to hospital, to ensure that we get a far better service than we have had in the past with the use of working close together, using technology and getting everybody around the table to find what is the best possible service for Gibraltar. I do not want to go into what the details of that will or will not look like, for the reasons I have already explained to the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition, but as and when we are ready I certainly will.

2125

2130 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, if I could just clarify for the hon. Gentleman, I never said that people were not doing their job or delivering a good service; I just know that it is an ongoing debate that this extra layer can add to the time lapse and inefficiencies. I just wanted an update, because I have asked in the House before as to whether it is a live consideration. I am not suggesting that anybody is doing a bad job. On the contrary, I think these are the restrictions that we have, despite everybody doing a good job.

2135 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, we will adhere closely to the advice of the professionals in coming to the best conclusions we believe are appropriate for looking after this very important facility in Gibraltar.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q592/2022

Digital services –

Money spent in each year from 2017 to 2022

2140 Clerk: Question 592/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how much money has been spent on (1) hardware, (2) software, (3) personnel, (4) equipment, (5) contracted services and (6) consultants in connection with the computer or information technology infrastructure of the Government or its digital systems or 2145 e-Government services over each of the financial years 2017-18, 2018-19, 2019-21 and 2021-22, broken down by financial year and by each of the six individual items in the question?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

2150 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, it is not possible to answer the question to the level of detail requested by the hon. Member in the time available. I will revert to him with an answer as soon as the information can be compiled and he has clarified the heads of expenditure requested in order to provide a full answer, because of the overlap it causes in terms of the six items he has detailed. The work requires the Department to go through each and every single head over that period of time, and 2155 to have a clear understanding of the heads requested I would require to speak to the hon. Member to get clarification.

2160 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I would be happy to give that clarification. I do not understand what I need to clarify but I will speak to the hon. Member and do that, and perhaps he can indicate to me, once we have that conversation behind the Speaker's Chair – I suppose in the tea break – how long he needs to do that process. Not long, he says. Okay.

2165 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think if you look at contracted services and consultants, a consultant is a contracted service, so there is an overlap. If you look at equipment, you can have hardware equipment, so there is an overlap. Bearing in mind we need to trawl back and find out into which of those heads each item of expenditure may drop, if that is not clear then we have not got a chance.

2170 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I am conscious that you have been in the Chair without moving for three and a quarter hours, and I wonder whether this might be a convenient moment to take the tea break that the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has just referred to, for 15 minutes until 6.30.

Mr Speaker: The House will now recess to 6.30.

The House recessed at 6.15 p.m. and resumed at 6.32 p.m.

Q593-95/2022

AquaGib –

Plans re staffing levels; permanent solution re supply; maintenance of reserves following Power's Drive tunnel fire

2175 Clerk: We continue with Answers to Questions.
Question 593/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2180 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: What plans does Government have for staffing levels in AquaGib once it renationalises water supplies locally in the form of taking the company into public ownership next year?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

2185 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 594 and 595.

Clerk: Question 594/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2190 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: When will a permanent solution to the water supply be completed?

Clerk: Question 595/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2195 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Has Government carried out an investigation into the maintenance of water reserves following the Power's Drive tunnel fire?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

2200 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, Government has no plans to change anything at AquaGib at this time and will review all operational matters with management as and when it completes its purchase.

The Power's Drive tunnel has now been made safe for the permanent pipework to be installed. This will commence in January 2023 and be completed by March 2023.

2205 AquaGib is preparing a strategic proposal to the board for its quarter 1 board meeting, detailing its plans for the long-term future of its water reserves. The water reserves as at the day of the question stood at the maximum level of 72 million litres, which demonstrates a significant improvement in the position since last summer's incident, when they fell to 12.7 million litres.

2210 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, if I can just pick up some supplementaries – they are all over, because of the three questions. Firstly, why did the Government decide to renationalise in the first place, even before it could place a figure on the cost of renationalisation?

2215 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, for the reasons I set out in detail in my Budget speech. The issue of price is a calculation, it is not a negotiation issue. I also set out some parameters of that in respect of my address at the time of the Appropriation Bill.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Is the Chief Minister saying that these figures have been laid out already and I may have missed them, or that it is not possible to divulge them?

2220 Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, that it is an accounts issue. It is a calculation based on accounts. The hon. Lady has to go back and look at what I said.

2225 The contract with AquaGib has come to an end. It was a 30-year contract and at the end of that contract the structure of the contract was such that the assets returned to the Government. There is a calculation to be done as to how much has been invested or has not been invested by AquaGib in keeping with the terms of the contract and based on the accounts of the company. So it is not a straightforward negotiation like a horse trade – what is this worth or what is that not worth – it is that all of the assets come back to the Government as a result of the operation of the contract from 30 years ago. In fact, it was extended for a short period, I think, because of COVID. We made the decision to not further extend, to take back the assets and to therefore buy those shares which 2230 are in the company – the assets are separate from the company – and the price is based on any investment that has been made over and above the assets that are available. This is set out in the contract. It is a calculation that has to be done between the parties, not so much a horse-trading negotiation.

2235 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I thank the Chief Minister for his explanation.

Can I just ask the Hon. Minister if he actually answered the question about an investigation into the maintenance? I know he said they are at top level now, but has there been an investigation to date, or will there be one?

2240 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I am not sure what the hon. Lady means by an investigation. What I have said in my answer is that the works in relation to the tunnel are now safe to be able to start, as a result of investigations we have made into the tunnels, in January. It will be finished by March. I have also said that AquaGib is preparing a strategic proposal to the board for its first meeting in Q1 of next year, detailing its plans for the long-term future of the strategic reserves of water in 2245 Gibraltar. The question is about investigation into the maintenance of water reserves. (Interjection by Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon) Yes, but I think I have answered that question. If it is something that I have not, I would be happy to have another go. Can I just add, are you referring to lessons learnt?

2250 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Yes.

Hon. A J Isola: Okay. That will happen, but that will happen when we have dealt with all of the issues arising from the incident itself. There are claims with insurers and stuff which would get in the way of having a full and frank lessons-learnt exercise carried out, which will happen later down the road when that is completed.
2255

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Roy Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker.
2260 Can I ask the Minister ...? He mentioned the figure of 12.7 million litres. I presume that was just before the fire. I am happy to be corrected.

Hon. A J Isola: Twelve point seven is the lowest it reached.

2265 Hon. R M Clinton: Right. That would have been after the fire, yes?

Hon. A J Isola: Yes.

Hon. R M Clinton: And does he know what the level was before the fire?
2270

Hon. A J Isola: I think we have answered that question before in Parliament, Mr Speaker. I think it was around 24 million or 25 million litres.

2275 Hon. R M Clinton: I am grateful to the Minister. And is there, or was there a recommended minimum level of reserves for AquaGib to maintain at all times?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I think we have been through this before because I have actually detailed to this House that in previous years over the summer we have watched very carefully the level of water reserves to ensure that we had sufficient capacity. This year we were on track, as 2280 we had been in previous years, to have no issues at all during the summer. Obviously the knockout of almost the entire production of water during that time is what caused the problem with insufficient water to lose pressure, which is what caused the problem.

2285 Mr Speaker, only this week it was on the news, yesterday evening, that ... I think Tunbridge Wells is basically having seven days without any water at all. So I think this thinking that we should never, ever have a difficulty with water is a desire but in the real world it is not always possible, and although we have to work to attain that by ensuring we have better reserves and perhaps more diversified production of water, which is where the January Q1 board meeting of 2023 will 2290 go, I think we will be in a much more resilient position. But perfection, unfortunately, does not exist, so even in the UK this week there are areas that have zero water, and in fact the complaint was that they were not even providing the community with bottled water, which obviously we did very successfully and I am grateful to AquaGib and all the other teams that managed to do that during our difficulties in the summer.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q596/2022
Ocean Views –
Structured activities

2295 Clerk: Question 596/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: What programme of structured activities is in place for patients at Ocean Views?

2300 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, there is a much varied programme of structured activities for patients at Ocean Views. These services aim to improve and decrease reliance on medication and substitute with exercise, mindfulness, yoga and patient-specific activities designed to meet assessed needs. These activities vary from time to time based on the needs of the users.

2305 A wider range of other social activities include bowling, swimming and attending GFA football matches; social gatherings for morning coffee and lunch at restaurants, where the patients are able to order their food and manage their expenditure, which is part of their rehabilitation; arts and crafts; cooking, working towards being self-sufficient when discharged; cinema outings and attending our community social events, for example the Christmas lights, Calentita Night, the fair, National Day events, etc.

2310 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I think the Minister has described a reality that the user certainly has not experienced. I even suspect that the Minister himself may actually think that this has taken place, but I can assure him it has not because a user has reported, unfortunately, one activity, of all the ones he mentions, in two months. So my question is, what has happened with the activities co-ordinator the Authority was supposed to hire to be in charge of organising these activities? I can assure him they are not taking place and I am sure I do not have to tell him how crucial these activities are for the sake of these patients' mental health.

2320 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, that particular user has had one activity within the last two months, which is what the hon. Lady is being told. That does not mean that nobody else has had any other activities which they may have chosen to do. If the hon. Lady chooses to write to me and give me details of that, I will very happily look into it.

2325 Some of the activities I describe are only possible at certain times. For example, there are not GFA football matches every day, we do not have the Christmas lights every day, we do not have the Calentita Night every day, we do not have National Day events every day, but they occur at different times of the year. They are available as and when they occur, but obviously not every day.

2330

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I have to say the Minister is always very helpful to me for my constituents whenever I write, and I am grateful for that.

2335 This information came to me very recently and I just want to ask him ... I appreciate what he has come back with, but if you take this average user who has been there for two months and that user has experienced one event, one activity, it is pretty poor. I want to ask the Minister again for the answer to a question that he has not answered, which is are we getting an activities co-ordinator? I think that is key in order for the delivery of these activities to actually take place.

2340 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, it is very difficult to conclude from one user what happens at Ocean Views. We do not know what the circumstances are of that user, we do not know what activities that user can or cannot do, we do not know if there are any restrictions in respect of that user, so I do not think it would be helpful to label the entirety of Ocean Views with not providing activities at all because one user has had a particular experience in the last two months.

2345 I would repeat what I said to the hon. Lady. If the hon. Lady writes to me with specifics, I will very happily look into it and come back to her with either an explanation as to what has happened or could have happened, or other information that may be of use to my hon. Friend in respect of her dealings with her constituent.

2350 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker, and I will write, but can I please ask the Minister, for the third time, about the co-ordinator for activities?

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I have answered the question. I am not sure what co-ordinator the hon. Lady is referring to.

2355

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I am sorry if this does not sound like a question, but I accept his comment and I will write to him in due course. Thank you.

Q597/2022

Vaccination programme – By whom delivered this season

Clerk: Question 597/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2360 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Is this season's vaccination programme carried out directly by the GHA or has it been outsourced?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

2365 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, the GHA practice nurses from the Primary Care Centre have delivered this season's immunisation programme for children, the clinically vulnerable, long-stay GHA and ERS patients, as well as healthcare workers. To assist in the delivery of the major vaccination programme in the short window of time available, for healthy individuals over 50 years of age the GHA has sought temporary support from a local service provider.

2370

The GHA will next year seek to commence the vaccination programme at an earlier date, as the combination of cold and influenza vaccinations has delayed the process considerably – and COVID, obviously.

2375 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, can I ask the Minister whether there was a tender process for the outsourcing of the vaccination drive this season; and also, if there is a cost, if he can give us how much it has cost us to do so?

2380 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I will happily give that information to the hon. Lady. I do not have information as to whether it was put out to tender. I know the firm that was used is one that assisted us with the COVID vaccinations, the same firm that we contracted after a tender to do those vaccinations, and I think it is the same firm. I am thinking it ceases on 22nd December, which is tomorrow. I would need to come back to her in terms of what the cost of that has been. I will happily write to her and give her that information.

Q598-99/2022

Primary Care Centre appointments –
Number of new appointments and whether being filled

2385 Clerk: Question 598/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: How many new monthly appointments are being rolled out at the PCC and are they being filled?

2390 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 599.

2395 Clerk: Question 599/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: In the last three months, stating month by month, how many PCC appointments have been obtained (1) by phone, (2) online or (3) in person?

2400 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, as was stated in the GHA press release announcing the new booking system, 2,123 new monthly appointments are being rolled out at the PCC. All appointments offered are normally taken up.

2405 In the last three months, the number of PCC appointments obtained can be broken down as follows. Online, in September there were 644, in October there were 944 and in November there were 1,604. In respect of telephone, in September, 8,874; October, 8,906; and November, 9,270. The GHA does not offer booking GP appointments in person. However, if a patient does turn up needing urgent medical care, the GHA would accommodate their healthcare needs.

2410 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, just to pick up on the last thing the Minister said about emergency needs, now that there is not an on-call GP doctor, what actually happens when somebody has to be seen outside of hours – palliative patients who need medication, elderly people who do not need hospital, people who need to be sectioned in mental health, and deaths? How is the lack of GPs on call impacting on the appointment system and on the general calling system for patients?

2415

Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I do not have that information available with me, but what I would say is the suggestion that we have fewer GPs is plainly wrong. I think we have now 33 GPs 2420 providing appointments at the Primary Care Centre. In 2011 I think there were close to 40% or maybe even 50% fewer, so the notion that we have fewer GPs now than before is simply not true.

I am very happy to get those numbers and those details and write to her, as well as answer the substance of the question as to how the GHA operates in terms of offering those services outside the primary care appointment system.

2425 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, can the Minister just confirm ...? Is he saying that there are on-call GPs or, from his new system, there are not – which is what I understood, and that was the concern – as well as to ask him why we still have complaints about users not being able to access appointments? I would like him to confirm if we do or do not have an on-call GP.

2430 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, I believe we do, but I am not able to confirm that now. I would need to check that with the GHA.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q600/2022
Rheumatology and orthopaedics waiting lists –
Current status

Clerk: Question 600/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2435

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: What are the current waiting lists at the GHA for (1) rheumatology, clinics and operations; and (2) orthopaedics, clinics and operations?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Health, Digital and Financial Services.

2440

Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola): Mr Speaker, as at the end of November 2022 the waiting lists were as follows. Rheumatology: clinics, 103; operations, zero. Orthopaedics: clinics, 926; operations, 473.

2445 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, it is my understanding that only a week ago, a patient came into the Hospital with a broken bone, needing theatre, and was delayed for two days because of the lack of orthopaedic surgeons. I understand a surgeon could not even be located at the time. I know that this is under investigation. I am not actually blaming the GHA, but I would ask the Minister if he thinks we could actually reduce waiting times by making sure that we had a better rota for the orthopaedic surgeons.

2450

I am genuinely trying to be constructive here with my question. Is the Minister aware of this situation? Does he think that perhaps orthopaedic surgeons who have a contract with the Hospital should be working a full day? From what I understand, a lot of the time they cannot be found, and that is quite a concern for patients and for the users and is something that leads to complications and ends up costing the Health Service a lot more.

2455

2460 Hon. A J Isola: Mr Speaker, the waiting list is too long. I accept that and I think we have had an exchange with the Leader of the Opposition, on behalf of the Hon. Mr Phillips when he was not here on the previous question, in the last couple of months. I also told the Hon. Leader of the Opposition at the time that we were hoping in the first quarter of next year to have reached some form of conclusion as to how we propose to tackle waiting lists, not just in orthopaedics but across all other disciplines in the Hospital.

2465 Plainly – again, putting it into context – there is not a single hospital in the world, I do not believe, that has not got waiting lists longer than they would like, because we would not like to have any, but as a result of COVID the waiting lists are much higher than they would normally have been before COVID. So there is a lot of work to be done, and that is what we are doing now, seeking to understand what is the problem and how we can improve going forward, but dealing with waiting lists almost like a separate ... In other words, how do we come up to date and then how do we work better moving forward? Those are the two exercises that are ongoing at the moment, and I hope to be able to report to this House in Q1 of next year on how we propose to start to do that.

2470 I accept that the waiting lists are too long. I am not aware of the incident the hon. Lady has referred to, but again, if she writes to me, I would be happy to look into it and come back to her with a response.

2475 Mr Speaker: Next question.

ENVIRONMENT, SUSTAINABILITY, CLIMATE CHANGE AND EDUCATION

Q601/2022

Learning support assistants – Number and distribution

Clerk: Question 601/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2480 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can Government provide details of how many learning support assistants are engaged in all schools, providing statistics showing their distribution among schools together with details of criteria used for allocating these learning support assistants in each school?

2485 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the number of special needs learning support assistants broken down by schools on the morning of 15th December was as follows. I will be giving two numbers for each school. The first will be the number of permanent SNSLAs and the second will be the number of non-permanent SNSLAs as of that morning: St Martin's School, 22 and 64; Notre Dame, 14 and 8; Governors Meadow, 15 and 11; St Paul's, 5 and 11; Governor's Meadow, 5 and 11; St Paul's, 4 and 3; St Bernard's Lower Primary, 3 and 3; St Mary's Lower Primary, 2 and zero; St Joseph's Lower Primary, 5 and 4; Hebrew Primary School, 1 and 3; St Anne's Upper Primary, 8 and 24; Bishop Fitzgerald Upper Primary, 10 and 14; St Bernard's Upper Primary, 4 and 6; St Joseph's Upper Primary, 1 and 7; Bayside 14 and 9; Westside, 6 and 16; Gibraltar College, 3 and 2.

2495 SNSLAs are deployed to support identified pupil needs. Allocation of SNSLAs is determined by the multi-agency gazetted Special Education Needs Assessment Panel.

2500 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I am grateful that the Minister has ended by saying that the criterion is that the special needs LSAs are deployed when they have identified the need.

So I am certain I am not confused, is there a difference between special needs learning support assistants and just learning support assistants? Are they two different categories of people, or are they all one? If he answers that first, then I can carry on with something else.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, they are one. The learning support assistants are engaged when there is a special need. The special need can range over a wide spectrum of needs, but they are all needs. So it is just one category that we are talking about.

Hon. E J Reyes: I am grateful for that clarification.

Mr Speaker, I am told by some members of the teaching profession that they had been led to believe that there were going to be special needs LSAs to assist in cases where a concern may have been raised by a teacher and the student may be going through the process of being identified and classified if there is a particular special need and whether they will need a full-time special needs LSA or not. Wishful thinking would be one learning support assistant per class at least, but they have been led to believe there will be one floating support assistant per year in each of the schools, so that the head teacher could, as and when activity arose, deploy the teacher. Can the Minister confirm that that is not the case and that there is not a pool that reports to the head teacher and can then be assigned for a particular class or activity on a particular day? Or is it just identified pupils who will receive that? And what happens in the process whilst they are being identified and classified as requiring a special needs assistant?

2520

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, a couple of things here. Clearly, the head teacher has discretion on a short-term basis to redeploy the SNLSAs within the school, should they have to cover a particular need on a particular day. That is definite.

I would love to have at least one, if not more, learning support assistants in every class, but that would simply not be affordable. However, what is important is that those children who are identified as having these needs do have the support. The process may or may not be long. It is certainly a process by which, if a child is found to have a situation which urgently needs addressing – for example, may develop a series of meltdowns on a particular week – then clearly that support would be provided quickly and then the special needs panel would assess that retrospectively. We would not wait for the next meeting. They are monthly meetings, but we would not wait for the next meeting if we have a particular crisis. That would be done on the day and the special needs panel would then see whether that support is one that has to continue or not. The main thing here is the need of the child.

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, in the statistics that the Minister kindly provided, he put it into two columns. He was identifying those who are permanent and those who are temporary. Is there an explanation? Is there a reason why there are two different categories?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker. The ones in the first column are those who were – I will say why I say ‘were’ – on the morning of 15th December within the permanent complement, and the second column is those who are non-permanent or are called in on a supply basis. Often it is long-term supply, particularly for children who need the continuity. Within a day or two of the figures being given to me, the increase in complement of permanent SNLSAs which was agreed at the Estimates session earlier this year was increased by, I believe, 120. So if I were to give him the figures now, there would be a shift from the right-hand column to the left-hand column because there are more permanent, and fewer on a supply basis.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q602/2022
Wellbeing Support Team –
Number of teachers accessing services

Clerk: Question 602/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2550

Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government provide a breakdown for the last three academic years showing the number of teachers who have accessed the services provided by the Wellbeing Support Team, indicating the school sector in which these teachers are or were employed?

2555

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

2560

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the breakdown of those teachers who have accessed the services provided by the Wellbeing Support Team is as follows: 2019-20, eight in secondary, seven in primary; 2020-21, 30 in secondary and seven in primary; 2021-22, 31 in secondary and nine in primary.

2565

Hon. E J Reyes: And the Minister, Mr Speaker, would not happen to have any ...? The secondary I can understand. When he says primary, we often can subdivide that into lower primary and upper primary, because they can be totally different schools in totally different locations with a different type of children undergoing a different key stage in education. If he happens to have it, I would be grateful.

2570

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not have that information. We are talking about small numbers, so it is not going to be significantly different. I can ask for that information, but I do not have it here.

2575

Hon. E J Reyes: I know the Minister quite often has certain information. I see that the numbers tend to be very similar from one year to the next, except for a huge jump in the secondary sector, where in the academic year 2019-20 we had eight who accessed the services, and then in the year 2020-21 there was a big jump to 30, and in the year 2021-22 the number stays about the same, 31. Has the Department of Education identified any particular reason why there should be that big jump? I know it is sheer speculation, but does it coincide with the movement of the secondary schools to new buildings, or something? One never knows what hypothesis you can come up with.

2580

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I obviously do not have access and do not want to have access to the specific reasons why these teachers have sought this support, but our thoughts are that it is related to lockdown and COVID. We have seen similar increases in the number of pupils who access the counselling services. Without being able to give detailed information because I am not privy to the reasons why, I suspect that the aftermath of the pandemic may have something to do with it, but it is very hard to pin down. Hopefully, the numbers will decrease in years to come.

2585

2590

Hon. E J Reyes: I am grateful for that, Mr Speaker. If it helps the Minister, because he has been useful with his answers, I purposely worded my question by asking the number of teachers indicating the school sector. I did not want to ask, on this occasion, per school, because in secondary school ... There are a certain number of students in the College but they are included in Year 12 or 13. If in his analysis he has some information without necessarily having to identify the school, but within the school sector or whatever, even if it means he has to give me some information behind the Speaker's Chair, I would be grateful, just to help to identify the figure. I am sure Mr Speaker would not object if we got some information behind the Chair, if it is sensitive.

2595

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, delighted. This is something that I am very happy to share. Clearly, there is concern at the numbers, which the school is looking at addressing and obviously the Wellbeing Support Team is supporting.

2600 As the Clerk knows, whenever I am asked questions I usually copy him into any correspondence so that there is a record that I have provided the additional information. I do not mind being reminded, Mr Speaker, if the hon. Member does not receive it soon; in fact, I appreciate the reminder.

2605 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q603/2022
Alternative learning programmes –
Number of pupils accessing in mainstream schools

Clerk: Question 603/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2610 Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government provide statistics showing the number of students ordinarily enrolled in our mainstream schools for whom alternative learning programmes have been provided, indicating the reasons why?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

2615 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, there are 226 pupils in alternative learning programmes. Such programmes are delivered through personalised learning plans, personalised timetables, higher staff-to-pupil ratios, therapeutic or alternative interventions and nurture. These programmes are set up to deal with significant social, emotional and mental health needs, significant communication and interaction needs, significant cognition and learning needs, or significant sensory and physical needs.

2620

Hon. E J Reyes: I did not specifically ask him in my question, but would he happen to have an indication, of those 226, which school sectors they pertain to?

2625 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, again, I am a bit wary of giving all the detailed information here because you could identify the pupils. What I can say from the breakdown that I have available – which I am happy to share behind your Chair, Mr Speaker – is that of these pupils, we are looking at 24 in secondary alternative learning centres, 56 in secondary learning support facilities, and then remember that we have learning support facilities not in all schools but in some of the schools and they average maybe between 30 and 40 in those primary schools which have learning support facilities, which I believe are full. More information I am happy to share, with more detail.

2630

2635 Hon. E J Reyes: I am extremely grateful. Yes, Mr Speaker, I think the Minister has, across the floor, given as much as he can without divulging anything. I certainly look forward to receiving that information behind the Speaker's Chair, which will be kept, as agreed, on a confidential basis between us. I am grateful for that analysis.

Q604/2022
Drama-related studies –
Provision of non-traditional courses

Q605/2022
Courses delivered at non-secondary school or College sites –
Breakdown of expenditure

Clerk: Question 604/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2640 Hon. E J Reyes: Is the Department of Education planning to offer courses in drama-related studies other than the traditional GCSE or A-Level courses which have been provided in our secondary schools?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

2645 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 605.

Clerk: Question 605/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2650 Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government provide a detailed breakdown of all expenditure associated with the delivery of the BTEC-level National Extended Certificate in Music, Technical Certificate in Hairdressing and any other courses being partly or wholly delivered at sites other than our secondary schools or College of Further Education, showing to whom payments are made and in respect of what specific services or other costs?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Environment and Education.

2660 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, in answer to Question 604, the Department is considering a range of vocational options over a spectrum of subjects.

On the costs incurred, for the Technical Certificate in Hairdressing, payments are made to Mayfair on Main: vocational hair and beauty courses, £114,855.96 in the last year, obviously; supply of equipment and consumables, £6,756.31.

2665 For the BTEC in Music Performance, payments are made to the Gibraltar Academy of Music and Performing Arts: BTEC Music Performance, £30,696; supply of equipment and consumables, £1,687.68; registration fee, £1,750.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

2670 In respect of Question 604 I was asking mainly prompted by the explanations we had last month from the Minister on why certain courses like music were not taking place in the schools and so on. This is why I asked. I know the schools, at least since my teaching days, have always been offering drama, but given the popularity among some students perhaps to take on BTEC, and so on, courses in drama ... The Minister, in his answer, said they were looking at a range of vocational courses. Does he classify drama as part of a vocation and are they seriously considering offering drama in alternative places? And if it is, would the schools then no longer offer GCSE and A-level? I am homing in more on drama in this question, because to me it seemed to be the natural transition after music, being one of the performing arts.

2680 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I know exactly what the hon. Member is referring to and exactly what he is getting at. I might just say that we did take part in a school play in our primary school together quite a few years ago, so our love of drama is clearly there.

2685 We are looking at a range of vocational courses. The alternative to the traditional GCSE or A-level would be vocational. We are looking at the wet trades. We are looking at some of the digital courses, which are less academic and more work related. There is a possibility that there would be other vocational options in the performing arts. These are currently under consideration and discussion.

2690 I held a meeting recently with representatives of the drama and dance departments of both secondary schools, together with the College, and we are looking at broadening the opportunities available to young people, but absolutely without doing away with traditional GCSE and A-level courses. The discussions continue and I am looking forward to being able to diversify options for our young people throughout the whole spectrum of courses that we can make available in our educational institutions.

2695 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, I thank the Minister, above all, for his explanation that he has had those meetings with the heads of department of the schools. Because I need to pose a question, will the Minister assure us that he will keep on meeting up with the heads of those departments so that the best range of products within suitably accredited qualifications end up being provided for our students?

2700 And before I sit down, Mr Speaker, for the curiosity of those who may be listening, if I am not mistaken it was Christmas 1968 when the Hon. Minister and I performed that same play, which I believe was perhaps even written by him. We are over the 50-year mark, so we might even be issued with a special medal to commemorate the event.

2705 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Indeed, Mr Speaker, for general information I believe it was Christmas 1968, and I did write that play, absolutely – bringing back old memories of the Christian Brothers Preparatory School.

2710 Of course I will carry on these discussions. Only today, I was in Bayside School watching their Christmas performance and chatting to some of the drama teachers there. There is no question at all, we will progress this in a way that will benefit all three institutions and, clearly, as I said earlier, the young people we are responsible for.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q606/2022

Provision of hot meals for school pupils – Update

Clerk: Question 606/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2715 Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government update this House in respect of their intentions to provide hot meals for pupils in schools?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

2720 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Government is currently in advanced discussions with a preferred bidder but cannot disclose details at this moment, for commercial reasons. There is no definite start date, but all parties are working for a commencement that is practical and convenient for all stakeholders to ensure students enjoy a quality service. We should hopefully be in a better position to announce something in the New Year.

2725

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

2730 It is obviously work in progress, so at some stage we can follow it up. Can I just, at this stage, ask the Hon. Minister: if it is successful and we are able to offer hot meals for pupils in schools, for those students who may wish to use the current type of facilities whereby it does not have to be a hot meal – they take their own meal but still have the facility to be able to stay in school – will that continue, or will it just be a hot meal or you are out?

2735 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, absolutely, Mr Speaker, this would be an additional option. They would be getting these meals, but the current facility for children to take their own food, or, in the case of the older students in the secondary sector, often they just go out and maybe get themselves some something in a nearby establishment ... Those options will all be there, absolutely.

2740 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, is it too early at this stage to ask the Minister, would these meals be provided at a reasonable cost to students or will the school provide it because you are an enrolled student and therefore it becomes free of charge?

2745 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: No, Mr Speaker, these would be paid for. This is the system we used for about a year before, unfortunately, the entity that provided the meals went into administration, which is one of the reasons why this is taking so long, because there are issues about the equipment and so on and so forth. But the intention would be that the parents would pay for the meal at a cost that we would have to agree is reasonable, and this is also part of the discussions with the preferred entity.

Q607/2022

Governor's Lookout Scout Activity Centre and Campsite – Update re works undertaken and costs incurred

2750 Clerk: Question 607/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2755 Hon. E J Reyes: Can Government provide an update of works undertaken and costs incurred so far in this financial year in respect of the approved £50,000 expenditure under the Improvement and Development Fund, head 102 Projects, subhead 4(k) Governor's Lookout Scout Activity Centre and Campsite?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

2760 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, this is becoming very intimate: we were also in the Scouts together!
The works are under the direction of the Scouts Association, so I do not have that information. No costs have as yet been incurred by the Government.

2765 Hon. E J Reyes: In accepting that some of the details of the works and so on are under the direction of the management of the Scouts Association, when the Minister says no costs, have they paid like an advancement, or on production of invoices made any payment, or the amount drawn down is still zero but there is an approved £50,000 expenditure which is valid until 31st March? Where are we in that respect?

2770 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the allocation is in the Book. We have not yet paid any invoices, nor do we have a detailed update of how much work they have carried out in this financial year. That is where we are at the moment. Things could change within weeks if invoices come in and we are informed of the work that has been carried out, but at the moment no costs have been incurred and I do not have the details of how much work has been done in recent months.

2775

Mr Speaker: Next question, please.

Q608/2022

Gibraltar University courses commencing in February 2023 –
Availability of discretionary funding

Clerk: Question 608/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

2780

Hon. E J Reyes: Will the Department of Education be accepting and considering applications for discretionary funding towards the recently announced course being offered by the University of Gibraltar with lectures to be delivered in February and March 2023 leading to a Professional Certificate of Competence in Blockchain and Smart Contracts?

2785

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

2790

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the Department of Education will accept and consider new applications for discretionary scholarship funding when the next scholarship window opens. The window for Government scholarship funding opens on an annual basis in anticipation of the forthcoming academic year. The window typically closes in June with the results of the applications established prior to the start of the next academic year, usually September. The next window for applications for discretionary scholarship funding awards will open in the second quarter of 2023 for the funding of courses in academic year 2023-24. The window for applications for funding for discretionary scholarship funding awards for the academic year 2022-23 closed in June 2022. The results of the applications received were established prior to the start of this academic year, 2022-23.

2795

There is no process currently through which individuals can submit new applications for funding for courses starting in February or March 2023. If individuals have not already secured funding for courses taking place during the academic year 2022-23, they will not be able to access funding at this time.

2800

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

2805

The Minister has given us an answer which, for financial accounting reasons, has a lot of logic behind it. Would the Minister please consider perhaps liaising with the University of Gibraltar, because this course has been advertised by the University of Gibraltar after the closing date for applications. I do not think it has been done with a bad taste, but it is misleading information on behalf of the University of Gibraltar to advertise the course by saying it may attract funding under discretionary scholarship. As you say, it cannot attract funding under discretionary scholarship, if we are being really honest, because the next window does not open, as the Minister said, until the second quarter of 2023, and these payments have to be made now because the lectures are delivered in February and March. You cannot even have a student saying, 'I will get a loan for this, and then when the second quarter comes ...' The Department of Education I think, traditionally, have said if you have already done a course, you cannot retrospectively ask for funding.

2810

2815

Would the Minister commit himself to at least trying to liaise better with the University in the wording? Both sides of this House want to be supportive of courses being offered, especially in 2820 things that are extremely useful, but we have to think of our constituents who build their hopes up – ‘Oh, look, I could do this course,’ – but come across a civil servant at the Department of Education who unfortunately has to say, ‘No, I cannot take applications until the second quarter, after which will be willing to accept and consider them.’

2825 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the University, of course, is independent. The conversation on the point he has raised has been had. I dare say that if there were any students who were particularly put out by this condition or this reality, they would make contact and we would have a discussion to see what the steps were. But we have to be very careful that we do not open the floodgates and we are dealing with applications which could come at any time of year. That is just not sustainable and therefore we have to state what the policy is.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q609-10/2022

Dust emissions –

Number of complaints received; actions taken re breaches of regulations

2830 Clerk: Question 609/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state how many complaints it or the Environmental Agency has received in respect of dust emissions?

2835 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 610.

2840 Clerk: Question 610/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state what action the Government or the Environmental Agency has taken in respect of breach of the Environment (Control of Dust) Regulations 2010 by individuals or companies?

2845 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

2850 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, officers of the Environmental Agency proactively visit and monitor construction activities at all construction sites around Gibraltar, as well as responding to complaints of dust emissions from members of the public.

2855 All companies that are engaged in construction-related activities are required to have a certificate of approval issued under section 5 of the Environment (Control of Dust) Regulations 2010. This follows submission of a dust control plan which must make sufficient provision for the prevention or reduction of dust for all dust-producing activities in which the individual or the company are involved. Officers check that those active in the industry have a certificate of approval issued by the Environmental Agency.

2860 If evidence is found that an individual or a company is not properly implementing their dust-control plan, a prohibition notice can be issued prohibiting the activity – for example, the use of machinery with insufficient dust suppression. The prohibition notice will set out the issues that need to be addressed and the time period in which remedial action is to be taken. Section 11(3) allows for the Chief Environmental Health Officer to revoke a certificate of approval for non-compliance with a prohibition notice.

The number of complaints received are as follows: 2018, 33; 2019, 54; 2020, 43; 2021, 55; and 2022, 62.

2865

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the answer by the Minister in respect of the complaints, which was the nature of the question, and I understand that there are proactive attempts by the Agency, and indeed reactive responses by them in relation to complaints that have been made.

2870

He would agree with me, of course, that the complaints that the Agency is receiving and the growing number of complaints – and the trajectory is north, from 2018 with 30-odd up to 2020 with 66, so significant numbers of increases of complaints in relation to dust in our community. I do not know what is driving this; I suspect construction in our community, increased levels of construction and dust that irritates many in our community. I wonder whether he has any data relating to the nature of those complaints and what they generally describe, because it is important to understand the nature of the complaints and how we can mitigate them.

2875

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not have data, but from my own experience in the day to day they are generally construction sites and clearly there is quite a lot of construction activity going on now, for example, in areas which are frequented, where people might find it is a problem – like the schools we are building.

2880

What I can say is that over the last year or two there have been, from my information, 86 warnings issued and 45 prohibition notices, most of which have resulted in compliance, and six successful convictions. We find generally, though, that when they are tackled they do take remedial action. It should not lead to that. It is often as simple as spraying water over the site on a regular basis, but unfortunately sometimes they have to be told. The Agency is very much on top of this, and I obviously encourage them to be so.

2885

Hon. E J Phillips: I am very grateful for the response to that question. Of course, it is a public health consideration, is it not, that construction dust can lead to very serious health consequences for those breathing in that dust?

2890

I just wonder what the Minister's view is in relation to the resourcing of the Agency and particularly those inspectors who have to inspect construction sites for those complaints, because clearly the numbers are very high. That is reflective of construction in our economy and that movement, and I wondered whether or not he can clarify that, insofar as the numbers, he is satisfied with the number of people investigating these complaints.

2895

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I am. I believe that if this was something the Agency was not coping with, I would know, and I have not had any representations.

2900

Hon. E J Phillips: Just one further question, if I may. If the Minister cannot answer, that is fine, we can take it to another session, but insofar as construction more generally, it tends to be on our main thoroughfares as well, and obviously there are health consequences as a result of that. The recent asbestos issue at the old Westside School has raised its head with a number of constituents approaching Members on this side of the House. Does that involve a similar process? I appreciate it is very distinct and there are very distinct laws in relation to the control and management of this particular substance, but does that raise other concerns with the Government? And is the Government concerned about asbestos at the old Westside School site?

2905

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: No, Speaker, it is very strictly handled and managed, so whenever there is any suspicion that there may be asbestos ... Remember that asbestos is inert and harmless unless it is dust in the air and is breathed in. There are specialists who deal with this. There is an asbestos register. I do not have all the detail here, but it is something that certainly the Agency is very much on top of.

2910

2915

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I think probably to be clear – and I am very thankful for the answer – is it right, then, to conclude that asbestos has been identified at Westside?

2920

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not have that information. I am just responding to the theoretical presence of asbestos anywhere. I can answer a direct question if I am asked it, but I do not have that information. I am not commenting because I honestly do not know whether it has been found there.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q611/2022
Public Health Bill – Payments to Benzaquen Associates

2925

Clerk: Question 611/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state why it has paid over £129,440 to Benzaquen Associates over eight months in 2022 with no Public Health Bill appearing before this House?

2930

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

2935

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the draft Bills are going through an extensive consultation process with all stakeholders and will be published in the coming months.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, just one further question: is the purpose of this Bill to consolidate existing legislation, or is this an entirely new panorama for public health in Gibraltar?

2940

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: The purpose of these Bills – I think there are 12 or 13 – is to divide up a very old and out-of-date piece of legislation into sections and update it, so the hon. Member will realise it is a huge undertaking. The drafts exist and we are going through the process of considering all stakeholders. We are dealing with things from hotels to infectious diseases and rodents, so it is a huge area and we are dividing these up into, I think, 13 separate Bills, so it is a complicated process.

2945

Hon. E J Phillips: Just one further question. Insofar as the large number, 12 or 13 pieces of legislation, is that currently in final form as drafted by those the Government has sought externally to instruct to draft that legislation?

2950

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: The process includes the first draft, then the discussion with stakeholders like the Environmental Agency, the Director of Public Health and the Environment Department. Those comments are incorporated into a revised draft, and then that draft is sent to the Gibraltar Law Officers for them to just consolidate and cast an eye over it. We are generally in the latter part of that process, so we do not have a final draft yet, but we have a draft which has already had input from all stakeholders and now the final drafting process is being undertaken.

2955

2960 Hon. E J Phillips: The view that the Minister came to is that we did not have within the Government legal service the available resource to conduct this drafting exercise and therefore it was considered by the Government that they should 'instruct out', as the term is used, to conduct this drafting exercise. Is that right?

2965 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the hon. Member will be aware that the Government Law Officers have been engaged for the vast majority of the time over the last few years – certainly when these drafts were being prepared – in Brexit and related legislation and therefore we have had to call on support of this nature.

2970 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask on this issue, have I understood correctly? Is it that 12 distinct pieces of legislation have been prepared modernising 12 other Bills, or is it that the Public Health Act, which is a voluminous statute, has been broken up into 12 different pieces of legislation?

2975 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: The latter, Mr Speaker. The big Public Health Act is being divided up into one on waste, one on contaminated land ... I am just going by memory, so I do not commit myself to those actual headings, but it is one Act that is being divided into separate ones.

2980 Hon. K Azopardi: And can I just ask ...? That really goes counter to the trend that ... Normally you do it the other way around. Normally you have consolidating legislation, and to actually have an act that has been around for a very long time ... It requires modernisation, I accept that by all means, but to break it up into 12 Acts is really going against the trend of legislative technique and it probably is unhelpful in terms of the user of legislation and indeed public awareness. Has the Minister considered whether... of course it should be modernised, but it should be kept as one consolidated Act?

2985 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, there is such a wide range of often barely related subjects that I am quite comfortable in this approach and I think it will make the use and interpretation of the legislation easier and not more complex. That is my personal view.

2990 Hon. K Azopardi: We are still in time, so perhaps I would ask him to reflect on it because the public health legislation in Gibraltar is based on English sources, so it is similar kind of structure in England. I appreciate it is voluminous, but for example, when there has been an exercise done on the Companies Act or the Insolvency Act, the consolidating exercise of the financial services was a consolidating exercise, and here we would be going really against the grain of what ... We should be attempting to make legislation easier to use for someone picking it up. You can have a part on noxious diseases and a part on nuisance and a part on something else, but at least you know it is all in the Public Health Act. It would be perhaps a bit difficult for people to use in that form. I just invite him not to give an instant decision, but to reflect on that. And can I ask him to what extent there has been external consultation on whether that is the preferred option?

3000 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, the Public Health Act is a mess – it is very complex to use, very out of date and therefore I repeat what I said earlier: I think that to compartmentalise it strategically and being able to focus on all the different aspects will actually be helpful. Clearly I will reflect on what the hon. Member has said, but I think that it is helpful and all the stakeholders – who are many, covering a range of Ministries and a lot of my colleagues here have supported me in allowing their heads of Department and so on to be consulted – feel that this is helpful. It may be against other trends, but I am not averse to going against the trends anyway.
3005 Certainly I will reflect on it, but I think it is the right move.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, just to give a flavour of what we are doing, rates are provided for in the Public Health Act, and most young lawyers, when asked to check how rates

3010 are calculated, would not think that the place they would need to go to find the calculation as to rates is the Public Health Act, and so you are combining issues which relate to what everybody might associate with public health with issues relating to the cost of a particular hereditament for a particular period. So in the context of public health, it would not make sense to continue with the exercise of consolidation, because if we were to do so, public health covers such a wide 3015 panoply of issues at the moment that we might be persuaded to put financial services legislation under the Public Health Act as well, because there are completely unrelated matters under the Public Health Act. That is why we have taken the policy decision that it makes sense to strip out from the definition, the headline of 'public health', many of the areas which are presently covered by the Act, because the trend is to consolidate things under a subject heading which is in keeping 3020 with the issues that are dealt with in the legislation, and that is why here it does not make sense to continue in that way.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q612-16/2022
Dog licences and dog fouling –
Checks, fines and convictions; DNA testing

Clerk: Question 612/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

3025

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many checks for unregistered dogs have there been since 1st January 2018 and how many fines have been issued?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

3030

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 613 to 616.

Clerk: Question 613/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

3035

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many convictions or fines issued have there been in each of the last four years for failure to register or license a dog in Gibraltar?

Clerk: Question 614/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

3040

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many convictions or fines issued have there been for dog fouling in each of the last four years?

Clerk: Question 615/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

3045

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, in relation to any convictions and/or fines for dog fouling, how many have resulted from the Government's DNA testing programme?

Clerk: Question 616/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

3050

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many DNA samples of dog faeces have been tested since 1st January 2018 and how many fines have resulted from that testing?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

3055

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I will now hand over a schedule with the information requested.

Answer to Question 616/2022

Table 1 Patrols and fines issued by the Environmental Protection and Research Unit in relation to unregistered dogs.

Year	No. of Patrols *	No. of fines issued
2018	Over 260	5
2019	Over 260	2
2020	Over 260	1
2021	Over 260	3
2022	Over 260	1

* The EPRU carry out on a minimum of 5 patrols a week, usually these are done daily with the possibility of more than one patrol a day.

Table 2 Number of samples collected and fines issued as a result of the DNA testing program by officers in the Environmental Agency.

Year	No. of Patrols	No. of samples collected	No. of fines issues
2018	No stats	144	11
2019	47	232	40
2020	41	118	1
2021	59	177	18
2022	50	174	15

Table 3 Number of yearly dog patrols carried out by the Environmental Agency for unregistered dogs

Year	No. of Patrols	No. of dogs checked	No. of fines issued
2018	29	No stats	No stats
2019	41	100	5
2020	27	42	1
2021	40	117	0
2022	54	149	15

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, with your leave, may I suggest that you continue with the session and I will analyse the answers? Thank you very much, Mr Speaker.

3060

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q617/2022
Mid Harbours garage –
Accumulated rubbish

Clerk: Question 617/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Piles of rubbish continue to present a problem at the Mid Harbours garage. When will the Government resolve this longstanding issue?

3065 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the issue arose as a result of a broken door. The door has now been replaced and this should resolve the issue.

3070

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I have been there myself and, from what I have seen, that does not seem to be a reasonable explanation as to why there are piles of rubbish in the garage area. It may be a question of enforcement, it may be a question of having security cameras out there to monitor what is happening, but unless he can give me more information in terms of which broken door to what and why it is causing that issue ... I have been into the area where the rubbish is meant to be laid, but it is normally laid outside in the garage area, for example, in huge piles, and I am told that that issue has not been resolved after many ... I was going to say years, but I would not be giving him necessarily accurate information.

3075

Can he give me a bit more information and comment on what I have just said? It just does not make sense.

3080

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I agree with him. I have been there too. The Hon. Minister is right in the answer he has given, there was a broken door, but the door was not broken in a way that people could not open it. The Minister for Housing was there with me. What you have is a pristine, clean, rubbish-depositing area. Many of our compatriots open the door, put their rubbish inside the receptacles which are inside the room, and act – it is not even the civic way, Mr Speaker – in the normal way that a human being would behave. Some, and fortunately not very few, take their rubbish and deposit it just outside the door because they cannot be ... (A Member: Bothered.) ‘bothered’, I think, is the acceptable word in Parliament – thank you, Minister – to open the door and put it inside the receptacle, the broken door, the repaired door. They leave it outside and then somebody will come behind and see that there is a bag in front of the door and then not move the bag and not open the door and put another bag there. And then somebody will come and put another bag there and another bag.

3085

3090

The hon. Gentleman will say to me, ‘Put in CCTV.’ I told him last time that one of the things we are doing in another area is experimenting with CCTV. When we put in CCTV, people, in order not to open the door, will turn up with hoodies on, so that the CCTV will give us only images of people wearing hoodies putting their rubbish outside the area with the receptacle. The hon. Gentleman will say to me, ‘Illegalise hoodies, or at least make it illegal for people to wear a hoodie when they are going to deposit their rubbish.’ We will get to a stage where they will say, ‘Employ a refuse disposal area monitor,’ and we will end up with 15,000 Gibraltarians employed to police 15,000 other Gibraltarians, one on one, to ensure that we put the rubbish where we need to put it. For goodness sake!

3095

3100

I refuse to believe that the people of Gibraltar need to be mollycoddled in this way and that the few guarroses there are require us to police them in this way so that they can behave in a manner which is legitimate, proper and normal and put their rubbish in the area which is provided, so that they do not leave their rubbish in the way for anyone. This is the sort of problem that then creates a problem with rodents, that then creates a problem with monkeys, that then creates a problem with gulls, etc.. All of these issues – not in that area, which is covered, but in other areas – create the wider problems that we are dealing with. I refuse to believe that the vast majority of modern Gibraltarians require this level of supervision with cameras or mollycoddling, but if we are pushed to it we shall have the cameras, we shall illegalise hoodies and we shall employ the 15,000 Gibraltarians to take the other 15,000 Gibraltarians by the hand to open the door and put the rubbish in the bleeding receptacle.

3105

3110

3115

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, one can observe and sense the levels of frustration from the hon. Member opposite, and I suppose somebody who has been directing the fortunes of this community over the last 11 years ... You can see it. It is things like this which must get to him when he is dealing with other issues as well and people simply do not play ball.

3120 If I can go back to the initial reply given by the Hon. the Minister for the Environment, given the reply we have just heard, are we to assume that the door and the replacement thereof will not be the solution to all our woes in respect of this issue, and actually it is the wider and much more complicated and complex issue to resolve of uncivil and unsocial behaviour?

3125 Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, it is something that gets to me, something that frustrates me. I think it frustrates every right-thinking member of this community. I am sure it is frustrating him. I would have thought that he wants to do politics which is different to this. Parliaments have to deal with issues that affect everyday life and macro-economic issues also, but I would have thought that he would prefer to ask us questions on a different issue. We would prefer to be able to visit the estates to deal with issues about how we are going to ensure that the 3130 estate has an extra 50 years of life rather than how we ensure that people comply with the most basic way in which we would expect people to behave.

Dealing with the door is to ensure that there is not any excuse. It was not an unopenable door, but it is now perfectly easy to open the door. There is no question of there being any problem with the door. There is no excuse. This is not about people playing ball. This is about people 3135 knowing how to live in community, and living in community is knowing how to live in a socially acceptable way that does not cause a problem for others, so that others can have peaceful enjoyment of their properties through your peaceful enjoyment of your own and your common care for the common areas.

Today we have people provided with El Turno in Government estates. My parents' generation, 3140 his parents' generation, our parents' generation would not countenance anybody coming to clean their front stoop. By the time somebody came to clean our parents' front doors, our parents' front doors would be so spick and span that the person who came to clean it could sit down and have a coffee with our respective parents because our parents would ensure it was clean and would be ready to give the person who came to clean the coffee.

3145 I refuse to accept that Gibraltar has deteriorated socially, morally and responsibly to a stage where it can be anything other than a minority that are doing this, and therefore we will deal with the minority, because otherwise we may as well pack up and go, and I refuse to ever say that we are ready to pack up and go. I will be the last man standing, putting the rubbish bags inside the refuse, even if it is him I have to take by the hand to put his in.

3150 I am sure that we will get there. I am sure that people will be shamed into understanding that this is not a Government problem, this is a problem that people are creating for themselves and others, that it is a few and that we, all together, should shame them and not give them the excuse that because the door might not swing open when you touch it and you might have to pull it, that is enough to then put your rubbish outside. On this we should all be united, we should not give 3155 anybody a way out and we should lead by example, and the example that we lead by should be in this place.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q618/2022
Museum –
Updated visitor numbers

Clerk: Question 618/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3160

Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide the total number of museum visitors by year and month since the last time this information was updated, on 11th December 2019, in table T3 of the online Government statistics.

3165

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I now hand over a schedule with the information required.

Answer to Question 618/2022

Total number of museum visitors by year and month

Year	January	February	March	April	May	June	July	August	September	October	November	December
2019												504
2020	690	952	316	0	15	25	166	395	341	502	185	155
2021	0	0	137	157	442	817	587	753	597	678	908	355
2022	338	489	791	1,018	1,698	957	1,141	1,423	1,153	1,582

Updated 11-Dec-2022

3170

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can I go on to the next question and perhaps go back to this one, so I have a chance to look at it? I do not think my hon. and learned Friend Mr Feetham will have any supplementaries in relation to his schedule, but if I can ask the next one ...?

Mr Speaker: Does the Hon. Daniel Feetham have any questions? No, all right.

Q619/2022
Tourism levy –
Amounts received since introduction

Clerk: Question 619/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3175

Hon. D J Bossino: What amounts have been received since the introduction of the overnight stay tax of £3 per person since the measure was introduced?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

3180

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I now hand over another schedule with the information requested.

Answer to Question 619/2022

Climate Change Act - Tourism Levy

Month	Total Invoiced	Total Outstanding	Total Received
APRIL	£ -	£ -	£ -
MAY	£ -	£ -	£ -
JUNE	£ -	£ -	£ -
JULY	£ -	£ -	£ -
AUGUST	£ 65,433.00	£ 204.00	£ 65,229.00
SEPTEMBER	£ 76,188.00	£ 1,045.20	£ 75,142.80
OCTOBER	£ 61,659.00	£ 14,154.00	£ 47,505.00
NOVEMBER	£ 7,071.00	£ 7,002.00	£ 69.00
DECEMBER	£ -	£ -	£ -
JANUARY	£ -	£ -	£ -
FEBRUARY	£ -	£ -	£ -
MARCH	£ -	£ -	£ -

3185 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, is the hon. Member able to confirm ...? The title to the schedule suggests the answer, actually – (Interjection) sorry, to Question 619 – that ... Is he able to confirm, therefore, that the hotel levy is being paid into what was termed by the Hon. the Chief Minister, during the course of his Budget address, as the Climate Action Fund? So those amounts which are set out there have been ring-fenced in that fund?

3190 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Yes, Mr Speaker, I can confirm that.

Hon. D J Bossino: Can I just ask on this one, the Climate Change Act tourism levy: why is the invoiced sum for November so different to those for August, September and October?

3195 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, there could be two reasons. One is occupancy, and the other is that we may not have received all the information for November, as this was prepared a week or so ago, and so there is likely a time lag. I can find out whether it is one or the other, but it could be either or both.

3200 Hon. K Azopardi: So the mechanics of it are that it is invoiced later; it is not deducted at source by the hotel? Is that right?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: That is correct. We are provided with the information and there is always a time lag before we get the information and the funds.

3205 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): It probably is charged by the hotel to the individual, but then the hotel gives us the information and we send them an invoice for that amount.

3210 Hon. D J Bossino: It seems that in the first month the total outstanding amounts are very low, but then they seem to be creeping up in every single month. For example, in the last month the total outstanding is very high. I am not sure whether that is a timing – (Interjection) Is that it? Okay, but does that apply to October and September, which are much higher than the August ones? I do not know what the details are, in terms of how long they have to pay. It seems that ...

3215 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, they should pay immediately, but sometimes they might not. The delay obviously relates to the period for which the invoice has been outstanding, so the August invoice that has been outstanding for longer is likely to have been paid, the September 3220 invoice has been outstanding for a month less than the August one, the October one has been outstanding for a month less than the September one, and the November one has just been sent, so it is very unlikely that you would see the full payment of the November one by December when you have not seen the full payment of the August one by December. So it is just the time lag that you would expect to see and the way that the payments are made. Of course, there is more of a percentage outstanding in the November one because it has just been sent and none of it has been paid. That is not reasonable, it is understandable.

3225 Hon. D J Bossino: How long do they have to pay? Is it a month?

3230 Hon. Chief Minister: The Government's business terms, Mr Speaker, are usually 30 days for people to repay us, but as he would tend to know, most people do not pay in that period; they get a first chaser etc. He can see that actually the record of payment is quite good because in August, of £65,000 invoiced there is only £200 outstanding. I call that a very good recovery rate. By September you had £76,000 invoiced and £1,000 outstanding, so the hit rate here is actually very good.

Hon. D J Bossino: Thank you.

Q618/2022
Museum –
Updated visitor numbers –
Supplementary questions

3235 Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to Question 618, the museum visits – this information had not been uploaded on the website and that is why we wanted updated information – does he have any comment to make in relation to these statistics? It seems that we are going back to pre-COVID levels, so I am sure he will be satisfied by that, although there are higher numbers in 2010-11. I would welcome his ... I cannot ask for his views because I am not meant to, but his comment in 3240 relation to that.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): The numbers are returning to pre-COVID. There will be fluctuation, it will depend on all sorts of things, but we are satisfied that they are consistently higher than they have been. The 3245 museum is a wonderful asset and I am sure it will continue to thrive.

Hon. K Azopardi: On the museum numbers – which I agree is a wonderful asset, although I may not agree that a lot of people are visiting it – does he know whether those numbers include school visits?
3250

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition's opinion on the numbers that are visiting it is not really relevant because we know the numbers that are visiting.

I am not sure whether they include these other statistics. I will seek clarification. I apologise for not having that information, but I will seek it. They may be separate because these are 3255 probably based on sales, whereas schools would go as groups, but I will seek that clarification.

Hon. K Azopardi: I would be grateful if he would because I was agreeing with him, it is a wonderful asset. What I am saying to him is that perhaps if he – (Interjection by Hon. Prof. J E Cortes) Yes, if he finds out that information, whether it includes schoolchildren or not ... Certainly 3260 if it includes school visitors I would say it is not a lot of people. Even if it does include schoolchildren, given the importance that we give to tourism in this community and the asset that it is and the vehicle it represents to transmit and inform a visitor to Gibraltar of our history and heritage, we should try to create more public awareness of that wonderful asset so that more people visit it.

3265

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: I must add, in order just to assist in this discussion, that the museum does have a virtual presence. I do not have the figures here, but I do know that they have many virtual visitors. Clearly, it is not the same visitor we would also welcome to Gibraltar for a stay and as part of the Gibraltar experience, but there is a lot of promotion of the museum and there are lots of hits on the website, and I will try to share that information as well when I respond on the matter of the schools.

3270

Q620/2022
St Martin's School –
Number of new pupils expected in 2023-24

Clerk: Question 620/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3275

Hon. D J Bossino: How many new pupils are expected to be enrolled into St Martin's School in academic year 2023-24, broken down into ages?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

3280

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, although it is not possible to establish the numbers with certainty just yet, I would predict that approximately 16 new pupils might be expected to be enrolled into St Martin's School, into the pre-pre-school year in Early Birds Nursery for commencement in September 2023.

3285

Hon. D J Bossino: I appreciate that there will be an inherent lack of certainty, but again I would invite him to say something about that because ... The reason why I ask this question is because in the last exchange we had on this issue in the House I asked by way of supplementary ... Because of – how shall I put it? – the shock number that we had last September, when I think it was 24, or something in that region, which he said was, from the Department of Education's point of view, unexpected, I ask him do we know now, more or less, how many children ...? It seems that we have a number ... It is still, although a lesser number – oh, really, only about three? – than September, it is still a very high number compared to the averages we have had over the last 10 years and I would be grateful for his comments in relation to that.

3290

How do we cater, not just in the school, which in many respects, although only very recently constructed – and being as neutral, politically, as I possibly can – is now, in terms of size, not fit for purpose ...? The concern now is – going into the future, into the medium-to-long term – the effect that these numbers are going to have.

3295

He did mention on the last occasion ... I asked a specific question, by way of supplementary, how many children – and he mentioned it now – are going to be using the Early Birds Nursery facility. I can say from personal experience that, for example, when my son accessed that facility I think there were fewer than five, and if you take a snapshot of where we are now, we are talking about more than 40 as things are. So clearly that number is only going to go up and there is a very real potential of that number also going up in terms of the pupils and users who are going to be received at the St Bernardette's facility.

3300

3305 I am putting all of that in there because it is in my head and I just want to get it out there and give him the opportunity to comment on all of that. I suppose what I am asking is what planning the Government has in relation to what is coming.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the largely conciliatory tone of that intervention, but I am not letting him get away with saying that St Martin's School is not fit for purpose. It is extremely fit for purpose. The facilities are excellent and are being very well utilised.

3310 I suspect that what he is referring to is the discussion we had last time, but he himself has confirmed the unpredictability at the time of designing the school that I was alluding to when we had this discussion, because from five, six, seven children a year we have had 19, I think, recently. Now it is 16 – it could be one or two more, so it could be around ... So it confirms the trend, but it also confirms that at the design stage we were looking at the statistics that we had available. I am confident that we will be able, as I have committed here before, to accommodate all these 16 new pupils – be it 16, 15, 17, 18 or 19 – in a school that is extremely fit for purpose.

Hon. D J Bossino: To clarify – and again, it is not that he does not need to let me get away with making the comment – it was only in respect of space. That is what I meant, and clearly the admission of these new 16 – possibly, as he said, a bit more – is going to be plus the same number that have been there now for this academic year, plus the other numbers, so we are going to have ... I would ask him what immediate plans he has in order to cater for these 16. I know there is the possibility, in terms of the construction of that building, of building an extra floor – I think he has said that in the past. Clearly that is not going to happen anytime soon, but in terms of creating space, are we looking at reconfiguring some of the facilities in terms of rooms that are available, for example, for Snoozeland, which is where the kids maybe relax, and maybe turning that into a classroom; or, indeed, as we had in the old St Martin's, the setting up of portacabins again? Obviously parents and users would rather not have to go down that route again.

3330 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, as I said – I think it was at the last meeting or the one before that – we are looking at all options and we will ensure that these children are more than adequately provided for.

3335 Hon. D J Bossino: Will there also be an impact in terms of teacher and LSA staffing levels in terms of catering for these 16-plus new children?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, when I answered my first question today and I pointed out that St Martin's School, on the morning of 15th December, had 22 permanent and 64 non-permanent LSAs, it already shows the commitment. This is a school where you have to have the support, you have to have, sometimes, 2:1 staff-to-pupil support, as the hon. Member is well aware, and therefore these will clearly be provided. We have never stopped short of supplying all the staff that these children need and deserve.

3345 Hon. D J Bossino: Just one final question. I accept it was a bit of a long preamble to my first supplementary, but specifically what plans does his Department have in relation to the ...? This is going to be a feeder school for St Bernadette's into the future, so now that we know these are the numbers ... Hopefully, that number will decrease because some of these children will improve and go into mainstream schooling, but the unfortunate reality is that most of these children are going to be in the system, and so what are we going to do in relation to St Bernadette's and how they are going to be able to cater for that, now we can plan?

3355 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Once again, Mr Speaker, we are well aware of that situation and we are looking at various options in order to deal with it.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q621/2022
Programme of events –
Planned events for 2023

Clerk: Question 621/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3360 Hon. D J Bossino: Please list which events, to include music concerts, the Government or its agencies is planning to hold, sponsor and/or promote during the course of 2023.

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

3365 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I hand over the schedule of proposed events for 2023. Events after 1st April will be subject to provision in next year's Estimates. I must thank the Hon. Minister for Sport and the Hon. Minister of Tourism for supplying information on sports.

3370 I have seen the schedule. I think you may have a previous version because I have seen that the Literary Festival, which I specifically added, has been omitted; so please, with my apologies, accept that there should also be a Gibraltar Literary Festival included.

Answer to Question 621/2022

Culture Events:

Three Kings Cavalcade
GibTalks
Cultural Exchange in Tangier
Young Art Exhibition
World Book Day
Drama Festival
Workers Memorial Day
Shakespeare for Kids
Spring Short Story Competition
Spring Art Exhibition
Spring Celebration of Opera
Book Crossing Day
Calentita Night
Gibraltar Fair
Our Gibraltar Exhibition
National Week Boat Procession
National Day Celebrations to include Jazz at Piazzella, Variety Show and Rock Concert at Casemates
Autumn Classical Concert
Autumn Zarzuela
Cultural Awards
International Art Competition & Exhibition
Autumn Poetry Competition
Autumn Bookmark Competition
Christmas Events (previously Christmas Festival of Lights and the Attractions at John Mackintosh Square)
Gibraltar Literature Week

Sports and Leisure Events:

International Backgammon Tournament
Eagles HC EuroHockey Club Challenge III
Squash International Open
GTSA Open Championships
Veteran Car Rally
Gibraltar Regatta
Harley Davison Motorbike Rally
European Table Soccer Championships
Eurafrica Trail
Junior Darts Corporation World Championships
Rock Masters Ten-Pin Bowling International

3375 Hon. D J Bossino: So just to be clear, and he can correct me if I have misunderstood it, when he says after 1st April, obviously he is talking about the financial year, so these are events which are catered for and have been approved in the last Budget – is that what he means? – but in terms of dates, they may happen after 1st April?

3380 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, what I mean is these are the events that are planned and in a lot of cases they are standard events that happen every year, but we have a budget which is valid until 31st March. If you look at the cultural events, the Drama Festival is in March, so anything after that will be in the next financial year. And in the sports events, the International Backgammon Tournament I think is in February. The rest would be after the end of March, and therefore, although we expect them to be carried out, we do not have the funding voted in this Parliament in order to carry them out. That is a programme which is a fairly standard programme with one or two additional things added.

3385

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q622-23/2022

Household waste –

Process re exportation, recycling, collection and treatment

Clerk: Question 622/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

3390 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, can the Government set out the current process in respect of the exportation, recycling, collection and treatment of household waste?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

3395 Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 623.

Clerk: Question 623/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

3400 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how are articles of household waste that are able to be recycled treated in comparison with other non-recyclable articles, and where are they sent to once they are collected and leave Gibraltar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

3405 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, Gibraltar's household waste, which is both municipal waste and bulky waste, is collected from bin stores around Gibraltar by Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners. It is temporarily stored at the Waste Transfer Station at Europa Advance Road and is then exported to Spain for recovery or disposal under the Transfrontier Shipment of Waste (TFS) regime by a licensed waste exporter.

3410 Mixed municipal waste currently goes to the plant at Los Barrios, where it undergoes mechanical and manual sorting with the residual waste going to landfill.

Separated recyclable waste is collected from kerbside recycling points by Britannia, taken to the Ecopark, sorted as needed, and then exported to authorised treatment facilities in Spain for processing. These exports happen under the Annex VII process of the Waste Shipment Regulations.

3415

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask the Minister: as I understand that process, the recyclables are never then mixed at Europa Advanced Road with the other articles – is that right?

3420 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: That is correct. They do not even go to the same place. The recyclables go to the Ecopark in Devil's Tower Road, and the municipal waste, the common household refuse, goes to the pit at Europa Advanced. I called it the Waste Transfer Station, but I think we know exactly where we mean.

3425 Hon. K Azopardi: The Hon. Minister said that the first process, the non-recyclables, where they are exported under the Transfrontier Shipment of Waste regulations ... I think that comes from the EU regime – is that right? How are these arrangements on the exportation of non-recyclables and recyclables going to be affected? Are they going to be affected in relation to the negotiations being carried out now?

3430 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Essentially, the process has changed. The process used to be one in which the Department of the Environment – and particularly the Environmental Agency, which carries out the supervision and monitors the issuing of these permits – would engage with the authorities of the Junta de Andalucía in Seville. Post-Brexit, it now deals with MITECO, the Environment Ministry in Madrid. The hon. Member will recall the change in the process led to some delays at the beginning of the year of transition, but it is now working and we are now exporting. So the main change has been an administrative one from the permits issuing in Seville to issuing in Madrid.

3435

3440 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask, just finally, on that: even though the processes have changed, as the hon. Member has indicated, in terms of who you are liaising with, are those arrangements that are not giving us problems functioning on an ad hoc temporary basis? Would they be affected in the event of a no-deal scenario?

3445 Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I do not believe so. We are now not working under the EU directives, we are working under the very similar Basel Convention and therefore that is the avenue by which these permits are being requested, so I do not foresee that that need necessarily be a problem.

3450 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, just picking up on the recyclables point, around Gibraltar there are various places where there are recycle bins, depending on which recyclable article goes into which bin. How are they collected? I think it just feeds into this point. My understanding is that a truck pulls up, an arm comes out and picks up the respective bins and effectively puts the recyclables in this unit. So whilst the public are separating their recyclable waste into categories, 3455 this all gets reverted into a truck that then has to separate it again. Is that not how it works? I would be grateful if he could just clarify that, please.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, this is the myth of Gibraltar's recycling. I have been told that it is mixed for the last 11 years, and in these days of social media if it was actually happening we would have had a video showing it.

3460 No, the trucks go from site to site collecting from the different ones. One truck run will be the yellow bins, the next truck run will be the green bins and the next ... So they are different runs, they are not mixed. There have been allegations. We have never, ever seen evidence. If that was the case, then there would be serious consequences on both the company that does it and, I would assume, on the operator who does it. The routes are the same but the process is that they do all the yellows, all the greens and so on.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, that was very helpful. Just one further question that relates to recycling more generally. I noted from his recent public statements that there has been a significant decrease by the population in recycling, and I wonder how the Government, given its purported green credentials, is going to tackle the question and encourage members of our community to reinstate that recycling process.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Well, one of the – (Interjection) No, absolutely. We are indeed, and one of the issues may be this myth, this lack of confidence in the system. Now that I have explained it, I hope we have allies on the other side of the House who will explain that that is not what happens.

3475 Clearly, there are people who do not respect the different receptacles and do mix them – that is a problem – and then it is separated in the depot. I am considering the possibility of legislating against that, something that perhaps may have to happen. But certainly we are actively encouraging in the media – you will have seen it on GBC television – recycling, and we do that in the schools. So hopefully it will pick up.

3480 One would like to think that the decrease in recycling is in fact because we are using less packaging. I am not convinced it is – it would be a wonderful story if that were the reason – but there we are. We have to promote recycling. It is clearly environmentally sound and I just hope that people will regain confidence in the process.

Q624/2022

St Mary's School – Annual rental cost

Clerk: Question 624/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, what is the annual rental cost that will be paid in respect of St Mary's School?

3490 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, the answer remains as provided in the last session of the House in answer to Question 487/2022.

3495 Mr Speaker: If I may interject at this point, Hon. Leader of the Opposition? I came across this question and I noted that it infringed the six months rule, but I used my discretion and allowed it 3500 because it was of public interest. Given that the answer remains as it was last month, I do not think it would be fair for me to allow you to ask any supplementaries.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, obviously I respect your ruling, but the question I was going to ask ... I will just explain it to you, Mr Speaker, and then you can decide.

3505 My recollection – and I know we had an exchange through the Clerk about my explanation on the issue of the six months rule – of the hon. Member’s answer last time was that when I asked specifically what the rental cost was he did not have the information with him, so the purpose of this question was for him to give that information. His answer cannot be like it was last time, because last time he said, ‘I do not have the information with me.’ I have filed the question so that he could then answer it. That is the reason for it.

3510

Mr Speaker: I understand the explanation.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): I actually have the Hansard. Well, I have the note of our own internal transcript of what was said and, Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman said, ‘The figure is in the public domain, in which case, if the figure is in the public domain then the question should not be asked because it is in the public domain.’ And then the Hon. Minister said, ‘If it is in the public domain, it is in the public domain. I do not have it in my head, but if it is in the public domain, there it is.’

3515 Our position in respect of this has not changed. Our position in respect of this is that when the lease is finalised, that is when the actual figure is crystallised and that is when we can give them the actual figure. Everything else is the estimated figure, which is the figure that we were talking about last time, but that does not change and that is exactly the position as it was. If we are going to have the same debate every month despite the rules, then we are not going to be able to make much progress.

3525

Hon. K Azopardi: No, Mr Speaker, I was not intending to have the same debate. I had understood ... and we are all working from our own notes, his note, my note. My note indicated, yes, that there was that exchange, but also an exchange that indicated that the hon. Members did not want to commit to a figure because we had said there was something in the public domain but they were not sure about confirming it and I wanted to give them the opportunity to do so. If they are not prepared to do so until there is a signed document, we will file the question then, but that is the intention of the question. It was not a trap or anything like that. I thought I was responding to their position that they did not want to commit last time because they did not have it in front of them.

3535

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, and what we have to be careful with here is that we could end up with a dispute as to the measurements etc. We do not want to be fixed with having agreed with the hon. Member across the floor of the House a particular amount, maybe the relevant one, if we are then, when it comes to preparing the lease, having a dispute with the landlord as to what the actual amount is, and he turns around and says, ‘Well, actually, the figure that you are disputing now is the figure that you accepted in Parliament is the right one,’ when the time comes and we have measured and we no longer take the view it is the right one.

3540 I want to be very clear that the Government has an estimation, which is the one that we have debated, but the amount will be the amount that is set out in the lease when the parties agree that the measurements are the accurate ones etc., and then that is what is in the interest of the taxpayer.

3545

Procedural –
Question 625/2022 to be asked at tomorrow’s sitting

Mr Speaker: The next question would have been posed by the Hon. Marlene Hassan Nahon, but she had to go off, and so I have agreed that she can put her question at tomorrow’s session.

DEPUTY CHIEF MINISTER

Q626/2022
Rosia Bay expressions of interest –
Reason for short period allowed for submission

Clerk: Question 626/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

3550

Hon. D J Bossino: Why was the time for the submission of expressions of interest in respect of Rosia Bay so short?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

3555

Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, Rosia Bay has already come out to expression of interest several times. The only new component was a decision this time to include the Alternative Fortress headquarters building as part of the EOI. The time given was therefore judged to be enough for interested parties to put their names forward.

3560

Hon. D J Bossino: I am sure the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister is aware of the reaction that some of the NGOs have had to this expressions of interest. An interview was given on behalf of the Gibraltar Heritage Trust by Mr Keith Farrell, where, whereas I think he broadly welcomed the project he was critical of the short period of time in which expressions of interest had been allowed to come forward. In this connection, in his press release he said:

3565

We must however note some concern and reservation that the notice given for submission of any Expressions of Interest is only 2 weeks, which may not be sufficient time for well thought through and feasible proposals.

He then adds:

The Government should consider extending this period to allow more time for high quality proposals.

Do I take it from the hon. Member’s response that that is not being considered by the Government?

3570

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I was aware of the comments issued by the Heritage Trust – indeed, I have them here. Their concern was simply the narrow concern that it may not be sufficient time for well thought, thorough and feasible proposals. We have received well-thought, thorough and reasonable proposals within the time that was given, so that concern, although we understand and fully respect their views, is unfounded.

3575

An expression of interest only requires basic details of a very preliminary nature, literally expressing an interest, indicating the level of premium, indicating the land use. It may include layout plans or sketches or very basic concept design, but it is not a full engineering drawing or architectural drawings that are required for that, so it is possible to do them in a relatively short period of time. There have been five interested parties who have submitted an expression of 3580 interest. Two of them were of the basic type that I have described, but the other three were actually very detailed and included more information than required for an EOI. So although I understand the concerns that were expressed and the Government understands them, in fact the basis for the concerns was not necessarily and I am happy to be able to allay their fears this evening.

3585

Hon. DJ Bossino: Of course, ultimately that is a question of judgement, which I assume is being exercised by the Government and him personally in relation to, if I quote the press statement, whether the proposals are 'well thought through and feasible'.

If I can press him on one further point, the expressions of interest which have been ... As he 3590 says, there have been more than one and I think this may indeed be the third expressions of interest; I was certainly aware of one of them. The difference with this one is that it now includes ...
I think it is called the AOH Centre, and there are certain requirements in relation to what they should provide. It is the AHQ building and it is to be converted into a boutique hotel incorporating an information centre. As I understand it, the original expressions of interests included and 3595 allowed for a residential area. That is not featuring in this EOI and I think the NGOs have commented on that to the extent that they think the expectation is – and in respect of which they are drawing comfort because they objected to that particular feature – there will not be a residential area to be constructed. Can he confirm what the position is in relation to that aspect?

3600 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, let me say, first of all, that the Government has not had the opportunity to examine this in the detail that we would need to actually appoint a preferred bidder. We have gone through them.

The fact that we have received substantial responses in the period of time given is not a question of judgement, it is a matter of fact. The responses are there and we have received them.
3605 There have been several expressions of interest, as I said in the answer. There have not been three, there have been five altogether and these go back to around 1999 when the whole thing started, when Rosia Bay was put out by itself – that is to say only the bay. There was then another one, which included the bay and the nearby Victualling Yard. Then, around that point, which must have been 2000-02, the then Government took the view that it was really not economically or 3610 commercially viable to put out these two sites to tender or to expressions of interest without some kind of residential component forming part of the overall package. Developers who had made representations to them at the time had indicated that the project was not commercially viable, that without some kind of residential element to it the whole thing was not viable.

What happened then, after that, in the next expression of interest, is that the then Government 3615 issued another one, which included the Grand Magazine site with the intention that the residential project at Grand Magazine would be enough to finance the development of the bay and the Victualling Yard. That went out to tender. It was a requirement of the tender that that should happen. In the event, the development at Grand Magazine, which is there today and was supposed to be a three-to-four storey, ended up being an eight or nine-storey development, being 3620 the residential element, but the development, refurbishment and restoration of the bay did not happen because, at the time, the Government agreed with the developer that they would pay the sum of £300,000 and with that sum get out of the commitment to refurbish and restore the bay.
So the residential, which is supposed to be part of the project to finance it commercially, went ahead and the refurbishment/restoration of the bay sadly did not happen, and I say that ... Just to 3625 get to the residential point, some of the proposals the Government has received include a residential element and some of the proposal received do not include a residential element, so there are two types. Clearly the premiums involved are very different.

In terms of the AHQ building, the Heritage Trust was actually consulted in advance. My office arranged with LPS to take them round the building to express views and opinions as to what they 3630 felt could and could not be done and to make that a part of the expression of interest process before it was issued, so this is something which, as the hon. Member has said, the Trust has 3635 actually welcomed. They had also written to the Government before the EOI came out, indicating an understanding that, as a result of the pandemic, economic priorities had changed and there was a need to stimulate and encourage investment and that one way of doing that was putting out the AHQ building for potential use as a boutique hotel, which is what we have done. They also welcomed the holistic approach to the whole area, saying that the hotel would fit in very nicely with that kind of outcome.

3640 So, to answer the hon. Member's question, the Government has not, at this stage, selected a preferred bidder. There are several options and we need to sit down and analyse them properly.

3645 Hon. DJ Bossino: The hon. Member may not be able – it may not be appropriate for him across the floor of the House at this stage because he is going to be considering all five proposals – to indicate what the Government's view is in relation to the residential aspects of the development. He mentions the things which the NGO is happy with, but in fact, in relation to the residential development they perhaps rather naively thought, given the answer he has just given, that ... Well, they took encouragement that the invitation does not refer to residential development, which they describe as a very firm red line for them, as any building of significant massing at the sites, including [inaudible] the historical monuments at the site. Presumably at this stage the hon. Member is unable to assuage the NGO's concerns in relation to that, and it is actually within the realms of possibility, depending on which one he chooses, that there will be a residential aspect to the development.

3655 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: And the next step probably would be that the Government would convene a panel to actually examine two bidders, for example, of the three – the most substantial ones, or indeed perhaps one of the others – in greater depth and greater detail. In the past, the Heritage Trust has formed part of those panels. Even though there have been Government bodies in some of these EOIs with a heritage dimension, they have been included in them to be able to put across their point of view, something they also do as a voting member of the Development and Planning Commission in the event that eventually there were to be a proposal and eventually that proposal were to go to Planning. So there are plenty of opportunities to provide an input in that respect.

3660 There is no preferred bidder, no final decision has been taken and it is a process which is very much at the beginning rather than at the end.

3665 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q627/2022
Old airport terminal –
Plans

Clerk: Question 627/2022. The Hon. DJ Bossino.

3670 Hon. DJ Bossino: Does the Government have any plans for the area of the old airport terminal; and, if so, what are they?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

3675 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr JJ Garcia): Mr Speaker, yes, the old air terminal site went out to expressions of interest and the Government continues in discussion with a preferred bidder.

Hon. D J Bossino: Maybe by way of comparison to the question and answer session we have had in relation to Rosia Bay, do I take it from that ...? I think this expressions of interest is quite dated and maybe he can ... The question is when was it issued. I know it is information which is publicly available. I do not have it in front of me, but how far ...? He says 'a preferred bidder', so 3680 presumably, of all the expressions of interest they have had, they have now alighted on one and he is now discussing the finer detail in relation to that one. Is he able to reveal any information as to what they are going to be doing there?

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, yes, this expression of interest came out ... it must 3685 have been around 2014, around that time, because one of the reasons why the thing was frozen for a while was because the area needed to be used for border queues. Remember, this was a time when I think Margallo was Foreign Minister of Spain and we did not want to commit the site to any other use, given what was actually happening at that moment in time.

We are in negotiation with one preferred bidder. I think we are quite close to coming to an 3690 agreement, given the time it has taken. The intention is that the site would be for commercial use. There would be a pay-and-display multi-storey car park and there would also be storage facilities and a bus terminal, and commercial use generally, in terms of commercial units, retail outlets.

Hon. D J Bossino: Is he able to provide any further detail in relation to that, in terms of how 3695 many commercial units, parking spaces, the size, that type of thing? And does he know when he expects to be in a position to announce the launch of the project?

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, we are not there yet. Obviously, some of this is 3700 commercially sensitive and I would not like to make any announcement – far from it – until we have actually concluded the negotiation.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Roy Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker.
3705 Can I ask the Minister whether this particular project would form part of the National Economic Plan?

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, no.

Mr Speaker: Next question.
3710

Q628/2022

Midtown car park rooftop residential development – Expressions of interest

Clerk: Question 628/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many expressions of interest have been received for the 3715 residential development on the rooftop level of Midtown car park, and has the Government identified a preferred bidder?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister.

3720 Deputy Chief Minister (Hon. Dr J J Garcia): Mr Speaker, a total of 11 expressions of interest have been received in respect of a residential development at the rooftop level of Midtown car park. The Government has not yet identified a preferred bidder.

3725 Hon. K Azopardi: I guess these have arrived fairly recently, so you would want some time to consider, but does the Government have a view on breaking that down? Are they very diverse in their expressions of interest?

3730 Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I can say that nine were in respect of residential developments of different types. Some had a greater density, others were smaller, single dwellings, and two were for leisure activities.

Hon. K Azopardi: Leisure mixed with residential?

Hon. Deputy Chief Minister: [Inaudible]

Adjournment

3735 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, there is nothing that makes me happier than to hear hon. Members laugh at Joe Bossano, because he always gets the last laugh.

3740 Tomorrow is the fourth Thursday of December and we will come back at three o'clock for Chief Minister's Questions. The reason we did not meet on the third Thursday in December is because we had our welcome guests in the area of the foyer and the lobby, GBC, who were holding their GBC open day on that day.

I look forward to returning tomorrow and I now move that the House should adjourn to tomorrow at 3 p.m.

3745 Mr Speaker: I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Thursday, 22nd December at 3 p.m.

I now put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn to Thursday, 22nd December at 3 p.m. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

This House will now adjourn to Thursday, 22nd December at 3 p.m.

The House adjourned at 8.46 p.m.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE GIBRALTAR PARLIAMENT

AFTERNOON SESSION: 3.04 p.m. – 8.24 p.m.

Gibraltar, Thursday, 22nd December 2022

Contents

Questions for Oral Answer	4
Chief Minister	4
Q635/2022 COVID-19 memorial – Government plans	4
Q636/2022 Rt Hon. Alexander Downer – Reason for payments re legal fees	4
Q637/2022 Bullying claims against Government or GDC – Claims and settlements	5
Q638 and Q645/2022 GDC – Number of vacancies; number of current employees	6
Q639 and Q648-49/2022 Government agencies and authorities, HM Customs, and Borders and Coastguard Agency – Number of vacant posts.....	6
Q646-47/2022 Administrator posts in Government Departments – Number of vacancies and number of acting or temporary post holders.....	6
Q640/2022 Chatham Views – Changes to plans and designs.....	11
Q641-42/2022 Bob Peliza Mews, Chatham Views and Hassan Centenary Terraces – Construction costs	11
Q643/2022 Flight diversions to Malaga – Arrangements for Gibraltar passengers.....	15
Q644/2022 ITLD – Resolution of dispute.....	17
Q650/2022 Dialysis patients – Arrangements re treatment whilst in EU member states	18
Q651/2022 Tax returns – Online registrations	19
Q652/2022 Airport terminal – Anticipated opening date	20
Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB	21
Q544/2022 Construction Training Centre Manager – Breakdown of costs	21
Q545/2022 Modular units – Financial arrangements	22

Q546-47/2022 Public finances – Update	22
Q548-49/2022 GBIC Ltd – Directors’ remuneration; National Economic Plan projects	22
Q550-53/2022 Community Supplies and Services Ltd – Fees paid to directors as directors or lawyers; purchase of loans notes and security given; charity registration.....	22
Q554-56/2022 National Economic Plan – Role of Gibraltar Properties Ltd and GSBA Ltd; cost to date and proportion financed by GSB	22
Q557-59/2022 Victoria Stadium – Loan notes and security given; financial analysis re viability	23
Q531/2022 Chilton Court youth club – Source of funding for proposed development – Supplementary questions	35
Q560/2022 Government-owned companies – Number of vacancies	38
Q561-62/2022 North Mole Road parking facility – Developer; intended users	40
Q563/2022 Workers’ hostel – Location, timing and developer.....	40
Q564/2022 Community Services and Supplies Ltd – Role	40
Q565/2022 Wonderworks Media Ltd – Employees in Government Departments	40
Q566/2022 Child welfare payments – December delay	49
Q567/2022 £25 million additional borrowing – Whether used.....	49
Q568-69/2022 Victoria Stadium – Premium re site development; room composition of apartments.....	49
Q570-72/2022 Victoria Stadium – GSB loan to GFA; expected cost; UEFA/FIFA involvement in cost	56
Q573/2022 Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB – Criteria for seeing constituents with grievances	56
Q574/2022 Disability allowances – Decision-making body	56
Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education.....	61
Q625/2022 Sewage treatment plant – Announcement re successful bidder and start date	61
The House recessed at 7.31p.m. and resumed at 7.46 p.m.	62
Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations	62
Q629-30/2022 Carrying and use of offensive weapons – Convictions in past four years	62
Q631/2022 National Disability Strategy – Expected date of publication	63
Q632/2022 Bayside School – GRA investigation re breach of data protection	64
Q633-34/2022 Fees paid to law firms by Government – Services provided	65
Questions for Written Answer	67
Order of the Day	68
Government motion	68
Social Security (Open Long-Term Benefits Scheme) (Amendment of Benefits) Order 2022 – Motion carried	68
Bills	69
First and Second Reading.....	69
Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 – First Reading approved	69

Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 – Second Reading approved....	69
Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 – Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting.....	73
Committee Stage and Third Reading.....	73
Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 – Clauses considered and approved with amendment.....	73
Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 – Third Reading approved: Bill passed.....	74
Adjournment.....	74
The House adjourned at 8.24 p.m.	75

The Gibraltar Parliament

The Parliament met at 3.04 p.m.

[MR SPEAKER: Hon. M L Farrell BEM GMD RD JP in the Chair]

[CLERK TO THE PARLIAMENT: S. C. Galliano Esq in attendance]

Questions for Oral Answer

CHIEF MINISTER

Q635/2022
COVID-19 memorial –
Government plans

Clerk: Meeting of Parliament, Wednesday, 22nd December 2022.
We continue with Answers to Questions.

5 Mr Speaker: A slight correction: today is Thursday.

Clerk: Question 635/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

10 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state when it intends to erect a memorial to those who were lost to COVID-19?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

15 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the Government is currently finalising plans for the erection of the COVID-19 memorial and expects to make an announcement early in the New Year.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q636/2022
Rt Hon. Alexander Downer –
Reason for payments re legal fees

20 Clerk: Question 636/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state why the Government is paying the Rt Hon. Alexander Downer £3,000 a month in respect of legal fees?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

25 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the Government has contracted the professional services of the Rt Hon. Alexander Downer in respect of work related to the United Kingdom and Gibraltar's departure from the European Union and the establishment of commercial links with other Commonwealth countries.

30 Mr Downer is a former Foreign Minister of Australia, a post he held for 11 years, and a former Australian High Commissioner to London between 2014 and 2018. He is, therefore, well qualified in the areas in which he works with us.

Hon. E J Phillips: I am grateful for the answer. I was just slightly perplexed that the cost of this service that the Rt Hon. Alexander Downer was providing the Government was included in a legal services schedule, given the fact that I do not believe that this individual is legally qualified, and therefore I wonder whether the Chief Minister might investigate whether this amount might be more appropriately put in a different schedule, rather than for legal services.

40 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Deputy Chief Minister I think is right in saying that this is paid for through the office of the Attorney General because he is running that part of the negotiation and this cost has been assigned there. Like him, I too believe that Mr Downer does not have a legal qualification so it would not be a legal fee. I think it is being paid through the GLO office and for that reason may have been put on a legal expenses list, but I will go back and ask that it be removed from a schedule that relates to legal expenses.

45

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q637/2022

Bullying claims against Government or GDC – Claims and settlements

Clerk: Question 637/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

50 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many bullying claims have been made against the Government or the GDC, and how many has the Government settled and for what amount?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

55 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the Employment (Bullying at Work) (Amendment) Act 2022 came into operation on 27th May 2022. This Act introduced vicarious liability of employers for their employees' conduct, as prior to its introduction there was no such liability.

There are currently 22 claims at different stages of the grievance process.

60 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many bullying claims has the Government settled since the amendments were introduced?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, from the schedule I have before me, I think I can point to one that has been settled.

65

Hon. D A Feetham: Can he indicate what amount that claim has been settled for?

Hon. Chief Minister: From the information I have here, Mr Speaker, £5,000.

70 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q638 and Q645/2022

GDC –

Number of vacancies; number of current employees

Q639 and Q648-49/2022

Government agencies and authorities, HM Customs, and Borders and Coastguard Agency –

Number of vacant posts

Q646-47/2022

Administrator posts in Government Departments –

Number of vacancies and number of acting or temporary post holders

Clerk: Question 638/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many vacancies are there within the GDC?

75 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Questions 639 and 645 to 649.

80 Clerk: Question 639/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many vacancies are there within Government agencies and authorities, identifying the agency and authority?

85 Clerk: Question 645/2022. The Hon. K Azopardi.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many people are currently employed within the Gibraltar Development Corporation at 13th December 2022?

90 Clerk: Question 646/2022. The Hon. K Azopardi.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many vacant administrative posts in Government Departments were there on 13th December 2022?

95 Clerk: Question 647/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: How many officers were occupying administrative posts in Government Departments on an acting or temporary basis at 13th December 2022, broken down by particular clerical grade?

100 Clerk: Question 648/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: How many vacant posts were there in HM Customs at 13th December 2022, including those filled by officers on an acting basis or on temporary promotion?

105 Clerk: Question 649/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: How many vacant posts were there in the Borders and Coastguard Agency at 13th December 2022, including those filled by officers on an acting basis or on temporary promotion?

110

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

115 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, successive administrations, including the one the Hon. Mr Feetham and the Hon. Mr Azopardi were a part of, have consistently told the House they take the view that the GDC is a provider of labour. Consequently, there are no vacancies within the GDC. The continuity of roles within the GDC is assessed on a case-by-case basis and there are currently six posts within the GDC ongoing recruitment as at 13th December 2022.

In respect of Questions 639 and 647, I now hand over a schedule with the information requested.

Answer to Questions 639/2022

Agency	No of Vacant Posts
Borders & Coastguard Agency	5
Gibraltar Electricity Authority	30
Gibraltar Health Authority	105
Gibraltar Industrial Cleaners Ltd	10
Gibraltar Port Authority	3
Gibraltar Sports & Leisure Agency	1
Housing Works Agency	17

Answer to Questions 647/2022

Substantive Grade	Substitution Grade	No of Officer
AO	HEO	4
AO	EO	31
AA	PS	2
AA	EO	1
AA	AO	37
EO	HEO	25
PS	EO	2
HEO	SEO	17
HEO	Accountant	1
GDC Gd 1	AO	8
GDC Gd 1	EO	2
GDC Gd 1	GDC Gd 2	5
GDC Gd 2	EO	1
GDC Gd 2	GDC Gd 3	1
GDC Gd 3	GDC Gd 4	1
SEO	SO	5
Assistant Director	Director	1
TYPIST	EO	1
Clerk/Word Processor	AO	1
Stats Lvl2	Stats Lvl4	1

A total of 273 persons were employed with the Gibraltar Development Corporation as at 13th December 2022.

125 There were a total of 72 vacant administrative posts within Government Departments as at 13th December 2022, of which eight vacant posts are within HM Customs, two of which are covered by acting officers and six of which are vacant posts for customs officers.

There are five vacant posts within the Borders and Coastguard Agency.

130 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, while I look at the schedule and put any appropriate supplementary to the Chief Minister, can I first start by asking him, given that he says that there are 72 administrative posts that were vacant in Government Departments – I think that is the number he gave me – is it the view of the Government that they will commence or undertake the recruitment in respect of those posts, and how many of those posts are being currently recruited or filled?

135 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, that process ... it is not a question of it having begun or not begun, it is a process which is constantly ongoing. There are vacant administrative posts and the process in the Civil Service, as he will recall from when he was in government, is that you start to fill the ones at the top, and as a vacancy becomes open at the top you fill it and that leads to another vacancy below. And so that is an ongoing process. There are boards ongoing for SO and 140 SEO, then there will be boards for HEO and EO etc. So that is an ongoing process.

It is not a large vacancy rate in the context of the Civil Service. It is a 2.6% vacancy rate, and that is not vacant posts at the bottom; that is promotions which are being provided for almost all the time.

145 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the reason I ask that question ... and obviously I hear what the Chief Minister has said, but his Minister for Economic Stability has indicated in the press on a number of occasions that it is not necessarily the case, given the current situation, that vacant posts will be filled. Is he saying that the policy of the Government will be to fill those vacancies?

150 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the position of the Minister for Economic Stability is a little bit more complex than that. What we are embarked on, for example, in the filling of vacancies throughout the hierarchy of the Civil Service, is ensuring that the resources of the public sector more generally are properly applied. So, if you are paying for someone in the wider public sector, then the fact that they are brought into the Civil Service to fill a vacancy, if they fill the criteria for 155 that and they go through the proper process of application, is not going to affect financial stability because you are paying for that person in any event.

I think it is not possible to extrapolate from the statements of the Minister that there is anything which contradicts what I am saying in respect of the Civil Service, because the hon. Gentleman has not asked about the public sector, he has asked about the Civil Service. In terms 160 of the wider public sector, which is the Civil Service, the GDC, the companies and all of the agencies and authorities, we do not want to see that grow any further, but that does not mean that each of those constituent elements of the public sector should not, where appropriate, have their vacancies filled in the Civil Service as one of those where we are doing that and we are constantly doing that.

165 Hon. K Azopardi: My understanding of the answer, then, is that they will do so on a case-by-case basis, depending on which department requires it or does not require it. I think that is how I have understood the answer, but he can clarify perhaps when he gets up whether that understanding is correct.

170 Can I ask him also, if he has the information in front of him ...? I have asked about the vacant administrative posts and he said 72. Does he have information as to which departments those arise in?

175 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the information I have does not break down where those posts are. Usually that is information that I would see at the time of the preparation of the Estimates Book in the event that there were any vacancies that had not been filled at that time, and then the assessment can be made about whether or not a vacancy has been kept vacant because it is not considered by a head of department, for example, to be necessary to fill it, or a wider discussion is required about filling it. But I have not got that information broken down by department.

180

Hon. K Azopardi: Will the Chief Minister provide me with that information if I write to him to request that information? Otherwise, I am happy to file a fresh question on that basis.

185 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I think it probably better to file a fresh question, because in any event we are about to go into a break now, which will take us to more or less the time when I will be calling the next meeting of the House in January, and I think it will be helpful for all of us if the information is provided into Hansard rather than simply by exchange of letter in respect of this, as it is a follow-up about this particular number.

190 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Edwin Reyes.

Hon. K Azopardi: Can I just ask, on the answer to Question ... Oh, it is my hon. colleague Mr Feetham, so I will not – (Interjection by Hon. D A Feetham) No, you can ask that.

195 Mr Speaker, on Question 647, which is my question – I will keep to mine, if I may, at this stage – I see that there were 37, I think, AAs acting in AO posts. Am I reading this table correctly? That is that is how I understand it, the answer to Question 647. As I understand the breakdown, the first column presumably is the grade that the officer has and the second column is the grade in which they are acting. I am assuming that is how it works. There are quite a number of AAs, as I understand the table, acting as AOs – 37, if I am reading it correctly – and 25 EOs acting as HEOs. Again, I ask the same question: is the Government taking steps to substantively fill these posts?

200

205 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the answer to that is yes, as part of a process that I have provided for. When there are those vacancies, there is not always ... The words 'vacant post' do not mean necessarily that there is no one there. It means that there is somebody acting up into the post. He will recall that we had a recruitment of a large number of AAs – time is a little bit elastic now; I do not know whether it was just after the pandemic or just before, and I do not want, on my feet, to speculate about the date – and so at the bottom we had more people than we had vacancies in order to be able to ensure that as we filled the vacant posts they provided the number of people required below as well from the pool that was available, already recruited. That does not mean the post is not vacant. The post is vacant until the PSC nominates the individual who is going to fill it and the Governor signs off in that respect, but there is a person acting in the post and at the bottom you have more than you had provided for, and therefore everything should settle into the complement being filled.

210

215 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Daniel Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, thank you very much.

220 In relation to Question 639, the Gibraltar Health Authority, the number of posts is 105. Last night, the Hon. the Minister for Health indicated that there were 1,100 employees within the GHA. That is 10%, I make it. (Interjection) Well, even if it is ... Let me just ask the question, because it may well be that we have got the figure wrong. I have asked my colleagues and they have heard the same thing. In any event, the question is this: does he consider that 105 vacancies within the GHA, on the information he has, is unusually high? And, if so, what is the reason for that high number? It does appear, to me, to be high at 105.

225 Minister for Digital, Financial Services, Health Authority and Public Utilities (Hon. A J Isola):
Mr Speaker, yesterday I had an exchange in Parliament with my hon. Friend the Leader of the Opposition and I undertook to get him some further information and breakdown in respect of the vacancies. Remember, there were nine filled, nine in the process of interviews and a further 36 which were going to be taken up in January. I promised to write to the hon. Member and give him 230 some more details. This morning, as I have been going through those numbers I have been told that there are more than the number I disclosed yesterday to the hon. Member, and I have now seen the 105 in this answer, so I will pursue the answer to give correct information if what I gave yesterday was wrong. If that was wrong and this is right, then that requires a different answer. If my information yesterday was right and this is wrong, that it is not 105 but closer towards 50 235 something, which is the number that I gave yesterday, 36 plus nine, plus nine ... I think with the GHA, as I mentioned yesterday in two different interventions, there are certain areas where –

Hon. K Azopardi: Will the hon. Member give way?

240 Hon. A J Isola: Yes, of course.

Hon. K Azopardi: If the hon. Member will give way, I think all the figures may be correct, because if he recalls, when he gave me the figure of 54 it was at a different point in time, and my hon. colleague has now asked a question subsequently in terms of the numbers of current 245 vacancies, so the situation will have moved on because when he gave me that figure, 54, I think it was probably about a month or six weeks ago. So it may be that yes, the figure he gave me was correct yesterday in relation to the figure of 54 – how many posts had been filled and how many were ongoing in terms of recruitment – but since that time there is now a much bigger number of vacancies. If that is helpful ...

250 Hon. A J Isola: I am grateful for that. The information I was disclosing yesterday was the current position. In other words, the information as to how many interviews are actually in progress now, how many we are going to be working on in January. So there is a difference in numbers and I realised when I saw this answer that there is a discrepancy and we will need to revert.

255 What I was going to say was, as I also disclosed yesterday in answer to questions, there are certain services that we have actually subcontracted in, to get help. Those will be in areas where we have not been able to fill some of the vacancies. So the jobs are being done. The numbers of vacancies ... It is not that that work is not happening, the work is happening. Is that number higher than I would like? I said yesterday I thought 50 in an organisation of some 1,100 – I think it is just 260 over – is a relatively low number. If it is 100, then it is a little bit more – it gets closer to 10% rather than 5%. I will undertake to revert to the hon. Member with more details and clarity in respect of what is the actual position in respect of these numbers of vacancies at the GHA.

Hon. D A Feetham: Bearing in mind that he is going to revert, could he also perhaps provide a 265 breakdown of where these 105 – if it is 105, or if it is 54 – vacancies actually lie? That perhaps will then allow us to analyse the figures and ask further questions next time, Mr Speaker.

Hon. A J Isola: Yes, Mr Speaker.

270 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Edwin Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, sir. You may recall during the course of this current calendar year I have had, at times, questions to the Hon. Minister for Sport in respect of the staffing at the Gibraltar Sports and Leisure Authority. I think there is a typing error in the Chief 275 Minister's schedule, because by legislation it is Sports and Leisure Authority.

The Minister was telling me at the time that he was in the process of undergoing discussions in respect of the staffing and so on. Seeing that the Chief Minister, in his answer, has put that there is one vacant post, does that mean the staffing exercise is now completed and therefore one post will be subsequently advertised, or is the Chief Minister basing these figures on what had 280 been previously agreed, which may or may not result in the advertisement of one post?

[A mobile phone rings]

Minister for Housing, Employment, Youth and Sport (Hon. S E Linares): Mr Speaker, it happens to be my mum. (Interjections) Yes. Hi, Mum. Sorry.

Mr Speaker, in relation to that vacancy, it is one where somebody has probably retired and will 285 be replaced automatically. We are still going through the process of looking at staffing levels in the GSLA, but the information that the Chief Minister would have got, rightly, is one vacancy.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Then, in Question 638 my hon. colleague Mr Feetham asked about vacancies in the GDC, to 290 which the Chief Minister explained that there were zero because those are on a case-by-case basis. Last month, in exchanges I had with the Father of the House, he was telling us that the process was ongoing because the adverts had gone out in respect of the Construction Training Centre – one post for centre manager and I think it was two, if not three, instructor posts – and applications were invited to be sent to the GDC. Because the Chief Minister said it is on a case-by-295 case basis, does he have any more information in that respect? I believe, sir, later on the Order Paper you are going to allow me to ask about the Training Centre manager, but not ... I had not filed a question in respect of the other vacancies because I know it was only asked a month ago. Given that this has arisen now, maybe the Chief Minister does have some information in respect of the instructors, not the Training Centre manager, in this GDC vacancy.

300

Hon. Chief Minister: I do not, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q640/2022
Chatham Views –
Changes to plans and designs

Q641-42/2022
Bob Peliza Mews, Chatham Views and Hassan Centenary Terraces –
Construction costs

Clerk: Question 640/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.
305

Hon. D J Bossino: Please state whether the plans and designs for Chatham Views have been changed in order to accommodate current residents of the old Westside School. I think Westside Mews is probably appropriate.

310 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I will answer with Questions 641 and 642.

Clerk: Question 641/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

315 Hon. D J Bossino: Why has the Government not already negotiated the construction prices for Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views?

Clerk: Question 642/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

320 Hon. D J Bossino: When were the construction costs agreed in respect of Hassan Centenary, broken down in respect of each phase?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

325 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the design for Chatham Views has not been changed in order to retain the Westside Mews building. The easternmost block has been shifted slightly south but the layout and configuration of the apartment blocks and the apartments has not changed.

The tenders for Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views were issued over three and a half years ago. During this period, there have been major changes in construction costs due to external factors such as COVID-19. In order to ensure that HMGoG receives value for money, a decision 330 has been taken to retender the projects on a competitive basis rather than negotiate with a preferred bidder.

The construction costs for Hassan Centenary Terraces were established through the tender process carried out for the entire project. These costs were agreed in December 2019, albeit there 335 were some commercial points to close out.

Hon. D J Bossino: If I can take the last point first, in relation to Hassan Centenary, Mr Speaker, he refers to one date, which is the December 2019 date, and in fairness to him, in answers to supplementary questions that we had in the last session he said that as far as phase 1 was 340 concerned the contract price had been fixed before COVID, I think he said, so that is before March 2020, and I am assuming that that is the date which applies, but that in relation to phase 2 it was fixed before, I think he said, the war in Ukraine, which would have been February this year.

Can he give a bit more information – because I have not been able to take a full, detailed note of his answer – in relation to the date? He has only provided one date. Is that the date when the 345 construction costs were agreed in respect of both phases? Is that his position now?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker. In fairness to me – and I am surprised that the hon. Gentleman gets up to say that he is going to preface things ‘in fairness’; I do not think there is any other way in which we should be addressing each other, other than in fairness – what I have said
350 is that in December 2019 the constructions costs were established through a tender process but there were commercial aspects to provide for, and those commercial aspects included some elements which relate to aspects of the price. Those had not been resolved until, I think, May 2022, when we were able to start the second phase, and the second phase included the work on the revetment, not just the work on the towers.

355 Hon. D J Bossino: Let’s put it in simple terms. In relation to phase 2, the costs were fixed in May 2022, as I understand it, once the commercial aspects had been provided for, he says, in relation to the price. In relation to phase 1, at what point in time were the construction costs in relation to that development fixed? The concern here – and I raised it at the last session of the House – is that the information I have received is that construction started before there was a 360 fixing of a price and that that in itself has resulted in an over-expenditure to the tune of ... I have been provided with various figures of between £30 million and £50 million. If we had had a fixed price earlier, that would not have happened. That is the concern that we have on this side of the House insofar as the management of this particular development is concerned.

365 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is wrong, the information that has come to him is wrong and the figures that have been given to him are entirely wrong because the basis on which they have been provided to him is wrong. I checked the dictionary definition of the word 'drivel', which he used yesterday: it means nonsense, and what he has said is drivel.

370 Hon. D J Bossino: Can he answer the specific question that I required clarification on, which related to when the price was fixed in respect of phase 1? He has given me a lot of dates. He has mentioned December 2019, no doubt in order to provide as confusing an answer as possible, but can he ...? He says that May 2022, as I understood it, was the date of the fixing of the price in respect of phase 2. When was the fixing of the price in respect of phase 1 arrived at, contractually signed?
375

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I do not think I have given him a lot of information in order to confuse him, but of course that betrays the principle that when faced with a lot of information he believes he might be confused, which is a worrying aspect for somebody who purports to want to do a ministerial job, because in a ministerial job you will find that you face a lot of information a lot of the time.
380

Hon. D J Bossino: [Inaudible] and I do not think that is parliamentarily acceptable and he should be called to order.
385

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am not casting aspersions on anyone's character. The hon. Gentleman has said that I have given him a lot of information in order to confuse him. That suggests he is a person who, when faced with a lot of information, is potentially confused. He may have cast an aspersion on his character if he believes that putting a lot of information to a person leads them to confusion. It is a matter for him, but in fact I do not seek to cast aspersions on his character. I think his character speaks for itself and there is no need for me to characterise his character in any way. If he wants the information, I have a date here: 18th December 2019.
390

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, are you going to give a ruling in relation to the point of order I have just raised? (Interjection) (A Member: Wow!) [Inaudible]
395

A Member: You give me a lot of information to confuse me.

Hon. Chief Minister: If I get all the information, I may be confused.
400

Mr Speaker: I think Members need to settle down after lunch and just get stuck in and dig into the answers given by the Government, and both sides should refrain from using words which cast aspersions on individuals. I would ask you to continue with the way that the questions were being answered and put before by other Members of the Opposition and let's continue in that vein.
405

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, in relation to the answer the hon. Gentleman provided in relation to Question 641, I think he talked about retendering. The point is – and this ties in with the response he gave at the last session of the House, which is that construction prices had as yet not been arrived at or indeed fixed because they had not been negotiated yet in relation to Bob Peliza Mews and Chatham Views – we also have information from the hon. Gentleman, in answer to questions that we posed, that the prices in respect of those flats which have been allocated will remain fixed insofar as those purchasers are concerned. Given the rise in inflation and given, therefore, the reported rise in construction costs in the region of 30% or 35%, according to the international press, will that not result in the Gibraltar taxpayer having to foot the excess bills?
410

415 Hon. Chief Minister: I could not hear what you said because the expression seemed to have been tangled on your tongue.

Mr Speaker, the things that are said in the international press about construction prices –

420 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Chief Minister, as I mentioned before, should just get on with the question without making any remarks that might upset other people.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, if I am not going to make any remarks that might upset the hon. Member opposite, then my answer will be in words of one syllable: no.

425 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, he carries on and does it. He has completely ignored your recommendation.

430 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I begged the hon. Gentleman's pardon because I did not hear the last phrase. He made a barbed comment from a sedentary position, so I responded in kind. The hon. Gentleman is the typical who can give it but cannot take it. He needs to learn just not to give it so he does not have to take it, or to give it and take it.

435 Hon. D J Bossino: Can the hon. Gentleman be stopped? What is he talking about, giving it and taking it? Again, he is casting aspersions on my character. He keeps on doing it. He is not following your recommendation.

Hon. Chief Minister: How am I casting aspersions on your character [inaudible] give and take?

440 Hon. D J Bossino: [Inaudible]

Mr Speaker: The Chief Minister was supposed to answer a question posed by the Hon. Damon Bossino. Can the Hon. Damon Bossino repeat the question?

445 Hon. D J Bossino: I think he has answered.

Mr Speaker: Right.

450 Hon. K Azopardi: Can I ask in relation to the answer that they are going to retender on Bob Peliza and Chatham Views, is that a recently arrived-at position?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, it is one we have informed the House of some time ago, already.

455 Hon. K Azopardi: I welcome that clarification. It is just that, if he recalls, I had asked about Bob Peliza and Chatham Views and he said, 'Ask me in February and I will be able to give you ...', so I thought that perhaps there had been, now, a new decision to retender. That is not the case?

460 Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, the answer I gave him was that we were tendering, that we would be fixing the prices in that context and that that process would not be finished until then, and that is when I expected to be able to give him the numbers.

465 Hon. D J Bossino: Just by way of clarification, in relation to the answer the hon. Gentleman gave in respect of Question 640, which dealt with Chatham Views, did he say that it is the ...? As I understand it, there are two blocks and one is on the eastern side and that is the one that is being shifted slightly – I think he used that term – in a southerly direction, and that is presumably to make space for the residential area which is now being kept. It was not going to be kept in the original plans; there was an open space there. Is that the position? Have I understood his reply correctly?

470 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, that is an accurate comprehension of the first answer I gave.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, are purchasers aware of the change of plans? I am told that there are individuals who will be expecting to find an open space on the northern side of that particular block, and now they are going to be faced with a building. Are they aware of the change 475 of plans? Is that known to the purchasers?

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, Mr Speaker, it appears from the way that he has structured his question that the answer can only be yes.

480 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q643/2022

Flight diversions to Malaga – Arrangements for Gibraltar passengers

Clerk: Question 643/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, what measures are in place for passengers on flight diversions to Malaga to be able to cross the Frontier to catch flights there and leave the aircraft to return to 485 Gibraltar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, HM Government of Gibraltar has been in 490 contact with the Spanish government following the difficulties faced by air passengers diverted to Malaga airport from Gibraltar last week. I have received assurances directly from the Spanish Minister of the Interior, Sr Fernando Grande-Marlaska, that the Spanish authorities at the border will continue to accept a boarding pass for a diverted Gibraltar flight departing from Malaga as a valid reason for entering the Schengen Area. Additionally, passenger manifests will be provided 495 to ensure accurate data is available containing those who are coming into Schengen because they are booked on a diverted flight.

Any suggestion that British citizens require any sort of visa to enter the Schengen Area for less than 90 days is nonsensical and has no basis in European law.

500 May I add that in all my communications with him, Sr Grande-Marlaska has always sought to be helpful and has shown a regard for the well-being of people who may have to cross the Frontier for all legitimate reasons, although his very positive attitude may not always filter through to the front line.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, can he assist the House, perhaps by way of explanation, in 505 connection with the requirement that ...? As I understand it, the implementation of this measure affected only British nationals and other non-Schengen nationals. It did not affect British nationals who are eligible residents and were able to produce a red ID card. Why is there a need for the boarding pass?

510 I know of individuals who were there at the relevant time and the question that was being put to me was why haven't the immigration authorities on the Spanish side of the Frontier allowed British nationals who are not residents of Gibraltar simply to cross over and stamped them in the usual way? So they would be stamped going into Schengen and then stamped again leaving Malaga. Why the need for that extra layer?

515 Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, this Government is not answerable in this House for the actions of the Spanish immigration authorities.

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Daniel Feetham.

520 Hon. D A Feetham: I was on that flight and I can tell the House what actually happened because I was at the very front. Essentially, we crossed the Frontier from the Gibraltar terminal and Spanish police officers set us to one side. One of the Spanish police officers then came round asking for those with Spanish passports. Those with Spanish passports were then allowed to cross. I then intervened and said, 'Well, I have a Spanish passport and a Gibraltar ID card.

525

Two Members: A British passport.

Hon. D A Feetham: A British passport, sorry. I beg your pardon. (Interjections) That's right. We are in the Christmas and generous spirit here, so I will give them ammunition for their next grubby podcast.

530

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I am sorry, on a point of order –

Hon. D A Feetham: I am going to ask a question.

535

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, how can we not have aspersions cast on our character and, indeed, our production facilities if our podcasts are referred to as grubby?

Hon. D A Feetham: I will withdraw then – their magnificent podcasts. So they can use that in their magnificent podcast. (Interjection by Hon. Chief Minister)

540

I showed my passport and the ID card and they allowed me to cross. One of the things that I regret not doing at the time is saying to the Spanish police officer, 'Hang on a minute, it has nothing to do with a boarding pass – British passport holders are perfectly entitled to cross and then,' as the hon. Gentleman, my hon. Friend has said, 'get stamped going into Schengen and then get stamped in Malaga airport coming out of Schengen.'

545

Is that the understanding from the Government of Gibraltar's point of view, that nothing should have prevented them from actually going into the Schengen Area? They could have been stamped and they could have been stamped coming out at Malaga when they left.

This not designed to be contentious, by the way, so I hope the hon. Gentleman does not take it in that way.

550

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, I do not believe that the hon. Gentleman is being contentious by factually telling us what happened to him, and I am grateful that he has shared that with the House, but I must tell him that what he is wrong about is his interpretation of the Schengen rules. A British citizen is not entitled to enter Schengen. Those days are gone. We were entitled – No, whether we are stamped or not. We are not entitled to enter Schengen. You have to understand that, because it is fundamental to understanding how we resolve issues that British citizens, whether they are resident in Gibraltar or not, may have crossing the Gibraltar-Spain Frontier into Schengen.

555

We are able to access the Schengen area without a visa if we can prove what we are going to do and we have evidence that that is what we are going to do. Therefore, in some instances one may need proof of a reservation to go and do a thing, and one may need proof of one's ability to sustain oneself within the Schengen Area for that period. So if you say, 'I am going to catch a

560

565 flight,' and you do not have evidence that you are going to catch a flight, in particular because you do not have a booking for a flight that leaves Malaga airport because your flight was not ever intended to leave Malaga airport, you may be asked to prove that you are on a diverted aircraft and that you have a boarding pass for that diverted aircraft.

570 It is a complete misnomer to think that because we are not visa-requiring nationals, because British citizens are not visa-requiring nationals, we are entitled to enter Schengen. Those days are gone. Brexit did for that. We are no longer European citizens. We do not have the right to access the Schengen immigration zone.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q644/2022
ITLD –
Resolution of dispute

Clerk: Question 644/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

575

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how is the Government going to address the dispute with civil servants in ITLD?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

580

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, HM Government of Gibraltar continues to liaise with ITLD through its representative union, the GGCA. The Government has tabled a series of measures further to the concerns expressed by the workforce. We are optimistic that there will be a favourable resolution very soon.

585

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, does the Government recognise there is a dispute with ITLD?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the Government does not declare a dispute. The Government has not declared a dispute with ITLD. The structure of our Trade Union and Disputes Act allows a union to declare a dispute with the employer, in this case the Government.

590

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, the union appears to have declared a dispute, but the Government appears not to recognise that there was a dispute. Hence my question: does the Government recognise there is a dispute with the GGCA in relation to ITLD?

595

Hon. Chief Minister: The union has declared a dispute. The Government is seeking to resolve any issues that we may have with the members of the union who are responsible for ITLD. If I may say so, Mr Speaker, despite attempts extraneous to the union, to ITLD and to the Government to create more problems, I am very happy to say that both the leadership of the union, the leadership of the Digital Services Ministry, the Industrial Relations Ministry and my office, with the people in ITLD, have been able to assess what the issues between us are and have worked very well to try to resolve them, trying genuinely to understand what may be causing difficulties and how those can be resolved and those concerns can be assuaged. I think that is the best way to continue to try to work together going forward.

600

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, does the Government accept that ITLD was set up to fail?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, sir.

Hon. K Azopardi: He has talked about measures that are being ... that he is engaging with the GGCA, or at least the Government is engaging with the GGCA, in respect of a resolution of the dispute. Can he give us a bit more information about how the Government thinks that dispute will be resolved?

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, the Government does not believe that whether one is dealing in a negotiation with ITLD or whether one is dealing with the negotiation of a treaty between two high contracting parties, it is in the interest of any of the parties to put the issues that are being discussed into the public domain and to put positions into the public domain. It is better to put solutions into the public domain. Otherwise, one ends up having the negotiation in the public domain. That can only lead to each party needing to satisfy an audience rather than just satisfy its criteria.

What I would ask the Leader of the Opposition to do is allow us the space to resolve the issues in a way that is satisfactory to the excellent civil servants in ITLD and the excellent civil servants in Digital Services and Industrial Relations, so that we can ensure that we move forward together in a way that provides the service that the public and other civil servants beyond ITLD require – something which I am very confident we will be able to do.

Hon. K Azopardi: Finally, Mr Speaker, can I just ask – without asking how the matter will be resolved, giving him the space that he says he wants – is resourcing one of the issues at the heart of the discussions that the Government is having with ITLD? Does he think ITLD have been properly resourced?

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, I know the Hon. the Leader of the Opposition has a slightly thicker skin than Mr Bossino, so he will not, no doubt, spring to silence me if I say that it is a little bit like doublespeak to say he will give me the space to do what I have asked him to permit me the space to do, but at the same time ask me details about what is ongoing in the negotiation, which might do the opposite of what he has suggested he would do by giving me space. So he will forgive me for keeping my counsel in that respect, because I think it is important that we do not put our respective positions out there. We did that when the matter was raised into the public domain when the issue first arose. We are now trying to resolve matters, and I think it is better that we continue to try to resolve matters and not seek to exacerbate them further.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q650/2022
Dialysis patients –
Arrangements re treatment whilst in EU member states

Clerk: Question 650/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, are there any current arrangements in place or proposed arrangements being contemplated in the event of a EU-UK treaty on a future relationship in respect of Gibraltar that would allow Gibraltar dialysis patients to obtain dialysis treatment while away temporarily in EU member states?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, there are currently no reciprocal healthcare arrangements between Gibraltar and the member states of the European Union. The 655 arrangements with Spain came to an end on 30th June 2020 and with the rest of the EU on 31st December 2020. This means that, absent other arrangements, patients from Gibraltar on holiday or otherwise in the EU need to avail themselves of private medical insurance as part of their travel insurance scheme, much as would be the case if a Gibraltar dialysis patient were traveling anywhere else.

660 Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, that answer deals with part of the question, if I may say so, which was what are the current arrangements in place? He has given me that, but are there any proposed arrangements being contemplated? Perhaps he could comment. I have asked generally on other occasions as to whether there is a healthcare dimension to the discussions should a 665 treaty emerge. Are there any arrangements being contemplated which would benefit these patients?

He will understand the thrust of the question. Clearly, dialysis patients who are having to undergo treatment several times a week are rather limited in terms of their options for travel and so on. When we were members of the EU, it was easier, of course, to come up with some kind of reciprocal treatment when you were away, but this has now ended, as he says, and they will get 670 relief if they know that it is within contemplation of the Government to provide for them within the context of a new treaty.

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman and I, I think, both care just as deeply and equally about dialysis patients in Gibraltar who may want to travel to Spain or beyond in the 675 European Union. And not just dialysis patients, there are many other classes of individuals who have health issues, who nonetheless want to be able to travel and during our period of membership of the European Union had protections which enabled them to travel in that respect.

I do not want to get into the detail of the negotiation in respect of the treaty between the UK and the EU, either directly when I answer a question about it, or tangentially by answering a 680 question about any particular aspect. If I do, I may prejudice my opportunity to negotiate something for dialysis patients or for other patients, because by putting out there that something is important and matters to Gibraltar, the price that one may have to pay for that in the context of a negotiation would obviously go up. Not least because a Chief Minister may have told the Leader of the Opposition that this something which he agrees is important, should be on the table 685 and he will try to achieve, immediately the cost of that is multiplied in the negotiation because there is a public commitment, which then there would be a loss of face in not achieving. He will, no doubt, understand that, and for that reason, Mr Speaker, expressing my sincere concern to ensure that our dialysis and other patients are able to continue travelling freely throughout the world, as we have always sought to achieve, I would pray that the Hon. Leader of the Opposition 690 ask me no further in respect of this particular subject.

Q651/2022
Tax returns –
Online registrations

Clerk: Question 651/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

695 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: How many online registrations have there been for this year's tax returns?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, to date, 18,705 online users have registered with the Tax Office for the purposes of submitting their tax returns.

700

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I thank the Chief Minister for that answer. Can I ask if there is any information on the split – how many were via email and how many on the actual e-Government portal?

705

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, those are all on the portal. Additionally, 7,866 have come in via email. So the 18,705 are the portal, 7,866 are email, and 32,735 people have registered for all e-services.

710

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, if my information is correct, there were 18,705 on the e-Government portal and 7,866 on email, which represents about 30% of the entire subscription being email. Can Government explain to us why perhaps, after an average of £20 million spent, most of this year's returns – if not most, a good part of them – have been on email and not the portal? Can we understand when that might migrate more towards a fully online service instead of people having to resort to email, which is effectively a pretend e-Government service, really?

715

Hon. Chief Minister: Far from it, Mr Speaker. To be clear, what that represents, given that we expect approximately, from the information I have, 41,000 returns, well more than half have come in through electronic means and almost half have come in through the portal, which in the context of the process which is being undertaken seems to me to be an extraordinarily successful number. Of course, we would all wish that everybody would come in through the portal, but this seems an extraordinarily successful number given the difficulties we have had in the period when we have been going digital. It is moving only in one particular direction.

720

I would say that some of the issues that prevent people from submitting digitally have nothing to do with the portal. They have more to do with fear of the portal and not being confident in going in to do the return in this way, which seems to me to be by far the easiest method for the submission of a tax return that I have come across. So I do not think that there is any reason for the implied criticism that the hon. Lady has proposed. There is a cause for celebration.

725

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you for that answer.

Mr Speaker, while we celebrate, can the Hon. Chief Minister tell us if the Government has any ideas or plans to encourage a bigger uptake generally on the portal for next year?

730

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker.

735

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Can I ask in what form these ideas might be planned to be?

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, they will be announced closer to the time.

740

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q652/2022
Airport terminal –
Anticipated opening date

Clerk: Question 652/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Can Government give the people of Gibraltar a date by when the Airport terminal will be completed and open to the public?

745

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Chief Minister.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Yes, Mr Speaker, I have. As I already said during my most recent Direct Democracy before the time for filing questions, we expect the tunnel to be operational by the end of the first quarter of 2023. The Airport tunnel site has now been handed over to the Government and we are currently in the process of ensuring that we exercise all of the systems and instruments in the tunnel and do all the things that we need to do in order to achieve final certification. Therefore, I fully expect that, as I already announced publicly, the tunnel will be operational by the end of the first quarter of next year.

750

755

The best way to describe this project colloquially is as having had the gestation period of a mule. Thankfully, we now expect to be able to see the tunnel operational. I will say more about the frankly abysmal performance of the contractor in the near future. Our job, however, has been to ensure that we got the right product for the taxpayer.

760

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

I did want to put this question here in the House to the Chief Minister for the record of Hansard. Have there been any additional costs to the project due to this delay of the gestation of a mule?

765

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, considerable costs have arisen as a result of the failure of the contractor. We have had to take the contractor to litigation. We have recovered a lot of our costs, but not all of them. We have supervisory costs in respect of changes required to the tunnel works from the original plans, and I think I have shared schedules of those costs in this House in the past.

770

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

Is the Brexit outcome likely to have any bearing on the deployment of this infrastructure in the next few months with the ongoing negotiations and talks?

775

Hon. Chief Minister: Yes, Mr Speaker, it may just have a very big roundabout at the end of it.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

SOCIAL SECURITY, ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT, ENTERPRISE, TELECOMMUNICATIONS AND THE GSB

Q544/2022

Construction Training Centre Manager –
Breakdown of costs

Clerk: Question 544/2022. The Hon. E J Reyes.

780

Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Speaker, can Government update this House in respect of the selection process for the vacant post of Construction Training Centre Manager?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

785 Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Yes, Mr Speaker, the successful candidate for the Construction Centre Manager post has now been identified.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, sir.

790 Having identified the successful candidate, does the Hon. Father of the House know if he is already in post or will be taking up post shortly in the New Year – a start date?

795 Mr Speaker, last month, the Hon. Father of the House explained to us that he had not yet finalised training courses to be offered during 2023. My logic tells me it makes a certain amount of sense to wait for a new centre manager to be appointed. I am asking so he gives me a guideline of when to next pose a question about trades courses being offered in 2023. That is why I seek that information – not just being petty but to plan ahead and keep tabs on the development of the Training Centre.

800 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I am not involved in that kind of detail, but since the person selected is an internal candidate, yes, I think the question of making arrangements for the post that is being relinquished and then taking over the post in the Construction ... I would expect it to be happening in January.

805 Hon. E J Reyes: And just seeking clarification ... The answer is that there has been an internal candidate. By that, does the Member mean internal within the Training Centre itself or internal within the Government, the GDC, or whatever set-up it is going to be?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Internal within the Government.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q545/2022
Modular units –
Financial arrangements

Q546-47/2022
Public finances –
Update

Q548-49/2022
GBIC Ltd –
Directors' remuneration; National Economic Plan projects

Q550-53/2022
Community Supplies and Services Ltd –
Fees paid to directors as directors or lawyers; purchase of loans notes and security given; charity registration

Q554-56/2022
National Economic Plan –
Role of Gibraltar Properties Ltd and GSBA Ltd; cost to date and proportion financed by GSB

Q557-59/2022

Victoria Stadium –

Loan notes and security given; financial analysis re viability

810 Clerk: Question 545/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government advise if the manufacturers of the modular units in China, or any other entities, are providing any special financing arrangement for the purchase of these modular units; and, if so, what are the financing arrangements?

815

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Questions 546 to 559.

820

Clerk: Question 546/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, can the Government please provide the total gross debt, aggregate debt after application of the Sinking Fund to gross debt, cash reserves and net debt figures for public debt for the following date, being 1st November 2022?

825

Clerk: Question 547/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise the balance on the General Sinking Fund on the following date: 1st November 2022?

830

Clerk: Question 548/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise the remuneration paid to each of the directors of GBIC Ltd?

835

Clerk: Question 549/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise why GBIC Ltd is the preferred contractor on building projects in its National Economic Plan?

840

Clerk: Question 550/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise if the directors of Community Supplies and Services Ltd have been paid any fees as directors or lawyers; and, if so, please identify the amount since incorporation?

845

Clerk: Question 551/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

850

Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise which Government-owned company or companies, Gibraltar Savings Bank-owned company or companies, or Gibraltar Development Corporation-owned company or companies have purchased loan notes from Community Supplies and Services Ltd and in what monetary amount and for what tenure and interest rate?

855

Clerk: Question 552/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

860 Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise what security has Community Supplies and Services Ltd given in respect of loan notes purchased by Government-owned company or companies, Gibraltar Savings Bank-owned company or companies, or Gibraltar Development Corporation-owned company or companies?

Clerk: Question 553/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

865 Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise why Community Supplies and Services Ltd has not registered as a charity?

Clerk: Question 554/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

870 Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise what role does Gibraltar Properties Ltd play in the National Economic Plan?

Clerk: Question 555/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

875 Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise what role does GSBA Ltd play in the National Economic Plan?

Clerk: Question 556/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

880 Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise the estimated cost to date of the National Economic Plan and how much of this will be financed by the Gibraltar Savings Bank?

Clerk: Question 557/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

885 Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government provide the details of the monetary value, interest rate and term of the loan notes to be purchased by the Gibraltar Savings Bank in respect of the proposed Victoria Stadium development?

Clerk: Question 558/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

890 Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise who conducted the financial analysis of the viability of the Victoria Stadium development and has this been subjected to independent expert review?

895 Clerk: Question 559/2022. The Hon. R M Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Can the Government advise what security will be given in respect of the loan notes to be purchased by the Gibraltar Savings Bank for the Victoria Stadium development and what loan-to-value ratio does this represent?

900 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

905 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, neither the manufacturer of modular units in China nor any other entity is providing any special financing arrangements for the purchase of the modular units.

The gross public debt and the aggregate debt after the application of the Sinking Fund to gross debt, cash reserves and net debt figures were, on 1st November 2022: gross debt, £872.7 million; aggregate debt, £846.3 million; cash reserves, £84.6 million; net debt, £761.7 million.

The balance on the General Sinking Fund on 1st November 2022 stood at £26.4 million.

910 The directors of GBIC are not remunerated.

GBIC is the preferred contractor for the delivery of the National Economic Plan projects because, as the GSD Government told Parliament at the time when they placed their delivery of their £1 billion-plus programme of construction projects in the hands of a consultant, the construction sector generally charges higher prices when they work directly on Government 915 contracts than for private sector projects.

The Government has not paid CSS any fees as directors or lawyers.

Gibraltar Community Projects is purchasing loan notes at 4% for three years from CSS. The total sum is £22 million to date and the use of most of these funds has been to meet the construction cost of the new Rooke residential home. The security provided by CSS is the value of the assets 920 that have been created by GBIC.

I am not aware whether CSS has registered as a charity or not, but if the hon. Member knows that it has not and from the nature of the questions thinks it should be, I will pass on his advice to the owner of CSS, that happens to be registered as a charity.

At present, Gibraltar Properties Ltd plays no role in the National Economic Plan.

925 GSBA invests in real estate in Gibraltar and in some instances will sublease land for the purpose of delivering a project in the National Economic Plan.

At this stage it is not possible to say what interest rate or terms the loan notes will be subject to in the future funding of the Victoria Stadium complex. These matters will be dealt with when the issue of the loan notes is required. The funding to be provided to the National Stadium 930 company whilst it is in the ownership of the Savings Bank will represent 100% of the required expenditure for the construction of the project unless some parts of the project are sold off plan to outside investors.

The financial analysis of the viability of the Victoria Stadium complex development has been conducted as an exercise with input from people with expertise from the property market and 935 assessed by a former partner of EY and has had input in terms of the technical features which lead to assessing the viability financially from experts in construction of stadiums, including the person who was the project manager of a stadium with 60,000 seats who happens to be currently a member of the staff of GBIC, and the design team that produced the concept that has been made public which has had an input from the construction of a number of stadium projects in Portugal.

940

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, with your indulgence, given the number of questions, it will take a bit longer to analyse the Hon. Minister's answer. I am grateful.

If I could just ask the Minister to repeat his answer in respect of the ... I think he said £22 million or 4%. I did not quite catch the name of the company. If he could just repeat that bit, I would be 945 grateful.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Of the money that has been used for the construction of the residential people's home? Well, the company that is building the home is GBIC. (Interjection by Hon. R M Clinton) The entity that is financing, with a loan, the building is CSS.

950

Hon. R M Clinton: Sorry, Mr Speaker, I think the Minister misunderstands me. What I asked was specifically who had purchased the loan notes, and I think he gave us the name, but I did not quite catch it.

955 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The loan notes are CSS and the cash obtained from the issue of the loans is paid to GBIC, which is building the home.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I understand that perfectly, but my question related to who had purchased the loan notes from CSS. If the Minister recalls, we had this discussion at the last 960 session of Parliament and he could not recall which Government company actually had bought the loan notes issued by CSS.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The loans are purchased by Gibraltar Community Projects.

965 Hon. R M Clinton: And Gibraltar Community Projects is owned directly by the Government – is that correct? – following on from what he had said in the last session of Parliament.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Not the GDC, but one of the two.

970 Hon. R M Clinton: And if I may, Mr Speaker, it is £22 million, if I understood correctly, at 4%? I am not sure that I heard the tenure of the notes over what period.

And if I may ask the Minister, where does Community Projects obtain its funding from?

975 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The tenure is three years, but it is not ... That is to say the money is provided as it is needed, and therefore the three years is not the whole £22 million from the same date. As the project has been developing, loan notes have been issued, and therefore the three years starts when the loan notes are issued, so the money is not ... The money comes from money within the companies or money that has been obtained from the Savings Bank. The hon. Member knows, because I give him a breakdown every House, that there are loan notes issued by Government companies to the Savings Bank.

980

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, yes, I understand what the Minister is referring to, but as he knows, there are a number of entities of that description that have borrowed money from the Savings Bank and I would be grateful if the Minister could indicate which one of those it would be that is the primary supplier of funding to Gibraltar Community Projects. I can give them a list, or at least... For the benefit of the House, is it Credit Finance Company Ltd? Is it the Gibraltar National Mint Ltd? Is the GSBA Ltd? Is the Gibraltar Properties Ltd? Is it Gibtelecom Ltd? Which one of these entities would it be?

985

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Some of it will be the GSBA. Credit Finance is principally funding, as the hon. Member knows, the purchase of annuities for civil servants.

990

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I really must beg your indulgence because this is a quite complicated topic, although I am sure it is quite simple for the Minister.

Looking at the last schedule that I had from the Minister, on 30th September, GSBA, so far, had issued £40 million worth of debentures to the Gibraltar Savings Bank, which have tenure of five years. Of that £40 million, I assume £22 million has been earmarked for the Rooke project. How much of that £40 million remains to be earmarked? One of my later questions is about the cost of the National Economic Plan to date. How much, does he anticipate, of that £40 million is going to be used for other projects within the National Economic Plan?

1000

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The way the National Economic Plan will work, Mr Speaker, is that the Savings Bank, as we stated in the manifesto, is financing the delivery of projects, and then, after the projects have been finished, we expect that the project will be invested in by private investors and therefore the money can come back and be recycled. The original programme in 2019 provided for an investment of up to £500 million. I do not think we will be able to invest that much in the time that there is left of our term office, but the fundamental methodology is that it is to make the projects happen that the funding is ... although there may be some that appear to be particularly attractive and the Savings Bank may want to take a long-term part in any project that it thinks it is worth having its money invested in. But fundamentally what will be happening will be that as new projects come in the investment will be provided, and as projects are completed and then sold, or other people invest in the finished product, the money will then be used to repay the loan notes and will come back to the Savings Bank.

1010

1015 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, again, your indulgence. If the Minister could perhaps just clarify my mind as to the actual financing arrangements, we all now understand that GSBA Ltd is the main funder for the National Economic Plan. How does it transfer the money to Gibraltar Community Projects? Does Gibraltar Community Projects in its own right issue loan notes to GSBA, or under some structure of loan which obviously will then pay an interest, I guess to GSBA, and 1020 Gibraltar Community Projects in turn then buys the loan notes issued by CSS Ltd? Is that correct?
What is the mechanism in between?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: That is exactly how it happens, Mr Speaker.

1025 Hon. R M Clinton: So Gibraltar Community Projects then issues loan notes to GSBA. Will they match exactly the tenure of the loan notes issued by CSS Ltd – i.e. are they back to back? So if there is £22 million of CSS loan notes bought by Community Projects, Community Projects issues exactly the same amount and for the same period – I do not know if it takes a margin on the rate – to GSBA Ltd.

1030 And just to confirm the rate, because again I may not have heard him correctly, was the rate
4%?

1035 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the 4% for three years is the rate that is higher than the Savings Bank pays on the investments. The matching is not 100%. There may be times when the money may have moved into Gibraltar Community Projects and not yet been used to buy loan notes and therefore there may be a situation where the loan notes that are next bought are bought from money that has already been obtained. So it is not that it has to happen strictly synchronised 100%, but ultimately the flow of money is as he has described it, and the rate of interest eventually is the one that provides the 6% return to the Savings Bank, which is what produces the profits of the Savings Bank.

1040

Hon. R M Clinton: Again, Mr Speaker, your indulgence. Does Community Projects keep any margin on this transaction? Does it, for example, charge CSS Ltd 4% and pay, say, 3½% to the Savings Bank? Does it retain any margin?

1045 Also, what security does Community Projects itself give to the Savings Bank – it is not the Savings Bank, sorry, it is GSBA Ltd, which is obviously owned by the Savings Bank – in exchange for those loan notes? You have described how the loan notes issued by CSS Ltd would be secured on, albeit unfinished, construction projects, but what security does GSBA Ltd get in return for the loan notes issued by Community Projects?

1050 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I have already told the hon. Member that when it goes into being used, the money is secured on the building that is being delivered by a joint venture company of the Government. The hon. Member knows that all the companies pool their cash, which was a system invented by the former Government, and therefore if all the companies pool all their cash, what you have is a net figure of available cash, which itself consists of companies 1055 that are in surplus and companies that are in deficit. That is what was happening before 2011 and has continued happening since. There has never been any attempt to say the ones that are in deficit have to produce some security for the ones that are in surplus, because they are all owned by the same entity.

1060 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I understand what the Minister is saying but I think he misses my point because GSBA Ltd is not a Government-owned company, as he knows, it is owned by the Savings Bank, so what I am asking is what security does the Savings Bank have through GSBA on Community Projects? Full stop.

1065 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The security that the one that guarantees the solvency of the Savings Bank is the owner of the company. I would not have thought that it needed more security than the fact that the company from which it is buying the loans is owned by the Government, and the Government underwrites the whole of the Savings Bank according to the Act – so why should the Savings Bank be afraid of lending money to a Government company?

1070 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I was not suggesting that there is any notion of fear in lending to a Government company, but if it were a normal commercial transaction I am sure he would accept, and in fact he would demand, that there be security for any money effectively advanced from the Gibraltar Savings Bank through GSBA Ltd. But effectively what is telling the House – and 1075 I am happy to be corrected by him – is that this is de facto Government borrowing and there is nothing backing up the borrowing by Community Projects. Is that correct?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Not only is it wrong, it is complete nonsense. He may want to call it Government borrowing, but in fact the borrower is the entity that is financing the construction project, and that is not a Government company, and that is where the money is used. Before it reaches that point, the money is unused. So if Gibraltar Community Projects borrows £2 million and lends £1 million, the security it has on the £1 million is the security of the structure of the building that is going up, and that security obviously is available to the Savings Bank because it is available to the borrower from the Savings Bank. The £1 million that has not been passed over is 1085 not a debt of the Government because the Government is not using that money. It is there until it is needed. It is just that clearly CSS is not going to be issuing loan notes and having to pay interest unless it needs the money, because it would otherwise be incurring a liability to pay interest when there was no asset being created. Therefore, the timing is driven by the pace of the construction project.

1090 Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am sorry to labour this, but I really need to understand the methodology.

Given that he is comfortable that CSS has security, and on that basis anything that Community Projects lends it should, by logic, also be secured, would it be the case that if I did a search on Gibraltar Community Projects I would find there has been an unlimited charge registered against it by GSPA Ltd? At the end of the day, they are completely different entities in terms of control. And also, by parallel reasoning, why is it that when you do a search on CSS Ltd there are no charges registered against it, given that he has already issued £22 million worth of loan notes?

1100 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: We are talking about what is happening with the development of the National Economic Plan as if we were giving money to people in another country or people who might disappear over the horizon, where we therefore need to be concerned about the risk that is being taken. We know exactly where every penny that is being borrowed is finishing up, because fundamentally the work is being done by a company which is 50% owned by the Government. So 1105 we know where the money going. There is no question of not being able to track it and, therefore, what other assets do they have to be secure. All the concern for security that people have is because they are dealing with people where they may not be able to be confident about what they claim to be, and therefore they need to have something solid if something goes wrong.

In this situation we have created a mechanism that enables us to mobilise the funds of the Savings Bank for investment in creating assets in Gibraltar that will produce income and wealth and therefore, at the same time, generate an income for the Savings Bank which we cannot get by having it sitting in bank accounts, cash, or having it invested in London by the Crown agents, where the returns would not enable us to maintain the level of interest rate that we have consistently paid in the last 11 years to our investors, principally to the pensioners, who have been 1115 getting a very favourable rate. We are able to do these things because we have to make ... and the more money we have in the Savings Bank, the more we will need to find ways of reinvesting

1120 it profitably. The Savings Bank has now got a total amount of deposits of £1½ billion. We are not going to have the £1½ billion sitting there doing nothing. What we need to do is put it to work, to make money for the bank – which ultimately is good for Gibraltar because it is the rainy day fund of the future – and create activity and help us to restore financial stability in Gibraltar, which is part of my responsibility. The mechanism in which it works, he may think, is risky. I do not think it is risky, and therefore I am satisfied that the guarantees that are there by de facto being within our sight all the time is sufficient. That is how it is. He may not agree with it – he does not have to agree with it; it is information that I am providing.

1125

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister for his answer, and yes, I am purely seeking information here.

1130 Can I turn, if I may, to the answer he gave to Question 549 when I asked why is GBIC the preferred contractor on building projects in the National Economic Plan? He referred to some agreement with which I am not familiar, but he did not actually answer why GBIC itself. He talked about the costs to Government contracting directly being higher, which again is something I fail to understand, why that happens in Gibraltar. But why GBIC? There are a multitude of other contractors. Why is there not a tender put out for each and every project for this particular plan, the National Economic Plan? It just seems to be that GBIC always appears in every project to do with the National Economic Plan. I could be wrong and I am happy to be corrected.

1135

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The role of GBIC is to deliver the National Economic Plan in terms of construction projects. That is what it exists for. It may also obtain work for our people, but principally it will be working on the delivery of the National Economic Plan, and there is, in fact, an agreement between the Ministry for Economic Development, which has the responsibility for making the plan happen, and GBIC to be the one that delivers it.

1140

1145 Why don't I go out to tender? Well, Mr Speaker, the possibility of other companies coming in cheaper would be difficult to assess because what tends to happen is that, whereas in the case of GBIC there is a situation where we are 50% owner and we therefore know exactly what the cost of the things are, what invariably happens in Gibraltar is that the companies that sometimes come in cheaper at the beginning tend to come in very expensive at the end. There is a long history of that, which can be studied. Sometimes the tender process produces the most expensive results because there are people who put in prices that other people say are below what is reasonable in the market to make a profit, but then, along the line, all sorts of things happen to be discovered or not discovered or added or taken away, and then it finishes up becoming very expensive. So the kind of things that happen in the construction company which sometimes make things take a very long time ... The tunnel is a spectacular example, which the former administration had many occasions of experiencing. Sometimes, companies that were the most competitive at the beginning disappeared over the horizon without paying anybody anything in Gibraltar and leaving a whole host of debts. Eventually, the former Governor had to engage GJBS to finish half the projects that they had put out to tender in the private sector. That is the kind of experience we have had with Government projects in Gibraltar and I am sure that the delivery of the projects that are going to be done in the National Economic Plan are not going to be affected by any of those possible risks, because in fact the delivery is by a company that is there for that purpose.

1150

1155

1160

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, again, I thank the Hon. Minister. He mentioned an agreement between the Ministry for Economic Development and GBIC. If I may ask him a couple of questions on this, I assume that if I were to ask for a copy of the agreement he would say it would be commercially sensitive, so I will put that question out there, but I would not be surprised if he does not answer.

1165

Also, what is the timeframe for the agreement? Is it solely in respect of the delivery of the National Economic Plan and does it have a value ascribed to it in terms of value of projects? Has that in any way affected the pricing of the modular units – i.e. are the purchase of the modular units and the signing of this agreement in any way linked?

1170

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, the only link with the pricing of the modular units is the fact that our partner is a very important company and a very large company in China and therefore they are able to use their purchasing power to help us buy. That is the only advantage we gain in terms of the sourcing of the material.

1175

In terms of the quality, we have an advantage, where if we did not have the partner we have it would probably be risky to buy in China, in the sense that everything we buy in China that is now on its way to Gibraltar has been supervised by high executives from our partner's company, to be sure that what is coming is what is supposed to be coming. In a situation where you do not have a presence there, you run a risk that the product you bought and the product you get may not be the same. Because of the relationship we have there, we have been able to have a level of confidence in what we are buying. And of course we have, in the United Kingdom, as our architects, a UK company that is very experienced in dealing with modular building, and with the immediate owner of shares of a joint venture, which is the Manchester company, which is the headquarters of the international branch of the company.

1180

1185

So those are the safeguards we have, which makes us confident that we are going to be able to deliver this at the most competitive price possible. Obviously, the interest of the Government is not to get the product at a lower price at the cost of the quality. We are happy that everything we are going to be delivering in the next six months is British standard. We are going to have British craftsmen from Manchester coming here to put the final building together. They are familiar with the technology, but they are working for the Manchester company and therefore time will tell, but I am confident that we will be proving that we have got something that is very good value for money and that we will be providing a facility that is needed and would not have been delivered, in my judgement, in any other way.

1190

1195

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister for his answer, but I asked him specifically about the agreement between the Ministry for Economic Development and GBIC: (1) would he be willing to provide a copy; (2) what is its total value, if there is a value, in terms of committed projects, or is it an exclusivity agreement for the National Economic Plan included in there; and (3) what would be the timeframe this agreement covers?

1200

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The timeframe is for as long as we are in government, unless, if they ever get into government, they see the merits of what has been done and decide to continue it.

There is no value because the National Economic Plan is open ended. That is to say we identified in the manifesto a number of things that we already expected would be needed. That was in 219. Some of them are being included, but, for example, the stadium did not feature in 2019 and if somebody else had been able to find a way of delivering the stadium, it probably would not have featured at all. The reality is that the National Economic Plan is going to be delivered on the basis that things that we think are needed or that we think are worth having because they will be profitable, or things that will help us to be self-sufficient will be added as we become aware of them or as people approach us with ideas and we think it is worth supporting those ideas and it will be at no cost to the Government's capital or recurrent expenditure and the activities will generate some revenue for the Government and at the end of the day we will have facilities that we would not otherwise have had. That is the concept. The hon. Member has to understand that that does not mean that there is a written agreement that says all the things I have just told him. There is an agreement that they will be the entity that will assist the Ministry for Economic Development in turning into reality what is written on a piece of paper, but there is no specific list of items there.

1205

1210

1215

1220 Hon. R M Clinton: I thank the Minister, sir. If I understand correctly – and, again, I am happy to be corrected – the agreement is basically an agreement which, as he says, is open ended but effectively ... Just to get this absolutely crystal clear, it effectively has an exclusivity agreement with the Ministry for Economic Development in respect of anything to do with the National Economic Plan. Would that be a correct characterisation of the agreement?

1225 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Exclusivity to the extent that it is the preferred construction company, which was the hon. Member's original question, and that therefore the Ministry will use GBIC in preference to anybody else to do the delivery unless what we are going to be doing is something that GBIC does not have the capacity to deliver or something which is very specialised that requires a company with different set skills to deliver. But if it is possible for GBIC to be the one that delivers a product, then GBIC will deliver it.

1230

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, I am grateful to the Minister again. I will move on now, just slowly ticking off the questions as we go along.

1235 In relation to Question 555, in respect of GSBA, Ltd I think he mentioned something about real estate and subleasing, although we also now understand that it plays a role in purchasing loan notes. Can he expand on what the real estate angle activity of GSBA Ltd is, specifically in the context of the National Economic Plan? As he knows, I am aware that, for example, it owns the Treasury building.

1240 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The Rooke plot of land currently is owned by GSBA and when the building is finished it will sublease the land for a shorter period than the head lease that it has purchased.

1245 Hon. R M Clinton: Is this the same mechanism? I imagine the Minister has a blueprint as to how each individual element of the National Economic Plan is undertaken. Is this the methodology that was used, for example, in the Jewish Home project? I presume CSS must have issued loan notes to Community Projects, who in turn issued loan notes to GSBA, and GSBA would have somehow acquired an interest in the lease of the Jewish Home. Is that the same kind of methodology?

1250 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The Jewish Home lease is related to the trustees of the McIntosh Trust, whereas the Rooke site was Government land that was on sale, so the GSBA bought the land from the Government in the Rooke case, and in the other, the actual lease arrangements with the trustees have not yet been finalised in the case of the Jewish Home. It could be that we have a similar process, that it passes through the GSBA first, but that has not happened.

1255

Hon. R M Clinton: On that particular project, just to follow that last thread, the financing structure – has that actually occurred in terms of the Jewish Home, in terms of GSBA providing the financing for the Jewish Home project, or is that something that has yet to be finalised, given the lease etc?

1260

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Construction was originally financed, but it has not yet been filed. The whole thing has not yet been finalised.

1265 Hon. R M Clinton: I may, Mr Speaker, later on, file an additional question, in the next session, about the financing arrangements and how that structure is organised for the Jewish Home.

I am trying to get through them as fast as I can, but there is a lot of material here.

In Question 556, when I asked about the cost to date of the National Economic Plan and how much is financed by the Savings Bank, I think it would be safe to say that all of it would be financed by the Savings Bank, but I was not quite clear as to the estimated cost to date of the Economic Plan.

1270

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I have told the hon. Member the bulk of the money that has been used in the financing of the plan is the investment in the Rooke plan, so that has taken up the bulk of the £22 million. That might be £20 million on the Rooke and then a couple of million spread in three different things. I gave the hon. Member a list, in the last meeting of the House, of the number of projects at this stage, other than the Jewish Home, which is now completed.

Hon. R M Clinton: Does the Minister have an idea ...? He mentioned before the sum of £500 million. Is that, in his mind, the total facility that he would like to make available for the National Economic Plan? Does he have a limit in mind, in terms of how much the Savings Bank would advance under the plan?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: No, Mr Speaker, because this is demand driven. The £500 million was a ballpark figure in 2019, and it was on the basis of a level of activity of £125 million a year over a four-year period. Given what happened in February 2020, we lost the first two years and we started late in the third year, so it is highly unlikely that, however much I try to catch up, I will be successful in spending £500 million, I regret to say.

Hon. R M Clinton: But certainly – if the Minister could confirm – £500 million was the number I think he ... I remember we had a discussion about it during the election campaign and this is the amount of money he would have originally envisaged to utilise from the Savings Bank for his National Economic Plan. Is that correct?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: As I have just told him, yes, that was the plan in 2019. The rate of delivery would have been roughly £125 million every year over a four-year period. It has not happened and it will be difficult to deliver that much activity, but the projections, for example on the GDP and so on, are all tied to that activity happening. That activity happening is part of how it would be possible in a post-Brexit situation to continue to maintain a level of activity, notwithstanding the negative effects. That is why when we had the last election we came up with a post-Brexit plan, and what we have today is something that is still capable of being a post-Brexit plan if we find ourselves in that situation in the next few months.

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker. I would remind the hon. Member that when we did discuss this at the time of the election I had understood him as I understand him now, but then I was told later that I had misunderstood him and that he was talking about £500 million of GDP growth. Obviously we misunderstood each other. I think we now understand what we are talking about here.

Mr Speaker, if I can move on a bit, to the Victoria Stadium, I asked specifically in Question 557 about the financing and the issue of loan notes, and I think his answer was it is not possible to say at this stage, but he must have in mind a number in terms of how much he is willing to advance from the Savings Bank in respect of the Victoria Stadium. If I can then combine that with his answer to Question 558, which was who conducted the financial analysis, I think if I heard him correctly, he mentioned a partner from EY. If I could ask him was that a partner from EY Gibraltar or from another office? And if so, presumably they charged professional fees for that review.

In summary, if he could give us an indication of what value of loan notes the Savings Bank would be willing to purchase in respect of the Victoria Stadium and which office from EY conducted the review and was it on a paid professional basis?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I think the problem we have with the hon. Member's questions, and not his alone, is that the moment we mention something they expect us to be at the end of a process when we are at the beginning. Since I made the announcement, being totally transparent in the middle of the stadium, not much has happened that has defined anything beyond the original concept, which we had been talking about for several months.

1325 When we have something concrete that is reliable in terms of the accuracy, I will provide the information that the hon. Member is seeking, but I think it is wrong to speculate. When I was asked how much will it cost, I said it could be up to £100 million. That immediately no longer became up to £100 million. The maximum became the minimum. I am not going to give any numbers on anything until the numbers are solid and clear and are not going to be changed and I am not going to have other people say, 'But that is not what you said before.' So I am not going to say anything that may need to be changed.

1330 At the moment, the position is that we have done enough work to be confident that this a project that will produce a good return for the Savings Bank and will produce something that is very important for Gibraltar to have, not just for the many thousands of people who enjoy football – amongst whom I do not find myself – but also for those of us who want to see us having a strong economy and people coming here and spending money, amongst whom I do count myself.

1335 So the answer is that what I have given him is the state of play at the present. As it develops and there is more detail to provide, I will provide the detail.

Mr Speaker: May I interject? Are we getting close to the end of the questioning, or have you ...?

1340

Hon. R M Clinton: Well, Mr Speaker, it very much depends on the Minister's answers. I think you will appreciate that, given the number of questions that have been rolled up, I am trying to be as expedient as possible and keeping my questions short.

1345 The Minister will appreciate that from this side of the House and probably outside this House there is a degree of interest in the stadium, and the reason is that the £100 million number was the number first put into the public domain. It became £100 million investment, then it became £100 million value and now it is up to £100 million and there has also been the number banded around of £40 million, which is why there is so much public interest in actually what is the number.

1350 I think we on this side of the House and also the general public would appreciate some clarity as to what kind of number we are talking about. Is it tens of millions, hundreds of millions? Is it mid-range? He has to have some idea in his head how much he is prepared to put into this project, especially if this project has been reviewed professionally – there will be spreadsheets, there will be projections, there will be returns on investment. All these numbers must have been available to him for some time now before he made the announcement, so for him to say, 'We are at an early stage, we cannot say' ... With the greatest of respect to the Minister, he is the one who made the announcement. He must have had an idea before he made the announcement, otherwise I doubt he would have made such an important announcement.

1355 And then, lastly, I did not quite hear an answer in terms of the EY office that conducted the review.

1360

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [inaudible] because he has just given me a good reason for not doing it. He was just saying there are all sorts of numbers floating about. I am not going to give him a new one to add to the ones that are floating around. I will give him the number when the number will not suffer any further change.

1365 As regards the EY input that we had, it was a former partner of EY. I am not sure if it was local or not, but I was told that it was a former partner of that company. He is retired and therefore it is not EY that was doing it, but the person who provided an input a person who had that accounting background, just like I might have asked him to give me advice in banking, having been a retired banker. It was not something that we paid for. It was something that was provided to us through the relationship that we build around the people who are interested in delivering this.

1370

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, he will appreciate that when the name of a professional firm is mentioned, such as EY or any other firm, there is a degree of comfort that will come from hearing that professional firm's name being mentioned, but the Hon. Minister has just advised the House

1375 that the person who gave the ... why it was asking for an independent financial review ... I do not know to what extent this person is independent of the project – he may have a tangential interest,
I do not know – but it is evident that it is not a professionally engaged review. It is not an arm’slength review from a professional services firm of accountants, for which there would be an 1380 engagement letter and standards and processes involved. What the Minister has told us, unless I have misunderstood him, is it is a person who used to work for EY – I do not know at what level; I think he said partner, presumably professionally qualified, but whether he or she holds a practising certificate and is entitled to give such advice on such projects I do not know. I would be grateful if the Minister could give the House some comfort that this particular individual actually has the required experience to give this type of advice on this particular project. There are 1385 accountants and there are accountants – I do not claim to be an expert on everything under the sun to do with finance – and all accountants have limitations.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: If my thought process had followed the line of the hon. Member, the National Economic Plan would never have got off the ground. As far as I am concerned, I give him 1390 the information and that is the information that I am prepared to give him on this. When I have more information as to the next stage in the project, I will give it to him. That is the information I am giving him in answer to his questions. That is information I have that I am willing to give him now, and if I have something that is more concrete and more specific at a later stage, I am happy to give that to him. Whether he gets comfort or discomfort is not what I am here to do. I am here 1395 to give him the information that I think it is possible to give with the confidence that I am not saying something that is incorrect.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, this will be my final supplementary. I will ask him this question and if he says no, I will accept it. Is he willing to identify the person, the retired EY partner who 1400 has provided the financial analysis?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: He is right in thinking that he knows what the answer is: no.

Mr Speaker: Yesterday, there were a number of questions for which information could only be 1405 provided by the Hon. Minister Sir Joe Bossano and we said that you would be asking several questions when he was here ... whoever it was.

Hon. K Azopardi: Before we do that, Mr Speaker, can I just ask on these questions, if I may?
On Question 557, I think the Minister has said he is not prepared, right now, to give detail in 1410 respect of that, but if I remember rightly, he did go on a GBC programme at the time of the stadium announcement – he was wearing a suit, not a football shirt on that occasion – and I think he suggested that the interest rate return would be something like 6% or 7%. Is that the kind of ballpark figure, or is he saying that it is not fixed yet?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: In the present climate of returns, that would be the minimum it would be 1415 reasonable to expect from a project like this, but of course when you are talking in a situation where we do not know how far the Bank of England or the Federal Reserve Bank or anybody else is going to go before they stop putting it up and start bringing it down, the timing of these things will have an impact on the return that one expects. It is not a particularly good time, when interest 1420 rates are rising, to be borrowing money, because then you borrow long and they fall, but this is where we are. I said it in the context of the current rates that there are.

Hon. K Azopardi: But to be clear, while in the Minister’s opinion that is a reasonable rate of return to aim for in respect of the investment into the stadium project, is he saying that is not an 1425 agreed rate of return as yet, it is something that is still being negotiated or will be negotiated in the future because of the explanation he gave earlier?

1430 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The thing is that that is the minimum because it may have to be ... The rate of return will depend not on what the stadium produces but on what the complex produces. That is what will finance the rate of return, and that rate of return might need to go up if the market rates of interest go up. But in the context of the present market rate, everything we have seen suggests that we will be able to achieve that rate of interest at the moment. If, tomorrow, we have 12% inflation and the construction costs go up, then it might be that we have to say we need to be changing some of the things we had in the original plan to produce something that produces more money, to make sure that we are still getting money that is sufficient to service 1435 what we need to obtain to finance the project. If the project was happening today, we are confident we would be getting 6% to 7% and that that would be above the money we need to pay to finance the project.

Q531/2022 Chilton Court youth club –
Source of funding for proposed development –
Supplementary questions

Mr Speaker: Would the hon. Member quote the question number, if you can?

1440 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, yes, I do agree – I think now is an appropriate time because the question dealt with the issue of funding, with which the Hon. Minister would be able to assist.

The question number is 531. For the benefit of the hon. Member I will just read the question out to him: who is funding the proposed development at the Chilton Court youth club? I think he has provided an explanation in answers to questions from the Hon. Mr Clinton as to how the funding structure works. I think the initial response was it is being funded by Community Services and Supplies Ltd. Then I referred to the full planning design statement, which referred to it being submitted by GBIC Ltd on behalf of CSSL Ltd. That is just by way of background so he understands the premise of the question. I asked is GBIC providing the funding and I think the answer to that is going to be no, because GBIC is the company which is delivering the projects, but that the funding is, as he has explained, with the various loan notes and moneys, in effect flowing from the Savings Bank down the drain to CSS Ltd. Can he confirm that that is how this particular project is being funded?
1445
1450

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): In all the projects, not just this one, the methodology is going to be the same. The only caveat to that is that there are people in the market – I mentioned them before, in the previous meeting – who are interested in working together with the Ministry for Economic Development on projects that are planned by us in the National Economic Plan. They have approached me. They have said, ‘Would it be possible to take part in this and put money into this?’ and I have said yes. And there are people who say, ‘I have a project. Would it be possible to discuss the opposite direction? That is to say the project that I have, the Government would be interested in sponsoring it and making it part of the National Economic Plan and either being involved in the construction phase or being involved in another.’ I have also said we are prepared to look at that because it would depend on the nature of the project.
1455
1460

We are not in the business of entering the market, which is already well populated, of providing properties for which most of the population have not got the resources to buy. That market is well populated and well served, and I do not think there is a place for us to go there. The market we are looking at is the one that we are trying to create, which meets the requirements of people who have not got the financial capacity to meet what is now the going rate on many properties. This is why, for example, as I explained last time, the home in Laguna for homeowners who are pensioners is designed to meet a specific thing because they are in a property which has a higher 1465
1470

1475 value and which is being underutilised, and if they sell that property they will probably have difficulty in being able to buy another property for much less than they are getting, so it is difficult for them to move. At the same time, because of the concept, rightly introduced by the former administration, that homeowners are not eligible to obtain rental accommodation from the Government, it means that homeowners who are now reaching retirement age are not eligible to rent, from the Government, pensioner flats. That is the problem that we have tried to resolve, and therefore we are entering the market to produce something at a level that will provide a profit through this mechanism but will provide a product which will not be for the open market but for 1480 a specified identified sector of the market, who will be the only ones eligible to buy, with the condition that no other property has that they would only be able to sell back to the charity they buy the property from, so that it would remain for that market and it would not then eventually go out, as has happened with all the earlier 50/50s, that they are no longer limited to a long-term residents of Gibraltar where anybody can come from anywhere and pay a higher price and take 1485 that property out of the market.

That is an example of something where somebody else identified the existence of a problem and brought it to my attention and therefore we came up with an answer which we think will work, and the interest there is subsequently shows it will work. The same thing would be happening in other areas with other entities. This is why the flexibility of the National Economic 1490 Plan is that although the volume is unlikely to be what was originally intended, because we have wasted so much time because of COVID and other things, that does not mean we will not be able to be doing more things, because it would be on a smaller scale and because other people are coming forward and providing ideas to us, which is something that I welcome because the things they provide are things that are pointing to something where there is a demand but there is no 1495 supply.

In the area where we are talking about the estate and what we provide for the estate, there you have a situation where the Government is not in a position to invest in things like that when it is in a situation of having to borrow to meet recurrent expenditure – that is self-evident – and therefore, if we can find a way of producing what the Government would have liked to produce 1500 by making it part of a bigger development with profitable elements in it, then that is the win-win situation that we aim for. It has to be able to produce a profit for all the parties, otherwise it will not work, obviously. So the costings of these things have to be very carefully scrutinised because at the end of the day, if we are committed to delivering it, we do not want to finish up with GBIC or anybody else in a loss-making situation. That is not where we want to be.

1505
Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I am grateful. I think the last part of his answer is the one I was interested in, because it arises from the question I asked yesterday. As I understand it, it ordinarily would have been a Government project, but because of the situation of the Government's finances this route is being taken as available cash which can be sought and obtained from the 1510 Savings Bank.

In relation to this project, which refers to several community facilities, rented office space and rented storage space, and I think there are also 26 parking spaces, is that where the profitable elements will then go back to the Savings Bank, by the rental or sale of these? Is that where he is seeing the profitable element with the sale of these units?

1515
Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [Inaudible] will be done by GSBA because that is the mechanism that we have, and then, if in the process ... As we have more and more projects happening, there will be times when the actual delivery of a project and the fact that there are funds coming in from sales may mean that instead of repaying a note ... The notes are for three years because they are 1520 intended to be not for the long term but for the construction period. If a project is started and you have three-year money and the project is finished in, say, nine months, then instead of saying I am going to pay back early the three-year money and then go back a month later and ask again for three-year money to do something else, there may be occasions when the time of the project

1525 goes from the initial phase to the finish phase and brings back cash. If that is within the three years, it will probably make more sense to reinvest that money than to liquidate the original loan note early and then have to go back and ask for another loan note. Other than that, the three-year period is intended to be the longest the money will be available because we do not expect projects to take more than three years from the initial funding to the end, so that is why the period is short.

1530

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, with respect to the hon. Member, I do not think he has answered the question as to where he identifies, in respect of this particular project, the profitable elements will emanate. I do not think he has answered that question. He has provided useful answers in relation to the duration of the loan notes and what would happen should they be redeemed 1535 earlier, but not in relation to where he identifies, in respect of this project, the profitable elements lie.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the exercise of determining the profitability takes place before we actually get into doing the project. We do not start the project first and then discover 1540 whether it is profitable or not. Every project where we say yes, it is going ahead, and we put in for planning permission and organise the delivery ... it is because we are confident that it is going to make money. The only thing that we cannot guarantee is, in the market that we are in today, where inflation is going to be in a month's time or in three months' time. Nobody in the world can guarantee that. I cannot either. On the basis of present costs and on the basis of our ability to 1545 purchase what we need and pay the workers the current rate, these projects are profitable projects that will be able to service the loan, produce a profit and provide a free facility to the Government. That is the answer.

Hon. D J Bossino: And presumably it is simply too early to say what the cost of this particular 1550 project will be?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I do not like making speculative statements because if you try to be helpful and produce a figure, other people seem to think it is an advantage they have if it turns out not to be the eventual figure. When I am confident beyond any doubt that there is not 1555 going to be a change I will tell him what the figure is, but I do not think it is a good idea to speculate because I do not want to add to the turmoil that there is out there about so many different figures by producing new ones.

Hon. R M Clinton: Mr Speaker, thank you for your indulgence.

1560 I just want to pick up on something the Minister just said. It has just occurred to me and perhaps he can shed some light ... Obviously he is talking about the duration of the financing and the cashflow to service etc., but if you take the Rooke project and its £22 million loan notes at, I think, 4%, he said, I am not sure whether that is 4% ... paid when? Is that 4% paid at the end of the project or is it 4% paid monthly? The reason I ask is because during the construction phase I 1565 cannot see how the Rooke site could generate positive cashflow, so how would it be servicing its loan notes to Gibraltar Community Projects, who in turn need to service their loan notes to GSBA Ltd, who in turn need to pay the Savings Bank monthly, by the looks of it – monthly income debenture. How is he managing that maturity transformation question on cashflow, where he has money going into a project which obviously will take some time to complete, when meanwhile he 1570 has loans to service? And how are those loans being serviced in terms of cashflow? Or is it that the loan notes are structured in such a way that the interest only becomes payable at a much later date?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I am not 100% sure, but I do not think it is at a much later date; I think it 1575 is paid during the time of the loan. But of course both the construction company and CSS have cashflow from other projects. The flow of cash only changes when it is needed. If money comes in because you have sold something and you have to pay the 4% of the money that was provided for the Jewish Home, you do not say, 'No, wait a minute, this not from the Jewish Home bit of the plan, this from another bit of the plan, so I cannot use that money.' It is not all in different pockets. 1580 The servicing of the loan I do not believe will be at the end of the three years. It will be during the course of the year, but I do not know at what intervals without going back and checking.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q560/2022
Government-owned companies –
Number of vacancies

1585 Clerk: Question 560/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many vacancies are there within Government-owned companies, identifying the company?

1590 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, there are no vacancies within Government companies.

1595 Hon. D A Feetham: Can he explain why there are no vacancies in Government-owned companies? Is it because there is some technical appreciation that I have not appreciated? Or is it that all the vacancies in Government-owned companies have been filled?

1600 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Because Government companies function as Government companies and not as Civil Service Departments, and therefore they have the staff they need for the work they have to do. As I have already said publicly on a number of occasions, in the public sector we will scrutinise every vacancy to make sure that we need to fill it, or we do not need to be spending that money, or there is a more pressing need in some other direction for which the money could be better deployed.

1605 Part of my duty to deliver the restoration of financial stability is that we make sure that when there is something on which we are spending money, we stop spending money. Because the person who was doing that job is no longer there, we do not just say it is going to be filled because it was there before. It has always been the case that the companies do not have an establishment that appears to be written on tablets of stone. The companies take on more people if they have more work and tend to shed people if they have less work. There was a company the Government had in 2011 which had quite a lot of workers because of the projects they were working on then – it was a subsidiary of another company; it was a construction company – and when that company finished the work they just terminated the construction workers they employed, and that was done before the 2011 election.

1615 Hon. D A Feetham: Does the Minister agree that Government-owned companies advertise vacancies?

1620 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: A vacancy is created in a company either because it is undertaking something which requires more people or because it has finished doing something and the people

1625 who were doing it have no other work to do. Even when there is no work to do, people do not get sacked from Government companies, but when they retire and there has been a period when they have had very little work to do, there is no automatic filling of the vacancy. At the moment there is no company in the situation that there are vacancies, in the sense that there are fewer people today than there were six months ago and there is a vacancy there. A vacancy is created the day the person leaves and then a decision is taken by the management: do we really need to employ somebody else when in fact there is not enough work for the people we have here? That is how the companies work. It is how it worked when he was in government.

1630 Hon. D A Feetham: Therefore, the answer to my supplementary is yes. Given that the answer to my supplementary – (Interjection and laughter) Yes, it is. The answer to my supplementary is yes, because Government-owned companies do advertise for vacancies.

1635 I understand what the Hon. Minister is saying. The Hon. Minister is telling me we may advertise for vacancies but there is no complement – that is what he is saying – in the public service sense. But given that the answer to my supplementary is yes, does he therefore not agree with me that at any given point in time there must be vacancies in Government-owned companies – or not, as the case may be? It may be that there has not been any advertisement of any vacancies at that point.

1640 As at the date when I asked the question, were any vacancies in Government-owned companies advertised that had not been filled? That at least would have answered my question.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [inaudible]

1645 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, bearing in mind that the Minister does not have the information and I do not want to be contentious, could I therefore, next time around, ask a more specific question that would allow the Hon. Minister to provide me with the answer? It is clear to the House what I am after. I know what the Hon. Minister is saying: no complement. I understand all that. I want to know, as at today's date, how many vacancies there are in the sense, at the very least, that those vacancies have been advertised. It may well be that the answer is zero, there have been no vacancies advertised, but may I ask it next time round?

1655 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: It is not clear what he is saying. Has any company that is owned by Government advertised vacancies? I am not aware of any. If he knows of some, then he knows more than I do.

1660 Hon. D A Feetham: The question is very simple. As at today's date when the question was posed, were there any vacancies in Government-owned companies that were to be filled? He is going to say to me there is no complement and therefore there are no vacancies. I am saying to him at the very least you can tell me whether, as at the date when I posed the question, Government-owned companies had advertised for any vacancy. That, at least, he can tell me.

1665 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the hon. Gentleman is driving us to a potentially very difficult situation. Have Government companies advertise vacancies? The answer to that is yes, they have, because the word 'have' is past tense. How many have they advertised? We would have to go back to the first Government company advertising of a vacancy to give an accurate answer. The first company incorporated under the Government was incorporated under the ACR. It was not the land reclamation, it was the one to do with the sands on the Eastside. Every time the bus company advertises for a bus driver, it would come within scope. So the hon. Gentleman may want to say to us – the Hon. Father of the House has given him the answer in respect of the day when he asked him – 'Were there vacancies in any Government company, although there is no complement but because they were driven to require somebody to be employed, on 1670 13th December 2022?' which is the date in respect of which he or the Leader of the Opposition asked me questions about other aspects, and on that date, if a Government company has advertised for what they consider to be posts that they need filled, we will give him the answer.

1675

Hon. D A Feetham: That is the question, Mr Speaker.

Hon. Chief Minister: Well, okay, Mr Speaker, he has already got the answer to that question as at the date he asked the question. If he wants to ask it again, he can ask it again, and if on that day there is a vacancy that has been advertised, not because there is a complement but because there is a need for an individual to be employed by a company, we will say, 'Yes, here,' and if there is not, we will say no.

1680

Hon. D A Feetham: The Hon. Minister has told me, 'I do not know.' I think the question was clear. He has chosen to answer it in terms of 'Well, there is no complement and therefore there are no vacancies.' I understand that, but the question is clear: as at that date, either it is no, there are no vacancies – in other words, we have not advertised for any vacancies that are still pending to be filled on that date – or there are, and I am just asking for leave from Mr Speaker to ask it next time because he does not have the answer.

1685

1690

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: It says 'how many vacancies are there within Government companies, identifying the company?' 'Within Government companies' is not 'Has there been a vacancy advertised today or last week?' 'Within' suggests that there are unfilled jobs which we consider, because they are unfilled, are vacancies that need filling. That is the only way I can interpret the question.

1695

Mr Speaker: I think if you pose the question next month, I will permit it.

Q561-62/2022

North Mole Road parking facility – Developer; intended users

Q563/2022

Workers' hostel –
Location, timing and developer

Q564/2022

Community Services and Supplies Ltd – Role

Q565/2022

Wonderworks Media Ltd – Employees in Government Departments

Clerk: Question 561/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1700

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, who is developing the new parking facility at North Mole Road?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

1705 Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer together with Questions 562 to 565.

Clerk: Question 562/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1710 Hon. D J Bossino: For whose use is the new parking facility at North Mole Road being constructed?

Clerk: Question 563/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1715 Hon. D J Bossino: Where and when will the workers' hostel be constructed and by which company?

Clerk: Question 564/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1720 Hon. D J Bossino: What work does Community Services and Supplies Ltd do for the Government?

Clerk: Question 565/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

1725 Hon. D J Bossino: Are employees of Wonderworks Media Ltd working in Government Departments; and, if so, how many, in which Departments, the duration of their employment contracts and why are they working there?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

1730

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the North Mole Road project was originally being done by GJBS in 2017 and is now being completed by GBIC.

The parking is for businesses in the area, in accordance with the original terms agreed in 2017.

The workers' hostel proposed for the Eastern Beach site is currently on hold.

1735 Community Services and Supplies Ltd is not currently providing any services or supplies to the Government.

No employees of Wonderworks Media Ltd are working in any Government Department.

1740 Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to the first one, which relates to the parking facility at North Mole Road, he said it is now being done by GBIC Ltd. Is the funding arrangement in respect of that particular project the same one he has described in relation to the National Economic Plan this afternoon? In other words, funding through CSSL and so forth?

1745 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Except for one element, which is the materials that were purchased already by GJBS, or by the Government, which had been unused. For those materials, we have asked the people involved and benefiting from this to provide the funding. So the funding of the actual work is being done through the normal media, but the reimbursement to GJBS of the materials that were already provided is being done by the users in the area who will be the beneficiaries of the scheme being finished.

1750

Hon. D J Bossino: In other words, the businesses in the area that he talked about in answer to the second question, which is Question 562, for whose use the new parking facility is being constructed.

1755 Is he able to give me numbers as to how many parking spaces are available and what the take-up has been? Probably 100%, I imagine.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I do not have that detail because I am not directly involved in these areas, but I can get the information and send it to him.

1760 Hon. D J Bossino: Just to be clear, it is those businesses which are going to be paying for the materials that were used but came from GJBS?

1765 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The businesses that are in the area, but again I do not know which those businesses are. I know that in the process of looking at the funding that was required we have not funded the purchase of what had originally been put on site by GJBS way back in 2017 when they were engaged in doing it, because we thought it would not be something that ... The system in place is not designed to do that, so we went to the people who had been originally involved in the negotiations and said to them, 'Since GJBS is not going to be doing it and we have to acquire this from GJBS, we expect you to pay for this up front,' and then that will not form part of the cost of the development because they will have paid for it.

1775 Hon. D J Bossino: In relation to the next question, which related to the workers' hostel, he said it was on hold. May I ask why that is the case? The project was designed specifically to alleviate the demand for temporary housing for locals who are experiencing difficulties prior to being allocated a permanent home. Given the delays which are going to be experienced in connection with the affordable homes projects, it would seem that it is a highly relevant demand and need. Or is it that the Coaling Island project is going to be meeting that need? I know in the last session it was slightly controversial because I think the hon. Member was not willing to answer any questions in relation to the purpose behind the Coaling Island project, but I just wanted to understand why a project which is going to be addressing such an important social need is currently on hold.

1785 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I am not sure that the project was going to meet what he thinks it was going to meet, Mr Speaker, because it was predominantly a project to be able to develop the areas where we now have the hostels and, of course, to give the people in the hostels something which is better, because the hostels are really not up to scratch and those places should have been replaced a long time ago. That was the primary aim and I think it said it would also be available for people who became homeless or when families separated and they have not got the ability ...

1790 There is a concept that I am pursuing, but I have not yet got to the stage of being able to announce something specific, which is to try to come up with what I would call transitional housing for people who are in the process of purchasing and not in Government housing and are therefore having extreme difficulty, having down-payments and paying private sector rents. I am looking at the possibility of producing transitional housing, which would have a specific market, which would be people in that category – that is to say people who would be renting. It would be using the same mechanism of the GBIC/CSS funding but they would be renting the property on the basis that when they bought they would move out, so it would not be a permanent thing, and their rents would be below the lowest that is available in the market, maybe half of what the market is charging, because it would still have to be capable of being self-financing. It is not subsidised but it would not be producing big profits, because we are not in the business of investing in real estate to make big profits.

1800 What he has identified, which I think exists and has to be addressed, I do not think would have been addressed by what we are doing there, and what we are doing there cannot go on because of the complications dealing with where the roundabout is going to go, coming from the tunnel. We were stopped initially by the Planning Department from doing anything there because at that 1805 time, six or nine months ago, it might have meant doing something that would have affected the works in the tunnel, and the experience we have had is that anything that affected works with the tunnel is immediately used by the other party to say, 'You are doing something you shouldn't be doing.' Given the unhappy relationship we had with the party that was doing the tunnel, I was told that I should not go anywhere near it, so we put a stop to it and we concentrated on doing other 1810 things. That is the only reason for it.

I think when mention was made of providing for families, it was more for people who are not adequately catered for by the hostels we have, which are for single men who are workers and not for anybody else. For the people who are buying, I think you would need to have something that would be really home and not a hostel. The people who are buying and renting simultaneously I 1815 think would only move from where they are if they got something perhaps equivalent in size and so on at an unsubsidised rent but just a rent that barely covers costs, which is what I am hoping to be able to deliver. I am not sure that it is possible to do, but I think if I am able to deliver it, it will meet the problem that he identifies, which I agree with him exists.

Hon. D J Bossino: The way I understood it is the way he has just explained is the temporary 1820 housing for those people who are waiting for affordable housing. That is the way I understood it, but it is possible that it is open to the interpretation that he is giving it, because if you read on it says it will act as a stepping stone for those who may be experiencing a sense of homelessness before being moved into adequate housing by the Gibraltar Government. So it is possible, but he 1825 has explained the position and that there is no connection with the Coaling Island project.

Just to confirm, because the planning application was filed on behalf of CSSL, again is the idea that once this gets off the ground – and he has explained that the reason why it is on hold is that it is, in effect, as a result of planning considerations, if I can put it in those general terms – the funding for that project is going to be the same model that is used for the National Economic Plan?
1830

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: At the moment, that is the only model available. If we are not doing this, it will not happen. I am at an early stage of talking to potential local developers who have expressed an interest in being involved. It may not lead anywhere because maybe they are looking for profit margins. That is not what I am producing, so they may not want to come in, and maybe 1835 they only want to come in where there is the possibility of bigger profit margins, given that the market seems to operate, from what I see as an outsider, as people buying something off plan and then reselling it when it is still off plan and there are resales several times before the first brick is laid. That is not the kind of situation that the National Economic Plan is going to be producing. But there may be some areas where people see the potential of buying to resell, expecting 1840 revaluations, and therefore, if the funding that comes in is something that adds value to what I am trying to do with the National Economic Plan, I am willing to listen to it. But until that happens, it will all be either from the origin of the Savings Bank or from retained profits that are being reinvested, which would be a very small part because the profit margins are not the normal profit margins of normal commercial property developers.
1845

Hon. D J Bossino: And may I ask him, finally, in respect of this point, Mr Speaker, when he thinks that ...? Presumably the planning considerations have been addressed and resolved, and if that is the case, when does he think this particular project will get off the ground? I hear what he says about the possibility of an outside investor providing the finance for this. Presumably, he 1850 wants to explore that. If that is exhausted and it comes to nowt, he will then use the funding, as he has described to my hon. Friend here to the right, from the Savings Bank?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I think we would be in a position to revisit the project if the tunnel reaches the final stage in three months' time. We will have to wait and see. There have been a few previous 1855 dates when it was supposed to be finished and it has not been finished, but if it finishes when it is supposed to be finished this time, which is in the first quarter of next year, then we will go back to looking again at that project after that.

Mr Speaker: I think the Hon. Damon Bossino should continue with his supplementaries and 1860 then – (Interjection) Yes. Go ahead.

Hon. D J Bossino: Continue with the supplementaries in respect of the questions posed? It is just that the Hon. Mr Clinton had a supplementary in relation to this particular question.

So continuing with Question 564, which dealt with Community Services and Supplies Ltd, the 1865 hon. Member's answer was that this company is not providing services – I cannot remember what he said; my note is not very good (Interjection) – or supplying work to the Government. In fact, as far as the latter point is concerned, he was very clear on the last occasion that this company is not 1870 hiring labour to the Government. He was very clear about that. But if I can quote him ... I do not think the Hansard is out, but I have watched the video online. Can he provide some further information in relation to this by way of assistance? He said that we do not hire labour from CSS, which addresses the point I have just made, but he says we may give them work to do with their labour from us. I was not very clear about that latter bit – 'but we may give them work to do'.
Hence why I do not understand why he has answered the question in the way he has, because he 1875 did say that we give them work to do with the labour force, but we do not hire labour from them as a Government. That was his full reply, but he is now saying he is not providing services or supplying labour.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the answer is specific to the question I have got. If the Member wants to ask different things as supplementaries when he has the opportunity [inaudible] 1880 he should not wait for the supplementary in the first place. The question is whether we are currently, and we are not. We are not currently. The Government is not currently.

CSS is involved in providing a service that is related to the development of all the projects. That does not mean that tomorrow CSS might not do something else, but as I speak today there is no service being provided by CSS to the Government and no labour being provided by CSS to the 1885 Government. CSS is only involved in the delivery of the National Economic Plan at the moment. It is not that it will not do it or it cannot do it; I am saying it is not happening at the moment.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the question was very simple and it arose from the answer he gave last time. He said, very simply, we may give them work to do, and the question was what 1890 work is this company doing for the Government. It is very simple. Is the answer nothing? Or is it that last month it was doing work for the Government and now it is not doing work for the Government? I am not following what he is saying. It just requires clarification, I think. I do not think there is anything particularly controversial.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I am not trying to be controversial, Mr Speaker. It is just the understanding of the English language that is at stake here. 'We may' means we may give it or we may not give it, and I have said we have not given it, but we may give it tomorrow. Since he is asking me the question today, as at today we have not given them any work that needs to be done for the Government. They are working on things that are in the National Economic Plan, which is at arm's 1900 length from the Government, and they may enter into providing services at some stage, but at the moment the service they provide is in connection with the delivery of the National Economic Plan and nothing else. That does not mean that we see anything wrong in anything different happening, it is just that it is not happening at present but it may. He can, of course, ask me every month if it has happened and I will tell him whether it has or it is still in the 'may' area.

1905

Mr Speaker: Can I suggest that in the future, when you table a question, why don't you refer to something? I think that was the situation which arose in the Minister's mind. He could not make the connection because you had not given him the connection. You gave him the connection as a supplementary but not in the original question. That is what I am saying.

1910

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, yes, it is a recommendation that one can consider, but he has understood it and he knows where I was coming from. One can look back and understand in response to which question I asked he responded in the way he did. The implication was, the way I understood it, that work was being given, but he has clarified the position.

1915

In relation to the final question that I posed, which was in relation to Wonderworks Media Ltd, which is a company that is a subsidiary of CSS Ltd, given that we have to be careful with the use of semantics here to make sure that we get the answer we want, he is saying that there are no employees of this company working ... The question was in Government Departments. The information that I have, and I have said so in this House now on at least two occasions in the past, is that there are employees of this company working within Government Departments. I have heard of 10 in the Town Planning Department, I understand that there are two in the Tourism Department and I understand also that there are some – I do not know how many, or at least I do not recall – in the Social Security Department. If the question was phrased differently, so if we said working for Government Departments, as opposed to in Government Departments, would that produce a different response?

1920

1925

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: It is not that I am trying to withhold information from him, so I am not playing semantic games. If I have information, I give it to him, and if I tell him I do not know it is because I do not know. If he has difficulty in believing that I am telling the truth, I do not like it because he has known me long enough to know me.

1930

On 26th October, I am informed, having made inquiries, the Planning Department asked for the assistance of this company and this company sent a trainee for five days and did not charge any money, so whoever told him that the company is working or that workers in the company are doing the work of civil servants in the Planning Department does not know what they are talking about or is deliberately misleading the Member. It is an initiative from the Planning Department because their computers were down and the paperwork was piling up. They had contact with this company because the company is involved in the planning of the projects that we have, and they asked the company, 'Can you help with the backlog we have here?' and the company took one of its employees, sent them for five days to help bring the load down and then brought him back. He was not employed, paid for, hired or anything.

1935

1940

That is the information that I have obtained – of which I had no knowledge – to find out why he was insistent that there was somebody working in the Planning Department when I was sure that there was not. If he wants to say that that is something that should not happen and that the next time, if they ask for help, even if somebody is being provided free of charge, it should be denied, then he is entitled to have that view.

1945

The employee was there for five days, did the work, but was all the time employed by the person who provided him and not hired, and no payment changed hands. I do not consider that to be somebody working, but if he wants to see it as somebody working ... That person was not replacing a civil servant and was not doing the work of anybody else; it was just because it was in the interest of the applications that we have in the pile, to help reduce the pile. The people who are employed in Wonderworks Media who may be doing work for CSS were keen to ... When they made enquiries about the delays and they said, 'The delays are for this reason,' they wrote an email and said, 'If you send us somebody to help, we may get through the pile quicker,' and that is what they did. No sinister movement there.

1950

As far as some people working in the Social Security Department, I am the Minister for the Social Security Department and I had two people who were with me in the Ministry for Economic Development and I have sent them over to help in my other Department. Nothing to do with

1955

Wonderworks or anybody else. I do not know about the Tourism situation, but I will find out and let him know.

1960

Hon. D J Bossino: I must say that I find it quite remarkable, his answer, but let's leave it at that.

Just so I understand it, what he is saying is that CSSL, which is involved in so many planning applications, enquired as to the delay in relation to the projects in respect of which it is filing planning applications with the Planning Department, and they said, 'We cannot do it because we are short staffed,' (Interjection) – if I can just finish the point; he has a good memory and I am sure he will take a note of what I say – and provided, through its subsidiary, an employee to finish the job. I find that somewhat remarkable in terms of due process and the way Government works.

1965

He is saying, whether he was paid or not, presumably paid by the Government ... Presumably that individual would have been paid – if not, he would have been working illegally – by Wonderworks Media Ltd, but it was not charged to the Government. I understand that, because it was a benefit to its parent company, which is CSSL. It was not an expense to the Government, but that is almost by the by.

1970

In terms of due process and things like that, is he able to confirm that this individual, although he or she was there for five days – or it could have been one day or 10 minutes – was subject to things like the Official Secrets Act and all the rest of it, data protection, to ensure that the information that this individual was seeing was not then distributed, which would have resulted in advantage to CSSL in terms of the planning process?

1975

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I have made the enquiry in order to be able to reassure the Member that the information that he claimed to have was inaccurate. It is quite obvious that having failed to be able to continue to criticise me for what he was criticising me for before, he has now, while he was listening to my explanation, come up with a new reason for criticising me.

1980

I am not responsible for any of it. I was trying to be helpful, to put him at ease given the anguish he was suffering from not being able to reconcile what he was hearing from me with the truth. The information I have given him is the information I solicited in order to put the record straight for his advantage.

1985

As far as his supplementary, I am not going to be his messenger to seek any more information on this or anything else.

1990

Hon. D J Bossino: It is the typical response I would get from the hon. Member.

Mr Speaker, it is obvious and clear that with a change of one word in my question – and he is saying that he is not playing with semantics – we have had information being provided. It was obvious what information was being sought, so all I had to do was change an 'in' to a 'for' and I have had this information.

1995

Can he confirm and undertake that he will provide me with information so that we do not have to go through this piecemeal process again? If he wants, I will write to him. If not, I can pose questions in this House. He says he does not know whether there are employees of Wonderworks Media Ltd working for the Tourism Department. That puts me in some doubt as to whether there are other employees of Wonderworks Media Ltd providing services by way of labour to other Government Departments. So can he, next time, if I ask the question, provide me with a full list – I will make sure it says 'for' and not 'in' – of those employees of this company working for Government Departments?

2000

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I have to provide information as the Minister for Economic Development, as Minister for Social Security and as the person responsible for the National Economic Plan, but I am not here to provide ... whatever question he chooses. And when I try to be helpful and give him more information he then accuses me of playing with semantics.

2005

The reality is that since the hon. Member is 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 52 weeks a year on a campaign to replace Mr Azopardi, we have to put up with all this nonsense. He wants to make 2010 sure that he is on the front page every day as the most aggressive Member of the Opposition. Well, I am not going to assist him in that task, so the answer is very simple. If I have told him something, I am telling him what I am in the knowledge of. If I say as far as I know there is nobody working in any Government Department, he immediately says that must mean that I know there is somebody, that I am lying and that I am hiding and playing semantics by saying 'as far as I know'.

2015 He has mentioned specifically the Tourism Department, which is not mentioned in the question, because he says 'in any Government Department', and the last time he mentioned Planning and Social Security. As far as I am concerned, there is nobody working in any Department. Has any Department given work to somebody who is using an employee of that company? Maybe, I do not know, but the hon. Member seems to think that I have nothing better to do than to try 2020 and not give him information. Well, I can assure him that he gives me work because I seek to satisfy his interest in a piece of information, and that for all the effort I make the net result is that that, in his eyes, proves I was deliberately misleading him.

I am not going to play his game, so the answer is I will not go around trying to find out if there is anybody anywhere, because it is not my job to do that. I have only done it as a consequence of 2025 the previous time when I told him I did not have information about something and he said he would not believe me. He found it very difficult to believe me. Well, that is his opinion of me. I regret that he should think that of me.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker –

2030

Mr Speaker: No. (Interjection by Hon. D J Bossino) Right. One final question, but I want moderation in the tone.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, the moderation in tone is something that I would counsel the 2035 hon. Member to employ. If my aim was to make him irate, I certainly think I have achieved that. The other things he talks about I think are totally and utterly irrelevant to the questions I am posing. The fact is we are getting somewhere. We are getting some information from the initial answer he provided.

I am going to ask a question, Mr Speaker. It is this. We had the same situation yesterday and 2040 we had the same situation last month. The questions are filed. They are not directed. We do not direct and decide who of that lot answers the question. (A Member: That lot?) They are the ones who decide and set up –

Mr Speaker: You withdraw that? Okay.

2045

Hon. D J Bossino: The hon. Members opposite are the ones who decide who answers the questions. This question is posed and made of the Government and the hon. Member has said he does not have that information available. I have said 'if there are individuals employed by this company working in a particular Government Department'. I do not need to identify which 2050 Government Departments. The question is very clearly laid. It talks about 'in Government Departments', which are then amended to 'for', which resulted in the answer he has given.

I mentioned the Tourism Department. Mr Speaker, the Hon. the Minister for Tourism is sitting here in this House today. Can't he answer this question? Can't he say whether his Department has individuals working for it who are employed by this company?

2055

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, he is going to have to give notice for that question.

Mr Speaker: I think we need to move on. Hold on. I think the Hon. Marlene Hassan Nahon 2060 wants to ask a question. (Interjection) The Hon. Roy Clinton will have an opportunity.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, thank you.

2065 I did not actually pose this question myself – it is a supplementary of my colleague on the right here – because I actually knew the answer. Gibraltar is a very small place and we all know the answer. We all know who works where and why, so when the Minister talks about ‘as far as he is concerned’, ‘not relevant here’, ‘we do not know’, going round in circles, we all know the answer. That is why I did not ask it myself, but I want to exercise my right to ask a supplementary and ask is he actually insulting our intelligence, because we all know the answer.

2070 Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I would like to raise a point of order in relation to the comment that was made before as to whether I had given notice of the question. The question very clearly says, in relation to this company, ‘working in Government Departments’. That includes the Ministry for Tourism. It is a Government Department, therefore notice has been given – the due notice, which was five days.

2075

Mr Speaker: Does the Hon. Minister have an answer for that? Does he have any information that he may ...? He does not? Fine.

2080 Hon. V Daryanani: Mr Speaker, I do not have any information on which company or anything of that sort. That is why I am saying he should give specific notice.

Mr Speaker: You have answered the question. You do not have any information. Fine. Does the Hon. Minister, Sir Joe, wish to –?

2085 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [Inaudible] the introductory remarks of the hon. Member. At the end of the day, whether people on that side of the House believe what we tell them from this side of the House is a matter for them, just like it was when we were on that side and we were told lots of things that we thought lacked apparent credibility, and presumably the people who were then in government thought they were giving all the information that should be given. Nothing has changed.

2090

Mr Speaker: The Hon. Roy Clinton.

Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker. I will be brief.

2095 If I can ask the Minister, going back to Question 561, just two elements: (1) can he confirm that this particular project is now being undertaken or completed under the auspices of the National Economic Plan using the funding mechanism that we have spent some time exploring; and (2) why was it that GJBS could not complete the project?

2100 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I have no idea, because it goes back quite a long way. We are talking about five years ago, 2017. I know in 2017 they were involved in many other projects and maybe they found that they did not have the resources. They were involved in the big project here in the middle of town and then they went on to do all the work in the Island Games. I can only assume they had a project there which was something they might have started when they did not have a lot of work and then found that at different stages they were not able to go back to doing it. They were taking on a very big workload after 2017, 2018 and 2019 – 2019 was the Island Games and then, after that, of course, during the COVID years there was the practical closure of much of the construction industry. Now I think that to go back to it is something that ... They do not have the resources now that they had then, because the Government is not putting money into the I&D Fund and they are very tight for funding.

2110

It has been, already, seven years since it was started and when it was brought to my attention I thought it was something that was viable and worth doing and that we should be able to do it through the finance system that we have created for the National Economic Plan, so we 2115 incorporated it as one of our projects. The only thing is that I did not want the complication of the materials that had already been paid for to be creating an anomaly in the system, so I asked that that should be refunded by the ultimate beneficiaries back to GJBS and not through us.

Mr Speaker: No, we are –

2120 Hon. D J Bossino: No, Mr Speaker, it is not a question, it is a point of clarification, with the Chair's leave.

2125 The Hon. the Minister for Tourism does not have the information available to him in respect of a question that he had notice of. I just want to make absolutely sure that I will be able to ask the question in the next session, a specific question in respect of his Ministry and in respect of this company, and not be bound by the six-month rule. I am very surprised they did not have this information, because at the end of the day that Department, I do not think, is that big in terms of staff.

Mr Speaker: No, we proceed now to the next question. Next question, please.

Q566/2022

Child welfare payments –
December delay

Q567/2022

£25 million additional borrowing – Whether used

Q568-69/2022

Victoria Stadium –
Premium re site development; room composition of apartments

2130 Clerk: Question 566/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, why have child welfare payments been delayed in December?

2135 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Questions 567 to 569.

2140 Clerk: Question 567/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2145 Hon. K Azopardi: Has the Government spent or used any part of the additional £25 million which the Minister for Financial Stability confirmed in answer to Q491-92/2022 had been borrowed this financial year; and, if so how, much and on what?

Clerk: Question 568/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

2150 Hon. K Azopardi: Has the Gibraltar Football Association or any other entity paid or agreed to pay a premium for the development of the current site of the Victoria Stadium; if so, which entity and in what amount?

Clerk: Question 569/2022. The Hon. the Leader of the Opposition.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, how many one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments are projected to form part of the new Victoria Stadium development?

2155

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I am informed that child welfare grant payments were delayed as part of an essential annual exercise to reassess the eligibility and current rates of existing claimants to the grant. All individuals who have submitted the required paperwork and documentary evidence should have received their payments by now.

2160

The £25 million additional drawdown was credited to the Consolidated Fund and not the Improvement and Development Fund, which means it has not been used on any specific project.

2165

No additional premium is going to be paid for the development site already owned by the Gibraltar Football Association, for which they have already paid £16.5 million.

The detailed configuration of the Victoria Stadium development has not yet been finalised.

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, in relation to the child welfare payments, the Minister has clarified that everyone who is eligible has now received the payments, and that is a good thing but the reason for the question is because we were being approached at the time by people who obviously got concerned. Child welfare payments, by their very nature, are targeted relief for families – single mothers a lot of the time – and so any kind of delay, even if it is as a result of a fairly sensible explanation, as the Minister has given, because there needs to be an annual review and so on, causes concern to people who are living with very low means. So can I just urge the Minister, given that this has caused concern to several people, that the Department take on board that if it has to – well, it will – do annual reviews in future, it does so in a way that can ... I am not sure how, but that he talks with his officials so that they do so in a way that factors in that it does not then delay payments, so that there is some kind of assessment that can be done before payments trickle out?

2170

2175

2180

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I agree with him, Mr Speaker. I am told that part of the complication this year was that although it is supposed to be an annual review, it had not been done since before the COVID epidemic. That was the last time, and therefore I suppose it was slightly more complicated because of that long interruption. Hopefully it will not occur again in the future.

2185

Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, I am sure that will be welcome news for people who will be concerned about those child welfare payments.

Can I ask on the £25 million? His answer was, I think – I took a note – that it went to the Consolidated Fund, not being used for a project. I was not asking whether there was a specific project in mind because he said it is not credited to the I&DF. I get that. My question was more generic. If he looks again at the language of my question, what I am asking really is the £25 million was credited to the Consolidated Fund – has it been used? Has it been spent, and if so, on what?

2190

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The problem with that is that the pound notes that make up the £25 million are not different from the notes that were already in the Consolidated Fund, so if the Consolidated Fund is, say, £3 million lower, is it from the £25 million or is it from the money that was there before? Twenty five million was added. I think it is something like £3½ million down compared to the figures that I gave a month ago, but you cannot say the £3½ million came from the £25 million.

2200

2205 Hon. K Azopardi: I see. I understand the explanation. I suppose the answer to the question will be that at the end of the year we will know whether that money has been used, in effect, because the final profit and loss, if I can put it that way – the balance sheet exercise – would be correct wouldn't it?

2210 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [Inaudible] to understand, because I have explained it before to the Hon. Mr Clinton that the Government's outlay is more or less steady every month but the revenue sometimes comes with much bigger figures in one month than in others. So although we may be actually running in a deficit situation, there are months when we are in surplus. Unfortunately, the months in surplus are fewer than the ones in deficit, so the reality is that you could actually find that when the money in the kitty went up by £25 million, the next month we might be £5 million down and you would say we must have spent £5 million of the £20 million, but then a month later we might have £25 million coming in because there was a big payment of company tax or something, and the level would be up. It really is a daily thing. This changes every day, so the only real figures are the figures at the end. Throughout every month you estimate the money at the time of the day and it might be one figure at 10 the morning and another figure at closing time. So it does give an indication, I think, when there is a lot of money going out and very little money coming in, but when it is more or less balanced – and at the moment, fortunately, we are more or less balanced since that £25 million, otherwise we would have been down and we would have been having to seek to draw more money. So we drew the money then. The decision was taken that even though we did not really need it at that time, we should draw it, and the balance has not changed more than £3 million or £4 million in one direction or the other since we took the £25 million. That may help to understand the state of play.

2225 Hon. K Azopardi: Yes, Mr Speaker, that is helpful, thank you.

2230 Can I ask about the football stadium now? I think his answer in relation to my question has the GFA paid a premium is that the GFA will not pay a development premium, that no development premium will be paid – that is, I think, what he said – not just by the GFA, by any entity. No development premium will be paid. Can I just explore that? That would be different to every time, at least to my knowledge, or at least most of the times the Government negotiates. If someone wants to develop a plot of land and wants to build houses on it, for example, they would negotiate a premium to develop that land from the Government, because that provides the taxpayer the value for money of conferring development rights on the entity – the developer, in this case, who wants to build houses, say.

2235 The GFA bought the land on which the stadium is built for £16.5 million, but at the time never paid development rights because all they were doing was acquiring the football stadium; they were not acquiring development rights. But now, as part of this project – we have seen the images – this project is not just going to be a rebuilt stadium, it is going to include commercial units. It is also going to include residential, and hence the next question that I had on the Order Paper. In the normal way, anyone who wants to build commercial or residential would pay a premium for that, so why is the Government satisfied that the taxpayer, not the savers – because obviously the savers, through the Savings Bank, are investing in the project, and so the savers might be protected through an interest rate return, which we spoke about in relation to the other question – but in relation to the taxpayer, who is conferring the land on which the development will be built and how is the taxpayer obtaining value for money if no premium will be paid for the development?

2250 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I think it is self-evident. The taxpayer is going to benefit from the fact that the project will happen. The taxpayer pays taxes because the Government has to tax people to deliver services. If we create an asset that produces economic activity, that allows the football home matches to be played here, that people come and visit Gibraltar, the effect on Government revenues and economic activity is to the benefit of the taxpayers, who would otherwise maybe have to pay more taxes for things that the Government provides.

2255 If the taxpayer was rewarded at the beginning of this process by saying there has to be a premium on this, as there would be in any other luxury development, it would not happen, so the taxpayer will have nothing. The taxpayer would be worse off because, on the basis of the figures that we have looked at, a premium at this stage would appear to tip the balance, which would mean that the return on the project would not be enough to satisfy us that this is a project that 2260 needs to be ... We are convinced that it needs to be done, but it needs to be understood that the National Economic Plan will not undertake anything where there is not at least, as a minimum, the money that services the loan and that everything else breaks even.

If we treated this as if it were a plot of land on which people were going to make money and that was it ... but of course it includes a stadium, which has no return. The stadium part of the 2265 project does not produce a profit. The expenditure of the whole/home cannot be the expenditure on the commercial bid alone. If it was the expenditure on the commercial bid alone and there was no stadium there, then you could argue that the people there are going to make a lot of money so they should be taxed for the money, but that is not the case. This is why originally there was no provision for doing anything else, and this is why that has had to be changed. It has not been 2270 changed so as to enable the Government to tax the developer. It has been changed so as to enable the National Economic Plan to be confident that this is worth supporting because it is going to be a viable proposition. We would not be as confident that if they had to pay £x million up front before doing anything else the project would then have the same viability.

It may be something we have to revisit when the whole thing is finished and we see what the 2275 profit levels are, but it is not something that anybody is going to put their money in, and certainly the National Economic Plan is not going to give them a premium to do it, and the GFA does not have the money to give a premium. The answer is that if you look at it realistically, if it is going to go ahead, it will only go ahead on the basis that there is no further premium at this stage, and I do not think, frankly, there will be a further premium in the future either, but we will not know 2280 until that happens. I am confident that it is viable, I am confident it will make a good profit, I am confident that we will recover the money, but I am not confident that if we tax it at the beginning, before it has even got off the ground ... If you do that at the beginning, then you have to change all the other numbers, and if it is not going to happen then the taxpayer is no better off. Gibraltar is worse off because it has not happened.

2285
Hon. K Azopardi: Mr Speaker, with respect to the hon. Member, there is a difference between economic value and value for money for the taxpayer, which is what I am talking about. I am not engaging necessarily on the issue of economic value. I recognise that if you put, alongside a stadium, residential and commercial, as a project it may have economic value. Of course. I accept that.
2290

My question is more directed on value for money for the taxpayer. He says, 'If I front load the premium issue, well then it may not happen and we may need to change the numbers,' but the question is ultimately ... Savers are putting in money, on which they are getting a return, but there are going to be valuable economic assets created in the entire project – the residential aspects, 2295 the apartments, the housing and the hotel – and it is a slightly curious answer to say if we did that the project would not happen. If they took that view with every other development, no developer would pay a premium for land.

The core question here is when the stadium project happens, based on the fact that savers have put in money on which they are going to get a return and it produces profits in the 2300 apartments and the commercials, someone is going to keep the profit. Who is that? And if the entity that is keeping the profit is not the Government, that is the reason why you charge a premium. If he is going to say to me we are not charging a premium but the profits of the apartments and the commercials are going to the Government, that may be an argument for it, 2305 but normally when someone is allowed to do a residential development, the Government – the taxpayer – gets its value through the premium.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [Inaudible] understand it. If somebody was doing the development that is commercial and that somebody was not also doing a stadium, they would make a lot of money on the commercial. The cost of the stadium is going to be part of the cost of the commercial. 2310 Nobody is going to pay separately for the stadium. The complex will have a cost because it is a complex with a stadium that it would not have if it was accomplished without the stadium. If it was accomplished without the stadium, there would be a premium for the land because there would be no extraneous cost encumbering that development.

I do not know if I should take the dangerous step of giving examples, but let's say that the 2315 whole project was £10 and the stadium was £2, so without the stadium it is £8, the guys can make £2 more but they will not be able to pay £2 more because they have to start building a stadium which costs them £2, and that increases the cost of the project by 25%. If we say that the development has to include a stadium, for which the GFA will not pay, and has to pay a premium of the land to the Government, then the effect of that, in my judgement, means that the level of 2320 profitability inevitably is reduced from what it would be if the stadium did not exist, which is what would generate the premium. So the premium on the land would not be there unless we said we were going to do a development but not do a stadium, and then you would value the commercial benefits and the commercial profits and forget about the stadium. You would say, 'You have to pay so much for land,' and the guys doing the development would pay it gladly because they would 2325 be making more than sufficient money to pay the premium and still have a hefty profit. This not what is going to happen.

What is going to happen is that there is something that is being allowed to happen, which previously would not have been allowed, as a way of being able to deliver the stadium. If the GFA 2330 had been able to obtain sources for doing the stadium alone, then the rest would not have existed and no premium would have existed. So either there is a premium for property and no stadium or there is a stadium that somebody from outside comes along and buys, invests in and gives it to us without charging anybody anything; or, as far as I am concerned, the property has been created and allowed to happen not in order to make money for the Government but in order to make the stadium available. The fact that the stadium is made available we think in the long run will mean 2335 there is a benefit to the Government from the activity generated.

Imposing a premium on the land is done because you do not want the property speculator to make more money without the Government, on behalf of the people, taking a share of the cake. There is not a share of the cake. The cake has been increased to make the first thing happen. We are confident that it can do it on the basis that there is no extra funding required to pay the 2340 premium. If tomorrow there was a premium, the only way it would happen would be if the National Economic Plan, out of its profits, paid to the Government the premium, which would be going from one pocket to the other because there is no other party in this.

We have to see how this develops. There are people who are expressing an interest in participating, there are people who are expressing an interest in buying already, but this is at a 2345 stage where you cannot take these things and ... You cannot bank people's interest. This has to be a solid development that works for what it is intended to do. It is only happening because I have been persuaded that it is worth supporting as part of the National Income Plan because it is in the national interest. And because it is in the national interest and it is not a cost to the taxpayer, it is going to happen in the way I have explained it because that is the way I have conceived it and that 2350 is the way I have discussed it with other people.

You cannot say the taxpayer is going to be losing out. The taxpayer not going to be losing out because the premium would never have happened if the stadium had been provided for by UEFA, or whoever it was. If that had happened, there would have been no premium other than what had been paid and there would have been no other developments. I am convinced with the figures I 2355 have seen, which do not include a premium, but I would not want to put the confidence that I have in those figures at risk by saying, 'Before you start, you have to pay a premium for the land.' That is the reason, as far as I am concerned, why there will be no premium, because either it happens without a premium or it does not happen.

2360 Hon. K Azopardi: Hopefully my last question. It is not that I am not trying to understand it ... I am trying to understand it and I hear what the hon. Member says, but in effect what is happening here is ... I do not want to tread into the hon. Lady's questions. I am sure she will have something to say, because there are questions on the Order Paper in her name that will probe the question as to whether it would or would not have happened, because we all know the historic 2365 commitments that there were about UEFA money in the refurbishment of the stadium, but what we have here is the Savings Bank jumping in to make the project happen, in effect subsidising the whole situation.

This not a private developer who comes to the Government and says, 'I want to do this,' and takes the risk of finding the financing, is going to profit from the development and the Government 2370 takes a premium. No one is taking any risk. No private party is taking a risk here. The Savings Bank is investing money, on which it wants a return. All I am saying is that if profits are then going to be created by the project, you would have expected the taxpayer to be compensated in terms of premium or keep the profits of the development. Or is it that the Minister is saying that, in essence, on the financial studies that they have done so far, the profits of the residential and 2375 commercial are going to equate to the investment of the Savings Bank together with the return that the Savings Bank is going to make?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: What I am saying, Mr Speaker – which is the same as I have said already, but he has put it in a different way – is that the viability of the project to be done on the scale that 2380 is being done ... The scale is being determined precisely in order to be able to ensure that there is no risk to the investment by the Savings Bank. If you had to take bigger profits out, then you might have to try and do a bigger project. That is not impossible, but what I am saying to the hon. Member when he says the Savings Bank has had to dive in and do it is that the reality is that if it had been possible to be done in some other way, it would have been done already.

This has been going on for many years and we have had international football matches here in Gibraltar. Because the people in UEFA have been approached and they have been asked for an extension and they have just said there is no more extension, when it came to the stage where there was no more extension and therefore no more home teams – the last one was the one that was held – and with people having to go to Portugal, I was approached and they said, 'Is there any 2385 way that you can help with what you are doing with the National Economic Plan and all the developments they are doing?' Like anything else, and I have told the hon. Member, whether it comes from the private sector or it comes from investors or anybody who wants to do things that create economic activity, my doors are open, so I looked at it and I thought this looks feasible. It also means that the massing of the project has been looked at on the basis that what will be 2390 allowed to happen will be what is required to produce a viable return for all the elements that are going to be involved in the expenditure and the return on those moneys, and not for either making big profits or paying any premiums.

It is possible to produce a premium by increasing the commercial side and then producing more profit and then producing a premium, but every single home that has been built in the co-ownership system that the first socialist Government invented in Gibraltar has been built on land 2400 that was given away. The taxpayer subsidised people who have made more money on buying a home and reselling it than they would have done if they had won every lottery since 1988. Was that the right thing to do, or should we have charged premiums to people who, after a relatively short period of time, were free to sell their property on the open market?

You take decisions when you need to take them on the basis of the position that exists at the time. The position I see now is that the package we have and the way we have approached it is the way that, as far as I am concerned, will guarantee that this will make money – not a huge amount of money but enough money to meet all the necessary criteria – and that it will be a viable proposition. If we were to add a cost, we would have to add to the income. To add to the income, we would have to build more. If we had to build more, it may be more difficult to convince the DPC to allow even more on something that was never intended to be there. This why, as far as I am concerned, as the person who is responsible for endorsing the policy – because I am the policymaker in the National Economic Plan; I am not the guy who lays bricks, I am the policy maker, I take the political responsibility – I will defend this because I am convinced it works. I am not prepared to put more cost on, which reduces the potential success, and I do not think that putting more cost on and then increasing what we need to produce to deliver it will be as successful because I think there will be perhaps more difficulty in convincing people of how much we can put on the land that is there. It is a matter of judgement. That is my judgement.
2405

2420 Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Leader of Opposition, could he make that the final ...?

Hon. K Azopardi: I hope to, Mr Speaker.

Given all that and the explanation he has given on the scheme as it is envisaged, can I just ask him to confirm whether as part of the project, in the way that it is envisaged, any private party is going to take a share of the profits of this project?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I have said that already. When I was asked originally about whether we were funding everything, I said if there are people who come in and buy off plan, they may be people who get a lot of money in profit, not because they have been involved in the construction, not because of the costings we have and not because there would have been a premium or not been a premium, but because it is something that seems to happen quite frequently in everything else that has happened in private sector property developments. So if tomorrow somebody says, 'Your plan is going to be that these are the properties that are going to be there' ... I have told him we are not at that stage, but we are at the stage where if somebody comes forward and says, 'I want to buy all the flats and I am going to pay you up front,' we might say, 'Okay, the figure we have is the figure that we need to sell at to make the returns that we need.' This is all hypothetical, of course. This is not answering with factual information, this all hypothetical. If that were to happen, as has happened on other developments, the original developer may be – 2440 Hon. K Azopardi: Will the hon. Member give way?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Yes.

Hon. K Azopardi: That is not really what I am asking. I am not asking are people going to buy the properties off plan in bulk and then sell them off and make a profit; that is not what I am asking. What I am asking is ... The project will have someone doing it. I am not sure how it is going to be organised, whether it is going to be through CSSL or whatever in the end. Are the profits going to be channelled, in effect, to pay for the stadium and the return, or is any private party going to take a share of the profit, any private party that is involved in the development of the project? That is my question.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: But what I am saying to the hon. Member is that that does not mean the other situation I have described will not happen. It may happen that somebody will come in and buy everything and then sell it for double the price.

2455

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q570-72/2022

Victoria Stadium –

GSB loan to GFA; expected cost; UEFA/FIFA involvement in cost

Q573/2022

Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB –

Criteria for seeing constituents with grievances

Q574/2022

Disability allowances – Decision-making body

Clerk: Question 570/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2460 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: How much has the Gibraltar Savings Bank loaned or intend on loaning to the GFA for the purposes of the new stadium development and at what interest rate?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

2465 Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question with Questions 571 to 574.

Clerk: Question 571/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2470 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: What is the overall cost of the new stadium expected to be?

Clerk: Question 572/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2475 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Can government tell this House why it has deviated from the original plan to allow UEFA/FIFA to pay for the development of the stadium?

Clerk: Question 573/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2480 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Could Minister Bossano explain his criteria for seeing constituents who seek to visit him to address their grievances?

Clerk: Question 574/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

2485 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Is there a board in place to decide on the granting of disability allowances?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development and Enterprise.

2490 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, the GSB is not lending money to the GFA.
The overall cost of the new stadium is not yet available.

I am informed that there has never been a Government plan to allow UEFA/FIFA to pay for the development of the stadium, so the Government has not deviated from any such plan.

2495 I have no knowledge of any constituents seeking to visit me to address their grievances. I do, however, have many constituents who wish to see me to seek my help or advice on problems they may have. I hold such constituency surgeries, as they are called in the UK, on Saturdays and Sundays as I work a seven-day week, except for the weekends containing 1st May and Boxing Day. The only criteria that is applied to the opportunity I provide for constituents to share their problems with me is the time I have available.

2500 I am informed that there are two panels, one to process applications by children and one for adults. These panels are composed of medical and health professionals, who offer their advice and recommendations to the Director of Social Security.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, if I could just ask you, do you think it is logical to bunch up questions that have nothing to do with each other?

Mr Speaker: There is nothing against a Minister grouping his answers.

2510 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, when they are relevant you would expect that, but to group questions that have nothing to do with one another is only a way to obfuscate the poser of the question, I think, and the material that I can ...

Mr Speaker: But you can still ask the supplementaries.

2515 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Okay. Mr Speaker, regarding the Minister saying that it has not deviated from the original plan of UEFA, I think we are starting to live in a parallel universe in this House because certain things are said and then they seem to have never been said, and it is hard to even refute at this point because of all the things that come out, which are just a circular mishmash.

2520 I wanted to ask – or say, and then ask – the Victoria Stadium plot was sold at a price that did not account for the potential to build residential and commercial units within it, and now the GSB is loaning money, effectively – I do not understand how he can say now that the GSB is not – to the GFA at below-market cost to enable it to develop what they promise to be a very lucrative project. But why is the Government so intent on directly or indirectly funding lucrative ventures by the GFA? Aren't they capable of running successful businesses? Is it fair on other sporting, cultural or charity organisations for Government to fund, directly or indirectly, a project with these parameters and these perks?

2530 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, this not charity, this an investment which will produce a return. I am quite happy, if any charity has a project and they cannot raise funds and it can be combined with something profitable, to do the same thing, provided that ...

2535 What we are trying to do is find a formula in the difficult financial circumstances that Gibraltar and the whole world finds itself. The UK has, this month, just borrowed £52 billion for one month. When there is a problem you have to think outside the box and try to deliver what is important for the community in a way that is not at a cost to the taxpayer and in fact produces economic activity and revenue for the Government.

2540 It is not that the Government is being charitable and donating money to the GFA. If we were saying we are going to use taxpayers' money and build a new stadium at our cost and then let them have it, she might have an argument saying, 'Why are you doing that and not building something else?' In fact, the biggest investment to date is something that is going to provide homes for people who are on the waiting list and have been waiting a very long time to be able to go to the residential facilities we have, which have been full for a very long time. There we are doing it and we expect it to be able to be self-financing, not a cost to the taxpayer.

2545 If she has any charity that would like to do something which involves capital spending – because this not recurrent spending, this is capital – and they are able to come up with a proposal that we can combine with a way of joining something that is profitable to it, so at the end of the day the bit that does not make money can sustain the participation of the cost of that with the cost of something else that cross-subsidises, then ...

2550 I think it is a model that works for both the recipients, and it is one that we are going to be using in every opportunity where we see that we can do something that otherwise would not get done.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker. It definitely works for some people.

2555 A supplementary to Question 573. Sir Joe says that he does see people on Saturdays and Sundays, which is exactly what I wanted to ask about because it is some of these people who have gone to him on Saturdays and Sundays and have been told, 'Vete al' GSD, you are not one of the party, get someone else to help you.' My question is does the Minister not understand that, especially on Government premises, he is paid to work for all of the electorate and not just members and supporters of his party? Does he believe in real democracy or just in the rights of 2560 those who vote for him?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: [Inaudible] that there is one word of truth in what the hon. Member has said and she has been misled by whoever went to her with a story because I never ask people who they vote for or do not vote for when they come to me with a problem. Frankly, nine times out of 2565 10 they come to me with a problem that I am not able to solve because it is not my Ministry and all I can do is say I will make sure that the relevant Ministry is aware. If people come talking about unemployment, then I have to pass on the message to the Employment Service, and if people come because they have a housing problem, I pass it on to Housing. There are very few people who come to say, 'I want to invest money.' Those, I see on weekdays. On the weekends I see the 2570 guys who have not got money and want help, and I try to help them as much ... Even when I know that they vote for anybody here except me, I still do it because I am not doing it to get votes. I do it because I love the work I do and I get satisfaction out of helping people.

I regret that somebody who came to me went to her, lied to her and said that I said, 'I will not help you because you vote for the GSD.' The vote is secret. People do not normally come and tell 2575 me, 'I voted GSLP', and anyway, when they do occasionally say 'I voted GSLP' I do not take it for granted that they are telling me the truth – I assume that even if they did not, they would tell me they had. Nobody that I know of has ever come to me to say, 'I voted GSD, but I want your help.' That has never happened to me. If it had happened, I would have told them, 'I have not asked you who you voted for. You tell me you have a problem. If I think you have a genuine problem and you 2580 should be listened to, and you are telling me that you cannot reach the people who may be able to solve the problem, I am prepared to contact the relevant Minister of the relevant Department, explain what your problem is and ask them to see what they can do to help you.' There are very few cases where I can help, myself, directly, because the work I do does not involve helping people – except perhaps now that I have Social Security, there may be people in that area. For 2585 example, the delay there has been in delivering benefits: if somebody comes along in that area, the fact that somebody may have been given an answer that does not make sense, which sometimes happens, then I investigate it.

Never, ever, now or since I joined this House in 1972, have I discriminated against people because they have exercised their democratic right to vote for whoever they like.

2590

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, I am sorry to say that I do believe these constituents. In the lifetime of this Parliament it has come to my attention a handful of times and this is why now, towards the end, I thought I would actually ask a question because it has a pattern.

2595 My question is: if any of these people actually had the guts to go back to Sir Joe and remind him of what he told them, how would he deal with them? Is he going to lie to them?

Mr Speaker: You cannot say that. You must withdraw the 'lie'.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: I withdraw that he lied.

2600

Mr Speaker: And apologise.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Is he going to –?

2605

Mr Speaker: And apologise.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: I apologise.

Will he be forthright with these people and talk to them as if they are regular voters who are entitled to his attention?

2610

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, I do not believe they exist. I have never, ever in my life said to anybody ... Other Members of the benches have called me about people with problems in the last week and I have said I will look at it and I will try to help. It would be a natural assumption for me to say if they have gone to the Opposition it must be because they feel more comfortable going to the Opposition than going to the GSLP. That has never stopped me trying to help the individual, ever.

2615

She does not believe me, she believes the people who have told her ... Well, it is her prerogative to believe whoever she wants. What she is saying to me is the people who claim that I have refused to help them and I have lectured them for not voting for me want to come back to me, but want security that they will not be victimised. You could not invent this. I would have thought that if I am telling her that it is not true ... How else does the hon. Member expect me to react? I would like to meet these people. I am happy to meet them with her and they can say the date and the time and the occasion when I have said to them, 'I will not help you because you did not vote for me.'

2620

2625

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: I think it would be amazing if they met him, but I think there is too much fear of repercussion for that.

I have one supplementary on Question 574, about the board on disability allowances. The Minister says it is composed of medical and health professionals. Is it possible to know the names of the people on these panels? And can I also ask how often do these panels meet?

2630

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: Mr Speaker, my understanding is that it is not possible to name them. (Interjection by Ms M D Hassan Nahon) It has never been possible to name them. It is not something that I have introduced because they are GSD or GSLP or anything else; I think it is because ... She may not have noticed it, but in Gibraltar if you are on a panel of anything, everybody will find a way of collaring you and lobbying you, and therefore people are not comfortable to be on panels and have either people lobbying them to get the decision they want or people insulting them for not having delivered the decision they want. It happens not on this panel alone but on almost every panel that there is anonymity to protect the people on the panel, because if there was not it would be very difficult to find people willing to be on the panel. That is the answer. It is not a policy decision introduced by the Government. It is something that, to my knowledge, has always been a problem because we all know – except her – that if you are on a panel, whether it is housing or promotions or recruitment, or whatever it is ... People come to me, sometimes, of different political affiliations, and say, 'Can you try and make sure that they select my son or my grandson in a promotion?' and I say, 'I do not do it for anybody in my family, never mind anybody else's. I do not believe in this, it should not be done, and I do not do it.'

2635

2640

2645

So the answer is that the anonymity is a requirement which appears to be necessary for the continuity of the system.

2650 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker. I accept that answer. I wanted to just follow up on how often they met – I do not think the Minister answered that – if he has some kind of idea.

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I do not know how often they meet.

2655 Mr Speaker: The Hon. Edwin Reyes.

Hon. E J Reyes: Thank you, Mr Speaker, sir.

2660 I thank the Hon. the Father of the House. In my opinion, he answered Question 572 correctly in the manner that it was posed because Government had never had any original plan. But because of public interest, perhaps the Hon. Minister, or another Member if that is more appropriate ...

2665 If we go back through exchanges we have had in this House over different question sessions, mainly by the Minister for Sport and myself, it has come to light that the Gibraltar Football Association was interested and eventually purchased the lease over the Victoria Stadium. I do not know how clearly or how ... but it was implied and always understood that the GFA was able to do that thanks to grants it was going to receive from international sporting bodies such as UEFA and FIFA. It may or may not be something of but at least that is the understanding we always had here. The general public had then been led to believe that the Government of Gibraltar had decided to sell that stadium partly because that would then allow the Football Association to develop that facility for football exclusively. I do not think they were making a secret of it. The Government explained that the money received from the premium of that sale was what it was going to use to enhance the facilities. That is why we have ended up with Lathbury Barracks. So all that seems to have been fair and above board.

2675 The part that brings big confusion amongst the local population is everyone thought that UEFA and FIFA were still going to give additional funding to the Football Association now that they had got the lease, now that it was theirs. In fact, I had heard that there were obstacles, that they could not receive further funding because they were not willing to subsidise a landlord who was going to be the Government of Gibraltar, so it was now theirs exclusively. Is the Government aware of the Gibraltar Football Association not having any other financial resources available, hence why – what the Father of the House was explaining – they had to seek other funding methods? Or is FIFA or UEFA one of the parties that, alongside whichever other entities, are also going to be financial contributors?

2685 That is still the big question hanging over people, whether it is directly Government's responsibility to offer those answers or not I understand and appreciate, but perhaps the Government Members are aware of certain facts that can help people put the subject to rest and we can talk about something else over Christmas. Other than the typical family conversation on Christmas Day, is there going to be who has what amount of money in respect of the stadium?

Hon. Sir J J Bossano: They must be very happy with it because it keeps going up, actually.

2690 I am not familiar with the background to this, I am only involved because of the need to make it happen, but my understanding is that there are payments that are provided beyond the £16½ million and that they still continue, but those payments would be for the upkeep of the stadium and, depending on the size of the payments, they might have been enough if it was possible to produce a stadium at a sufficiently low cost and raise the money privately and service the loan with those payments, but the amount of money they receive and will continue to receive for the stadium ... I do not know whether they will stop if there is no stadium. If there is no stadium here, the payments may stop if they cannot be used, but the money was available on the basis that there would be a stadium there. Having looked over a number of years for the most economic stadium that could be built, we are nowhere near enough to say we can use that to raise a loan 2700 and then pay the interest and repay the loan out of that maintenance money and still have money to do maintenance.

This is the information that I have been provided with. I cannot vouch for the accuracy, but it makes sense that they had got to the stage where they were being told, 'You are not going to be allowed to continue there anymore,' and then it would have meant that Gibraltar would have had to go to Portugal or wherever for the home games. On the actual investment that is being made, I am confident that it will work. I am told that the holding of matches here means that you get people coming on charter flights and that it does mean that the economy will benefit, that the private sector will benefit. And then, of course, if there is activity and the private sector is making money because we get lots of people coming to watch football, it will be quite unique to have a situation where the fans who come to Gibraltar on a plane get off the plane, cross the tarmac and there is the hotel and the stadium. That probably does not exist anywhere else.

2710 It is seen as something that would be quite successful by the people who are involved in this, which is not me, and it seems to make sense. I am sure that if they had been able to make the equation work, they would have done it without coming to me to look for help.

2715 Mr Speaker: Next question.

Hon. D A Feetham: I hope the Hon. Minister can help. He may recall that I asked a question several sessions ago about the amputee who had applied for disability benefit. In June 2021 that application had not been determined. Given that we are talking about constituents and assisting constituents and also about disability allowance, I have written to the Hon. Minister and I am told by his PA that the letter is on his desk. Could I at least go back to the constituent and say that you will look at it in within a prompt period of time? She is in desperate situation and it would be a phenomenal Christmas gift for her.

2725 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: I can tell him I will get it tomorrow at six o'clock in the morning.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

ENVIRONMENT, SUSTAINABILITY, CLIMATE CHANGE AND EDUCATION

Q625/2022

Sewage treatment plant – Announcement re successful bidder and start date

2730 Clerk: Question 625/2022. The Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker, for this.

On the matter of the sewage treatment plant, by when does Government expect to announce a successful bidder and start date for this long-awaited project?

2735 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for the Environment and Education.

Minister for the Environment, Sustainability, Climate Change and Education (Hon. Prof. J E Cortes): Mr Speaker, we expect to announce the successful bidder and start date in the first half of 2023.

2740 Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Mr Speaker, as we all know, we have been on the verge of getting on with this project for quite a while. I genuinely, constructively, ask the Minister to give us some information, or maybe give us some clue that maybe will actually be a long-lasting promise or commitment to the people of Gibraltar in what is an election year and people could be thinking as just one more of these promises from a long time ago.

2745

Thank you.

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, I think the hon. Lady knows that I do not make that kind of promise; nevertheless, I will respond.

2750

The House is well aware of the difficulties that we have had from the outset: first, in getting the right technology; and second, after an advanced work contract had been given, work had started and the design had been taken to Planning, the joint venture in question went into administration and then we had to look at all sorts of legal complexities to see what the next steps were. We are finally through that hurdle. The call for expressions of interest closed on 28th November. There were a handful – five or six; I am not quite sure how many – of proposals put forward. These have now been sent to our technical assessors, who are the people who have been advising the Government ever since the start of this project. We are told that the technical analysis and recommendations will take between four and six weeks, so in February we should have the technical recommendations of the specialists. Obviously, then we have to look at the financials.

2755

2760

So my answer, which said we expect to make an announcement in the first half of the year, is accurate as far as all the information I have. We are making progress.

Hon. Ms M D Hassan Nahon: Thank you, Mr Speaker, and I thank the Hon. Minister.

2765

Can I just ask, pending these recommendations, is that what they are waiting for – to know exactly, more or less, where they are going with the contractor who will get this project? Do they have any idea where this is going? Do they seem to feel a preference for one entity over another?

Hon. Prof. J E Cortes: Mr Speaker, this is a purely technical assessment by technical experts. We have sent them all the proposals, which have a range of different variables within them, and we will then consider the technical reports to see which is the best option available, of course going hand in hand with the financial assessment, which will be carried out by people with financial expertise.

2770

2775

Mr Speaker: Are we proceeding to the next question?

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, after your remarkable four and a half hours in the Chair until now, I wonder whether this might be a convenient moment to have a short recess for 15 minutes before we come back and deal with the final questions and one Bill, I believe.

2780

Mr Speaker: The House will now recess for 15 minutes, to return at quarter to eight.

The House recessed at 7.31p.m. and resumed at 7.46 p.m.

JUSTICE, EQUALITY AND PUBLIC STANDARDS AND REGULATIONS

Q629-30/2022

Carrying and use of offensive weapons –
Convictions in past four years

Clerk: We continue with answers to questions. Question 629/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

2785 Hon. D A Feetham: Mr Speaker, how many convictions have there been in each of the last four years for crimes associated with carrying, or injuries caused by the carrying of knives, guns or other offensive weapons in Gibraltar?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality and Standards.

Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 630.

2790 Clerk: Question 630/2022. The Hon. D A Feetham.

Hon. D A Feetham: How many convictions have there been in the last four years in respect of the (a) importation and (b) supply of cocaine, cannabis and heroin in Gibraltar?

2795 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality and Standards.

Hon. Ms S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, convictions in respect of the importation of cocaine: 2018-19, seven; 2019-20, nine; 2020-21, two; 2021-22, four; and 1st April to date, one.

2800 Convictions in respect of the importation of cannabis: 2018-19, 11; 2019-20, 14; 2020-21, six; 2021-22, eight; and 1st April to date, five.

There have been no convictions in respect of the importation of heroin.

Convictions in respect of the supply of cocaine: 2018-19, 11; 2019-20, four; 2020-21, five; 2021-22, seven; and 1st April to date, one.

2805 Convictions in respect of the supply of cannabis: 2018-19, 14; 2019-20, three; 2020-21, 11; 2021-22, five; and since 1st April, four.

There have been no convictions in respect of the supply of heroin.

Convictions for crimes associated with the carrying of knives: 2018-19, two; 2019-20, one; 2020-21, none; 2021-22, one; and since 1st April, three.

There have been no convictions for crimes associated with the carrying of guns.

2810 Convictions for crimes associated with the carrying of other offensive weapons: 2018-19, four; 2019-20, six; 2020-21, two; 2021-22, seven; and 1st April to date, four.

Mr Speaker: Next question.

Q631/2022
National Disability Strategy –
Expected date of publication

2815 Clerk: Question 631/2022. The Hon. D J Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Please provide an update as to when the Government expects to publish its National Disability Strategy.

2820 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality and Standards.

Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, as I mentioned in the previous answer, a lot of work has been done and continues to be done on this. This something that cannot be rushed if we are to do it right. The Disability Strategy will be published when it is ready.

2825

2830 Hon. D J Bossino: Yes, and I agree with the sentiment that this is something that should not be rushed and it should be done right, but is she able to give some indication to the House as to which subject areas are causing the delay? Let me put it this way: which areas are pretty much done and dusted, crystallised and developed to a point where she could publish but she has to develop other areas? In other words, is she able to provide some sort of audit as to where we are by way of a snapshot now?

2835 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I would invite the hon. Gentleman to refer back to the Hansard of my Budget speech earlier this year, where I explained it – but I am happy to explain it again, because it is obviously something that is very important.

Our strategy will go hand in hand with the work that we are doing in order to request the extension of the implementation of the UN Convention to Gibraltar, because that is really what provides our roadmap and our pathways in terms of the strategy and what we are doing.

2840 As I have explained in relation to a previous question that the Leader of the Opposition posed on this back in May, and as I did in June as well, the Disability Strategy will deal with different types of disability. It will deal with learning disability, it will deal with physical disabilities, it will deal with both, and there is also an overlap with disability as there is with mental health. Within that, there are different themes and different structures through the Disability Strategy. As I explained on the last occasion, a lot of work has been done in relation to the autism pathway, so there is a document that is almost ready. It is something that I commissioned last year in my capacity as Minister for Health and Care. It is something that originally was started as part of the Mental Health Strategy we did, and it is led by the Gibraltar Health Authority and the Care Agency. I think that is something that is now in its final stages, so that will deal with a big aspect of the strategy, but in addition to that, there are lots of other things.

2850 I am happy to, beyond this House, Mr Speaker, of course, speak to the hon. Gentleman and update him in greater detail.

2855 Hon. D J Bossino: I am grateful for that very full reply. I do not think I caught in her answer any reference ... We have had this ... not discussion or debate, but we have had this exchange in this House in relation to the Special Needs Co-ordination and Liaison Office, which I know works under the auspices of the Chief Minister, and that office I think has set up a website and also a Special Needs and Disability Council, in respect of which I think they were inviting people to be members and provide a contribution. What role do they have? I know it falls under her ministerial responsibility as well, so in what way are they assisting in populating this strategy?

2860 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: We all work together, Mr Speaker. This is a Government strategy, so everyone will input into the strategy, and then it is led and co-ordinated by my office. But we all certainly work together because this one Government.

Q632/2022
Bayside School –
GRA investigation re breach of data protection

2865 Clerk: Question 632/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government confirm that a full independent investigation is being carried out by the GRA in relation to a serious breach of data protection in relation to a child at Bayside Comprehensive School on 14th December 2022?

2870 Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality and Standards.

Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, the GRA is currently considering the matter.

2875 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I am grateful for the answer and I appreciate that the GRA would conduct an investigation in relation to this matter, but what other steps is the Government taking?
We do not want to – of course – delve into some of the details because they are extremely sensitive and have been disseminated to a wide number of people in this community, who have been asked to delete this particular email that was sent by the admin of the school. What is the 2880 Government doing to ensure that there is not a repetition of an extremely serious breach of data protection in our community and one that should be, and I think is probably going to be, rightly handled by the Minister?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, the supplementary question is different to the initial question. The initial question relates to the regulator, and of course the regulator will deal with 2885 the matter independently of the Government because the GRA is the independent regulator in this respect.

In relation to the additional question, I can advise the hon. Gentleman that of course this a matter that is been taken very seriously. It was, in fact, the Government that reported the matter to the GRA, and the Government and the Data Protection Officer of the Government have 2890 undertaken a report and all necessary steps in this regard, so I can assure the hon. Gentleman that this matter has been taken extremely seriously.

Hon. E J Phillips: I am grateful for the answer. Can the Minister also confirm that the family in question is being given every support that is necessary, given the extremely sensitive nature of 2895 this particular data breach?

Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, I am loath to give any detail in relation to this matter across the floor of the House. I can speak to the hon. Gentleman in private, but I remind the hon.
Gentleman that the question here relates to the regulator and not to the actual incident, and given 2900 the nature of what we are discussing, I would not like to give any further detailed information in this House. I do not think it is appropriate to do so.

Q633-34/2022

Fees paid to law firms by Government – Services provided

Clerk: Question 633/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

2905 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state what legal services were being provided by the law firm Hassans for the Government to pay the same £3.09 million-odd in legal fees over the last three years so far?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality and Standards.

2910 Minister for Justice, Equality and Public Standards and Regulations (Hon. Miss S J Sacramento): Mr Speaker, I will answer this question together with Question 634.

Clerk: Question 634/2022. The Hon. E J Phillips.

2915 Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, can the Government state what legal services were being provided by the law firm Isolas for the Government to pay the same £2.87 million-odd in legal fees over the last three years so far?

Clerk: Answer, the Hon. the Minister for Justice, Equality and Standards.

2920 Hon. Miss S J Sacramento: Mr Speaker, those law firms, together with a number of other law firms in the jurisdiction and outside it – including the firms of which the Hon. Mr Azopardi and Mr Bossino are partners – provide legal drafting, advisory and litigation services. The sums the hon. Gentleman quotes are, however, not just for that type of work and can include disbursements paid to third parties, for example leading counsel in London, medical and other 2925 experts etc. It has not, however, been possible to provide a breakdown of the figure further in the time available.

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, to assist the hon. Lady, when I delivered those calculations I only focused on the fees that were due to those firms, not the disbursement. So she is incorrect in her 2930 answer because I calculated them myself, unless my fingers were wrong on the calculator. They relate to fees to those law firms and not disbursements to counsel or any other firm from London, so I struggle to understand how, over the three year period, the Minister cannot set out in detail by way of schedule what those fees were for, and I would be grateful if she could clarify on what 2935 basis she cannot quantify them.

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, the hon. Lady has said ‘in the time available’. It is not that in the time available there are, because he is asking about two years, two bills. There are very many bills in the period of a year, and therefore it is not possible to give the breakdown.

I do wonder why it is that he is concentrating on Hassans and Isolas and is not asking about the 2940 other law firms. For example, TSN had £6.5 million paid in the financial year 2019-21, which was the double financial year, £1.2 million paid in the financial year before that, £2.1 million paid in 2016-17 and £6 million paid in just one year, which was 2014-15, when Isolas had £300,000 paid and Hassans £2.3 million paid.

I do wonder whether there is just a political game being played, but the fact is that in the time 2945 available it has not been possible to provide more breakdown. Neither are we going to give hon. Members a breakdown on a case by case basis.

Hon. E J Phillips: I do not agree with the Chief Minister. He is not looking at the specific 2950 schedule that relates to legal services. That is the direction of my questions, not in relation to other schedules that appear on the Government’s website. I have specifically asked in relation to legal services, which amount to over 90% of those legal fees going to the two firms that I have referred to in this House. So the references the Chief Minister is making to other forms of services that are being offered by those firms ...

I have focused on those particular two firms for the following reason, Mr Speaker. He will recall 2955 that in his 2011 manifesto a commitment was made to the people in his so-called – now infamous – New Dawn manifesto, where he said the following:

We believe that the Government’s legal work should primarily be handled by the Counsel employed in HM Attorney General’s Chambers. Here we will increase the number of Senior Crown Counsel. Where the necessary expertise is not available ‘in-house’ it should be outsourced. The process of outsourcing legal work must be done fairly and equitably – and legal work must not be given to one or another set of Chambers who may be close to one Minister or another. We will ensure that all legal services procured from the private sector for Government provide value for money, are provided by practitioners with recognised expertise in their field and are evenly spread throughout the legal community.

Does the Chief Minister agree with me that 90% of legal services provided to two firms in which two Ministers – including himself as a seconded partner of Hassans, and Mr Isola, who is closely related to Isolass the firm – is a breach of that promise to our community in 2011?

2960

Hon. Chief Minister: No, Mr Speaker, I do not, because that is not what has happened. He might want to say that, for the purposes of trying to persuade anybody who is not seeing this in context that that is the case and to create a scandal around it, but that is not the position.

2965

In one year we paid Triay & Triay £3.5 million. That was in 2016-17. In that year, Hassans had £1 million and TSN had £600,000. In the year before, TSN had £2 million. It just does not make any sense for the hon. Gentleman to be casting aspersions in the way he is now. In 2014-15, TSN had £6 million of legal fees, Isolass £300,000 and Hassans £2.3 million, so the calculation is the complete opposite that the hon. Gentleman suggests. Indeed, if we look at the fees from 2011 to 2022, Triay Stagnetto Neish have had £21 million of legal fees from this Government and Hassans have had

2970

£28 million – except, of course, Triay Stagnetto Neish have approximately 20 lawyers, so that is £1.4 million per lawyer, and Hassans have about 80, so that is about £300,000 per lawyer. So we are doing exactly what we said we would do. We are going to people who have the expertise, and if we do not go to some, it is because we do not rate them.

2975

Hon. E J Phillips: Mr Speaker, I understand the Chief Minister is going to get slightly frustrated by the question. I am asking only about legal services – I know he is getting very hot under the collar about the subject – and the reason why I confined it to legal services was ... represents that particular figure. He has sought to draw this out and look at other areas which are not germane to this question. He is introducing irrelevant ... and not the subject matter of the question. He is doing it for a purpose and he is attempting to mislead the House in this way, Mr Speaker. He should be –

2980

Mr Speaker: You must not – (Interjection) No, hold on –

2985

Hon. Chief Minister: He should put a motion, Mr Speaker.

Mr Speaker: You have to withdraw the – (Interjection) You have to – (Interjections)

2990

Hon. Chief Minister: Mr Speaker, every single word that I have provided to this House is in the schedule that has been provided to me by the Treasury. Therefore, it is entirely true, and if the hon. Gentleman does not like the sound of the truth, then he has no place in this Parliament. This is a place of truth, and truth only.

2995

Hon. K Azopardi: Will the Chief Minister provide us with a copy of that schedule?

Hon. Chief Minister: Of course, Mr Speaker.

Questions for Written Answer

Clerk: We go on to Written Questions.

3000

Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to table the answers to Written Questions W70/2022 to W80/2022.

Order of the Day

GOVERNMENT MOTION

Social Security (Open Long-Term Benefits Scheme) (Amendment of Benefits) Order 2022 – Motion carried

Clerk: (ix) Order of the Day. Government motion. The Hon. the Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the Gibraltar Savings Bank.

3005 Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the GSB (Hon. Sir J J Bossano): Mr Speaker, I beg to move:

That this House approve by Resolution, pursuant to section 46 of the Social Security (Open Long-Term Benefits Scheme) Act 1997, the making of the Social Security (Open Long-Term Benefits Scheme) (Amendment of Benefits) Order 2022.

3010 This Order seeks to amend the Social Security (Open Long-Term Benefits Scheme) (Amendment of Benefits) Order by increasing the rates of old age pension and survivor's benefit by 7.6% with effect from 1st August 2022, which represents the annual increase. Mr Speaker, that, of course, has already happened and what I am seeking is the approval of the House for the last increase in old age pension, which was related to the level of inflation at the time, as is the case with annual reviews.

3015 Mr Speaker: I now propose a question in the terms of the motion moved by the Hon. Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the Gibraltar Savings Bank.

Does any hon. Member ...? The Hon. Roy Clinton.

3020 Hon. R M Clinton: Thank you, Mr Speaker.

I recognise what the Hon. Minister has said, and I can confirm to the House that this in line with what was announced in the Chief Minister's Budget speech on lines 745 and 746, that the old age and disability benefits would go up by the rate of inflation, which at that time was estimated to be about 8%. I can confirm to the House that I have checked the RPI calculator for 1st April 2022, and that is, as the Hon. Minister has said, 7.6%. I can also confirm to the House that I have, just for sake of clarity, compared, on a test basis, the rates as in his Legal Notice 209/2022 published on 21st July 2022 with the similar Notice 348/2021 published on 26th July 2021, and that the difference in the amounts quoted is in fact, as the Minister has said, 7.6%. I say that just to give assurance to the House that we, on this side of the House, have also looked at what the Minister has said, and I can confirm that what the Minister has said is in line with the calculations.

3030 I believe we obviously will, as stated at the time of the Budget, be supporting the motion.

Mr Speaker: If no other Member wishes to speak, I will call on the mover to reply.

3035 Hon. Sir J J Bossano: The support of this measure has always been a unanimous decision of this House.

Thank you.

Mr Speaker: I now put the question in the terms of the motion proposed by the Hon. Minister for Social Security, Economic Development, Enterprise, Telecommunications and the Gibraltar Savings Bank. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

BILLS

FIRST AND SECOND READING

Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 – First Reading approved

3040 Clerk: (ix) Bills – First and Second Reading.

A Bill for an Act to amend the Merchant Shipping Act and the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993. The Hon. the Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port.

3045 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that a Bill for an Act to amend the Merchant Shipping Act and the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993 be read a first time.

3050 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Merchant Shipping Act and the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993 be read a first time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Clerk: The Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Act 2021.

Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 – Second Reading approved

3055 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the Bill for the Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Act 2021 be read a second time.

I have had a favourable discussion with the Hon. Mr Phillips in respect of this Bill already, but as we know, unfortunately he is not with us at the moment.

Clause 1 contains provisions in relation to the title and entry into force of the Act.

3060 Clause 2 amends section 49 of the Merchant Shipping Act. Section 49(5) of the Merchant Shipping Act provides that any reasonable expenses being incurred by a ship owner in respect of illness and burial of any seafarer shall be deducted from the wages of the seafarer. This is in conflict with regulation 29(1)(a), (b) and (e) of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Maritime Labour Convention) Regulations 2013 and impedes the need to give effect to standard A4.2.1(d) of the Maritime Labour Convention 2006. Regulation 29(1)(e) says that the owner of a Gibraltar ship must meet the burial costs of the death of a seafarer on board the ship or ashore during the seafarer's period of engagement, and regulation 29(1)(a) and (b) obliges the owner to be responsible for medical care and board and lodging whilst the seafarer is ill, in accordance with sub-regulation (2). The Maritime Labour Convention has been extended to Gibraltar as from 7th August 2013. We therefore propose to remove the deduction from wages imposed on the seafarer by section 49(5).

3070 Today, Mr Speaker, I have also given written notice of an amendment to the Bill, which I believe has already been circulated to all Members. The amendment adds a new provision in section 2 of the Bill, adding at the end of the current sentence after section 49, before the full stop, the following:

and for section 179 page 5 substitute:

(5) Gibraltar has a right to exclude the application of article 2 paragraph (1)(d) of the Convention on Limitation of Maritime Claims 1976 as amended. Gibraltar excludes article 2 paragraph (1)(d) of the Convention on Limitation of Maritime Claims and therefore applies unlimited liability in respect of wrecks. Additionally, sections 179P(5) and (vi) are repealed.

3075 The consequence of this amendment will be to amend the Merchant Shipping Act in order to give effect to the exercise of the right to exclude the application of article 2(1)(d) of the Convention on Limitation of Maritime Claims 1976, as amended, and to equalise the liability with regard to wrecks of non-Gibraltar registered ships with that applicable to Gibraltar registered ships.

3080 I would make the following additional points on this amendment. The new section 179H(5) provides that Gibraltar has exercised its right to exclude the application of article 2(1)(d) of the 1976 Convention as amended. This mirrors paragraph 15 of the 2014 administrative instruction which applies to Gibraltar registered ships. The effect of this new section 179H(5) is to provide unlimited liability for owners with regard to costs relating to the removal of wrecks. The 3085 amendment also removes the reference to insurers being able to rely on the right to limit liability on the removal of wrecks. This does not, however, affect the limits on the wreck removal insurance, which is required for all ships entering or leaving the Port of Gibraltar.

Article 12(1) of the Nairobi Convention provides that owners are required to maintain insurance or other financial security to cover liability under this Convention in an amount equal 3090 to the limits of liability under the applicable national or international limitation regime, but in all cases not exceeding an amount calculated in accordance with Article 6(1)(b) of the Convention on Limitation of Liability for Maritime Claims 1976 as amended.

Section 179J(3) of the Merchant Shipping Act states that a foreign ship with a gross tonnage of 300 or more may not enter or leave the Port of Gibraltar unless that ship has wreck removal 3095 insurance. No reference is made to the amount of wreck removal insurance in the Merchant Shipping Act. However, regulation 4(3), (4) and (5) of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping Insurance for Maritime Claims Regulations 2012 (the Insurance Regulations) state:

(3) Every shipowner of a ship flying a flag other than the flag of Gibraltar must, if in conformity with international law, have insurance in place when that ship is operating in BGTW.

(4) The insurance referred to in subregulations (1) to (3) must cover maritime claims subject to limitation under the 1996 Convention.

(5) The amount of the insurance for each and every ship per incident must be equal to the relevant maximum amount for the limitation of liability as laid down in the 1996 Convention.

It follows from these provisions that ships must have wreck removal insurance and that it must cover the maximum amount for the limitation of liability as laid down in the 1976 Convention.

3100 In addition, article 12(10) of the Nairobi Convention states that even if the registered ship is not entitled to limit liability, the insurance may limit liability to an amount equal to the amount of the insurance required to be maintained in accordance with paragraph (1), i.e. subject to the limits in the 1976 Convention.

In the circumstances, notwithstanding unlimited liability by the owner on wreck removals, the 3105 insurer may seek to argue that his liability is limited to what is provided for in the insurance.

We have also considered and sought advice on whether, where Gibraltar exercises the right to exclude the limitation of liability for wrecks and this liability is unlimited, regulation 4 of the insurance regulations should be amended to reflect this. In the Government's view, based on advice, it would be neither prudent nor practicable to do this. It is extremely unlikely, if not 3110 impossible, for an insurance company to be willing to provide unlimited wreck removal insurance.

This is particularly so having regard to article 12 of the Nairobi Convention, which only requires insurance not exceeding the limits of liability in the 1976 Convention. This is, therefore, what all ships will have. Imposing an insurance requirement for ships entering or leaving Gibraltar which ships are not able to comply with would lead to the collapse of all commercial shipping operations – including cruise liners – in Gibraltar. The upshot of all this is that the proposed amendment to the Act as set out in the amendment, written notice of which I have this morning ... created unlimited liability for owners.

3115 The Gibraltar Merchant Shipping, Maritime and Labour Convention Regulations 2013 are made partly under section 118 of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping Safety Act 1993.

3120 Clause 3(1)(a) of the Bill introduces a new section 3A into the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping Safety Act 1993. This clause 3A will allow the Maritime Administrator, with the approval of the Minister, to issue Maritime Labour Notices for certain purposes under clause 3A(1)(a) to (e). All these purposes are centred around compliance with any requirements under the Maritime Labour Convention and/or providing any relevant guidance in relation to any requirement.

3125 I will now explain clause 3 of the Bill. Taking clause 3A(1) as a whole, Maritime Labour Notices should be used to (1) implement any requirement under the Maritime Labour Convention, (2) provide guidance on how to achieve compliance if the requirement under the Maritime Labour Convention does not provide for this; (3) provide guidance on compliance with any requirement under the Maritime Labour Convention; (4) provide explanations and other information to ship owners and seafarers on how to comply with any requirement under the Maritime Labour Convention, including the recommendations of any international bodies who monitor the standards under the Maritime Labour Convention; and (5) prescribe forms for different purposes under the Maritime Labour Convention.

3130 Clause 3A(2) would make the Maritime Labour Notice have the force of law and therefore there is a requirement to publish in the Gibraltar Gazette, as happens in the case of administrative instructions issued under section 3(5) of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping Safety Act 1993.

3135 Clause 3A(3) contains enforcement provisions to ensure compliance with Maritime Labour Notices. If a master or owner of a ship does not comply with a Maritime Labour Notice, this would constitute a summary offence and the ship is then liable to be inspected and detained in accordance with amendments and regulations 44 and 45 of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Labour Convention Regulations) 2013, which should be brought into force by the enactment of this Bill and are now contained in the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Maritime Labour Convention) (Amendment) Regulations 2021.

3140 A defence is available as provided in clause 3A(4). The Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Maritime Labour Convention) (Amendment) Regulations 2021 include a definition of ‘Maritime Labour Notice’ under regulation 2(1) and reflect the enforcement provision under clause 3A(3).

3145 Clause 3A(5) contains various definitions which are relevant for the purposes of understanding and interpreting clause 3A.

3150 Clause 3(1)(b) of the Bill contains an amendment to section 21 of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993. The aim is to repeal section (2) of section 21. This provides that in the case of shipwreck or loss of a ship, proof that a seafarer has not exerted himself to the utmost to save the ship, cargo or store bars has claimed for wages. Due to changes to the Maritime Labour Convention and the fact that section 21(2) conflicts with regulation 21 of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Maritime Labour Convention) Regulations 2013, section 21(2) should be omitted. Regulation 21 obliges the ship owner to pay wages to the seafarer on a ship which is lost or found if certain permissions are fulfilled.

3155 Clause 3(1)(c) of the Bill contains an amendment to section 118(1)(c) of the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993. Section 118 is a regulation-making power, and the purpose of section 118(1)(c) is to inter alia give effect to Gibraltar to international conventions or agreements by regulation. We are adding to the words of section 118(1)(c) to provide expressly that implementation by regulation is also possible where a relevant international agreement or convention is revised, modified or amended.

Mr Speaker, I commend this Bill to the House.

3165 Mr Speaker: Before I put the question, does any hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill? The Hon. Damon Bossino.

Hon. D J Bossino: Mr Speaker, I rise because at one point I used to have responsibility for the Port. I do not have the benefit of the discussions he says he has had with my friend Mr Phillips, who was dealing with the matter in detail.

3170 This is a Bill which, in discussions on this side of the House, we were going to support in any event, but I would ask him to clarify just a few points. If he goes to the explanatory memorandum, it basically says that these amendments are being done. I would say that the substantive amendments are set out in clause 3 of the Bill by imperative of the Convention, which is the Maritime Labour Convention 2006, but is he able to clarify and confirm that there are other provisions that are being introduced as a result, which are outside the requirements set out in the Convention I have just referred to? It is clear that it sets out in his letter introducing the amendment to section 179H(5) of the Act, where he wishes, in effect, to disapply article 2 to another convention, which is the Convention on Limitation of Maritime Claims 1976. In relation to that one, can he give us an insight as to what the rationale is behind this application?

3180 I may have missed this, but he was referring to the Nairobi Convention and I think that impacted on issues in relation to maritime insurance. I think what he was looking at there was the removal of the limitation. Can he just give an explanation, as well, as to what the rationale is in relation to that?

3185 If I can split them into two, basically these amendments are as a result of the 2006 Convention, which have to be done, and I understand that, but these other amendments seem to suggest that it is as a result of Gibraltar-focused thinking and I wanted to understand what the rationale was behind that thinking.

3190 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, can I just rise and address both of those points in the context of my own address, to say that the first point that arises, in relation to maritime labour, as the hon. Gentleman has identified, is a change that we have to make and it is a change that does not go beyond what we are required to make.

3195 The second point, which relates to issues relating to the Nairobi Convention and the insurance related thereto, is a choice that nations are entitled to make under the Nairobi Convention. It is not a choice that we had been alerted to. The ability to make that choice in Gibraltar we have now been alerted to, and as a result we have been advised that most nations have uncapped liability in that way, but that they uncap it in relation to owners of vessels, not in relation to insurers. Otherwise, insurers might take the view that if there is uncapped liability for insurers, they would not insure vessels transiting the territorial sea of a state that has made such a choice. So, for that reason, the limitation of the choice that we are making is to make unlimited the liability of owners, but to keep limited the liability of insurers.

I hope that is helpful.

3205 Hon. D J Bossino: Sorry, Mr Speaker, in relation –

Mr Speaker: I think you cannot speak. If you had asked for leave –

3210 Mr Speaker: Does any other hon. Member wish to speak on the general principles and merits of the Bill?

I will now put the question, which is that a Bill for an Act to amend the Merchant Shipping Act and the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993 be read a second time. Those in favour? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

3215 Clerk: The Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Act 2021.

Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 –
Committee Stage and Third Reading to be taken at this sitting

Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): I beg to give notice that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today, if all hon. Members agree.

3220 Mr Speaker: Do all hon. Members agree that the Committee Stage and Third Reading of the Bill be taken today? (Members: Aye.)

COMMITTEE STAGE AND THIRD READING

Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 –
Clauses considered and approved with amendment

Clerk: Committee Stage and Third Reading.

3225 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to move that the House should resolve itself into Committee to consider the Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021.

In Committee of the whole House

Clerk: A Bill for an Act to amend the Merchant Shipping Act and the Gibraltar Merchant Shipping (Safety, etc.) Act 1993.
Clause 1.

3230 Mr Chairman: Clause 1 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 2.

3235 Minister for Business, Tourism and the Port (Hon. V Daryanani): I move the amendment in the terms of the letter that I have circulated.

Mr Chairman: Are Members of the Opposition content with the amendment?

3240 Hon. E J Reyes: Mr Chairman, just for the record, the title, I think –

Mr Chairman: Is 2021, yes.
Clause 2, as amended, stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: Clause 3.

3245 Mr Chairman: Clause 3 stands part of the Bill.

Clerk: The long title.

Mr Chairman: The long title stands part of the Bill.

Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 –
Third Reading approved: Bill passed

3250 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, I have the honour to report that the Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill has been considered in Committee and agreed to with an amendment, and I now move that it be read a third time and passed.

3255 Mr Speaker: I now put the question, which is that the Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021 as amended be read a third time and passed. Those in favour of the Merchant Shipping (Miscellaneous Amendments) Bill 2021? (Members: Aye.) Those against? Carried.

Adjournment

Mr Speaker: The Hon. the Chief Minister.

3260 Chief Minister (Hon. F R Picardo): Mr Speaker, it has been a long year, and as we come to move the adjournment sine die, today I received a letter which I thought I should refer to the House. I am not going to name the individuals who sign it, but it says this:

Dear Mr Picardo

I would just like to take this opportunity, along with my wife, to express the deep gratitude for all the valuable work you and your Ministers do on behalf of all of us living in Gibraltar, especially over the last year or two, having to deal with many frustrating situations with great diplomacy.

We have lived here happily for the last eight years and have seen Gibraltar go from strength to strength. From day one, we were made to feel part of the family, and the friendliness and help that we have experienced from every person in every walk of life has been truly exceptional. If possible, please pass on our grateful thanks to everyone for the excellent service at the GHA, the Civil Status staff, MoT and Licensing staff who have made our life just that little bit easier and enjoyable.

In closing, it is truly an honour to live amongst people who come together as one, respect one another and still retain, in a modern world, the core family values.

Wishing you every success for the future.

3265 Mr Speaker, I include this Parliament in the institutions of Gibraltar that do us proud on many occasions. Even when we might be at our most rancorous and cantankerous, we are all seeking to ensure the best for our people, and given the year we have had, I thought that was a quite lovely way to end it.

3270 Mr Speaker, I have a message tonight for our children before we adjourn. The Commander of British Forces has been in touch with NATS, who are responsible for air traffic control. They have confirmed that air traffic control will be available without any difficulties from the early hours of 25th December to ensure that flight SANTAWIZZ1 is able to land at Gibraltar. MeteoGib have confirmed that we expect easterly winds, so the sleigh will land from the west runway with no

3275 crosswinds. The tunnel will be available for the reindeer to remain in, if they wish, whilst Father Christmas is in Gibraltar. The Minister for Equality has provided that the same services will be provided to all of the reindeer, regardless of the colour of their noses. The GHA have lifted all 3280 COVID restrictions, except in the Hospital and ERS, and the Borders and Coastguard Agency have confirmed that all Gibraltar border requirements have been agreed for arrivals from Finland and Lapland. Returns, in keeping with the Schengen Border Code requirements, have been agreed with both Brussels and Madrid. All necessary arrangements have therefore been made by the public sector to ensure that one Father Christmas will be able to visit each and every home in Gibraltar this year. So, despite the very difficult prevailing economic circumstances and with the support of our charities and in the spirit of community that characterises the best of Gibraltar at difficult times, I am sure that every home in Gibraltar will be visited by Father Christmas this year.

Mr Speaker, I thank you and all your members of staff for all your help this calendar year.

3285 I thank all hon. Members for their work collectively with us in this Parliament this calendar year.

I wish all of Gibraltar a very Merry Christmas and a happy New Year and Happy Hanukkah.

Mr Speaker, I move that the House should now adjourn sine die.

Mr Speaker: I now propose the question.

3290

Hon. Member: Am I allowed to reply?

Mr Speaker: No. (Interjection) No, I must say – (Interjection) I have to say I glanced and there was no light, so I said, 'Well, it's ...' (Interjections) (A Member: Hear, hear.) I do this with utmost 3295 respect, no ... (Laughter)

I now propose the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die.

I put the question, which is that this House do now adjourn sine die. Those in favour?
(Members: Aye.) Those against? Passed.

This House will now adjourn sine die.

The House adjourned at 8.24 p.m.